Local Sonora Merchant Opens New Greenhouse

The Plant Store owned by Robert Brown and managed by Brenda Taylor has just opened a new greenhouse. The new facility opened up in February and will help the plants to stay more healthier.

Some of the plants, vegetables, and flowers in the greenhouse now include: tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, egg plants, cabbage and strawberries.

Also zinnias, dhalias, snapdragons, coleus, impatiens, geraniums, and shrubs.

When Mrs. Taylor was asked "What actually does a greenhouse provide?" she replied, "It supplies the plants and flowers with more humidity, light, and protects them against weather hazards." She concluded in saying, "It's the closest thing to nature for our plants and flowers, and it is our new way of providing Sonora customers with the best possible service."

Lots of beautiful plants and flowers to pick from.

Schleicher County to Hold Rodeo

The first annual 1983 Eldorado Youth Rodeo has been staged for April 15 and 16. Action will begin Friday night at the Schleicher County Rodeo Arena.

There will be three age divisions this year including girls and boys 12 and under, girls and boys 13 thru 15, and girls and boys 16 thru 19. Six events will make up the 12 and under division, which include barrel racing, pole bending, flag race, break-away roping, goat tying, and calf riding. Entry fee for each of these events is $10. Barrel racing, pole bending, flag race, girls break-away roping, goat tying, tie-down calf roping and boys steer riding make up the events in the 13 thru 15 division. Each entry fee is also $10. The events in the 16 thru 19 division are the same as the 13-15 division except that there will be bull riding instead of steer riding. The entry fee in the bull riding is $20.

There will be one go-round this year with the top five in each event competing for top honors Saturday night. Trophy buckles with an approximate $500 retail value will be awarded to the All-Around Boy and All-Around Girl. First place winners receive a $250 belt buckle with 2nd and 3rd place winners receiving cash prizes. To vie for All-Around honors you must compete in at least 3 events and no more than 6 events.

District Girls Claim Third at C-City Meet March 7th

Cold temperatures and high winds plagued the District 6-AAA Girls Varsity and JV track meets at Colorado City Thursday, March 7th. The Bronco girls, however, managed a team total of 115 3/4 points to claim third place at the meet and qualified seven girls in six events for the Regional Meet at Odessa on April 22-23.

Advancing to the Regional meet will be Lorri French who took first place in the 100 meter low hurdles with a time of 63.06, and anchored the winning 1600 meter relay team of Candy Cauthorn, Anita Balch, Casey Crites, and French. Gina Black qualified for the Regional Meet in 2 events with a first place in the 3200 meter run with a time of 12:50.47 and a second place in the 1600 meters. Teammate Lesli Webster led Black across the tape in the 1600 meters to claim first place in that event.

Also going to Regional will be Gina Heffernan who dashed to a first place finish in the 800 meters with a time of 2:36.49. Other Broncos scoring points were: French with a tie for fourth in the high jump; Heffernan with a fourth in the 1600 meter run and fourth places in both the 400 and 800 meter relay teams. The 400 meter team members were: Edna Reyes, Leah Evans, Becca Powers, and Cauthorn, and the 800 meter team was made up of Reyes, Evans, Balch and Crites. Bonnie Jackson threw for a third place in the shot, Margi Ann Rogers placed fifth in the 100 meter low hurdles, and Crites and Evans claimed third and fifth respectively in the 100 meter dash.

The Bronco JV, participating in their first meet as a JV team, also turned in a good showing. All three relay teams did well with the 800 meter team of Badine Sanchez, Cynthia Hinton, Carrie Craddock, and Marie Freeman claiming first place. The 400 meter team of Sanchez, Hinton, Craddock, and Kelly Ritz took second, as did the 1600 meter relay team of Sanchez, Craddock, Freeman, and Courtney Cauthorn.

Freeman also grabbed first place in the 100 meter low hurdles. Hinton, too, claimed a first place in the 100 meter dash and fourth in the triple jump. Teammate Craddock also scored points in the triple jump with a second place and a fourth in the long jump. Sanchez jumped to sixth place finishes in both the triple jump and the long jump. Cauthorn claimed two third places in the shot and discus. Tessa Jay finished fourth in the shot put, and Janice Gomez placed in three events with a fourth in the 3200 meters, sixth in the 1600 meters, and sixth in the discus.

Country Folk

By Jerry Lackey
P.O. Box 1542, San Angelo, TX 76902

Despite the fact that it thundered three times in February and the oldtimers say we will definitely have frost in April, folks are going about their garden planting and other spring activities without heed.

Nelson Erwin says the mesquite trees are not out at Harriet, a sign which also signals spring. I haven't witnessed any return of the red-headed buzzards on the roads through Fort McKavett nor have I seen any scissor tails back. You know, we might see a killing frost in April!

The last week or so in March presented some close calls. There was new snow as far south as Winters, Marfa and Midland on March 19.

Bill Shirley of Marfa said this has "been the most unusual winter" in the Big Bend and Davis Mountain country he has witnessed in many years.

"The old country is trying to green up anyway," he added.

James Wittenburg of Rocksprings says the Edwards Plateau is budding in good shape. "We are sending winter out with a bang. It wasn't a hard winter like predicted, but the summer and fall of 1982 was so dry and that made the winter hard from the standpoint of supplemental feeding," he explained.

"The sheep wintered the best of all," added Wittenburg. "The Angora goats were next in line, and the cattle had a hard winter."

Winters rancher James Nevins says his country is beginning to show signs of spring. "It is greening up, slower than usual but nonetheless coming along."

Walter Pfluger said the wild plum trees in the front of the ranchhouse at Eden received frost bite. "My wife used to make the best jelly from the crop each year and I was sort of in hopes that I could taste some of that produce again this year," he added.

Probably everywhere where temperatures dipped to below 30 degrees, there was at least a setback for early spring.

Jack Broome of San Angelo believes it might be time we put "all these old sayings and folklore behind us with the skies full of satellites and things that predict the weather."

If it doesn't freeze in April, some of us may do that!

Bull Riding, Rodeo, Beauty Pageant, and a Week Long Celebration

When you pit 2,000 lbs. of spinning, twisting, kicking Brahma bull against the skill, courage and tenacity of a 150 lb. cowboy, you get the wildest, most dangerous ride in sports... BULLRIDING. And, nowhere in the world will you find more exciting bullriding than SUPERBULL in Del Rio, Texas on May 1, 1983!

