Authors, here's your chance

Do you write poetry or short stories? Would you like a chance to share them with others? If so, the Outdoor Drama Group has got a deal for you!

In a search for new material to be presented at the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater as well as a desire to showcase some of the hidden talent in Sonora, the Outdoor Drama Group extends an invitation to all local authors to submit a sampling of your work for possible inclusion during the coming season. If this sounds interesting to you, please send a sample of your writing to the Devil's River News, 220 N.E. Main, no later than April 1, 1989.

Poems or stories should have a flavor of the old West "as it was" and can be written about the Sutton County region of Texas but subject matter is not limited to this part of the country.

If your material is selected, you may either choose to present the selection yourself at the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater or you may choose to have someone else perform the selection. This choice eliminates the issue of public speaking if it's not one of your favorite things to do.

Plans for the 1989 Season are progressing nicely with some exciting new talents to be included on the roster of entertainment.

Sutton County Steakhouse will once again be catering and the remodeling done through the winter in the gift shop and on the grounds of the Caverns will make this coming season even more attractive to visitors and locals as well.

Ram performance test field day and sale set for March 16

animals beginning around 2:30 p.m."

Upon arrival prospective buyers will be free to inspect rams along with their performance test records prior to an 11:30 a.m. barbecue lunch catered by the Sutton County 4-H Club. update of the Association's activities.

Giving the first talk is Ashley Bullock with Burlington Industries of Clarksville, VA. and giving the second is Dr. Charles Livingston, TAES Professor from San Angelo.

Then Shelton and Dr. Chris Lupton, Associate Professor of San Angelo will make comments concerning the Ram Test Program and Results. They will be followed by the awarding of this year's certified ram certificates. Making the presentations is Garden City producer, Mark Schaefer.

Dillard honored for forty years service

Byerl Dillard, Switching Technician for GTE Southwest Incorporated, celebrated forty years of service on March 9.

Dillard began his career with GTE in 1949, working as a lineman with the unlocated crew for 70 cents an hour. He came to Sonora as a combination man in 1955, and was responsible for both the central office and outside plant facilities.

GTE converted the North All Relay switching equipment in the Sonora central office with Automated Electric's Step by Step equipment in 1966, and Byerl played an important role in that conversion. Three years later, a change to Central Office Repairman resulted in Byerl being responsible solely for the central office, and he has kept up that responsibility well.

Throughout the years, Byerl has seen many things come and go. He has adapted to different situation and to the different changes that go on in the telephone industry. One thing, however, has remained constant; his sincere dedication to the company and his sincere dedication to giving the people of Sonora the quality service that they have come to expect.

Byerl Dillard was presented a belt buckle set with four diamonds to commemorate his forty years service with GTE. Contributed photo.

Smoking discussed at meeting

Among the items on the Sutton County Hospital District's agenda during their regular meeting on March 13 was the institution of smoking policy in the hospital.

New charcoal filters will be placed throughout the ventilation system in the facility to control smoking odors and designated smoking areas have been marked and are to be used by both staff and visitors. Cost involved for the new filters and filtering material will be approximately $750.

The Board decided unanimously to discontinue the taping of meetings. The practice was started in an effort to make transcribing meetings to the written minutes more convenient.

As part of policy for the hospital and nursing home, all applicants for employment will undergo a criminal history check prior to hiring.

Bids were received on a new emergency room table with Colson Equipment submitting a bid for $3,360, Hill-Rom a bid for $3,585, and Husted a bid for $3,061. By consensus, the board awarded the bid to Husted.

Hospital Administrator Scott Gilmore reported that Community was possible interested in the fetal monitor which the board decided last month to dispose of and that West Texas Rehab had been given the treadmill.

Before adjournment, the board selected Wanda Van Hoozer as Absentee Canvassing Judge, set March 23 as the date to draw for position on the ballot for the May 6 election, and heard comments from visitors.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Fellow Sonorans, About four years ago I was searching for an idea that would add value and enhance the raw products that are produced in this area.

Mohair was the outstanding example of what could be produced here and hopefully some day, have value added here.

