DAMAGE TO COUNTY ROAD 190

Pct. 1 Commissioner Richard Robinson had County Rd. 190 mighty smooth - until heavy traffic tore up the surface last Thursday. The area pictured has now been filled with rock.

By last Thursday, February 20, Pct. 1 Commissioner, Richard Robinson and his employees had worked on County road 190 until it was smooth. This road runs from the end of Spur 490 south to FM 2526 west of Carbon, and part of it has been graveled.

Robinson was happy to have the ruts smoothed out and everything in great shape-but he didn't stay happy long!

Late that same day travelers from Spur 490 south on the road were surprised to find deep potholes and washboard surface on the road. The further they went the worse things got.

About 2 miles south of Grandpa's Smokehouse there was quite a stir in the road. It seems that Hack Drilling Co. of Abilene had moved 14 truckloads of drilling equipment during the day to a location on Mrs. Billie Johnson's property. Finally the road surface began to give way, especially in three places.

About 6:30 p.m., at the worst of these places, one 18-wheeler was observed stuck near the middle of the road. The road was so torn up that people driving small vehicles had to back up and go a different direction.

Robinson and his wife, Lois, put out cones to warn people away.

"The road was just too soft for their equipment," the County Commissioner said.

Monday Robinson said he found the Oil Company "cooperative", and that they offered to bring in a bulldozer and smooth up the road. But decided it would be better for his crew to do the work, so they went ahead and fixed the road Friday.

He reported that the crew put 30 yards of big rock in the largest hole and finer rock on top. The other damaged places were filled with small rock before being graded.

"Part of that road is not in very good shape yet," Robinson said. "And with more rain, it looks like it will be awhile before we get back. But at least it is passable."

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS DISCUSS ROAD DAMAGE-DELAY IN 9-1-1 SYSTEM

Eastland County Commissioners Monday reported on damage to rural roads and bridges caused by floods during the last two months. Even as they talked to a cold rain was pouring outside the Courtroom, adding to difficulties they faced.

Eastland County has been declared a disaster area, and application has been made for funds to make repairs. But all the Commissioners reported no assistance as yet.

Judge Scott Bailey said that "Individual Precinct budgets are going to be stretched" if the County has to pay for all these repairs.

Pct. 1 Commissioner, Richard Robinson said he had carried government officials to view three sites that need repair.

"Two of these are half-way passable," he said.

The other place has water running down the center of the road for about a thousand feet," Robinson added.

The other Commissioners also reported trouble spots, Pct. 2 Commissioner Ainsworth reported

,27; Pct. 3 Commissioner Owen ,19; and Pct. 4

Commissioner Pittman ,28.

Pittman said there were a number of places he still couldn't get in to look at. He said he still had roads that were under the water the whole time.

He suggested that people should write to the President and try to get more help.

All the Commissioners said they had some temporary repairs so traffic could get through. But all reported they did not have the money to do the type of rebuilding the roads needed.

Attention turned to difficulties on the installation of the 9-1-1 Emergency Medical System in the County.

A caller's name is supposed to appear on a computer screen in the County Dispatch when 9-1-1 is dialed.

"Nearly every rural address on the computer is wrong," Commissioner Robinson said.

The telephone Company was reported to have put that information into the computer.

County Judge Bailey said that some of the house addresses are correct, but the town was wrong.

Then there were the matters of road numbering and addressing of rural dwellings, which the Commissioners said was incomplete.

To add to the confusion, State Highway numbers have recently been changed in some of the County, causing new addresses to be needed.

Robinson reported that 4,000 cards had recently been mailed from the Commissioners Court, listing new addresses that would eventually become mailing addresses as well as 9-1-1 addresses.

Of this number, Secretary Jean White reported that 91 cards had been returned as undeliverable.

Robinson said that also the Postal Service had mailed out a number of cards to people in various Precincts, listing new addresses.

Robinson said his name and phone number were also printed on the cards, and he received about 400-500 calls, with people wanting to know what was going on! Other Commissioners also reported some anger and confusion over the cards.

The Commissioner said the public is advised to continue to use regular mailing addresses until notification of change appears in newspapers and radio at some future date.

The 9-1-1 System is not in operation yet, and it is going to take some time to iron out problems.

On other matters, the Commissioners decided to hold a public hearing on the County's parking ordinance (around the Courthouse) before beginning to enforce it. The Hearing will be at 2:00 p.m. Monday, March 2, 1992.

Commissioner Reggie Pittman reported good news that the jail population had fallen to 12. Two of these are scheduled for TDC, seven are awaiting trial, one is being held on a bench warrant and two on blue warrants.

