LOYALISTS GET MUNITIONS AND GAIN VICTORY

By United Press
The Madrid government announced today shortly after the launching of a major counter-offensive against the rebels, that leftist forces had recaptured several towns in the sector, ranging from 14 to 20 miles south of the capital.

The government has received a fleet of American airplanes and a number of small, new war vessels, reliable sources said. More than 15 pursuit planes were purchased indirectly in the United States.

The new warships arrived in Spanish ports this week. Premier Francisco Caballero instructed the army chiefs to open a general offensive along all Madrid fronts at dawn today. Aided by the new equipment the government also took the offensive in the air.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The first task of European statesmen has been to do their utmost to prevent the Spanish civil war from spreading. Capt. Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today.

The French, Belgian and Soviet ambassadors were in the gallery as Eden spoke. Regarding the criticism of the slow work of the non-intervention agreements, Eden described Russia as the "chief complainer," remarking that the complaints were aimed at the smallest of the three fascist powers, Portugal.

Future State Medical Head Hails Pregnancy, Birth Discussion As Progressive Sign in Public Meet

Discussion of pregnancy and birth at public meetings was hailed as a sign of progressiveness of his profession by Dr. Calvin R. Hannah of Dallas, president-elect of the State Medical Association, Wednesday night at the First Christian church in Eastland.

"Why, you know, it hasn't been so long ago that even doctors discussed the subjects behind closed doors." Surviving his audience, Dr. Hannah observed:

"Even a fellow can bring his girl to a meeting like this now." The public gathering was a feature of the two-day meeting sponsored by the State Department of Health in its campaign with the State Medical Association to reduce infant and maternal mortality. The meeting, concluded Thursday afternoon, attracted physicians from throughout the Thirteenth Councillor District of the State Medical Association.

Criticism was heaped by Dr. Hannah on those who perform abortions. Dr. Hannah is also a professor of obstetrics in the Baylor University School of Medicine at Dallas.

Dr. W. G. Phillips of Fort Worth, a past president of the district association, used stronger terms and termed abortion "murder." He pedastated country doctors in the low death rate in their cases of childbirth.

Dr. J. R. Lemmon of Amarillo, and Dr. H. W. Barnett of Austin, the latter from the State Department of Health, called attention to Texas' rate of 73 deaths out of 1,000 cases of childbirth. This can be reduced, they pointed out, with the cooperation of parents and physicians.

Overeating after the third and fourth month of pregnancy was pointed out by Dr. Hannah as one of the causes of many troubles at birth. He also recommended proper clothing for mothers.

Dr. L. H. Reeves of Fort Worth, district councillor, presided. He was introduced by Dr. J. H. Caton of Eastland, also a past president of the district association.

Drs. Lemmon and Hannah were lecturers Thursday afternoon for final sessions of the doctors' meeting in the Exchange building. Additional registrations—Drs. Phillips of Fort Worth, R. E. Forrester of Moran, and C. H. Carter of Eastland—brought total attendance to 27.

Dr. Barnett of the State Department of Health regarded the attendance as excellent.

England Reads Its First Account of King's Girl Friend

LONDON, Oct. 29.—England read, today, the first open reference since Mrs. Wallis Simpson's divorce, of her close friendship with King Edward.

It was an article in the radical weekly, "The Week," which was at once a denunciation of American newspapers for the prominence with which the story, with British newspapers for suppressing the story, and a clear indication that the idea of a marriage between the King and Mrs. Simpson would be opposed bitterly by many persons.

Mrs. Simpson and King Edward have telephoned each other frequently since she returned from Ipswich. It was said King Edward is unlikely to be seen in public much with Mrs. Simpson until her divorce is made final next April, so that he will not embarrass her by causing comments.

CANDIDATES IN ADDRESSES IN EASTERN AREA

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt vigorously defended the increase in food prices today and declared he knew "The American people will not return to power those leaders who emptied the national market basket."

His speech contained a blistering attack on republican leadership which, he asserted, "still preaches the same heresy, class against class and region against region."

