Broom Sale Termed Success

Members of Sonora's Downtown and Westside Lions Clubs conducted one of their most successful broom sales Tuesday afternoon. Approximately 50 Lions took two to three hours off from their work day and sold $1720.00 worth of blind-made articles to Sonora residents in comparison to $1647.30 in 1969 and $1475.00 in 1968.

The city was divided into seven zones and teams of Lions made house-to-house calls armed with loads of brooms, mops, brushes, and other blind-made items. Supply stations at the Post Office and First National Bank made good sales to ranchmen and working housewives.

Most popular items sold included house brooms ($323), warehouse brooms ($271), dish cloths ($118) and house mops ($131).

Cullen Luttrell, vice president of the Downtown Lions Club, was general chairman of the sale. Luttrell expressed appreciation for the fine cooperation of Sonora citizens and Lion members. "With the fine turnout of Lion salesmen we were able to conduct the house-to-house portion of the sale in approximately two hours", he said. Many Lions were greeted by housewives who said "I've been waiting for your sale to buy my brooms and mops." Sight conservation is a primary objective of Lions Clubs throughout the world. Lion sponsorship of "Caravan for the Blind Sales" constitutes the most important outlet of blind-made products.

Lions Queen Contestant Chosen

Les Whitehead was chosen to represent the Downtown Lions Club in the district queen contest and Ana Marie Fernandez was named first alternate when the club met at noon Tuesday. Doyle Morgan, past president of the club, introduced the girls, both seniors at Sonora High School.

Miss Fernandez performed a dance and Miss Whitehead gave an Easter reading for the club. Morgan also announced the recommendations of the nominating committee for club officers during the coming year. They are Cullen Luttrell, president; Leo Merrill, first vice

Amistad Report

Cold and rainy days with gusty winds have kept boats off Lake Amistad for several days; however, last Saturday which dawned clear saw droves of fishermen flocking to the lake. The Del Rio News-Herald reported that fishermen were displaying nice strings of white bass at the Rough Canyon portion of the lake.

Temperatures have been too cold for the largemouth black bass to move into the shallow waters. Anxious anglers await the day loaded with surface lures for the heavy fish harvest. Amistad elevation Saturday morning was 1066.35. Depth of water at the dam, was 166.35 feet. Water storage amounted to 1,172,323 acre feet. Water surface measured 28,341 acres, and downstream release was 387 second feet.

DR. HOWELL RETURNS HOME

Dr. J. F. Howell suffered a sudden illness Sunday and was taken to a San Angelo hospital. The illness was later diagnosed as the flu virus, and he was able to leave the hospital and return here Tuesday.

The sale grossed $1,720 compared to 1969's $1,647, 1968's $1,475, and 1967's $1,670. The San Angelo Standard Times reported Big Lake's broom sale grossed slightly over $200, which was about the net earnings of each Sonora club.

Taliaferro Rites Held Monday

Mrs. William (Ella Mae) Taliaferro, 80, died Sunday, March 22, 1970, at the Colonial Nursing Home in San Angelo. She was born May 22, 1889, in Roswell, New Mexico. She and the late Mr. Taliaferro, who died in 1968, moved to Sutton County in 1918.

Services were held at the First Baptist Church March 23, at 3 p.m. with the Rev. Clifton Hancock officiating.

Survivors include two sons, Clayton Taliaferro of Uvalde and Charlie Taliaferro; a daughter, Mrs. Tom Guest of Comstock; four brothers, ten grandchildren, fourteen great-grandchildren and eight great-great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Melvin Hearn, Jim Hugh Richardson, Jack Hearn, Bob Wilson, V. J. Glasscock and Joe Hull. Burial was in Sonora Cemetery under the direction of Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

Churches Set Easter Worship Services

During this Holy Week of worship, Sonorans have the opportunity of observing some of the week-day worship services at the various churches. A number of special services are being held in observance of this period which is a highlight of the Christian world.