What a pleasant two days we experienced with Ranger's students! The gifted/talented students in the Ranger middle and high schools attended the WINGS Student Seminars at Region 14 Education Service Center in Abilene on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 11 and 12. The students from Ranger school were most courteous and attentive while actively participating with presenters who had given their time and expertise. It is always a pleasure to see young people who value learning and guidance. Be sure to express to these students and their teachers your esteem for their attitudes and hard work.

Mud Delays Request On Roads

One item on the County Commissioners Agenda had to be postponed Monday.

It was listed as "Rural Road Matter, Pct. 4," and was being brought to the Court by Rupert Starr, who lives southwest of Cisco.

County Judge Scott Bailey said that Starr planned to present a petition - signed by a number of people - requesting the State to consider an FM road in their area.

All was apparently going according to plan, until Mr. Starr failed to appear in the Courtroom.

Commissioners glanced outside at the rain and wondered what had happened.

They soon found out. Court Secretary Jean White received a phone call and hurried to give the message.

"Mr. Rupert Starr is stuck in the mud and can't get out," she said.

Area residents are invited to leap into a healthy 1992 by attending "A Conference on Cancer and You" at the First Baptist Church, 405 South Seaman, Eastland, February 29, 1992.

The Conference will begin at 8:00 a.m. and end at 4:30 p.m. - a day long event for cancer patients, friends, medical personnel and the general public.

The Anderson Network of M.D. Anderson Cancer Center of Houston is hosting the Conference, with the help of local coordinator Becky McIntire, R.N., Lesa Oswald, President of the Eastland County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, Ann Folsom, Kay Meeks, and Polo on the Prairie Committee members.

Kokomo Club Stew Supper Held Feb. 22

The annual Kokomo Extension Home Makers Club "Benefit Stew Supper" was February 22, 1992, from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. and it was a big success.

There will also be a chance for questions and informal discussions. According to Becky McIntire, Coordinator: "This will be a great opportunity to learn more about cancer detection and treatment from these well-qualified specialists." Cancer touches all of us in some way - all are urged to attend and learn what they can about it.

