Lions 50th Auction nets over $12,000

The Fiftieth Lions Club Auction which was held on September 20, brought in over $12,000 much of which will be used within the community.

The Lions Auction is probably the only place you will see $50 spent for a cake or $200 for a tape measure but years of experience has shown that the money will all go to good causes.

Locally, the Lions help support Girl Scouting and Boy Scouting, eye examinations and glasses for the less fortunate, Little League, 4-H, Sutton County Library, Sutton County Senior Center, Sonora Wool and Mohair Show, and the yearly Speech Meet to name only a few of their interests.

Concern for the flagging economy was expressed prior to the sale but once again, the members of the county and community rose to the occasion displaying their generous natures.

The evening started with a free to the public barbecue prepared by the Branding Iron Smokehouse and served by the Lions Club members.

Lem Jones of Harper was once again the highlight of the sale, throwing in a joke or two between the items he expertly auctioned.

Harvey DuRussell purchased the Mystery Package this year for a record $2,000. Since its inception in 1945 when it was donated to the auction by Berry Duff, the Mystery Package has brought in almost $16,000.

"Old Faithful" as it was dubbed some years ago has never been opened as is evidenced by the scuffed brown wrapping and frayed twine. Duff never revealed the contents of the package and if anyone else ever knew, they never told.

As is tradition at the auction, the Conservationist of the Year, awarded by the Edwards Plateau Soil and Water Conservation District was presented to the 1988 selection, Judy McDonald.

As well as the community thanking the Lions Club for hosting this annual event and supporting so many worthwhile projects within Sonora, the Lions Club would like to offer thanks to all the people and businesses who provide the items to be sold and to the many buyers who make the whole thing a success.

McDonald selected as Conservationist of the Year

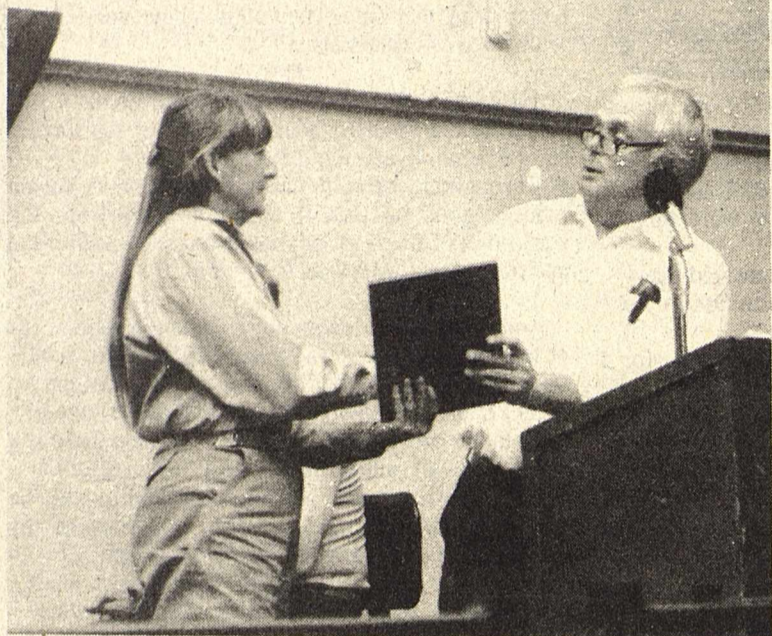

Because of her attentiveness to the land and conservation of our natural resources, Judy McDonald has been selected as the Conservationist of the Year for 1988 by the Edwards Plateau Soil and Water Conservation District and the Sonora Downtown Lions Club. This award was presented at the Lions Club Auction on September 20.

Judy owns and operates a 6800 acre ranch within the EPS&WCD and has worked with this District over the years on both mechanical and management type practices on her land.

Livestock diversity is a very important item in Judy's ranching operations. During times of dry weather, livestock numbers were changed to favor goat operations while cattle and sheep numbers were reduced. Rotation and flexibility of livestock numbers from pasture to pasture in a planned sequence is very vital in her operation. Proper grazing use and deferment of the pastures in which brush management was completed has increased the quantity and quality of the better species of grasses, forbes and browse.

Pens, fences and water facilities have been improved, and over 3650 acres of mesquite and cedar have been dozed. The dozing released moisture for use by the desired plant growth.

Judy has also accomplished upland wildlife habitat management by selectively dozing brush and leaving the better browse plants though some brush was left for cover and protection for game and livestock.

JUDY McDONALD

Harvey DuRussell proudly holds on to "Old Faithful" stating this was the only time he had held it since he arrived at the Auction for the express purpose of bidding on the item, leaving immediately after its purchase.

DuRussell's purchase price of $2,000 set a new record breaking the previous record set in 1977 when the Mystery Package was purchased by Mack and Addah Cauthorn for $1,650. Staff photo/Ann Cates.

Court hears request of subdivision

The Commissioners Court heard a request from Pat Dodson, one of the owners of the North Llano Ranch Subdivision during their regular meeting on Monday.

Dodson asked the Commissioners to waive subdivision regulations to allow the owners to divide the property into fifty to one hundred acre tracts for sale purposes. The Court asked for time to permit David Wallace, County Attorney, to look over the proposal made by Dodson and has called a Special Meeting for 9 a.m. Thursday, September 29 to make their decision.

A request from Guy Askew was read wherein Askew asked permission to erect a memorial sign above the entrance to the Sonora Cemetery in honor of his grandparents, Henry and Mary Wyatt. The Commissioners asked to see a drawing of the proposed sign prior to making a decision.

In other business, District
Con't. on pg. 5.

Council awards bids, Castle Hill water project proceeding

Among the items of the City Council agenda at their regular meeting September 20 was the opening and accepting of bids for a planned water project for the Castle Hill area. This project is hoped to help alleviate the water problem of residents living on Hightower as it will loop the system.

Edge Gemco of Abilene placed the low bid of $52,842 and was awarded the job. Other bidders on the project included Darnell Dixon and Reece Albert both of San Angelo and Gray Plumbing of Stanton.

Work on the project was to start this past Monday with completion expected to take several weeks.

Bids were also opened for paving improvements to be funded under the 1987 Texas Community Development Program but action was tabled as all bids received exceeded the maximum grant of $200,000.

A public hearing is to be set regarding annexation of a three acre tract east of the high school on Highway 1691 for the purpose of building an apartment complex for senior citizens. This site was selected after Farmers Home Administration rejected the site behind the hospital as the possible location of the housing which will be built by Calhoun Builders.

Also on the agenda was the discussion of legal opinion regarding the City providing payment for electrical services to volunteer firemen. It was the consensus of the Council for the City Attorney to request a ruling from the Attorney General's office in Austin.

