GEORGE BURNS SENTENCED IN FEDERAL COURT

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—George Burns, stage, screen and radio comedian and a member of the team of Burns and Allen, received a suspended sentence of one year and a day and an $8,000 fine in federal court today on his plea of guilty to smuggling jewelry.

Burns was placed on probation for a year and a day.

The film and radio comedian, who is the straight member of Burns and Allen, did not speak while Judge William Bondy assessed a fine, which was almost twice the value of the smuggled gems and nearly eight times what the duty would have been.

Burns turned white when the judge said, "I sentence you to one year and a day in prison—" but he sighed with relief a moment later when Judge Bondy added—"I shall suspend imposition of sentence during good behavior."

After the brief proceedings federal authorities announced that Burns would be available as a witness at another trial growing out of the activities of Albert M. Chaperau, international soldier of fortune, who has pleaded guilty to smuggling jewelry and clothing for clients of film and cafe society.

The impending trial referred to was obviously that of Jack Benny, Burns' rival for film and radio honors, who pleaded not guilty to similar charges.

Benny was the only person not on date in the web woven around Chaperau.

Cisco Man Given Term In Stamford Robbery Of Nov. 13

ANSON, Jan. 1.—Blame for his entanglement with the law Monday was given two companions by J. M. Eudy, 42, of Cisco, who pleaded guilty to the November 13 armed robbery of a filling station in west Stamford.

Eudy, who said he has a wife and seven children, received a minimum sentence of five years in prison from Judge Milburn S. Long, who had exchanged courts with Judge W. R. Chapman.

Eudy told 104th district court jurors (required in trial on a capital offense even when the plea is guilty) that he understood he was accepting a ride to Fort Worth when he left his home with Rexfield Holt of Cisco and L. L. Powell of Eastland. They are in jail in default of bond, pending trial in connection with the same robbery.

Subsequently, the defendant testified, he was informed the automobile in which he rode was stolen. He said his companions told him they were bound for Fort Worth but El Paso, where a market assertedly awaited the car.

Eudy said they drove by a circuitous route to Stamford, where a filling station with Glenn Dodson in charge was robbed, then fled, but not to El Paso. The trio drove to Oklahoma City, failed to sell the automobile because they were without proper papers, then finally went to Fort Worth, he recounted.

Eastland Rotary Club Hears Men Of Cisco, Ranger

Rotary in their home clubs was discussed by four visitors at the meeting of the Eastland organization Monday at the Connellee hotel.

Those telling of Rotary activities and how their clubs operate were F. P. Brashier, president of the Ranger club; W. T. Walton, superintendent of the Ranger schools; R. L. Ponsler, president of the Cisco club, and E. N. Cluck, superintendent of the Cisco schools.

J. B. Johnson and Julius Krause were members of the committee arranging the program. T. E. Richardson presided.

Other visitors were W. W. Phillips of Abilene and G. C. Boswell, president of the Weatherford Junior College.

Mountain Boulder Kills Two

Hurling down a mountainside in Hedley, British Columbia, this great boulder, weighing many tons, smashed through house at right, killing two persons. Homes of 15 families were demolished.

ROBERTS SAYS HIS BILL NOT O'DANIEL SLAP

AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—State Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus, who was the author of the bill to abolish the office of state tax commissioner, told the senate today that its passage was not intended "as a slap at the governor."

"I had nothing of that sort in mind," Roberts said. "I did not make the statements on the floor. The time was used up by Sen. Joe Hill of Henderson and I do not know if he was talking on the bill or not."

The house today defeated by a vote of 107 to 40 a proposal to refer the Roberts bill to its state affairs committee.

Rep. Joe A. Keith of Sherman said that abolition of the tax commission office, unless adequate provisions were made for its duties elsewhere would cause a financial loss to the state and to counties that have railroads and pipelines. The commissioner fixed intangible valuations on the two and collected miscellaneous taxes referred to him by other state agencies.

Poll Tax Payments Are Running Light In City This Year

Only 230 poll taxes had been paid locally by noon today, it was announced here by C. E. Maddocks, as the deadline for paying the taxes and getting a franchise to vote neared. The poll taxes are being sold here by Maddocks at the same price one would pay at the courthouse in Eastland.

The number of poll taxes will be much above the 250 figure, it was pointed out, as all who have paid their state and county taxes on property have also paid their poll taxes, as they are figured in on the tax bill.

A rush for poll taxes was anticipated this afternoon, as the deadline approaches, because all who pay their property taxes later in the year will also have to pay a poll tax, though it will not give them the right to vote.