The top bullriding money winners of 1982 are invited to participate. The event originated as a tribute to George Paul, a Del Rio native son and World Champion bullrider who was killed in a private airplane crash enroute to a rodeo in 1970. A $500.00 entry fee will be paid by contestants to ride 2 bulls each in the George Paul Match Memorial Bullriding competition on SUPER BULL Sunday. Charlie Sampson, the leader in 1982 world standing in Bullriding won the title in 1981 and 1982. Denny Flynn of Arkansas is also a two-time winner, with Don Johansen of Canada winning in 1979.

Savage 7, voted the 1982 bucking bull of the year, is sure to be a crowd pleaser when he comes in contact with 35 of the world's top bullriders. Not only will these tough cowboys be competing for $35,000.00 in prize money, but also for the legendary $3,500.00 14 karat gold and ruby Gist Superbulb belt buckle. This year, riders from the United States, Canada and Mexico will go against some of the rankest bulls in the country, mostly from the Bernis Johnson, Neal Gray, Rudy Vela and Tommy Steiner stock.

A $2,650,000.00 PRCA Rodeo precedes the bullriding event on April 28th, 29th and 30th. This will be the 7th year for this Southwest Texas event and is expected to draw top rodeeros from all over the country. Again this year, the Del Rio PRCA Rodeo has been chosen as a Coors "Chute-Out Rodeo" with Coors adding money to the events. Cowboys work hard and play hard, so Del Rio is gearing up for a full week of western style excitement. The "Texas Time Machine" from San Angelo will provide the music at a Thursday, April 28th dance slated for the Del Rio Civic Center and "Bo Hutto and Texas Pride" will keep the action going at the Civic Center on Friday, April 29th.

This is the centennial year for the driving of the Silver Spike by Southern Pacific which occurred nearby Del Rio, so the town will be going all out this year with special events. Visitors can look forward to a Miss Superbulb Beauty Pageant, parade, Western Art Show and numerous other special events.

For additional information regarding entries, tickets and schedules, call the Del Rio Chamber of Commerce at 512/775-4242 or 775-3551.

4-H Program Scheduled April 26th for Sonora 4-H'ers

How many pieces of furniture do you have that could use a re-finishing touch-up?

terials, stripping methods, necessary repairs, final finishes, and staining/finishing steps.

April 26, at the 4-H Center. Tentative time schedules are: 1:00 - 2:30 p.m. or 3:00 - 4:30 p.m. (time selected is according to pre-registration) and 7:00 -

8:30 p.m. For more information and registration, call County Extension Office at 387-3604 before April 12.

Veterans Land Board Sets Interest Rate

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro announced the Veterans Land Board has voted to set an 8.5 percent interest rate for Texas veterans applying for loans from the Veterans Land Program. Mauro, who serves as Chairman of the Veterans Land Board, said, "Because of the strength and stability of this program, we are again able to offer some of the best financing for veterans to purchase land."

Eligible Texas veterans are able to borrow up to $20,000 over a 40 year term to purchase a minimum of ten acres of land. Since the Veterans Land Program began in 1949, over 80,000 Texas veterans have participated in the loan program. "In addition to these very competitive interest rates, I am pleased to report we no longer have a waiting list for loans for veterans," Mauro said. "Veterans who apply can also expect their loans to be processed within 90 to 120 days with a completed application packet."

Mauro noted the situation for veterans applying for loans has changed dramatically since January 3. "When I first took office, we had over 14,000 veterrans on the waiting list for loan applications. It was not uncommon for some loans to take longer than a year to close. We plan to operate the Veterans Land Board on a businesslike basis now and in the future providing our veterans with the best service possible," Mauro stated.

The Veterans Land Board sold $50 million worth of bonds at a March 21 sale. This is the first sale of the $250 million in bonds authorized by Texas voters in 1981. The 8.5 percent interest rate is effective March 21.

The Veterans Land Program has provided thousands of Texas veterans the opportunity to purchase land. Since the loan program is supported by bonds, the entire program is operated at no cost to the taxpayer. With the next 5,000 loans approved by the Veterans Land Board, another $100 million will be generated to the Texas economy," Mauro stated. "I encourage all eligible Texas veterans to participate in this excellent program."

THE WRONG MESSAGE

As the American people have become more aware of the awesome destructive power of nuclear weapons, they have vigorously pressed their government to find the means of reducing the threat of nuclear war.

In April, the House will rightly and properly continue to focus on this important issue as we once again consider a resolution calling for an immediate freeze on nuclear weapons and a substitute resolution, which calls for mutually negotiated arms reductions followed by a freeze.

Certainly it is imperative that as a nation we explore all avenues in an effort to avoid nuclear confrontation. It is equally incumbent upon the United States, the Soviet Union, and any other nation which possesses or has access to nuclear weapons that we achieve a reduction — not only in nuclear strategic forces — but hopefully in some conventional forces as well.

The upcoming debate is not whether one is for or against arms control. Rather, the resolutions before us offer a clear choice between two arms control policies. In my judgment, a policy of mutually negotiated reductions, followed by a freeze offers the best — and most positive — arms control alternative.

An immediate freeze implies that if one side reduces arms, the other will reciprocate. History does not bear this out. In recent years our country chose not to modernize and update strategic weapons, in the hope that by setting a peaceful example, the Soviet Union would follow suit. Instead, the Soviet Union increased armaments at the same time that we were reducing our arms capability.

Furthermore, an immediate freeze would have an extremely detrimental impact on the now much-needed modernization of our strategic forces. With a freeze, strategic modernization would be prevented, we would be locked into a position of significant inferiority, and our overall position would deteriorate even further with the passage of time. As it is, 77 percent of our strategic forces are 15 years old and older, while 77 percent of the Soviet strategic forces are only five years of age.

Because of the current imbalance, under an immediate freeze, the strongest incentives for the Soviet Union to negotiate concessions in strategic weapons will no longer exist and, the history of arms negotiations proves that the Soviet Union accepts genuine agreements only when enticed by strong incentives.

Recent events in the world demand that the United States be in a position of strength to ensure the military and diplomatic respect that will provide the strongest incentives for the Soviet Union to remain at the negotiating table. Let us not forget the expansionist aims of the Soviet Union characterized most recently in Poland, Afghanistan, and in Central America, where guerrillas are being supplied with Soviet-made weapons.