Letter To The Editor

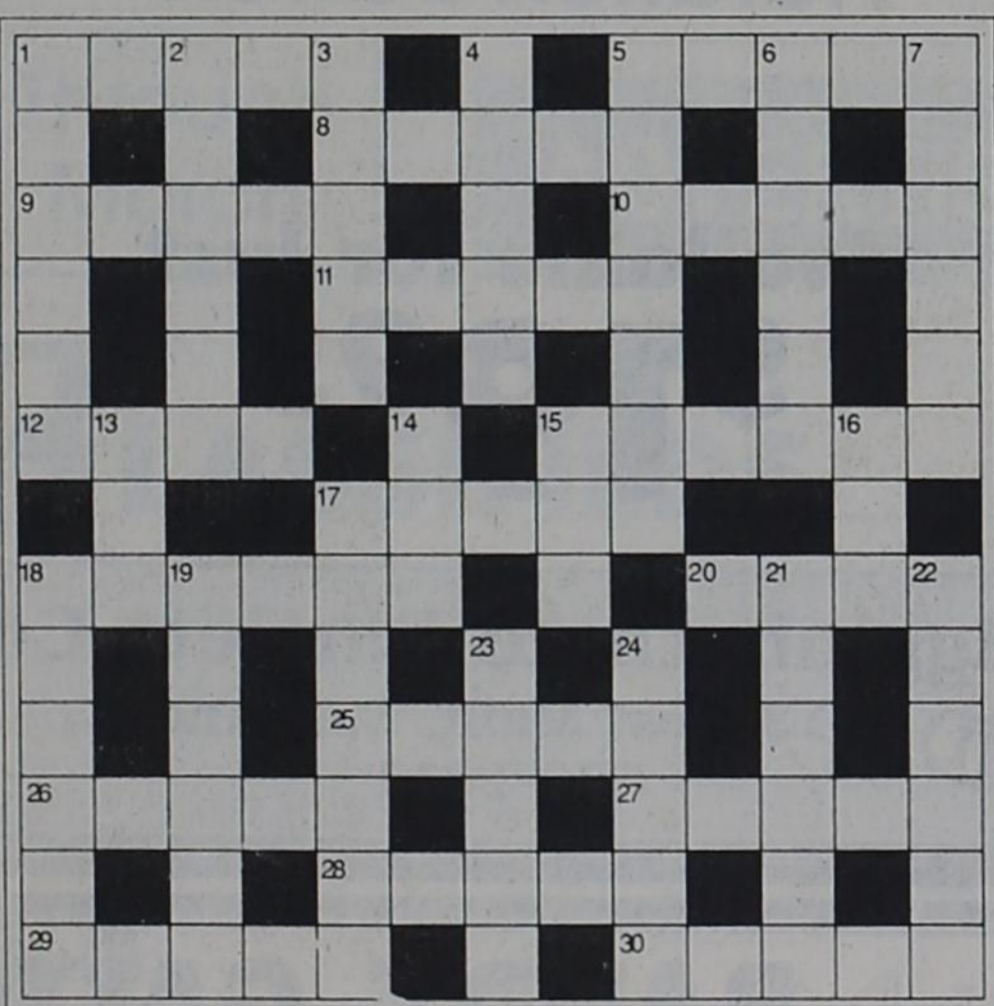

EDITOR: I have never seen a Pee-Wee basketball association so one sided as the Eastland's.

The coaches expect all girls to give 100% of their time and effort at every game and practice. But when it comes to picking all stars, it's not the best players picked, but whose father or mother is coaching because that is all that ever gets picked with the exception of one or two.

So why don't they call it coaches daughters tournament and be done with it. That way the other girls will not get their hopes up just to get slopped down. Mary (Bowles) Gallaway

Club members and their husbands who helped were Mr. and Mrs. Oren Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Burrenson, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Morrow, Merel Lasater, Velma Bennett, Nancy Hendricks, Johnny B. Griffith, Bernice Hodges, and Ann Laun Claerman. Reporter Nancy Hendricks

It's a busy Sunday afternoon at Cook's Fish Barn, located 12 miles southeast of Rising Star on Highway 36.

Cars are parked outside the long, low building, built something like the deck of a ship. People are going up the ramp into the entrance, while inside the owners J.C. and Katie Cook and family members greet customers, seat them at rustic tables, and cook, serve and visit.

The scene is colorful—wide plank floors, fish nets hanging from the ceilings. And floating through the hum of conversation is vintage country-western music, part of a collection of tapes and records owned by the Cooks.

Gene Autry at the beginning of his career, Marty Robbins with classic cowboy songs, the Sons of the Pioneers and Hank Williams at his best make a background for the family-reunion atmosphere.

The music also fits with old cowboy prints and western decor on the walls—decorations which somehow blend with the nautical look.

But people are concentrating on the food. The "All U can eat" specials feature Freshwater Catfish and Southern Style Cod, chicken planks, or smaller versions of these plates.

Or dinners have a choice of a meal from the ample salad bar, or a huge seafood plate, also shrimp, oysters, steak and various side orders.

The printed menu hardly does justice to what comes with the main dishes—savory hush puppies, slaw and crisp fries. Servings are generous on everything.

Several people order plates to take out, and another person mentions that Cook is equipped for real good catering for large groups anywhere in the area. Someone says that the restaurant is always doing community benefits, stock shows, and for the Rising Star and Sipes Springs Fire Departments.

Toward the Sunday

closing time, 3:00 p.m., J.C. Cook gives the last of the customers a special treat. He carries his guitar to the bandstand at one end of the big room and sings a few songs.

This bandstand is a focal point-centered with a set of drums, the are lit by cylinders of lights in green and fushia. Sometimes Cook's band comes up from Sidney to play here: Norman Chandler, Gary Clark, and Tommy Connally.

But today it's just Cook, joined soon by dark-haired daughter Connie Cook Howard and two year old grandson, Trevor Howard. Jeff Howard, Connie's husband, carries the last of the trays to the kitchen. Their well-modulated voices blend. Little Trevor decides to sing with his granddad, probably just as Cook had done with his family long ago.

Raised right here where the restaurant is located, J.C. Cook comes from a family where music is a way of life. When he was a child his aunts, uncles and mother all sang and played with several bands.

Today Cook winds up his music with "The Way I Am." He puts down his guitar and walks across to where his wife, Katie, is closing out the kitchen.

The Fish Barn will open next Thursday and run from 4:30-10:00 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, and then be open 11:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. Sunday.

"But it's actually a seven day per week job," Cook declares. He motions toward his attractive wife. "You're looking at the brains of this business right now. She is our CPA, secretary, cook, dishwasher and in charge of personnel."

"But this is actually a family business. Our daughter Connie and husband, Jeff Howard, another daughter Christy and husband, Dean Howard they all work hard heretoo. Our other daughter, Rebecca, and her husband Doug Caffey live in Abilene."

The Cooks note that Connie, Jeff and Dean are honor students at Cisco Junior College, in addition to their work at the Fish Barn.

"Another hard worker here is Marsha Dittrick, who helps the family out with whatever needs to be done," Katie Cook says.