Property taxes cannot be paid without payment for the poll taxes, but the poll tax can be paid now and the property tax later, it was pointed out. Although this is an off year in state and county elections there will be a city and school election this year, and there will likely be other matters upon which the citizens of Ranger will want to vote.

THE WEATHER:

WEST TEXAS: Considerable cloudiness, rain in north, warmer southeast portion. Wednesday cloudy, much colder. Rain east and north portions, changing to snow in north portion.

Lines Formed By Citizens Who Pay Their Poll Taxes

Lines were forming this morning at the office of Assessor-Collector C. H. O'Brien in Eastland as citizens paid their poll taxes.

O'Brien announced he and deputies would be on duty tonight for convenience of persons who wish to pay their poll tax and other taxes.

The official reminded those sending in tax payments by mail that their letters must be post-marked Jan. 31 in order to receive credit without penalty.

Since deputies in other cities were also issuing poll taxes, it was impossible this morning to ascertain the total number issued.

Mussolini, Hitler Exchange Greetings

ROME, Jan. 31.—Premier Benito Mussolini and Fuehrer Adolf Hitler exchanged messages of friendship today, expressing the solidarity of the Italian and German peoples and the firmness of the Rome-Berlin axis.

The exchange of greetings was a quick aftermath of Hitler's speech in Berlin yesterday, and a prelude to the one which Mussolini is expected to make tomorrow or Saturday.

Good Eyesight and Vitamin A Linked

NEW YORK.—Columbia University scientists have found that ability to see in bright light as well as in dim light is impaired by the lack of vitamin A, Prof. Selig Hecht has reported.

Using a new instrument—an arrangement whereby a part of the retina of the eye is exposed to bright light for three minutes and then measured for its sensitivity in the dark by means of a violet light on the retina—Hecht said 110 normal people were tested.

He said no difference resulted from sex but that young people were much more sensitive to light than older people.

"In experimenting with subjects lacking in vitamin A either through a dietary deficiency or an organic illness," he said, "we found that an insufficient supply of the vitamin prevented them from seeing in light apparent to normal persons and delayed their process of adjustment when they entered a dark room from a brightly lighted one."

He said a person entering a darkened room may need 1,000,000 more times the light to see than he will after being in the room half an hour.

Flying Boat Fired Upon By Warship

HONGKONG, China, Jan. 31.—The Imperial Airways flying boat, Delia, radioed its office today that it had been fired upon by warships, west of the Waichow Islands, one hour out of Hongkong.

The company said that the pilot of the Delia did not mention the nationality of the ships, but reportedly continued safely to Hanoi.

EASTLAND IS HEADQUARTERS FOR OIL FIRM

Eastland became the headquarters of a new oil producing firm Tuesday when Raymond Steel and Olney S. Black of Midland opened offices in the Exchange Bank building.

To operate under the name of Steel and Black, the firm will center its activity in this immediate part of West Central Texas.

Mr. Black while at Midland was an independent oil operator and Mr. Steel was a geologist for the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company, which has its headquarters at Bartlesville, Okla.

Mr. Black and family have moved to the Arnold Kirk home in Hillcrest addition and Mr. Steel is living at the Connellee Hotel.

Wide Attendance at Terracing School Is Seen By Agent

Representation from over Eastland county was predicted Tuesday by County Agent Elmo V. Cook for a terracing school Wednesday morning, Feb. 1, on the Allen Craighead farm four miles east of Carbon on the new Koko road.

Vocational agriculture teachers of the county and experts from the extension service at College Station are cooperating in conducting the school to which the general public has been invited to attend.

Agent Cook stated a basket lunch will be spread at noon. The school begins at 9 a. m.

Diamonds On Toes Trip Up Suspect

SANTA ROSA, Cal.—Police arrested a suspect here on the grounds that they believed no honest reason could possibly be given for the assortment of articles he had in his grip.

These included a motion picture exposure meter in a bakelite case; a pair of dental forceps; two leather jackets; three dime banks—all empty; a large silver medal; razors, wallets—also empty—and many, many garments.

Their conviction seemed confirmed when, searched at the city jail, he was found to be wearing two diamond rings on his toes.

Carbon Farmers To Meet On Wednesday

Watermelon and truck growers of the Carbon area will meet Wednesday night of this week at 7:15 in the Carbon high school auditorium to discuss plans for marketing of their products.

In addition to discussing marketing of the products, other subjects will likely be introduced, said County Agent Elmo V. Cook, who announced the meeting.

CHAMBERLAIN ASKS NATIONS TO LIMIT ARMS

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain called on European nations tonight to consider a halt in the arms race and hold a general conference to assure peace.

In a speech to the house of commons, replying to Adolf Hitler's speech of last night, Chamberlain extended to other nations a plea to show their emphatic desire for peace and thus make a conference possible.