James Pollard accompanied by Mrs. Pollard will sing Stainers "God So Loved This World" with Mrs. J. D. Cook at the organ. At this time there will be a reception of members who have been in the church membership class.

Easter morning services are scheduled for 11 a.m. and the sermon subject is "He Rose Again From the Dead". Mrs. Homer Akers, soloist, will sing "The Holy City" accompanied by Mrs. Lea Allison, organist.

The Rev. Mr. Akers said a nursery attendant would be at both the Thursday night service and Sunday morning service.

Locally in this area, two unique observances of Easter are planned for Easter Eve, March 28. Both the Fredericksburg "Easter Fires" and the pageant at Junction, have long been area attractions.

Beginning at 10 p.m., the Junction Easter pageant relates the story of the last week of Christ on earth. The pageant is held in a natural amphitheatre below the ever-burning cross at Lovers Leap mountain.

The Easter fires burn for the 124th time this year at the pageant at Fredericksburg. The pageant combines the fables of the Easter Bunny with the deeply religious motifs of Easter.

PRE-SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL TECHNIQUES aimed at stimulating the learning of under-privileged children was the subject of an A&M University class held here Saturday. Dr. David David of College Station, conducted the concluding class at the 4-H Center in Sonora, to satisfy university requirements that instruction be given only on university-approved "campus sites." Students shown here learning about Mexican culture and art are listening to Mexican songs. The guitarist on the left, also an accomplished artist, sculptured the eagle which sits atop Amistad dam.

Change In Income Tax Forms More Confusing Than Ever

By the Internal Revenue Service's own testimony, the vast majority of U. S. federal income taxpayers are decent, honest folk who do their best each spring to turn in a true account of their earnings and dividends, their exemptions and deductions and everything else that goes into Form 1040 and its various supplements.

In a word, the American public, by and large would like to put it on the line for Uncle Sam. But the cry is going up across the length and breadth of the land: A long-suffering public can't find the proper line.

As reported in U. S. News & World Report the other day, "Millions of taxpayers are running into trouble with this year's new tax forms. Early filings reveal many people cannot understand the instructions. Tax advisers are enjoying booming business. Fears grow that a crisis may come as the April 15 reporting deadline nears."

Now why should this be the case when the IRS repeatedly assures the taxpaying public that its intention is to make the form new and simpler, easier to follow, a thing of beauty and a joy forever?

Well, one reason might be that, for all its good intentions, IRS has gone the way of all bureaucrats: It has designed a mechanism (in this case Form 1040 and accompanying impendments) that looks good in theory but doesn't work out so well in practice.

One is led to wonder whether IRS in creating something new and "simpler" really had the patient public in the forefront of its thinking—or instead kept casting its eye over toward its own bookkeeping procedures, its computers, its experts who are on easy speaking terms with exclusions and adjustments through 15c.

As one tax consultant observed: "The methodology (of the current Form 1040) is very complicated. The form is designed by technical people for technical people, certainly not for the average taxpayer to use."

The point is that designing a new form and announcing it as an improvement doesn't necessarily make it so.

One of the troubles is that Form 1040 has been revised in some manner or other in eight of the last 10 years. Without doubt these changes have been made with a purpose in mind; we do not suggest the IRS is fiddling around just to make the taxpayer bum.

But bum he seems to be in the process of doing. And part of his slow bum might be quenching if just once he were assured that this year's "simplifications" would not inevitably be followed by another round of the same, one year hence.

Old Henry Ford designed and built a simple automobile. He painted it black. Then he climbed in and drove it around himself, and found it good. He had to change it eventually, but not before a grateful public bestowed upon it a full measure of devotion.

What we need now is something more like a T-Model tax form—engineered for the ordinary fellow and kept in production long enough for him to get the feel of the thing.

Ben Barnes To Conduct Tour

Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes has announced that he will conduct a tour of the state's facilities for the treatment and rehabilitation of drug users on the 26th and 27th of this month.