The fact that only 2% of Texas mohair remained in the U.S. after shearing and some scouring exemplified an untapped domestic market. Texas marketed eighteen million pounds of mohair last year of which 98% was shipped abroad.

Ol Sonora Trading Co. was formed to market mohair products on a national scale. The thought was to utilize the American Textile Industry to do this. If the demand got large enough and if a local company controlled the sales, maybe we could open processing plants in Sonora.

This "dream" is now becoming a reality at much too fast a pace for my meager resources.

I have mentioned needing some help and the response has come from Fort Worth, Dallas, Atlanta, Rocksprings and Uvalde. I'm certain if these other communities take over, Sonora's name will surely come off the labels in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Dallas, Chicago, and New York stores.

If anyone has any ideas how to keep the potential mega-buck industry in Sonora, please let me know this week. Phone 387-2524 days or 387-2947 nights.

Thank you, Jimmy Cahill P.S. Elephant hunting with BB guns is tough!

Dear Editor, I read about the recent "Sutton County Drug Bust" and all those "drug dealers" that were apprehended. I personally know the majority of them and if these guys are guilty of anything it's probably doing a "friend" a favor--they are not Drug Dealers!

These people have feelings and families that have feelings. So before we judge them or label them--Let's let them have their day in court. Although I know they will probably go into debt to finance their defense.

I heard a good one in a neighboring town the other day--"Hear about the drug bust they had in Sonora? No, what happened? They busted a bunch of drunks!"-- Sorry Guys!

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

that assail us forthwith. Can you remember a southern state that Bush did not carry in the recent election? I cannot, hence the assumption the the voting majority in southern states gave Bush a mandate to set up an executive team (his personal cabinet). Tower who was inductively the best qualified man available for the job was considered high priority. He had seen all sides of the job from the senate to the contractors, kick backs and other ingrained evils.

Senator Nunn, and other southern senators, showed clearly that they put the party above the voters of their respective states, by ignoring the mandate given Bush to establish a team for the executive. Bush insisted that Tower was an essential of that team. Not one word was said about Tower's qualification. The constituent's mandate was dispatched, it appears, by paralleling the Defense Department to the PTL and it evolved into an orgy of dispensation of justice by imbibers to their likes.

It was probably a mistake to send Tower's name to the Senate and it was, considering the environment, inopportune to insist that it be debated, but it created an example for voters. For southern voters, it showed what the Democrats think of their votes, and all voters can hope the Senate Armed Forces Appropriation Committee's espoused moral creed shows up in military expenditures.

There will be good listening at the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater on March 18 if Mr. G. and Charlotte Wilson's rehearsing, and rehearsing, Irish ditties to perfection is an indication, so be sure and go out to the program. P.S. We had to listen. No ear plugs. P.S. again. Am I advised to hie me the other way next time I spy Mr. G.??!

Rev. Don Jones and young people from the Church of Christ from here and from San Marcos, and S.W.T.S.U. braved the elements to bring a program of songs to us on Saturday, March 4th. Among them were Carla Benton, Stefany Roberts, John W. Moore, Jennifer George and Alejandro Arango from Columbia.

Phyllis Jones, Mandy Turk, Ethelda Holland, "Granny" Webb, and Ilene Stewart, our beauty shop volunteers from First Baptist Church, never give up on us. They try hard to make us look good.