In closing, there was a consensus to support the City of Hondo's decision to pursue a Texas Department of Corrections 2250 bed maximum security unit.

Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers hold Fall Directors meeting in Sonora

Approximately 150 directors and members from across the state attended the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association Fall Directors meeting in Sonora on Saturday, September 23. The meeting was held in the high school.

Beginning at 8:30, the morning was devoted to individual committee meetings with those in attendance joining in a general session after lunch where various reports from the committees were presented.

The group was told that the future of the wool market looked good for the coming year, possibly up from last year, while the lamb market continued with a decline in prices though meat tonnage was up from previous years.

Perry Bushong, President of the American Mohair Council told of a Texas Mohair Tour scheduled for mid-October which will involve spinners, weavers and media. The tour is designed to produce a "think tank" aimed toward more production of domestic mohair products in the U.S.

Ranchers and producers were invited to attend a Grazing Management Field Day presented by the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station on October 18. The Field Day will include presentations on range management and improvement, deer and livestock competition, flushing angora goats and research.

First Vice-President of the TS&GRA, Ralph Mayer of Sonora, explained a networking method which will be used to contact all of Texas twenty-seven U.S. Congressmen to solicit support on issues vital to the producers.

All members of the TS&GRA were urged to join the Animal Damage Control Association which is promoting the positive aspect of Con't. on pg. 4.

Letters

Dear editor,
 Would you help me find a few good men by publishing this letter in your paper?
 The few good men mentioned are WWII Veterans who were assigned to the 351st Heavy Bombardment Group at Polebrook, England between 1943 and 1945. There are about 5,000 lost souls and some of them may be in your area.

We have formed a 351st Association of flying and ground crews and have annual reunions. If you fit the above description, please contact: Ken Vaughn, 1 Shady Lane, Belleville, Ill. 62221.

Thank you,

Dear Ann,
 When Friday rolls around and the Postman leaves, someone in the lobby always pipes up with "Gangway, here comes Doris after the "Devil!" It always makes my day, and gets better and better with something for everyone.

How is everyone doing? Do so miss those kind hearts and gentle people!

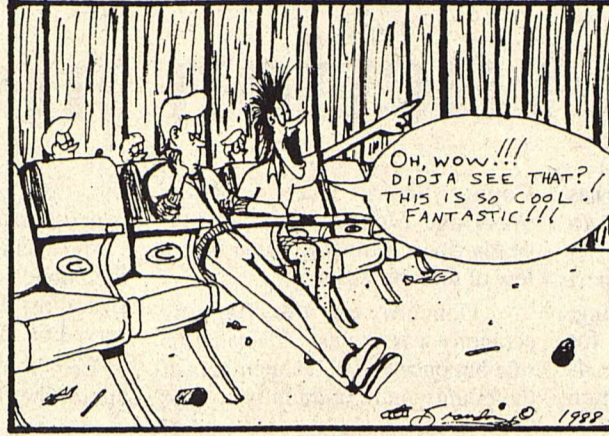

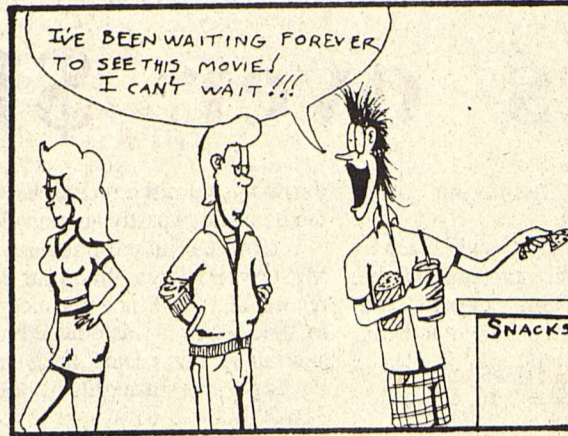

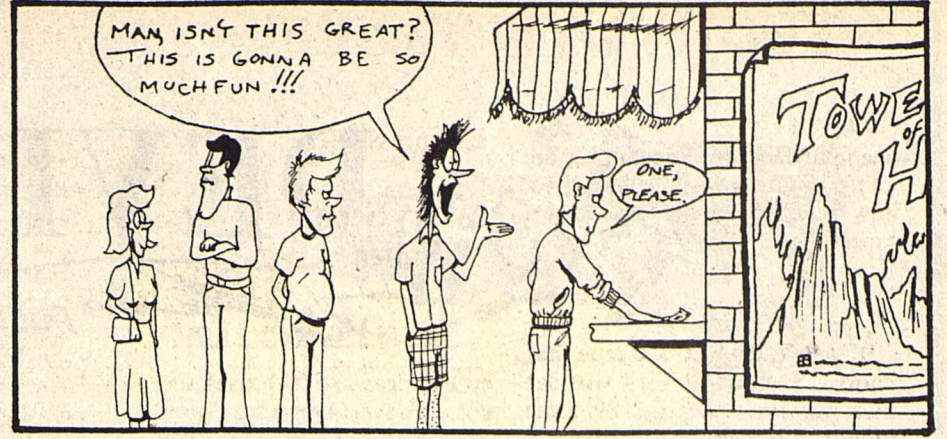

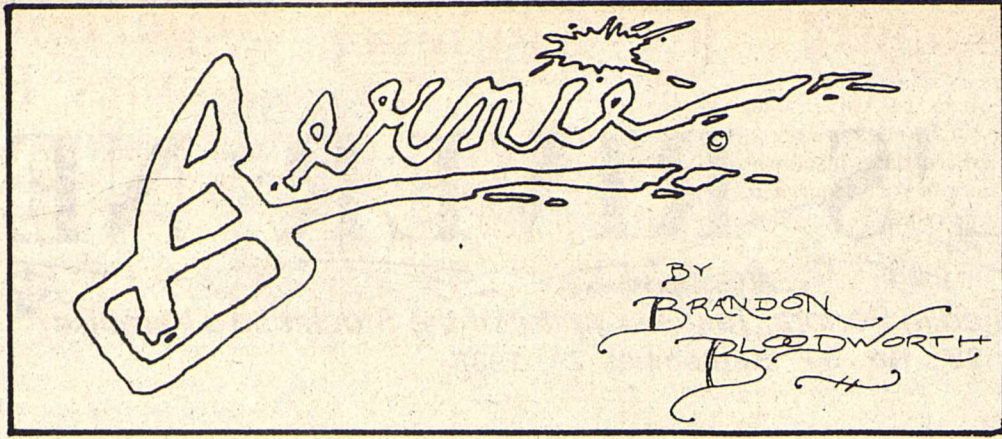

Blessings on you all from Apartment 1102.