The Lieutenant Governor is inviting members of the Capitol Press, members of the statewide press, representatives of parent and educational groups, and law enforcement agencies, and the heads of those state agencies dealing with the drug problem to accompany him on the tour.

Barnes said that the tour will visit the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences at Houston, the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, the Department of Corrections facilities at Huntsville, Timber lawn Sanitarium at Dallas, Clinical Research Center at Fort Worth, and Terrell State Hospital at Terrell.

Barnes expressed the hope that this tour would "provide an awareness of what is available in the area of drug treatment and rehabilitation and guide the state in filling in the gaps so that those who need help can receive it."

By O. C. Fisher

The Administration's new welfare plan will be debated in the House soon — probably before the Easter recess. While it will likely be approved, I plan to vote against it.

The new scheme would more than double the 10.1 million now on relief rolls, and would add, initially, some $5-billion per year to welfare costs — which now exceeds $20-billion, not counting private charity.

The chief innovation is a $2400 per year guaranteed annual income for all families of four — whether they work or not. This figure includes $800 in food stamps.

Sponsors theorize that somehow the plan would create an incentive for low-income people to work harder, make more money, and rise above the $2400 "subsistence" level. But experience with both the Kennedy and LBJ welfare programs has proven it simply doesn't work that way. It has been demonstrated that welfare begets welfare and, after a taste of it, people tend to become beholden to welfare as a way of life.

The Devil's River Philosopher sez . . .

Philosopher Wants Joiners In A Get-Rich-Quick Scheme

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on bitterweed ranch on Dry Devil's River has an idea this week we probably better pass up.

Dear editor:

A neighbor of mine came by yesterday and said he wanted to take me to town to meet a man who has invented something we both could make some money out of, and since I was out of newspapers at the time I agreed to go.

"But first," he said, "you'd better change shirts."

"What's the matter, what's wrong with this one?" I asked.

"It's got mud and grease all over it."

"So what? Don't you know the Supreme Court has ruled that if a shirt has redeeming social significance it doesn't make any difference if it's dirty?"

But since he insisted this was an important meeting and since there weren't any college kids around to picket me for yielding to the pressures of the establishment, I changed shirts and went with him. I left my socks like they were. A man ought to retain some shred of inner freedom in a world beset with grinding conformity.

You know what, he's on to something big. This man whose name I can't mention until we get his secret patented has invented a brand new remedy and all we need now to clean up is to find a brand new illness it'll cure.

If you'd like to be cut in on it, all you have to do is use your influence if you remember where you left it to get Congress to appropriate some money for some scientific research.

Out there somewhere there's bound to be some undiscovered illness just waiting to be cured by this new remedy, and there are very few television programs that'd be hurt much by adding one more commercial to promote the stuff.

Personally I think it's a great idea. Science has been dragging its feet too long, uncovering new diseases nobody ever heard of before and then spending endless hours trying to find a remedy for them, when the way to do it is to invent the remedy and then go out and find the disease.

I know some people are going to say, aw, you're getting the cart before the horse, but they probably never heard of a car with the engine in the rear or a great man who stood behind a woman.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Moreover, we have also learned that welfare schemes are often saturated with politics. A guaranteed income, once on the books with approval of the concept, lends itself to demagoguery and vote-baiting. Signs of that are already in the works. President Nixon had hardly taken the wraps off his Plan when Senator Fred Harris, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, offered a bill to up the minimum to $3800. Then came the radical ADA, calling for $5500. Now, in the distance we can hear the soothing call: "Who'll make it $6000? And who'll make it 7."

In any event, adoption of the income guarantee concept pushed the USA closer to the status of the total welfare state.

And — what about the taxpayers? And, also, what about the inflation caused by excessive federal spending?

All right-thinking people want to help the unfortunate who cannot help themselves. But welfare programs have a way of getting out-of-hand.