Cook remarks that he started the business here in 1984 with one little room. He worked at other things before—driving a truck, and running a big greenhouse on the family farm.

"People thought I was kind of crazy, trying to have a restaurant out here so far from town," he remarks.

But he had an idea that people would come a long way for good food and a chance to enjoy themselves.

"We started with barbeque and worked with that for two years. We still fix it now and then—especially if someone wants it for a benefit."

"But we found out we like working with fish the best, using a batter like Katie cooked at home."

He says that the family, referring to himself and his sons-in-law, literally constructed the place as business expanded, adding on a porch and finally the big room. Now the Fish Barn will seat around 250 people, and serves 1200-1500 people weekly.

"It's lots of work, but a lot of fun!" Cook declares.

One of the interesting things is how far people will drive to eat here. J.C. and Katie name over some of the places customers come from: Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Dublin, Stephenville, Granbury, Abilene, Comanche, Coleman, Brownwood and of course many from Rising Star, De Leon, and Gorman.

The Cooks remark that they were pretty easy-going on most things—but on one subject they are really set in their ways.

They say you have to be especially careful about fish products, and they won't serve anything that does not come from U.S.

Six Flags Over Texas To Begin 31st Season On February 29

Six Flags Over Texas will begin its 1992 season Saturday, Feb. 29.

The huge theme park which opened in 1961, will welcome its 68 millionth guest this spring. Last season's attendance exceeded 2.6 million.

The family entertainment center will be open on weekends only during the spring months, with the exception of the period from March 14 through 22 when the park will be open daily for "Spring Break Out," a new special event for students on Spring Break.

Two new musicals will debut in park theaters on opening day. Fourteen young performers will be featured in the Southern Palace Music Hall's Broadway-style revue "Do You Hear the People Sing?"

There will be comedy and country music in the Crazy Horse Saloon's production called "One More Payment And It's Mine."

Six Flags' first name entertainer concert of the season, featuring Marky Mark and The Funky Bunch and the group Ex-Girlfriend, will be staged March 7 at 6 p.m. in the Music Mill Amphitheater.

The second concert of the year will star Roxette and Russ Irwin. That show will begin at 7 p.m. March 13, when the park will be open from 5 p.m. until midnight.

One feature of the week-long "Spring Break Out" celebration will be a concert on March 20, featuring Rhythm (sic) Syndicate, Shanice and Right Said

Fred. The show will begin at 8 p.m.

In the case of all three early-season concerts, a fee of $2 will be charged in addition to the regular park admission.

Six Flags will be open at 10 a.m. each operating day during the spring season. Closing hours vary and are available through the park's Guest Information office at Metro (817) 640-8900.

High blood pressure may be less dangerous for women than for men, a new study at Montefiore Medical Center in New York suggests. Doctors say weight loss and exercise may reduce the need for drugs.

Some people who thought they were allergic to penicillin were able to take the drug without adverse reaction, studies at The Johns Hopkins Asthma and Allergy Center in Baltimore found.

Tighter control of blood-glucose levels before pregnancy helped cut the rate of birth defects in babies of diabetic women. Study was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

A carrot a day... People who eat lots of fruits and vegetables high in antioxidants like beta carotene are less likely to have cataracts, say researchers at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Acetaminophen controls the pain of osteoarthritis of the knee as effectively as ibuprofen, even though it does not reduce inflammation, says doctors at the Indiana University Medical Center.

We'll help you soothe those ouches and aches with a wide assortment of analgesics of all kinds at Walmart Pharmacy Hwy 80 East, Eastland, 629-3347.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. STEPHEN G. BARRY

CHIROPRACTOR

MEDICAL RESEARCH SUPPORTS CHIROPRACTIC

The British Medical Journal reports that Chiropractic treatment of low back pain, which affects 75 million Americans, is superior to the standard regimen administered by medical doctors.

The study, published in the summer of 1990, indicated that chiropractic manipulation can relieve severe back pain quicker and at lower cost than medical treatment. Chiropractic patients experienced less pain and disability and missed fewer days work.

At Barry Chiropractic Clinic we are committed to not only getting you free of back pain but treating those conditions which cause your pain. No symptom can be more depressing than persistent back pain. Don't delay treatment when help is readily available.

Fishing Outdoors

by Terry L. Wilson

O. H. Ivie, West Texas Future Fork
West Texas Anglers have for years longed for a well stocked, managed and located big lake. Nearing the full pool level of 554,000 acre feet Ivie stands a mere 9 vertical feet from this level.