The president spoke earlier at Wilkes Barre, where he denounced critics of the social security acts. He said opponents of the plan sought to sabotage security for workers and to sabotage the workers themselves.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Gov. Alf Landon, republican presidential nominee who turned "Bull Moose" in 1912, paid tribute today to the founder of that party, former President Theodore Roosevelt.

The governor, intent on capturing New York state's 47 electoral votes, interrupted conferences in New York City to visit the grave and the widow of the former president.

Mrs. Roosevelt recently endorsed the candidacy of Gov. Landon. Landon said he did not discuss politics with Mrs. Roosevelt. "It was just an old fashioned visit," he told newspapermen.

Girl Whose Body Found Recently Once Rangerite

Miss Juanita Kelly, 21, whose body was recently found in a shallow grave on a farm near Morton, was a former resident of Ranger, it was revealed today by former friends of the girl.

Miss Kelly was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kelly and attended Cooper school in Ranger. They moved to Morton about five years ago. Kelly built the brick fence around the Dr. A. K. Wier home in Ranger and erected the derrick at the foot of Main street.

Miss Kelly's body was found several days after she had been reported missing from her home. She was last seen at a dance in company with L. O. Cooper, 32, a farmer, who was later arrested on a murder charge and committed suicide in the Lubbock county jail. Cooper was married and the father of two small daughters. He admitted being with the girl, according to news dispatches, but stated that he had taken the girl back to the dance and she had left with two other men.

The Kelly family was well known in Ranger and a number of friends of the family remembered the girl after reading news stories about her death.

Juggernaut of War
 Crushes All in Path

To read of Belgium's recent proclamation of neutrality is to be reminded once more of the desperate plight of people who have to live in the middle of a great highway for armies.

The people of Belgium might be the greatest pacifists, the most pronounced lovers of peace, in all the world; nevertheless they would have to live under the constant shadow of war. For their little country lies between two great nations which have a tradition of mutual enmity dating back for many generations, and the handiest way for these two nations to get at each other is to cross the Flanders plain.

Belgium is one of those supremely unfortunate countries which may, at any minute, be forced into a war with which they had nothing whatever to do.

In the late spring of 1914 the people of Belgium should have been as well able to look forward to continued peace as any people on earth. They had no territorial designs, no plans for expansion at someone else's expense; they did not own anything in particular that anyone else wanted. They were on good terms with everyone and they would have been glad to stay that way.

All this, as you can remember, did them no good. They simply stood in the way of the juggernaut, and the war was unloaded on their doorstep. The world's armies needed room to fight and the rich Belgian fields were the handiest place.

What has happened now is just another valiant attempt on the part of the Belgians to keep that sort of thing from occurring again. How far it may succeed is an open question.

By renouncing the alliance with France, they may disengage themselves from the conflicting rivalries of Europe; yet, if Germany and France go to war again, and the Germans display a canny reluctance to butt their heads against the iron line of French forts, it is all too likely that Belgium once more will find herself accorridor for the passage of armies.

It is a tragic situation; and, in a sense, it is a symbol of the situation in which all the people of Europe find themselves these days.

