An 'Ambulance Call' at Sea

Bids on 'Gym' To Be Opened Here Today

Building Contract To Be Awarded Soon After Bids Closed

Opening bids for construction of the new Midland high school gymnasium began at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with fourteen general contractors reported to be bidding for the project. It was expected that the contract would be let immediately after all bids were checked. Herbert Voelcker, of the architectural firm of Voelcker and Dixon, Wichita Falls, was here to personally assist members of the school board at the letting.

The project, for which bonds of $400,000 were voted and sold by the school district, will be augmented by a PWA grant of 55 per cent of the total. Plans and specifications include manual training department, hand rooms and physical education departments for both boys and girls, as well as an auditorium with seating capacity of several hundred.

The building, of similar architectural design as the high school, will be located on the high school property, a twenty-foot alley separating the two buildings. The gymnasium will face both north and south, those two exposures being identical.

Southeast Gaines Failure, Giesecke, Will Be Abandoned

By FRANK GARDNER.

Preparations were underway today to plug and abandon A. G. Carter, Plymouth Oil Company and Conoco No. 1 H. Giesecke, wildcat failure in southeastern Gaines county. Schlumberger electrical survey was run at 5,800 feet, total depth called for by contributing companies. Driller pulled out when 5,803 feet had been reached, but steel line showed depth to be only 5,796 feet, necessitating another trip being made to drill the additional four feet. No test was made of the hole other than the Schlumberger survey. It showed first sulphur water in porous lime at 5,485 feet. The well is said to have drilled a basin section. Location is 440 feet out of the northwest corner of labour 1, league 296, Reagan county school land.

Indicating east extension of Gaines' Seminole pool a mile, Amerada No. 1 R. W. Robertson, section 196, block G. W. T. R. E. survey, is preparing to treat with 3,000 gallons of acid. Two and one-half inch tubing has been run to 5,070, with packer at 4,943. Fifteen hundred feet of fluid in the hole was swabbed out through tubing. After the well was swabbed dry, it was allowed to stand for one-half hour, then yielded four gallons of fluid, half oil and the rest basic sediment and water. A half-hour later, it was swabbed again, and yielded the same as before. Total depth is 5,112 feet, in line.

Plug is being drilled from 7-inch pipe set on bottom at 4,674 in Shell No. 1 Robertson, northwestern Gaines wildcat a mile and a half east of the south end of the Wasco Delaware Test Logs show.

First oil and gas shows in the Delaware were reported today from C. R. "Smilo" Mallison (Richardson Oils, Inc.) No. 1 H. L. Brown-State, seven miles northwest of the town of Pecos in Reeves county. It had a slight show of oil from 4,299 to 4,302 and a slight show of gas at 4,330, the total depth. Crew is now cleaning out 15 feet of cavings on bottom. The well topped the Delaware black lime at 4,220 and the sand at 4,262.

West of Toyah in Reeves, Jack Hill and Barnett Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Ely is drilling at 1,880 feet. Delaware sand, showing nothing.

Eighteen feet of shale and lime were recovered of core from 6,040-60 in Humble No. 1 Lewis & Wardlaw, western Tom Green county wildcat seeking Ordovician pay. It is now drilling ahead at 6,116, in shale.

Ohio Clawwater Swabs Oil.

Ohio No. 1 Clawwater, Yoakum wildcat a mile east of the small discovery producer in the Bohago area, is reported swabbing 30 gallons of oil hourly through tubing set at 5,282, two feet off bottom. It has been treated with a total of 7,000 gallons of acid. Location is 850 feet from the north and west lines of section 638, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

In the Denver pool, Ohio No. 1 Fairman, is flowing 10 barrels per hour, natural, through tubing. Total depth is 5,048.

Shell No. 1-C Baumgart, indicated a mile and a half east extension of the Denver pool, is preparing to drill plug from 7-inch pipe set at 4,617. It is bottomed at 5,018 feet in lime, which showed intervals of porosity and saturation for over 100 feet. A half-mile to the northeast, Shell No. 1-D Baumgart is drilling at 38 feet in calcite.

Gulf No. 1 J. C. Futch is drilling at 4,003 in anhydrite and lime.

ON FISHING TRIP.
Mr. and Mrs. Al Reese, Barron Wadley, and E. B. Cowden, are on a fishing trip at a lake in Old Mexico, 200 miles south of El Paso. The party is expected to return Sunday.

REMOVED TO HOME.

Jerry Fay Bizzell, 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Bizzell, was removed from a local hospital to her home today.

Hospital Notes.
Mrs. G. W. Wright has been admitted to a Midland hospital. Mrs. M. V. McGee underwent an operation Wednesday in a Midland hospital.

15 Northeast Towns Left Without Fires As Gas Mains Go Out

By Associated Press.

Terrific rains in Northeast Texas during the past few days and today sent rivers and creeks out of banks, leaving 15 towns without gas service, inundated highways, and cut off traffic. Sixteen hundred feet of the MKT railroad were washed out southeast of Denison.

Snow blanketed most of the Panhandle and Plains and the cold wave extended deep into the state.

Several schools closed in the Paris area because of lack of fuel after gas mains broke.

Meanwhile, untold inconveniences were experienced in towns served by the disrupted gas line, from Dodd City to Clarksville.

Deputy sheriffs at Dallas were ordered to stand by to aid marooned families should the levee on the east fork of the Trinity near the Dallas-Rockwall line go out.

The worst blizzard in years buffeted western Oklahoma as floods, snow, sleet and ice disrupted communications and made highway travel hazardous.

Midland and vicinity received its third snow of the winter season last night, the total precipitation amounting to .15 of an inch. The snow came on the heels of a light sleet that started falling about midnight and lasted for approximately one hour. Earlier in the evening a light mist started falling and lasted until it was replaced by sleet.

The moisture gained through fall of the snow brought the week's total to an even one inch, 35 of an inch having fallen in the two preceding days.

The mercury took a drop below the freezing point last night when it fell to 25 degrees, but the drop was not as low as had been expected.

Varied opinions were expressed today over whether or not the fruit crop in the county was ruined. Most of the fruit trees in this area had either already started blooming, or were just about ready to bloom. County Agent S. A. Debnam expressed the opinion most of the crop was ruined despite the short duration of the freeze. The mercury started an upswing at sun up this morning and had climbed to 35 degrees by noon.

