Cotton Farmers of County to Receive More Allotments of Tax Exemption Certificates

Higher Quota Is Obtained After United Request

Word has been received from the State Cotton Allotment Board that all cotton producers of Eastland County who have an allotment basis of 1630 pounds or above will receive an additional allotment of cotton tax exemption certificates within the next few days, C. Metz Heald, County Agent announced Saturday. Those producers having an allotment basis of 2400 pounds or above will receive 20 per cent additional certificates, which is half as much as they received in the original issue. Those between 1630 and 2400 will receive enough additional to make their allotment up to 60 per cent. Those producers with an allotment basis of less than 1630 pounds have already received 60 per cent or more of their allotment basis, therefore will not receive an additional allotment. This will make a total of at least 60 per cent allotment to every producer in the county on this year's crop, except the producer who began planting cotton in 1935 for the first time since 1927. He will receive a total of 40 per cent for the year.

The County Agent and the Cotton Control Committeemen were gratified at this additional allotment, which shows that they have not been asleep on the job. They have been striving to get some relief in this matter ever since it became apparent that the two-bale regulation would work a hardship on approximately 40 per cent of the cotton farmers of this county. Numerous individuals as well as the county organization have written letters to the officials explaining this unjust situation and seeking to have it remedied. Heald and A. E. Arthur, assistant in cotton adjustment, state that each producer will receive a card notifying him when his certificates arrive in the county office. They especially urge the producers not to deluge them with inquiries before the certificates arrive, because it is impossible to tell a producer exactly the percentage of certificates he will receive. They also urge those producers above 1630 pounds to delay buying certificates, in case they are contemplating such, until they receive this new allotment.

Many Singers to Be at Meeting at Christian Church

Dr. A. K. Wier, president of the Ranger Singing Association, announced Saturday that a number of prominent singers had announced that they would be present at the fourth Sunday singing, to be held at the First Christian Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Among those who have stated they would be present are the Rippee brothers and their quartet, from De Leon; the Fencher quartet from Huckaby; Ribble from Caddo; the Webb and Berry quartet from Romney as well as several other famous singers from over this part of the country.

Miss Ruby Jo Pounds of Huckaby and Miss Annie Locke of De Leon will be present to serve as accompanists.

Libby Holman Gets Kick Out of Comeback

The happy smile Libby Holman wears has nothing to do with the little matter of the fortune that a recent court decision thrust into her hands in settlement of the estate of her late husband, Smith Reynolds. It simply marks her satisfaction over the success of her comeback effort which has made her again one of the favorite entertainers of Broadway's exclusive night life sector. She's pictured here as she made her debut at a swanky cabaret.

OFFICERS SEEK ABDUCTOR OF SHAWNEE MAN

Garvin County officers reported from Pauls Valley today they expected to arrest soon a youth suspected of being the person who abandoned the car of Ray Evans, missing Shawnee attorney, near Maysville, late yesterday.

Sheriff Clyde Seymour of Pauls Valley and four deputies had gone to a farm near Maysville. Fifty Shawnee business men and officers left for Pauls Valley. The car was found in a ditch. A farmer became suspicious when a youth in it told him he was going to get help to pull the car on the highway. After the youth left the farmer telephoned Seymour, who identified the car. In it was the lawyer's overcoat. Evans, prominent in Shawnee affairs, disappeared Tuesday afternoon.

Many Attend a Lone Star Meet Friday Evening

The interest of over 200 employees and their families and friends attested to one of the most interesting and instructive safety and health programs that has been sponsored by Lone Star System employees in some time, in a meeting held in the Cooper school auditorium in Ranger Thursday evening.

A 20-minute musical program presented by the Lone Star band under the direction of Prof. W. G. Collum was splendidly received. Quite an enlarged program of activity for this organization for the coming year is being contemplated, and the remarkable improvement which was shown in the presentation of this concert promises for it a splendid future.

"Safety Among the Nations," was the subject of an address by Prof. E. T. Walton, wherein a very interesting analysis of international affairs was presented by the speaker. "Every person concerned in the vital affairs of our state and national governments, should avail themselves of the priceless heritage of the ballot, more especially in the interests of both domestic and international peace," said the speaker.

None the less interesting and worthwhile were the timely remarks of L. H. Taylor, field safety director for the Lone Star Gas company, wherein he pointed out our responsibilities to our fellow men and communities in which we live, especially regarding our safety educational program. "A safety and health program that is good for the employee is likewise beneficial to the general public, and for this reason, every employee should feel his responsibility and assist in every way that he can in disseminating this most worthy program," Mr. Taylor stated in his closing remarks.

"Knott-hole Safety" was treated by Harry Henry in a style best known to Alabamians, and the brevity and individuality which punctuated his remarks made his wisecracks well received.

