88TH YEAR PRICE FIVE CENTS A Small City with Big Industry - A Bright Spot for New Industry RANGER, TEXAS, TUESDAY, MARCH 26, 1957

WHAT'S...

COOKING?

By NORMAN WRIGHT

Stuck, as we are, next door to all these beautiful co-eds from Ranger Junior College, we feel as out of place as the proverbial bull in a glass factory.

But it is a pleasure and an honor to mix and mingle with all the young men and young women at Ranger Junior College, and that goes for every man and woman on the faculty because they are doing a noble work and building a wonderful school.

As you can very well see from the slight mention of it east of here, the Fine Arts Department is staging its Second Annual All-Star Variety Show Friday night and if you miss it, you are going to miss the entertainment highlight of the year in Ranger.

These lads and lassies are good! Ed Sullivan won't have a better show this week than what the RJC Fine Arts Department is getting ready to stage here Friday evening. They're going to take the money they make, and every last one of them are going to Mexico next Summer on a good-will mission and if you think they won't spread the news of Ranger far and wide, at every port of call they make, you don't know young and enthusiastic students.

By all means, reach up in the old cookie jar in the pantry and get out one of those old dollar bills, and go to the gymnasium Friday night and see this wonderful show.

We are beginning to worry more now about that Eastland Clean-Up Day than we are our own. Taking a leaf from Ranger's book, probably, the Civic League over there is hard at work on a campaign to beautify and decorate all the windows in the vacant store buildings, and judging from past performances of that Civic League, they'll get the job done, too, making the whole town look like it is full of something, whether it is or not.

What's worrying us is, they're going to out-strip us on this clean-up deal if we don't watch out and that will be sad.

We are supposed to have the same vacant window detail going on right here right now—cleaning up the windows and filling them with merchandise. We even have block chairmen appointed for every block in the business district, but whether they've even mentioned it or not we don't know. As for any signs of it, nobody seems to have turned a hand.

One thing is sure and certain—this is the week for action, and if something isn't done this week we might as well call off any other such move in the future and just rot in our own filth.

In order to try to do something really worth while for the City of Ranger, something that would be of great benefit to the town and everybody in it, and at the same time not cost anybody anything except a little cooperation and elbow grease, two of the town's leading civic organizations have done a lot of hard work to stage this Clean-Up Campaign and get it on. Adverse Weather Is Slowing Clean-Up Day Activities

Cold, raw, windy weather put a crimp in Ranger's City-Wide Clean-Up Campaign what was supposed to get into high gear in earnest Monday morning, with the first trash pick-up scheduled for this coming Friday. However, many residents are already pretty far along and with any kind of break in the weather at all, they should be able to meet the Friday pick-up without too much trouble.

It has been noted around town that many yards have been cut of their high grass and weeds but the litter has not yet been piled up for the pick-up trucks, with the grass and weeds still lying where they fell.

The first trash pick-up is due to take place Friday regardless of weather unless, of course, it comes such a flood there would be danger of the trucks bogging down in the alleys and being unable to move. In that event, the April 5 pick-up day would have to serve for all purposes.

The finance committee was at work last week and again Monday calling on merchants and individuals for small donations to pay for the cost of hiring extra labor for the trucks. It is hoped that every single home in town will take advantage of the opportunity to get rid of their trash and litter that is causing fire hazards, unhealthy conditions and unsightly places.

All homeowners are again reminded that shrubs still can be ordered through ABC Floral, Phone 661, in the city-wide Plant-A-Shrub campaign. It is said the first order has already gone off and the final order will go out the latter part of this week. Nandinas and Grape Myrtles are being offered at great savings, by special arrangements of the Garden Club, so homeowners may secure their shrubs without spending very much money. Nandinas are $1.60, the regular price being $2.69, and Grape Myrtles are 75c.

Ralph C. Reynolds Services At 3:30 At First Baptist

Funeral services for Ralph C. Reynolds, 64, were held today at the First Baptist Church in Ranger, with the Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery under direction of Killingsworth Funeral Home.

Mr. Reynolds died suddenly and unexpectedly at his home in Ranger with a heart attack about noon Monday.