Several owners of fruit trees expressed the belief the prospects of a crop were not harmed by the freeze but none could be sure because of having made only a cursory examination of their trees.

Big Spring Lawyer Files Candidacy for District Attorney

Martelle McDonald, Big Spring attorney, today authorized the Reporter-Telegram to announce his candidacy for the office of District Attorney of the 70th judicial district, subject to the action of the voters in the Democratic primaries. His statement follows:

Each two years the voters of this district must select an officer to serve them in the capacity of District Attorney. I herewith submit my candidacy for your consideration. In announcing, I realize that there are a large number of people whose acquaintance I have not had the pleasure of making and to you I wish to state that I am a graduate of Baylor University Law School of the class of 1930. Since graduation I have engaged in the practice of law in Big Spring. I am married and have two children. The person selected as your District Attorney has a serious and important position to fill in that he represents the interest of the people in all criminal cases in the District Court. I am acquainted with the duties of this office, and I faithfully promise that if elected, I will discharge them to the best of my ability. As to my qualifications, I earnestly request that you observe my record and inquire of persons who do know me, that you might better be advised.

This announcement is presented with the earnest request that you give my candidacy careful consideration and I assure you that your vote will be greatly appreciated.

Naval Officer Teaches Celestial Navigation

PHILADELPHIA (UP).—A course of celestial navigation has begun at the Franklin Institute here under the direction of Commander P. V. H. Weems, U. S. N., retired.

Use of the Fells Planetarium of the institute will offer both instructor and students unique advantages in view of the fact that navigation was the earliest practical application of astronomy.

Ruins of Teruel May be Stage for Offensive

ABOVE:

This was once a main street in Teruel, Spain. The most savage fighting of the 19-month-old Iberian war took place around this sector and left Teruel literally a ghost city, its houses shattered, its walls pulverized and its population gone. Loyalists captured the town from the Rebels in a surprise attack during a snowstorm. Since then a battle has been raging in, around, above and below Teruel, with the Rebels making terrific attempts to retake the town.

LEFT:

A youthful Rebel soldier lays down his gun for a moment to rest. The photo was taken on the Teruel front, where a gigantic battle involving thousands of men has been raging off and on to decide who shall hold the city, one of the key-points of the Spanish war. The men shown are manning an advanced position on the far-flung battlefield which is expected to be the scene of a gigantic spring offensive.

The worst part of the storm hit the edge of Rodessa, on Supply House road, flattening it and wrecking the following places:

Domination of Austria Pushed by Nazi Party

VIENNA, Feb. 18 (P).—Naified Austria rumbled with opposition and Britain hinted she would not watch idly the Hitlerization of Central Europe but Germany today went ahead with plans to extend her domination of Austria.

In Austria, there was talk of raising barricades as monarchists, Catholics, Jews and industrialists admitted alarm over the situation.

The fears were fed by German reports that Hitler was determined to accomplish and economic union between the two nations.

Nazi spokesmen said first of all Hitler would tackle the Austrian unemployment problem by vast public works centering around road building.

A customs union was taken for granted.

Reports Hitler was making new demands such as Austrian withdrawal from the League of Nations and adherence to the anti-communist pact, and that these demands had snagged the new alignment, brought only derisive laughter in foreign office circles.

'Wild West' Duo of Robbers Enter Plea Of Guilty to Judge

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Feb. 18 (P).—A week before their scheduled trial, Henry Lorenz and Harry Dwyer, youthful "wild west" train robbers, unexpectedly entered pleas of guilty to second degree murder yesterday for their fantastic attempt to hold up a Southern Pacific flyer Thanksgiving Day.

Lorenz, 22, and Dwyer, 27, told District Judge Numa Frenger in his chambers they were willing to take their "medicine" and entered pleas of guilty to second degree murder of W. L. Smith, El Paso switchman, who was shot and killed in the hold up.

With the boys in their conference with Judge Frenger were Lorenz's sister, Margaret, who came here from Milwaukee, and his father, German-speaking Conrad Lorenz, of Maywood, Ill.

"The boys were entirely willing to plead guilty to the second degree charge," said J. Benson Newell counsel for Lorenz. "I think it was their best move under the circumstances."

Both boys were sullen as they emerged from Judge Frenger's chambers. The district attorney said the train robbery charge would be dropped.

Either Saturday or Monday, Judge Frenger said, he would pronounce sentence. Under New Mexico law, the penalty may range from three years to life imprisonment. Both charges, murder and train robbery, under which they would have stood trial carried the death penalty.

Public Invited to Attend Conferences Here Today, Tonight

The public was issued an invitation today by Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, to attend two conferences at the church this afternoon and tonight. The conferences will be in charge of Rev. Claude H. Fritchard, D. D., educational secretary for the general assembly's home mission committee.

The first conference was to start at four o'clock this afternoon and the second at 7:30 tonight. Guests are expected from all the Presbyterian churches of this district as the conferences held here will be two of only 12 that will be held in the state.

All Presbyterian members are urged to be present at the conferences, particularly the evening service. Both will be popular in design.

From here, Rev. Fritchard will journey to El Paso where conferences will be held Sunday in the Manhattan and Westminster Presbyterian churches.

Andrews Banquet Tonight Cancelled

The annual Citizenship Banquet, scheduled for tonight in Andrews, has been postponed because of the illness of a large number of school children it was announced by sponsors of the affair today.

Dedication ceremonies for the new Andrews school building were to be held, but have now been postponed indefinitely.

Several Midland persons had been invited to the affair tonight and most of them had planned on attending.

Mississippi to Hold And Try Prisoner

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 18 (P).—District Attorney Hugh Gillespie said today that Roy Jackson would not be returned to Sulphur Springs, Tex., where he escaped jail, but would be held here on a charge of burglary.

A fellow escapee of Jackson was slain by officers when the two were surprised in a garage they had broken into.

Balanced System of Prices Objective of Administration--FDR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (P).—President Roosevelt made public the inter-departmental committee report today declaring the administration's program "seeks a balanced system of prices such as will promote balanced expansion in production."

He said that this did not mean inflation or further devaluation of the dollar.

Commenting on a report which declared that "moderate rises in the general price level are desirable that this rise need not and should not extend to all prices," the president said the problem was being attacked on a good many fronts.