"What is wanted is not merely words, which indicate a desire for peace," he said, "but what is wanted is willingness to enter into arrangements for, if not disarmament, at least limitation."

Then he enlarged his point that such a conference would be unsuccessful unless the nations entering into it were determined on its success.

Chamberlain told the house of commons that the "huge resources and the alliances and friendships we have with other countries," would assure Great Britain of victory in event of a new European war.

"It is untrue to say that the policy of appeasement has failed," he declared. "On the contrary I maintain that the policy of appeasement is steadily succeeding."

O'Daniel Is Not Disturbed Over Rebuff By Senate

AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, apparently undisturbed by the senate's rejection of his close political advisor, Carr P. Collins of Dallas, for state highway commission chairman, said today that he had not decided upon his second choice.

Former Lieut. Governor Walter Woodul of Houston was mentioned prominently in capitol gossip as likely to get the place. O'Daniel recommended Woodul to the voters in the second democratic primary election as one whom he would like to have in his official family.

The selection would prevent another possible rebuff because Woodul's long personal acquaintance with most of the senators would assure his confirmation, it was believed.

Oscar Burton of Tyler, Robert Lucas of Fort Worth and Henry O. Mills of Port Arthur were being mentioned also as possibilities.

Five Defendants Post Their Bonds

Posting of bail and appearance bonds by five persons was reported Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff E. W. (Tug) Underwood.

Those posting bonds: Early Kelly of Cisco, charged with driving drunk, $750. H. F. Brandon of Colorado, charged with driving drunk, $1,000.

Altus Fox of Eastland, charged with burglary, $750. Curtis Flaek, charged with driving drunk, $750.

L. E. Lewis of Eastland, charged with theft over $50, $750. All were bail bonds except Lewis.

WPA Relief Bill Sent to House and Senate For A Vote

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Senate and house conferees today sent back the $725,000,000 WPA appropriation bill to both houses, for final passage after ironing out all differences, except the senate elimination of a limit on relief pay differentials between the north and south.

The house conferees refused to agree to the senate's elimination of provision setting a maximum of 25 per cent in wage differentials between the north and south. The issue must be voted upon again in both houses.

Teachers Backward Who Put Stress On Child's Homework

PHILADELPHIA.—High school students attending a forum conducted by the Drexel Institute of Technology complained that teachers who imposed too much homework are "backward."

"Teachers who give us lots of 'homework don't understand us," one pupil said amid a round of applause. "They don't realize that our outside interests are at least equally important with our school work."

The forum was attended by students representing 150 high schools in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

Round Number One Won by One

TWO KILLED AT PRESIDENT'S BALL IN PAMPA

PAMPA, Tex., Jan. 31.—An American Legion-sponsored dance in honor of the president's birthday, was broken up here last night by a gun battle that resulted in the death of two men.

Killed were J. D. White, proprietor of the Southern Club, a night spot where the dance was held, and Constable O. T. Hendrix. Four patrons of the club were wounded by flying bullets, one of them seriously.

The gun battle started when Sheriff Cal Rose of Gray County, Constable Hendrix and Deputies George Pope and John Hudson entered the club. White met the officers as they approached the dance floor and ordered them from the building. Witnesses said that words were exchanged and that suddenly White and Sheriff Rose drew their guns and started shooting.

More than 200 dancers were panic stricken as the bullets whizzed among them. White and Hendrix fell to the floor dead.

The wounded were Mrs. John Strange, said to be in a dangerous condition from a thigh wound which cut an artery; I. J. Huval commander of the Kerley-Cross man Post of the American Legion, wounded in the left foot; G. F. Mitchell, a flesh wound in the right arm, and an unidentified woman who suffered a slight leg wound.

Sheriff Rose had raided the club earlier this month and had filed charges against White for illegal sale of liquor. Feeling between the two men was said to have been extremely bitter.

Kitchen Storage Topic at Meeting Of Rural Groups

Her itinerary for the week was listed Tuesday by Ruth Ramey county home demonstration agent.

Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cooper the Reich club convened and discussed home food supply.

At the remainder of the home demonstration meetings this week storage in the kitchen will be the main topic. The meetings will be as follows: Wednesday afternoon Kokomo; Thursday afternoon Word, meeting at home of Mrs. Avery Holt, and Friday afternoon Dan Horn club at home of Mrs. M. D. Speegle.

The storage in the kitchen topic will include storage of food utensils, dishes, cleaning equipment, linens and care of the items.

Secures Carnival For Annual Fair September 28-30

Securing of the Regal United Amusement Company shows as feature for the annual Eastland County Fair Sept. 28-30 at Eastland was announced by H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

Contract with the company was closed at Dallas on Saturday during a meeting of the Texas Association of Fairs which Mr. Tanner attended.