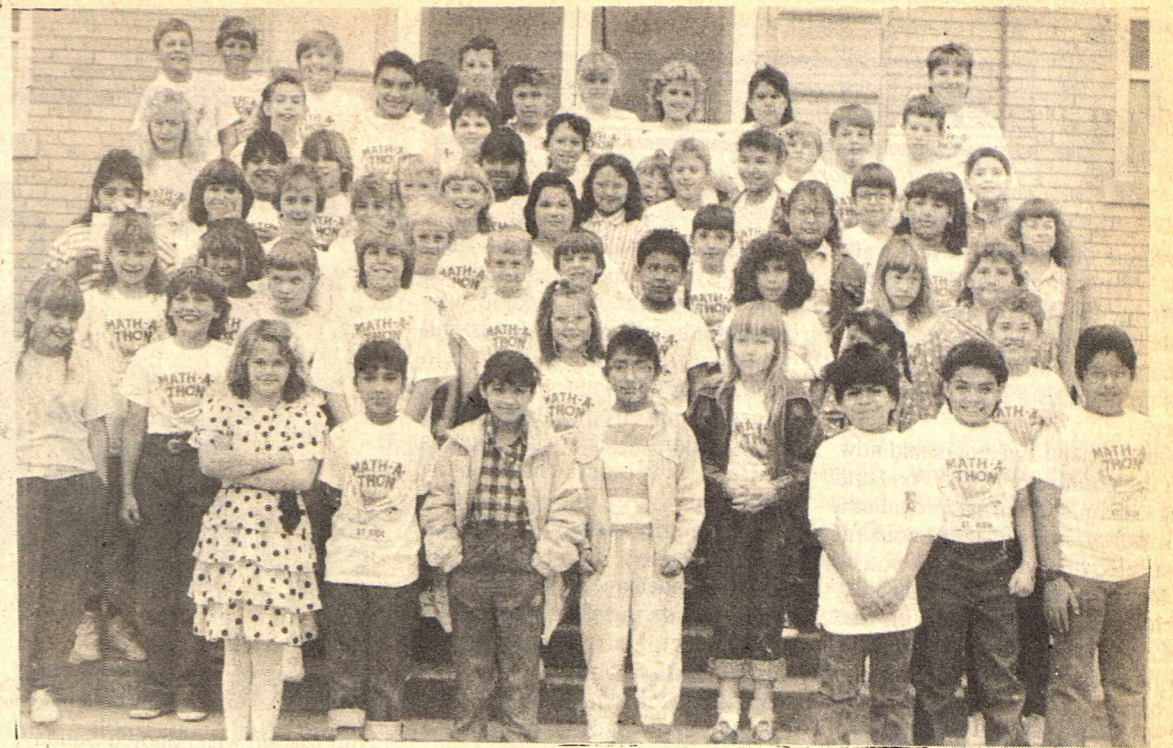

On Wednesday, March 8, Patti Strauch, D.V.M., and her precious little daughter, brought "Bud", a one-month-old bottle fed lamb for us to pet.

St. Patrick's Day, birthdays, Spring, and Easter are right around the corner. Two parties and an Easter egg hunt are on the agenda here, so stay tuned.
Bueno Bye.

synthetic foods: weighing the risks

Imagine this scenario: You walk into a restaurant and order a hamburger, fries and a shake. The meals delicious, but has practically no calories. Nutritionists agree it does no harm. But it does no good, either.

With artificial sweeteners and now with the possibility of the Food and Drug Administration's approval of a calorie-free and nutrient-avoid fat substitute, this vision may not be too far off target. But increasingly, nutritionists are examining the darker side of this dietary revolution, reports the Wall Street Journal.

Some nutrients predict that consumers will eat the synthetic foods and forego the "real" ones necessary for good health. Even worse, they fear that people who consume the calorie-free foods will use that as an excuse to indulge in food that aren't good for them. This theory comes from the fact that consumption of sugar has risen as artificial sweeteners have been introduced.

Many nutritionists urge the FDA to look beyond the safety to the overall impact on the nation's diet when considering the approval of a new product. "Just because we can imitate fruit, should we?" says Michael Jacobson, director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest.

lowfat choices in fast food

People trying to eat a low-fat diet often run into trouble when eating at fast food restaurants. But these restaurants-all 55,000 of them-are here to stay.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that half of the money spent on restaurant food goes for fast food-about $200 a year per person. This amounts to around $50 billion a year for the nation. Put it another way, over 45 million people, a fifth of our population, patronize a fast food restaurant on a typical day.

Studies also show that the number of fast food eaters will increase as more women join the work force giving them more money (but less time) to eat out. They also take along major consumers of fast food: their children.

Yet according to some experts, children may be susceptible to hardening of the arteries beginning at two years of age and shouldn't make a steady diet of typical fast foods.

