

... Son of a gun ...

We were a little confused during the flurry of storms in Texas two weeks ago as to the exact difference between a cyclone and a tornado. So we dug around a little and came up with a few helpful facts.

On the whole, cyclones are larger in area, move slower and are less destructive than are tornadoes. Cyclones are nonetheless violent storms, but range from 100 to 1,000 miles in diameter. In cyclones high winds rotate somewhat spirally about a calm central area having an atmospheric pressure much lower than that of the adjoining areas. This central area of low pressure (below 30 inches) moves onward, often with a speed of 20 to 30 miles per hour, surrounded by a system of cool winds, which blow inward, and around it, from areas of high barometer, called anticyclones, with a pressure of upwards of 30 inches. Cyclonic storms are attended by rising temperature, moist air, abundant rain, and a cloudy sky.

The general term "cyclone" includes the hurricane, typhoon, baguio, and other severe tropical storms. The name, however, should not be applied to tornadoes, waterspouts, whirlwinds or "twisters," in which the vertical motion of the storm is far more significant than the horizontal.

Tornadoes, on the other hand, are the most violent and destructive of all local storms, and are often incorrectly called cyclones.

Tornadoes most commonly form in connection with thunderstorms, usually on warm, sultry afternoons when there is great humidity. Like the little dust whirls seen in summer, the funnel-shaped cloud which makes up a tornado revolves about its center at tremendous speed while moving forward at 30 miles or more per hour.

Nearly all tornadoes travel from the southwest to the northeast, moving in a narrow path, usually from 100 to 300 yards wide, with an average length of 20 to 30 miles. The progress of the whirling funnel-cloud is often very irregular. Sometimes it appears alternately to rise and descend with a sort of bounding motion, leaving parts of its path unscathed while other portions are marked by utter and complete ruin. A tornado may be regarded as a greatly concentrated cyclone or as a much intensified whirlwind. The speed of the whirling winds in the center of a tornado are about equal to or in excess of the speed of a rifle bullet.

Air pressures in the center of a tornado are often a fourth less than normal. It is this pressure coupled with enormous velocity which accounts for the destructive power of the storm.

The normal pressure of the air at sea level is 14.7 pounds per square inch, or more than 2,100 pounds per square foot. When this is reduced by one-fourth, or to 11 pounds per square inch, as estimated for the center of a tornado, the pressure is only 1,584 pounds per square foot. Consequently, when a strong tornado passes a closed building, the pressure of the outside air is suddenly reduced and the inside air thrusts itself against the walls with force equal to the difference in pressure. As this difference exceeds 500 pounds per square foot, or more than two tons per square yard, the walls, unless unusually strong, will collapse outward toward the storm as if the building had exploded.

During winter and early spring tornadoes occur most frequently in the Gulf and South Atlantic states. In June they switch to the Mississippi Valley, and in July and August they occur mostly in the Middle Atlantic states and New England. They seldom occur west of a line from Texas to North Dakota.

The Plateau Shrine Club sent $50 to the Lakeview relief fund and the Lions Club sent $100. Several Sonora citizens and business firms have sent in checks. Anyone who wishes to donate to this cause may leave his check at the First National Bank.

Pvt. Delmon R. (Debbo) West has arrived overseas and is stationed at Karlsruhe, Germany. He is serving with an anti-aircraft unit in the army.

Davis Rambouillets Show Best Daily Gain In 5th Progeny Test

A group of Rambouillet rams owned by W. L. (Tom) Davis and two groups owned by the station made the best daily gain during the fifth ram progeny test, it was disclosed at the field day held last Saturday at the Ranch Experiment Station. The rams gained .52 pounds daily over the test period.

The best clean fleece weight was obtained on a group of Corriedales owned by H. C. Noelke of Sheffield, 100 pounds on a 365-day basis.

The cheapest gain was made by a group of station rams which required 746 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain.

Dr. D. A. Price reported that experiments to use hormones in an effort to produce early fall lambs were disappointing. The station selected 64 ewes last June and divided them into two groups. One group was treated with a new hormone introduced last year, while the other group was untreated. After a 45-day breeding period, only 12½ percent of the treated ewes had conceived, as compared to 54¼ percent of the untreated ewes. Dr. Price said his conclusion was that the drug and other hormone preparations of which he has any knowledge, will not produce a controlled breeding in sheep. The hormones affect very complex organisms, including a part of the brain. However, the only real damage noted was a long delay in normal breeding.

James M. Shelton of Texas A. & M. College reported that high summer temperatures can affect the fertility of rams. Shelton said his experiments proved that for fall lambs the sheepman should breed his sheep in June before the excessive heat of July and August. He said it takes fully six weeks for a ram to recover fully from sterility caused by heat or sickness.

The field day marked the end of the fifth annual ram progeny test in which 109 rams participated. About 125 people attended the program.

