Emergency 911 Services Behind Schedule - Testing Underway

At their regular meeting Monday, Jan. 27 Eastland County Commissioners discussed the Emergency 911 Services scheduled for Eastland County. They did not come up with a firm date for the services to begin here, however.

On Southwestern Bell Telephone bills it states that "911 Service is scheduled to be operating by Jan. 31, 1992." But it was obvious that the Commissioners did not expect this date to be met.

The Eastland County Dispatch, which will handle 911 calls, was reported to be "hot testing" the system. Officers are calling the dispatch headquarters from locations around the county.

When the system is in full operation a computer at the dispatch will flash on information as to location, etc. when 911 calls are received.

Pct. 1 Commissioner Richard Robinson also spoke of some complications involving the changeover of 911 addresses to use as postoffice addresses.

"If the Postoffice doesn't want to use the addresses they can leave them like they are," he said.

"There's going to be mistakes - people who don't get addressed. "And when people change their addresses, we'll have to submit that to Southwestern Bell."

After the Commissioners Court meeting Robinson was asked if he could give any idea when the .911 system might be in operation here.

He said he really didn't know. He had heard that in some counties the system had to be "hot tested" The Commissioners for three months before it

STATE ENGINEER SAYS MANY COUNTY BRIDGES NEED REPAIR

During the County Commissioners meeting last Monday the Court received a summary on County bridges from a Consulting Engineer for the Texas Department of Transportation.

Woody Howell, a Structural Engineer and Consultant for the State, reported on his recent survey of 64 off-system bridges. Six of these were in the City of Ranger, making a total of 58 owned by the county.

With Howell in the Courtroom were Resident DOT Engineer Brian Neaves, and District personnel Leon Taylor and Sam Swann.

Howell brought in some graphic pictures, several of bridge foundations which were partially undermined. Some of this scouring was obviously from the December flooding, which washed soil from foundations.

But some of the deterioration could be from the age of the structure, from the type of maintenance, The public is invited to or the way the bridge was bridges, some were in danger of being washed out, he said. A number were unprotected around the footings, with a possibility they could crack up and start to collapse.

He recommended only one, however, for closing while repaired - a bridge in Pct. 2. Howell urged that other defective structures also be repaired soon, however - especially those listed as "Top Priority." He discussed the best ways to build bridges, saying that floors should be level with the footing. Other recommendations were also made. A "bridge," as defined by the Texas DOT, is any structure with a span 20 ft. long. The county also has a lot of culverts which are shorter than that. Howell had a written Since my appointment I have done the best job I can do to help improve this image.

I have strived to employ honest, capable and hardworking employees who enjoy their work. I have implemented training programs to keep up with the ever changing laws, reduced the cost of the operations of the jail and tne Sheriff's department.

I and my deputies have increased the follow-up investigation of offenses with a recovery rate of 42% for 1991. The recovery rate for the previous year was 17%. The department has been very active three automobiles and one farm this past year. We have also implemented programs using the inmates in the jail to work for the county. My plans are to continue the drug investigations in earnest implement a county truck farm operated by the inmates with the produce to be used to feed the inmates and to distribute to our senior citizens. I will continue to use inmate labor to help with the maintenance of the Courthouse and grounds.

Health Care Reform

In the arena of domestic public policy, no issue has been aired more extensively than that of health care reform. In recent months town hall meetings, newspaper accounts, public forums, and private discussions have focused on the issues of cost and access to health care.

It's no wonder that all of America seems to be talking about health care these days. In Texas' rural areas, we worry about attracting physicians and keeping our hospital doors open; 112 Texas hospitals have closed in the past eight years. At the national level, it is estimated that we will spend $817 billion in 1992 - more than $2 billion a day - on health care.

At the business level, employers spent an average of $3,000 per employee in 1990 for health insurance, with increases each year averaging 20 percent. Last year, for example, General Motors laid out $3.2 billion for health benefits, more than it spent on steel.

But what strides home even more is how health care costs and access effect each one of us personally. As I traveled across providers will spend as Health Care Coalition in the 17th District during the months of December and January, I heard countless stories of exorbitantly costly insurance premiums, communities desperately seeking doctors, and small businesses unable to provide insurance for their employees, even though they would like to.

When experiencing problems like this, it is natural to want to figure out to whom we can point the blaming finger. Are doctors too greedy? Are hospitals inefficient? Do insurance companies have too high profits? Does the government complicate everything by demanding too much paperwork? Do lawyers encourage too much litigation? Do consumers expect to receive the best quality of everything inghis or her responsibil-without having to pay for ity in the possible soluit? Has our scientific knowledge outpaced our wisdom in using technological discoveries?