To the Editor:
 I'm in the seventh grade at Bradley Middle School in San Antonio.

In my Texas History class, we are studying newspapers. We're going to compare urban and rural newspapers, lifestyles and economies.

If you could send me a copy of Devil's River News, I would really appreciate it. Enclosed is fifty cents for postage and handling.

Sincerely,
 Cassie Pfeiffer

P.S. I was born in Sonora.
 Dear Cassie,
 We are returning your fifty cents and will send you the paper for the next month as a week may not show a comparison. This should prove to be a very interesting project for you and your classmates. Many adults could take a lesson from you letter of request which shows that your Texas teachers are doing an excellent job.

Editor

Dear Editor,
 I would like to thank my friends of Sonora for all the wonderful things that have been done for me since my accident on March 20.

It is with much gratitude that I give thanks to all the people for cards, visits, and calls; all the churches for their prayers, care and concern; to the hospital and nurses locally; and to Shannon Hospital for a stay of five weeks in special care.

I am in rehab at the present time in San Angelo.

Thanks also to my family for much care and keep.

Publishers Comment

A mother contacted the News office recently expressing concern about the traffic situation around the schools. Her complaint was on a driver passing through the area at morning drop-off time who seemed to be oblivious to fact that there were small children crossing the streets.

This is the same concern which is expressed every year and there seems to be no simple solution to the problem.

Perhaps one way to combat the issue would be for those who are not dropping off children or for whom an alternate route can be found, to avoid the area during morning drop-off and afternoon pick-up times.

And for those who find it necessary to be in the school zones, please watch carefully for the children. Remember, children often dart as a means of reaching a place; they are often lacking in the experience to judge a vehicle's speed; and they are prone to act now and think later.

Please drive carefully in the school areas--it could be your child who has chosen to cross the street.

Our apologies to all of you who are having so much trouble getting your paper. While we enjoy seeing each of you as you come into the office for a paper we also realize that if you wanted to come into the office for a paper, you wouldn't have bought a subscription.

Each year at subscription renewal time, we always have a slight problem getting everyone back on the label list--this year the problem has certainly been more than slight. We are still trying to get everything back to normal.

Our thanks to Jerry Landers and the entire crew at the Post Office for working with us the way they have during this time. They all go above and beyond which we really appreciate.

Hats off to Gary Hardgrave and all of the Lions who worked so hard organizing an exceptionally smooth running auction this year.

Throughout the community the comments are on what a good auction it was, not only from the standpoint of funds raised, but also on how well it ran and how much fun it was!

And while I am recognizing people for good deeds or feats, there are two very special ladies in town who deserve a big thank you from the whole community.

As I have been told, these two ladies, very quietly, have taken on a monumental (no pun intended) task of repairing all of the tombstones at the cemetery.

To date they have repaired around thirty of the stones, finding chipped and broken places on the stones and then finding and matching the pieces with those lying about and cementing them back in place.

Each stone they work on is returned to as close a state of new as they can possibly make it.

They will both be embarrassed by this tiny bit of publicity and each would be quick to say "Don't mention my name," which is what good deeds are really all about, but Sonora, in return, needs to say "Thank you Nora B. Kiser and Ethelda Holland for your kindness and caring! This is obviously not something anyone else has thought to do and we are proud of you for thinking of it and for doing it."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

The 1988 Presidential Campaign efforts leave one wishing that there was a final box on the ballot with None of the Above for a name. This nation is confronted by problems which are rapidly growing to beyond the capability of our government to solve category. Each candidate accuses the other of not facing the issues.

The candidates proceed to launch a personal attack on the perception of the other candidate. The issue of the deficit, which will if not corrected make a beef steak cost you perhaps twenty times what it does today, is meticulously avoided. Foreign trade balances is an other potato that is too hot to handle. Taxes? One will not (so he says) raise them. I cannot remember a president in history who ever raised taxes, but somehow they seem to have gone upward.

The campaign, instead has spent much time in personal attacks and innuendos; Lack of experience, non-activity on the part of a vice president, looking at dirt on each stoop, gentility toward crime, personal toughness and even some absurdities like driving and M-1 tank. The issues threaten one of the greatest (I did not say smartest) nations on this earth and the two candidates are picking each others noses and fingernails looking for dirt, worrying about podiums and colors of decor. One shudders to think it might be an appraisal of electorate intelligence.

The upcoming debate, Sunday is hopefully anticipated to show a change of direction. Meanwhile one of the best tank drivers I ever knew had an I.Q. about 75, and looking at the Massachusetts Health Bill (signed into law) against the state deficit, the distribution must be wider than I believed it to be. Taxes, if we are to stay even, the price is greater than $375 for every man woman and child in the U.S. you can make up your own mind.

At this point, I still nominate None of the Above.

Yes, It's true! Tax Rates should go down!

DEAR COMMISSION NABERS: Is it true that unemployment insurance taxes are going to go down in 1989? If so, how much of a decrease can I expect?

V.G.
Vernon, Tx.

DEAR V.G.: Yes, it is true that many Texas employers will see their taxes reduced in 1989. Even though the taxable wage base is increasing to $9000 next year, current projections show that minimum rated employers, those who now have a 1.41% tax rate, may net a 30 to 35% decrease in their 1989 rate! I emphasize "minimum rated employers" because employers who have higher than minimum rates due to unemployment claim chargebacks may see less relief, no reliefs, or even increases. Increases should not, however, be as drastic as the ones experienced this year.

Commissioner

The unemployment trust fund is well on its way to fiscal health. For the week of September 5, the fund balance exceeded $200 million. Unemployment claims are down by an average of 20% from this time last year. The Texas Employment Commission has completely retired its debt to the federal government for loans taken out during the fund's insolvency. And, best of all, we fully expect to be solvent on October 1, 1988 and January 1, 1989...both critical dates insofar as next year's tax rates are concerned. Things ARE definitely looking up!

CORRECTION: In our column of September 2, 1988 we incorrectly responded to a question from D.W. in Seguin, Tx. Unemployment taxes are payable on the employee/children of sole proprietors only if those children are over 21 years of age. We apologize for the error.

Department of Highways honors Boyd and Burch

Two employees with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation were recently honored for their service as instructors/trainers with the department.

Ann Boyd, Administrative Technician II in Sonora, received a plaque for instructing a course in Time and Stress Management at the department's training center at Lago Vista. This course, held in conjunction with the Office Management Training Class, was given during one week a month for about 18 months. During this time, approximately 216 clerical, maintenance, and construction employees were trained through the course.