Mr. Reynolds was born at Sistersville, W. Va., April 12, 1892, and had lived in Ranger for 32 years. He had operated a machine shop here since 1936, and before that was employed by the Eureka Tool Company for 16 years.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church in Sistersville, a World War I veteran and a member of the American Legion.

Mr. Reynolds was married on Sept. 20, 1927, to Ruth Johnson, in Palo Pinto. She died on July 11, 1952.

Survivors include one son, Ralph C. Reynolds Jr. of Ranger, and one sister, Mrs. Mildred Guy of Rochester.

Pallbearers were: Lloyd Landtroop, W. J. Vah Bibber, Harley Bollinger, Sam Kirkpatrick, Archie Robinson, Raymond Bryan, Brownie King and L. M. Cawley.

No Election Talk Heard In Ranger

There is absolutely no election talk going on in Ranger, at least not in public.

Nobody has any idea in the world who Ranger is supporting for U. S. Senator and the city election is never mentioned. The Times actually called four prominent Ranger business men Monday morning before it found one who could name the four members on the present city commission, only one of which is up for another term. Addie Williams is seeking re-election to Place No. 4 against Pat Thomas, the new candidate, and that is the only contested race in the city. All others are running without opposition.

Even in the trustee election of April 6, the two outgoing members of the board, Gaston Dixon and...

Plans Complete For Stock Show Parade

Completed plans for the Eastland County Sheriff's Posse parade were announced today following a meeting held last night in Eastland.

The parade, which will kick off the annual Eastland County Livestock Show, will begin at 2 p.m. sharp. The parade will form on South Lamar near the depot. It will go south on Lamar to Valley Street, turn east on Valley and go to Seaman and then north on Seaman to the show grounds.

This is the third annual parade sponsored by the Posse. As in the past two years a giant trophy will be presented to the best exhibit in the parade. Bank presidents from Eastland, Ranger, Cisco, Gorman and Rising Star will serve as judges from a judges stand to be erected on the square in Eastland.

A special feature is also planned immediately following the parade. The Sheriff's Posse Palomotto Polo team will play another polo team in an exhibition game at the show grounds. Palomotto Polo is played on horseback.

There have been 347 animals entered in the Livestock Show, which is sponsored by the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association, by juniors alone. Adult entries are expected to send the number much higher, although the show is considered a junior event mainly.

Clint McCain is again general chairman of the show, which will continue through Saturday. All stock must be on the show grounds, at the airport north of Eastland, by Friday, he announced this week. Judging will be done Saturday.

There will be a lunch counter set up at the show grounds so all may eat there if they desire.

Million Dollar Entertainment by RJC Fine Arts Coming Friday

The Fine Arts Department extends an invitation to all Ranger and surrounding areas to attend its Second Annual Variety Show next Friday night which will be held in the city gymnasium.

From the opening candle-lit procession in a darkened house to the stirring Ballad for Americas as sung by the RJC Choir at the end, including all the antics of the Rangeanns, the Band, the Clefts, the Madrigals, the clever Silhouettes routine, the lively Spanish dance by Elpidia Gonzales—all of it, nearly two solid hours of it, promises to be an entertainment to be talked about for months.

The RJC Drama Department under direction of George Alford, chairman, has worked many hours on the lights and staging of the performance, and nothing has been left out to make it first class all the way.

All of the playing surface of the gym floor has been covered with chairs, in addition to the regular bleacher seats surrounding the floor. The performance is scheduled to begin at approximately 8:00 o'clock, but some arrangements are to be worked out so as not to conflict with the Methodist revival, and the starting time may be a few minutes after 8:00.

Members of the Lions Club and Rotary Club have already made arrangements to buy two tickets each for the show, but there will be plenty of seats for all. Students taking part in the show extend a personal invitation to all Ranger people to attend. They have worked hard and long on the presentation and are proud of it. Money taken in will be used to finance a trip for the Fine Arts students to Old Mexico on a good-will mission next summer.

Frost And Freeze Hit Tuesday

Ranger and Eastland County were hit early Tuesday morning with a hard frost and freeze that may have caused considerable damage to fruit trees as well as young garden vegetables. Many Ranger residents even feared it had killed a lot of new grass they had planted in their lawns.