Twentieth Annual Easter Pageant To Be March 28

Twentieth Annual Easter Pageant in the natural amphitheatre below the everburning cross on Lover's Leap southeast of downtown Junction will be presented Easter Eve, Saturday, March 28. Starting at 10 p.m., the story of the last week in the life of Christ on earth will conclude shortly after midnight with the climactic scenes of the resurrection and ascension on Easter morning.

More than 100 amateur performers, most of them experienced in their roles, will pantomime the story in 13 acts on 14 stages of varying levels, supported by changing lights, script readers and background music.

Twenty-one actors presented the first pageant on three stages the year the pageant and its sponsor, the Men's Bible Class, were organized.

Mrs. Hamp Johnston is director, the third in the history of the pageant, which draws spectators from over the nation and other countries. She and all other participants are volunteers. LaRue Newby, a charter member of the class, is general chairman.

Thousands of spectators will watch from their cars which will be parked in the valley under direction of Boy Scouts. Free programs will be distributed. No admission is charged.

Free coffee is served from the truckwagon of the late Ranger Captain Gully Cowsett, starting at 9 p.m. Sandwiches and soft drinks will be available at a concession stand operated by a service club. Many spectators arrive in time for picnic supper in the parking area or along Cedar Creek in the Hill Country Fairgrounds.

The public is cordially invited.

Miss Wool & Mohair Deadline

April 1 is the date many young women are circling on their calendars, for that is the deadline for entries in the 1970 Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas contest. Contest managers this week urged all interested young Texas women to complete their applications before the deadline. They noted that applications must be postmarked by April 1 to be eligible in this year's contest.

Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas does extensive traveling in the state, appearing as celebrity model in style shows staged by retail stores in the various key areas of Texas.

Though application forms and brochures have previously been sent to Texas colleges and universities, additional application forms may be secured by contacting: Womack/Claypoole Adv., Inc., 301 West Beauregard, San Angelo, Texas 76901. Telephone 655-8933, AC 915.

It was stressed that the competition is open to any qualified young Texas woman, and that no sponsorship is required of contestants.

-The world really isn't any worse. It's just that the news coverage is so much better.

A Bishop Looks at Life The Real Victory

By Everett H. Jones, Retired Bishop of the Episcopal Church

Freddie Steinmark, the outstanding football player at the University of Texas who could not finish the past season because his leg had to be amputated, has written a letter to all those who expressed in some way their support and concern. The letter reveals a remarkable spirit of courage, faith and gratitude; it is striking evidence that he won his greatest victory not on the football field but in the game of life.

"I must admit that the doctors' diagnosis was tremendous shock to me," he writes. "Football and athletics have always played an important part in my life. After playing on so many winning teams with so many great athletes who are equally great people, the initial doctors' information came as a terrific disappointment to me. You never realize what something means to you till you don't have it anymore."

"First of all, I want to express my gratitude to our dear Lord for all that He has done for me. My faith in God, our heavenly Father, has been a most important source of courage and confidence and strength to me. I shall continue to be eternally grateful to Him."

"I would be remiss if I did not single out Coach Darrell Royal, CARD OF THANKS

For loving help and sympathy shown us by so many friends at our time of grief, we would like to express our gratitude. We were indeed comforted by your kindness. The family of Wesley C. Young 1c29

"He that hath an ear to hear let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches." (Rev.)

New hat and gloves and pretty dress, chocolate bunnies and colored eggs. But I noticed on the way home that Betsy kept humming the "Alleluia" of the anthem. She even remarked how happy the choir sounded. It made me feel happy too.

At five, she's too young to realize the true significance of the Risen Christ, but she can appreciate the beauty of voices raised in joyful harmony. She can't yet read the New Testament her grandmother sent, but she does enjoy the Bible stories she hears in Sunday School.

Bob and I believe that no one is too young to learn the loving ways of God. That's why we take Betsy to church with us. We want to share with her the depth and meaning our church has added to our days.

