

'Small Business' Offers Plan to FDR

Let Industry Grow Big in Its Own Home Town, Says Jackson

Governorship of New York Said to Be His in 1940

BY WILLIS THORNTON.
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON. — "I'm so old-fashioned they think I'm a radical."
The ability to make that half-humorous, half-plaintive appraisal of his own position marks Robert Houghwout Jackson off from many another reformer. And when it comes over the huge desk of the New Deal's chief legal light, from a man currently credited with being the Roosevelt favorite as the Roosevelt successor, it is startling. Despite the vast paneled office, one size smaller than Grand Central Station, you can scarcely imagine this man being pontifical or stuffy. But he is very much in earnest, not with the eager earnestness of a Tugwell, but with the dogged patience of a practical man who knows that though "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," people will somehow manage to drink.

Keep Channel Clear.

What he means by old-fashioned is simply this: Jackson is a believer in the Woodrow Wilson-Justice Brandeis school of economic thought which reached its height 30 years ago.

He believes that the federal government should not attempt detailed supervision and regulation of the details of business as in NRA, but should simply keep clear the channels of competition, which, if obstructed, will provide a self-regulation that is much better.

"This is the lowest degree of government control that business can expect," is the way that Jackson puts it.

Out of fashion in 1933, this school of thought is gaining again, and Jackson has led the van in the assaults on monopoly and concentration of wealth which now dominate in Washington as they did in the days of the first Roosevelt and of Wilson.

His Directorates Local.

The arrival, during those 30 years, of modern technology with its trend toward "inevitable bigness," has not changed Jackson's essential view.

"There is no harm in bigness so long as it coincides with actual productive efficiency," Jackson says. "It is in the superstructure of finance erected on top of that bigness that has caused the trouble."
All this from a man who is a director of the telephone company in his home town of Jamestown, N. Y. But note this: It is a local telephone company, standing on its own legs free of control by the A. T. and T. He is director of The Bank of Jamestown, but it is a local bank, uninfluenced by chain or holding company.

There is the key to Jackson. He is not against bigness, but merely against business being dominated by outside financial interests. In his law practice in Jamestown he has represented banks, utilities, labor unions, and power companies. A good lawyer gets that assorted practice in a small town, and Jackson had the name of the best in Jamestown, population 45,000.

Jackson Always Democratic.

Born in Spring Creek, Pa., not quite 46 years ago, Jackson inherited from his mother the Dutch ancestry that he has in common with the President. He has also

Final Ruling Says Bank Nights in the State Are Lottery

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP).—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed its decision bank nights are lotteries by overruling a motion for rehearing by H. S. Cole, Bonham theatre proprietor.
The court affirmed Cole's conviction and a $100 fine.

Fall Fair-Rodeo Dates To Be Planned At Board Meeting

For the purpose of discussing rodeo dates and plans for a fall fair, directors of Midland Fair, Inc., have been called by President Clarence Scharbauer to meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the chamber of commerce office.
Letters have been sent by J. Homer Epley, secretary-treasurer, to directors and committeemen of the fair organization, asking a full attendance at the meeting. Discussion of a general fair for next fall was started at the recent annual meeting of stockholders.

Rotarians to Hear Official of the Red Bluff Dam Thursday

Rotarians Thursday will hear an address on the present status of the Red Bluff dam, north of Pecos, by Judge J. E. Starley of Pecos who is president of the Red Bluff district. George T. Abell, member of the Rotary program committee, arranged the engagement but was called out of town. Judge Starley will be introduced to the club by the Rev. Winston F. Borum, formerly a resident of Pecos.

Efforts were under way yesterday and today to bring last week's attendance to 100 per cent. Three members were absent and, under the six day allotment for make-up, two attended the Big Spring club Tuesday. One other, in an eastern city, was being sought by telegraph to arrange the making up of his attendance there.

President Fred Middleton urged all members to attend the meeting tomorrow and aid in getting "off bottom" of the district.

Death Sentences of Pair Affirmed by Court of Appeals

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP).—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the death sentence of Omer Moore, Limestone county negro, for slaying Frank Bradfute, Thornton hotel proprietor.
The court also denied a hearing for Johnnie Banks, Brazoria county negro, given death for shooting Jewell Smith.

Denver 3 Whittenburg, Yoakum Well, Flows 40 to 45 an Hour

BY FRANK GARDNER.
Estimated flow of 40 to 45 barrels of oil per hour into pits today stamped Denver Producing and Refining Company No. 3 J. A. Whittenburg estate as one of the Moore, Limestone county negro, for slaying Frank Bradfute, Thornton hotel proprietor.
The court also denied a hearing for Johnnie Banks, Brazoria county negro, given death for shooting Jewell Smith.

Bids on Gymnasium Will Be Opened by School Board Feb. 18

Bids for the new high school gymnasium will be opened by the board of trustees of Midland Independent School District No. 1 on Friday, February 18, it was announced today by Foy Proctor, president of the board.
Advertisement for the bids, with requirements made on contractors, appears in The Reporter-Telegram today and will be published again, according to law, one week hence. Contract will be let immediately upon opening the bids, unless some unforeseen difficulty arises, board officials said, with the hope that actual construction will begin in only a few weeks.
The gymnasium will be located immediately north of the high school building, fronting north and south. Complete plans and specifications may be obtained from the architects, Voelcker & Dixon, of Wichita Falls.

"Old Men's Roping" Contests Studied By Fair Directors

Plans for regular "old men's roping" at the Midland Fair arena are being worked out today by some of the stockholders, as a means of promoting more interest in the plant and in providing daily sport for those joining the project. Each roper will furnish his own calves and share in their upkeep. Roper also will provide his own horse and equipment.
Five boys, who will appear in a special contest at the Fort Worth exposition in March, are now working out daily at the arena, using their own calves. The idea spread to some of the older sportsmen, with the result that calves will be brought in within the next few days and actual practice started. Some of the "old men" planning to rope have not yet reached the age of 40. The oldest yet signed up are under 60.

"Dad" Joiner Wins In Ex-Wife's Suit

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP).—Efforts of Mrs. L. A. Joiner to obtain a large portion of the property of her former husband, C. M. "Dad" Joiner, discoverer of the East Texas oil field, failed in the Texas supreme court today.
The court reversed judgment of the court of civil appeals and affirmed that of a Dallas district court holding against plaintiff in her suit for half of the property accumulated during their marriage.

C of C Plans For Year are Made Today

Committee Heads, Directors Rush Many New Projects

Chamber of commerce directors and committee chairmen, newly appointed, generated steam today for 1938 activities at a breakfast in the Blue room of the Hotel Scharbauer coffee shop.