Located just east of the junction of the Colorado & Concho rivers in Concho, Coleman, and Runnels counties this huge impoundment will be the premiere lake west of the Fort Worth area. In anticipation of this the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has placed an 18 inch-minimum length limit for large-mouth bass. Having begun stocking the proposed area prior to the lake filling with Florida strain bass should give Ivie a fair number of legal fish by this fall. The stocking program was doubled above the proposed goals once the lake began filling in such a short time. 12 to 16 inch fish are numerous at this time with a few keeper fish being taken.

The few trips I have been able to make to Ivie have been amazing in the shear numbers of bass available. In the right areas anglers are reporting catching and releasing near 100 fish a day. A poor day may see a handful of bites as with any lake.

The current lake record I show is just over 9 pounds, probably a native of the river's prior to the impoundment. Heavy cover is the rule for the most part with mesquite trees, pecan, and cactus as primary cover. If planning a trip in the near future, spool on some Trilene Big Game for this dense cover. Spinnerbaits and worms are producing some good catches off the secondary points in the mid-lake area.

The Angler's Choice Draw Tournaments for 1992 kicked off with a bang at Lake Sam Rayburn Feb. 6-9. One hundred and sixty-seven contestants gathered for some excellent fishing, but catching was less than desirable.

David Pavlesic of Houston won out with 33.33 for a two day total. There were only 3 two day limits of 10 fish total weighed in. Lendell Martin Jr. of nearby Nacogdoches took second place with 1 fish 27.89.

The high-energy picture "Kuffs" will open at the Majestic Theatre in Eastland on Friday, February 28, 1992, and run nightly through Monday, March 2, 1992. Curtain time will be 7:30 p.m., with admission $3.00 at the box office.

The remaining schedule for 1992 looks like this: March 26-29 Richland Chambers, May 28-31 Lake Texoma, June 25-28 Toledo Bend, July 25-26 Lake Livingston. For more information you may contact Jerry Hope at (903) 759-3837 or Angler's Choice Headquarters (817) 326-5821.

Don't forget the upcoming Angler's Choice Team event for the West region March 8, 1992 at Lake Amistad. Headquarters, Lakeview Center. Our area was very well represented at the opener at Colorado City with seven teams, let's keep the rooster full and see another of our area teams take first at "Big Friendly" Amistad.

Terry L. Wilson

This picture has humor and excitement. It begins when George Kuffs-the last guy in the world you would ever want to count on-just inherited a police force. Now everyone is counting on him.

Christian Slater stars as George, a 21 year old high school drop-out with his own ideas of how to get the American dream. It's a tale laced with Slater's rarely seen comedy talent.

He recently co-starred with Kevin Costner in the box-office hit "Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves," and in Universal's "Mobsters."

Also starring in "Kuffs" is Milla Jovovich, as Maya, a sixteen year old beauty. The young actress recently starred as Lilli in "Return to the Blue Lagoon."

Jovovich was born in Kiev in the Soviet Union, but her family moved to Southern California when she was five years old. In addition to acting, she already has an international modeling career.

Adult Onset Diabetes Attacking At Earlier Age

Adult onset diabetes is attacking Hispanics at an earlier age and more often than other ethnic groups. "Adult onset diabetes typically strikes people who are in their 30's, 40's or 50's," said Dr. Carlos Vallbona, chairman of community medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "But, among Hispanics the disorder appears more frequently among people starting in their 30's." Vallbona suggests that Hispanics past age 35 be tested for diabetes, since complications and even deaths caused by the disease can be prevented through early detection. Diabetes occurs in adult Hispanics at a rate two to three times greater than that of whites. Overall, thirteen percent of adult Hispanics are estimated to have diabetes, many of them undiagnosed. "There are several risk factors associated with diabetes," Vallbona said. "Studies conducted in South Texas, where the Mexican-American population draws much of its genetic make-up from native American genes, show rates for diabetes to be even greater than in other Hispanic groups. "We do not know exactly what the genetic link is that makes Mexican-Americans more susceptible than other Hispanics to diabetes. But, Hispanics who know their family heritage includes native American ancestry, should consider themselves at increased risk for diabetes," Vallbona said. "Obesity is another risk factor associated with diabetes. Regular exercise and a low-calorie, low-fat diet can help lower the risk for diabetes by controlling weight," Vallbona said. Even those who have tested negatively for diabetes should learn the symptoms of diabetes should they appear later in life. They include an insatiable thirst, voracious appetite, frequent urination, unexplained weight loss, feelings of weakness, mood swings and a prickly feeling in the ball of the feet and toes. Diabetes is caused by improper levels of glucose (the body's main fuel) in the blood. When glucose levels are too high over a long period of time, the result can be blindness, heart and kidney failure, high blood pressure and painful inflammation of nerves.