Fields were white with the heavy frost early Tuesday and ice had formed around the edges of many stock ponds. One resident reported a rubber hose left on his front lawn was frozen as stiff as an iron pipe.

At press time today it was too early to assess the extent of damage to fruit trees but the general opinion around town was that they were hit pretty hard, especially those that were blooming or ready to bloom. Many garden vegetables were already keeling over.

Farmers in the area were welcoming the sunshine Tuesday and the apparent end, for a while at least, of the after effects of the Panhandle blizzard. Many of them are now waiting for the topsoil to dry out sufficient for them to get into their fields with tractors and start to work. Due to the splendid condition of the soil, many people have predicted that more acres will be planted than in years past.

Winds Play Havoc With Boat Houses

High winds on Lake Leon Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday played havoc with nearly every boathouse on the lake that was not under the direct lee of the North Shore. With the wind coming largely from the north, boat houses tied to the north shore were fairly well protected, but others were almost blown out of the water.

Nearly every boathouse owner in the county was out there watching the beating his property was taking but there was little that could be done about it. Many owners reported waves up to six feet high splashing against the sides of their houses as they were being tossed around like small corks.

It is doubtful that a boat got on the lake at any time over the weekend except for a few short moments and then it didn't venture far from shore. If anybody caught any fish they were probably blown into the boats rather than pulled in by a hook and line. However some camps did turn in reports of several catches that were made before the wind got so terribly bad.

As a matter of fact, one sensational catch was reported but we are not even going to put a headline on it because we got into enough trouble when we reported that last 5-pound crappie. But Eh Richardson, caretaker at the dam, came in here Monday morning and reported that J. C. Lee and Rayon Lee of Ranger caught a 4½ pound crappie.

County Savings Bond Sales Now Total $73,967

Texans invested over $14 million dollars in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds during the month of February Guy Parker, Eastland County Savings Bonds Chairman said today. Total purchases of $14,458,082 for the month were recorded.

During the first two months of 1957, Texans bought $32,065,275 in E and H Savings Bonds. This amounts to 16.6 per cent of the 1957 state goal of $193,100,000.

Here in Eastland County, purchases through February totaled $73,967 for 12.5 per cent of the 1957 goal of $589,300.

Primary emphasis during the spring months is on payroll savings, Parker said. Hundreds of firms throughout the state are installing the Payroll Savings Plan which will offer their employees a plan by which they can save systematically. Over eight and a half million Americans and 250 thousand and Texans are now taking advantage of this method of regular saving.

Two Oil Tries Staked In South Part of County

Two new regular field tries have been staked in Eastland County.

Four miles northeast of Gorman on a 40 acre lease, Spear Oil Co. of Houston has staked the No. 1 E. F. Harrison. Location is 5050 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of the A. Smelser A-431 Survey. Proposed depth is 3150 feet with casing tools.

The second try is being drilled by Imperial Oil Co. of Texas, Houston. It is 2 1/2 miles northwest of Rising Star on an 80 acre lease. Proposed depth is 1200 feet with rotary and location is 1110 feet from the north line and 920 feet from the east line of Section 25, Block 2, ETRR Survey.

Pecan Day At Rising Star Set

RIISING STAR — Rising Star will host the annual Eastland County Pecan Field Day Friday, April 26, it was announced this week after a meeting held by County Agent J. M. Cooper of Eastland with the County Pecan Growers Association and the Rising Star Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting will be held at the American Legion Hall beginning at 10 a.m. when Extension Service specialists and other pecan experts will discuss various phases of pecan culture and insect control.

Speakers will include L. G. Romberg of the U. S. Pecan Station at Brownwood; B. G. Hancock of Texas A&M College; T. E. Denman of the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station at Stephenville, and W. Foster, Weatherford entomologist.

Early in the afternoon there will be a meeting of the County Pecan Growers Association to consider proposed by-laws and a constitution for the newly organized organization.

The program will end with a field trip to the pecan orchards of C. E. Smith, where demonstrations in propagation, case borer control and pruning will be given.