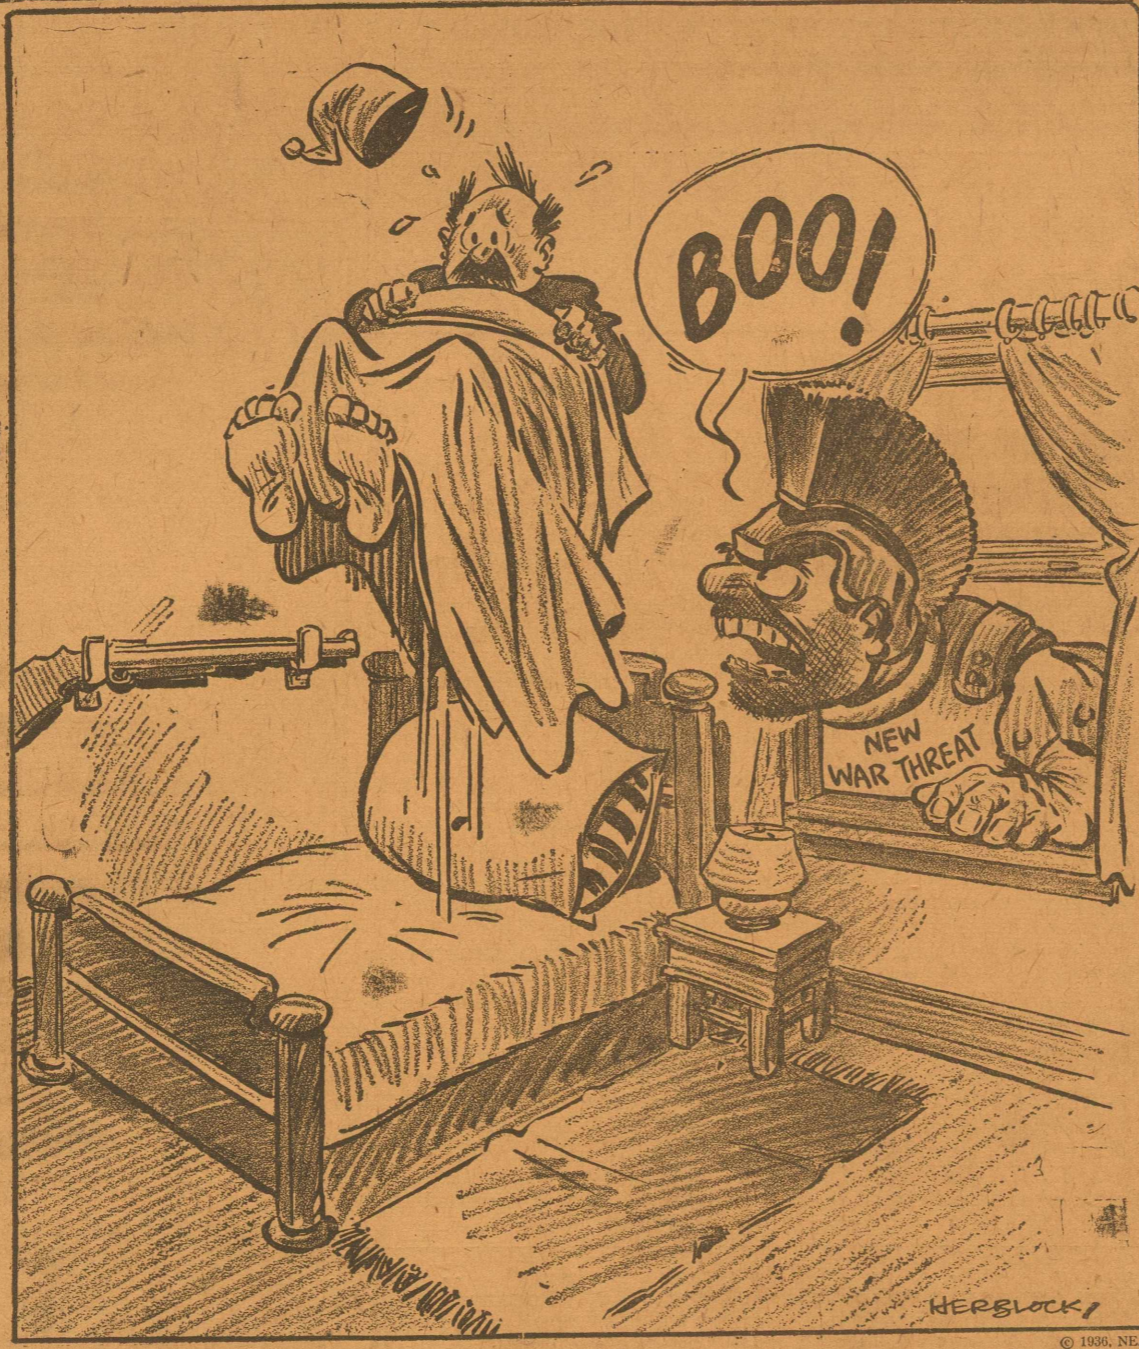

The thing they dread the most — war, with all that it means in the way of suffering and pain and loss — hangs over their heads, put there by forces which, as individual citizens, they are almost powerless to change.

