Creel Marquez Paroles Being Opposed

Appeals to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles asking that two inmates not be released have been sent by Eastland County Criminal District Attorney Bill Dowell.

Others are urged to write the Appeals Board (Box 13401 Capitol Station, Austin, TX 78711) asking that Manuel Hernandez Marquez and James Duke Creel not be pardoned.

Assistant D.A. Dowell said in part in his letters:

"Our office has received a notification dated 12/03/91 that the above referenced inmate, MANUEL HERNANDEZ MARQUEZ, convicted of murder in January 1989, is already being considered for release on parole. Please review the Statement of Facts previously sent and note that this inmate not only committed the murder under no mitigating circumstances, but he also involved a juvenile in it's commission.

"After the jury returned a sentence of 30 years, I personally inquired of one juror as to why this inmate was not assessed a longer sentence. That juror was under the false belief that a 30 year sentence meant 30 years and was disappointed to learn otherwise. I believe that the jurors and this community would be shocked and appalled to learn that this inmate may soon be released after having served less than three years for murder. I submit that this was truly a case where the prohibition of informing jurors about the parole law resulted in an unintended lenient sentence.

"We therefore protest any consideration of parole for this inmate."

x x x

"Once again our office has received notification dated 12/03/91 that the above referenced inmate, JAMES DUKE CREEL, is being considered for release on parole. Although Emory Walton is no longer the District Attorney of Eastland County, it is our intent to adopt his relentless position that this inmate should never be paroled. Mr. Walton has previously submitted to the board forceful arguments which justify a denial of parole for this inmate. This inmate, serving a life sentence for the abduction, rape and murder of a 10 year old girl should never be paroled; therefore, we protest any consideration of leniency."

Lake Leon Community Meeting at Lake Leon Baptist Church

Saturday, January 4, 1992
7 PM

All people interested in getting something done about the flooding are welcome and urged to attend.

Eastland County citizens are urged to attend a meeting Saturday, January 4 1992 at 7 p.m. at the Lake Leon Baptist Church. This will be the first meeting of citizens seeking action to prevent flooding around Lake Leon.

Lake Leon residents and supporters are joining together to form a organized group whose main objective will be to convince the water board, city and county officials to take immediate steps toward getting the emergency spillway at Lake Leon lowered.

Resent floodwater got approximately 7 feet over the normal spillway. It is estimated that the lake waters would have to rise an additional 6 feet before water would begin to run around the emergency spillway. Approximately 60 percent of the homes around the lake were damaged by the flood. Many of the home owners that escaped damage from this flood were only inches from disaster. The realization that the water could have gotten 6 feet deeper before the emergency spillway could begin to help ease the situations has many homeowners outraged.

If you are a homeowner around Lake Leon or you would like to show support for your friends or this cause, you are strongly encouraged to attend, said Spokesperson Wanda Kellar.

ported to the district attorney's office or other law enforcement officials.

Most prevalent type of "scams" are those which are perpetrated by transients who come in and prey on the gullibility of local citizens, particularly the older citizens who are more prone to accept sales pitches as being true.

"A good rule of thumb," D. A. Vance says, "is, if it sounds too good to be true, it's probably a scam that will cost you money."

Relatives, financial advisors and others should be consulted before scams are entered into with strangers.

Better safe than sorry!

Letter to the Editor

We agree with Tom Dunn, concerning his letter to the editor, which was published in The Ranger Times, on Dec. 19, 1991. Mr. Dunn stated, "that a favorite pastime for many citizens," is to criticize public officials for positive efforts, for the improvement of our communities.

Too often, criticism is used, when congratulations should be in order.

On several occasions we have had to call on one of our elected officials for assistance with various problems. The mayor, Ronnie Ainsworth, has always responded, as soon as possible, taken care of our problems, with courtesy and efficiency. Ronnie shows great compassion for each citizen, and especially, the elderly. We would like to take this opportunity to inform the public of our trust and support of the good job we feel he is doing.

Keep up the good work, Ronnie!

Public Warned Of Scams

Eastland County citizens are being advised to be especially on the alert these days to protect themselves from financial loss.