Oscar Schaefer of Rising Star is president of the County Pecan Growers Association and Ellis Cooper of Ranger is vice president. Secretary is B. H. Freeman of Ranger. Membership is open to pecan growers in Eastland and adjoining counties, with an annual fee of $1. Plans call for an area-wide pecan tour next fall.

Gardening in Cigar Box Gives Seeds Safe Start

Seedlings easily grown in box such as this.

An old cigar box, or a cut-down milk carton can make any man, woman or child a gardener—at least on a miniature basis.

Long before it is time to sow outside, the inside gardener can have his seeds sprouting. At first brush, the directions for a window sill garden might seem complicated. Actually, with a little experience, you can work out your own inside gardening methods to suit your convenience and the space available in your house or apartment. Then, when the weather is warm enough, you will have boxes of seedlings ready for transplanting outside.

Seeds need warmth and moisture for germination and usually they also need darkness. However, the new sprout needs no food and can even do without soil until it develops its "true" leaves—which are frequently different in appearance from the first ones to pop out.

For these reasons, the top layer of the planting mixture which you put into your cigar box or milk carton can be an easily purchased substance such as vermiculite or sphagnum moss. Sphagnum is much more fibrous than peat moss and unless you buy a very fine form it is a good idea to rub it through a kitchen sieve.

Both of these materials hold water like a sponge and can give the small roots of the sprouting seeds the support they need. Being sterile, they put the sprouts in no danger of contracting any of the killing diseases sometimes found in soil.

The top layer can be only half an inch deep and should be another half an inch below the top of the box. This facilitates watering and gives the plants space to grow under a pane of glass—provided you want to seal off your box.

Under the vermiculite, or sphagnum, top layer, you can put an inch-deep layer of your real growing substance, composed of the following:

Equal parts of good garden loam, put through a kitchen sieve to make it fine enough for penetration by delicate roots; sand to make the mixture porous enough to let water drain through readily, and peat moss or leaf mold to hold moisture in storage for the roots to absorb as needed.

Below this layer will be plain garden soil, unsifted and without peat moss or sand. Its rather lumpy texture will help prevent too much compacting. There must always be free circulation of both water and air.

If you are using a fruit box for your needs, the spaces between the bottom boards will be useful for drainage, although it would be advisable to put a layer of burlap over them to keep the soil from falling through.

A cigar box is ideal for the purpose, but it should be reinforced with wires to withstand the pressure of the moist earth. You also will have to bore several drainage holes in it.

Small boxes enable you to keep the different kinds of flowers separate and help in treating their different rates of growth as required.

The seeds should be sown in straight rows, one inch apart. Merely press in the smallest kinds, but be sure the larger ones are lightly covered, usually about as deep as their diameter. The metal edge of a rule is good for making the depressions and a sheet of tissue paper or newspaper will make a good cover to prevent washing out of the seeds when they are watered.

Ordinary room temperature, or slightly less, is sufficient for germination and a small drop—of ten degrees or less—will do no immediate injury.

After the plants begin to grow, they need all of the sunshine they can get. As they start stretching towards the light, it will be necessary to turn the boxes each day to equalize the growth. At this juncture, you will want to put the plants in the sunniest window of your house, but don't forget to move the boxes back from the cold and drafts of the window at night.

Should the plants begin to crowd each other before they are large enough to be transplanted, you can cut off a few of them with manicure scissors. Leave them where they fall so that the roots of the others will not be disturbed.

Lake Leon—

Richardson also reported that J. T. Lloyd of Fort Worth caught 2 bass and 4 crappie that weighed a total of 5½ pounds, and one channel cat that weighed about 2 pounds.

The caretaker reported that Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Vermillion of Andrews, Texas, caught 4 crappie that weighed 6½ pounds and 13 channel cat that weighed 14 pounds.

He reported M. T. Bowden and R. M. Bowden of Fort Worth as catching 2 bass and 5 crappie weighing a total of 6½ pounds.

Lake Leon got another plug this week by Gene Reynolds writing in the weekly Livestock Reporter, a journal that goes out to stockmen and poultry men all over the country. After telling about some of the big crappie speers that have been going on at the lake, he urged fishermen from everywhere to visit Lake Leon if they were hunting a new fishing hole. It's "purely a pretty little lake," he said.