Make every Sunday glad! Go to your church, and take your family with you.

CALLING HER TWO sisters attention to something they have missed is Kella Phillips. Mitzel and Jill seem to be more interested in the candy bars than to the events going on around them at Sonora's track meet held at the Bronco football field. The girls are daughters of Coach and Mrs. Jerry Phillips.

MIKE TAYLOR speeds around the track to come in second in the 440 dash in the Sonora Relays held March 14 at Bronco Field. Mike also placed first in the long jump event with 21-1/2. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Taylor of Dallas and is a senior student. The Sonora team came in third in the meet with 116 points, while Eldorado took the championship with 144 points.

Charlie Howell To Be Associated With Unique Swine Facility

Charlie Howell, former Sonoran and now of Perryton, is associated with a unique swine operation opening in Ochiltree County soon. The operation, representing an investment of more than a quarter million dollars, will begin operation in June.

The facility will be a 300 sow unit with approximately 3,000 head total capacity. Pigs will be fed to a weight of approximately 220 to 230 pounds. Finished hogs will be sold for slaughter and breeding stock will be sold from the herd.

The facility, when completed will consist of a modern mill, four finish feed buildings, two farrowing houses, two nursery buildings and two gestation houses. The feeding system will have a high degree of automation. Feed will be augered from the mill to finishing and nursery buildings, according to "The Perryton Herald".

Buildings will be totally environment controlled and will contain slatted concrete floors. Wastes will be handled through oxidation, a system wherein oxygen is injected into water in a pit under concrete slats. This converts waste materials from solids to liquids which will be used for fertilizer.

Howell, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Howell, will manage breeding and farrowing. Other officers of the company include Jack M. Allen, Dr. Zoel G. Allen and Ronnie Gaines all of Perryton.

In order to eliminate disease, no visitors will be permitted in the buildings after operations commence. The first building to be occupied will be the gestation building which is expected to be in use in April. Completion of the entire project is slated for June.

New Appliance May Solve Garbage Problem

A new appliance may solve the home's never ending collection of boxes, cans, bags and paper that fill garbage cans too full too fast.

One manufacturer has developed an appliance that squeezes a week's accumulation of trash into a specially designed plastic-lined bag.

Under 2,000 pounds of pressure, trash such as bottles, tins, cartons and aerosol cans is reduced four and a half times in less than 60 seconds.

The refuse bag is lined with polyethylene plastic for odor, moisture and germ resistance. U. S. sanitation departments haul away half a million tons of rubbish a day so the appliance is sure to make a hit in the home and with the trash collector.

TEEN SCENE

By Kay Kerbow

The Broncos received the runner-up trophy at the "Eskimo Relays" held in Eldorado last Saturday. Snow lined the sides of the track field and covered the stands until a reluctant sun came to cheer things up a bit. However, the track was in good shape under such adverse conditions. The boys won the mile relay for the second straight week in one of the most exciting races ever seen.

They will participate in the San Angelo Relays to be held Friday and Saturday in Bobcat Stadium. Schools of all sizes will be participating in the meet.

A youth revival was held in the First Methodist Church in Ozona. About 150 Eldorado and Sonora students led the Ozona students in the service. These services are led exclusively by the teenagers with an occasional push in the right direction by various adults. The service is informal and is usually begun with spiritual songs with a folk swing.

These gatherings have no sermon as such. After the singing, the participants mill with the congregation as a welcome.

After these gatherings, students, without any prodding and of their own free will, get up whenever they get the urge and witness for Christ. These programs have been lasting for an average of two hours. Plans are being made to travel to surrounding towns and continue to testify and "Tell It Like It Is".

Research papers for both the Junior and Senior classes are due April 10. Topics are generally controversial, so as to find enough material for a good paper besides learning about the world and its problems.