The nation and this area are likely to see more "scam" type schemes this time of year, Criminal District Attorney Leslie Vance says, as he urges citizens to contact him before investing in unknown and questionable schemes. Promotion of an "endless scheme" gifting plan was circulated in this area a few weeks ago, and citizens are advised to contact Mr. Vance regarding this.

Persons are also advised to check their bank statements regularly to make sure that the firm and/or person to whom their checks were written, did in fact endorse and receive payment on the checks? There are reports in the area of checks with the payee's names being changed, endorsed and deposited to accounts other than to those to whom the checkwriter intended.

Such check altering is illegal and should be re-

Perry Praises Congress' Disaster Relief Legislation Passed

AUSTIN—Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry applauded efforts by Congress which made available up to $1.75 billion in disaster relief funds for farmers and ranchers who lost crops because of weather-related causes.

"Despite our rapidly advancing technology and research efforts, there's still little we can do about the weather—the most important element of farming and ranching," Perry said. "Congress recognizes that drought, excessive rains, freezes and hailstorms have wreaked havoc on Texas farmers and ranchers in the last two years, and are working to help them out of what could be economically disastrous times."

The House and the Senate approved the funds for crop losses in 1990 and 1991—stipulating that $995 million will be available immediately to producers for '90 or '91 losses. The remaining $755 million will be provided at the administration's discretion.

"Although Texas' portion of this relief aid will not come close to covering the losses farmers and ranchers incurred, it may be the stop-gap needed to thwart a huge economic downfall in the state's rural areas," Perry said. "This money is earmarked for the producers who feed us. It will prop up economies in many small cities and counties across the state. Even though farmers and ranchers number less than 2 percent of the state's population, the economic impact they provide exceeds $32 billion. Thus, measures such as these taken by Congress mean much to the non-agrarian population as well."

Perry estimates that cotton crop losses for '90 and '91 total almost $500 million alone. Wheat losses are more than $180 million, while grain sorghum losses in the two year period exceed $137 million. Corn losses are $91 million, while weather-related problems cost peanut farmers more than $32 million during the two crop years. Combined losses for the other major crops pushes Texas total losses well over $1 billion.

For farmers to qualify for disaster aid, several requirements must be met and documented according to language in the 1990 Farm Bill. If a farmer held insurance on the crop in question, his losses must have exceeded 35 percent of the normal level; the producer would then be eligible for payments up to 65 percent of his losses. Should a farmer not have insured his crop for damages, he must show losses exceeding 40 percent to be eligible for disaster assistance.

"This fully shows the need for farmers to be insured with the Federal Crop Insurance Corp.," Perry said. "We need to do as much as possible to help ourselves."

Let's not pollute our ocean of air like we polluted theirs.

AMERICAN LUNG ASSOCIATION

Farmers' Rights Must Be Protected

Eliminating the boll weevil as a threat to Texas farmers and ranchers is certainly a goal every Texan should support. Anything that aids our farmers—anything that helps make the agriculture industry of this state more profitable—is good for all of us.

But no matter how well-intentioned our efforts to aid farmers, nothing justifies a law that would give government agents free rein to come and go, unannounced, onto their property.

You'd be hard pressed to find a farmer or rancher who would approve of a law that allows government agents to destroy a farmer's crop—and then charge the landowner the cost of that destruction.

Most of our farmers have just about all the government they can stand, and I'm going to proceed with the utmost caution when it comes to imposing any more on them.

That is precisely why I vetoed the Cotton Boll Weevil Eradication Act earlier this year. The intent of the bill was good—but the actual legislation was flawed and would have been harmful to the farmers it was designed to protect.

My goal now is to work with agriculture groups to prepare a good, workable piece of legislation that will aid us in our efforts to eradicate the boll weevil in Texas, but will not hurt the livelihood of farmers and ranchers of this state. No one really wants to go against Texas' tradition of property rights, and allow government officials to come on private land without permission of the landowner. Certainly they wouldn't approve of a provision allowing officials to plow up cotton without fair warning and proper authority.

The bill would have allowed program officials to restrict pasturage of livestock. At the same time, these program officials would not be held liable for any damages resulting from any actions they took.

The bill also called for a referendum vote by those individuals "economically affected" by cotton on the issue of establishing a checkoff program to fund boll weevil eradication in different parts of the state. Allowing people who are not actual cotton farmers to vote would mean that farmers themselves would not be making critical decisions about their business and their land.