It may come and it may not come — from day to day they cannot tell — but there is very little they can do to prevent it, for they live on a continent in which an infinitely tangled web of rivalries, hatred, fears, wrongs, and suspicions certainly must produce war sooner or later.

Like the Belgians, they live in the path of the juggernaut. Can any American look at their plight without breathing a devout prayer of thanksgiving for the supreme good fortune which puts him in a land able to decide for itself whether it is to have continued peace?

Since Norway has interned Trotzky on a small farm, his Soviet enemies will have to be content with grapevine reports on him.

ST. LOUIS—In Missouri's capital, Jefferson City, is a big building which newspapermen, lobbyists, and some legislators call "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The fact that this building is the state capitol will give you some idea how important is Tom Pendergast's Kansas City political machine in Missouri politics and in any state-wide election.

The Pendergast machine and fraudulent elections are the chief issues in the campaign. The machine, with its ability to deliver a huge vote, is one of the chief props for the commonly held theory that Missouri is in the bag for Roosevelt.

At the same time, revelation of huge registration frauds in St. Louis and Kansas City may prove to be F. D. R.'s outstanding campaign liability.

Democrats are predicting that Roosevelt will carry the state by from 100,000 to 250,000. More neutral observers are inclined to shade the former figure considerably.

The Republican attitude can best be described as hopeful. In 1932, the Roosevelt plurality over Hoover was 460,000.

PARADOXICALLY, both St. Louis, whose voting lists have just been scrubbed clean after exposure of the worst election fraud in Missouri in history, and Kansas City, where critics say the registration lists are padded with 60,000 "ghosts," have had record-breaking registrations this year.

Love by Rachel Mack

BEGIN HERE TODAY KATE and CAROLINE MEED live on a farm, Meed Meadows, with their lovely, indolent grand-father, MAJOR SAM MEED, and two old colored servants, ALTHY and ZEKKE. Kate is engaged to MORGAN FRENCH, who neglects her for beautiful EVE ELWELL.

Major Meed loses the farm to JEFF HOWARD, a bitter young mountaineer. Kate hates JEFF for taking their home. In spite of her insolent treatment, JEFF cannot prevent himself from loving her. Kate plans a hayride, but the party proves to be a humiliating failure. Next day Morgan and Kate are married if she can't send Caroline off to find a job and put her grandfather in a home for veterans. Kate, because of her love for Morgan, tries to excuse his cruel demands.

THE offices of the law firm of Prentiss and Elwell occupied several old-fashioned rooms over a hardware store on Center street. Though unpretentiously housed, it was one of the most important legal firms in the state.

Morgan was alone in the office today. Judge Prentiss was trout fishing in Canada, and Mr. Elwell was in Lexington on business. Morgan had just persuaded a client to compromise with a man he wanted to sue.

"After all, Mr. Brown," Morgan pointed out, "we can't have everything in this world. It would be pleasant, I grant you, but no one's ever found the way to work it."

"There's some kind of charm and power in her make-up that the others lack."

The office telephone rang. The secretary answered in an adjoining room and Morgan could hear her side of the conversation: "Yes, Eve. . . No, your father's out of town today. Is there something I could do for you? . . . Yes, Mr. Prentiss is in. Wait. I'll call him."

Morgan picked up his telephone. "Hello, Eve!" "Hello, Morgan. I wanted to ask Dad something—I'd forgotten and Australia could combine in an English-Speaking Union to preserve the peace of the Pacific and let Europe take care of itself."

