THE STATE OF THE S Bovina got a breather week in the one just past, at least as far as thrilling basketball play is concerned. But the talk was going just as much as ever. Something that is nice about sports is that just because the game is over doesn't mean that it's all over. If it is a good, exciting contest, and many times if it isn't, it is played over many times during coffee breaks and other conversations. After all, this talk afterward is where the "Monday morningquarterback" comes into his own. The story is old about the fellow who fitted the "Monday morningquarterback" description and explained on one Monday morning, of course, to the star player about the mistake the player had made during his most recent game. He not nly told the player about what he should have done it as well. The player listened quietly until Girl Basketballers the fellow had finished and then commented, "You know, Mr. Soand-So, after thinking about it all weekend, that's the way I would have done it, too.

If the individual's team loses, the "booooo" becomes a constant belly aching or griping about the "crooked" or at best "poor" of-

But if the individual's team wins, he forgets that any officials even attended the game. The officials enter his mind no more in regard to that particular game and as far as he is concerned they can go on their unappreciated way.

When you find someone acting as the individual described above, you can figure that he has never done much officiating himself. Usually an individual of that type is too "smart" to be an official or he will say that he "can't stand the criticism."

If you have ever thought about seriously, you know that an official's decision decides the outcome of very few sporting events.

Too, it would take an awful fool to cheat as an official. Most people think more of their own scalp than to stand the chance of being caught in such a situation.

Something that many people never think about is that most officials of organized sporting events are paid a wage or a fee for their fare. ervices and they are going to try to do a good job so that they may get other such jobs. Their occupation is like most others in that if they don't do a good job, they soon won't have the job or any like

All officials make mistakes. If for no other reason, because they are human. It a good American custom to jeer an official occasionally, But the individual who does it continuously when his team is losing probably needs jeering at himself. Show me a man who hollers "poor officiating" when his team loses and I'll show you a poor

PUSHING OUR CART IN BOVINA!

BECAUSE

IN ALL BOVINA BUSINESSES, NOT JUST THE GROCERY BUSINESSES, YOU'RE THE BOSS!

TO THE BUSINESSES IN OTHER TOWNS YOU'RE THE GRAVY!

Because you are the day after day customer who keeps business in Bovina going. You are the one who must be satisfied.

The more you trade at home, the better they'll be to have what you . want when you want it. If you will tell them what you want and they don't have it, they'll GET IT.

But on the other side of the picture, in other towns, Bovina and Bovina area people are not the people whom the businessmen in those towns is most interested in serving.

'Tis true, they are nice and they like to see you coming. Because none of the profit they make from you will be spent to help Bovina's school and none of the money will be used for Bovina's community projects. Therefore, to these out-of-towner-businesses, you are just the gravy.

You're making their town better and hurting yours! Don't say, "Let somebody else make Bovina a better place for me to live." And let's don't be a portion of someone else's gravy.