67 Entries Received For Wool Show

The Sixteenth Annual Sonora Wool and Mohair Show sponsored by the Sonora Lions Club will be held July 1 and 2, 1953. The show which features the showing of wool and mohair for both adult and junior exhibitors also features the largest junior wool and mohair judging contest in the state. Juniors also judge sheep, goats and range plants and the ambition of each contestant in the junior judging contest is to win the overall high individual award which goes to the boy making the highest total score on all divisions of the judging contest.

At this time there are about sixty individual fleece entries and seven bags of wool in the Sonora Wool & Mohair Company warehouse which indicates there will be plenty of competition in spite of adverse weather conditions. Single fleece entries of wool should exceed all past records if a large percent of the club boys who exhibited breeding sheep this year bring their fleeces to the Sonora Show.

A special effort is being made to encourage more adult participation in the wool show this year because it is felt that much of the educational value of the show is lost because more adults do not attend and take part in the show.

An Adult Wool School is being planned for the second day of the wool show with the judges and other experts taking part on the program.

This year the show plans to conduct an adult plant judging contest which will be conducted exactly like the identification part of the junior plant judging contest. The same list will be used for the adult and junior plant judging contest so that fathers can study with their sons for this contest. There will be no team entries in the adult contest and all adults excluding local Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District Supervisors and professional agricultural workers will be eligible to judge. Both adult and junior plant judging contests are being sponsored by the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District which will make special awards to high individuals of both contests.

Special attention is called to one rule change for exhibitors of mohair. Kid fleeces which grade coarser than 32's will be shown in the aged classes. This rule became necessary because too many fleeces from well grown kids were being barred from the show because they were not fine enough to be classified as kid hair.

The Sonora Wool & Mohair Company is putting up two hundred dollars in prize money again for two bag classes of aged ram fleeces. There is a class for eight months wool and twelve months wool. All fleeces must be from aged range rams which have been shorn at least one time prior to this spring shearing. There is no limit on the number of fleeces per bag but bags must be fully packed.

All junior exhibitors who plan to enter wool or mohair in the bag classes must also enter a record book. Other junior exhibitors may enter a record book if they choose.

Awards will be plentiful again this year even though they may not be quite as plentiful as they have been in past years because of the severe drought in this area which has handicapped the sponsors and supporters of the show.

Trophy cups will be awarded in the junior division to the over-all high individual in the judging contest, the exhibitor of the Grand Champion fleece of wool, the exhibitor of the Champion fleece of mohair, the exhibitor of the Champion bag of mohair and the exhibitor of the Champion bag of wool. The high four overall high teams in the judging contest will receive banners with the members of each of the over-all high teams receiving medals. The seven high over-all high individuals will also receive medals. High teams and high individuals in each division of the junior judging contest will receive ribbons. The exhibitor of the Grand Champion bag of wool in the adult division will receive a rotating trophy cup which must be won three times by an exhibitor to become his permanent property.

The most coveted award of all in the junior division is the rotating trophy cup presented by the Sonora National Farm Loan Association for group participation. Banners will also be awarded to the high four 4-H Clubs or F.F.A. Chapter for group participation.

Trophies, banners and medals are being presented by the following firms: Nathan's Jewelers of San Angelo; First National Bank, Sonora; Lamar Fuqua Chevrolet Co., Sonora; Pat Lyles Buick Co., Sonora; and the Sonora National Farm Loan Association.

Catalogues, entry tags, and record books are available and may be obtained by writing Clint Langford, County Agent, Sonora, Texas.

Methodists To Attend Annual Conference

Bishop A. Frank Smith, of Houston, will be presiding over his sixteenth annual session of the Southwest Texas Conference when it meets in Travis Park Methodist Church in San Antonio, May 26 to May 31, having been first assigned to this Conference in 1938. When he opens this session, he will have just returned from an extensive tour of Europe and the Holy Land where he represented the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church.

Bishop A. Frank Smith

Attending from Sonora will be Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith.

During his administration of the work in this section he has seen great advancement in the strength of his Methodist Church. Membership has grown from 62,802 in 1938 to 103,398 in 1953. Church School enrollment has advanced from 41,009 to 67,173. Membership in the W.S.C.S., the official woman's organization of the Church, has increased from 7,852 to 16,880. The number of ministers in the Conference has increased from 245 to 348.

During this fifteen year period of time scores of Churches, educational buildings and parsonages have been erected. The institutions of the Church have been strengthened and Methodism is taking a much larger place in the life of this section.

The Annual Conference is composed of ministers and laymen from 330 Methodist Churches in 78 Southwest Texas counties. Usually there are from 800 to 1,000 in attendance. The attendance this year is expected to be unusually large since the Conference is presenting for speakers such leaders as Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington, D. Plant Judging Contest Added To Wool Show

The Lions Club Sonora Wool and Mohair Show will include an adult plant judging contest this year. The announcement was made this week by Joe M. Vander Stucken, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District, which is sponsoring the contest.