Of course, assigning blame is valuable only to the degree that it helps us figure out the solutions. Complaining and blaming for its own sake gets us no where. The truth is that our current health care problems come from many sources and there is no one simple, complete solution.

There are some necessary changes to our health system which are fairly obvious. First, our health care system devotes too much of its resources to last-minute miracles and neglects the more mundane realm of preventive medicine. About 30 percent of Medicare costs are incurred during the last year of a beneficiary's life, and the greatest expense is incurred in the last 30 days. We need to learn to spend more wisely.

Secondly, we need control over unnecessary paperwork. The United States has more than 1500 different health insurance programs, each with its own complex forms and much as $90 billion this year on record-keeping. We need to standardize our forms and require-

Thirdly, and perhaps most difficultly, we must face our unrealistic expectations. It is not possible for us to offer unlimited medical care to everyone, to fund every technological possibility, to provide "first-class" care and expect to pay "coach" fares. We need to understand that benefits, even if they come through a government program such as Medicare or Medicaid, are not free.

Health care reform in this country will come only through a partnership between the President, the Congress and the People, all working together and each accept-

For my part, I have spent the past two months seeking input from you, my constituents, about the health care issue, and I will continue to do so throughout this year. To this point, I have heard four basic messages.

First, I have clearly heard that our health care system does have shortcomings that Americans want to see fixed. Secondly, we will need to tackle our problems with a variety of approaches; no single answer such as a national health plan will solve everything. Thirdly, in the process of reform, the residents of the 17th District do not want to see the undoing of the good elements of our free market health system. And finally, I have gotten the message that as Congress considers legislation we need to proceed cautiously, bearing in mind the costs in money, convenience, and quality which any change might

Now, within the House of Representatives I am involved with both the Conservative Democratic regulations. Health care Forum and the Rural an effort to develop a legislative package which incorporates some of the solutions which my constituents feel are most viable. While the details are still being worked out, the package will likely include small group insurance reform, Medicaid reform, medical malpractice reform, expansion of community and migrant health centers, and various cost containment

> This health reform process will not be an easy or uncomplicated one. As always, I will depend on the input I receive from my constituents to guide me through the process.

State Bar Offers Toll-Free Number

A new toll-free phone number (1-800-932-1900) is now available to persons wanting to know how to file a complaint against a Texas attorney. The State Bar's Commission for Lawyer Discipline and the Bar's office of General Counsel/Chief Disciplinary Counsel are charged with protecting the public by handling grievances against lawyers and are responsible for maintaining the toll-free number. The service is designed to provide the public with information about how to file a grievance and what to expect from the attorney disciplinary system.

The toll-free phone number is part of an overhaul of the State Bar's grievance system. New disciplinary rules were adopted by a statewide referendum of the Bar's membership in late 1990 and will implemented in May to clarify the ways that complaints against lawyers will be handled.

"Offering a toll-free telephone number is among the steps both the State Bar and the Texas Legislature felt would better inform the public and expedite the complaint process," said Lonny D. Morrison, a Wichita Falls attorney who chairs the Texas Commission for Lawyer Discipline. The group includes six attorney members and six public, non-attorney members who oversee the attorney discipline system in Texas and who were instrumental in writing the new procedures.

"The Commission's obligation is to make sure that the public knows about help available from the State Baris a member of the Bar has violated one of the rules governing the legal profession," said Morrison. Persons who have a complaint should call the toll-free number for assistance.

against a lawyer in Texas will prove to be a violation of the specific rules of professional conduct," said Virginia Bowers of Dallas, a public, non-lawyer member of the Commission. "But our goal is increased public awareness that there are written ethical rules for attorneys and that attorneys who violate the rules will be prosecuted through the grievance system."

Callers to the toll-free number will receive information about how the grievance process works. If more information is requested, callers will be sent a complaint form and written materials explaining the complaint proce-

Morrison said specific questions about whether or not the caller's particular complaint involves a violation of the attorney ethics rules cannot be adequately dealt with by phone, but, General Counsel staff members will attempt to guide callers through the initial steps of filing a complaint. Bullock To Oppose Tax Increases

Lieutenant Governor Bob Bullock today told a group of Texas business leaders that barring a court-ordered mandate for education, he will resist all efforts to raise state taxes during the next "Not every complaint regular session meeting of the state Legislature.

"Though I do not have a vote in the Senate," Bullock said, "I stand ready to see Texas live with the tax money available from existing sources at existing rates."