TOOVEY expressed great satisfaction at the progress being made in the building up of Pacific air lines. In addition to the Pan-American Airways from San Francisco via Honolulu, Midway, Wake, Guam to the Philippines, and the lines of the Imperial Airways and the Dutch Air Lines that connect Australia with London and all European centers, Toovey declared that at least two other fundamental lines are now under consideration.

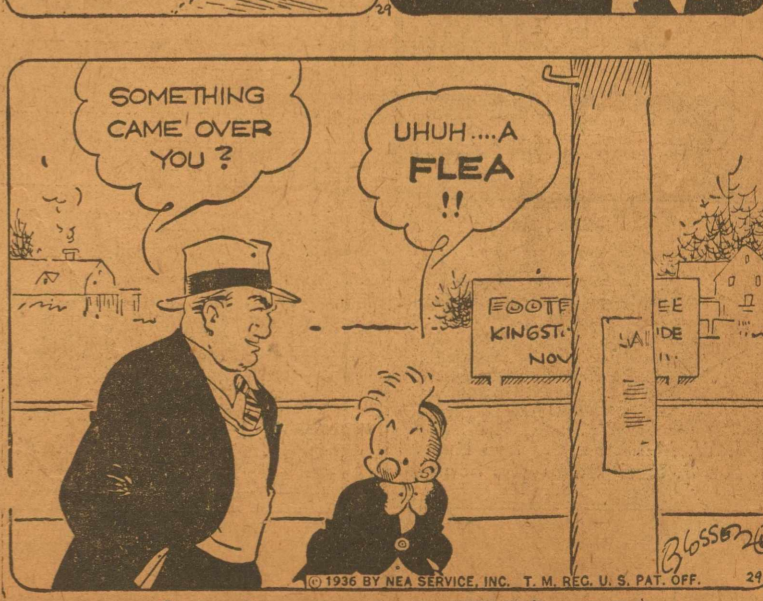

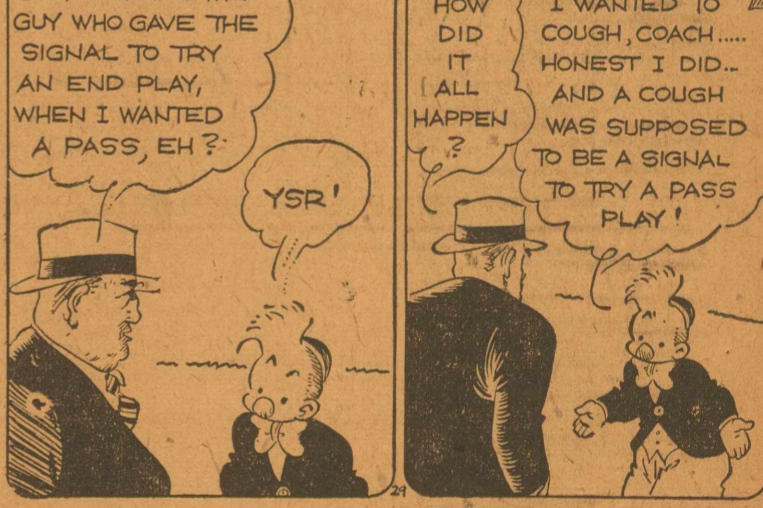

PAINTS VEGETABLES GREEN ADELAIDE—Hugo Kuhlman, Adelaide, market gardener, was fined $60 for painting a yellow colored trombone green and selling it as a fresh and naturally green-colored vegetable. Detectives said Kuhlman admitted spraying a number of trombones with green paint "to freshen them up."

Jack Winston to Play at Dance at Mineral Wells Hotel Jack Winston and his 9-piece orchestra will play for the opening of the Baker ballroom, Mineral Wells, Saturday evening, October 31, it was announced today.

Winston, who has recently closed an engagement at the Blackstone, also filled a summer engagement at Casino Park, in Fort Worth.

Prizes are being offered for the best name submitted between now and Saturday noon.