The main address of the evening was as unique as it was interesting and instructive. "America's Public Health Enemy No. 1, the common cold, must be put on the spot," declared Will C. Grant, advertising director of Lone Star (Continued on page 4)

TCU Proves Too Much For Rice to Remain Unbeaten

FORT WORTH, Nov. 24.—20,000 TCU fans were not only talking but literally shouting "Rose Bowl" today as the TCU grid machine rode over a hard fighting Rice team. The score was 27 to 6.

ABILENE, Nov. 23.—After deliberating less than an hour, a jury in 42nd district court at Baird returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Page Rockett, 19, and assessed a five-year penitentiary sentence. Arguments in the case, which opened Thursday, were completed Friday at mid-afternoon.

Rockett, resident of the Pioneer community in Eastland county, was charged with a statutory offense. Complaining witness was a 16-year-old Cross Plains girl, who testified she was assaulted on the night of November 9, near Cross Plains.

J. D. Taylor, 20, also of Pioneer was indicted on the same complaint. He has not been tried.

Scientist Church Arranges Program For Thanksgiving

On Thanksgiving Day all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world will hold a Thanksgiving service to which the public is cordially invited. This service includes the reading of a lesson-sermon, the top of which is "Thanksgiving," as well as an opportunity for the individual members of the congregation to express their gratitude for the blessings which have come to them during the past year.

The Golden Text is: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High" (Psalms 60:14).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, God is mighty, and despiseth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom. . . . He delivereth the poor in his affliction, and openeth their ears in oppression. Even so would he have removed thee out of the strait into a broad place, where there is no straitness; and that which should be set on thy table should be full of fatness" (Job 36:5, 15, 16).

OIL MAY BE DOWNFALL OF ITALY'S ARMY

Oil, source of power for airplanes, tanks and army trucks, may be the deciding factor that swings victory to Italy or Ethiopia.

Wars have been fought for oil but El Duce's war may be lost for lack of it. Two forecasts were made today for a defeat of the Italian army, not from a military setback, but from an embargo on oil.

High sources predicted the League of Nations general staff committee, meeting next Friday would set Dec. 15 as the day the nations co-operating against Italy will deprive her of oil.

In the reply of 52 nations to Italy's threat of reprisals, the answer of the Netherlands, one of the greatest oil producing empires stood out. It was an offer to extend the present league embargo on key products to Italy to include oil and other raw materials.

Well informed British circles reported Capt. Anthony Eden, Britain's chief league delegate, would inform the league his nation is prepared to add oil to the list.

Judgment Entered In a Damage Suit

The judgment provided for an award to Dolgener of $125 for personal injuries, $17 for a doctor bill and $5 for a hospital fee at Cisco. Shirley will receive $250 for personal injuries, $25 for a dentist's bill and $7.50 for a doctor's fee.

Butts and Wright were attorneys for the plaintiffs while Donald Traynor, all of Cisco, was attorney for the defendant. Plaintiff's petition in the case was filed Friday.

Appeal Being Made For Red Cross Aid

J. E. Meroney, who is vice chairman of the Eastland County Red Cross Chapter today issued the following appeal to the people of this section:

Between November 11th and Thanksgiving of each year in every hamlet, town and city of these United States a Red Cross flag is displayed. This flag, an emblem of mercy, is also a reminder that the Annual Red Cross Roll Call is in progress in the community.

Although I am sure the citizens of Ranger are aware of the aims of this great organization and of its outstanding activities in the past year, I think it will not be amiss to call attention to the dire distress in New York State which flooded whole districts and rendered thousands homeless; the great tropical storm that swept the Florida Keys and many other disasters of like nature could be averted only through expert organization of the Red Cross, was suffering and the loss of life held to a minimum.

The people of Ranger and vicinity have been fortunate in that they have not been visited by such terrible calamities as referred to above, but the economical condition that has existed has given us an opportunity to experience the workings of this organization through the distribution of some $16,000 worth of clothing in 1932 in the county and the many, many thousands of dollars in clothing and groceries that have been given away each year since.

We feel that an organization of this kind merits the confidence and support of the entire citizenship of Ranger.

Next Monday morning Mrs. Flewellen, chairman of the Roll Call, will have completed plans and have her committees ready to begin soliciting memberships by 9 o'clock.

Kindly give this matter your serious consideration and be ready to take your membership when called upon, and thus minimize the work of these people who will be sacrificing their time to make this Roll Call a success in Ranger.

Following is a list of the names of the workers who are now being notified to be on hand at the chamber of commerce office, at 9 a. m. Monday, Nov. 25, at which time the Roll call will start: Mrs. Mills Davenport, Mrs. Roy Jameson, Mrs. Harry Wheelodon, Mrs. A. N. Larson, Mrs. Bob Hodges, Mrs. E. R. Green, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, Mrs. Tom Yonker, Mrs. E. E. Crawford, Mrs. Johnnie Duckert, Mrs. O. L. Phillips, Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, Mrs. A. H. Allison, Mrs. Alice D. True, Mrs. Wade Swift, Mrs. J. M. Ralston, Mrs. B. ### HYBRID RATTLERS TONOPAH, Nev.—A report of cross-breeding of bull and rattle snakes, usually considered deadly enemies, was brought here by Jim Tait of Rochester. The two species were said to have mated in a local region with the offspring possessing all the deadly venom of the rattlesnake, without the rattles.