Frankly, I have been surprised that the Department of Agriculture has opted to spread misinformation about my actions rather than cooperating with my office to help fix a bad bill.

This campaign of misinformation has gone on for months now. I certainly do not want to make a partisan issue out of something as vital to the agriculture industry of

Seeking Protection For Children Of Parents Who Are Home-Schooling

Senator Bob Glasgow today requested the cooperation and assistance of State health and education officials in seeking protections for children whose families have opted for home-schooling. Senator Glasgow's concerns arose as he studied reports of the starvation and death of Stephen Hill of White Settlement. Stephen Hill, whose death was allegedly the result of being starved by his parents, had been removed from public school under a court ruling allowing children to be educated in their own homes.

"I have many personal friends who have opted for home-schooling, and they are all good people," Glasgow said. "We need, however, to establish safeguards for children such as Stephen Hill who have fallen through the cracks."

Senator Glasgow's letters requesting meetings with the Commissioner of Education, the Commissioner of Health, School Administrators and other,

Bass Motels

The scramble is on by area crappie and bass anglers to gather up old used Christmas trees. These fish motels have become a tradition for anglers each year. Almost any type of brush will work and provide the cover needed for the bait fish to move into. The food chain begins upon the decay, minnows perch and crayfish will move in quick. If green growth is present with Christmas trees a few days will pass before the decay will deplete most of the oxygen in the new brush. The fish will move above and on the outer edges until this change occurs.

With Christmas trees in about 10 days the rooms begin filling up with bait again and those crappie and bass.

A problem I have found with Christmas trees are they're hard to sink, and will decay to just a main trunk in a short time. I prefer using mesquite which will I believe hold fish longer due to a slower decay.

One trick I employ is to take an old sock and tie it to the brush and fill it with rabbit pellets. This helps bring in the bait fish quicker. And when I'm fishing the pile through the year I'll carry some socks full with rocks and chunk them out.

When putting out any type of brush try to place the top of the tree laying towards where you want your boat setting. Your bait will come through it easier.

Next cast I will bring you a complete list of anglers choice events for 1992. Including a Pro-Arm event much like the popular ones of B.A.S.S.

Illegal Game, Fish Activities Continue

The commercial exploitation of the state's wildlife resources is an ongoing problem the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department must deal with as evidenced by two recent operations in the North Texas area.

"To exemplify the magnitude of this problem, Lake Texoma recently has proven to be an active area for illegal commercial fishing activities," said Steve Pritchett, Operation Game Thief coordinator.

On Dec. 4, officials from Texas and Oklahoma and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service culminated an 11-month undercover operation with the arrest of 26 people. The defendants were arrested for the alleged illegal sale of flathead catfish, striped bass, white bass and crappie in Lake Texoma and along the Red River separating Texas and Oklahoma.

TPWD game wardens filed 120 misdemeanor cases against 12 people. The USFWS and Oklahoma officials arrested 14 others. An estimated 10,000 pounds of fish were involved in the operation, mostly flathead catfish.

This case is similar in nature to a case that culminated in August 1990 after an extensive undercover operation. In that case, which resulted from an Operation Game Thief Call, 146 defendants were assessed more than $150,000 in fines.

Fish are not the only resource affected by flagrant game and fish law violators, Pritchett said. Any other violations can be reported through Operation Game Thief. Game and nongame fish, game and nongame animals and waterfowl all are subject to exploitation on the commercial level.

"Individuals engaged in these illegal commercial activities have a definite effect on all Texans who legally enjoy the same resources," Pritchett said. "They devastate the game and fish resources through their illegal acts."

Any suspicious activities should be reported immediately to the Operation Game Thief hotline (1-800-792-GAME), whether the act is in progress or of an ongoing nature.

When reporting violations include a vehicle or boat description, including color and make if possible; the direction of travel; number of occupants in the vehicle and their descriptions; the specific activity that aroused suspicion; and the location and time of the illegal activity.

The hotline can be called any time day or night and callers may remain anonymous. Callers may be eligible for a reward upon arrest and conviction.

For more information on Operation Game Thief, or to send tax-deductible contributions to support the program, call Pritchett at 1-800-792-1112, ext. 4626, or (512) 389-4626.