He cited the new farm act, new housing program and the added $250,000,000 for relief.

Forty-two cabinet and economic advisers conferred with Roosevelt late Thursday. It was learned that one topic discussed was the wide discrepancy between certain prices. For example, it was said, farm prices are 70 per cent of the 1926 "normal" level and metals 96 per cent.

Senate Is Urged to Double Amount of Money for Relief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (P).—Aubrey Williams, acting relief administrator, urged a senate appropriation subcommittee to approve a $250,000,000 supplementary relief outlay as a means of providing WPA jobs for 700,000 unemployed.

With the additional money, requested by President Roosevelt, 500,000 persons can be added to the relief rolls, while without it, 200,000 must be dropped, Williams said.

Meanwhile administration leaders expressed confidence that the bill would be passed with the $250,000,000 figure unchanged, despite an effort on the part of a senate bloc to double it.

Japanese Earmark Additional Funds To Continue War

TOKYO, Feb. 18 (P).—The Japanese government earmarked $1,392,000,000 for the army and navy today to continue the undeclared war against China.

The new military expense account, as completed by the finance ministry, brought the bill for the seven months of warfare to $2,146,000,000.

The 4,800,000,000 yen ($1,392,000,000) "special account for extraordinary military expenditure" is a supplement to the ordinary budget. The finance ministry's figures will be submitted to the cabinet for approval next week.

The sum already spent on the war is more than four times as much as the total for the Chinese-Japanese war of 1894-95 and the Russian-Japanese war of 1904-05 combined.

While Japan was increasing its army and navy appropriations the naval spokesman reiterated Japan's stand on naval parity without disclosing the building plans Japan has insisted on keeping secret.

Japan holds the 5-5-3 naval ratio, putting Japan in an inferior position to Great Britain and the United States, was abolished when Japan denounced the London 1936 naval treaty.

The naval spokesman, commenting on the United States' prospect of "two ocean fleets," declared that the fact the United States has two oceans to defend against Japan's one does not alter Japan's parity stand.

Ex-Convict Captured After Officer Shot

CAMERON, Tex., Feb. 18 (P).—W. E. Garner, an ex-convict from Newton county, was shot and captured Thursday soon after an unsuspecting state highway patrolman was wounded as he aided an injured woman hitchhiker.

Patrolman Charles H. Key, bending over a first-aid kit, was shot twice by Garner, who slipped up behind him and grabbed his pistol. District Attorney Emory Camp said, "Key had chased Garner's speeding machine and the shooting occurred a few minutes after the car had overturned one a side road four miles from Hearne.

Key is recovering in a Bryan hospital. Garner, captured at Buckholts near here by officers who quickly blocked all avenues of escape, will be taken to Austin, Camp said, for questioning by the state public safety department.

The district attorney also reported a wrist watch with the name W. C. Nelson on it was worn by Garner. Nelson and his wife were robbery victims Tuesday night near Beaumont. Camp said a clipping of the robbery of the Houston couple also was in Garner's possession.

Garner, 25, a convicted burglar, had served a year of a two-year sentence when he was paroled in 1935. The suspect refused to discuss the affair, Camp said, insisting "I don't remember anything."

Mineral Dredge to Be Used on River

SAN ANGELO, Texas. (P).—On Big Sandy creek, a small tributary of the Colorado river in Llano county, workers are assembling a mineral dredge, said to be the first used in Texas, to recover gold, chrome, platinum, ruby and garnet, and building materials a by-product. The project is headed by John Rogers and Tom Black of Pittsburg, Tex., and three San Angelo men, Herman G. Wendland, head of a metal works here, Sam Johnston and J. R. Medlock, a well driller, are interested in the venture.

Operation is expected to get under way by the middle of March. Mineral leases have been obtained on 35 miles of the Big Sandy creek bed, extending northwest in Mason county ranch lands; the land-owners to receive 10 per cent of the value of all mineral recovered.

Assays indicate good production of $3.27 per ton, Johnston reports. Chrome, Johnston says, will value $26 per ton and iron $8 per ton. Other materials, to be salvaged from the "tailings," include garnet and ruby, sand, gravel, quartz and granite for building purposes.

22 are Dead, Hundreds are In Hospitals

'Supply Row' of the Municipality Is Almost Wiped Out

RODESSA, La., Feb. 18 (P).—This stricken oil town today counted its dead and injured as relief workers were hampered by a downpour of rain. Workers sought to give aid among the shambles that once was "supply row" of the municipality.

Twenty-two were known dead as the result of a storm that struck last night. Some of the bodies found today were horribly mangled. Hundreds were estimated injured and property damage was estimated at more than $300,000. Many of the injured were in a critical condition.

Pitiful stories were told by the survivors. National guardsmen, armed, were placed about the ruins to protect them from sightseers and to maintain order.

The storm raged in like a freight train, swirled for two minutes along Supply street as power lines and oil derricks toppled.

Hospital facilities were exhausted in Atlanta and the national guard armory was being utilized to take care of the stream of injured from the stricken community.

Emergency calls for ambulances went out to Shreveport, Vivian, and Atlanta, Texas, over the few telephone lines which remained up.

Buildings in the business district went down like card houses before the terrific wind, which lasted about five minutes. Cornett said the telephone office was only slightly damaged, but that most of the lines out of Rodessa were down.

The telephone lines still up after the tornado were used only for emergency ambulance calls for about 20 minutes after the twister struck. Later, calls for information were accepted.

The worst part of the storm hit the edge of Rodessa, on Supply House road, flattening it and wrecking the following places:

National bank.
Wilson.
C. I. G.
Superior Iron Works.
Butler Machine shop.
Hendeliter Tool company.
Jackson Lumber company.

Possibility of 2-Day Oil Shutdown 'Out' With RR Commission

AUSTIN, Feb. 18 (P).—The State Railroad Commission today apparently exploded the possibility that the Texas Sunday oil field shut-downs, in effect for several weeks, might be extended to two days weekly.

Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said at the monthly prorator hearing, "I am not for the two-day shutdown."

Navy Ships Lead Airport Landings

A flight of three navy observation ships, led by Lieut. Johnson, led landings at Sloan field today. The flight arrived early in the afternoon from El Paso.