But Bullock, who made his remarks at the Texas Chamber of Commerce's annual statewide meeting, acknowledged that while "holding the line on taxes will be easier for taxpayers in the short haul, the question is, how much will it cost in the future?

"Business knows the value of preventative maintenance. The same is true for prenatal early childhood healthcare programs and a good education system in preventing the root causes of crime at an early age in the at-risk child. "As case loads continue

Pharmacist's discovery may end obesity

WASHINGTON -- After is not in decreasing the amount solving the problem of his own obesity, a pharmacist, now director of National Dietary Research, may have discovered the solution for others with the same problem.

Dr. William Morris, pharmacist, inventor and author has discovered a natural tood tablet, aptly named Food Source One, that replaces some of the calories normally obtained from food.

Food Source One replaces high calorie fats with other natural food ingredients with little or no caloric value so you can lose weight without giving up all your favorite foods, as explained in NDR's Lifestyle Maintenance publication, available where Food Source One is sold. According to Dr. Morris, weight loss results while using Food Source One will depend on how many pounds a person needs to lose. However some overweight people are experiencing extra-ordinary results with Food Source One. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated "I never had to sacrifice the foods I dearly crave!" "Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it. says a Niagara Falls, New York woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. Health Care Reform

By Cong. Charles Stenholm

In the arena of domestic public policy, no issue has been aired more extensively than that of health care reform. In recent months town hall meetings, newspaper accounts, public forums, and private discussions have focused on the issues of cost and access to health

It's no wonder that all of America seems to be talking about health care these days. In Texas' rural areas, we worry about attracting physicians and keeping our hospital doors open; 112 Texas hospitals have closed in the past eight years. At the national level, it is estimated that we will spend $817 billion in 1992 - more than $2 billion a day - on health care.

At the business level, employers spent an average of $3,000 per employee in 1990 for health insurance, with increases each year averaging 20 percent. Last year, for example, General Motors laid out $3.2 billion for health benefits, more than it spent on steel.

Does the government complicate everything by paperwork? Do lawyers encourage too much litigation? Do consumers expect to receive the best quality of everything without having to pay for it? Has our scientific paperwork. The United year on record-keeping.

We need to standardize our forms and require-for us to offer unlimited medical care to everyone, to fund every technologi-

We need to understand logical discoveries?

But what strikes home even more is how health care costs and access affect each one of us personally. As I traveled across the 17th District during the months of December and January, I heard countless stories of exorbitantly costly insurance premiums, communities desperately seeking doctors, and small businesses unable to provide insurance for their employees. even though they would like to.

When experiencing problems like this, it is natural to want to figure out to whom we can point the blaming finger. Are doctors too greedy? Are hospitals inefficient? Do insurance companies have too high profits?

want to see fixed. Secondly, we will need to tackle our problems with a variety of approaches; no single answer such as a national health plan will solve everything. Thirdly, in the process of reform, the residents of the 17th District do not want to see the undoing of the good elements of our free market health system. And finally, I have gotten the message that as Congress considers legislation we need to proceed cautiously, bearing in mind

Now, within the House of Representatives I am involved with both the Conservative Democratic Forum and the Rural Health Care Coalition in an effort to develop a legislative package which incorporates some of the solutions which my constituents feel are most viable. While the details are still being worked out, the package will likely include small group insurance reform, Medicaid reform, medical malpractice reform, expansion of community and migrant

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I read with great interest the story about Steve Benefiel, 'The Ranger Bandit' drug dealer and all of his friends in the, Feb. '92 issue of Texas Monthly. I also read the letter from Mr. Kincaid in the Jan. 26 issue of the Eastland Telegram.

I read about the arrest in the newspapers and watched the news on TV, back when the arrests were made in Jan. '91. I was shocked and angered and I wondered (still do) how this drug activity happened here and how it got so out of control. Greed and disregard for human life came to mind.

Drug dealers get no sympathy from me. I especially have no sympathy for Twiddle Dee and Twiddle Dum, the sheriff and state trooper who did the colossal cover-up. The very idea! It still angers GERMANS: The First Germans in America with a biographical directory of New York - Edited by Don Heinrich Tolzmann.

The first permanent German settlement in America was at Germantown, Pennsylvania, in 1683. But most people do not realize that Germans first arrived in America in 1608, settling at Jamestown, Virginia, and, within a few years, Germans began joining the Dutch settlement of New Netherland (later New York) and other colonies. Q. How can I get my child to do (or not do) something?

A. One way to motivate a child is to give rewards. To get a child to stop sucking her thumb her parents gave her a small surprise when she went for seven days without sucking her thumb. After 30 days they gave her a larger one.