Doing Something About Layoffs

From CYNERGETICS
If you're located in a small town, you may have the ultimate hook for the big city unemployed. Many people are now rethinking their lives and looking to retrain from the fast pace of the 1980's. Retain a retired person. Retired professionals can be an excellent resource for the budget-conscious small business operator. They can bring you years of seasoned expertise and many are willing to work on a volunteer basis. If your requirements are part-time, they'll gladly accommodate you. Plus, they're less likely to expect career advancement. Retain a college intern. College students can bring state-of-the-art thinking into your company at affordable salaries. They offer flexibility, energy and fresh viewpoints, but they do lack seasoning. Some colleges offer structured programs where the intern receives behind-the-scenes counseling from seasoned professors. Since these programs are considered part of the curriculum, employers generally don't pay any wages or fees. Contact your local school or college about setting up such a program. Cynergetics is the publisher of over a dozen books on small business including, "No-Cash Ways of Growing Your Business," from which the answer to this week's question was adapted. Readers are invited to send their questions and story ideas. Write to: Cynergetics, 1308 Broad Street, San Luis Obispo, CA 93401 or fax: 1-805-489-1633.

The Making Of A Missionary

By Richard Kurklin
After going to Belize last June, I felt that the Lord wanted me to make another trip to the English speaking Central American country this winter, and that it was very important that I go. And since the Lord does not call without providing a way, the needed money for airfare and expenses was given to me by Christian brothers and sisters.

One of my objectives was to get acquainted with or become familiar with this third world country of about 180 thousand people. This objective was accomplished as I traveled to every town in the country, except one in the northernmost district of the independent nation. I got to know the Southern Baptist missionaries in the country and became friends with those whom I worked. I also became friends with a number of national pastors and church leaders. I now feel completely at home in the country rather than like a foreigner. And I have learned to love the people

This knowledge of the country, its people, and its needs should also enable me to be able to lead teams of volunteer missionaries into the country for short trips. The Christians of Belize need the help of such teams as churches are established and buildings are built. The nationals are often poor and lacking in skills, but work hard when given some guidance and help.

As I prepared to leave Tyler with a medical team that included 3 doctors and an evangelist, the flu struck. Fourteen of us arrived at our destination of Big Falls, a village near Punta Gorda in the southernmost part of the country, with only one doctor and no preacher. I started to get suspicious about what God had in mind. I also had a problem with my return ticket that left a question about my ability to return, but the Lord took care of it while I was in Belize. All I had to do was to trust Him.

After traveling for hundreds of miles in badly worn school type buses over some of the muddiest and roughest one lane roads in the world, we ended up staying in a house on top of a hill. It was awesomely beautiful as we looked out over the jungle and at the mountains in the distance. But since the neighbors had been using the house for a chicken house, it was not clean and the floors were hard to sleep on. An American family living in Belize helped us prepare meals, often from native plants.

A medical clinic we operated treated more than 180 sick people. Some of the people only spoke Indian languages or Spanish, but we managed to find translators and the doctor, a young lady, also spoke Spanish. The people could not afford the expense required to travel to a hospital, and some were very serious cases.

We divided up and held two Vacation Bible Schools at the same time with more than 75 children in each. One was in the Community Center and one was in the Nazarene Church. The Baptist Church there is quite small.

But we had services each night in the Baptist church, and guess who started preaching? Candles were used for light at the night services and I used a flashlight to read my small bible. The people like to sing but rarely have a musical instrument.

Finishing the project at Big Falls, we went to Punta Gorda for New Year's Day. Taking a long boat ride to Snake Key, a small jungle island with a beach, we went swimming. We waded around the island looking for sea shells and found a large quantity of cocaine, which we destroyed. We stayed in a hotel before taking the long bus ride back north.

Finding something to eat and drink was a problem since everything closes on holidays and Sundays. A preacher from Louisiana was holding revival services at the Baptist church in Punta Gorda.

I left the team at Belmopan as they returned to Texas. I did not know what to expect, but I knew that I was doing what God wanted me to do. Cliff Scarbrough and Otis Brady are the two ranking missionaries who direct the Baptist work in Belize. I hadn't met Cliff but I had talked with him on the telephone, and I knew the way to his house. Cliff and Bettie, his wife, welcomed and fed me. We soon became acquainted and "hit it off well" together. Cliff explained that they were to start building a retreat center or church camp, and that my contribution to the effort was needed.