C. E. Meadows, owner of the company, and Mr. Tanner, representing the fair organization, negotiated the contract.

Headquartering at Beaton the amusement company has six rides, six shows and 20 concessions. Receipts of the company will be shared by the fair organization.

The amusement company stand in Eastland will be for the entire fair week. Mr. Tanner stated many outstanding fairs of the state have booked the company for engagements this year.

J. H. Pangburn, 72, Rites Conducted

Funeral services were held Monday at Eastland for J. H. Pangburn, 72, who died Sunday at a home for aged south of Eastland.

The services were conducted at the grave side in Eastland cemetery with Rev. H. C. Hathorn, pastor of the Church of God in Eastland, officiating.

Hammer Undertaking company had charge of arrangements.

Business Men Have Writer's Cramp

To read that the United States is attempting to simplify systems under which individuals and business concerns had to render 135,500,000 returns and reports to the federal government last year brings a mixed reaction.

First, there is faint pleasure that something is being done about it. And second there is chagrin that we have allowed ourselves to be overwhelmed in such a mass of bookkeeping.

Many a business man can tell you these days of special clerks hired and of the increasing amount of time of regular employes and himself devoted to answering questionnaires, filling out reports, and mailing both to Washington. It is a serious handicap to the conduct of business.

Many time Americans have laughed at the methods of the German dictatorship wherein 60 to 80 forms have to be filled out to consummate an ordinary business transaction. Many times they have laughed at Russian Communist red tape which so ensnarls executives that they dare not make the slightest administrative move without an endless correspondence with Moscow.

Are we getting ourselves in the same boat? If there is any chance of it, we'd better get out quickly while there is still time.

One of the outstanding advantages which a system of free enterprise has over any kind of a socialist setup is the lack of centralized control, the ability of individual managers and executives to make decisions, right or wrong, on the spot without clearing them through a central point. With all the faults of free enterprise, this advantage is a real one. It makes for flexibility, speed, efficiency.

It is difficult, however, to see how any socialistic system (or any totalitarian system) can help being largely centralized. The sheer inability of any central clearing point to funnel through itself the mass of decisions necessary to the day's work of a great country is one of the most valid objections to socialism.

But to have the disadvantage of centralization without the other advantages claimed for socialism, is folly. Every scrap of this red tape that can possibly be snipped away without sacrificing objectives that have properly found a place in the central government, ought to be sheared off without delay.

Swastika Is "Hook to Hook Others" Friend of Adolf Hitler Told on Visit

By United Press BARBERTON, O. — A one-time schoolmate of Adolf Hitler returned recently from a four-month stay in Europe during which he had a two-hour chat with the Nazi dictator. Charles Tibensky, a stationary engineer, was in Czechoslovakia during the crisis there.

He said he asked Hitler during their chat to explain the "hooks" forming the Nazi swastika. Hitler chuckled, Tibensky said, and replied: "Those are to hook the other countries."

Tibensky said he knew Hitler 35 years ago when both were going to school in Vienna. Tibensky, who came to the United States in 1907, had returned to Europe for a visit and study in 1913. Hitler was in day school, learning to varnish and paint.

"Sourdough" and Wife Dig $10,000 In Ores From A Gold Mine In Year

By United Press KREMMLING, Colo. — Ten thousand dollars a year for pick and shovel work—that's what Mr. and Mrs. Walter McDaniels dug in gold, silver and lead ore from their Big Four mine seven miles south of here last year, and thus realized the dream of every prospector.

McDaniels, an experienced "sourdough," two years ago sank a shaft in what appeared to be a hopeless venture. The nearest producing mine was in the Dillon area, 20 miles distant. With his wife working at his side, the prospector sent 196 tons of ore out of his diggings to earn the distinction of having the only property in Grand county to send ore to smelter.

However, the man and his wife really earned the money. Out of those 430,000 pounds of ore, only a little more than 5 ounces of gold were refined. That had a value of approximately $2,500. The ore averaged only .3 of an ounce of gold per ton of ore.

Sun As Source of Cosmic Ray Seems To Be In Doubt

By United Press SWARTHMORE, Pa.—A theory of some scientists that cosmic rays are given off by the sun has been disputed by Dr. W. F. G. Swann, director of the Franklin Institute's Bartol Research Foundation.

The scientist's statement was based upon a series of balloon flight experiments conducted for the foundation of Dr. Thomas H. Johnson.

Six balloons carrying recording instruments and a miniature radio transmitter were sent up to an altitude of 78,000 feet in day and night experiments.