What can we do to protect ourselves from excessive amounts of fat and still enjoy the convenience, variety, speed, and flavor of fast foods? Here are some suggestions:

*If ordering pizza, avoid processed meat, which usually have a high fat content. Instead, choose mushrooms, peppers and onions, and skip the extra cheese.

*When the menu is limited, choose small portions, such as a single hamburger and a small cone. Avoid anything that smacks of bigness, such as "super" and "extra".

*Breakfasts can be a problem. The elegant but deceptively fattening croissants are making rapid inroads. They have almost twice the calories and about five times the fat as two slices of whole wheat bread. Instead, order a plain English muffin and fruit juice.

*If baked potatoes are on the menu, choose them instead of French fries, but leave off the sour cream, butter, cheese and other high-fat toppings.

*Fill up at salad bars, but skip the bacon bits, potato salad, and creamy dressings. Concentrate on the vegetables and watch the amount of dressing you use. Look for low calories dressings, or, if not available, choose vinegar and oil, using very little oil.

*If you must order deep-fried foods, take off the breading or other coatings, difficult though that may seem at first.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

SELF CONTROL

by J. Michael Fish
Be yourself

Being yourself means expressing your true feelings and beliefs. It means venting your anger in a manner acceptable to you; it means expressing love and affection in ways with which you are comfortable. Being yourself is reacting to your environment and people around you in your own manner and style.

Many individuals are so inhibited that those around them never know who they really are, how they feel or their true beliefs. They are hesitant to divulge their inner-selves lest they lose friends and risk acceptance by others. Always 'on their toes', inhibited persons are cautious with every word and action.

Allowing the 'real you' freedom of expression clears the way to all creative and unique talents and abilities within.

"But I am no artist, poet or engineer," you may counter. Creative abilities surface in the unique manner in which you conduct your daily routine, accomplish assigned tasks or the style in which you handle even the most innocent of situations.

As sad as it may seem, there are those who live their entire lives within the self-made prison of their own inhibitions. Can you visualize their long faces behind the bars of their ill-acquired fears and assumptions? Silently they curse themselves for being in such a dilemma. They are envious of those experiencing freedom and acceptance and enjoying the benefits of creative living.

The key to freedom comes with the realization that it is really okay to be yourself. Should there be characteristics of your being you consider undesirable, simply practice those traits you wish to project. Imagine yourself reacting to circumstances in a positive manner or in a way best suiting your desires. Pretend you are the person you would most like to be, yet remain realistic enough to know that we are products of our own experiences, beliefs, and emotions. Enjoy the freedom from having to "watch your every step," from having to 'mask' your real self.

Certainly there is a risk of ending associations when you allow the 'real you' its freedom. These will be the one that gravitated toward you while you projected the old image. However, others will be naturally drawn toward you for who you truly are. People appreciating the talents and abilities you exhibit will convey their approval and acceptance; confidence and self-esteem will arise from within you.

It can be said that your purpose on earth is to be yourself, to perform in those capacities unique to you. Living creatively means going your own way and making the most of your assets. Inhibition bars you from fulfilling your purpose and blinds you to your own goodness.

I shall never forget the day I realized the 'real me' wasn't so bad and uninteresting. Like gaining a new lease on life, within weeks my entire world did a complete turn-around; not only did I gain acceptance of others but I finally learned to accept myself.

I've often said I don't care what others think of me and many assume this to be a belligerent statement. More aptly put, I realize I can't control the thoughts of others, purposefully offensive behavior is not within my nature and I always try to be the best person possible. My concern is not with that which I cannot control but with changing what is within my power and accepting what is not.

Being yourself doesn't mean your problems will end but you will view them as challenges--opportunities from which to grow and strengthen your character. Living will develop a 'natural feel' and a greater sense of purpose will evolve; so be yourself.

Covered Wagon Review

by Charlotte Gilmore

The Covered Wagon Dinner Theater began its 1989 Season this past Saturday night with a specially arranged show at the Caverns amphitheater. A group of R.V. owners from across the nation on their way home from attending a National Motor Home Rally in San Antonio, had arranged for the show. The Sutton County Steakhouse catered a wonderful dinner before the show.