Winston Churchill made this observation about the Soviet Union during a major foreign policy address following the end of World War II: "From what I have seen of our Russian friends and allies during the war, I am convinced that there is nothing they admire so much as strength, and nothing from which they have less respect than weakness, especially military weakness."

In my judgment, Churchill is on the mark. Until the Soviets show that they are willing to curb such aggressive behavior out of respect for the national boundaries of others and the cause of world peace, a vote for an immediate freeze seems to me to send the wrong message at the wrong time to our adversaries.

Ethnic Festivals
Set for Ballinger and San Antonio

The diversity of Texas and its people is reflected in dozens of events featured in the just-released Calendar of Texas Events for the coming spring and summer.

Issued by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the new Calendar covers the Texas sun season from April through September.

Among hundreds of activities are such ethnic celebrations as Indian powwows, charreadas (Mexico rodeos), folkloric dancing, Czech festivals, polka and waltz fetes, and German feasts like volksmarches and schuetzenfests.

For those who want lots of ethnic flavors, but don't wish to travel too far, two events combine virtually all Texas traditions: the State Festival of Ethnic Cultures at Ballinger in April, and the prestigious Texas Folklife Festival in San Antonio in August.

There are also, of course, such typically Texan activities as Chili cookoffs, rodeos, rattlesnake round-ups and horse shows.

Texas agricultural products — strawberries, rice, cotton, peaches and corn — all have their special celebrations.

Both distant and close-to-home activities can be found among diverse listings in the free summer Calendar. It's available at any Tourist Bureau or by mail from Calendar of Texas Events, P.O. Box 5064, Austin, TX 78763.

New Law Provides Benefits for Social Security Disability

There is a new law which may help those people who have been drawing Social Security Disability, have had their checks stopped, are filing an appeal, and wish their benefits to continue. In the past many people have faced economic hardship when their disability checks stopped, even though the decision was being appealed. Now a person may request that benefits be continued while the decision is under appeal. If during the appeals process it is determined that beneficiary is not disabled by the Social Security Act's definition of disability, then all continued payments will be considered as an overpayment and must be refunded, subject to the existing waiver provisions of the Social Security Act.

The law provides a four stage appeals process—reconsideration, hearing, appeals council review, and finally suit in federal court. Under this new law benefits may be continued through the hearings level. Benefits may be continued for disabled workers, dependents drawing on the record if continuation is requested by the worker, childhood disability beneficiaries, and disabled widows. Medicare benefits may also be continued.

Disability benefits would continue if a request for either a reconsideration or hearing is filed within ten days of the notice of cessation and the person requests Social Security to continue payments. Continued benefits also apply to those beneficiaries who have a reconsideration or hearing pending at the time the law was enacted. There will be no payments for months prior to January, 1983, which would be the check payable on February 3, 1983. These continued payments may be made until the earlier of the last month before the hearing decision, the expiration of the appeals period for a hearing, or June, 1984. This payment continuation option will only be offered on determinations made before October 1, 1983.

Income Tax Change Starting July 1, 1983

Beginning July 1, 1983, payers of interest and dividends must withhold ten percent of each payment for federal income tax, the Internal Revenue Service said. Tax will be withheld at the time the interest and dividend payments are made to the individual or credited to the individual's account.

Certain taxpayers will be exempt from withholding if they file certificates of exemption with payers and if they meet any of the following requirements:

Taxpayer last year had a tax liability of $600 or less (or $1,000 or less if married filing a joint return);

Taxpayer is 65 or older and last year's tax liability was $1,500 or less (or 2,500 or less if taxpayer or spouse is 65 or older and they filed a joint return);

Taxpayer, or taxpayer and spouse, were not required to file an income tax return last year.

However, the IRS noted, many taxpayers may find the withholding a convenience that will free them of the need to make quarterly estimated tax payments and/or prevent them from being faced at tax time with a substantial tax bill and possible penalties for not having enough tax withheld.

The IRS also said that the withholding will have a very minimal effect on accrual of interest. The Treasury Department estimates that the yield on an asset earning nine percent would be reduced by five one-hundredths of one percent to 8.95 percent.

Certificates of exemption should be obtained from payers. If they are not available, request Form W-6, "Individual Certificates of Exemptions," by writing the IRS. Those who receive interest or dividends from more than one payer must file a Certificate of Exemption with each payer. Taxpayers with more than one account with the same payer should check with the payers to determine whether separate certificates are required for each account.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The question of restricting sale and possession of firearms is a difficult one in our modern society. The Constitution guarantees "the right of the people to keep and bear arms;" yet no one wants criminals to have guns. How to preserve the constitutional right for law-abiding citizens while controlling illegal use is a question which has plagued Congress for the past 20 years.

The Gun Control Act of 1968 is the law currently in effect. Its aim is to aid federal gun enforcement agencies in stopping criminal misuse of firearms, but it contains a number of provisions which have served to penalize legal buyers and sellers rather than to reduce violent crime.

I have joined in sponsoring legislation which would make a number of changes in the Gun Control Act to make it less burdensome to those who buy and sell legally and thus concentrate our resources on fighting the illegal use of firearms.

These amendments would eliminate restrictions on the sale of firearms to out-of-state residents providing that the sale conforms to the laws in the states of both the buyer and seller. Further, states could not prohibit otherwise legal interstate sales of firearms. These changes would ensure that no one could circumvent state law by buying somewhere else, but would allow someone purchasing a gun for sport use a wider range of options.

Other proposed changes are designed to clarify licensing requirements for manufacturers, importers and dealers and to simplify record-keeping requirements.

Congress would be given closer oversight on regulations developed from the law through a 90-day comment period before a regulation went into effect and a provision to allow congressional veto of new rules.

Finally, this legislative package would prohibit federal agencies from issuing any regulation designed to create a central registry of firearms transactions.

All of us are alarmed at the number of crimes committed with firearms, particularly hand guns. Stopping this national disgrace must be a priority of government at all levels.

No one wants to see guns sold without question on every street corner. But we must be sure that the regulations we impose effectively address the problem of their being used in criminal activity and don't simply harrass law-abiding citizens.

Cumbersome paperwork requirements and restrictions which determine in which state a gun can be purchased do not keep firearms out of the hands of criminals.

So while we keep some common-sense restrictions on firearm sales and purchases, we must realize that the only truly effective gun control will be quick, severe and sure punishment for anyone who used a firearm to commit a crime.