An O-46-A, flown by Lieut. Whitner, from El Paso to Dallas, was another landing. So was a BT-9 piloted by Col. Hopkins from El Paso to Dallas.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

The victim—Terry Burke, book-maker. Stabbed as he entered the rear door of his gambling establishment. Killer took his watch and wallet. Known to carry large sums of currency. Small boy who saw murderer said slayer was an "awful big man."

Suspect No. 1—"Muscles" Dolan, Burke's lookout. Was absent from his post when Burke was killed. Said he was just out walking around for some air. Had his own watch and $7 in bills. A big man.

Suspect No. 2—Henry Morgan, truck driver, one of Burke's clients. Once threatened Burke. Picked up in saloon 20 minutes after murder. Said he had been in Burke's earlier, bet his last $2 on a 9 to 2 winner and then left to drink a few beers. Had his own watch and $14. A big man.

Suspect No. 3—Blondie Mallory, rival of Burke's. Had met Burke in taproom night before murder and was heard to threaten dead man. Said he was driving on lake front at time of the murder. Arrested block from Burke's. 15 minutes after murder. Had $12 in his wallet and his own watch.

Police knew one of the suspects was lying. What made them think so, and which suspect did they decide was not telling the truth?

Behind the Scenes in Washington

Editor's Note: The opinions expressed in this article are those of Mr. Dutcher, NEA-Reporter-Telegram Washington correspondent, and are not to be construed as expressing the editorial policy of The Reporter-Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Mr. Roosevelt is more optimistic than most of the other New Dealers when he leans back on the serene assumption that business will pick itself up again this spring and go hopping along without any particular help from government. Some of his closest advisers are convinced that he will have to yank a big bouncing bunny out of his hat within the next two months if the country is to avoid the danger of a resumption of the downward spiral which began last fall and lately has tended to level off—at least for the time being. They think that the recession has put such a big dent in purchasing power that further recession is inevitable unless Roosevelt and Congress administer a pumping shot in the arm. The big bouncing bunny, according to these same advisers, may be an expensive program of government home building under auspices of WPA and largely using WPA labor. New Industry? WPA officials are making a secret, intensive study of the possibilities. In addition to ordinary building operations it is figured that WPA labor would be especially adaptable to the erection of pre-fabricated houses. Early inside reports indicate that a thriving new industry might be built up in a very short time if the government decided to enter the pre-fabricated house field. Housing experts admit that a pre-fabricated housing boom could be set going within six months if real steam were put behind it. But most of them privately express the opinion that the combined pressure of banker, insurance, building material, real estate and labor groups will balk anything of the sort. If this bunny is really smothered before birth, doubtless someone will think of another one. The Department of Labor's confidential figures for January indicate a sharper drop in employment than in any previous January on record.

Bloodhound Myth. POSSIBLY the bloodhounds which chased Eliza across the ice had good intentions, after all.

Employees of the WPA Writers' Project engaged in producing the "American Guide" have compiled a series of interviews with surviving ex-slaves.

"Did they set the bloodhounds on you?" one who escaped to the North was asked.

"Dem bloodhounds been around de plantation and slaves been around de plantations and dey all was de best of friends," was the ex-slave's answer. "When I sneak away and go up North two of dem bloodhounds chased right along with me just as friendly as culd be and when I got up North I sold 'em."

Back to McKinley. WASHINGTON is waiting eagerly to hear more from M. A. Moers, the colorful Cincinnati carbon paper wholesaler who was chairman of a rump group at the small businessmen's conference which gave birth to a "National Association of Small Businessmen."

When last heard from, Mr. Moers was looking for "the guy" who had the $761 alleged to have been collected for preliminary financing and at the same time assuring the press that "What we need is a return to the days of McKinley."

There's another movement afoot to organize a regular, semi-official association of small business men which would hold hands with Secretary of Commerce Roper. But everyone is sure that the Moers association, if it really blooms, will provide infinitely more excitement.

Still Want Loans. SOME commentators have noted solemnly that when a speaker at a general session of the small businessmen's conference asked a show of hands from those who wanted a loan, only a few hands went up. The explanation of that is that a couple of hundred enthusiastic delegates were upstairs attending a meeting of the conference section scheduled to discuss small loans exclusively.

Warning Issued On Rigid Diets

AMES, Ia. (U.P.)—Beware of the "Alice-in-Wonderland potion" if you seek that sylph-like figure in the warning to women given by Miss Ruth Cessna, nutritionist at Iowa State College. "The Alice-in-Wonderland potion may destroy health or even cause death."

However, she pointed out that there is danger also in reducing weight by reducing the food intake unless the diet is balanced. The diet must contain enough protein, minerals, vitamins and water to maintain health, she said.

"There must be protective foods—milk, green vegetables, eggs and fruit. Assuming that these 'musts' are in the diet, it may be varied to gain or lose weight as a physician prescribes."

Here are the nutritionist's suggestions for losing weight: No jam for toast. No cream for cereal—milk, instead. Fruit for dessert—no cake or pie. No hot breads—they call for swaths of butter; some butter, however, for Vitamin A. Lean meat instead of fat. Vegetables without cream sauce.

'Marrying J. P.' to Incorporate

The George R. Hart Marriage Parlors, Inc., soon will make it possible to be married by a corporation in St. Charles, Mo., if plans of Mr. Hart, above, go through. The "Marrying Justice," who has united more than 5000 couples in the last three years, says St. Louis business men will give him financial aid in incorporating. He recently had his justice license revoked but continues in business because he is also an ordained minister.

If the patient has been exposed to the disease, the point of the injection will turn red in a few hours. If no redness appears after a second injection, then the patient tested is not tubercular, and no further tests are necessary.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (U.P.)—Virtually every civilized adult in the world has tuberculosis, according to Dr. C. Keith Barnes, professor at the University of New Mexico.

"People in civilized countries have had enough contact with the disease that there is usually a tiny hard lump—tubercle—somewhere in their lungs," said Dr. Barnes.

"However, this lump called Ghon's tubercle, is no cause for alarm," the physician added. "In fact, it makes a quick, easy test for tuberculosis."