They were a wonderfully responsive group, didn't want the sing-a-long to end, loved it when the peacocks cried during Biscuits O'Bryan's storytelling, went wild when an armadillo walked out of the woods during the performance, were delighted with the "Gentleman from Odessa" stew and camp coffee concocted by Biscuits right beside the stage, and wanted the entertainers to autograph their programs.

Our Biscuits O'Bryan provided a good show as usual and Julie Ann Carpenter, the ten-year old National Championship fiddler from San Angelo, did a fantastic job. (We will have a chance to hear her on August 4 when she performs during the regular summer season.) Scott Gilmore, Shelia Harris and Patti Strauch were a wonderful sing-a-long group.

One would have thought the beautiful West Texas evening was planned. The weather was the nicest had all winter--warm and sunny during dinner, then cool enough during the show to enjoy Biscuits' camp coffee and the smell of a campfire burning. Sure glad they didn't schedule for the previous weekend.

Anyone who has not seen all the improvements the Caverns folks have made during the winter should drive out just to say howdy and look around. They are serious about

Whitehead concludes year as Masked Rider

On March 1, Lea Whitehead took her last ride around Jones Stadium as Texas Tech University's Masked Rider. As part of the "Transfer of the Reins" ceremony, Lea made the following remarks that reflect on the many experiences she had while serving as Tech's famed mascot.

"Has this past year been great or what? I want you to know that it has been very, very fine in so many different ways. For me it has been the highest personal honor to be chosen to symbolize the high spirit, excitement and fantastic achievements of the Texas Tech athletic season. It has been my greatest pleasure to have had the rare and very special opportunity to be associated with the caring and outstanding individuals who were an integral part of the Masked Rider functions.

"The people and businesses of Lubbock were extremely supportive and respectful of the Masked Rider. Their unselfish contributions of time, money, services, and equipment were deeply appreciated. At this time I would like to give a special thanks to Andy Kean, my advisor, Mary Goodwin, John and Kenda Pipkin, Brunken Chevrolet, Luskey's, the Student Foundation for their generous scholarship, Saddle Tramps for the support they gave throughout the year, and the Athletic Department for the encouragement they consistently provided.

"The loyal and dependable 'Don't Mess With Texas Tech' Pooper Scoopers proved what true friends are for as they stood by me, or should I say behind Midnight Raider and me, during the games doing what they are supposed to do. Whether it was 90 degrees or 10 degrees, they kept our image clean. The fantasy of the legendary Masked Rider was appreciated and welcomed all over Texas and as far away as Japan. Our trip to Tokyo was a marvelous experience and made us realize how blessed we are to have the wide open spaces and be able to see the sky, not to mention the price of beef.

"My appearances were never dull as audiences and animals are never predictable. One of the times that I remember as being about the most comical occurred during the Fiesta celebration in San Antonio last April-my first big parade and with the lighted costume. As customary, it was hurry up and wait. It took me about forty-five minutes to get the horse saddled and to get my costume on, pinned, taped, and plugged into the battery pack which had already leaked on most of my clothes. Then I had to wait before I could take my place in line. As the parade time grew near, my lights

"This whole year has been magic for me. I can't begin to list all of my appearances, but one that was especially meaningful to me. The 4th of July West of the Pecos Rodeo is rodeo's equivalent to the Cotton Bowl in excitement and tradition. It's the perpetual dream of all cowboys and cowgirls who are worth their salt to want to be a part of that gathering. It has always been mine too, and it came true in an even more thrilling way as I got to ride as a celebrity in the parade and around that huge arena as a legendary Masked Rider.

"My reign has been a very busy rewarding one, and I leave with a deep sense of fulfillment. My only regret is that there was not enough of me, or time enough for me, to accept every invitation. A fond farewell to my year. Someone else will wear my shining cape and black hat, but the honor will always be alive and my heart will always skip a beat when I hear 'There goes the Masked Rider'."