The Cane Pole is Simple but Effective

Although most of the high technology anglers of today wouldn't caught dead using a cane pole, many fish are caught with this simplest of fishing rigs, says Jim Davis, fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The cane pole is especially efficient for catching croppie, bluegill and redear sunfish during nesting activity. Using a cane pole, positioning a minnow, cricket or earthworm into small openings in brushy areas becomes easy with a little experience.

Flipping, a bass fishing technique using a long rod and fairly short line, copied a time tested cane pole fishing method.

Fishing with a cane pole is not as complicated as other methods. This characteristic surely accounts for its immense popularity, Davis says. There are, however, certain methods that can enhance fishing success with a cane pole.

The length of a cane pole should be two to three times as long as the anglers height. More length makes the pole too cumbersome and less length may not provide the desired reach.

Several types of line are available for cane pole fishing, with monofilament the most popular. When selecting a line, buy the smallest pound test that will hold the biggest fish you expect to catch, Davis advises. Also, the lighter the line used, the less likely the fish are to detect it and the more life-like the bait will appear.

The end of the line should be tied securely about two-thirds of the way up the pole, then additional knots tied at one foot intervals to the end of the pole. If a large fish is hooked, the terminal end of the pole may be broken but the additional knots may assist in landing an otherwise lost fish.

Perhaps the most important item for cane pole fishing is the hook. Although hooks come in a variety of shapes and sizes, a good rule of thumb is to match the hook size to the mouth size of the fish. Proper hook style selection can also account for more fish and prolong bait life.

Floater and sinkers are optional equipment utilized by cane pole enthusiasts. Floater assist in signalling a bite and also in suspending the bait at the desired fishing depth. Sinkers are used to carry the bait down and hold it in the fishing area.

Cane pole fishing is easy to learn and a good way to master the basics of a great pastime. Under many conditions, the cane pole can catch more fish than more sophisticated tackle. Don't look past this technique when fresh fish are needed for the table, Davis concludes.

Cat Rabies in Texas Up 91%

The number of confirmed rabies cases in cats continues to rise in Texas, with 1982 levels 91 percent higher than 1981; in the last five years, rabies in cats has risen 147 percent in Texas. In 1982, rabid cats outnumbered rabid dogs in Texas two-to-one.

According to the Texas Department of Health in Houston, cats continue to have the greatest potential for exposing humans to the rabies virus.

Across the United States, rabies in cats also continues to climb. According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), U.S. Department of Health & Human Services in Atlanta, GA, in 1981 for the first time ever nationwide, rabies in cats surpassed rabies in dogs - by 32 percent. Final statistics for 1982 are not yet available.

The CDC now recommends vaccination of cats against rabies as a measure in preventing human exposure to the disease. The startling increase in confirmed cases of cat rabies is due in large part to the low number of cats vaccinated against rabies. Of an estimated 38,000,000 cats in the United States, only 4 percent receive rabies immunizations.

Rabies is perhaps the most well-known and feared disease humans can contract from animals. The rabies virus, contained in the saliva of a rabid animal, is generally transmitted through a bite wound. However, rabies exposure can also occur through licking or rubbing, if the saliva of a rabid animal comes in contact with a break in the skin. It is estimated that at least 20,000 to 30,000 people are treated for exposure to rabies virus each year.

Texas state law requires annual rabies vaccination of cats, but only a small percentage of cats actually receive immunizations. It is the individual's responsibility to see that his cat is protected against the disease. Veterinarians have vaccines available to provide cats with immunity from rabies.

The rabies vaccines should be given initially when a cat is four months old and should be continued throughout the animal's life. The only effective way of preventing the spread of rabies is through vaccination.

1982-83 Chamber of Commerce Banquet Draws Good Crowd

The Sonora Chamber of Commerce held their 1982-83 banquet on March 31, lead by Albert Ward, Master of Ceremonies, at the Junior High Snack Bar. It was adorned with beautiful plants provided by The Plant Store and flower arrangements fixed by Sonora Floral. The Sutton County Steak House catered the dinner to approximately 100 people.

The guest speaker for the banquet was Ray Stone, Dallas Cowboy fan. He presented a 30 minute film showing some of the highlights of the Dallas Cowboy football team.

Charolette Wilson, Feb. Citizen of the Month, received the award for Citizen of the Year. Edith James, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was given an appreciation award for her services and many things that she has helped the C of C with.

The lucky winner of the autographed football was Monte Dillard. Sam Dillard, his wife, accepted the football for him. He was unable to attend.

Special people recognized were the school board members, city, county, and school officials, and city council and school board candidates that were running for this year.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bus, representing the Del Rio Guide, Dr. and Mrs. Steve Sessom, president of the Chamber of Commerce in Ozona, Bob and Evelyn Diebitsch, from the Chamber of Commerce in San Angelo, and Kay Kaiser, of the Texas Commerce Bank of San Angelo.