Eastland County Bass Club

The E.C.B.C. monthly club meeting will be held this Thursday, January 2 at the Eastland National Bank and will begin at 7:30 p.m. All club members are urged to attend to help us make plans for up-coming club activities that we will have going on for the rest of the year. Non-club anglers are welcome to come see how our club operates and to join us for some good competitive fishing.

The next scheduled E.C.B.C. interclub monthly tournament will be held Saturday, January 11. Anglers will meet at Double Vision Restaurant in Eastland for the drawing of the lake to be fished. This drawing will take place at 6 a.m. All anglers who enter the tournament are eligible to place their favorite lake in the hat.

Lake Graham can't be fished this month because it was drawn last month and it wasn't very kind to the eight club members who fished. All anglers reported making some pretty casts but that the fish wouldn't cooperate.

Anyone wanting more information about our club or its activities can attend the monthly meetings or call Gary Hartou at 647-3888 or Butch Willingham at 442-3142.

Sheriff's Office Report

On December 22 the Eastland County Sheriff's Office received a report of a burglary of a habitation at Lake Leon. The call is being investigated.

Also on December 22

they received a report of a simple assault on Weaver Street. The assault is classified as an incident.

On December 25 the burglary of a building on F.M. 571 was reported and is under investigation.

Sullivents Get Together For Christmas Day

The Sullivents celebrated Christmas day at the Olden Community Center. Agnes Sullivent of Eastland will soon be eighty two years of age. She enjoyed being surrounded with children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. There was fifty three present. They come from as far away as Rawlins, Wy.

Not all was present as she has sixty one grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Everyone was grateful and thanked the Lord that they could be together to enjoy fellowship and all of the good food. Presents were brought by everyone to the Kenneth Alford family who lost everything when their house burned a couple of weeks ago.

Happy New Year to everyone.

Ruth Stewart, M.Ed.

Q. What is the difference between nagging and persistence?

A. Nagging is basically negative, a criticism of someone who is not acting in the way we want them to act. Nagging usually reflects selfishness. This can cause resistance and eventually can lower the child's self-image.

Persistence on the other hand is when we creatively and enthusiastically bring up something that we believe is important. We mention it in different ways and at different times in different tones of voice.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Guidelines For Screening Mammography Established by the American Cancer Society.

- I. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.
- II. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
- III. 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
- IV. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $70.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

HIGHLIGHTS
 By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - Gov. Ann Richards' call for a Jan. 2 special session to redraw Senate and House districts prompted some state officials to predict a delay in the Texas presidential primary.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said it will be virtually impossible to hold the primary March 10, meaning that all contests, including the race for president, might be delayed until May.

Postponement of the March balloting would move Texas out of the 12-state Super Tuesday presidential primary.

Meanwhile, Democrat lawmakers hope that when they convene no hard-won compromise will be necessary.

And they will draw more attention to the fact that their unbridled political greed is unnecessarily costing taxpayers $1 million.

The partisan house of cards that Democrats built to protect their incumbents was sent crashing down last week by the Texas Supreme Court.

The Court ruled 5-4 that an expensive special session.

Scurry to Court
 It's not Morales fault: he publicly warned Democrats the plan probably wouldn't work, just as he now warns that despite what the Legislature does in January, the federal court may still draw its own boundaries.

Democrats must now scurry to get the Legislature to pass the anti-Republican plan so that Morales can hand-carry them to the three-judge federal bench, whereupon sits three Republicans.

Redistricting is a political battle in which no quarter is given and none asked.

Morales Wanted Session
 Morales had publicly requested then that Gov. Richards call a special session, but she adamantly refused, saying it would cost taxpayers $1 million, while the court could settle it cheaply.

Of course, the governor had the Democrat-dominated state courts in mind when she made that statement, so now it's back into

Settlement Struck Down
 Whatever the Legislature adopts, it'll be better than the Democrats' settlement plan, which some observers said was a disgrace to any common sense of fair play and smelled of "judge shopping."

The substitute plan was crafted post-session by 19 Democrat senators, plaintiff minority group lawyers and Morales, who

Non-Surgical Cure For Irregular Heartbeats May Be On Horizon

A non-surgical cure for life-threatening irregular heartbeats may be on the horizon, thanks to a computerized cardiac mapping system being developed at The DeBakey Heart Center.