Lea is actively involved in a number of other groups and activities at Texas Tech. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority and served as the organization's pledge trainer on 1987. She is a member of the Texas Tech Rodeo Team, the 1988 Wool Judging Team, and Agricultural Communicators of Tomorrow. She served as Horseman Club Reporter in 1988 and has been nominated for Texas Tech University Student Leader of the Year 1989.

COWBOY ASTROLOGY

By Mary Ellen Doty

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Well, you old Ram, this week is your last chance to jump on the trump train to a bundle o' coin. There's a money deal just a waitin' for your lasso. You'll be sorrier than a sick pup if ya wait till next week.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Good gracious, The Bull has talkin' talents that won't take hind tit t' no man this week. Why, you could talk your way into and out of a burlap bag. Use it wisely to drive your point home this week.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Home is where the heart is - for some maybe. But your heart's on the road. This week somebody special who lives on that old home place with ya needs ya there. Tie yourself t' that old livin' room chair.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) March 18 & 19 a shiny young thing bats her baby blues your way - and you don't get it. Look twice, Cancer - she wants you. Tie your hat to the saddle and run, don't walk t' kiss her little feet.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Now, I know this old astrologer has been recommendin' you Leos keep yer nose so close to the grindstone that your eyes are lookin' at each other. Sorry. The stars say one more week on the hard rock pile.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22) If you don't watch that mouth this week, Virgo, you'll end up in double harness. I think you might want to. Though with you it's rare as a fifth ace in a poker deck.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 22) I know whatcha been thinkin', you old devil - and if ya keep it up you'll end up with enough offspring t' start a public school! Don't gamble on losin' a good girl who's already in your saddle bag.

SCORPIO (Oct 23-Nov 21) There's a horse just fast as anything that ever looked through a bridle waiting to take you away from it all. And if he won't, ask a greyhound or a big bird. But stayin' home this week makes you sad as a blood-hound's eye - Don't.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22-Dec 21) Have you allowed how most o' cowpokes this past month have been goin' in circles like a picketed pony? You are the only old boy with any direction and it's up to you to direct 'em. Everybody's mood has been so sour it'd pucker a pig's mouth, so get 'em on track!!

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19) "When in doubt, trust to your hoss" has always been your philosophy, Capricorn. Well, you've got a friend you can trust. And this week you need to trust him with a matter so secret you ain't told no one. Look up the old buzzard.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 18) Now, not t' scare the thinker of thinkers, but your brain's pulled it's picket pin and gone astray this week. Best not to make any important decisions now.

PISCES (Feb 19-March 20) One more week of charm and flash, Fish! Take advantage, 'cause next week it's back to feeding hay and motherin' up calves. Have fun!

BRONCO TAILS

by Cynthia Kepler

This week you'll really get the chance to see some Sonora kids in action! Sonora High is really closing out the week before Spring Break with a bang, so come on out and watch!

The District One-Act Play competition will be held Saturday in the Sonora High School Auditorium. Besides Sonora; Brady, Fredericksburg and Llano will be competing for the chance to move on to Area competition. Sonora has always had a strong one-act play, so I want to ask everyone to come out and enjoy it this Saturday. Plays start at 2:00-the Sonora play will be third. Each play takes about an hour, but people will only be admitted to the auditorium in between plays, so if you plan to watch, make sure you leave enough spare time. The play Sonora will present is titled, "What I Did Last Summer."

Another chance to watch some Bronco action! This weekend, Sonora will host several schools for its annual tennis tournament. Play begins on Friday at 8:30 a.m. and continues Saturday. Come on out and watch a few matches. If the Bronco tennis teams record hold true, it ought to be an exciting tournament!. This past weekend in Big Lake, Sonora also did well, bringing back Bonnie Woodard, Matt Hodges, Charla Kramer and Cynthia Kepler for quarterfinal matches. In addition, Susen McCleery and Allison Schwiening went on to place third in girls doubles. Jesse Lynch and John Russell placed third in boys doubles, and Sean Peck was the boys singles consolation champion. Way to go Broncos!