For older children a task sheet can be posted and the reward could be written beside it. When the child accomplishes the task, be sure to follow through.

MAMMOGRAPHY CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE!!

If you are a healthy woman over 40 who never has had a mammogram, The American Cancer Society recommends that you have this simple life saving procedure now. Since one lifetime, the urgency is real.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination. These images are then interpreted by a Board Certified Radiologist, and a report is sent to your own doctor. It takes only a few minutes, and can detect incipient breast cancer as small as the period at the end of this sentence.

Early detection (18 months sooner than a lump can be felt) not only permits treatment before the problem becomes serious, but the cure rate is over 90%. Whether a person is a professional football player or exercises only once a week, food is a key factor in athletic performance - but too many advertised products mislead and misinform, according to a registered dietitian.

"Everyone needs to eat a balanced diet, which provides energy to complete an exercise routine and all the nutrients necessary for tissue growth and replacement after a workout," said Dr. Mary Kinney Bielamowicz,nutritionist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "However, there are too many misleading advertisements and fad diets that can cause consumers to stray from the healthful choice.' Many people who put their hopes in health products that claim to build their muscles and give them stamina often end up with a diet that lacks some important nutrients but has an excessive amount of others, she said. Nutritional practices based upon half-truths and misconceptions can even be dangerous if taken to the extreme. Bielamowicz said some of the most common myths about how to get energy include:

· Eating more protein helps build more muscle - Protein is important in building and protecting muscles, but high-protein diets or supplements have not been proven to increase muscle mass. Without proper exercise, excessive protein is often converted to fat protein intake may also strain kidney function. • Eat a lot of carbohydrates before each workout - A high-carbohydrate diet is not necessary for a regular workout. If preparing for a longdistance event (lasting an hour or longer) such as a marathon or bicycle race, a high-carbohydrate diet may be needed - staring several days before the event. For events lasting less than 90 minutes, a high-carbohydrate diet for one day can adequately fuel muscles. Drinking sports drinks before and after exercise is essential for replacing lost body fluids

- During activity, perspiration causes loss of water and minerals such as sodium and potassium that are important for normal body function. cans Under usual circumstances, the average American diet contains more than enough sodium to make up for losses. Supplements are not needed unless circumstances are unusual, such as participating in a triathlon in intense heat.

· Consuming foods or beverages high in sugar before exercising provides extra energy - If you eat a food high in sugar 30 to 60 minutes before working out, it may actually have a negative effect on your performance. The short-term energy boost could lead temporarily to hypoglycemia, which limits the brain's ability to use its fuel (calories) to boost muscular function and mental drive. Symptoms of hypoglycemia include feeling lightheaded, disoriented, and stored. Excessive shaky, sweaty and fatigued or having blurred vision and heart palpita-

 Beverages that contain caffeine and alcohol stimulate the nervous system and provide energy — Drinks that contain caffeine and alcoholic beverages have dehydration effects, which offer no benefits to a person who works out regularly or an athlete in training.

Injury during childbirth and aging in women can cause laxity of pelvic muscles. Pelvic muscles are responsible for supporting the bladder and bladder neck area. With weakening of pelvic musculature the bladder neck falls down and women tend to leak. Coughing, sneezing, minor activities, weight gain, and lack of exercise can all promote fall down of the bladder.

Strength of pelvic muscle, and lack of sphincter tone can be studies properly. If bladder support is very poor, surgical treatment to tie the bladder becomes mandatory. Large numbers of women tend to procrastinate and wait until their bladder falls too far down and surgical results may not be as good or satisfactory to the pa-

Back injuries, disc problems, strokes, and diabetes also can cause urinary incontinence in women.

Women tend to learn to live with incontinence with the use of devices such as pads, Depends, and adult diapers. With improvement in modern medicine and new technological advancements physicians are able to evaluates the reasons for incontinence in an individual patient.

Medical treatment, surgical treatment and in some instances a combination of both, is very effective in treating the incontinence.

A lot of women learn to live with incontinence and may not seek medi cal advice. We plan to educate the female population about incontinence and will offer an educational seminar in the near future.

The program will be at Eastland Memorial Hospital in the Ambulatory Care Service Department from 3:00 to 5:00 P.M., Friday, February 7, 1992. Space is limited so call 629-2601 to register.

For something old, the bride chose diamond earrings, given to her by her paternal grandparents. Something new was her wedding attire. She was an antique ruby ring which was borrowed from Audrey Grice, and completed the tradition with a blue garter and a penny in her shoe.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the church. Members of the houseparty were Chrissy Smith of San Angelo, cousin of the bride, and Stephanie Kimbrough, Tina Kendall and Kathy Choate of Cisco. Cassie Kimbrough presented guests with rice filled roses of red satin.