Recordings of cosmic rays showed their intensity to be alike in night and day, Dr. Swann said, indicating that they emanate from some source outside the solar system, possibly from some distant flaming stars.

Farmers Are Doing Something About The Cotton Surplus

YSLETA, Tex.—Farmers of this far western part of Texas are doing something about the farm surplus problem besides just talking about it.

They opened a campaign several weeks ago to have cotton base highways built in Texas as one means of using up excess cotton. They have enlisted the El Paso county commissioners in the cause and negotiations have been started with state and federal officials for a test road with a cotton base.

Now the farmers are discussing the organization of a community canning plant and a sweet potato curing house.

Sponsors say that a cannery and curing house would give the farmers an outlet for crops other than cotton and alfalfa. It is like-

THE New York Stock Exchange is looking for a new economist. This may seem a matter of no moment to anyone, but it does have some public significance.

Nothing is more ambiguous or even dubious now than the role of the economist in business. Large manufacturing concerns employ engineers, accountants, lawyers. They hire them to advise them on engineering problems, accounting problems, legal problems. When they hire them they want the truth from them.

But economists have seemed to play a different role in business. There are some economic factors which business concerns ought to be advised about, but the average large scale business man regards himself as quite an economist. He also realizes that he has something to sell to the public besides his product. He wants to sell good will. He wants to convince prospective stock and bondholders that his place in the economic world is sound.

Very often, therefore, when he hires an "economist" he is looking for someone who will act, not so much as his adviser, as the public's—someone who will keep inventing and pumping arguments into the public to convince it that the organization is sound, to convince legislatures and Congress that laws the organization wishes or opposes are either sound or unsound.

In other words, the economist too often plays the role of a sort of glorified publicity man. He often plays a part like that of those old-time quack doctors in medicine factories, who gave testimonials as to the value of the producers' nostrums.

If you will remember this, you will see why, when the Stock Exchange hired the man who was, I believe, its first economist, they went to Yale and employed a professor of English. And when a large New York bank wanted an economist they hired a professor of romance languages from another university. They wanted someone who could write.

In the case of the Stock Exchange, the professor of English turned out several books and pamphlets, all of which were widely circulated to prove that the Stock Exchange was a great institution, that speculation was socially essential, that liquidity was important to the capitalist system, that specialists could not be kept from speculation without ruining society, that margin trading was a blessing and so on.

Wall Street swarms with these kinds of economists. They get great reputations for profound wisdom. But some of these days the American Economic Association, like the Medical Association, is going to pin the name, "quack," on such economists.

Meantime, the Exchange, which has instituted many reforms under the leadership of William McChesney Martin, Jr., has another chance to do itself and the public a favor. It should pick out an able and eminent economist who will honestly conduct researches for it and advise it realistically, but who will refuse to permit his name to be used to back up its trade crusades. It will turn over to its able publicity department the job of selling its wares to the public. (Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

Indiana Grave of Cromwell Kin Found

By United Press BRAZIL, Ind.—The tomb of Oliver Cromwell, Clay county, Ind., pioneer and descendant and namesake of the famous Lord Protector of the English Commonwealth, has been found buried deep in a woods in Southern Indiana.

For many years the burial site was unknown but Harry L. Elkin of Bowling Green, Ind., a great-great-nephew of Cromwell, located some family records and started an extensive search. He came upon the stone vault in a dense thicket of sassafras trees on the old Cromwell farm near Bowling Green. The tomb was built in 1855.

Cromwell settled in Owen county, Indiana, in 1824, and later moved to Bowling Green where he held several public offices. He was born in Kentucky in 1783 and enlisted in the Kentucky militia during the War of 1812, later coming under the command of Col. John Durley.

He was with Dudley when the colonel lost his life in a battle with Indians. Dudley has disregarded orders concerning pursuing Indians and his troops fell into a trap. Cromwell was taken prisoner and saved by the timely arrival of Chief Tecumseh.

Girl Says Melodies Are Born In Sleep

By United Press KEARNEY, Neb.—Geraldine Miriam La Sanke, Kearney high school graduate, composes melodies in her sleep and wakes up to write them down.

She used this formula to develop a new type of greeting card. Puzzling over what sort of greeting to send John Schulze, Chicago musician and his family, she dreamed that she composed a melody for the violin.

Miss La Sanke awoke, completed the composition and sent it to the Schulzes. She has written more than 50 selections.

Expecting an arrival in mid-summer are the Lefty Gomezes. Just in time, probably, to give the Yankees inspiration for another pennant drive.