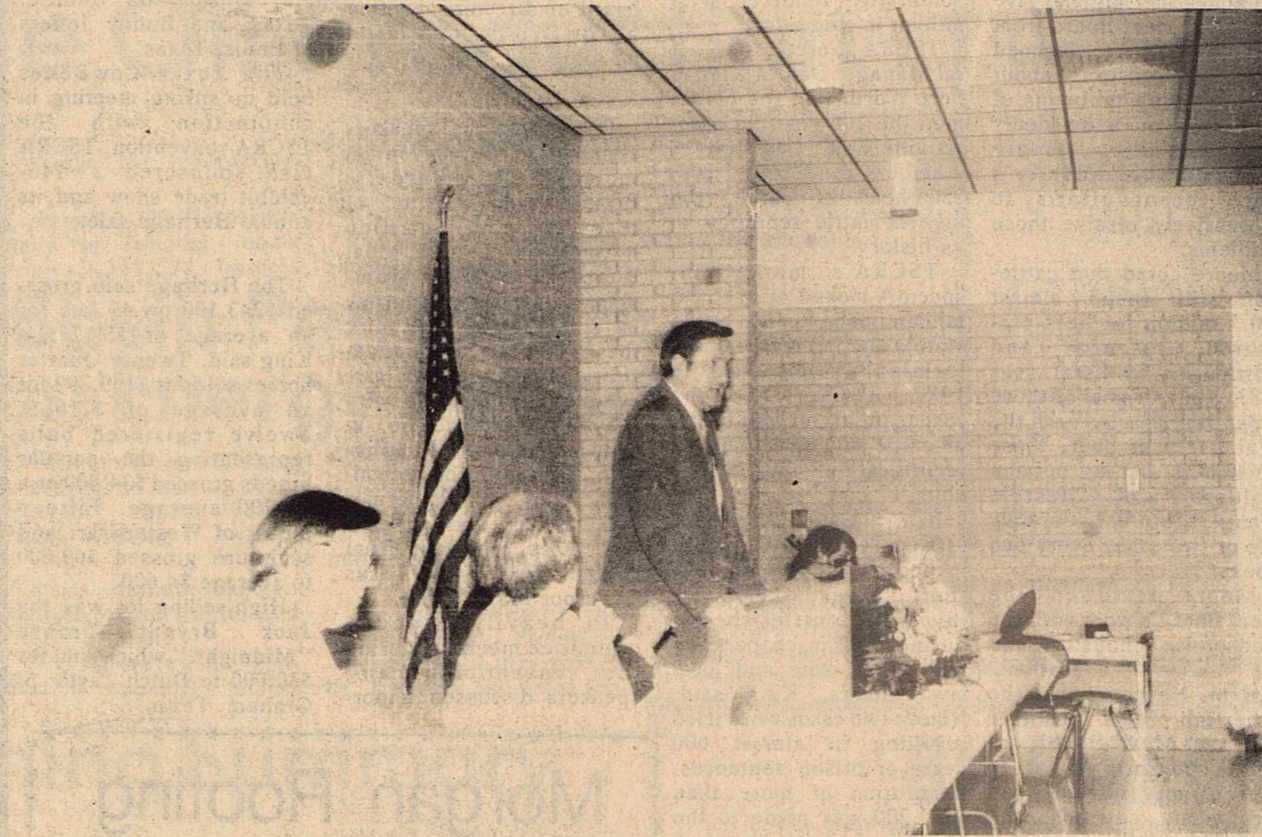

Appreciation goes to Smith Neal, Principal of the Jr. High and to the ladies of the snack bar who did a fantastic job and makes everyone look forward to next years Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

Cattle Raisers Wrestle with Major Issues at Convention

Members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, meet in Austin last week for their 106th annual convention, trade show and Heritage sale, wrestled with major issues facing the nation and the livestock industry.

TSCRA President Frates Seeligson warned the 1,500 cattlemen that the U.S. must keep the problems of Mexico in mind when addressing immigration reform if Americans don't want to see another El Salvador across the Rio Grande.

Seeligson, a San Antonio rancher, sketched a disturbing picture of Mexico's instability. He cited its high unemployment and a rapidly growing population with half of its citizens under the age of 17 as ingredients for potential unrest. As the U.S. biggest oil exporter and third largest trading partner, Mexico must play a major role in any consideration of immigration reform, he said. The current legislation on immigration facing Congress is by and large "window dressing," he advised.

"We would rather have nothing than a measure that promises hope, deludes us into tranquility and leaves us with the problem unresolved," Seeligson said.

The cattlemen were advised to work on the H-2 program for non-immigrant foreign workers to help stabilize the work force in agriculture. Seeligson, who has testified on the immigration bill, criticized the current H-2 program as enmeshed in bureaucratic red tape, but said TSCRA would work with Congress in making the program more workable for the continued production of food and fiber.

Admiral Bobby R. Inman, former CIA deputy director, expressed similar concerns on global instability. In a brief history lesson on the growth of Communism, Inman called for a national consensus on national security policy. He said the U.S. can ill afford to be indecisive in making national security its number one priority. Inman, a native Texan and intelligence expert, gave the keynote address of the convention.

The cattlemen were challenged by the president of the National Cattlemen's Association to step up industry and individual efforts to help make beef more competitive and to increase consumer demand for their product.

W.J. "Dub" Waldrip, NCA president from Lubbock, Texas, reminded cattlemen that basic consumer preference for beef remains strong. As evidence, he cited the much greater consumer expenditures for beef than for any other meat. However, he expressed worry about beef's position in the very competitive protein food market.

In the area of American eating habits, Waldrip mentioned the trend in part of the market toward lighter eating and lower calorie meals; a demand for more economical meat products; and concern about alleged diet and disease relationship.

Hilmar G. Moore, chairman of the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board from Richmond, Texas, echoed Waldrip's concerns about the marketing problems of beef. But, on a decidedly positive note, Moore reviewed the industry's more recent efforts to aggressively resolve those problems.

Moore noted that cattlemen will spend almost $10.7 million for beef promotion, research and information in fiscal year 1983. A major goal of those expenditures is to reach the light users of beef, those consumers that are opinion molders and lifestyle changers, but eat beef only one or two times every two weeks.

Moore reviewed the Meat Board's work with the foodservice industry and the nation's educational system. He noted that the American Meat Institute and the Meat Board are jointly sponsoring a survey of consumer attitudes on red meat, nutrition and diet. This study, on top of another study conducted in 1981, should give the beef industry some direction in reaching its goals of more beef consumption.

Moore also said BIC is pushing beef as the official food for the Olympics. Cattlemen were urged to redouble their efforts to support a voluntary 25-cent check off for beef promotion when they market cattle. In the first 10 months of the 1982-83 fiscal year, Texas cattlemen voluntarily rendered $1.1 million in that effort.

TSCRA Secretary-General Manager Don C. King of Fort Worth told the cattlemen the 106-year-old association now has 14,411 members rendering 2,206,750 head of cattle, the highest cattle rendition in its history.

TSCRA's market inspectors looked at over 6.5 million head of cattle at the state's auction markets and terminal stockyards in 1982. TSCRA has the responsibility of inspecting all cattle sold at auction for identification and ownership.

In its law enforcement efforts, TSCRA field inspectors developed 195 theft cases, primarily involving cattle thefts, during 1982 in cooperation with other state and local law officers, King said. Ninety-two cases were tried resulting in almost 600 years of prison sentences. Restitution of more than $104,200 was made to the owners of stolen livestock and ranch property. At the same time, the field inspectors recovered or accounted for more than 2,000 head of strayed or stolen cattle and horses, 55 saddles and 20 trailers with an estimated market value of $1,142,014.95.

"The average value of property recovered or accounted for each day amounted to $3,128.81," King said.