Visiting Here
Mrs. Ida Harkleroad and young daughter, of Arcadia, Calif., are in Ranger for a visit with friends, before going to Poyote, where they will visit with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Ward. Mrs. Harkleroad is a former secretary of the Commercial State Bank, and made this city her home for several years.

Moves to Ranger
Mrs. Anna Mayo moved to Ranger this week to make her home, in order that her young grandson, Jimmie Hanill, might attend Ranger Junior College. They are residing at the Marston apartments, No. 209. Shortly over a year ago, Mrs. Mayo was in the ready-to-wear business at Dallas, later going to Strawn, where she has lived until coming to Ranger.

While making Dallas her home she was an active member of the Adolphian club, and her present membership is in the First Methodist church. The new resident is no stranger here. She has visited friends frequently and has accepted invitations to social affairs, at which times she entertained with readings. Her more recent visit was paid to the home of Mrs. Colonel Brasher, when the house hostess entertained members of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Mayo's grandson has acquired many friends since entering junior college, and was only recently a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bendix and son, Lester, when they visited at Austin over the week-end. Ranger bids cordial welcome to the newcomers.

Mrs. Mayo had as her guest last week her daughter, of San Antonio, who serves as secretary and house hostess at the Women's club, the Bright Shawl.

Young P.-T. A. to Contribute to Halloween With Carnival
Announcement comes from the Parent-Teacher association of Young school that a Halloween carnival will be held at the school Friday evening. Doors are to be opened at 7:45 o'clock with the coronation ceremony to be staged promptly at 8 o'clock. The crowning of King and Queen promises to lend much color to the entertainment. A musical program under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Murrell is also a feature of the evening's entertainment, after which the many booths will be opened.

Each Halloween the P.-T. A. entertains with a similar affair, and the students dress in costume, wear masks and fill the night with much gaiety. The association is headed by its president, Mrs. C. E. Maddocks, whose leadership is responsible for many outstanding accomplishments. Much fun is in store, and all parents and friends are invited to share in the gala program.

Mrs. Z. B. Morgan Hostess
The home of Mrs. Z. B. Morgan was gaily decorated in Halloween emblems Wednesday afternoon when she entertained with a Halloween party in compliment to members of Child Study club No. 2.

Mrs. Ross, Staton was awarded a prize for the most complete Halloween garb worn, with mask. Mrs. Weldon Webb was prize winner in games.

Refreshment time brought a plate of beans, onions, cornbread sticks, butter milk and doughnuts, served Mmes. O. M. Lemmond, T. L. Dupree, Weldon W. Webb, Odelle Cole, J. E. Ogg, J. B. Houghton, H. C. Clark, Carl Heinlin, Glen Simons, Hammer, Roy McClesky, Dorothy McClistler, W. B. Emfinger, Onis Littlefield, Saule Perlestin, Johnny Odum, T. J. Powell, and J. E. Meroney.

Mrs. O. G. Lanier Talks at Club Meeting
Child Study club No. 1 presented Mrs. O. G. Lanier as principal speaker on a program Wednesday afternoon when members met in the home of Mrs. Bill Brown. Her topic, well discussed, carried the thought which is being given much attention at this time, "Run-Away Children." Various reasons why children desert their homes were mentioned and proved of unusual interest to the club.

Business occupied a larger part of the hour, presided over by the first vice president, Mrs. Bill Brown, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Brown Bradley. Mrs. E. L. Fontaine, who has not only been an active member but a very popular one, tendered her resignation from the club since she and her husband are leaving Ranger for their future home in DeQueen, Ark.

A plate of refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cakes and cocoa were served Mmes. Edwin George, Joe Stie, O. G. Lanier, R. E. Brown, E. R. Green, and Miss Rena Mason. Mrs. Melvin Belknap acted as co-hostess with Mrs. Brown.

Gorman Man Pays Visit to Ranger

Amendments Are Explained to Lions By L. R. Pearson
A full discussion of the six proposed amendments to be voted on next Tuesday was heard today by the Lions at their regular weekly meeting. Lion A. N. Larson was program chairman and introduced L. R. Pearson, who discussed the amendments in a very interesting manner, which was appreciated by the members of the club.