ALIBI PROVED FOR SUSPECT IN KIDNAPING

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The past-off husband of 17-year-old Mrs. Mary Philpot established an alibi today that eliminated him from connection with the kidnaping and slaying of Leroy Smith, friend of Mrs. Philpot, who was found shot to death Thursday near her home in the Sleepy Hollow country.

Police said Luth Philpot proved beyond doubt he was in New York city at the time young Smith was held captive and killed. The alibi left detectives without a hint of means to identify and trace the slayer.

Founder of TCU to Be Laid to Rest Near His Old Home

Funeral services for Dr. Randolph Clark, 91, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. F. Holloway, in Dallas, are to be conducted from the First Christian Church of Stephenville Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ranger, in charge, assisted by Rev. Boyington, pastor of the First Christian Church of Huntsville. Colby D. Hall of Texas Christian University, of which Dr. Clark was co-founder, will represent the university and will deliver a short address at the services.

Burial is to be in Stephenville following the services at the church.

Dr. Clark was long a resident of Ranger, where he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Holloway, until this fall when they moved to Dallas. He was also founder of Randolph College of Cisco, where he also lived for a number of years.

Dr. Clark was known throughout the state of Texas as a preacher and educator and until the last maintained a keen interest in all educational and school problems. He was a member of the First Christian Church of Ranger for the entire period of his residence in the city.

Randolph Clark was born Aug. 15, 1844, in Harrison County, Texas, near Marshall. He settled at Fort Worth in 1870 and began teaching and preaching. In 1869 he married Miss Ella Lee, a daughter of Col. R. W. Lee, prominent in Texas history.

Randolph, with his brother Addison, enlisted in the Civil War, and the two were assigned to Company C, 16th Texas Cavalry. Both served in Texas during the entire period of the war.

Returning from the war, in 1869 the two brothers took over a small school in Fort Worth, which was being conducted on the lower floor of the Masonic building. In 1870 the school was moved to the second floor of a building at Fifth and Main Streets.

In 1878 the Clark brothers picked up their blackboards, desks and textbooks and moved to the more placid settlement of Thorp (Continued on page 2)

POLITICAL WRITER FINDS MAINE AGAINST NEW DEAL

Editor's Note: Lyle Wilson, ace political reporter of the United Press, is touring the country recording present times. His first trip was into the Maine potato country, which is vitally interested in the potato control act. In the following dispatch, the first of a series Wilson reports reaction to this pivotal political state.

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1935, United Press)
HOULTON, Maine.—Maine is a hot potato these days—too hot for the New Deal to handle.

around here before they'd vote democratic. Dennis is about 80 and an old-time Democratic leader in Arrostook county.

He teetered back in his rocker in "The Handy Store"—D. Sheehan, Prop., as he discussed the current political situation in Maine.

Sheehan sells a strictly cheap and unostentatious stock of all-day suckers, bulk candy and canned goods.

He thinks the nation will go for Roosevelt next year, but that Maine will vote for the Republican nominee for president—any Republican nominee. A few drills up and around market square and down toward the railroad yards where the potato warehouses stand, row on row indicates that old Dennis is not far wrong on Maine.

This north country likes Col. Frank Knox or Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas for President after next November.

That, however, is community preference. The farmers farther up country are thinking of Senator Borah although they suspect he is a trifle wild on money questions. There is some resentment against former President Herbert Hoover but he has friends here and they are smart and hopeful.

President Roosevelt is condemned for too free spending. They say he has broken most of his campaign promises. George Paul, who taxied me around Arrostook county, said too, that a lot of republicans had federal and state jobs in Maine. Work relief is functioning fairly well but there is some friction between local and federal authorities. Houlton is carrying its share of the load. Money for annual re-surfacing of the town's roads was diverted to poor relief this year and the cars bounce you around a lot.

I came up here because this little town and Presque Isle, farther north, are the joint capitals of a potato empire. Maine produces one sixth of the potatoes grown in the United States and Arrostook county produces 80 per cent of the spuds grown in Maine. The county is larger than Massachusetts but not so populous—78,000 persons or thereabouts.

The 1935 congress made potatoes a political crop. It passed a sort of potato "Volstead Act" which may land you in jail if you purchase "bootleg potatoes." You will be able to recognize the legal potato by a stamp which Secretary Wallace or some of his men will lick and affix to each lawful container.

You won't go to jail right away. Congress neglected to appropriate money to administer the act. Meantime, Wallace plans a January potato farmer referendum—There are three million growers—To determine whether they want "Volstead" potatoes. Wallace hopes the farmers vote "no." Farmers in this part of the country are going to vote "Yes" I was informed, by about three to one.