The Cattle Raisers Foundation in 1982 continued to expand its ability to inform and educate the public on matters pertaining to the livestock industry, he said.

A lifesize model of the Foundation's "Brand Inspector" bronze will be erected and unveiled during the summer TSCRA board of directors meeting in Fort Worth June 17-18, he said.

Other major speakers addressing the convention included Dr. Burdette Breidenstein, director of research and nutrition information for the Meat Board; Raymond Mombosse, managing attorney in Washington, D.C., for the Pacific Legal Foundation; Dottie St. Clair, commodity specialist with Clayton Brokerage Co. in Dallas; Barbara Keating-Edh, president of Consumer Alert in California; Mrs. Becky Terry, Texas CowBelles president from Alpine, Texas; and Texas Governor Mark White.

In heavily-attended committee meetings during the convention, major speakers discussed important issues in the area of animal health, agricultural research, marketing, association promotion, soil and water resources, legislation and tax, labor, and land use and the environment.

TSCRA also held a breakfast for supporters of Cattle Pac, the association's political action committee. Texas Speaker of the House Gib Lewis of Fort Worth delivered the keynote address.

TSCRA re-elected for the coming year Seeligson as president, John M. "Jack" Shelton III of Amarillo as first vice president; J.E. Birdwell II of Lubbock as second vice president; and King as secretary-general manager. Also elected as new board members were J.J. Gibson of Guthrie, Texas, and Buddy Jeffers of Ennis, Texas.

The Texas CowBelles held its spring meeting in conjunction with the TSCRA convention. TSCRA also sponsored a 145-exhibit trade show and its annual Heritage sale.

The Heritage sale grossed $243,100 on 47 lots for an average of $5,172.34, King said. Twenty Quarter horses sold for $139,300 for an average of $6,965. Twelve registered bulls representing the popular breeds grossed $34,800 or a $2,900 average. Fifteen pieces of Western art and sculpture grossed $69,000 to average $4,600.

High-selling lot was the Jack Bryant bronze "Midnight," which sold for $30,000 to Dutch Taylor of Graham, Texas.

High PIK Sign-Up to Help Farmers

Now that the wraps have been pulled off the PIK (payment-in-kind) sign-up, it's clear that farmers "went for" this latest government farm program.

Consequently, the high level of participation in the program, as announced by USDA officials yesterday (March 22), should bolster farm prices by getting rid of surplus stocks of commodities that have plagued the marketplace for the past several years.

"We have the potential for a substantial drawdown in surplus stocks of farm commodities due to the large number of farmers signing up for PIK," said Dr. Ron Knutson, an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The PIK program revolves around paying farmers with surplus commodities if they sign up to take a portion of their cropland out of production. So it reduces current stocks plus should reduce 1983 production.

"The potential effects of PIK have already caused positive reactions in some commodity markets," Knutson pointed out. "Whether this trend continues will depend largely on weather conditions this crop year and the level of export demand."

Knutson noted two keys to future market trends. The first is the yield that can be participated from land remaining in production, since this is the highest quality cropland. Weather conditions will have a big impact.

The second key to future price prospects, said the economist, is the export picture. While the strong PIK participation may make it more difficult for U.S. farmers to sell in the export market, the potential for shorter supplies of farm products next fall may prompt some importing countries to buy now rather than wait and face possible higher prices.

If PIK works as planned, what kind of farm program can farmers expect in the future?

"If highly successful, PIK will likely not be used again next year," said Knutson. "At the same time, PIK's effectiveness in reducing production this year could mean that we'll see it again when surpluses become a problem."

"Assuming that PIK will get us through the 1983-84 crop year without major policy changes, lawmakers are already looking ahead to 1985," said the economist. "The choice for 1985 becomes one of a continuing drift toward production controls or a policy reversal-moving back in the direction of a freer market in which farmers would have to accept lower levels of price and income support."

One strategy for moving toward the freer market concept involves "self-help" programs in which farmers would automatically share a portion of the costs of government programs when surpluses arise, said Knutson.

Rules Approved for Underground Storage Operations at Mont Belvieu

The Railroad Commission has approved new rules that deal with the drilling, completion, and operation of hydrocarbon storage and saltwater disposal wells in the Barbers Hill Field of Chambers County. The rules were previously agreed to by the City of Mont Belvieu and industry representatives. Each new storage well will be completed with a double string of casing through all "lost circulation zones." A lost circulation zone is an extremely porous section of underground strata. Existing storage wells that have not been completed with a double string of casing through such a zone must have a liner pipe installed at least 100 feet below and 100 feet above any such zone. No new storage well shall be drilled less than 400 feet from any residential dwelling in existence when the well permit was filed with the Commission unless the owner of the dwelling gives written consent. Wells shall not be drilled within 200 feet of a property line without the adjoining property owner's consent, or within 100 feet of any city street, county road, or state highway within the City of Mont Belvieu. Casing provisions of the new rules deal with salt-water disposal, and require that only salt water produced in connection with operations in the Barbers Hill Field areas be injected into the lost circulation zones in the Barbers Hill dome caprock. Also no salt water that results from leaching, washing or operating underground hydrocarbon storage wells shall be injected into the zones at pressures greater than that supplied by the force of gravity.

Each operator's rate of injection into a lost circulation zone will be limited to 5,000 barrels per hour. This injection rate may be increased to the disposal well's capacity under gravity flow conditions during as many as three days each month when necessary for previously unscheduled activity.

on a temporary basis until September 28, 1984. Another hearing on the matter will be scheduled during August of 1984. The Barbers Hill Salt Dome contains the largest single liquefied petroleum gas storage facility in the country. More than 100 storage wells are operated by 10 different companies.

Texas Crude Oil Production

Texas crude oil production totaled 72,004,734 barrels in January, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace.

The figure compares with reported December 1982 production totaling 72,835,507 barrels and January 1982 of 73,904,988 barrels. Texas oil production averaged 2,322,733 barrels daily in January, down from 2,349,532 barrels daily in December and down from 2,384,032 barrels daily in January 1982.

The January production allowable totaled 93,434.

282 barrels. The preliminary January summary indicated Texas oil production was 22.94 percent under the allowable for the month.

Permian Basin Petroleum Association Energy Report

Pecos County produced more oil and gas than any other county in Texas during 1982. There were 50.5 million barrels produced and 299 million MCF of natural gas produced last year.