The golf team was inactive this weekend, but members of the track team went to Eldorado for the Eagle Relays. Results in the girls competition included a 1st for Christi Adkins in the high jump. Overall Sonora girls scored twenty-two points. For the boys varsity, Terry placed 3rd in the Shot Put, Sentena-3rd Discus, Lira-2nd Long Jump, Keller-1st Pole Vault, Luna-2nd and Capuchina-3rd, 3200 meter run, Sanchez-3rd, 200 meter dash, and Capuchina 1st and Luna 3rd 1600 meter run. Overall the boys had eighty-seven points to finish third. I couldn't find any JV results, but the JV boys ended up 1st. Another way to go Broncos!

The Choir is really stepping out these days. On Tuesday, Sounds Unlimited performed for the Chamber of Commerce banquet. I hope lots of people were there to hear them. Solo results left over from last week are: Palmira Chavez, Jr. Duenes, and Sherry Hocutt-excellent ratings. Sonora also brought home five "good" ratings. Now, the choir and the band are preparing for concert and sight-reading contests in the very near future.

Sonora High had one of its own in Washington D.C. this past week! Wheless Baker attended a National Young Leaders Conference. She and 350 other students from all across America spent the week learning about our government and how it works. We're very proud of Wheless and the way she represented Sonora.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes has been busy lately! They've been having a few meetings, but attendance has been down. They would like to extend an invitation to everyone to come and join them. Upcoming programs include a talent show the first Monday of April.

It'll be two weeks before I see you again because of Spring Break. All of Sonora High has been eagerly awaiting this week, and I want to urge all those that will be travelling to take care!

Hope to see you this Saturday night at the Sutton County Steakhouse. ## Girls Academic All-District Team

Sonora High School placed ten members of its girls varsity basketball team on the Academic All District Team for District 8AAA. Members are eligible if they have maintained a 90 or above average during the 3rd and 4th six weeks grading period.

Sonora girls who qualified are as follows: Tammie Adams, Christie Adkins, Wheless Baker, Anna Balch, Debbie Harris, Mitzi Joy, Norma Sosa, Traci Teaff, Michelle Villanueva, and Kay Williams.

WHELESS BAKER

Sonoran tours to Washington D.C.

On March 7, Wheless Baker had the rare opportunity to see her government in action when she joined approximately 350 outstanding high school juniors and seniors from across the country at the Spring 1989 National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C. Wheless was selected for this unique honor based on demonstrated academic achievement, leadership and citizenship.

The theme of the National Young Leaders Conference was The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today. Throughout the six day conference, the scholars met with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps. "It's one thing to read and learn about one's government in a textbook," says John Hines, Executive Director, "but it's a completely different educational experience to see, firsthand, one's government at work and to witness the democratic process."

Highlights of the program included a breakfast panel discussion led by prominent journalists at the National Press Club, welcoming remarks from a Member of Congress on the floor of the United States Representatives, and a government relations forum comprised of lobbyists from various corporations and public interest groups, a visit to a diplomatic embassy and a foreign policy briefing at the State Department were also included among the week's activities.

Wheless also had the opportunity to meet with Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Senator Phil Gramm and Representative Lamar Smith or members of their respective staffs. Culminating the conference was a Mock Congress in which the scholars assumed the roles of United States Representatives by debating, lobbying, and voting on proposed drug testing legislation.

The National Young Leaders Conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council which was founded in 1985 by Co-Chairmen Barbara Harris and Richard Rossi. The Council is a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization committed to recognizing outstanding youth and providing them with a "hands-on" civics learning experience in the nation's capital. The Council has over 240 Members of the United States Congress who comprise its Honorary Congressional Board of Advisors joining in the commitment to educational excellence.

Special thanks to musicians and members of the choir from Sonora and Ozona for their gift of music which made his farewell service so beautiful.

To those who prepared and served the delicious funeral meal, we offer our heartfelt thanks.

To Father D'Mello for celebrating the Funeral mass and expressing such loving thoughts about our beloved one.

To the active pallbearers, honorary pallbearers, ushers, eucharistic ministers, and altar servers we offer our gratitude.

Last but not least, we offer thanks to Mr. Elpidio Torres who offered beautiful words of praise and consolation on behalf of our husband and father.