School was dismissed at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday for the Easter Holidays. Three short weeks in a row are pretty good for students and teachers alike. They'll all get relief from homework, tests and frayed nerves over the holiday.

Serapes, Mexican hats and artificial fruit were used also to decorate the living room and den, along with yellow and blue irises that decorated the dining room. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McClelland visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Tracey and Terrell in Sweetwater over the weekend.

With so much bad news being reported it is always refreshing to hear of genuine neighborliness still being around. We have heard of a couple of good examples lately of people who have gone out of their way to help someone.

Dee Nevill had a blowout coming into town last week and Claude Graham at the Holman Estate ranch came along in the nick of time to change the tire for her. Since the spare tire was not too well aired and seeing that she was pretty nervous about it, he followed her to Sonora, turned around and went back when she reached the city limits -- a 56 mile drive for him.

Another neighborly act and much appreciated by the Mohlers when they had a car wreck, occurred when a Mr. Adams of Eldorado, and who is an employee of Shell, stopped to render first aid. He had a first aid kit in his pickup truck and bandaged as many wounds as he could for the Mohlers, then followed the ambulance on to a San Angelo hospital.

So, the age of chivalry is still with us! In view of the present postal strike that is in all the newspapers and TV shows at this time, thought you readers might like to know that the younger generation is not the only people who strike for one reason or another.

The following article came from the Texas Methodist official publication: Police were called today to help restore order at the Bide-a-Wee Rest Home, scene of a week-long old folks revolt.

Three militant octogenarians were arrested after a scuffle that took place in the main parlor. They were identified as leaders of an activist group that seized control of the parlor three days ago and locked Mrs. Birdie McMush, assistant dietician, in the pantry.

Two officers suffered minor injuries during the disturbance. One was hit by a run-away wheel chair and the other was jabbed with a knitting needle.

Quincy Tiredblood, 87 year old spokesman for the rebellious faction, told reporters the demonstration was staged to enforce demands that old folks be given a greater role in the management of the rest home.

"We've got a bunch of young whippersnappers running things around here," he said, waving his cane indignantly. "We don't trust anybody under 65," said Tiredblood, who had a "Senility Power" button pinned on his shirt.

The revolt began last week when a small group of hard-nose superannuates held a "Hobble-in" at which some burned their Social Security cards. Although peaceable in its early phases, the protest movement took a violent turn when someone hit Clem Snaffle Rest Home Superintendent, with a bottle of Geritol. Snaffle blamed the trouble on misunderstanding caused by difficulties in communicating with the militants. "Some of them turned off their hearing aids," he said. Snaffle added that "the vast majority of the old folks at Bide-a-Wee oppose the use of force in obtaining their objectives." But, Tiredblood warned the demonstration will continue until all of their demands were met.

What's the sense of living a long time if some kid who's only 45 or 50 years old can tell you what to do?

Walter Sharp of Houston visited his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Sharp, last week. Wal's wife died in Houston recently after a long illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Cormican of St. Paul, Minnesota, spent several days last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McClelland. Phil and Speck were old Navy buddies.

Mrs. L. E. Johnson Jr., and Mrs. Dantes Reiley have returned from a week visit in Houston. R. C. Phelan, nephew of Mrs. Mattie Morris, visited with Mrs. Morris and Miss Robbie Morris at the Experiment Station last week. Phelan, a graduate of the University of Texas, teaches creative writing at Prescott College in Prescott, Arizona.

The college is small with only 170 students enrolled and has a faculty of 20. Phelan has been to Miami, Florida, to interview prospective students, whose applications are also reviewed by a board of seven faculty members before final acceptance.

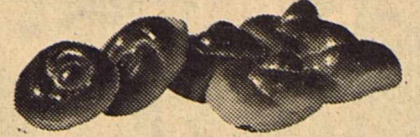

Phelan, a renowned writer, spent a week in Galveston, to gather material for a story on Galveston for Venture Magazine, a travel adventure magazine.