To Maine, potato control merely is its share of the Agricultural Adjustment Act booty. H. W. Grinnel, potato merchant, whose office overlooks market square, told me that Connecticut tobacco farmers and southern cotton farmers who were paid not to raise their staple crops, had turned surplus land in to potatoes and were wrecking the market.

"Maine thinks if they would just abolish the AAA we might get along okay," Grinnel said. "But if there is going to be any AAA, Maine wants some of it."

Tammy Again Slips In the Back Way

When the gent over at the corner table gets too noisy and starts spilling his beer, it is a simple matter to take him by the neck and throw him out. Unfortunately, it often is much more of a job to keep him from sneaking back in again a little later.

All this is brought to mind by a study of the recent city elections in New York. These indicate that Tammany Hall, with its derby tilted down over its left eye in the good old tradition, is on the verge of making a comeback—at the expense, as usual, of the good citizens of the town.

Tammany succeeded in capturing 14 aldermanic seats in this last election. That in itself may not mean so much—Fiorello LaGuardia never did have the solid two-thirds majority that he needed on the board of oldermen—but it seems to indicate that history, with the help of the boys in the back room, is about to repeat itself.

For Tammany, which has been the horrible example for American reformers ever since the days of mustache cups and high-wheeled bicycles, always does come back. The indignant customers have tossed the tiger out of the joint about once every 20 years for generations, and he always has come back for more.

Like the Salvation Army's pet clients, he may be down, but he is never out.

Now all this is a pretty sad commentary on the fate of reform movements in American city politics, but there is nothing in the least mysterious about it. A writer of holy scripture some 20 centuries ago called the turn when he remarked that the sons of this world are frequently wiser than the children of light. That is as true in modern America as it was in ancient Judea.

The secret of the whole thing is that Tammany, or any other political machine, keeps working. Politics is not a sanctified and emotional game, to the machine; it is a job which has to be worked at, day in and day out.

The votes that elect city officials are cast by living, flesh-and-blood human beings, and the outfit that corrals the most human beings gets the most votes (barring undue shenanigans at the polling places). This is the point that Tammany never forgets.

The man who wants to see his city permanently equipped with an honest and efficient government could profitably remember that point. It isn't enough to get up on the stump once in four years and holler about the misdeeds of the ascals down at city hall. It takes a continuing organization and continuing hard work.

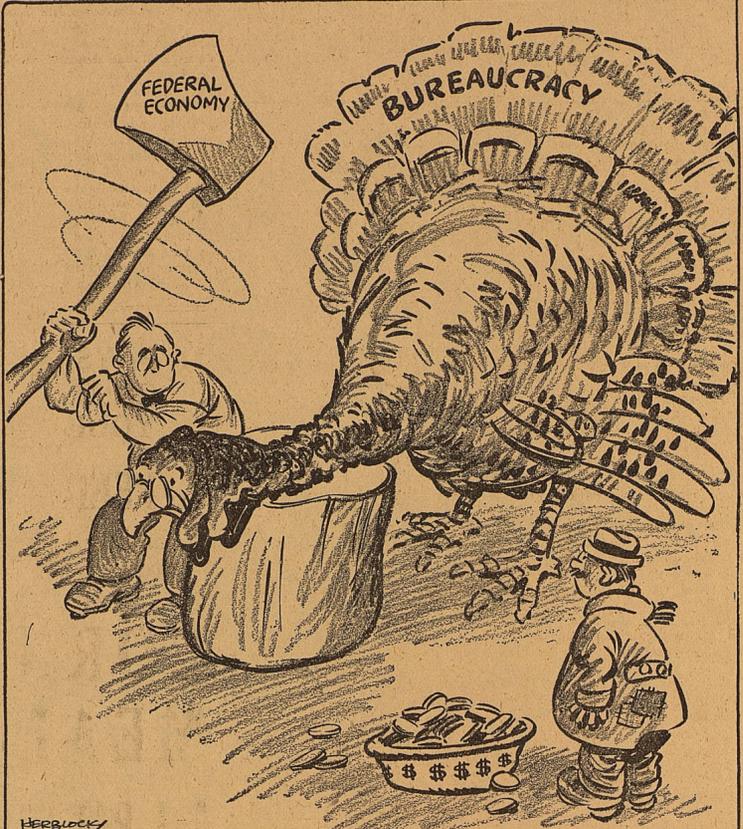

As long as the people who are interested in good government apply their interest only by fits and starts, Tammany and the other self-help machines will continue to enjoy the eternal comeback.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON. — When Mr. Harold Ickes goes on the spot, which is where you can find him on frequent occasions, the show is rather more than likely to be diverting. Even more fascinating are the behind-the-scenes movements as in the recent cause celebre of the German steel ordered by subcontractors on a couple of PWA projects. Suddenly your Uncle Harold found himself sore beset by the "Steel Trust," the American Federation of Labor, the Hearst press, and the large, motley collection of intra-administration enemies he has collected unto himself since March 4, 1933. The odds were heavy. But I beg of you to believe that the Battling Bulldog of the cabinet was no whit afraid. If Papa Roosevelt hadn't intervened and told him to back down, you would be seeing Mr. Ickes out in the center of the ring, flailing away at all his foes in the most awesome of New Deal bouts to date.