The 1,000-channel system will replace a 128-channel system developed earlier at the heart center and should be ready for testing in humans in early 1992, according to Dr. Antonio Pacifico, assistant professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Computerized cardiac mapping is used to pinpoint areas of the heart where electrical disturbances affecting the beating rhythm originate. When the irregular beating, called arrhythmia, is severe, it can cause sudden cardiac death.

The new system will provide scientists with a more powerful tool to study ventricular tachycardia, a type of life-threatening arrhythmia involving the heart's pumping chambers. Knowledge gained from that study should lead to a non-surgical cure.

"Increased understanding of the cause and effects of tachycardia will eventually enable us to treat patients using a catheter threaded into the heart through a vein," Pacifico said. "The new catheter will make it possible to identify the origin of the problem and to cure it with either microwave or laser energy."

Now, the mapping is done by slipping an electrode-studded sock over the heart during surgery. The computer map shows the problem areas and the surgeon destroys them with a laser or by freezing the tissue.

The new system will improve the surgeon's accuracy in identifying the source of the irregular heartbeats, decrease the patient's time on a heart-lung machine and in the operating room, and allow better understanding of the tachycardia's mechanism, Pacifico said.

The promise of a non-surgical therapy also offers hope for improved lifestyles for patients whose irregular heart rhythms are not cured surgically, he added.

"If we can offer these people a less invasive cure

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. STEPHEN G. BARRY
 CHIROPRACTOR

WHIPLASH TREATMENT BEGINS WITH EARLY CARE

Whiplash injuries commonly result when someone is rear-ended by another vehicle. The force of the impact causes your head to be "whipped" backward and forward in fractions of a second.

Fortunately, most whiplash injuries do not cause life threatening damage. Nevertheless, once the muscles have been overstretched, they often go into spasm in an attempt to protect themselves from further injury.

Occasionally a patient comes to my office complaining of headaches, back, neck or shoulder pain after an accident that occurred several weeks or months earlier. This is often the case when a patient receives no care, inadequate care or improper care immediately following an accident.

Chiropractic training, which requires a minimum of six years, includes the latest research-proven and clinically tested programs for treating a variety of pain syndromes and musculoskeletal injuries.

FLORENCE: MY pick for Italy. Old, compact, beautiful and exciting. Books say it's where the Renaissance was born, where Europe's cultural revolution was financed in large part by the banking family of Medici. The city boasts a half dozen museum of their construction and housing their collections. Hometown of Michelangelo where much of his work and the works of other geniuses are on display, it's a city to do on foot, and site for "A Room With a View," Forster's novel and the film. Our little hotel, Nuova Italia, on a little side street just off the main Nazionale is watched over by Signora Elida Vita, her son, Luciano, his Canadian wife, Eileen and granddaughter Daniela. Excellent little restaurant (menostrome, crusty bread and atmosphere) just across the narrow little street, and we learn, much to joy of some, "just around the corner" from Florence's bustling, sprawling, open-air Mercato San Lorenzo, hundreds of pushcarts crowd together along the streets around the San Lorenzo Church and the Mercato Centrale, offering hand-knit wool and mohair sweaters, leather jackets, handbags, wallets, gloves and briefcases, and of course T-shirts, sweatshirts and many other souvenirs. Six blocks of stalls outside, and inside a giant warehouse type building, fresh meat (hanging here, all fowls, pig, goat, beef, etc.), wine, fresh-made pasta, bakeries, and stall after stall of other speciality items. It's their super market, and a beehive of constant activity. Late October was turning cold and drippy, so we ate, took a quick preview peek at the market stalls, mapped our next day, and called it a night in Florence.

Armed with guide book and city map we launched out early for Galleria dell'Accademia on foot. A non-descript building with a side entrance, housing some of the world's greatest art treasures: Michaelangelo's David, and seven other pieces, including The Prisoners (slaves emerging from the stone) and the second of his four versions of La Pieta (this one also showing John the Baptist. The David once stood outside in a city plaza, but fear of the Roman's perchance for mischief brought it inside for protection.