What's Cooking—

(Continued from Page 1) the road. The big part is yet to come—hauling off the trash and disposing of it. It is going to involve a lot of work, a lot of trucks and a lot of men. A person should be ashamed of himself not to take advantage of it while the opportunity presents itself.

The Plant-A-Shrub Campaign is meeting with moderate success. Those who have ordered shrubs deserve the thanks of all the City. Planting them will not only improve the looks of their own premises but will add immeasurably to the looks of the city as a whole. It is hoped that many others will order shrubs this week, as only one more order will be sent off. The Garden Club arranged with the only place it knew of in Ranger that handled shrubs to get some very special prices on a quantity order, and homeowners can save themselves some money by taking advantage of it.

However, shrubs may be obtained from any place a person wishes to get them, and it is respectfully suggested that Cape Myrtles or Nandinas be secured so that a uniformity will exist all over town. We know of many neighbors who are exchanging shrubs and that is a splendid idea since it spreads them out so much more.

Frost— (Continued from Page One) be put into cultivation this year in Eastland County than in any of the past seven or eight years.

In spite of the recent rains, the only things suffering very much are the stock ponds. Some of them caught water, but others are still dry, due to the small amount of runoff, where it fell.

Election—

Ranger hasn't seen a card-passer among any of the candidates, including the big field of Senate hopefuls, who have steered clear of the place. Come to think about it, there hasn't been a senatorial candidate in the county that we've heard about.

As of today, there has not been a single absentee ballot cast in Ranger for anybody for anything in any of the April elections.

MODERN HOMEMAKING RECIPES... HOUSEHOLD HELPS

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS COMPANY

Stewing hens are now in good supply and at attractive prices, too. This is lucky for the homemaker, for cooked until tender and cooled in the broth, the meat from these older birds is the basis for a variety of good dishes, both hot and cold.

To cook a stewing hen, cut it into serving pieces or leave it whole. Place it in a deep kettle with the giblets, add water to cover, salt lightly, cover the kettle and simmer over a low gas flame until the chicken is tender, probably three to four hours. Pieces take about as long as a whole bird.

If the chicken is to be cooled before using, meat will be juicier and more flavorful if the hen is allowed to cool in the broth. Let it cool in the broth, breast side down for whole birds, for an hour or more. Since warm chicken broth spoils easily, cooling should be done in a cold place as possible.

Old-fashioned chicken and dumplings is our favorite recipe for a stewing hen cut in pieces and cooked until tender. To make the dumplings, sift together one and one-fourth cups flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Blend in one-fourth cup shortening. Add enough milk to make a soft dough, approximately one-third cup. Turn the dough onto a well-floured board and roll it to one-eighth-inch thickness. Cut in strips, add inch chicken pieces and broth, cover the dumplings to vigorously boil the kettle, reduce flame to simmer and cook 20 minutes without removing the cover. Makes four generous servings.

If meat is to be removed from the bone, plan on three to four cups cooked lean meat from a four to five-pound bird. Do not discard the skin. Ground or chopped fine, it adds flavor and richness to hot dishes, sauces, soups and gravies.

Removed from the boned and diced, stewed chicken is ready for a favorite chicken salad, savory creamed chicken, a steaming casserole or dozens of other dishes. Try it in Chop Suey, for instance. Cook a chopped green pepper and two cups shredded onion in two tablespoons salad oil for a few minutes. Add two cups sliced celery, two cups chicken broth, one tablespoon cornstarch mixed with one tablespoon water, stir until smooth and slightly thickened, cover and simmer over a low gas flame five minutes. Stir in two cups chopped, cooked chicken and one cup sliced canned water chestnuts. Season to taste with soy sauce and salt. Serve over hot fluffy rice and crisp fried noodles. This makes six servings.