Ms. Boyd has been with the department more than 18 years as secretary to Louis Olenick, Maintenance Supervisor in the Sutton County Maintenance Section. On September 1 of this, she transferred to the residency as secretary to Supervising Resident Engineer Joe W. Lane.

Troy K. Burch, Engineering Technician V in the Kimble County Residency, received a plaque for his participation in training construction inspectors at Lago Vista. Burch conducted a course in concrete inspection once each month for six months. During this time, approximately 420 construction inspectors attended the course.

Burch began his career with the department in July 1957. Since that time, he has worked in all phases of planning, design, and construction of highways.

Presentation of these awards was made by District Engineer Walter G. McCullough, who expressed the departments appreciation for the efforts that these two employees have put forth to help others learn the operations of the department.

HOME EC BRIEFS

by Micki Miller, CEA-HE

Oat bran supplements are costly and unnecessary

After medical researchers found that high fiber food such as oat bran reduce blood cholesterol levels, supplement manufacturers were quick to capitalize on public interest. Many companies are now marketing a number of oat bran supplements.

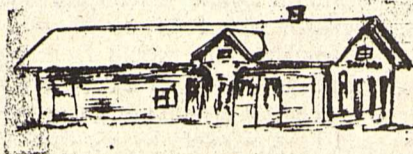

Before you buy a supplement consider what you are getting and at what cost. To get 12 to 30 grams of fiber from oat bran tablets, for example, you need to take 24 to 60 tablets each day, depending on the brand. That will cost $1.50 to $3.60 a day.

You can get the same amount of oat bran fiber from 1 1/2 servings to 4 servings of oat bran hot cereal which costs only 15 to 40 cents.

If you don't like the cereal or don't want to eat that much of it, you could also get the same amount of soluble fiber by eating other foods that contain it. These include blackeye peas, kidney, pinto and white beans; corn, brussel sprouts, cauliflower and zucchini; apples, apricots, figs and prunes; wholemeal cornbread, pumpnickel bread and graham crackers.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Depot Diary

by Patricia Johnson

As I speak with people about re-roofing the Depot, I keep encountering the same thought expressed in various ways and different words.

They say "I never adopted any of the Depot roof because I could only afford one square foot and I didn't think that would help."

Nothing could be farther from the truth! We have a number of very generous donations and we appreciate these tremendously. Our records show, however, that most of the contributions coming in are in the $4, $8, $12, $16, and $20 range. Sometimes this works out to be two square feet for a couple and one square foot for each child or grandchild. Every square foot is important!

All names of donors are displayed in the station master's office in the Depot and all donations to the Sutton County Historical Society are tax-deductible.

This week's adopters are: Anne de Berry; Linda Johnson; Whitehead and Powers Oil and Gas; John David and Carla Fields; Lou Thomas; Rocksprings; Jack and Gloria Kerbow; Si and Esther Loeffler; Gina and Abel Gamez; LaVerne Benton; and Leo and Pat Merrill.

Donations may be sent to: Depot Roof, Box 885, Sonora, Texas 76950 or drop them by Westerman Drug or the Devil's River News.

CHIT CHAT with ANNE

by Anne Karnes May

Recently, Patsy Johnson retired from the State Department of Highway and Public Transportation after working 25 years; she began working for the Highway Department as a secretary in 1962, and upon retirement, her position was as an Administrative Technician III.

At her retirement party, Patsy received a retirement plaque, a certificate and a Letter of Appreciation from R.E. Stotzer, the State Engineering Director.

Congratulations, Patsy! "Tho you will be missed at work, we know you will enjoy your retirement."

predator control as protection of domestic livestock. In regard to the Immigration Law, the importance of obtaining an I-9 form on all employees who were hired after November, 1986 was stressed. The H2A ranch program, whereby a foreign guest worker can be assigned under contract to one employer, was discussed with the notation that the Department of Labor had set a $600 per month wage for each guest worker and in addition, the program would require the employer to carry workmen's comp on that worker and each worker employed in comparable work.

A survey is currently being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Statistic Service of ranchers throughout the area with the results to be reported to the Department of Labor by the end of September. Hopes are to have a new, more workable wage rate from the Department of Labor by mid-November. This would facilitate employers to proceed with applications the first of December and have workers by the first of February.

The Winter Directors meeting for the TS&GRA is set for January 11 in San Angelo.

"Cleanliness"-

Read Mark 7:1-23

Charles Huffman, Pastor Hope Lutheran Church

We've all heard the old saying: 'Cleanliness is next to godliness'. We probably heard it from our parents, and may have passed it on to our children. A mother might picture cleanliness as children keeping themselves and their rooms neat and in order. And in these days troubled with pollution and excess garbage, we might envision it as a desirable quality for the whole nation. 'Cleanliness is next to godliness'. By nature we're also concerned about another standard-God's. What does it take to be clean before God? How can we sinful humans ever hope to measure-up to His standards?

In the above reading from Mark chapter 7, some Parisees and Bible scholars came to see Jesus and were discussing the same subject. The important thing here, however, is why they came. The didn't come to Jesus looking for help, comfort, or a Savior. They came to accuse, to find fault with His people, because they had seen His disciples break a Jewish 'rule'-they didn't wash their hands before they ate. Cleanliness before God begins with coming for the right reason. When we go to church, do we look for something to which we may object-the other worshippers, the music, the sermon? Secondly, just as people can come for the wrong reason, we can also listen to the wrong source-to the man-made rules and traditions. Many Jews thought their heritage would make them clean in God's sight, and so they looked down on all others as unclean and impure.

But don't we too often see this same attitude of superiority within the Christian Church today? Aren't we a bit uncomfortable about having 'sinners' in our midst? When we hear something bad about someone, hadn't we rather gossip about them and avoid them?

Cleanliness before God includes listening to the right source-His Word. Our tendency to find fault and look down on others in itself reflects the fact that we're impure and defiled before God, for His Word tells us our true conditions. In Isaiah 64 we read: "We've ALL become like an unclean person, and all our righteousness are as filthy rags before Him".

However, we dare not stop our listening to the Word of God on that fearful message. Cleanliness before God not only means listening to the right source-His Word-but also listening to its entire message. In chapter 10, Mark records the 'theme' of his Gospel with these words of Jesus: "Why, even the Son of Man didn't come to be served, but to serve and to give His life as a ransom for many people". Paraphrasing that theme into our reading, we might say that Christ came to 'pay the laundry bill', the price necessary to cleanse us in God's sight. That price was extremely high, as Peter reminds us in chapter 1 of his first Epistle: "not by a payment of silver or gold, which perish, but by the precious blood of Christ, the Lamb without a fault or spot". The Good News is that Jesus Christ has paid the price-for you and for me-with His death on the Cross. He died, that we might not die in the filthiness of our sins! And the Good News of His Resurrection is that He rose from the dead that we might now live in cleanliness before God.