And then up a little street to Florence's Duomo which has dominated the city's skyline for five centuries. When it was built it was the largest unsupported dome in the world. It's exterior of white, red and green marble contrast to the dark-stone seen throughout the city. Adjoining is the Baptistry, dedicated to the city's patron saint, John the Baptist, with its highlight the pair of bronze exterior doors known as the Gates of Paradise.

(Restocking on lire, we go into a nearby bank with a unique, safe entry: the revolving-type door will permit only one person at a time to slowly enter the lobby; exit is also at a slow, controlled speed. Here and elsewhere we found that you conduct your paper work at one window, then go to a heavily-guarded booth where a single teller handles the cash.) Our lunch was a pasta dish in a chic downtown pizzeria.

Venturesome, we boarded a city bus the guidebook told us would take us to the Michelangelo Plaza across the Arno River, with a breathtaking overlook view of the entire city. It was right on both counts. And then we bused back to the Ponte Vecchio (ancient bridge of hundreds of shops) which we crossed, back to the main city and the Uffizi Museum, one of the most important art museums in the world with four centuries of art development. Second only to the Louvre in Paris, the Uffizi offers Botticelli's Primavera (The Allegory of Springtime) and The Birth of Venus, as well as Leonardo da Vinci's unfinished Adoration of the Magi, Michelangelo's Holy Family, Raphael's self portrait, Titian's Venus of Urbino, Rembrandt's self-portrait, to name just a very few. Entry is up the "Magnificent Staircase," a killing four-flights, followed by hours of strolling-looking called for a taxi back to the hotel, but after a pasta-refueling, there was still a little strength, enough for market-hopping for a short time, and to a nearby pastry shop.

Thanks to a long lunch, 12 to 3, all shops are open late and the folks are out. The newsstands all offer lottery tickets, world newspapers and bold-covered magazines. Tomorrow, we go to Venice, but we'd all gladly come back to Florence.

Coming to the Majestic Friday: "My Girl" starring Jamie Lee Curtis (center), Macauley Culkin, Anna Chlumsky and Dan Aykroyd.

The Columbia Pictures 'My Girl' Opens At Majestic Friday

Funny, heartwarming "My Girl" is a story of two special relationships: one involving a pair of 11 year old playmates; the other a lonely, small-town mortician and a lively newcomer who re-introduces him to romance and happiness. For these pivotal roles three experienced stars were signed up - Dan Aykroyd, Jamie Lee Curtis and young Macauley Culkin - and a ten year old newcomer Anna Chlumsky. This picture will begin at the Majestic in Eastland on Friday, Jan. 3, at 7:30 p.m. Curtain time will be at the same time each evening through Monday, Jan. 6. Tickets will be $3 at the box office. The humorous but touching story told by "My Girl" deals with Vada, a hypochondriac tomboy who best friend is Thomas J. (Macauley Culkin). Vada, played by Anna Chlumsky, lives in an eccentric household headed by her widowed/mortician father, Harry (Dan Aykroyd). When Shelly DeVo to (Jamie Lee Curtis) comes to work in the funeral parlor as a beautician, a change comes over Harry. Emotionally detached - even from his family - since his wife died, Harry suddenly becomes happier than Vada ever remembers seeing him. This causes a confusing sensation of jealousy in the young girl's heart. As Shelly gently nudges the Sultenfuss home out of its old routine, Vada struggles to deal with the changes occurring within her family as well as herself.

This picture was filmed in Florida, and is a recent release. Quite a bit of music is used in the picture.

F.Y.eyes

New Looks in Eyewear
Does your eyewear give you the look you like? Here's a glimpse of the new fashion frames local stores have to offer:

- Classic eyewear styles, including round, smaller, eyebrow-revealing shapes reminiscent of the retro look of the 1900s through 1940s.
 - Antique-inspired pewter and bronze frames, colored-metal frames, overlays and lacquers.
 - For career dressing, moderated cat's eye styles for women that heighten cheekbones and enhance femininity.
 - Rich textures and patterns—gold-flecked tortoise frames and marbled patterns combining blue, green and violet, as well as plaid, tartan and a wide range of vivid brights.
 - Ultra-light, ultra-thin lenses, tinted or not.
- To help you set your sights on just the right eyewear for you, the Better Vision Institute (BVI) developed the Envision Yourself program, a three-step analysis of facial shape, hair and skin color and lifestyle to help consumers select the most suitable eyewear styles.