The couple will make their home in Dallas. The bride is studying physical therapy at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center and the bridegroom is employed by Honeywell Optoelectronics of Richardson.

But please don't completely run away from our lakes which are of colored. We as humans don't stop eating simply because it's cloudy, cold or rainy. And neither do the fish. Sure it may be a little tougher, but mama never said it would be easy. To add a little in your corner during there muddy water times two main factors should be observed. develop. has only one of some 335 entries state wide made. The categories include State record, Lake record, Big Fish Award and Lunker Award. Species range from warmouth perch to flathead catfish and everything in between. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials are proposing statewide changes for yellow bass, flathead catfish and netting in public freshwater as well as several other changes. There are no proposed changes in wildlife regulations.

Proposed changes were made to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission on Jan. 23. Phil Durocher, TPWD inland fisheries chief, gave outdoor writers a preview of scheduled changes at the Texas Outdoor Writers Association's annual meeting in Killeen. The most notable change will increase the statewide minimum size limit on flathead catfish from nine inches to 24 inches. Durocher said these fish need to be treated differently from channel and blue catfish. A recent survey of 250 flatheads indicated this popular sport fish lives 25 years or longer and can reach weights of more than 100 pounds. But flatheads don't reach maturity until they are two to four years old, usually measuring 17 inches to 26 inches. A one year old flathead will measure about 12 inches. "The nine-inch minimum protects no flathead catfish to maturity," Durocher said. "A nine-inch flathead only weighs onethird of a pound. For maximum sustained yield, we must protect them till maturity." A 24inch flathead will weigh about 6 1/2 pounds. The proposal should protect 50 percent of the population to maturity.

Another proposal will remove the current bag limit (25 daily, 50 in possession) on yellow bass. The commission removed the minimum size limit last year.

The department also is proposing a prohibition on the use of gill, trammel and hoop nets in public freshwater. If approved this measure would become effective Sept. 1, 1993, in order to give any remaining netters time to find other occupations.

"We're not against selling rough fish," Durocher said. "We are against nets. They catch and kill fish indiscriminately."

Other proposed fisheries changes include:

* Joe Pool Reservoir change the current 18inch minimum, three fish daily bag limit on black bass to 1 14- to 21-inch slot limit and three fish daily limit;

* Lake Meredith - place a 12- to 15-inch slot limit on smallmouth bass;

* Choke Canyon - reduce the crappie bag limit from 25 per day to 15;

Purtis Creek State Park Lake - retain catch The sad news is Leon and release on black bass but allow anglers to retain one bass longer than 22 inches in a live well or other aerated holding device for transportation to a park weigh station. After weighing, it must be immediately released back into the lake or it may be donated to Operation Share A Lone Star Lunker;

* Lakeview City Park Lake in Corpus Christi, and Lake Burke-Crenshaw in Pasadena - designates these lakes as freshwater for regulation pur-

* Nelson Park Lake in Abilene, and Buck Lake in South Llano River State Park - catch and release only for largemouth bass;

Lake Burke-Crenshaw - places a 14- to 18inch slot limit on black

* Bright Lake in Round Rock, Lake Burke - Crenshaw and Nelson Park Lake - place a 14-inch minimum, five fish daily bag limit on channel and blue catfish;

Lake Bruke-Crenshaw and Bright Lake prohibit the use of trotlines, juglines and throwlines;

* allow nongame fish taken by legal means and methods (shad trawl, seine, cast net, minnow trap and umbrella net) to be used for any purpose; * remove any size restriction on dip nets; * place a 16-inch minimum length limit,three fish daily bag on black bass at Lake Coleman and Lake Brownwood for experimental purposes;

* place a 12-inch minimum length limit on white bass in Lakes Conroe, Livingston, Limestone, Palestine and Somerville and the rivers above these lakes for experimental purposes. The 10-inch limit protects them for only one year and many are being harvested before they spawn; place the experimental catfish limit of 14-inch minimum length and 15 fish daily bag on Lakes Choke Canyon, Cooper, Fairfield and O.H. Ivie;

* place an experimental seven-inch minimum length and 25 fish daily bag limit on sunfish in Purtis Creek State Park Lake;

* change the possession limit on all fish to twice the daily bag limit for simplification. This will affect greater amberjack, cobia, king mackerel, Spanish mackerel, sharks and red snapper;

* increase the Spanish mackerel bag limit from three per day to seven per

* permit the use of sail lines to take sharks.