Other leading oil counties were Yoakum with 48.4 million barrels, Gaines with 47.5 million and Ector with 45.9 million. The rest of the top ten are Gregg - fifth, Hockley - sixth, Andrews - seventh, Scurry - eighth, Crane - ninth and Refugio - tenth.

In the gas category after Pecos County were Kleberg - second, Crane - third, Hemphill - fourth, Ward - fifth, Waller - sixth.

Winkler - seventh, Panola - eighth, Moore - ninth and Brazoria - tenth.

Gas production was 6.1 billion MCF, down 619 million MCF from 1981.

In other news, the Environmental Protection Agency says it may reduce its mileage estimates on new cars by as much as 25 percent. The city mileage would be cut about ten percent while the highway figure would be cut about 25 percent.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week is 234. Last week it was 233. One year ago it was 392.

December Refining Summary

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace announced that 60 refineries in Texas processed 128,749,144 barrels of crude oil and hydrocarbon blends during December 1982. In all of 1982, Texas refineries ran 1,535,082, 738 barrels.

December's volume compares with 130,448,866 barrels in the same month a year ago, the Commission's Oil and Gas Division reported in its monthly recapitulation of Texas refinery operations. Inputs of crude oil and blends totaled 126,920,980 barrels in December 1981 and 98,374,913 barrels in November 1982.

Products manufactured in December 1982 totaled 125,935,222 barrels, down from 136,738,492 barrels in the same month the previous year, and down from the 128,900,682 barrels in November 1982.

December 1982 manufacture of motor gasoline totalled 54,830,757 barrels, compared to 54,653,418 barrels in the year-earlier month and 54,119,484 barrels in November of 1982.

Texas refineries manufactured 10,033,567 barrels of home heating oil in December 1982—a decrease of 2,148,187 barrels from the year-earlier volume. November 1982 output was 12,451,253 barrels.

January Offshore Production

State leases in bays, inlets and the Gulf of Mexico produced 73,215 barrels of crude oil during January, in contrast to 77,478 barrels in the same month of 1982 and 71,215 barrels in December 1982, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace.

Gas well gas production from state leases amounted to 18,076,463 Mcf in January against 17,649,852 Mcf a year earlier and 16,815,415 Mcf in December of 1982.

Casinghead gas production totaled 257,856 Mcf in January against 219,821 Mcf in the same month of 1982 and 235,209 Mcf in December.

Condensate production from state leases amounted to 68,573 barrels in January up from 52,016 barrels a year earlier and up from 64,078 barrels in December.

In January, offshore crude production was about 0.1 percent of total estimated crude production in Texas. Offshore gas well gas production was approximately 4.6 percent of the state total.

New Mexico and Basin Oil Factors

1982 figures are in for New Mexico. That state produced slightly more than 71 million barrels of oil and 990 million MCF of natural gas last year. The oil was down one percent from 1981 while gas production dropped almost 12 percent. The oil and gas industry paid $554 million dollars in taxes to local and state governments in New Mexico last year.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week is 228. Last week it was 234. One year ago it was 370.

Cowboys, Critics and Connoisseurs Gather For Western Heritage Sale May 13-14

The eyes of Texas and the eyes of the world will be on Houston's eighth annual Western Heritage Sale May 13-14 at the historic Shamrock Hilton Hotel.

A rousing celebration of the legacy of the American West, this black-tie gala is also the foremost sale of art, cattle and horses in the United States. Each year a colorful crowd of buyers, connoisseurs and celebrities from around the globe gathers to see and bid on the real stars of the show: fine art depicting the culture of the West; outstanding Quarter Horses, America's only native breed of horse; and champion Santa Gertrudis, the original American breed of beef cattle.

Sponsoring the Western Heritage Sale are former Texas governor John Connally, Houston civic leader and businessman Louis Pearce, Jr., and Dallas land developer/art collector Joe Marchman. Each has a keen interest in promoting appreciation of the cultural traditions of the American West.

With bidding records being set every year, the sponsors expect the 1983 sale to be an unparalleled success. Last year, Kerrville sculptor Jim Reno's bronze "End of a Long Day" sold for a world record $50,000. This was the most ever paid for a western motif bronze sold at auction by a living artist. The top selling painting at $140,000 was the oil "Walking Coyote and Buffalo Orphans" by Tom Lovell of Santa Fe, N.M.

Event history was made when Gwyn Tari, a Quarter Horse mare consigned by Pearce Ranches of Houston, was purchased for a record $150,000. The overall Quarter Horse tally ($1,033,500) and the average price per horse ($41,048) were also the highest in the sale's history.

Total Santa Gertrudis sales were $309,800. A bull for Cosgrove Ranches of Coalgate, Okla. brought the top price of $37,000. The 1983 festivities will begin Friday night with the sale of more than 150 juried pieces of fine art. Due to an enthusiastic reception last year, a special "European Section" will again be included and is expected to attract considerable attention from international art critics. The section features paintings of such subject as Italy's Ponte Vecchio and other new works created by the versatile WHS artists during a recent trip to Europe.

On Saturday night, veteran auctioneer Gerald Bowie will call the shots in the Grand Ballroom as 26 Quarter Horses, 26 Santa Gertrudis and 26 select works of art go to the highest bidders.

A $100,000 Santa Gertrudis futurity—the first ever held—is a special feature this year. The prize money will be awarded in October at a futurity and sale to celebrate the opening of the Texas State Fair in Dallas.

The art offerings and the livestock can be viewed free of charge at specified times during the weekend of the sale. Tickets to the extravaganza, however, are available by invitation only at $110 per person.

Additional information on the 1983 Western Heritage Sale can be obtained by writing coordinating sponsor Joe Marchman at 1416 Avenue K, Plano, Texas 75074.

Ministers Mised on Social Security Coverage

At least two consulting firms headquarters in the Dallas area have been telling ministers they can opt out of Social Security Coverage, after participating in the program, by declaring themselves to be employees of non-profit corporations. The firms are asking for a share of the "Tax Savings" and may also be offering to sell alternative pension plans. According to Frank Upp, Manager of the San Angelo Social Security Office, the advice being offered is contrary to the Social Security Tax Laws covering ministers.

"Ministers of religious groups whose teachings oppose public or private insurance benefits for retirement, disability or survivor protection have the option of not participating in Social Security when they begin their ministerial careers," Upp said. "However, he explained, "They must request an exemption from social Security Coverage by the tax return due date for the second year in which they have net income of at least $400.00 from their services as a minister." Fewer than 10 percent of recognized religious groups qualify for this option.