The tubercle is supposed to set up anti-bodies which make it possi-

The Town Quack

Recently I reprinted an open letter from a father to a hit-and-run driver, asking him not to run over his child. Yesterday, a Midland man sent me another open letter, and I don't know but what it's more realistic than the other. At any rate, you can't read too many of such letters, because they will make you think. This letter was signed "George Malcolm-Smith" and had been sent to the representative here of an oil company for such distribution as he cared to give it.

Wages Doubtful As Price Index

SAN FRANCISCO, (U.P.)—Influence of wage increases upon general business conditions is being "greatly overemphasized," Dr. William S. Hopkins, professor of economics at Stanford University, said in an address here.

Dr. Hopkins spoke on "Wages, Profits, and Prices."

He said the "top limit of wages in the long run is the productivity of labor" and "in most cases, very little of a wage increase results in higher prices."

"If wages were forced above the level of the productivity of labor," he continued, "then marginal firms tend to vanish. The supply of the product is decreased, the price rises and the marginal value of labor rises to the new level of wages."

Dr. Hopkins pointed out that when wages are forced to this level unemployment results and wages tend to fall in non-unionized industries. "These, therefore, become profitable and tend to over-expand," he said.

"Actually," he said, "not all wage increase go above the productivity of labor. In most cases, very little of a wage increase results in higher prices. This depends in part on the proportion which wages are to the total expenses of production; in part, on the conditions of demand."

The economist and labor specialist said wage increases do often cut into profit, but this has little, if any, effect on prices. "Wage increases may increase long-run prices by increasing the cost of production," he continued, "but never in direct proportion to the amount wages are raised."

"General wage increases in certain industries tend to create unemployment. But a general wage increase throughout all industry will not create permanent unemployment."

Hopkins said current opinion was greatly over-emphasizing the influence of wage increases upon general business conditions.

Glamor Gals---With an Accent

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of six stories on the Hollywood importation of foreign actresses, who place the accent on glamor.

BY PAUL HARRISON.
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17. — There is no mystery about the motive of moviemakers in hiring so many foreign stars, mostly feminine. All Hollywood knows that the answer is foreign profits. A good solution to the problem, at home and abroad is a glamor-gal like Danielle Darrieux.

The foreign market has become increasingly important to the picture business, partly because the market itself has been curtailed by political censorship, partly because production costs of pictures has risen sharply.

The more expensive features, unless they're exceptional hits, scarcely will more than pay for themselves in the United States. The return from other countries represents the profit. Studios therefore are concerned with making pictures with stars who'll pack 'em in from Buenos Aires to Stockholm.

"Hi- Ho the Darrieux"
GRETA GARBO causes no box office riots in America, and Marlene Dietrich's recent flickers have prompted thousands of families to stay at home and pop some corn and listen to the radio. Yet both actresses, however, creaky their vehicles, draw bushels of francs, kopecs, marks and pengos into the tills of European theaters.

So the dream of every movie company is to find stars who are known and adored by foreign audiences, and who are capable and exotic and freshly appealing enough to captivate Americans.

And that's the reason why everybody at Universal Studio is going around blithely singing "Hi- Ho the Darrieux."

Envy and Delight.

DANIELLE DARRIEUX is a star in any language. True, at this writing she has not appeared in anything from Hollywood except dozens of magazines, and thousands of newspapers. Nevertheless she is receiving bushels of fan mail, and her face and architecture are the envy and delight, respectively, of her feminine and male admirers.

She also is being seen on the screen. Miss Darrieux is the only importation whose recent foreign-made pictures are of sufficient merit to win American showings. One is "Club de Femmes," which is not being exhibited in all states because it is by no means an Elsie Dinsmore story.

The other is "Mayerling," in which Miss Darrieux starred with Charles Boyer. To anybody who doesn't understand French, it provides striking evidence of the effectiveness of fine, sensitive acting, because the foreign dialog is supplemented only by some remarkable inept subtitles in English. Pink Roses for Breakfast.

To interview Miss Darrieux, a correspondent ar-tic-u-lates as dis-

Far from being an ordeal, this scheme works out very pleasantly. I had a lot of laughs.

One laugh came from a mention of temperament. Upon her arrival in New York, the actress was asked by a reporter if she were temperamental. She countered indignantly by asking whether that was any of his business. Trouble was that "temperamental," by French connotation, means "sensitive."

Crossing the continent, Miss Darrieux managed to keep adequately though oddly, fed by stabbing blindly at items on the dining car menus. Sometimes she'd get broccoli and oatmeal for dinner, or she might find herself facing a baked Alaska for breakfast.

She didn't worry, though, until after she'd spent a night at a hotel in Hollywood. In the morning she craved coffee and rolls. A long conversation with somebody downstairs resulted in the delivery of two dozen pink roses. Not a calorie in a car-load.

Although she doesn't understand very readily, the actress always speaks English with some fluency and considerable clarity. She also always got the morning paper when she awoke at 9 and translated the sensational story for her husband. "It was terrible," she said. "I liked it."

Wants to Play Drums.

IN fact, the actress seems to like everything American, from slang to swing music. Visiting Harlem on her way to Hollywood, she was thrilled by the Lindy Hop and now she wants to learn the Big Apple. She's full of exuberance and rhythm; hums and clicks her tongue in jazz time when she's not talking; wishes she could play the drums and saxophones.

Other new enthusiasms are chewing gum, ice cream sodas and American cars. Also American radio. "So much better here as in France, where all is advertising," she said.

Two things frighten her — the possibilities of war and earthquake. Somebody told her that if you were in an automobile during an earthquake, you wouldn't feel anything, so she keeps one of her cars always standing in the driveway beside the house.

War would be worse, because it would claim her husband, Henri Decoin, who was a flying ace in the last one. Decoin is a handsome, affable author who has written some of her plays and pictures.

Miss Darrieux's first American picture may or may not be titled, "The Race of Paris." Universal has revamped the story three times. Can't find a sufficiently prominent leading man for its new High Priestess of Umph.

NEXT: Annabella, a girl who helps supply "umph" with an accent.