Visitors at today's meeting included Lion Freeman of Eastland and Mr. Thompson. Lion Ringold had as his guest J. C. Owenby, high school student, who thanked the club for glasses purchased for him.

Secretary Meroney reported that those who failed to attend last week's meeting had made up their attendance which scored 100 per cent for last week. Two members were absent at the meeting today and if these two make up their attendance with some other club before next Thursday the score will again be 100 per cent.

No report has been received from the Eastland club regarding their percentage of attendance. Secretary Meroney stated, therefore, Ranger's standing in the attendance contest with Eastland could not be ascertained.

Lion Harry A. Logsdain was appointed as program chairman for next week, and Lion C. J. Moore for the week following. President J. J. Kelly presided at today's meeting.

Use of Sulphur On Cotton Pests Is Being Studied

FREEPORT, Texas—With indications that the 1936 Texas cotton crop will be considerably larger than that of 1935 when 2,849,750 bales were marketed, the Freeport Sulphur Company is completing a survey of the methods used by growers in the Lone Star State to increase yield through control of cotton insect pests and diseases.

Reports gathered by the company reveal interesting data regarding the use of sulphur in flea hopper control, results of one large-scale experiment showing a production gain of more than 160 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

Recognizing the flea hopper as one of the most serious of the cotton pests, the company has announced its intention of compiling as complete data as possible on the success of the sulphur method in controlling the insect and of making this information available to growers throughout the South.

Study is being made of the use of airplanes in dusting large cotton acreages and the company also said it plans to investigate the use of sulphur in the war against the cotton plant bug, which annually causes growers heavy losses in yield. Experiments made this last summer point to the success of the same method of controlling this pest as is used in controlling the flea hopper.

Also scheduled for intensive study is the cotton dabler, which attacks alfalfa as well as cotton. In several states, notably California, Alabama and New Mexico, growers report that sulphur dusting has to date proved the most effective method of control.

Hawaii Seeks Unit Of Fleet Air Force

HONOLULU.—Plans for the formation here of a unit of the fleet aviation reserve corps have been completed by naval officials.

The project is to be laid before the commandant of the 14th naval district for final approval it will be the first of its kind to be located outside of continental United States.

Tentative plans call for the assignment of at least six and possibly twelve planes which have been replaced by more modern equipment in the regular service.

It is believed that Lieut. Commander F. V. Connell, employed by the Inter-Island Airways, Ltd., and until recently in command of the fleet aviation reserve base at Oakland, Calif., will be assigned to the proposed new post.

A number of former naval pilots, now in civilian life, are expected to join the unit.

British Coal Profits Reach 10-Year Peak

LONDON—Britain's coal industry made a profit of $20,075,000—the highest for 10 years—in the first three months of 1936.

The chief reason was an increased demand of 5,000,000 tons for home industries. A secondary reason was the higher price charged to give the miners better wages. Compulsory increases that ranged from 25 to 50 cents were imposed on householders, while voluntary increased payments were made by the gas, electricity, chemical, brewing, confectionary, iron and steel and other trades, of 25 cents a ton.

From both sources the industry received an average of 17-1/2 cents a ton more for its coal than before the miners' wage question was settled.

Egg Marathon On For Select Hens

STORRS, Conn.—One of the country's oldest marathons is the egg-laying contest at Connecticut State College, now in its 26th year.

In the fall of every year, hundreds of hens settle into their nests in the poultry husbandry department's modern electrified and air-conditioned pens. Entries are received from over all parts of the country, and the college has captured records year after year.

Each contestant enters 10 hens, and 10 alternates. The hens of each entrant are housed in separate pens, equipped with wire nests, automatic watering, and four windows each. Eggs are collected daily, graded and a chart kept of progress. At the end of 365 days the final scoring is announced.