Ministers who do not request an exemption from Social Security Coverage report their ministerial earnings as self-employment income for Social Security Tax purposes, even though they may be considered salaried employees for income tax purposes. Under the Social Security Tax Law, a minister is not considered an employee of a church, denomination or corporation, according to Upp.

Also, Upp said, ministers should be sure to include in their net self-employment income the rental value of a parsonage or a rental allowance, if provided. These amounts do count for Social Security self-employment tax purposes, even though they are excluded from ruling which excluded the value of employer-provided housing for certain wage earners. Since ministers are not considered wage earners or employees for Social Security Tax purposes, the court case did not affect the way ministers' self-employment income is computed, Upp emphasized.

Upp suggested ministers get a copy of IRS Publication 517, "Social Security for members of the clergy and religious workers" to avoid being misled by erroneous advice.

placed on the measure during House floor debate.

One would suspend hardship licenses after a moving violation, while the second would allow 14-year-olds to take driver's training in preparation for a hardship license before reaching age 15.

Because of the House amendments, the bill now goes to a joint conference committee of both houses to adjust differences between the State and the House approved versions. However, I feel confident these differences will be adjusted and the bill will finally be sent to Gov. White for final action.

The LEGISLATIVE REPORT

by Gib Lewis, Speaker Texas House of Representatives

AUSTIN -- During the past several days, the House has passed several significant measures one of which -- The Texas Wildlife Conservation Act of 1983 -- is now headed for Gov. Mark White's desk for signing into law.

Here in capsule form, are some of those measures:

SENATE BILL 94 by Sen. Ted. B. Lyon, Jr., D-Rockwall, sponsored by Rep. Fred Agnich, R-Dallas, in the House.

Already approved by the Senate the measure, which provides for uniform statewide game and fish regulations under the Parks and Wildlife Department, was also passed by the House by an overwhelming margin.

Under it, the Parks and Wildlife Commission's game and fish regulations would apply uniformly to all of the state's 254 counties.

Under existing law, 13 counties are exempt from the commission's regulatory powers, 30 counties have veto power over commission regulations and 71 counties are covered by various exemptions under other laws.

Supporters of the bill included an overwhelming majority of the outdoor sporting organizations in the state, and the Texas chapters of the National Audubon Society and the Sierra Club.

The argument which prevailed in both houses of the Legislature by large margins was the fact that conservation of wildlife and fish for future, as well as present, generations must be in the hands of trained experts.

The existing fragmented, county-by-county game laws are causing a degradation of the quality of wildlife population, inhibiting efforts to increase the quantities of some species and, in general, cause confusion and unnecessary restriction in hunting and fishing opportunities for all Texans.

Under the uniform, statewide regulation of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, these conditions should be

St. Augustinegrass decline

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

St. Augustinegrass, though prized among southern turf-grasses for its rapid rate of establishment, good color, and shade tolerance, is troubled by two key pests, the southern chinch bug and the St. Augustine decline strain of Panicum mosaic virus, called SAD-PMV, for short.

Southern chinch bug causes major injury to St. Augustinegrass throughout most of the geographic range of the grass. Often whole lawns or even entire street blocks may be damaged or destroyed by the insect, according to Dr. Robert L. Crocker, Urban Entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at the TAMU Research and Extension Center in Dallas.

The disease, SAD-PMV, found in St. Augustinegrass throughout Texas, has been estimated to do more than a hundred million dollars worth of damage each year. No chemical treatments for the mechanically-transmitted disease are known. Infested lawns gradually weaken and die.

It is estimated that more than half of the lawns in Texas are St. Augustinegrass and it is also grown extensively as a turf and pasture grass in the southern coastal states and California.

Experiment Station scientists, at a number of locations in Texas and elsewhere, have been seeking an answer to these two problems of St. Augustinegrass.

Host plant resistance, a term used to cover any of several biological phenomena which allow a plant to tolerate or escape damage from a pest.

In the case of St. Augustinegrass, it has been found that some varieties of the grass are resistant to southern chinch bug and to SAD-PMV, or only to the disease. Some types are susceptible to both pests.

Test populations of southern chinch bugs, placed on resistant types of St. Augus-tinegrass, soon experience high rates of mortality, (most die).

Some resistant lines do not become infected with SAD-PMV disease; others (Symptomless carriers) can contract the virus but are not injured by it. Resistance to these pests is so high in some varieties of St. Augustinegrass, such as 'Floritam', that they are, in practice, free of them, Crocker says.

In recent laboratory research, Crocker and Dr. Robert W. Toler of the Plant Pathology Section, Department of Plant Sciences, Texas A&M, together with Mr. Cary L. Simpson, Entomology Research Technician at Dallas, tested 'Texas Common', 'Florida Common', 'Floritam', 4 accessions from Africa, and 8 hybrid accessions (TX series) for resistance to adult chinch bug and the St. Augustine decline strain of SAD-PMV.

The fifteen grasses tested included twelve experimental St. Augustinegrass lines, and the varieties 'Floritam', 'Florida Common', and 'Texas Common' St. Augustinegrass.

Two experimental hybrids (TX 100 and TX 104), one line from Africa (P.I. 410357), and 'Floritam' showed combined resistance to both the southern chinch bug and to St. Augustine decline virus, Crocker says.

Four other experimental hybrids (TX 101, TX 102, TX 105, and TX 106), and three lines from Africa (P.I. 410356, P.I. 410360, and P.I. 410364) exhibited virus resistance only.

This research is part of a broad thrust of Experiment Station research at several locations in Texas, aimed at developing improved varieties of St. Augustinegrass.

Testing for disease and insect resistance is only part of a comprehensive evaluation, that potential turfgrass varieties in Texas must be subjected to prior to their release to the public.

Water and fertility requirements, temperatures and shade tolerance and growth characteristics, for example, must be analyzed by turf scientists.

As part of the final evaluation, especially promising experimental varieties are planted at test sites in various parts of their potential geographic range. Only after this extensive testing program is a new variety ready to be released through sod producers for sale to the public.

"This progress report, on research now being done, is intended to inform both the lawn owner and the turf specialist alike that new and improved St. Augustinegrasses are on their way," Crocker concluded.