New York Isn't So Big to Westerners

By United Press ABERDEEN, Wash. — New York and Chicago may be two of the largest cities in the United States, but Fred and Bert Hulbert found them pretty small. The two brothers started on an eastern trip together and parted at Minneapolis. They met on the street in Chicago and again in New York, neither meeting being by appointment.

SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Just Janet realizes she loves Barney, she tells him how much she needs him. Then Cynthia returns and she has changed too, Janet finds.

CHAPTER XXI

NOW Cynthia went on with a hesitation unusual for her. "I saw the papers, Jan. Of course I'm glad—about you and Barney. I do hope you're really happy. But I was surprised."

"I was—a little surprised, myself," Janet said, patting a sofa pillow into place, holding her eyes carefully on what she was doing. "Of course we should have waited longer if we had known you and Mr. Benton would be at home so soon. Cyn. But Aunt Mary had particularly asked that we shouldn't postpone the ceremony because of—on her account. . . . But how is Timothy?"

"She was thinking that in a few moments she must say something to Cynthia about the bills for Aunt Mary's illness and burial. She hated to; but they were enormous—the hospital bill alone had been staggering—and Aunt Mary's small bank account had long ago melted away. She couldn't expect Barney to shoulder the whole expense. Cynthia wouldn't want him to, of course."

Cynthia stood up abruptly as if Janet's question about her husband had suddenly recalled her to an urgent present. "I must get back to Tim, Janet. He had a temperature this morning. He caught cold on the train, and on top of all his other worry, it's got him down. . . . I—I never saw Tim sunk before. It scares me, Jan."

"Worry?" Janet asked a little blankly. "You mean about Aunt Mary?"

Cynthia, who had stooped to pick up her hat, turned incredulously. "You don't mean that you haven't heard, Jan?" she demanded. "It was all in the papers."

"What, Cyn? I—honestly, I don't know." "I suppose you wouldn't. I didn't know myself until yesterday that Hollowell and Benton haven't been making any money for the last six months. And you see, everything else Tim had was invested in oil. Well, the other day the oil company blew up. We're practically flat, Jan."

So that was it! Janet sighed softly. "Oh, Cynthia!" she said again. "Oh, Cynthia, my dear!"

It seemed the most grotesque of ironies that this should have happened to Cynthia. How doubly tragic to have staked everything on a marriage with a man you could not really love, playing for ease and security, and then to have not even these!

"A man you did not really love! And what have I done? Janet thought. I'm no better than Cynthia."

Without turning from the mirror where she had been arranging her hat, Cynthia said abruptly, with one of those flashes of insight which made her so unpredictable, "I know what you're thinking, Jan—that having married Tim for his money, as of course I did, I'm probably getting ready to lie on the floor and kick and scream over the mess I've got myself into."

Janet, who had been thinking exactly that, could find no immediate words. "But perhaps you remember," Cynthia went on, facing Janet, her dark head high, "that first night when Tim got so beautifully plastered. I told you then that I'd made my bargain and I'd stick to it. Well, that still goes. . . . And now I've got to run."

"Cynthia, wait!" Janet called swiftly. "Where is he?"

"At the Templeton House." "Can you move him safely?"

"I don't believe moving him could possibly be so bad for him as staying there. It's noisy, and he hates hotels, anyhow."

"Then you must bring him here. Barney and I were only staying anyhow until you got back. There are so many places vacant now that I won't take me more than a few hours to find a furnished apartment that will do us beautifully until we can get really settled. And the rent's paid here for the rest of the month, Cynthia—most of it with Timothy Benton's money—but I suppose you know that. I only found it out by accident. Aunt Mary never did know."

CYNTHIA did not speak for a long time. When Janet, wondering, turned to look at her cousin, she saw that her sensitive mouth was quivering like a little girl's, and that the eyes that always used to be so carefully amused were flooded with tears. "I didn't know, either. Tim's like that," Cynthia said. "When he does something kind, he hates to have anyone know anything about it. . . . Janet, he's the kindest man I ever knew."

Janet said, "I know, Cynthia. I think I knew the first time I saw him that he was like that. Aunt Mary knew, too. She told Barney that you'd used your head for the first time in your life when you married him."

"Did she? I'm glad. . . . I wanted to write her the truth, Jan; but—well, I know you both thought I was always play-acting. And I was. You see, it's always been the hardest thing in the world for me to be natural about—things that really mattered to me. Now I'm going to tell you the truth. I'm crazy about Tim. I'll bring him as soon as I can get him ready."

When Janet called Barney and told him about her talk with Cynthia, he agreed promptly that they must find another apartment that day if possible.

Janet went out in a flutter of excitement. It would be fun, house hunting for her first home. There were, as she had confidently predicted, a great many places for rent. But most of them, it developed, were large, and in the upper price brackets. Finding a small furnished apartment that measured up to her dreams at the rent Barney had mentioned as top price was not such child's play as she had anticipated.