In past years the District has sponsored a plant contest for 4-H and FFA boys. Increased adult interest in plant identification caused the Supervisors to add the adult contest.

Adults participating in the contest will judge plants comparable to those judged by club boys. All entries will be on an individual basis with no team competition. The individual with the highest score will receive a Navajo saddle blanket as first prize.

The Board is also awarding the high individual club boy a Navajo saddle blanket. This prize is in addition to the ribbons formerly received by contestants.

The high wind and dust of several weeks ago did considerable damage to vegetation and soil throughout the District.

Wind erosion, that in former years was not a problem in the District, made its appearance. Droughty cultivated land with loose top soil "blew" severely. It resulted in drifts in fences and barrow pits. There was also evidence of some "blowing" on bare rangeland. New growth of grass, liveoak, shinoak and mesquite was burned by wind and dust. In some areas vegetation took on the appearance of being burned by heavy frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wade had as guests Sunday his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Wade and his sister, Mrs. Roy Boyer, all of Eldorado.

Firemen Attend District Meeting In Rocksprings

A delegation from Sonora Volunteer Fire Department attended the district meeting of the Winter Garden Firemen's Association Sunday in Rocksprings and won a tie for second place in the hose and pumper races. Speakers included Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cherry of Ballinger, John Hankins of Junction, Bill Zorn of Del Rio and Dr. Paul Kimble of Del Rio.

Arthur Lusch Elected To State Soil Board

Arthur Lusch of Boerne was elected to the State Soil Conservation Board at a meeting held here at the Court House May 5. He replaces Horace Fawcett of Del Rio. Lusch has been very active in conservation work for a number of years. He is a past master of the Texas State Grange. He is chairman of the agricultural committee of the National Grange. He is also former chairman of the education committee of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts. Lusch operates a livestock farm near Boerne.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FROM VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Q - I am a disabled World War II veteran, and I'm planning to take vocational training under Public Law 16. Will VA stop my disability compensation payments once I start training and receive subsistence allowances?

A - No. You will continue to receive your compensation payments while you're in training under Public Law 16.

Q - A friend of mine is the widow of a World War II veteran. She has a young daughter. She has been receiving death pension payments from the VA, but she has just been offered a job at a yearly salary above the $2,700 income ceiling allowed by law. I know that her payments must stop, but could VA pay a pension to her daughter?

A - Yes. Pension payments could be made to the daughter alone, as though there were no widow—provided the daughter meets eligibility requirements. The payments should be smaller than they were for mother and daughter together.

Q - I am attending school under the Korean GI Bill. Would I be entitled to a GI home loan at the same time that I'm making use of my educational benefit?

Personal Notes

Cpl. Ralls R. Regeon, stationed at Ft. Bliss, spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. W. K. Regeon, and friends.

Mrs. W. H. Johnson of Junction spent last weekend here with her daughters, Mrs. M. C. Scott and Mrs. C. C. Stroud and their families.

Mrs. Beulah Pfister had as guests Mothers day her son, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pfister, of Fort Stockton and her daughter and

A - Yes. It's possible to make use of both benefits concurrently if you can repay the GI loan.

Q - I'm thinking of converting my National Service Life Insurance term policy to a permanent plan of endowment insurance. At the end of the endowment period, how may I receive the money?

A - You may receive the proceeds either in a lump sum or in equal monthly installments over a specified period of time. Should you die before you've received all the monthly payments, any unpaid installments would go to your beneficiaries.

The combined bands played during the morning and a music clinic followed. The Band was also entertained by the two Goodfellow Field dance bands.

The day was climaxed by a tour of the base. Several students were allowed to fly the link trainer.

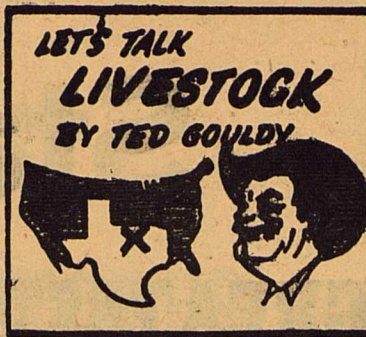

A very profitable trip says W. D. Bradley, Jr., band director. Students became acquainted with music literature which otherwise would have been impossible.

Fort Worth—Sam Harris of Georgetown, (Williamson County) Texas, told us a tale about a string of steers he sold on the Fort Worth market last week that gives about as graphic an account of the cattle price slide as you'll ever hear.

Harris, a veteran livestock man, reported that about two years ago he bought about a hundred steer yearlings at $41 per hundred. He wintered and caked them and was bid $38 the following Spring.