So Jesus tells us that we're not unclean because of what we eat or drink, or whether we wash our hands or not. And in the same way, we cannot be made pure before God based on the external things we say, or do. Jesus tells us that the 'heart of the matter' is the heart. As our heart goes, so goes our cleanliness.

If 'Cleanliness is next to godliness', it's because Jesus has brought us next to God. He has cleansed us, so that we might come to Him for the right reason-not to find fault with His people, but to find help and comfort. He has cleansed us, so that we might listen to the right source-not to rules and traditions for men, but to the Good News of God's Word. He has cleansed us, so that we might respond-not with outward legalism, but with a trusting heart. He has cleansed us-forgiven all our sins-that we might have cleanliness before God. May we always cling to the purity we have in Jesus Christ by faith in the promises of God.

West Texas Folk stories come alive in new volume

True tales and tall ones come alive in "Castle Gap and the Pecos Frontier," just published by Texas Christian University Press. Patrick Dearen of San Angelo is the author of this definitive, thoroughly documented study of six West Texas folk stories.

Included are the stories of:

--Castle Gap, a break in a mesa some 12 miles east of the Pecos River, used by Comanches on the warpath, emigrants seeking California gold and cattlemen driving Longhorns up the Goodnight-Loving Trail;

--Horsehead Crossing, the most infamous ford of the Old West, considered the graveyard of hopes by drovers and emigrants alike;

--Juan Cordona Lake, the vast salt lake where sandstorms and skull-baking sun defied early efforts to mine the salt needed for everyday survival on the frontier;

--The "bulto" or ghost who wanders the Fort Stockton night in search of peace;

--Lost Wagon Train, a 40-wagon caravan entombed in the sands of West Texas;

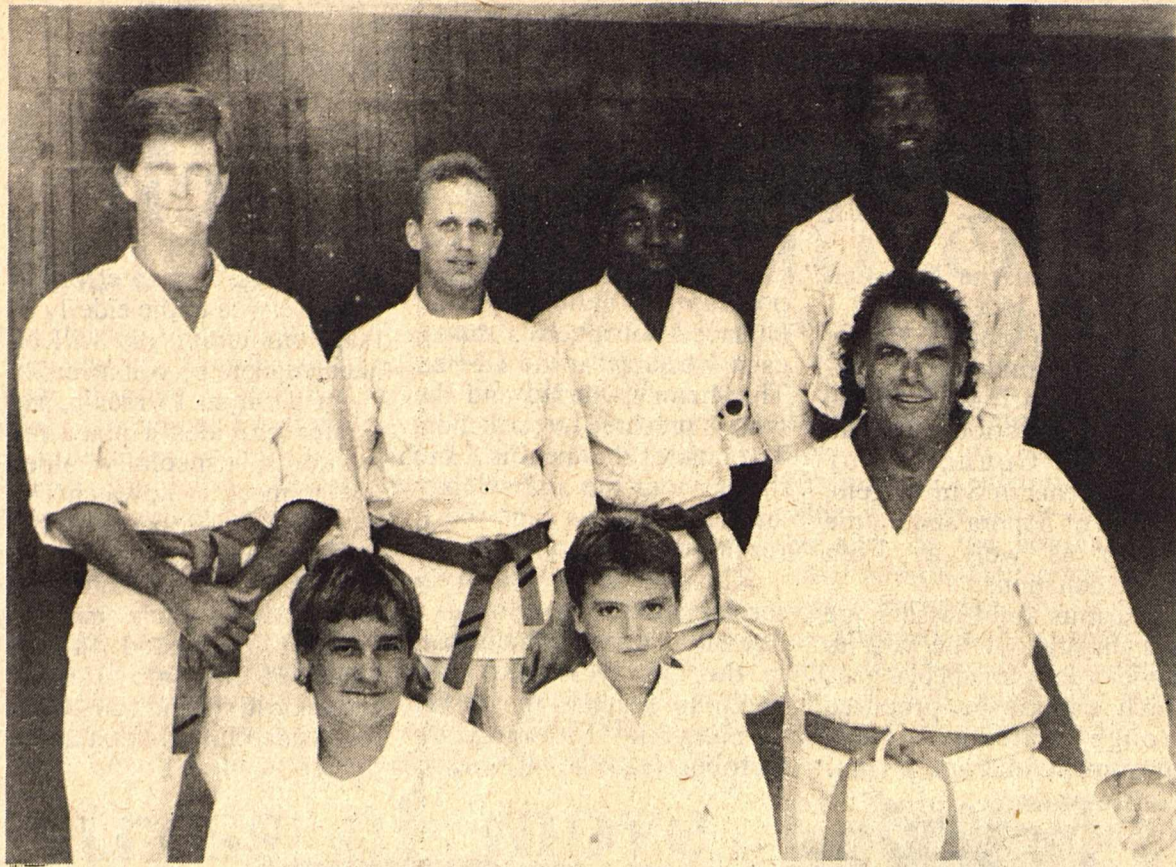

--Will Sublett, who found a fortune in gold hidden in the Pecos Country and kept the secret of its location even unto death.

Dearen's years of research into these now-aged mysteries and legends included personal visits with many residents and old timers of the Pecos Frontier. A complete index lists everybody interviewed and quoted. In addition, he read yellowing newspapers and dusty court records and walked the country himself, finding the landmarks. From his search emerges a fascinating picture of an inhospitable land, its heritage and its people.

"Castle Gap and the Pecos Frontier" is illustrated with maps and both old and new photographs.

Dearen, a lifelong resident of West Texas, hold a journalism degree from the University of Texas and has been a regional reporter for two West Texas newspapers. In addition to "Castle Gap and the Pecos Frontier," he is the author of three published novels. Dearen is available to speak to groups, large or small, about his West Texas research. An appearance can be arranged by contacting TCU Press, Box 30783, Fort Worth, Texas 76109 (817-921-7822).

TCU Press-books are distributed by Texas A&M University Press, Drawer C, College Station, Tx. 77843-4354 (409-845-1436).

Certain factors increase risk

There are certain factors that increase the risk of having gallstones. Birth control pills and estrogen have a definite effect on a woman's chance of developing gallstones, when her chances are already greater than a man's. Gallstones tend to run in families, certain nationalities are more susceptible and women are also more susceptible if they have pregnancies. Nonetheless, about 30% of the population will have gallstones by age 65, when men pretty much catch up with women.