PLAIN fact: Ickes had been willing to use the threat of German steel imports in a minor way as a club (it was more like a wand) over the "Steel Trust," whose companies had a way of submitting identical bids on PWA jobs which suggested the taxpayers were being collectively held up for exorbitant profits. And Roosevelt had previously backed him up. But F. D. developed cold feet when the steel industry, working through Matthew Woll, persuaded President Bill Green of the A. F. of L. to join

OLDEN

Funeral services for M. L. Sharratt of Olden, who died at the West Texas Clinic in Ranger last Sunday night, were held at the Olden Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon. Interment was in Post Oak cemetery, near Breckenridge. Rev. E. R. Stanford of the Eastland Methodist Church conducted the services which were very impressive. Mr. Sharratt, for years an employee of the Magnolia Petroleum Company and located at Olden, had a host of friends in this and other communities who are deeply grieved at his passing. Known for his quiet, sincere nature and his pleasant, kindly disposition, he had those qualities that make and retain friends. He was a man capable of deep and lasting friendships. His life had been spent in many and different localities. France, many states of the Union and the gold fields of Alaska were known to him. Always exceptionally well and strong, it was not until the past two years that "Luke," as he was known to his friends, suffered ill health when he became ill of a serious heart ailment. Over a period of two years he suffered recurring attacks but it was not until the past three months he had to be confined to his bed. Throughout the whole two years and through his last long, discouraging illness, he was courageous, brave and kept the great desire to live. He fought a good battle even when it would seem he must have known it was to be a losing battle. He loved nature, the grandeur of the

Many Interesting Features Stressed in Talk by Honor Speaker, Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins

The 1920 club continued its policy of presenting notable speakers, when they presented at the Thursday afternoon meeting held in the colonial room, Gholson hotel, Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, of Eastland, who last week attended the state meeting of Federated Clubs, which convened in a session of unusual interest at Austin.

A complete and inspirational resume of the meeting was given and many features of interest to the membership stressed. Many organizations are being listed, and in a large number of places federated clubs are taking the place of Junior League study. This the sixth district has been divided, making a total of eight districts, extending to El Paso. The division will take effect shortly following the district meeting which is scheduled to be held at Abilene in the spring of 1936. Many outstanding speakers were reported in attendance at the session at Austin, making by far the most prominent and admirable assembly held for many seasons.

A group of honors were awarded the sixth district according to Mrs. Perkins. Mrs. M. H. Hargaman, president of the local club, graciously presided.

At tea time a coffee cup was served at a beautifully appointed table graced with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums. Mrs. P. A. Nelson, wearing a lovely brown cut velvet afternoon frock, poured.

The hospitality committee headed by the chairman, Mrs. C. D. Woods was made up of Mrs. Mills Davenport, Mrs. P. A. Nelson, Mrs. Ross Hodges, and Mrs. R. B. Canfield.

Several invited guests accepted the hospitality of members of the club personnel, rounding out one of the highlight programs of the year.

Twenty-Seventh Annual Convention Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers Holds Convention at El Paso

The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers association, held at El Paso, Nov. 18, 19 and 20th, is reported by delegates as one of the largest and most successful sessions to have convened since the organization.

Theme for the four days assembly, "The Home, the Index to National Life."

The president, Mrs. A. F. Woods, offered the following remarks which prefaced the programs, introducing prominent speakers, "In stilling sterling traits of character in the lives of the youth of today is the privilege and obligation of both parents and teachers."

"Honesty, thrift, truthfulness, respect for the laws of our land and for the rights are pre-requisites of good citizenship."

"The thought and action of a nation is but the reflection of the thought and action of its citizens in their homes. If we attain moral and spiritual growth as a people, let us look to our firesides."

Headquarters for the convention were at the Hotel Paso del Norte, with registration on mezzanine floor. Opening session held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, presented as program directors, Mrs. A. F. Wood, and State vice president, Mrs. E. H. Marek. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Ella Carothers Porter, honorary national vice president. Response, Mrs. Marek.

Tuesday's session was presided over by Mrs. Joe A. Wessendroff, state chairman character education, and held at Hotel Paso del Norte. Later in the day the president again presided over a program given at El Paso high school auditorium.

Principal address was given on "Our New Frontiers," by Dr. Joseph M. Martman, national character education, Chicago, Ill. Wednesday and Thursday sessions were ones of value and interest—introducing speakers who were well versed in their subjects. Today the association registers 96,537 members.

Many social attractions were included during the convention in compliment to the visitors, many whose first visit it was to the host city.

Ranger association was well represented by several delegates, in the persons of Mrs. J. S. Reynolds, Mrs. Louis Pitcock, Mrs. O. G. Lanier, Mrs. H. D. Bishop, and Mrs. Roy Wilkes.