This offer he turned down but later he did sell the cattle at $34. However, this was not the end of the story by a long shot. Harris later bought the cattle back—at $22 per hundred. Then this week he sold on the Fort Worth market the 104 steers at $21.50 with 24 head at $19.

Said he might just buy some of 'em back, just to see what would happen.

When a big run of livestock appears on a market the tension is something very tangible as buyers and salesmen spar around waiting for the first sales to set the market in motion. When the largest run of the year showed up in the sheep yards Monday, May 4, it was tense for this was also the biggest run locally since 1950.

Harry Butz, head sheep buyer for Swift & Co., got on the White Ranches lambs from McCulloch County, a big string of over 2,000 fancy clipped lambs and in short order bought them for $22.75, a new high for the current crop. As word spread over the yards the effect was similar to the breaking of a log jam—buyers from Nebraska and Iowa as well as other order buyers were active—and with a big slice of the cream of the day's crop in Swift's hands, the other interests "got in" fast.

Thus it was that despite the big run the sheep were sold, weighed and on their way in about the same amount of time it takes to handle one-third that many. The White lambs each Spring are a highlight of the season's marketing at Fort Worth and a good barometer of how Texas lambs from the McCulloch County section have wintered and will sell.

Ten rail-car loads of big horned South Texas steers from near Crystal City arrived at Fort Worth late last week and averaged over 1,200 lbs. They sold at $17.25 and were shipped in by Ferguson Bros.

Today this is a newsworthy thing—ten cars arriving on the market from down in South Texas and all from one owner. But years ago, whole train loads of South Texas cattle were not uncommon sights on the yards here, all of them with one mark and one brand. Today about 95 per cent of the salable cattle come in by truck, and in the early days on the market, 99 per cent and more were by rail. Times have changed and in the process the stockyards has had its face lifted and a complete rearrangement of the flow of livestock has been completed.

Johnny Ross of San Antonio is here to spend the summer with his sister, Mrs. Bob Teaff.

FRIENDLINESS By W. H. Marshall

Friends made in prosperity may not endure through adversity. It is safe to say that very few men ever made a profit out of being disagreeable. Every man who keeps his friends tells less than he knows. He rightly lives who believes all men are his friends until proven guilty. If you think your purse is your best friend, try taking it to the cemetery with you. I want to know the people whose friendship does not wear thin. The world is full of friends for the man who has learned the art of being agreeable. One good friend is worth ten thousand passing acquaintances. A friendly man walks always along a path of roses. Being friendly is an art you learn if you are teachable and honest friendship. Lee Roy Valliant, who is attending the University of Texas, spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Valliant, and sister, Martha Jean. Lee Roy will take his physical for induction into the armed services Wednesday in San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clendennan of Carlsbad, New Mexico, were guests of his sister, Mrs. Ford Allen, and family Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Luckie were in Eunice, New Mexico, last week visiting their sons, Vernon Luckie and R. C. Luckie, and their families. A friendly man is a rich man. The unfriendly man is a poor man. Assuming too much privilege will wreck the best friendship. He is my friend who does allow one blunder to outweigh a lifetime of honest friendship.

Now you get more for your Bond money!

New law says -

U.S. Series E Bonds can earn interest 10 years longer-at 3%

If you invested in U. S. Series E Bonds ten years ago and have held them ever since you'll profit by this new law NOW! For those same Bonds, which you expected to mature finally in 1953 can now earn 3% interest every year for ten more years—till 1963—without your even lifting a finger!

The new extended earning period applies to any Series E Bond—those you already own or those you invest in from now on. What's more, every Series E Bond you get now begins earning interest sooner, and at a higher rate. It matures earlier and averages 3%, compounded semiannually, when held to maturity.

If you wish, you may still cash any Series E Bond at any time after you've owned it for two months. But you'll be wiser to hold your Bonds. Cash in the pocket melts away, too often with nothing to show for it. But cash in Bond savings is always there. And if your Bonds should be accidentally lost or destroyed they will be replaced, at full value, with no cost to you.

So if you are not already one of the millions of wise Americans who are investing in a secure future, why not start now? Invest in Savings Bonds today regularly through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Thousands say it's the one sure way to save—because it saves something out of every check before you have a chance to spend it.

If you want to be paid your interest as current income—invest in 3% Series H

If you want a good, sound investment which pays you your interest by check every six months, ask at your bank about United States Government Series H Bonds. Series H is a new current income Bond available in denominations of $500 to $10,000. Redeemable at par after 6 months and on 30 days' notice. Matures in 9 years and 8 months and pays an average 3% interest per annum if held to maturity. Interest paid semi-annually by Treasury check. Series H may be purchased at any bank, annual limit $20,000.

Now even better! Invest more in Savings Bonds!