Eventually she did find, on a rather shabby street, one which she told herself a little grudgingly would have to do till she had time to canvass the situation more exhaustively. It had a living room, a small bedroom, a tiny bath, and a kitchen with a breakfast nook—all pretentiously designed and cheaply executed. Even by the flattering light of late afternoon, it left a great deal to be desired. The ivory paint was pock-marked in spots; there was a stain in the corner of the bathroom ceiling where water had leaked in from above; the carpet was definitely moth-eaten in the corners; the upholstery of the chairs was dingy; and the other furniture was scarred here and there by glass rims and the cigar butts of former tenants. . . . At that, Janet had to pay a little more than the amount Barney stipulated.

If she remembered with a pang of yearning the white house on the hillside, she angrily brushed the thought aside. After all, this was fairly clean and comfortable and practically everything, the janitor told her, was furnished. He promised to repaint the bath room and put fresh linoleum in the kitchen with an eager volubility which might have made a more experienced house hunter suspicious. Barney came to the Breckenridge in time to help bundle Timothy Benton into bed. He greeted Cynthia like a long-lost sister, and had them all laughing in no time at all.

But when, in the general excitement, Janet really looked at him for the first time, she noticed that he seemed very tired. If he had not been Barney, she would have said worried.

Film Will Record A Man-Made Bolt

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—People living 6,000 years hence will be able to see and hear the flash and roar of artificial lightning as it is now produced. A sound film demonstrating artificial lightning, produced by the 10,000,000-volt generator, will be sealed in the air-tight Oglethorpe University Crypt of Knowledge. The film is one of five which have been presented to T. K. Peters, director of archives at Oglethorpe University. The others include the life story of Thomas A. Edison, including his early boyhood at Milan, O., the development of land transportation from the most primitive methods to the modern electrified railroad, the history of Panama Canal operation and the development of American navigation from the first crude Indian craft to the massive, electrically propelled battleships of today. It probably will take about four or five years to fill the crypt with the thousands of records that are to be placed in it. Micro-book records are being made of the world's greatest literature, and the films are being sealed in stainless steel receptacles after first being placed in glass containers encasing an inert gas. By the use of these micro-book records, the text of the entire 25 volumes of the Encyclopedia Britannica will be placed in three receptacles, each 12 inches long and 4 inches in diameter. An inscription plaque on the door of the Crypt of Civilization briefly describes the contents of the sealed chamber and requests that they remain inviolate until the year 8113. This date was decided by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, because when he started the project in 1936, the year 8113 was just as far in the future as the total number of years man has recorded events in the past.

Cost Over Million On 4-Mile Road

POTTSVILLE, Pa.—The Gordon Nagle Trail, the most expensive state-constructed stretch of road in history, has been completed. Thousands of men worked on the four-mile stretch for more than three years. The course of the Schuylkill River was changed three times to make the highway straight. About 85 per cent of the work was on solid rock. Cost of the project, which will connect Pottsville and Cressona and open a new highway between Philadelphia and the hard coal region of Pennsylvania, was estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Garland Montgomery To Graduate From TCU Monday, June 5

FORT WORTH, Jan. 31.—The name of Garland Montgomery appears on the preliminary list of candidates for June graduation from Texas Christian University, as announced today by Registrar S. W. Hutton. Degrees will be conferred upon approximately 145 seniors. Monday, June 5, has been set for the commencement exercises. Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, June 4. Mr. Montgomery is a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Science, with a major in business administration.

Elks Lodges Asked To Urge Uniform Laws On Traffic

NEW YORK—Fourteen hundred Elks Lodges were today requested to give their full support to the enactment of motor vehicle legislation in their respective states in conformity with the Uniform Vehicle Code, of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, it was today announced by Charles Spencer Hart, chairman of the Grand Lodge Traffic Safety Committee and past Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks.

Dr. Edward J. McCormick, Grand Exalted Ruler, joined with the heads of 14 other national organizations in signing an open letter to all the members of 44 State Legislatures now in session, asking for the utmost degree of uniformity in traffic laws. "None will dispute the right of the motorist and the pedestrian to expect that laws, regulations, rules of the road, signs, signals and markers wherever he travels will be the same as in his own community where he understands the requirements and instinctively obeys them," said Dr. McCormick. "It is unreasonable to expect each motorist to be familiar with the kaleidoscopic pattern of laws and regulations now obtainable in some of the 48 states, some of which have no logical basis for existence."