President Marion Rymt called the meeting to order and asked for close cooperation of the citizenship, both newer and older residents, and urged the adoption of definite projects to be completed during the year.

Similar talks, many of them on specific projects, were made by the twenty men who attended, laying the basis for an unusual expansion program. Creation of better relations with the citizens of other towns and the surrounding area was urged in some of the talks.

Those attending included Flynt, Ed M. Wittaker, M. C. Ulmer, Frank Stubbeman, H. F. Fox, J. W. Jordan, Claude O. Crane, Fred Middleton, T. Paul Barron, W. M. Holmes, Ralph M. Barron, John P. Butler, Dr. John B. Thomas, Russell C. Conkling, J. E. Hill, Dr. W. E. Ryan, W. I. Pratt, J. C. Smith, W. T. Doherty and Bill Collins.

Committee chairmen, to serve during the year, were announced by President Flynt, with request that the chairmen turn in the names of other committee members by Saturday of this week. Chairmen follow: petroleum, K. L. Sappington; livestock, Roy Parks; farms, J. C. Miles; fair, Clarence Scharbauer; retailers, W. B. Simpson; conventions and greeters, Ralph Geisler; aeronautics, Harvey Sloan; highways, to be announced; welfare, W. I. Pratt; publicity, T. Paul Barron; civic, Fred Middleton; judiciary, Frank Stubbeman; membership, Russell C. Conkling; trade extension, H. E. Fox; fire prevention, Claude Crane; finance, R. M. Barron; young men's affairs, W. M. Holmes; housing, John P. Butler; industrial, R. L. Miller; beautification, Mrs. F. H. Schouten; executive, Marion Flynt, W. T. Doherty, Russell C. Conkling, Ralph M. Barron and Clarence Scharbauer.

Roosevelt Declares His Foreign Policy Clear to the People

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP).—Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations, told congress today that the navy "has no plans" for combining with any other nation "in a possible war."
He made the statement to the house naval committee during a hearing on the proposed naval expansion program.
The denial was in reply to demands made by the senate for clarification of the administration's foreign policy.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt, whose international diplomacy was debated heatedly Tuesday in congress, told reporters he thought his foreign policy was very clear to most people.
He was asked at his press conference whether he planned to elucidate on his foreign policy as suggested by some members of congress. Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) had demanded to know what the administration's foreign policy was in response to another query, the President told reporters that his recommendation for increased appropriations for the army, as contained in his national defense message, constituted all he had in mind for that branch at this time.
In the debate earlier in the day, Senator Borah (R-Ida) warned the Senate America is risking war by permitting the world to believe it was in alliance with Great Britain.
Other nations "practically without exception" believe the United States and Britain are building up their navies under a "tactical alliance," Borah asserted.
The result, he added, was a world "practically gone mad" in an armament race similar to the one that led to the World War.
The house naval committee heard testimony that construction of super dreadnaughts by the United States depends largely upon verification of reports that Japan is building battleships "very much larger" than the 35,000-ton type permitted under the 1936 London naval treaty.

Smiling Through Cares of 56 Years

The photographers said "Look Pleasant, Mr. President," and here is the result—Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, on his 56th birthday. A few more tiny wrinkles, a few more gray hairs, but the same genial smile and twinkling eyes mark the face of the nation's first citizen after another year in the White House. He posed for the picture above during a ceremony which preceded a nation-wide birthday celebration marked by more than 15,000 parties held to obtain funds to fight infantile paralysis.

Clean-Up Campaign Plans Are Perfected at Meeting

Plans for the best organized, the most far reaching and the most effective city-wide spring clean-up campaign to be staged in Midland within recent years were discussed and perfected at a meeting of the general clean-up campaign committee in the chamber of commerce office last night, the general committee being composed of representatives of the various service and civic clubs of the city. Mrs. W. H. Sloan is general chairman. The project is being sponsored by the City-County Federation and the chamber of commerce, in co-operation with Rotary Club, Lions Club, Midland County Public Health Board, the local Red Cross chapter and the city.

It was decided that the spring clean-up campaign here should be staged in February before the spring winds start, dates for the city-wide campaign having been set for the week of February 12-19. Efforts will be made to enlist the support and co-operation of every individual in the city in cleaning up the entire city, both residential and business districts to receive a thorough cleaning.
Methods of pushing the campaign to a successful completion were discussed in round table fashion as were the various objectives which will be attempted during the drive.
It was pointed out that the city is in dire need of a thorough cleaning and that the health of the general citizenry is being impaired by the unclean conditions. City beautification was another phase touched on at the meeting.
Essay Contests.
Essay contests relative to the clean-up campaign will be staged in each of the schools of the city, three dollar prizes being offered for the best essays in the ward schools with five dollar prizes being offered in the junior and high schools. Mrs. F. H. Schouten, president of the City-County Federation, will be in charge of the essay contests.
Speakers from the high school will be asked to make clean-up talks at the various service clubs, Sunday school classes and churches of the city next week.

Circular letters calling attention to sanitary ordinances of the city and asking the whole hearted cooperation of the citizenry in the project will be distributed over the city. It is also planned to enlist the support of the local Boy Scout troops in the movement.
Vacant lots not cleaned up voluntarily will be cleaned up by workers hired by the committee, each organization participating to contribute a sum of money to the clean-up fund.
The city will be divided into districts with city trucks operating in certain districts on designated days. The trash and rubbish will be picked up, all residents being asked to place all trash and rubbish in the alleys to be picked up by the city trucks.
Committees Named.
A committee composed of John P. Butler, R. C. Conkling, and Ralph Geisler was appointed to contact merchants in the downtown business district relative to the cleaning up of alleys.
Other committee chairmen named were: vacant lots and trucks, A. M. East; Mexican district work, Mrs. W. L. Brown; radio publicity, Mrs. William Simpson; newspaper publicity, Bill Collins; essay contests, Mrs. F. H. Schouten; Boy Scouts, Mrs. W. H. Sloan.
Those present at the Tuesday night meeting and the organizations they represent are: Mrs. W. H. Sloan, general chairman; R. C. Conkling, Lions club; Mrs. William Simpson and Mrs. F. H. Schouten, City-County Federation; Ralph Geisler and Bill Collins, chamber of commerce; Mrs. W. L. Brown, Midland County Public Health Board; John P. Butler, Red Cross; A. M. East, City; Clint Lackey, Rotary representative, was out of the city and could not attend.
Another meeting of the committee will be held Feb. 10.