Fortunately, most people never have symptoms and doctors sometimes wonder what to do with an older person who has "silent gallstones" showing up on a physical exam in an x-ray or an ultrasound. For some people, however, the stones cause tremendous abdominal pain which may be accompanied by nausea and vomiting and, eventually, jaundice. Frank symptoms appear because a stone is wedged in the narrow funnel where the gallbladder turns into a "bile duct" (cystic duct) or moved on into the common bile duct which causes a lot more pain, a yellowish discoloration of the skin and a difficulty in digesting fat in the diet. The majority of individuals with gallbladder symptoms eventually undergo surgery. They number about half a million a year in this country. A new development is a scope that can be passed through the mouth to the point where the bile duct enters the intestine and can be widened allowing the stone to move painlessly into the intestine and then out of the body. But, alternately, chemicals can be injected through the scope to dissolve gallstones. Cholesterol gallstones are susceptible to pills that may reduce their size so that they may pass (or to the size that's just right to be caught in the duct, requiring immediate surgery).

We haven't been able to treat gallstones with lithotripsy because of the hazards of the nearby liver and lung tissue, and the stones, once fragmented, do not flow out as efficiently as in the river that originates in the kidneys where sound wave stone blasting has worked so well. Many people put up for years with indigestion after eating associated with bloating and abdominal pain, and when forced by the emergency of obstruction associated by high fever, severe pain and jaundice into emergency surgery, look back on an adult life of indigestion and discomfort and are amazed at how subtle was the onset of their gallbladder troubles.

Court

Attorney J.W. Johnson submitted a request to include two of his employees on the County's health insurance program with the understanding that each employee would pay their own premiums which the Court approved.

Johnson also made a request for $10,000 as Sutton County's share of the salary for an Appellate Attorney which Johnson proposes to hire for the District.

The Commissioners voted to defer action on the request until Sutton County has a need for the attorney at which time the Commissioners would be open to further discussion of the matter.

The approval of the Good Roads Amendment was adopted by the Court. This amendment states the preference of the county to have no state or federal funds diverted from the highway funding for use in ways other than its original purpose.

'SELF' CONTROL

by J. Michael Fish

Psychic phenomena

Did you ever have a hunch or feeling that concerned someone or something important to you? Did you act on it to find that your hunch was correct or that you received some benefit due to the advance timing of that knowledge of unknown origin?

Happens everyday? This information, hunches and feelings are called Psi-pronounced, SIGH.

Discussing psychic phenomena requires terms that aren't used in our 'everyday' language. Here are four of those terms, defined for our convenience.

Para-normal-that which is beyond what is considered as the normal.

Para-psychological-that which goes beyond the known limitations of the mind.

Psychic phenomena-that which oversteps the confines of known physical laws.

Psi-all information processing that does not come from the physical senses (hearing, sight, smell, etc.) or presently understood functions of the brain.

Studies and research are now showing that the psychic skills and abilities are natural to the human being. We are, more than likely, born with these abilities and allow time to go undeveloped due to social unacceptance and repression due to general fear of the unknown.

Those of us that have been fortunate enough to develop our psychic skills are considered special or gifted and treated as such. Of these, many let their abilities have near complete control of their lives due to the recognition or the profit that comes from the seeming novelty of such talents.

Assuming that the psychic senses are meant only to add to the perceptions that the physical senses can give; would you pay another person $25 to $100 to use their sense of sight to tell you what you look like or describe your environment?

I don't think so. Unless you are one who is blind, you would simply look into a mirror or take a look around at your surroundings.

The point is; develop the psychic senses, spend the necessary time in their development, but when you reach a point of acceptable skillfulness put them in a comfortable perspective. Don't let them control you or set your goals.

Three of the most widely used forms of psi are telepathy, clairvoyance and precognition; there are more.

Telepathy is the knowledge of another's thoughts, emotions or sensations without the power of the physical senses or processes of normal deduction.

Clairvoyance concerns the acquisition of information about an object, location or event without the use of the physical senses or known processes of deduction.

Precognition is the obtaining of information about an object, location or event in the future without the known processes of deduction.

One morning, on a bus, after working a midnight shift, I willed myself to "see into the future;" and did!

In a state of fatigue and complete relaxation, I viewed a scene that would occur twenty minutes later. The event itself was not important, the significance lies in the fact that I did it as an act of my will. This was the first time for me.

Your physical senses will block or 'filter' the operation of your psychic skill and abilities. They work fine when we are asleep or in a state of relaxation, where the physical senses are dulled or not working in the alert.

We should practice good relaxation techniques in order to develop any para-normal skills. Simply lying back in a recliner or on a bed, either alone or where distractions are few and can be easily 'tuned out.' Now, consciously relax every part and muscle of your body, from the muscles in your toes to those in your scalp. This is also good therapy for easing stress.

No where have I said that para-psychological aptitude will turn a person into a 'fortune-telling, dark eyed mystic.' On the contrary, my purpose is to convey that in order to maximize our effort in leading a fulfilling life we must realize and make use of our God-given potentials. We have them, NOW.

There is much more to life than psychic skill and ability. There is a world out there crying for positive attention, ideas and efforts. Our very own lives cry for the same.

However, psi proclaims to all that there is more to us than our physical world.

Psi can enrich our everyday lives, can help us understand our 'self', develop creativity and awareness, expand our thinking to include the universe and give us freedom-the likes of which we have not know before.

A "dream" serves the community well

The Sutton County Senior Center came into being about sixteen years ago. The need was here and concerned citizens became active in seeing their "dream come true". The advisory board for the Center has met in various places throughout the years before moving the program into its present location shortly before the Nutrition program was added in 1979.

Funding to keep the Center running comes from Tr-Counties Nutrition Program based in Junction, Concho Valley Council of Governments in San Angelo, the City of Sonora and Sutton County as well as from private donations.

Various fund-raisers are held throughout the year to provide funds for special need which cannot be procured through state and local government funding.

Through the Nutrition program, a delicious, well balanced hot lunch is served each weekday at the Center. The menu is varied and the food is prepared to perfection. The cost of the meal is $3 to those under the age of sixty and on a "pay as can" basis for those over sixty.

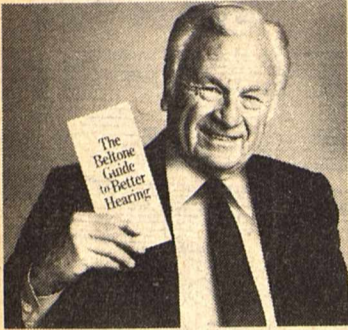

The Center is currently serving almost eighty meals a day, an increase of almost half in the past year, and will begin to prepare meals for delivery in Eldorado on October 3. The Eldorado program is a joint effort to begin service to the elderly of that community and will be handled there by volunteers.