This year there are 1,300 hens competing from 13 states. Seven breeds are entered, including anconas, barred rocks, white wyandottes, Rhode Island reds, New Hampshires and white leghorns.

Wisconsin Collector Has 14,000 Buttons

RIO, Wis.—Anyone unable to solve the old problem of "button, button, who's got the button?" might consult Mrs. Ralph D. Peck of Rio.

Mrs. Peck has collected 14,000 buttons of all shapes and sizes in the last three years. Some of her specimens are from the coats of prominent persons.

Her oldest button was made in 1735 and came from the vest of a sailing captain. Most of her buttons are labeled and mounted on cards.

Trotsky Becomes a Name of Shame to Communist Russia

MOSCOW—The name "Trotsky," formerly common in Russia, has become unpopular since repudiation by the Stalin regime of the former Bolshevik leader.

The Soviet press frequently prints petitions (legal requirement for the change of name) by persons desiring to drop the Trotsky.

Sport Glances. . . . . By Grayson

CHICAGO.—Roused followers of the Chicago Cubs fear that Scout Clarence Rowland will trade Frank Demaree next.

Following the disposal of Lon Warneke, Gabby Hartnett figured to be next in line. Hartnett has been far and away the most popular Bruin of the last 15 years, but the burly catcher won a reprieve when he carried his case to young Philip K. Wrigley.

With Hartnett made safe for Wrigley Field, Demaree would be the next most eligible candidate for a Cubs swap; if that is, basing these transactions on the Warneke deal. Demaree has been the best day-in-and-day-out ball player on the Chicago roster for the last two campaigns.

The amusing part of the Warneke barter, in which the great pitcher went to the St. Louis Cardinals for Jimmy Collins and Leo Roy Parmelee, was the announcement that Scout Pants Rowland made it. Perhaps Owner Wrigley was afraid the persuasive and hard-driving Branch Rickey of the Red Birds would trade Manager Charley Grimm out of the North Side park.

who has given the outfit everything he had at all times. He has averaged 20 games a season for the last five years. He nearly threw his arm away trying to win the 1935 world series. He won 16 games in the season just closed after being bothered by a sore shoulder at the outset.

Naturally, Scout Rowland tried to give the Cardinals Bill Lee instead of Warneke, but Rickey, who sold Lee to the Cubs, realized the value of an outstanding pitcher and insisted on Warneke.

CHICAGO required Rip Collins, who should play plenty of first base and do considerable long distance hitting, but Parmelee could not win after the fourth of July for either the Giants or Cardinals.

The Warneke deal is unsound from a Cubs standpoint if for no other reason than that Wrigley gave the Phillies $35,000 and Chuck Klein for Curt Davis and Ethan Allen during the past season. The object of that deal was to bolster the Chicago pitching staff, something Davis failed to do.

The chief trouble with the Cubs is that a half dozen veterans have been playing for themselves.

Another Cub handicap is that two members of the club definitely have managerial aspirations. They are Hartnett and Billy Herman. Since Grimm was appointed it has been evident that Hartnett would like to succeed his banjo-strumming boss. That Gabby sees the opportunity near was indicated when he appealed to Wrigley to be permitted to stick around.

It is plain that the Chicago Cubs are badly in need of a firmer guiding hand.

RICKEY secretly could have traded Grimm out of anything more than Warneke, however, so maybe the old umpire and White Sox manager broke into the picture only because none of the officials cared to take the blame for railroading the famous right-hander.

Everybody but Wrigley, Rowland, and Grimm considered the likable Warneke a fixture in Chicago. To say that his being shipped down the river was shocking is putting it mildly.

Warneke, who is only 27, has been one of the mighty few Cubs

A typical advertisement in the Evening Moscow read:
"Trotsky, Ivan Ivanovitch, born 1897 in village Nerodi of Mogilev Province, residing in Moscow, wishes to exchange his family name for Svetlov."

An equally understandable change was requested by Alexei Matveevich Beznosikov. Beznosikov means "noseless."