Creation of New Board Is Suggested

Cleveland Man Is Named Chairman In Noisy Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP). — Fred Roth, Cleveland wholesale shoe dealer and chairman of President Roosevelt's conference of small business men, suggested today creation of a permanent advisory committee to represent little business in the same manner the large business advisory council represent large interests.

Roth was chosen permanent chairman in a hectic session marked by applause, yells and roars of approval and disapproval.

He spoke after the conference received word from the president that he expected "suggestions resulting from your conference will be very helpful to me."

Secretary Roper read the president's message to the 700 delegates. Noisy protests against speech making forced the conference to break up into ten discussion groups.

The assigned subjects were: loans to small companies, unemployment, fair trade practices and prices, social security, government research and small business, wages and hours, housing installment selling, development and location of small industries, and miscellaneous subjects.

The meeting grew out of the fact many small businessmen were complaining they or their representatives were not included in the series of conferences President Roosevelt had been holding with various business interests.

Officials laid stress upon the fact all delegates to the conference were coming to Washington at their own expense.

In the expectation that financing small companies would be the subject in which most would be interested, it was announced that Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would attend.

War Minister of Germany Resigns After Marriage

BERLIN, Feb. 2 (AP). — Marshal Werner von Blomberg, Minister of War, handed in his resignation to Reichsfuehrer Hitler before going to Capri on his honeymoon, a highly reliable informant disclosed today.

There had been indications the officers corps of the army was not pleased by the marriage of the 59-year-old marshal to Erik Grohn, 28-year-old daughter of a carpenter on January 12.

Hitler and the marshal conferred at the war ministry January 21. The fuhrer was seen to enter with great excitement and emerge later pale and grave.

Germans who have been aware of the marshal's resignation was impeding referred to it as another "Walif Simpson" affair.

BABY SON ANNOUNCED.

Announcement of the birth of a baby boy to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brooks, at Brownwood, was received today by Midland friends. The youngster, named Billie Bert, arrived January 30 and weighed ten pounds. Mrs. Brooks, who recently was connected with the Household Appliance Co.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

Detectives Paul Gallagher and Adrian Stopka inventoried the room. The body of Louie Trimble lay in the center of the room, partly under an overturned card table. Poker chips, cards and broken highball glasses littered the rug. Clutched in the dead man's left hand was a pipe; his right held a penny box of matches. A revolver was on the floor at his side.

Five chairs, three of them overturned, surrounded the card table. Detectives decided to hunt the four men who had been playing with Trimble. They were easy to find—the night clerk in Louie's apartment building supplied their names.

Questioned separately, their stories varied except in one respect—all swore Trimble had cheated; that he had threatened to kill all four of his accusers and that someone in the party didn't know who one (he) had fired in self-defense.

Dollar Devaluation--a Good or Bad Thing?

It is now almost four years since the dollar was devalued.

And today the effect of that epoch-making shift of monetary policy is lost in the welter of national and international factors that bear on the relation between the things bought and the money paid for them. Few economists have been hardy enough to attempt to pick out the exact effects of dollar devaluation.

Yet four years ago the nation gasped at the daring of the step. The more conservative shuddered at what they felt sure was a gate opening directly on inflation that would destroy us all. They may yet be right. No one knows. But certainly no sign of it has appeared yet, and right now the United States is in a period of deflation and falling prices.

Even the most radically-minded among financial authorities took a firm grip on the handles and prepared for some kind of a fast sleigh-ride when the price of gold was artificially advanced so that the 100-cent dollar became a 59-cent dollar in relation to the price of gold. And when the Supreme Court upheld the course, it was Justice McReynolds who cried out at the "shame and humiliation" of it, and lamented that "the Constitution, as we have known it, is gone."

Something is gone, all right, but nobody seems to know quite what it is. Prices did rise, steadily, until last fall, when they began to slip, and have been slipping ever since. How much of that price inflation was due to dollar devaluation, and how much to lavish spending by the federal government, the soldier's bonus, farm-aid payments, and the like, no one can measure, and few are hardy enough to try.

The effect of devaluation on the pocketbook of the average man is even harder to measure. He still goes to the store with paper dollars, and buys with them about what he did before. The fact that they are theoretically worth less gold has not up to now made any appreciable difference to him.

It is quite likely, however, that there has been a definite effect on foreign trade. Devaluation placed the American dollar in a workable relationship with foreign moneys; and export of U. S. steel, farm machinery, cotton and automobiles have steadily increased to the point where they were a worthwhile cushion to the recession.

Gold continues to pile up in the federal vaults under the standing offer to purchase at an artificially-high fixed price. Many economists believe this is a danger, and that the rest of the world may suddenly give up gold as a monetary measure, leaving us with most of the world's supply and nothing to use it for but to fill teeth. But that, too, is mere crystal gazing.

Dollar devaluation and its history thus far prove nothing at all except that we once took what we thought was a daring step, and that its results four years later were neither the heaven promised by its advocates nor the hell forecast by its opponents.

Court records show it cost $1000 per week to maintain Gloria Vanderbilt, 14-year-old New York heiress, during 1937. Hair ribbons must be getting expensive!

this year's theme being that of the Court of Zeus, featuring the beauties of Greek mythology. Participants will be introduced as gods and goddesses and will be attired in costumes appropriate to the story surrounding the characters they represent. Settings will be lavish, and special lighting effects, combined with the spectacular group work of the children, will contribute to the brilliance of the extravaganza.

Sunday, Feb. 27, will be devoted to religious observances and to the visiting of naval ships in port for the Mardi Gras season.

King Frivolous XXI, masked and his identity a carefully guarded secret, will arrive in the city Monday morning, Feb. 28, and will be officially welcomed and presented with the keys of the city. His arrival will be the occasion for a military parade which will add a brilliant note of color to the festivities.

The mammoth royalty parade, most spectacular of all out-of-door events, will be held Monday night, and the streets will be lined with thousands of spectators who, armed with serpentine and confetti, will bring the carnival spirit to its peak. Gorgeously decorated floats carrying beautifully costumed characters will be interspersed with bands, grotesque figures and marching units of uniformed men.

The coronation ceremony Tuesday night, when King Frivolous XXI will be unmasked and when, for the first time, he will proclaim the identity of his queen, will be the most glamorous of all the presentations.

This institutional observance, long established in Galveston, will offer every opportunity for entertainment to the scores of visitors who look forward to this annual seasonal activity as the occasion for a visit to the Isle-by-the-Sea.

The peace ship was a dramatic propaganda gesture designed to rally these efforts by taking a boatload of serious idealists to Europe for public demonstrations in Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

Everything Happened. CERTAIN cranks got into the party, and a few racketeers and other trouble-makers principally interested in Ford's money or personal publicity.