In addition to meals, the Center provides a place for residents, especially older one, to meet, visit, watch TV, play bingo or work on crafts.

The Center also acts as the site for free commodities distribution each month. Persons interested in the commodities must meet certain criteria and can obtain the needed information at the Center.

Eleven passengers can ride in the air-conditioned comfort in the 1988 Ford van recently acquired at the Center which is used to bring Senior Citizens to the Center for lunch, take them shopping or to pay bills and to make a monthly trip to San Angelo for doctors appointments.

The purchase of the van as a joint venture whose cost was shared by Sutton County, the City of Sonora and the Committee on Aging. The Committee contributed their share of the funds from donations made to the Center which are tax-deductible.

The Committee has now earmarked a Building Fund to be used to construct an addition to the existing building. A pool table has already been donated for the addition and the room will also be used for meal serving on the occasions when the main room is filled. File photo/DRN.

Lifeline provides essential service for citizens

In place in Sonora for almost five years, Lifeline provides a needed service for elderly persons and for persons living alone.

Instituted within the community by the Sutton County Committee on Aging with the help of the Hospital Auxiliary, Lifeline units are placed in the homes of persons living alone or persons with know medical problems.

When a unit is placed in a home, a list of four responders is furnished by the person. These responders are usually neighbors, family or friends and the names are normally listed in order of proximity of the persons home.

The unit consists of a "home-base" device which works on the telephone line of it's owner and a "necklace" that the owner wears.

Monitoring for these base-units is done at Hudspeth Memorial Hospital. If the home unit is not reset each day, an alarm is sounded at the hospital. The precept behind this is that as long as the person is able to reset the unit, they are okay. If the unit is not reset a responder is sent immediately to check on the person.

The necklace can and should be worn at all times. In the event of an emergency, a button on the necklace can be pushed which activates the alarm at the hospital. The hospital in turn calls the responder who goes to the home of the person. From the time the button is pushed until the responder arrives is usually just a matter of minutes. The value of wearing the necklace can't be stressed enough; no one schedules an accidental fall or the sudden onset of an illness however, by wearing the necklace help can be summoned immediately.

Currently there are approximately twenty of the Lifeline units in place in Sutton County. Fortunately the units have been purposely activated only several times but in these instances, they have proved to be as the name say--Lifelines.

Anyone wishing further information on the Lifeline program may call the Senior Center at 387-5657.

Companion program helps senior citizens

The Concho Valley Council of Governments has instituted a new program called the Senior Companion Program and is designed to help the elderly maintain their independent way of living.

Program Director Kathy Park said the program has been funded to allow for thirty-four companions who will operate out of bases set up through the thirteen county area which CVCOG serves.

The Senior Companion

Program is limited to volunteers who are over the age of 60 and works on the premise that you are never too old to volunteer as long as you are healthy enough to do it.

Companions can volunteer to work up to four hours a day, five days per week and will be given a stipend of $2.20 per hour with a maximum weekly amount to not exceed $44. The stipend belongs to the Companion to be used as they wish.

The best part of the stipend is that it cannot be considered as income; therefore, it does not affect or change a Companion's income level when it comes to low-income housing or the amount of other benefits the Companion may be receiving. The stipend is allowed and approved under the Domestic Volunteer Act of 1973, passed by the Federal Government.

To become a volunteer with the Senior Companion Program a person must be: 1) at least sixty years of age, 2) at an income level not exceeding guidelines set up for the program, and 3) a caring person who wants something to do and likes to help others.

The duties of a Companion include: 1) visits to homebound adults aged twenty-one or over who suffer from some kind of sickness, disability, or must be confined to their home, 2) provides light housekeeping, companionship, meal preparation when necessary, help with persons whose illness or age limits their movements or walking, and 3) gives friendship to those who need it, especially those who are elderly, depressed or ill.

When becoming a Senior Companion, volunteers are required to attend an initial orientation workshop, then to attend a regular in-service training meeting each month. In addition, they can participate in fun-type activities, special field trips, special recognition luncheons, and group get-togethers.

If you are interested in the Senior Companion Program, write to the Concho Valley Council of Government, P.O. Box 60050, San Angelo, Texas 76906 or call (915)944-9666.

Exercise good at any age

Many Americans think that the retirement years are a time to slow down and that physical decline is inevitable. But according to the Presidents' Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, much of the frailty associated with aging is actually the result of not using our muscles.

Studies show that regular exercise can delay the aging process, help control weight, strengthen the heart and lungs, and firm up the body.

In the U.S. less than half of all people over 60 participate in regular forms of vigorous exercise. Most believe they get all the exercise they need from gardening or playing golf but these activities do not attain adequate levels of exertion to keep you fit.

To become physically fit, you need to engage in physical activities that raise your heart rate and work your lungs, such as walking or bicycling.

For those who take charge of their physical well-being, seniority can be a wonderful time of life.

But before beginning any exercise program, see your doctor who can recommend the best way for you attain and maintain your physical fitness.

Bingo at Center in Junction October 1

On Saturday, October 1, 1988 bingo games will be held at the Senior Citizens Center located at 404 College Street in Junction. The games will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The games are being sponsored by the Kimble County Senior Citizens' Building Association and will feature cash prizes as authorized by the Bingo Enabling Act.

The Bingo Enabling Act passed by the Texas Legislature in 1981 lets cities and counties hold elections to allow bingo games sponsored by charitable organizations which have received licenses from the State Comptroller. Voters in the City of Junction gave their approval in June of 1983.

Under the terms of the Act, an organization may give cash prizes not to exceed $500 on one game or $2,500 in one night.

Seating at the Senior Citizens Center is limited to 200 and no one under the age of eighteen can be admitted to the games. A concession stand will be available.

Stress of move can be reduced

Families can reduce the stress of relocation by acquainting elders with their new environment before they move into a nursing home or retirement center.

According to Dr. Judith Warren, a gerontology specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, various types of orientation will enhance the elder's sense of familiarity and control over the move.

"Visiting the facility and meeting the staff are the best means of orientation, but are often impractical for the frail elderly," she said.

"Some facilities have slide presentations or even scale models that families can take home to show the elder. Or you may want to take your own slides or snapshots of different rooms to help the elder visually walk-through the new environment," Warren continued.

"Certainly, the willingness of center staff to provide a tour for new residents and the quality of their orientation materials are points to consider in selecting a facility," she said.

Warren said a feeling of being more in control of the move will occur if the older person can select his or her room from those available and help choose what date and time the move will take place.