Informal Coffees Are Courtesies for Roswell Visitor, Guest of Mrs. Butcher

As a courtesy to her aunt, Mrs. R. E. Brown of Roswell, New Mexico, who is her houseguest, Mrs. Cary P. Butcher entertained with a duet of informal coffees at her home, 904 W. Tennessee, on Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

A spring color theme of yellow and green was suggested in the centerpiece of jonquills which decorated the lace-laid coffee table. Mrs. Donald Vigeon presided at the coffee service Wednesday morning. The invitation list included: Mmes. Paul Osborne, J. M. Armstrong, Mary Galbraith, John Cornwall, J. W. Rettig, J. E. Simmons, Allan Hargrave, R. B. Cowden, John West, W. A. Geo. Washington Dessert-Bridge Is Courtesy to Club

Mrs. S. P. Hazlip was hostess to the Ace High club with a George Washington dessert-bridge at her home, 1007 W. Tennessee, Thursday afternoon.

Blue and red crepe paper table covers with napkins in patriotic design lent a holiday air to the dessert course. Table decorations featured a section of a tree and the hatchet that brought the father of his country considerable fame in legend. Little hatchets were individual favors.

Two guests were present, Mrs. James Burton and Mrs. J. M. Haygood, and one new club member, Mrs. W. T. Doherty.

High score in the afternoon's bridge games went to Mrs. Hazlip and Mrs. Haygood.

Members present were: Mmes. P. Davis, Doherty, Walter Henderson, C. P. Lancaster, Jas. Maxwell, and the hostess.

Mrs. Sivalis Is Hostess to 1928 Club Bridge Party

Gold and white was the color theme chosen by Mrs. Don Sivalis in appointments for the afternoon bridge with which she favored the 1928 club at her home, 811 W. La., Thursday afternoon. Yellow daisies were party flowers.

Tallies for the three tables of bridge played were in the favored colors and prizes packaged in gold and white were awarded to Mrs. Roy Parks for high score and to Mrs. M. C. Ulmer for second high.

Playing guests were Mrs. Lloyd Edwards and Mrs. J. D. Bodkins.

Members present were: Mmes. J. M. Caldwell, Parks, John B. Thomas, Ulmer, Ed M. Whitaker, John House, Johnson Phillips, Harvey Sloan, James Fitzgerald, William Simpson, and the hostess.

If Louis Defeats Mann He Is Still a Good Fighter

BY HARRY GRAYSON,
Sports Editor, NEA Service.

NEW YORK. — What chance, if any, has Nathan Mann against Joe Louis over 15 rounds at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 23?

Well, the sturdy Italian from outside of New Haven at least has the chance that is putting him in the ring.

Mann, who will be 23 in May, is formidable enough to prove whether Louis is still a good fighter.

While Mann is going more than 10 rounds for the first time, he is the type that comes again, and I have an idea that his chance will improve at the battle rolls along—that is if it does roll along any great distance.

As I see it, Mann's biggest danger is being kissed out quickly, or cut up and stopped before he can whittle Louis down to his size. I don't like the scars about his eyes—one in the left brow and the other on the right lid.

Mann has been on the floor, but says that he hasn't been badly hurt since Sailor Jack Jacobs, a southpaw dug his left fist into his body in an amateur bout five years ago.

"How do you like that?" asked Jacobs.

"How do YOU like that?" asked Mann, when he dropped Jacobs with a right-hand punch to the chin in the following round.

THERE is little doubt but that Mann can take a solid shot on the whiskers, but Louis is going to hit him harder than he ever has been hit.

Mann is the crowding type, a rather accomplished fighter, and has a fast pair of arms and a fine short right hand punch to the head.

It is with this right hand punch that he hopes to win the world heavyweight championship.

Louis will tower over Mann, who stands just under 5 feet 11 inches.

Watching him in workouts with Johnny Whitters, capable Negro heavyweight of Pontiac, I got the impression that Mann is as big a sucker for a left hook as Louis is for a right hand. And anybody who is a mark for a left hook is in for a bad time when placed in the same enclosure with Louis.

Mann always has appeared to be a game fellow, and isn't thinking of losing.

Mann reveals that it was Dutch Schultz himself who first saw his possibilities as a candidate for the heavyweight championship. The Bronx beer baron was taking things as quietly as possible at Stratford, near Bridgeport, in the summer of 1935. He dropped in to see Mann box Steve Carr at White City Stadium, which is situated outside of West Haven.

Schultz Never Got Around to Managing.

MANN was a light-heavyweight at the time and was out-spaced by Carr, but that didn't discourage Schultz. He sent for the boy, and purchased his contract from Bill Reynolds, the New Haven manager who brought him out.

"I'm busy right now, but I'll give you more of my time a little later," Schultz told Mann.

"He never got around to it," asserts Nathan.

Schultz was shot to death in a Newark tavern a few weeks later.

Marty Kromprier, his lieutenant, is how the fighting face of Nathan Mann will look to Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, the night of Feb. 23, when the Brown Bomber risks his crown against the New Haven lad in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden.

Bears Wonder How To Stop Quartet of Hog Sharpshooters

WACO, Feb. 18.—If Baylor's Golden Bears train their anti-aircraft guns on Don Lockard and Jack Robbins, Jim Benton and Ray Hamilton will run away, Coach Ralph Wolf has been telling his boys behind closed doors here this week as they prepare for the invasion of the Hogs from Fayetteville.

Friday and Saturday the university will play host to the University of Arkansas cagers in the game that should decide definitely the conference championship.

No Baylor basketball team has ever been given such strenuous workouts as the affable Baylor mentor has given the Bears since their loss to the Texas Aggies in College Station last week. Wolf has been giving them the works with freshmen and ineligible taking the floor against Hubert Kirkpatrick, Buck Avery, Pete Creasey, Cap. Bubba Gernand and Happy Shahan.

Grady Vaughn, Loy (Ichabod) Gilbert, Dub Walters, Joe Terry and Frank (Frisky) Bryski composed the make shift team that bounced the ball around to come within one point of beating the conference entrant. Vaughn, who burned up junior college circles last year at Jacksonville Baptist college, was hitting the meshes from all angles with the accuracy of "Deadpan Don" Lockard, using much the same tactics and style of play that has made quite a name for the Arkansas this year.

Games this week-end will be played in the old college gymnasium and will not be moved to the Cotton Palace or to the high school in spite of the fact the Baylor gym cannot take care of the expected crowd.

The Baylor coach visited Arkansas last week to witness the Arkansas-Texas series and he came back to the campus with real life stories of the cagers who couldn't miss, explaining, however, that if the Bears catch the Razorbacks with an off night on foreign soil and if the Bruins are hitting like they can when in best of form, "We might win."