"Everything happened," admits Mme. Schwimmer, "including many ridiculous things."

Ford, who had refused to change his clothes after a big wave swept over him, became ill and left the group at Christiania. Enthusiastic receptions and big meetings in the neutral countries followed.

But single taxers and other troublesome members of the American party surged to the fore and things began to fall apart. Mme. Schwimmer collapsed under the strain. The Stockholm conference made studies and planned tracts. Ford kept financing it until August. The whole peace venture lost him $400,000—about 1 per cent of the price of a first class battleship.

Galveston to Open Mardi Gras Feb. 25

GALVESTON, Feb. 2 (Special).—No merrier days will appear on Galveston's 1938 calendar than those of February 25, 26, 27, 28 and March 1, when citizens of that city and their scores of guests will celebrate the annual pre-Lenten festival of Mardi Gras. Customary routines are forgotten and the entire populace gives over to gaiety, frolic and good-fellowship, turning the Olander City into a playground for young and old alike.

Many social events are planned for the five days, studied with number of outstanding ceremonies that will draw the attention of the entire public. A concert by the Houston symphony orchestra, on Friday night, Feb. 25, one of the highlights of the festival season, will attract all music lovers.

Saturday, Feb. 26, will be children's day, and the youthful subjects of King Frivolous XXI will stage an elaborate parade in the afternoon, climaxing it with a colorful and brilliantly costumed coronation pageant in the evening. This will be an event of unusual beauty.

Cathedral's Ghostly Twin

The castle in the sky that frequently has mystified Durham, N. C. on foggy nights is explained by this unusual picture as nothing more eerie than the shadow cast on the lowering clouds by the brightly illuminated cathedral chapel tower on the Duke University campus. Richard Davis, a senior, was the lucky cameraman to record the phenomenon.

Mine Workers for CIO Continuance

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP).—John L. Lewis got orders from his United Mine Workers Monday to carry on the C. I. O.

They also promised him they would furnish the necessary money. A few minutes earlier the Rev. Father Francis J. Haas, former NRA labor adviser, received only lukewarm applause from the union's convention when he suggested the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. resume their peace negotiations, broken off last December.

Joseph Frantz Jr., Williams, Okla., was the only delegate to speak against the C. I. O. resolution. He demanded an accounting of the money the union had spent and intended to spend for the C. I. O. fight, but offered an amendment to the resolution which said, in part:

"This convention authorizes and directs the officers of the United Mine Workers of America to continue the activities of the C. I. O. with greater strength and increased activity for the purpose of ultimately achieving a labor movement in this country which shall afford the greatest economic and political strength to the workers of the country."

"The officers of the United Mine Workers of America shall offer whatever aid may be necessary, financial or otherwise, to the C. I. O. for the purpose of carrying out and achieving this goal."

Two Are Hostesses for Miscellaneous Shower Complimenting Mrs. E. B. Estes

Honoring Mrs. E. B. Estes, who was Miss Marguerite Adams before her marriage Jan. 23, Mrs. J. P. Inman and Mrs. Ed Dozier entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the home of the former, 210 W. Louisiana, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Valentine motif was carried out in a color scheme of red and white and the entertaining rooms were decorated with red and white sweetpeas.

Gifts were presented to the bride in a unique manner by Miss Allene Kaderli who read her palm and directed her to the hidden treasure which was a huge cedar chest on which she was sitting.

During the refreshment service, Thomas Inman played "I Love You Truly" on the clarinet accompanied by Miss Kaderli at the piano. The refreshment plates repeated the red and white of the favored colors. Plate favors were corsages of red sweetpeas with tiny heart cards bearing the names, "Marguerite and E. B."

Mrs. Clint Coughran presided over the bride's book.

Registering and sending gifts were:

Mmes. J. A. Tuttle, Dona Dunagan, Aldredge Estes, A. C. Francis, John Hix, H. L. Straughan, Clyde Chandler of Monahans, J. M. Gilmore, N. W. Elgham, Porter Rankin, R. E. Estes, C. C. Junior High PTA Sees Program of Cub Scouts

Attended by approximately 55 persons, Junior High PTA met in regular session Tuesday afternoon at the Junior High building, with a Cub Scout program providing the highlight of the meeting.

The Cub program was in charge of J. A. Norris, substituting for Buster Howard, and his assistant, Dolores Barron presented two piano solos, Chopin's "Prelude, Opus 28, No. 20" and "Western Romance" by Reuben Davies.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "The Eyes of Texas" led by Mrs. M. A. Park, with Miss Jessie Scott Price at the piano.

Award for having the most mothers present went to Miss Price's room.

A business meeting followed the program with recommendations of the executive committee being adopted.

Discussions Plans.

Preceding the PTA meeting proper, was a session of the executive council of the organization, held at the school building at 3 o'clock.

Plans were made for the PTA's Colonial twilight silver tea to be held in a few weeks.

A motion was passed to invite the 1939 district convention of the PTA to meet in Midland.

Present were: Mmes. Glenn Brunson, president, W. B. Preston, Fred Wemple, Clyde Barron, Percy J. Mims, H. G. Bedford, Oron Collins, M. A. Stookey, Paul Schlosser, M. A. Park, W. L. Brown.

Dessert-Bridge in Valentine Theme Is Courtesy to Club

February's favorite holiday, Valentine, held the limelight in appointments for the dessert-bridge with which Mrs. L. E. West complimented the Chez les Amis club at her home, 410 W. Kansas, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tallies and score pads for the two tables of bridge were in Valentine motif, prizes were wrapped in Valentine colors of red and white, and the dessert course which introduced the afternoon likewise was in the holiday theme.

High score prize went to Mrs. Sam Giesey and second high to Mrs. John S. Luton, the club guest.

Members present were Mmes. Bill Collins, Bill Miller, Wendell Stewart, Giesey, W. J. Gillingham, John W. Skinner, Payton Thurmon, and the hostess.

Mrs. Watlington Teaches Class

In the absence of Rev. Harvey Childress, who is ill, Mrs. E. W. Watlington Sr. taught the lesson at the meeting of the Women's Bible class of the Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon. Study of the Gospel of Matthew was continued.

Present were: Mmes. Paul Jackson, Harvey Childress, Pearl Parrott, E. W. Watlington Jr., E. W. Watlington Sr., Gertrude Cantelou, E. J. Watson, Raymond Hines, Buck Dupuy, A. G. Bohannon, E. W. Shaw, Miss Christine Golladay.

Cancer, Mysterious Disease, Is Common Cause of Death.

Editor's Note: The following paper on "Cancer" was read by Miss Cowden before members of the Junior Woman's Wednesday club recently. It is published herewith in the hope that it may prove of interest to the general public.