We cleared jungle with machetes on five acres of land near the village of Camelote. It rained almost daily and the mud is extremely sticky. Though cool at night, it gets warm and humid in the day. Fast breathing is the only way to cool down as sweating does no good. And there were rocks and boulders to be moved as we horse-shoed a road through the property. We had a small tractor with a plow and blade. The rocks had to be moved and the road graded so that the rain-water would drain off. I was amazed that such rocky ground could grow so much jungle.

I was provided a rent house and a travel trailer to live in. Vehicles are very expensive and difficult to maintain in Belize and transportation is often a problem. But deciding that they could trust me and depend on me, I was provided a pickup to drive. I would carry national preachers to churches on Sunday to preach. I would encourage them and often teach the Sunday School lesson at the church.

One Friday I packed a duffle bag back pack and caught a bus back down south to the Indian villages. We had worked with the Indians in June and we learned to love them, especially the children, who nicknamed me Gringo. I wondered how I would be accepted this time and if the children would remember me. I was prepared for the worst. But I couldn't have been accepted any better.

The people invited me into their homes, called me "brother" and insisted that I eat with them. The children were not around when I walked into the small village store. One of the girls walked in and seeing me shouted "Gringo" and ran to hug me. The other children reacted the same way. The boys wanted me to be with them and the girls had to hug me, there were comments from the men about how much the children love me, and it became evident to all.

British soldiers help defend the small country and some were camped nearby. They seemed to wonder why the children love and trust me so much. I told them that I was a Baptist missionary. And anytime the girls got a little scared, they would run to me.

The Indians shared with me about their culture and prospects for the future. The government has plans to eventually extend electric lines to even the jungle villages. Children were already watching cartoons on a small battery powered television set. The Indians were getting deeds to their land and learning to farm, and the T.V. will soon erode their culture. The Christian boys in the village shared with me one night, and I was proud of the boys who were saved during our June visit to the village. They were being Christian examples to others in the area.

Living in dirt floored, thatched roofed homes made of poles, the Indians eat animals killed in the jungle along with beans, rice and corn. And there is always fresh fruit. Pigs and chickens are also kept.

I felt honored to get to preach both the morning and evening services at the village church. But all too soon it was time for me to return to Belmopan. And I couldn't hold back the tears as I had to say "bye" to the children and catch a bus.

Back at the retreat center, we built the first structure and it was named in my honor. It was the Richard Kurklin Memorial Outhouse, and it had Mahogany rafters. It was also quite essential. As you can see, we were having fun. A house for a caretaker is now under construction and a small hotel building will be next. It can house mission teams from the United States, and a camp staff during camp sessions. A kitchen/dinning hall, worship shelter, and two dorms for the children or young people will be added as money and labor are donated.

I went to the airport to meet another mission team which was arriving. I was to work with them during my last week in Belize, and return to Tyler, Texas with them. We went back down south to a beautiful fruit growing mountain valley on the Hummingbird Highway. With a single team of four men and two women, our task seemed impossible. The framework of the village's combination church, school, and storm shelter had been eaten up by termites and the roof was in danger of falling in. The church members had purchased lumber, but they just did not have the skills to make the repairs. We had four days to get the job done while the women attended to villagers who needed medical care. One of the church ladies cooked for us and we slept in the homes of villagers. After working each day, we would bathe in the creek, then conduct nightly revival services. We often walked for miles between the church and homes, sometimes accompanied by children. And we quickly became friends with the people. With the help of God and an "Aggie" engineer, we were able to jack up the roof intact, then replace the rafters and framework under it. We not only repaired the building, but made it much stronger. And it only took three and one half days. We also had fun teasing with our "Aggie", who was a good sport and encouraged the fun. We were able to visit the area's town that last afternoon before returning north to Belize City.

A mattress and some bedding were given to the Christian mother of eighteen children. Their un-Christian father had abandoned them, taking everything with him. They had only boards to sleep on and their income from washing clothes would barely buy food. Bedding is expensive there but the lady wanted to wash our clothes for free. We had a better idea, and they hugged us with tears in their eyes.

As we waited for the bus, a crowd of villagers gathered, and they all hugged us before we left. We had saved their church, and we had come to love each other.

We attended church services and ate in Belize City and took a shopping trip to the resort town of San Pedro. Spending the last night in a hotel, we flew back to Texas.

Now that God has trained me, I wonder how soon I will return to Belize and if I will be able to take a volunteer mission team from this area. I feel that I am to get a job for now and wait for God to work out the future. The missionaries say that they would like for me to work with them full time in Belize, but living there is expensive and no support money is available. They also say that it would be better if I were married.