"After having carried on effective local safety programs throughout 1938, the various Elks Lodges are convinced of the imperative need for uniform traffic laws," said Mr. Hart. "This effort on their part to urge enactment of adequate state laws, grows out of their last year's experience and is a logical development of the Elks national traffic safety program. Lodges throughout the country are passing resolutions urging their legislative representatives to support the Uniform Vehicle Code."

STOMACH UPSETS?

ALLEY OOP - - - - - By Hamlin

By HARRY GRAYSON

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

AL SIMMONS announces with the utmost confidence that he expects to play five more years . . . in the National League. And the old American League batting champion probably will provide his creaking underpinning can stand the chill of the Boston Beehive's blustery left field. A score or so of unwanted American Leaguers now are making the National the elder wheel in more ways than one. The Bees required hitting and the Giants needed a first baseman with a punch, and both probably fortified themselves with Simmons, who was peddled for $3000, and Zeke Bonura, who came considerably higher . . . the price is $20,000 . . . after being waived out of the younger circuit. Simmons appears to have a number of long hits left in his aged system, for in compiling an average of .302 with Washington, he manufactured 21 home runs, playing half of his games in a park where they are hard to get, and hit in 95 runs. Between them, Simmons and Bonura, who batted .283, counted 43 homers and accounted for half of the Senators' runs batted in. CATCHER LUKE SEWELL'S switch from the White Sox to Brooklyn is something in the way of additional evidence that the eminent author, Thomas Meany, was right . . . that the National really is another minor. American Leaguers who lose that step don't go to the minors. And there is still hope for Goose Goslin. After a profitable campaign with the Cubs, Tony Lazzeri, who helped the Yankees to so much world series money, moves into Brooklyn, which also has Catchers Luke Sewell and Detroit Roy Luke, American League cast-offs and is bringing up two more, Pitcher Whit Wyatt and Flynn chaser Fred Shotton. As a matter of fact, the Dodgers' shortstop and new manager, Leo Durocher, broke in with the Yankees. With the Cubs last season, Outfielder Carl Reynolds and Pitcher Jack Russell further demonstrated that the senior circuit was a fountain of youth for American League discards. SIMMONS immediately becomes a headliner with the Bees, where he joins other former American Leaguers in starring roles. Pitchers Danny McLean, Fayden and Milt Shoffner and infielders Rabbit Warstler and Dees Garm. Dick Coffman was a run-o'-mine right-hander with the lowly Browns, but instantly became an ace relief worker as a Giant. There is talk of the ancient and honorable Heinie Manush, who spent 14 years in the American, supplanting Paul Waner in 7th field for the Pirates. Southpaw Bob Weiland couldn't get anybody out for great lengths of time in the American, but found himself with the Cardinals. No wonder Babe Ruth wanted to be returned to the active list last summer. And there is still hope for Goose Goslin.

CHESTNUTS stuff pork tenderloin nobly and a loin of lamb will lie down in peace with carrots and parsnips.
Pork Tenderloin With Winter Stuffing (Serves 4 to 6)
One and a half pounds pork tenderloin split, salt and pepper, 1 cup chopped cooked Brussels sprouts, 1-2 cup cooked, peeled and chopped chestnuts, 3 tablespoons melted butter.
Lay tenderloin out flat. Sprinkle both sides with salt and pepper. Mix chopped sprouts with melted butter. Spread on tenderloin. Roll up crosswise and tie or skewer with toothpicks.
Place on rack in baking pan and bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 to 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (325 degrees F.) and continue baking for one hour. Baste occasionally with juice in bottom of pan.
Loin of Lamb with Vegetables (Serves 4 to 6)
Six loin lamb chops in 1 piece, 2 kidneys, salt and pepper, 6 medium sized onions, 3 carrots quartered, 3 parsnips quartered, 6 small potatoes.
Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Stewed apricots and prunes, dry cereal, fried eggs and bacon, corn bread, jelly, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Macaroni and cheese, hard rolls, sliced oranges with coconut, chocolate brownies, tea, milk.
DINNER: Tomato juice, pork tenderloin, winter stuffing, pan gravy, mashed potatoes, creamed leeks, grated carrot salad, fresh fruit gelatin, coffee, milk.
Have chops rolled around kidneys and tied into shape. Make sure that bones are cracked to simplify carving. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place on rack in open roasting pan, fat side up. Brown lightly in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes and reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and continue roasting for 1 hour.
Pour off excess fat, arrange vegetables around roast, season with salt and pepper, and roast until tender, about 1 1/2 hours longer.
Remove meat and vegetables to hot platter, make a thin gravy using 1 1/2 tablespoons of fat and flour to each cup of Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast may give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-aid, vitamin B₁. All-Bran is not a drug, not a medicine. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.