"I Knew Diamond Jim"

(By Dr. O. S. Lowsley)

I attended Diamond Jim Brady from 1912 until his death in 1917. Although I was then only an inmate at Bellevue Hospital in New York, I had been a student at Johns Hopkins University under Dr. Young, and was well acquainted with the new technique the latter had perfected for the treatment of urological disorders. Mr. Brady was one of the most interesting if inconsistent patients I ever had. He would follow out instructions to the letter when it came to his medicines, but break every rule regarding his diet. He was rather proud of the fact that his stomach, when examined under the flurescope, was discovered to be six times as large as normal and nothing or no one could make him stop eating even though he realized his years were numbered. Fortunately, he never touched liquor and the alkaline reaction in the human stomach, of the enormous quantities of orange juice he consumed, helped counteract the bad effects of rich foods.

Even during periods of convalescence in bed, Mr. Brady bedecked himself in many of his precious jewels, and received his friends in high spirits. It was characteristic of the men that he refused to inflict his ailments upon others. "Diamond Jim" at the Arcadia Monday and Tuesday.

EAGLES SMASH MAVS FOR 32 TO 7 VICTORY

Ablene High School Eagles came to Eastland and left with a 32 to 7 victory over the Mavericks Friday afternoon.

The Eagles scored once each in the first three quarters and twice in the final period. Eastland made their score in the third period.

Eastland's sparkling plays were intermittent. Yardage of small consequence was not to be gained by ground plays and aerial tries with a few exceptions were of no avail.

"The heat is to be turned on, and this rampaging foe of mankind, to be 'taken for a ride' as he continued. 'We must each of us enlist in this campaign to teach our customers how to properly heat their homes in order to protect their health.'

"The common cold is costing the American public hundreds of millions of dollars yearly and doctors have found that one of the most fertile breeding grounds for this germ is the stuffy, overheated, poorly ventilated room. The family which huddles in one room over an open flame heater with the windows and doors closed is inviting disaster. It is for this reason that the company is taking the lead in public education to reduce the ravages of colds, pneumonia and similar diseases by instructing the public in proper heating methods," Mr. Grant said.

Mr. Grant pointed out that doctors and civic health authorities had heartily endorsed the campaign against colds and had cooperated in gathering material on prevention of colds. He urged employees to study the company's advertisements which are being carried in local newspaper and to listen in to the radio broadcasts sponsored each Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock by the company over WFAA-WBAP which present an outstanding medical authority to give advice on the prevention of colds and similar diseases.

According to Harry Wheelton, district superintendent of Lone Star Gasoline company and chairman for the meeting, programs of this nature are most profitable, and employes of the west division and their friends will look forward to more occasions of this kind.

By HARRY GRAYSON

YOU can advance Minnesota's claim to top ranking without getting much the worst of most any football argument, but then the fun begins.

Don't attempt to do what I'm doing here unless you have been shaken loose in a badly broken field.

Offhand, I would say that at this stage of the proceedings, Princeton, North Carolina, California, and Southern Methodist belong next to Minnesota, in the order named.

Then I would suggest Notre Dame, Ohio State, and Pittsburgh as a second cluster.

An even dozen must be included in the third group, with Nebraska, Iowa, Rice, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Marquette, Alabama, Texas Christian, Louisiana State, Stanford, Syracuse, and Georgia taking their places as listed.

Minnesota, playing terrific schedules, hasn't been beaten in three campaigns. Bernie Bierman lost Siedel and Alphonse this fall, but bobbed right back with Tuffy Thompson. Here is one of the finest coaches in the business with unlimited material.

Princeton might improve its position by getting out of its own circle, but there is no getting away from the fact that Fritz Crisler has a well-drilled army of splendid athletes.

Mustangs Fortify Position In Victory Over U. C. L. A.

NORTH CAROLINA is another untested outside of its own territory, but their performance against Tennessee, Maryland, Georgia Tech, and North Carolina State qualify the Tar Heels for the Rose Bowl or any other assignment.

California has solved one perplexing problem after another under its new head coach, Stub Allison.

Southern Methodist's latest achievement was swamping U. C. L. A., 21-0, on the Pacific coast, with Bobby Wilson, fleetest of the fine things NEA Service said about him in placing him on its 1934 All-America team.

Notre Dame or Ohio State wouldn't exactly be on the short end against any of the leaders, and any club would have had an awful in the Pittsburgh array that swamped Army in the final period.

The fact that it was nosed out by mighty Minnesota and held to a scoreless tie by Kansas State doesn't mean that Nebraska isn't one of the most powerful of all the creations. The Cornhuskers have exceptional backs in LaNoue, Cardwell, and Francis, and they operate behind a large and hard-charging forward wall.

Dartmouth Gets Big Chance Against Princeton, Nov. 23

IN tackling Princeton on Nov. 23, Dartmouth will have a chance to prove that it is placed too far down on this roll. There were no files on the outfit that whipped Harvard and trimmed Yale for the first time in history.