800 Number Established For Flood Aid, Gramm Says

WASHINGTON- The Federal Emergency Management Agency has established a toll-free "800" number for Texas flood victims to call for help in rebuilding, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm said today.

"Individuals and business owners who have suffered damage in the ongoing flooding should call 1-800-4462-9029 to contact FEMA and to make an initial request for assistance," Gramm said.

"FEMA representatives can explain the full range of federal assistance, including direct grants, low-interest loans and temporary housing from FEMA, the Farmers Home Administration and the Small Business Administration," said the senator.

"They can also take the information necessary to apply for all these programs over the phone and route the application directly to the agency responsible," he noted.

Gramm said that FEMA will accept applications not only from the five counties already declared as disaster areas, but from flooded areas throughout the state.

"We expect that 15 to 20 more counties will be added to the disaster declaration list in the coming few days, substantially expanding eligibility for federal assistance," the senator said.

"I intend to assure that the full range of federal help is on line even before the flood water recedes," Gramm said.

Rural Communities Trying Unique Approach To Needed Medical Help

Rural Texas communities, challenged by the need to fill vacancies in all health care professions, can now take advantage of a unique state-supported program, the Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program administered by the Center for Rural Health Initiatives. The Center is accepting applications until February 14, 1992, for the academic year beginning September, 1992.

Under the program an organization in a rural community acts as a sponsor to a student in a health care field. The sponsor agrees to contribute financial support for the student's educational and living costs. In turn, the student agrees that he or she will work for the sponsor as a health care professional upon graduation.

Students who are selected as an Outstanding Rural Scholar based on academic records and recommendations are also eligible for loans under the Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program. State funds are available through this program to match the rural sponsor's contribution. For each year that the student works for the sponsoring community organization after graduation, one year's principal and interest on the loan is forgiven.

There are now 10 rural Texas communities sponsoring students in the program in such health care fields as medicine, nursing, occupational therapy and physical therapy.

Many rural Texas communities already subsidize educational expenses for local students pursuing a health career. The Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program can help a community ensure a well-trained and committed health care work force for the future.

(For information, contact Bill Lydon, Rural Health Specialist, at the Center for Rural Health Initiatives, 211 E. 7th St., Ste. 915, Austin, Texas 78701 (mailing address: P.O. Drawer 1708, Austin, TX 78767-1708), or call 512/479-8891.)

The power of positive thinking... audio tape that told patients the operation was going well and that they should be calm and relaxed helped them stay comfortable after surgery with less morphine than those who didn't hear the suggestions, British research reports.

Active exercise -- one or more hours a day -- doubles protection against hip fractures, according to a study of older adults at the University of Southern California School of Medicine. Vigorous walking and jogging were more beneficial than golf and fishing.

Experimental procedure, reported in the journal Obstetrics and Gynecology, permits women in labor to control the amount of anesthetic given during the birth process.

For patients with chronic sinus problems, new surgery utilizes a thin fiber-optic scope passed through the nose to view the ethmoid sinus and scrape away any excess tissue very precisely without making incisions. Procedure involves minimal blood loss.

Before considering surgery, try the options in sinus relief we feature at Wal-Mart Pharmacy, Hwy. 80 East, Eastland, 629-3347. Make us your health headquarters.

Dewey S. Hames

Dewey S. Hames, a Ranger pioneer passed away December 20, 1991 at an Eastland hospital.

Services were held December 22, 1991 at the Second Baptist Church where he was a member, with the Rev. Jerry Speer officiating and Rev. Jasper Masseege assisting. Burial was Mt. Zion Cemetery, North of Ranger in Stephens County, directed by Edwards Funeral Home.

Mr. Hames was born September 25, 1898 in the Topaz community in Erath County near Lingleville to Nathaniel P. and Nancy E. Dempsey Hames who were pioneers in Erath and Stephens counties during the late 1880's. His parents bought and moved to a farm north of Ranger in Stephens County when he was an infant, the same farm he continued to operate until his death. He spent most of his life in the Ranger area except for a couple of his teenage years, when his family moved to Mills County at Goldthwaite. While there he helped run the farm, but after participating on several cattle drives, he decided that ranching and raising livestock were more to his liking. His family then moved back to Ranger where he attended Ranger's first high school, a wooden structure.