While Arkansas is laying plans to not only outscore Baylor but to keep Hub Kirkpatrick down, the Baylor boys get ready for a man-to-man combat that would be designed to keep every member of the Arkansas club from bagging the limit in points.

100 Students Accept Association Loans

AUSTIN.—Nearly one hundred students in the University of Texas have made use of the loan funds offered by the Ex-Students' association this year, according to John McCurdy, secretary of the association. Totalling approximately $200,000, these loans range from $5 to $250, and are made to individuals who must have completed a semester

Longhorn-Aggie Game a Toss-up

AUSTIN, Feb. 18.—A fortnight ago the Texas Longhorns would have been overwhelming favorites in a basketball game with the Texas Aggies.

Now, with the first '38 meeting of these ancient rivals coming up here Saturday cage fans and critics hardly know what to think.

In the last two weeks these things have happened to change the outlook: Texas lost to Baylor by one point, and A. & M. defeated Baylor by two; Texas lost by one point to Rice, a team the Aggies had roundly trounced earlier in the season; the Longhorns dropped a couple to Arkansas, one by a record-setting score; the Aggies defeated T. C. U. but lost to S. M. U. by a greater margin than did the Steers back in January!

If any citizen can figure what all this means, he is asked to communicate at once with Coach Jack Gray.

Again Texas will have the problem of handling an opponent several inches taller than any Longhorn player. Louie Frieberger, A. & M.'s center, will tower above even Wee Willie Tate, Texas' tallest at six-three.

Kirkpatrick of Baylor, Benton of Arkansas and Steakley of Rice are other giants the Longhorns have found difficult to guard with their fast but unlengthy lineup.

Coach Gray's probable starting team of Elmer Finley and Bob Moore at forwards, Tate at center, and Capt. Don White and Oran Spears at guards will average only six feet one inch.

Ed Price's Yearling team will play a preliminary game against the Aggie frosh Saturday night. W. D. Houpt and Chester Granville, Yearling scoring leaders, will be watched carefully by Coach Gray, as they are tall, rangy boys of the type future Texas varsity teams will need.

Research Proven Aid To Judiciary System

AUSTIN.—Evidence of the salutary effect lay scholarship and research is having on the judiciary system, at least in state courts, is seen in a recent issue which came before the supreme court of the state of Washington. Some months ago, Dr. C. P. Patterson, professor of government at the University of Texas and an authority on the English judiciary system, addressed the Washington State Bar association on the subject of English judiciary procedure, pointing out that it has for its objective substantial justice, regardless of errors in procedure. He emphasized the fact that decisions of trial courts were never overruled by English appellate courts on the basis of errors in trial court procedure.

His address was attended by members of the Washington supreme court, and not long ago he received a letter from Justice John S. Robinson, member of the tribunal, declaring that his statements had had some effect, though, in the justice's opinion, not enough. Judge Robinson referred to a murder case in which the defendant had admitted his guilt before the trial court, jury and public, and was condemned by the court. Attorneys for the defense appealed the case, claiming error in procedure and stating that the defendant wished to change his plea to "not guilty." The supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court, but Justice Robinson and two other members of the court dissented from the ruling, and in a minority report cited Dr. Patterson's conclusions and comparisons between the English and the American judicial systems of procedure.

Dr. Patterson is author of "The Administration of Justice in Great Britain," which the Journal of the American Juridical Society terms the only thorough description of England's system of judiciary, and the answer to a long-felt need of the American legal profession.

Advisory Council Of Baseball Club Will Meet Today

Members of the advisory council of the Midland baseball club will meet together this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the First National bank.

Several important matters, including sale of opening day tickets, getting the park in shape for play, other matters will be discussed at the meeting. The board will also decide on plans to stage a contest to decide on a name for the team that will represent Midland in the West Texas-New Mexico league this year.

Members of the advisory council are J. P. Butler, Dr. John B. Thomas, and Cotter Hiett. Others who will participate in the meeting are Bill Collins, vice president of the league, and Fincher E. Withers, president of the club.

Trainer Warns 'Go Easy' With Wild Animals

SEATTLE (U.P.).—Dr. Gus Knudson, director of the Woodland Park Zoological Gardens, has laid down a set of rules for human behavior around wild animals.

Dr. Knudson started his career as a handler of wild beasts when he joined a circus at the age of 16.

"If a tiger comes up to you, don't try to shoot it away or make a sudden motion," Dr. Knudson said.

"One day, shortly after I joined the circus, I had to ride in a cage with a tiger during a parade. The tiger got nervous and ugly. He came and sank his teeth into my leg. I didn't move. He let go and walked away."

Dr. Knudson said that good animal trainers have two qualities—gentleness and fearlessness. Without the qualities, they fail. He said people should understand animals before trying to handle them.

Sul Ross Will Hold Independent Teams Invitation Tourney

ALPINE, Feb. 18.—The Sul Ross Independent Invitational Basketball Tournament to be held Friday and Saturday, February 18 and 19 will feature some of the strongest independent teams in this section of the state. Many Sul Ross Exes will again pit their skill against the opponents' tricks. In many cases former teammates will be playing against one another.

The Athletic Committee is sponsoring this tournament and announce that the following trophies will be awarded: a first place trophy, a runner-up trophy, a sportsmanship loving cup, gold basketballs to the members of the All-tournament team, and a special gold medal to the best all-around player.

The drawing of opponents will be completed today and each time will be notified by mail as to the team they are to play.

Diploma Repays Youth For 10-Year Struggle

CLEVELAND (U.P.).—George Minello, 21, was handed his high school diploma after 10 years, during which time he divided approximately 42,840 hours between steady or part-time jobs and his school work.

He worked an average of 82 hours a week at odd jobs to support his father and three of five brothers, studied and scored average or above-average grades in his school work and maintained a paper route, all at the same time.

UP IN HOOP GAME

Although flanked by City College players, Howard Weill, No. 25, Fordham University center, gets up in the air and stretches to cage a rebound shot, after another Ram had attempted a field goal and missed. First as City College won at Madison Square Garden, 37-35.