Unbeaten Holy Cross and Marquette are others which perhaps deserve higher rankings. Each has the most formidable array in its history, with superb running and passing games.

Ranking the teams means little, but it creates fresh disputes, on which football men live from September to December. With morale and the set-up playing such an important part, any fair team might whip any great one on any given afternoon. As Bob Zupke says, "You never can tell how a football will bounce."

DESDEMONA

On Tuesday, Nov. 5 the Twenty One Study club met at the clubhouse for the annual Bible day program. As guests for the day the members of the Gorman Excelsior club were present and also Mrs. C. O. Bragg of Desdemona. The house had been beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and vines with red berries and bowls of cut flowers. Hostesses for the day were Mmes. Clarence Ragland, David Parks, Charles Lee and Preston Sparks. The leader of the program was Mrs. W. H. Davis.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Mattie Henry who welcomed the guests in a short and well worded message after which the leader took charge. Roll call responses were Bible verses about trees and flowers. All present joined in singing Beautiful Garden of Prayer, and Mrs. Davis read the 21st chapter of 1 Kings in which the account of Naboth's vineyard or garden of grapes is told. Then followed the main program, an address on "Gardens of the Bible," written by Mrs. R. B. Willis, a past president of Arkansas Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Willis now makes her home with her daughter at Fayetteville, Ark., but formerly lived at Asheville, N. C., where her husband, a noted Presbyterian minister, was ill for many months before his death and during that time Mrs. Willis wrote the address and delivered it before Garden clubs in Asheville and nearby towns as a means of helping out their income. Mrs. C. W. Malby, Desdemona's most gifted reader, gave the address, a 45 minute one, entirely from memory and with splendid expression, which held her audience tense with interest.

In the address the writer of it considered first the Garden of Eden and the picture of it as given in John Milton's wonderful epic, "Paradise Lost." Coming down the ages the writer describes The Garden of Grapes and draws a parallel between Jezebel and Shakespeare's Lady MacBeth. The Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the Garden of Love as described in Solomon's Songs, The Garden of the Prophets, the Garden of Gethsemane and as a climax the Garden of Resurrection were each described in beautiful language and with classical literature woven in with the Biblical accounts in such a way as to make the address a masterpiece of literature. At the close of the address Mrs. W. E. Barron and Mrs. Preston Sparks sang, very sweetly, "In the Garden." Miss Edith Creighton was accompanist. At the close of the program the hostesses served delicious refreshments in two courses, the first being turkey salad on lettuce, olive, brown bread, stuffed celery, with second course of pecan pie with whipped cream and coffee. Favors were small turkeys and paper napkins were Thanksgiving design. Those present from Gorman were Mmes. O. D.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 24.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him" (Lamentations 3:25).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Stand fast therefore in the liberty where-with Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage" (Galatians 5:1).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes" (page 184).

School Has Girls Whistling Chorus

BANGS, Tex.—There is nothing like whistling to keep up a student's spirits in the dark days before high school graduation.

On the theory that bird music may be made a scientific study, the Bangs high school has made whistling a regular course in its curriculum.

Miss Elizabeth Worthley has organized the Bangs Bird Whistling chorus of 60 girls, which the school claims as the only one of its kind in the world.

Mrs. R. K. Glanton left Saturday for Ranger for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Harrison, before going to Olney. Her many friends were sorry to see her leave our town.

We regret to report that R. Miles was suffering from injuries received last Tuesday when a horse kicked him and broke three of his ribs. Gene Browning took him to the Blackwell Sanitarium for treatment Friday.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DANA WESTBROOK, born on a remote island, comes to make her home with her grandmother, aristocratic MRS. WILLIARD CAMERON, whose Dana has never seen.

Twenty-one years before Dana's mother eloped with a man she loved, leaving her husband and an infant daughter, NANCY WALLACE. Young Wallace divorced his wife and remarried. DANA WESTBROOK, a year later, their daughter Dana, was born, and given the name of her father.

After the death of her parent Dana was invited to come to America to live with her mother's family. She is received cordially by her great aunt, MISS ELLIE CAREW, but meets a cold reception from her grandmother, her half-sister, Nancy, Nancy's bitterness and the gloomy atmosphere of the old place have sobering effect. Dana thinks happily, "I shouldn't have come NOW GO WITH THE SUN."

CHAPTER III

THE sun came flooding in through a deep window. Close by, a young man singing gaily. Dana, lying in the great canopied bed, lifted her young arms high in sheer elation. A smile curved her mouth.

In a sudden rush of feeling Dana thought—"It was ridiculous getting emotional last night. They'll be here soon, and I'll like them, at least, I'll try awfully hard."

Water was running in the presently in the adjoining bathroom, and Dana was singing blissfully.

Across the hall an unhappy woman listened to Dana's song. After a while she crossed the room and closed the transom. But she could still hear the words; "We sing a little, dance a little, love a lot . . . living in the middle of the moonlight."