Except on the skin it has not yet reached the point where it can be preferred to surgical operation in early cases. It should be remembered that there is even yet very little radium in the country and the amounts sufficient to be of value are in the hands of a comparatively small number of physicians and institutions. Great care should therefore be taken in selecting a physician to give these forms of treatment, since only a few doctors have enough radium to do any good and only a few know how to administer, without burning the patient seriously, the large quantities of X-rays which are necessary to produce good effects. The discovery of both X-rays and radium gave great hopes for the mastery of this disease, especially because of their ability to destroy cancer cells without destruction of normal cells.

However, after years of observation it has been found that, to make certain of total cancer cell destruction, it is necessary to destroy adjacent normal tissue, and it seems to be impossible to measure with accuracy the depth to which cancer cells can be totally and safely destroyed by these two powerful agents without doing irreparable damage to uninvolved tissues, which are often vital to life or to important functions. Efforts to obtain good cosmetic results by giving radium and X-rays the preference over surgical removal have cost many lives in cases in which proper surgical removal was entirely feasible and could have been easily performed. With the possible exception of destructive heat, and disturbance of a cancer by injury of the irritation resulting from partial destruction is detrimental because the malignant cells not actually destroyed are stimulated to greater activity. Moreover, the superficial healing which follows superficial destruction may mislead both doctor and patient while the disease progresses beneath, and the uncertainty of reaching to the very depth of the disease may often lead one to postpone until the disease has advanced to a more serious stage or to the point of incurability.

The most satisfactory treatment of cancer, particularly in the early stage when it is feasible, is by surgical treatment. For hundreds of years complete surgical removal of cancer, together with a safe amount of sound tissue surrounding it, has stood preeminently as the most dependable means of freeing one from cancer. No well informed person doubts for a moment that the surgical removal of malignant disease has given by far the highest percentage of permanent cures, but the large number of local recurrences after surgical removal with the plain operating knife furnishes abundant evidence that surgeons fail too frequently to make incisions wide enough to include all the diseased tissue or that they leave the wound contaminated with cancer cells, either of which may result in local recurrence and failure to cure. Heat is the most potent destructive agent known to man; and since electricity has come under man's control, heat has become the most controllable of all powerful agents which are subject to our use. Heat from an electric current may be made usable by one of three distinctly different devices. The first device has been described as the radio knife and for its operation depends upon passage of an electric current through the patient's body. It is as light and wieldy as a fountain pen. However, owing to the uncontrollability of the direction of the current within the tissues of the human body it is not as practical as the third device.

The second device has been described as the Ferris cautery. The principle involved in this cautery is based on heating with an electric current a central core, which radiates heat to a metal cap or tip.

The third device, which is at present the safest and most dependable device of electro-surgery, is known as the loop cautery knife. The heat in this instrument is under most perfect control. The electric current is confined to the loop knife and does not pass into or through the patient's body, therefore shock is rarely seen following its use. The advantage of this method is that cancer cells are susceptible to heat, and are killed at a distance of one quarter to one half an inch away from this hot instrument. With it, tissues can be cut and dissected just as with a knife and around blood vessels and nerves safely. In the surgical treatment of cancer, it is wise not only to remove all diseased tissue, but often to remove the neighboring glands. For example, in cancer of the breast, not only is the entire breast removed, but also the glands in the armpit. The grade of malignancy will largely determine just how much each individual surgeon will do, but it is known that in order to cure people and keep them well, the surgeon has to be radical in his treatment. Three distinct differences in heat are essential. (Refer to book).

The value of controllable heat as a substitute for the surgeon's scalpel cannot easily be over-estimated. Cancer cells are rendered sterile at less than 120F, so that, when surgical removal of all accessible cancerous tissue is accomplished by concentrated heat, one has the combined advantage of surgery and heat, the two most potent agents

MIND Your MANNERS

1. If a man is walking with a woman who is carrying an umbrella, should be offer to hold it for her.
 2. Should she let him carry it?
 3. Should a woman say "I'll get it" when a man starts to reach for something she has dropped?
 4. Should a woman give a man an opportunity to do the small courtesies for her that a gentleman wants to do?
 5. Should a husband hold his wife's coat for her or let her put it on by herself?
- What would you do if—
- You are a girl going with a young man who makes no more than you do, and you would like to pay for some of the things you do together—
- (a) Wait until you are at the theatre or movie and insist on paying for the tickets?
 - (b) Give the man the money before you start and have him buy the tickets?
 - (c) Have the tickets before he comes for you—and give them to him?
- Answers
1. Yes.
 2. Yes.
 3. No. It is better to let him pick it up.
 4. Yes.
 5. He should hold it for her.
- Best "What would you do?" solution—(c)—if you are sure the young man won't mind. Some men do—and some do not.

"Platform Presence" Studied by Sorority Tuesday Evening

Discussing the general topic of "Platform Presence," Beta Sigma Phi members met in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday evening for a regular study session.

Under the sub-topic of "Elements of Oral Style," Miss Mary V. Miller spoke on "Arms as an Expressive Agent," and "Position of the Body While Speaking."

Under the sub-topic of "Gestures," Miss Maedele Roberts discussed "An Gesture Necessary for Effectiveness of Speech?" and "Where must All Gestures Originate?" and Mrs. Frances Stallworth talked on "How May Position of Elbows Express Self-assertiveness or Self-depreciation?"

Miss Marguerite Bivens, demonstrating gestures, presented a "Melodrama of 'Pantomime'."

A business meeting preceded the program.

As guests of Mrs. L. C. Link, educational director, the sorority will attend the book review to be given by Mrs. R. Steele Johnston of Odessa, honorary director, February 9, in the Crystal ballroom.

Present were: Mrs. Foy Proctor, sponsor, Mrs. L. C. Link, educational director, Mrs. Frances Stallworth, Misses Marguerite Bivens, Willette Duncan, Lucille McMullan, Maedele Roberts, Norene Kirby, Ruth Pratt, Mary V. Miller, Mrs. Juanita Potter.

This evening the sorority members will again meet in the private dining room at 7:30 o'clock to take the Ritual of the Jewels test. Mrs. Johnston will come from Odessa for the test. Jeweled pins will be presented to those passing the work.

Swinging on the Swingers

This is no Hollywood act. It's Hollywood acting up. Bride Betty Grable in South Sea island dress is swinging an island stomp with Actor Jon Hall, who roared into Director Frank Borzage's Hawaiian party in the same outfit he wore in "Hurricane." And looking a bit savage, Betty's husband Jackie Coogan stands ready, apparently, to do a bit of swinging himself.