Santa Gertrudis New Cattle Type

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas. (AP)—It is claimed the only distinctive new breed of livestock developed in America is a product of south Texas—the Santa Gertrudis beef cattle originated on the King ranch. The type, established through many years of breeding experiments, is gaining increasing recognition, 37 head recently being shipped to Cuba. Santa Gertrudis cattle also have been sent to ranchers in Mexico and in the eastern and mid-western states.

HOLDERS OF ACCOUNT CARDS REQUESTED TO CORRECT RECORDS

EL PASO, Feb. 1. — Brides of 1937-38 who obtained social security account number cards before they were married were requested today by David S. Pruitt, manager of the El Paso office of the Social Security Board, to return their account number cards with information as to their new names to his office. This procedure is necessary in order that the social security account will show the wage earner's present name and prevent confusion in the keeping of the worker's wage accounts for Federal old-age insurance.

A card for this purpose, designated as "Employee's Request for Change in Records," is now available at the local office of the Board, located at 335 First National Bank Building.

This card provides space both for the newly acquired name and that originally used in applying for the account number. The corrected account number cards will be returned to those who report their change of name.

Pruitt explained that since wage accounts are kept in the name the worker gives the employer, individuals who change their legal names should correct their records to insure the accurate recording of their wages. Wage information reports filed by employers and transmitted to the Social Security Board indicate that many employees have gone to work on new jobs under their new names without notifying the Board of the change. This, it was explained, complicates the keeping of their accounts and might make it difficult to ascertain the full amount of the benefits to which they will ultimately be entitled.

Social Security account card holders may use this new application form also to correct misstatements as to age, or any other inaccurate declarations that may have been made.

Pruitt stated that while a new age declaration would be accepted without question, the acceptance should not be regarded as final, since an employee may be called upon to furnish proof of age on filing a benefit claim.

Milk Drinking Fails to Reach Ideal Moment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Per capita milk consumption in the United States is increasing, but still is below the "adequate minimum" established by the Department of Agriculture.

The bureau of agricultural economics reported milk consumption per capita in cities and villages, including cream in terms of its milk equivalent was 38.2 gallons in 1936. This was an increase of 3.24 per cent over 1935.

The home economics bureau reports each child needs a minimum of one quart of milk a day—or 90 gallons a year—and that each adult should drink one pint a day—45 gallons a year.

Data gathered from city boards of health indicate that the greatest increase in per capita milk consumption occurred in the North Central states, where 4.8 per cent more milk and cream were used in 1936 than in 1935.

The increase in the South Atlantic states was about 1 per cent, in the South Central states about 3 per cent, in the Western states about 2.5 per cent, and in the North Atlantic states about 2.7 per cent.

Rural Schools

Prairie Lee.
Students are holding first attendance in Prairie Lee school now, according to Prin. A. M. Bryant, with intensive preparation also being made for the Interscholastic League meeting.

Among visitors to school last week were: Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth, home demonstration agent, Mrs. B. D. Rice, county judge, E. H. Barron, and H. H. Kendrick.

Judge Barron and Mr. Kendrick made their visit in the interest of organizing a Boy Scout troop. They invited boys from Prairie Lee to attend the scout meeting in the south home at Midland Friday night.

A number of boys attended and plans were made for the organization of a troop here at an early date.

Rev. W. C. Hinds, pastor of the First Methodist church at Midland, in company with Judge Barron, conducted the chapel exercises Thursday morning.

Valentine party and program were held at the school house at 2:30 o'clock Monday. Valentine presents were exchanged.

The volley ball boys defeated the volley ball team of girls 15 to 14 in a game Friday; the girls defeated the boys 14 to 12 in a game of playground ball.

Plans are being discussed for the organization of a Parent-Teachers Association soon.

Plans are underway for enlarging the school for next year. The three teachers are carrying a four-tenths load this year, having over a hundred students enrolled.

Sunday school and BTU were well attended at Greenwood Sunday.

Ironing Technique.
Ironing clothes is sometimes quite a problem, but when the best method is understood, everything becomes much simpler. The iron should always be moved along the threads of the material, either lengthwise or crosswise. Clothes except pongee, should be ironed damp. Sheets are usually folded in half. Table linen is folded in half and again in fourths. These folds should be changed occasionally.

Sonja, the Surf Skater

It would seem that Sonja Henie just can't shake her skating habits, judging by the above picture of her, taken as she emerges from an ocean dip onto the warm sands of Miami's Roney Plaza Cabana Club beach. Sonja apparently is skimming the surface of the water with the same graceful swoop by which she glided to fame as the world's ice queen.

To Make Cold Feel Unwelcome; Feed It With Vitamin D

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox, NEA Service Staff Writer.

THE Vikings managed to get through a hard winter quite as well as modern sun chasers do on our Southern beaches. Neither our sun-bathed rich nor the sturdy gentlemen of the North went without their vitamin D; cod liver oil is an old Scandinavian custom, lying on the hot sands is just another way of getting vitamins without much worry. Add these other sources to your list, too: halibut liver oil, vitamin D concentrates and egg yolk.

If an egg or two a day makes your stomach unhappy, then go in for daily doses of liver oils. If you are looking for an easy way to take an egg yolk, try shaking it up with a little cracked ice and a small glass of fresh fruit juice.

The following recipes show how to get egg yolks into the regular family menus without tears.

Sunshine Scrambled Eggs.
(4 to 6 servings).
Twelve egg yolks, 4 whites, 1/2 cup whole milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 green pepper.

Beat eggs slightly, add milk and salt. Pepper to taste. In top of double boiler melt butter, add pepper, chopped fine, and cook a few minutes. Then add beaten eggs and stir constantly until soft and creamy—scrambled eggs should be that way, not thick and knobby.

Spinach Salad.
(4 to 6 servings).
One envelope plain unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup hot water, 3/4 cup cooked spinach, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 tablespoon salt, 3 hard-cooked eggs.

Four water in bowl and sprinkle gelatin on top of water. Add hot water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice, salt and spinach. Cool. Rinse mold in cold water and line with hard-cooked eggs cut in slices. Turn in the spinach mixture (gelatin, lemon juice, and salt) when it begins to thicken. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with garnish of radish flowers. Pass Vitamin-D mayonnaise.

Vitamin-D Mayonnaise.
Two egg yolks, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup olive oil, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of paprika.

Beat egg yolks, add lemon juice, salt and paprika. Add oil drop by drop, stirring constantly.