The singer stopped abruptly and Mrs. Cameron sighed in relief. The girl was evidently a romantic creature. Like, like—she wouldn't complete the thought. But feelings—ideas that had been lying dormant through the years were crystallizing under a new impetus. Perhaps it was true that you had to direct romance. Perhaps it had been partially her fault that Dana's mother had wrecked her life and brought disaster to a proud family name.

This girl seemed pliable enough. Much more so than Nancy. There was a stubborn one for you! Apparently in European schools they taught respect for one's elders, if they taught nothing else. They had done very well by her granddaughters. And the girl was beautiful. It was going to be quite satisfactory to see Susan Weatherford's face when Dana was introduced to her and her two ugly daughters.

Old Mrs. Cameron almost chuckled. She must have a talk with Ellen. Somehow, someday, they might be able to manage a party to properly introduce Dana to society.

FROM her own room on the south side of the house, Nancy had a different view of the garden. Its unkemptness had never troubled her, for it had been like that so long that she had almost forgotten it had ever been trimly landscaped with decorous flower beds breaking the velvet stretches, a fountain tinkling musically in the center and great trees arching overhead.

There were voices under Nancy's window. Her grandmother's voice and that of young Jake. Sarah's grandson, who did odd jobs about the place and built the trees in winter for his "board and keep."

"Clear the weeds first and then cut the grass," Mrs. Cameron was directing. "And then I'll show you upon pruning the shrubbery. If you need any help, you might see Alex come in for two days. He's doing some work on the new one the Merrins are away for the summer."

"Couldn't I go with you, Nancy?" Dana asked.

"Don't need no hep, Mis' Cameron," Jake objected. "Clean up this air garden all by myself. And mek that $2 clear. Can do it easy all myself, Mis'."

Grandmother spending $2 to have the garden cleaned up! Nancy stepped to the window and stared down in amazement.

There was the gaunt old figure in rusty black, a huge sun hat of a vintage of years before, on her head. Now and then she lifted one hand and pointed with a long finger at some shrub or plant.

Nancy's black eyes sparkled, and she smiled. At the moment, she looked almost pretty. And then the old, contemptuous curve pulled her mouth down at the corners.

Of course Dana was behind all this. The garden had been good enough for her all these years. Grandmother had never sent Jake into it with pruning shears before. It was Dana, who had always had everything. And now she had come here, and Grandmother and silly Aunt Ellen would probably turn the place upside down for her!

At the moment, Sarah's voice rang out loudly. "Mis', you're twins tek y're death on that dum ground. Taint no time to be trompin round mung them weeds. You'll be down in bed tomorrow."

"And serve her right for being such a fool," Nancy thought grimly. Even Sarah's voice she decided, had a different quality. As though she were excited about something.

There was a current stirring that threatened to upset the established calm of the place.

Impossible with the mysterious activity directly beneath her window. After a while she gave up trying to read and went downstairs.

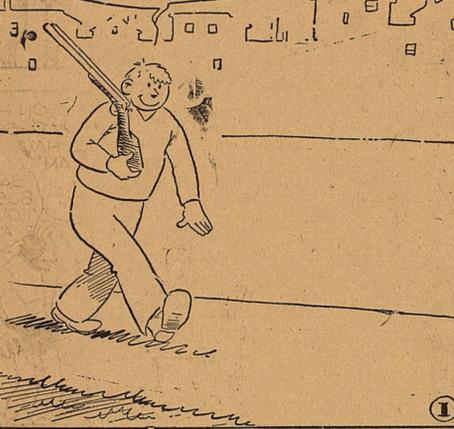

Her grandmother and aunt had come in and were sitting in the small, book-lined room where they gathered sometimes to sew or mend. They were sitting close together, in a pose that suggested conspiracy.

"There's Nancy," said her grandmother, as Nancy approached. "Come in. We're just planning to send for you."

Fan-Pleasing Card For Monday Night

The coming wrestling program at the Elks Arena for Monday night is the general topic of wrestling fans of Ranger, and those who failed to see last Monday's program missed one of the best matches ever held in West Texas.

Monday night's program is equally as good if not better than the last one. The Elks have a line on the best wrestling talent in the game and intend to bring the best to Ranger. The attendance has been increasing each Monday.

The 45-minute prelim brings back Eddie O'Shea, the wild Irishman who has become very popular with the fans and Dory Detton, the Utah Mormon, a newcomer.

Detton is a fast, clean, clever wrestler and comes recommended as capable of taking care of himself with the best of the bad boys. The main event is a return bout, but of longer duration, of two of the most evenly matched boys that have wrestled in Ranger, Blondy Chrane, the pride of Abilene, and Albert Szasz, the Hungarian flash. These two boys went to a forty-five minute draw last week and the audience requested a return match to see which is really the best. This match should prove to be one of the best ever held and worth going miles to see.

The show starts promptly at 8:30 p. m., rain or shine, hot or cold.