Creamed chicken is taken from the ordinary class when given a little special treatment. Cook over a low flame until tender, one cup chopped celery, one tablespoon grated onion and two tablespoons chopped green pepper in four tablespoons shortening. Stir in until smooth, one-half cup flour. Gradually add, stirring constantly, three cups warm chicken broth. Stir in one cup cream. Cook, stirring frequently, until smooth and thickened. Season to taste with salt and stir in three cups diced cooked chicken. Heat thoroughly, and serve on rice, noodles, waffles, toast or in pastry shells. Makes six servings.

For that special treatment, split baking dish, topping with biscuit flaky hot biscuits and serve them with creamed chicken, shortcake fashion. Mix creamed chicken with cooked spaghetti, turn the mixture into a baking dish, top with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate gas oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Make a chicken pie by pouring creamed chicken into a rounds and baking in a hot gas oven (450 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Mashed potatoes may make the topping.

Soil Conservation Work Is Progressing In Area

Farmers and ranchers of this area continue to apply conservation practices to their lands at a most favorable rate. Terrace construction on cropland is the number one goal of many landowners at this time. Based on the capability of the land as determined by depth of the top soil, the slope of the field and the amount of erosion that has already taken place some 1500 miles of terraces are needed in this area. The purpose of terraces is twofold—to hold maximum rainfall on the land where it falls and to conduct excessive runoff water to protected outlets with least possible erosion.

Soil Conservation Service technicians of the local work unit assisting the soil conservation district supervisors in laying out a terrace system for their fields, give needed supervision during construction and finally check the complete terrace to determine that each terrace meets specification and will function properly. The total amount of terraces constructed by the land owner is then certified to a S. C. committee for payment in case land owner has requested cost share on the practice. Eastland county has a most favorable A.C.P. program on terrace construction. Payments for terracing is 70 percent of the cost of construction not to exceed $5.00 per hundred feet, which is a maximum of $3.50 per hundred feet Federal cost share.

W. H. Cooper of the Cisco area recently completed one and a half miles of terraces on his cropland. H. A. Seitem of the Carbon area constructed over two miles of terraces on his farm with his own farm equipment. F. S. Crawley near Staff built one and a half miles on his farm, and Wayne White in the same area has completed about two miles of terraces on his farm. J. G. Harlow has recently built about three miles of terraces on his farms west of Eastland. Bill Mitcham of Cisco is now building about four and a half miles on his ranch north of Cisco. Roy Adams west of Cisco is now building about three miles of terraces, and J. D. Herrell is building about a mile on his farm near Olden.

Howard Wade and Doyle Johnson in the Desdemona area, R. L. Lane of Eastland, and J. E. Snider each plan to build terraces in the near future.

Farm ponds have been recently staked and constructed, final checks made and certified to ASC Committee for federal cost sharing on the following farms: W. H. Cooper, Bill Wende, C. Y. Owings, E. P. Crawford, R. F. Dolgener, Jr., R. F. Leard all in the Cisco area, and J. F. Alderman, Geo. Webb, Lawrence Collins, and Dean Collins of the Carbon area. W. O. Cantwell, J. T. Robertson, James Kelly, A. E. Crawley, and R. W. Gordon of the Ranger area have also built ponds.

Harold Courtney, L. G. Williamson, Mary Michael, all near Eastland have recently completed ponds as well as Sam Powers of Desdemona. A number of other ponds are now in process of being built.

Diversion terraces have been built or are in process of construction on W. H. Cooper and Roy Adams farms of Cisco, J. F. Alderman and Dean Collins of Carbon - Gorman area, Sam Powers and L. W. Riddell of Desdemona, L. G. Williamson of Olden, and F. S. Crawley near Staff. Diversion terraces are used to divert outside water from cropland, and in some instances to furnish additional watershed to farm ponds.

Land owners are encouraged to apply needed conservation to their land. Those interested in carrying out various conservation practices should contact the County ASC office, the Eastland District Supervisors. Our greatest asset is our land. Poor land makes poor people, productive land makes prosperous people.

Why Should I Have An Abstract?

... is a question that all abstractors have a ready answer for. When the ownership of real estate enters your business life, title problems also enter. Buying, selling, mortgaging or otherwise conveying, demand title information. You get that information from the abstract, the only means yet devised which reflects the condition of the record title which has everything to do with the question of values. If you buy only good titles based on the abstract you will have few, if any, title problems.