I feel that God eventually wants me to work full time in Belize. That seems like an impossibility at the present, but if that is God's will, He will make a way. He continues to answer prayers, work miracles, and He enables me to do what He asks of me. I have seen Him do so many wonderful things, and since He loves us, He will do even more. There is nothing more fun than serving Jesus Christ, and I can hardly wait to see what He will do next. And since I am a Christian, I have Christian brothers and sisters among the various countries and races of people, and we share the love of Jesus.

A DRUNK CAUSED IT AND A SEATBELT SAVED A LIFE - The photo shows what was left of a pickup driven by Robert Steed after being hit at 70 mph by two men near Abilene last Friday night at approximately 10:30 p.m. Robert said that he was traveling North on 83-84 about one mile from Humana Hospital when the speeding vehicle driven by a man slammed into the passenger side of his small pickup causing him to roll 3 times before landing in the median approximately 50 yards away. The driver never hit his brakes, a witness said. Robert had to be evacuated from the vehicle by Fire & Rescue and was transported to Humana where he was treated and released. The other men were unharmed and the driver was taken into custody by Abilene Police. Robert said that he hoped young people would learn a few lessons from his crash. Robert said "You don't realize the violence of an accident like that. I am confident that my funeral service would be today if I hadn't been wearing my seat belt and except for the grace of God." Robert also noted that there is no excuse for drinking and driving. "Those two men will have this on their records and consciences for the rest of their lives. They could have had to deal with causing a wife and 3 small children to lose their husband and father," Robert said.

A NEW BEGINNING FOR TEXAS

There is a book—Each Day a New Beginning—I try to look at every morning.

It's one of those little books that offers an inspirational message for each day of the year—some words of encouragement that help me face the new day.

I thought of that title last month when we celebrated one year in office and paused to look back at some of our accomplishments of the first year. And there was much to be proud of in 1991.

We were able to:
* Pass legislation—and receive voter approval for—to authorize the biggest prison construction program in Texas history, a $1.1 billion bond issue to finance 25,300 new prison cells.

* Pass a revolutionary insurance reform bill that is stabilizing insurance rates. We have brought Jones, Amy McCullough, Jessica Pannell, Timothy Rosson, Allison Schooling, Jason Stewart and Becky Romero.

GRADE 6

Misty Blankenship, Heidee Cottle, Jason Hooks, Jeremy Jackson, Shayla Riehle, Brad Robinson, Andrea Schooling, Lindsay Sullivent, J.D. Wilson, Chrystian Yarbrough, Rickey Zarate, Amanda Evans, Rodger Boner, Nick Burke, Heather C de Baca, Greg Johnson, David McClain, Hamid Mori, Kellie Odom, Evon Reyna, Monica Reyna, Kelly Richards, JoLynn Stagner, Troy Taylor and Amanda Walden.

But, in recalling this year, I do not want to forget that it is only a beginning.

sound management to the State Board of Insurance through the appointment of two consumer-oriented commissioners.

* Streamline state government, consolidating 23 state agencies and trimming almost $10 billion in agency budget requests.

* Appoint a dynamic education commissioner who is cutting through Texas Education Agency red tape and is putting resources back into schools, teachers and children.

* Convert the Texas Department of Commerce into an effective economic development tool, bringing over 8,000 new jobs to Texas and leading our fight for a solid North American Free Trade agreement.

* Sign a historic package of six environmental bills that place restrictions on hazardous waste disposal sites, encourages recycling and water conservation, creates a statewide conservation plan and sets new standards for water quality and help bring water and sewage facilities to residents of Texas "colonias" along the border.

* Establish an Ombudsman's Office to investigate consumer complaints—successfully leading the effort to reform nursing home care in Texas.

But, in recalling this year, I do not want to forget that it is only a beginning.

I truly believe that we were able to lay into place the beginning of changes for the better. It has not been easy. In fact, it has been the most challenging aspect of this job.

But we have brought a sense of urgency and direction to state government that no administration has been able to do for the past 30 years. Day by day we are moving forward in our efforts to make government accountable, accessible, efficient and inclusive.

We are going to make government accountable to the people.

We will streamline government. Come hell or high water, we are going to move this state forward.

It's only been a year, and I feel like we've stitched the pieces, but it isn't a quilt yet. We're getting there though, and that's what gives me hope.

I got word last month from a retired telephone installer in Fort Worth who said he wasn't so sure how he felt about me before I was elected.

But what he knew now was that they were treating his brother-in-law better in the nursing home since we started raising cain about nursing homes. And he thought we might be doing some good after all.

We have received more than 300,000 letters in my first year in office, but this report from Fort Worth is what we're all about—making Texas a better place to live.

Each day is a new beginning, but as long as we keep in sight our goal of building on that foundation, we can change Texas for the better.