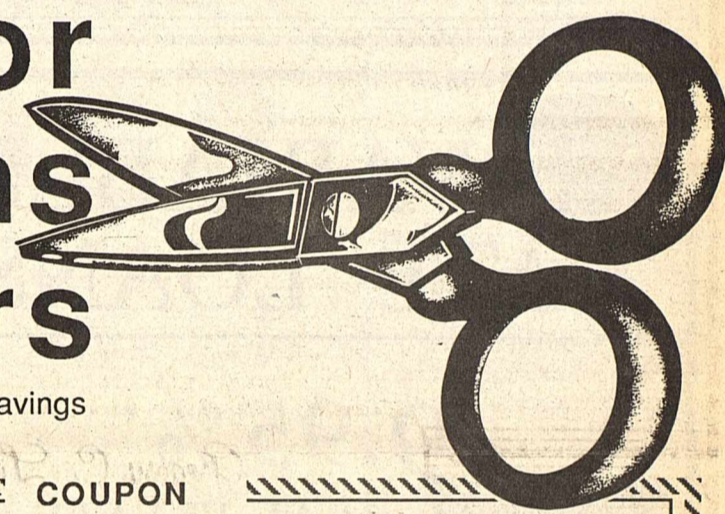

Elders also need input into how the move will occur, including what furniture and decorations they will bring, how the room will be arranged and who will help with the move.

"Enhancing familiarity and control won't eliminate all relocation stress," said the gerontologist. "But orienting elders to their new home increases their confidence in their ability to find their way in unfamiliar surroundings."

According to Dr. Warren, "Building confidence in way-finding may influence whether elders will come out of their rooms, meet new friends and engage in activities which lead to a healthy adjustment."

She also said that research conducted at the University of Wisconsin indicates that feelings of control and familiarity in new surroundings reduces elders' mortality and sickness rates during the critical transition period.

SENIOR WATCH

OLD FOLK AIN'T ALL THE SAME

by Joe Glazer

When I was in my twenties, getting close to thirty, I thought you were over the hill at age forty; But now that I'm fifty, pushing on to sixty, I've seen seventy year olds who are pretty frisky. I've seen them in the marathon with fast moving feet, And yet — I've seen others barely making it across the street

That's when I began to realize That old folks come in different conditions and sizes And shapes and situations. And I found out that Old Folks Ain't All the Same.

They're not cranked out by a Xerox machine, Some are rich ... lots are poor and plenty in-between, Some been married to number one forty years or more; And some are on number two, or three or four ... And still looking for the right one to come along.

Some listen to symphonies, some to pop, Some like Dixie and some be-bop; Some like waltzes, others like soul, And some of these old folks can rock and roll Or do the conga or the rumba or the jitterbug. But let's face it — some of these old folks have two left feet and can't dance worth a hoot.

Some old folks are talkers, some quiet as a mouse, Some are smilers, others grump and grouse And when reminiscing about their youth, Some lie like hell while others tell the truth. Some are worn out at sixty-five, Others full of beans, like to jump and jive Take trips around the world — ramble and roam While others like the Old Folks at Home ...

Sitting in the old rockin' chair, Thinking about the grandchildren, Sipping iced tea While watching some crappy show on TV.

Some old folks are fat, some are thin And some have whiskers on their chin; Some eat rice and some like pasta

Some play bridge and some canasta; Some go bare-headed and some wear hats, Some are Republicans, some Democrats; Some watch soap operas, some watch sports And some watch only the weather reports — Especially if they live in Florida or Arizona. They just love to hear that weatherman say: "A blizzard has just blanketed Chicago with fourteen inches of snow and New York City is paralyzed from a freezing rain which has caused hundreds of accidents in the heart of Manhattan."

We've got old people who are record breakers History makers, movers and shakers; We've got old people who are over-achievers. World leaders, eager beavers ... Pictures in the paper, Names in the history books, See 'em on the television Interviewed by Dan Rather and Barbara Walters, Then we've got old people spent a lifetime Working in a factory or down in a mine Worked hard every day, never made any news They did their jobs, they paid their dues ...

Raising their families, Making their contribution, Nothing sensational ... Just helping to build the nation.

Now the only point that I'm trying to make Is always remember for heaven's sake, Old folks are not made on the assembly line, They're as different as your mother is from mine. Each one has an individual name, And all old folks just ain't the same.

Folk singer Joe Glazer wrote Old Folks Ain't All The Same as the title song of an album that is available for senior citizen groups to use as a fundraiser. Wolves win over Broncos 38-14

by Decky Spiller

This past Friday the Broncos traveled to Colorado City for the fourth non-district game of the season. Although the Broncos were the first to score they did not come away with a victory. Sonora's defense held the Wolves well but allowed too many big plays on third or fourth and long.

Offensively in the first half the Broncos struggled. Sonora went to the air when it became apparent that they were having trouble on the ground. Number twenty-one, Todd Keller carried three times for ten yards; number thirty-two, Tracy Love carried two times for eight yards and number forty, Chacho Cahill carried eight times for twenty-seven yards. The Broncos linemen worked hard throughout the entire game but had much difficulty in holding open holes for their backs. They were, however, fairly successful in holding back the inside pass rush. In the passing offense, number eleven, Michael Harris completed three of his eleven passes, one to number eighty-four, Eddie Virgen for nine yards and two to Keller for thirty-three yards.

A bright spot for the Broncos was in the first quarter when number twenty-three, Eric Espinosa returned a punt for fifty-five yards and a touch down. Espinosa also returned three Wolf kickoffs for twenty-five yards. Keller returned a kickoff for ten yards, number eighty, Danny Hulsey punted three times with an average of thirty-one yards. After Sonora's first half touchdown number thirty, Manuel Martinez kicked an extra point and then kicked off for forty-five yards, at the end of the first half the score stood; Sonora-7, Colorado City-17.

In the second half the Broncos passing game gained strength. Harris threw fourteen and completed half of his passes to Love for five, two to Virgen for eighteen, one to Espinosa for eighteen, one to Keller for thirteen, and one to Hulsey for twenty-two. The bulk of the second half rushing for the Broncos was done on five carries by Cahill for eighteen yards. Keller and Espinosa returned three Wolf kickoffs for a total of forty-two yards. Hulsey was forced to punt three times averaging twenty-nine yards.

The defense again held Colorado City but allowed big plays on long yardage situation. Number seventy-three, Kevin Richter recovered a Wolf fumble and the Broncos drove down the field to score in a burst of energy. But Sonora could not regain any momentum and the final score was Sonora-14, Colorado City-38.

The Broncos are a young team and are gaining experience with every game. We learned alot from this game and we will be back, better than ever!