Bridgettes Meet With Mrs. Van Huss

Mrs. Bill Van Huss was hostess to the Bridgette club with an afternoon bridge at her home, 607 N. Pecos, Tuesday.

Two tables of bridge were played, spring tallies denoting the seasonal motif. Awards in the games went to the hostess for high score and to Mrs. S. O. Cooper for second high.

A business meeting was a feature of the afternoon.

At tea time, a refreshment course was served to: Mmes. Cooper, S. M. Warren, A. E. Horst, L. A. Tullos, J. J. Kelly, E. D. Richardson, R. R. Cowan, and the hostess.

Mmes. Duffield Are Hostesses to Naomi Class

Naomi (interdenominational) Sunday school class met at the home of Mrs. R. F. Duffield and Mrs. L. Duffield, 111 W. Pennsylvania, for a business meeting Tuesday evening.

Installation of new officers next Sunday morning was discussed and plans for the program made.

Following the business period, a social hour was held and refreshments were served to: Mmes. Carl W. Covington, S. M. Laughlin, Colter Elliott, A. E. Horst, W. C. Maxwell, L. H. Tiffin, W. P. Thurmon, Misses Ruth Guy, Frances Farnham, Jean Farnham, Mrs. Tom Nance, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, one visitor, Mrs. J. R. Laughlin of Eddy, Texas, and the hostesses.

Edelweiss Club Meets at Home of Mrs. Clyde Cowden

Adding to the list of parties marked as Valentine festivities was the bridge with which Mrs. Clyde Cowden entertained the Edelweiss club and guests at her home, 111 North D street, Tuesday afternoon.

Valentine tallies and score pads were used at the five tables of bridge and prize wrappings were in keeping with the favored theme.

In games, high score for club members went to Mrs. Hall Edwards and second high to Mrs. J. R. Martin. High score for guests went to Mrs. R. B. Cowden.

Guests were: Mmes. Geo. Glass, Frank Cowden, M. C. Ulmer, Chas. Klapproth, R. B. Cowden.

A party plate was served at tea time to the guests, one tea guest, Mrs. Cowden, and the following club members: Mmes. Ellis Cowden, John Dublin, W. Bryant, Edwards, Martin, Hayden Miles, Tom Nance, Roy Parks, Hal Peck, Foy Proctor, Harvey Sloan, J. M. Speed Sr., Mayme Stokes, A. P. Shirey, Henry Wolcott, and the hostess.

DON'T BULLY CONSTIPATION

If you suffer from common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, harsh cathartics don't get at the cause of your trouble. You can avoid this kind of constipation by eating Kellogg's All-Bran. This tasty cereal not only contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B, but also provides the bulk you need. It absorbs moisture... softens like a sponge into a water-soaked mass that encourages and aids natural elimination.

Use Kellogg's All-Bran in muffins. Or as a breakfast cereal. But eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg at Battle Creek.

Your Income Tax

NO. 6
NORMAL TAX AND SURTAX
RATES

The Revenue Act of 1936 provides for only one normal tax rate, that is, 4 per cent on the amount of the net income in excess of the allowable credits such as the personal exemption, credit for dependents, etc. The act provides for an additional credit for the purpose of the normal tax of an earned income credit, that is, 10 per cent of the amount of the earned net income but not in excess of 10 per cent of the amount of the net income. The personal exemption and credit for dependents are also allowable as credits against the net income for the purpose of the surtax, the resulting net income being designated "surtax net income." The surtax is imposed on surtax net incomes in excess of $4,000. The rates increase in accordance with the amount of surtax net income included in varying so-called surtax brackets. On a surtax net income of $4,000 or less there is no surtax. On a surtax net income in excess of $4,000, the rate is 4 per cent of such excess. The surtax upon a surtax net income of $6,000 is $80 and upon a surtax net income in excess of $6,000 and not in excess of $8,000 the rate is 5 per cent of such excess in addition to the $80, or a surtax of $180 upon a surtax net income of $8,000. The surtax upon a surtax net income of $5,000,000 is $3,591,000, and upon a surtax net income in excess of $5,000,000, 75 per cent, the maximum rate, is applicable to such excess, in addition to the $3,591,000. Many taxpayers make the error of applying the maximum rate instead of the rate provided for in the bracket in which their surtax net income is included.

Following is an example of how to compute the tax on a net income of $8,500, all of which represents earned net income, the taxpayer being single and without dependents.

Net income	$8,500
Less personal exemption	1,000
Balance (surtax net income)	7,500
Earned income credit	850
Net income subject to nor. tax	6,650

Surtax at 4 per cent on amount of surtax net income in excess of $4,000 but not over $6,000, 4 per cent on $2,000	80
Surtax at 5 per cent on amount of surtax net income in excess of $6,000 but not over $8,000, 5 per cent on $1,500	75
Total surtax	155
Normal tax, 4 per cent on $6,650	266
Total normal tax and surtax	421

Taxpayers are advised to read carefully the instructions accompanying Form 1040 relating to the earned income credit and surtax, as well as all other instructions thereon, before preparing their returns.

The 12 or more bouts that will be offered are especially attractive since the card headlines two battles that have been talked in all local sporting circles since the semifinals were completed last Wednesday.

Expedition to Study Cave Dwellings Near Alpine and Marfa

AUSTIN.—In evidence of the importance Texas is assuming as a field for the study of early man, Thomas N. Campbell, research assistant in anthropology and archaeology at Harvard University, will spend the next six or eight months with an expedition representing that institution and Sul Ross State Teachers College of Texas, making a study of Indian cave dwellings and camp sites in the Big Bend of Texas, according to J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology at the University of Texas, who has been informed of the expedition by Harvard authorities.

A native of Texas, whose home was formerly in Munday, Campbell is a former student of Professor Pearce's, and has spent the last two years in graduate work and research at Harvard, having gone to that institution on the basis of his work at the University of Texas and with the backing of Professor Pearce and his colleagues in anthropology. He is now finishing up work on his doctor of philosophy degree and will use the results of his explorations in the Big Bend as material for his dissertation.

Campbell will arrive in Austin about February 10, and, with his assistant, J. Charles Kelly of Sul Ross, will spend some time studying the university anthropology museum materials that have a bearing on the problems of the Big Bend and conferring with university archaeologists. The two leaders of the expedition will probably visit the Gila Pueblo Museum at Globe, Ariz., and will study collections in the museum at Sul Ross before organizing the expedition and setting out for the extreme tip of the Big Bend area to begin field work.