Shortly thereafter the area experienced the Ranger Oil Boom, where being too young to work on the derricks, he used his horse to pull people and supplies across the muddy streets of Ranger on a sled.

Due to the influx of capital and prosperity that the oil boom brought into Eastland and Stephens Counties, numerous rural families began to trade in their horse and buggies for the new automobile so in the early 1920's with the demand for better roads Mr. Hames began working for Stephens County, developing and building the rural farm to market road systems.

On October 23, 1927 he married Maude Pritchard in Ranger (where they lived and celebrated their sixty fourth anniversary this year.) He began work for the Phillips Oil and Gas Plant north of Ranger for several years, then instead of transferring to Oklahoma, he chose to remain in the Ranger area.

He then started working for the AAA office in Breckenridge which was the beginning of the farm programs now known as the ASCS and SCS programs.

Mr. Hames also served as a Director for the newly formed REA (Rural Electrification Administration) traveling to Washington, D.C. as a delegate to petition congress for money to bring electricity to the rural areas.

All the while, he still raised cattle and operated his farming and ranching businesses, and bought and sold livestock over a wide area of North-Central Texas before auction sales became commonplace.

In his later years he worked for several gasoline service stations in Ranger, retiring from Guess Service Station when he was in his late 80's. He continued his life long passion of ranching and actively participated in the ever changing events of the world.

His generation observed and experienced life beginning before the Age of the Automobile when America was rural, and indoor plumbing and electricity in houses was rare. He saw America progress through the space age by developing the technology to put a man on the moon and explore space.

During his life his warm outgoing personality and quick humor won him many friends and acquaintances. One of his last public appearances was as a Grand Marshall of the Roaring Ranger Celebration where he enjoyed reliving and relating the events of the famous Ranger Oil Boom.

Survivors include his wife, Maude Pritchard Hames of Ranger, a daughter, Cletis Hames Williamson of Ranger, a son, Gary L. Hames of Ft. Worth; four grandsons, Larry Williamson of Ft. Worth and Ranger, Jerry

George Martinez

Mr. Martinez was born in Ganado and moved to Coleman in 1927. He attended school at Webb. He served in the U.S. Army in World War II and was a survivor of the Bataan Death March in 1943.

He was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church and was preceded in death by his first wife, Consuelo Galindo.

Survivors include his wife, Delia Martinez of Coleman; six daughters, Rosalinda Collins of Waco, Mary Ellen Mares of Coleman, and Mary Jo Beard and Dolores Martinez, both of Abilene, and Rosa Dean and Georgianna Armentor, both of Dickinson; four sons, Henry Rodriguez of Ranger, Joe Cervantes Rodriguez of Toledo, Ohio, and Mark A. Martinez and C. Michael Martinez, both of Coleman; three sisters, Frances Tijerina of Fort Worth, and Simona Dela Rosa and Simona Rosales, both of Coleman; a brother, Mike Martinez of Coleman; and 17 grandchildren.

Vera Cooper

RANGER — Vera Cooper, 88, died Monday in a Fort Worth Nursing Home.

Services will be 11:00 a.m., Friday at the First Christian Church in Ranger with Rev. James Upshaw officiating. Burial will be in the Evergreen Cemetery in Ranger. Directed by Edwards Funeral Home of Ranger.

Mrs. Cooper was born in Ranger, graduated from Ranger High School and was a graduate of Hardin Simmons University. She married V.V. Cooper on Nov. 11, 1924 in Ranger, and was a rancher.

She was a member of the First Christian Church in Ranger, Eastern Star, New Era Club and the Royal Neighbors.

Mrs. Cooper is survived by one daughter, Vera Vivian Cooper Bills of Arlington; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Williamson of Morton Valley, Lynn Williamson of Cheaney, Jasper Williamson Jr. of Lake Leon. Four granddaughters; Lori Williamson Foster of San Angelo, Trisha, Melisa, and Sabrina Hames of Ft. Worth and 10 great-grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by a son and a daughter and five sisters.

Pall bearers were his grandsons, along with Ronnie Guess and Danny McNabb and Honorary pallbearer Robert Johnston of Ft. Worth and Bro. Mart Agnew of Cisco, a former pastor of New Hope Church.