Also as indicative of the increased attention being given to Texas archaeology, Professor Pearce cited the keen interest manifested by Dr. E. B. Howard of the University of Pennsylvania Museum, who recently visited the university, Dr. Howard, on his way to Florida for several months, at considerable effort made a cursory inspection of the university anthropology museum, and was so impressed with the quantity and quality of materials therein and the effectiveness with which they are displayed and cared for that he planned at the return from Florida by way of Austin in order to make an extensive survey of the contents of this museum.

Dr. Howard is one of the outstanding authorities on the early history of man, Professor Pearce said, and his opinions carry considerable weight.

Influenza Occurring Often Enough to Cause Some Alarm

AUSTIN, Texas. — Influenza, while not of such prevalence as last year, is still occurring frequently enough to cause alarm, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

In its present form, its symptoms may range from a common cold to high fever, backache and prostration. However, pneumonia as a complication represents the real hazard. And, as is well known, pneumonia is an exceedingly dangerous foe. The remedy is bed on first appearance of a cold, and remaining there until advised by the physician that one can safely get out of it.

Everyone should realize that in its mildest form influenza can easily become a very serious matter. Of course prevention is better than cure. While influenza seems to be no respecter of persons, the careful observance of a few common sense rules will materially strengthen one's resistance to an attack. Some of these rules:

Insofar as possible, avoid intimate contact with members of the family who have colds or influenza. Keep the feet dry. Wash the hands thoroughly before meals. And if you do develop influenza, see your doctor.

Adults Reading More Books in Waxahachie

WAXAHACHIE, Texas (A.P.) — The annual report of Mrs. J. R. Hood, librarian here, indicates adults are reading more books today than before the depression. In 1928 Sims library circulated only 10,446 books to adults, but last year the total reached 54,046, a gain of more than 500 per cent.

Mrs. Hood's report also indicates persons are becoming more serious in their reading as there was a gain of 8,512 books of non-fiction circulated, whereas the books of fiction showed a sharp decline.

Airing Their Interest in Expected Heir to Throne

"What will it be, a boy or a girl?" is the speculation on every tongue in Holland, as Crown Princess Juliana awaits the birth of the new heir to the throne.

Endorsement of 'Pro' Baseball Given by Lions

Endorsement of a class D baseball club in Midland and cooperation in the sale of opening day tickets to finance the local club was unanimously voted by members of the Midland Lions club at their regular weekly luncheon today noon after Fincher Withers, owner of the Midland franchise in the West Texas-New Mexico League, had spoken relative to prospects for a ball club in Midland this year.

Lion Frank Stubbeman reported on the recent group meeting of Lions clubs held in Colorado and stated that Midland had been awarded the next meeting of the group, the meeting to be held about three months hence.

The luncheon was prepared and served by the women of the First Methodist church.

'In-Law's' Day Credited Back To Gene Howe

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The inspiration for "Mother-in-law Day" Mrs. W. F. Donald of Amarillo is willing to give all the credit to her son-in-law, Gene Howe, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News.

Howe will sponsor the third annual "Mother-in-law Day" next March 5, with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as guest of honor.

"Gene never did anything to offend me in his life," said Mrs. Donald, on a visit here.

The annual celebration started, according to reports, when Howe returned home to find his mother-in-law in tears because of a remark about mothers-in-law in his daily column.

"That seems to be the general idea of how this got started," she said. "But if you knew Gene you would understand how absurd that is. He never did anything to offend me in his life."

Fort Worth Man Succumbs Here

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Orville Fay Corzine, 58, Fort Worth, who succumbed in a Midland hospital yesterday afternoon. The services were held at the Ellis Funeral Home with Rev. Winston F. Borum officiating.

Corzine became ill, it was reported, last Saturday and registered at a Midland tourist camp while en route west. After his condition became worse, he entered a hospital Monday night.

He is survived by a wife, one daughter, mother, two sisters and one brother. His mother and one sister were here for the services.

Geo. T. Abell left last night for a business trip in Kansas City.

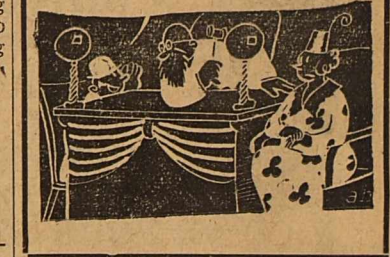

Miss Ernestine Bryan has returned to work in the county library after being ill at her home for several days.

Mrs. Ruth Ramsel returned Tuesday from a market trip to Dallas.

Mrs. Clyde Chandler is here from Monahan's visiting this week.

Rev. Harvey Childress of the Church of Christ is confined to his home by illness.

Jackson--

Scotch-Irish and German blood. The Jacksons have been Democrats ever since the opposition party was called Federalist.

Jackson's legal success and political principles made him a "natural" for appointment to the Internal Revenue Bureau legal staff early in the New Deal. There he sued Andrew Mellon in an income tax case, on which the government is expected to collect $750,000.

Transferred to the SEC, he prepared the Electric Bond and Share case.

Transferred two years ago to become head of the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice, he proceeded against the Aluminum Co., the oil companies in the case just won at Madison, Wis., and the finance companies affiliated with the largest auto companies. As a result, few men know more about the financial complications of "big business."

What Is the Policy? Jackson believes that the anti-trust laws must be modified because the fog of legal interpretation gathered around them in 30 years has obscured them so that "there is no stated or intelligible policy which differentiates pursuit of industrial efficiency from industrial empire building. I am interested in the establishment of a consistent national policy of monopoly control, intelligible both to those expected to comply with it and those expected to enforce it."

This is impossible, Jackson believes, under the present law as interpreted by the courts during the past 30 years. "No one can state authoritatively what our national policy CAN be under the attitude of the court," is his complaint.

Jackson's real home remains Jamestown, where he has a roomy old colonial house in the outskirts, and a farm farther out. But he likes that way of living so well that he also leases a small farm near Washington where he rides horseback and puts in the garden with his 17-year-old daughter Mary Margaret. His 18-year-old son, William Eldred, is at Yale.

It Won't Work. Jackson's broad Dutch face with wide-spaced eyes, reflects the determination, doggedness and courage that mark him out. His figure, neat in a conservative dark-green suit, at first looks you as to his age—you take him for a "young business man" type.

Only closer study of the face reveals the more mature man of affairs and experience who instantly rejects a suggested legal course that is technically perfect by saying "—but it won't work!"

Big Spring Poll Tax Payments in Excess of 6,300

BIG SPRING, Feb. 2 (Special) — Still digging out from under an amazing whirlwind finish, the staff of Tax Collector J. P. Wolcott had not been able to determine the number of poll tax payments made in Howard county Tuesday.

However, this did not alter the fact that payments reached an all time record, somewhere in the neighborhood of 6,319, and far in excess of the wildest predictions for the year. Exemption certificates numbering 492 brought the visible voting total to more than 6,300 and permanent exemptions were expected to boost the potential vote of Howard county to somewhere between 6,700 and 7,000.

Wolcott indicated it would be late Wednesday before any semblance of an accurate count could be had on the total poll taxes. The staff had only scratched the surface of the mail.

3-County Cattleman Association Meets in Midland Feb. 5

Annual meeting of the Midland-Ector-Andrews Cattleman's Protective Association will be held Saturday, February 5, at the Midland county court room at 10 o'clock a. m., it has been announced by Elliott H. Barron, secretary-treasurer.

Officers will be elected for the year 1938 and plans for expanding the service of the organization will be discussed. Inspector Aldredge Estes will give a report of the year's work.

All cattlemen of the three counties, whether members of the association or not, are invited to attend the annual meeting and to hear of the organization's activities. George W. Glass is president of the association. Directors include W. J. Underwood and Ector counties, John Gist of Odessa, Glass and H. G. Bedford of Midland.

WPA to "Shoot Roll" On Winter Help to Country's Needy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Works Progress Administration officials decided Tuesday to "shoot the roll" on winter employment and trust that spring will bring a business boom to absorb the thousands who will have to be cut off their roll then.

Aubrey Williams, acting WPA administrator, announced that because of increasing demands, work relief enrollment would be expanded to approximately 2,000,000 persons during February, then would be progressively curtailed to about 1,500,000 by June.

This, officials said, would require an outlay of around $1,000,000 in February compared with an average of less than $100,000 a month during the first half of the fiscal year. Since WPA spent from July to December, inclusive, $562,322,250 of the $1,050,000,000 earmarked for 1937-38 work-relief, they asserted thousands added to the winter payroll would have to be dropped in the spring and summer to keep expenditures within the budget.

Enrollment, which averaged less than 1,500,000 a month during the first six months, mounted to 1,931,961 during the week ending January 22.

Officials said the December spend had been chiefly due to November enrollment, and that it would be ten days, or more, before treasury disbursement figures showed how much WPA funds have been reduced by the winter relief demands.

Officials conceded the remaining funds would be so low employment rolls would have to be cut much earlier in the spring and at a more rapid pace than in previous years.

Employees would be laid off first they said, in the "deep south."

tors' decision to replace rotary with tools and drill deeper. Location of the well is in section 24, block 9, H. & G. N. survey.

Gulf No. 3 McKnight, western Crane Ordovician failure, bailed an average of 15 1/2 gallons of sulphur water hourly on 14-hour test. No oil was present, but an odor of gas was reported. The well has been cemented back to 6,175 from 6,278. It showed only sulphur water in the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, which was topped high structurally at 6-164 feet.

In southeast Gaines, Carter, Conoco and Plymouth No. 1 H. Gies-ecke, a wildcat, is drilling at 4,929 feet in lime and anhydrite.

Amerada No. 1 T. S. Riley, indicated quarter-mile north extension to the Seminole pool in central Gaines, drilled out cement plug to 5,045 feet, two feet off bottom, and tested 5 1/2-inch casing. Casing, which was cemented on bottom, was found to be free of leaks, so operators displaced drilling mud with circulating oil and pulled tubing. They are now preparing to gun-perforate casing in pay horizons between 5,014 and 5,047.

Enforcement Work Pushed in El Paso

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Liquor control board authorities say supervisor Carl Longemare's report of 14 convictions and assessment of $769 in fines in the El Paso district highlighted December enforcement activities. Nine jail sentences were imposed.

A total of 395 cases were filed in the 17 enforcement districts during the month with 182 convictions returned and $17,679 assessed in fines. The fines go to the counties in which conviction is made.

Against the convictions were two acquittals. Twenty-eight jail sentences were imposed, including 10 in the Houston district.

Inspectors seized and destroyed 43 illicit stills having a capacity of 2,991 gallons. Thirty-seven suspected moonshiners were arrested.

With the stills, 12,335 gallons of mash and 427 gallons of liquor were destroyed. Stills, liquor and mash represented a potential evasion of $158,806 in state and federal taxes. Stills were seized in 12 wet and 13 dry counties: Austin 1, Bexar 2, Bowie 4, Eastland 2, Fort Bend 1, Harris 2, McLennan 1, Newton 1, San Augustine 3, Tarrant 3, Trinity 1, Washington 4, Bosque 1, Cass 2, Cherokee 1, Cooke 1, Harrison 3, Irion 1, Jasper 1, Johnson 2, Nacogdoches 1, Palo Pinto 1, Parker 1, Polk 1, Titus 2.

Hofheinz May Be State Candidate

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — Roy Hofheinz, Harris county judge, may oppose Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald in the July primary.

Hofheinz, who served one term in the state legislature before defeating middle-aged Judge W. H. Ward in the 1936 primary, has been asked by McDonald's political opponents to enter the race, close friends said.

The 25-year-old county judge is non-committal on his plans but it is no secret he would like to run for a state office and recently he was mentioned as a possible opponent of Chairman C. V. Terrell of the Railroad Commission.

The judge is popular in South Texas and in his race against Judge Ward he was given the largest majority accorded a county official since the turn of the century.

He campaigned the state single-handed in 1936 in behalf of a constitutional amendment which permits Harris county to pay cash for its roads. The amendment was given a substantial majority.

WITH HUMBLE HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Cones have arrived from Houston to make their home in Midland. He will be associated with the Humble Oil and Refining company as scout, replacing J. C. (Peck) Cunningham, who has been transferred to the land department. Mrs. Cones is the former Miss Mary Bradley Anderson.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

Miss Aldine Goss is in a Midland hospital for treatment of flu. Ann Porterfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Porterfield, is in the hospital for medical attention.

Mrs. John D. Robinson is reported improving. She is suffering from pneumonia, and is still under oxygen treatment.

Thomas Lee Speed has returned to his home after a recent appendectomy.

Late News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — The state department announced today that Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco has agreed to release the seized American tanker Nantucket Chief as the result of representations made to him by the United States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Attorney General Cummings said today that the justice department planned to try 24 major oil companies and 46 individuals at Madison, Wis., next fall on further charges of anti-trust law violations.

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP) — The senate committee inquired further today into the activities of a group awarded oil leases on many submerged state tracts along the coast.

J. R. Chatham, Burkburnett, partner of I. E. Harwell in that city in various business enterprises, was the first witness.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed. How do Calotabs help nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds. Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package.—(adv.)
