Formation Markers Topped by Two Important Yoakum Tests

By FRANK GARDNER.

Topping of markers by two important wildcats in Yoakum occupied the spotlight among the day's developments in the North Basin region.

Phillips Drilling Company No. 1 W. A. O'Brien, topped Plains in central Yoakum, south brown lime at 4,170 feet and is now drilling below 4,210 feet in anhydrite. On the marker, it is running 65 feet low to the anhydrite.

Magnolia No. 1 J. H. Lynn, wildcat west of the Denver pool, topped anhydrite at 2,170 feet, according to driller and was making hole below that depth. It checked by sample analysis, the anhydrite top in No. 1 Lynn came in at datum of plus 1,474. This is 72 feet lower than the same top in Texas No. 1 Walker, small producer a mile and three-quarters to the southwest, which topped anhydrite at 2,110, datum of plus 1,546, and 31 feet lower than the anhydrite in Gulf No. 1 Puteh, Denver producer a mile and three-quarters to the southeast, which found it at 2,130, datum of plus 1,505. However, No. 1 Lynn is reported running high to Moore Brothers, Inc. No. 1 Cleveland, dry hole farther northwest.

Ralph H. Gill No. 1 Gulf-S. J. Dixon, wildcat two and a half miles northwest of the Bennett, pool of southeast Yoakum, is drilling at 5,162 feet in lime. No shows are expected before 5,230 feet. In the pool, Honolulu No. 5-677 Bennett is running 7-inch pipe, bottomed at 4,800 feet in lime.

Texas No. 1 Randall, south offset to the company's No. 1 Walker discovery, is drilling lime at 5,075 feet. In the Roberts area, Shell No. 3 Dora Roberts is drilling past 4,910 feet in lime.

Andrews Gauge Filed. Railroad Commission gauge, filed today, for Montecito Corporation (formerly Rhodes, Tompkins and Donnelly) No. 1 Emma Cowden, southern Andrews strike, credited it with having flowed 635.61 barrels in 24 hours through a 3/4-inch choke on 2-inch tubing. Excessive back pressure of 780 pounds undoubtedly cut down the well's output, and operators stated that it would probably produce well in excess of 1,000 barrels a day if opened up. Gas-oil ratio registered 1,020-1, and oil tested 33.7 gravity. The well topped pay at 4,165, is bottomed at 4,220, and was acidized with a total of 6,500 gallons.

In the northeast portion of the Means pool in Andrews, Humble No. 47 J. S. Means is preparing to take following re-treatment with 3,000 gallons of acid, it flowed 142 barrels of pipe-line oil hourly through 2 1/2-inch outlet off casing. After a 1,000-gallon acid treatment, the natural flow was 50 an hour. No. 47 Means is bottomed at 4,510 feet in lime.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 3-A J. L. Johnson, two miles north of the Foster pool, Ector county, is drilling at 4,390 feet in hard brown lime, making a bailer and a half of water every four hours. Water is believed to have come in between 4,200 and 4,300 feet. Southwest of the discovery in the Moss area of Ector, Sinclair-Prairie No. 2-B Paul Means is cleaning out preparatory to deepening from 3,040 in anhydrite after successfully terminating lengthy fishing job.

Osage No. 1 Sun-Miller, central Gaines wildcat, cemented 8 5/8-inch casing at 3,319 feet with 200 sacks and is standing. Total depth is 3,360 feet in anhydrite.

Crane Well to Plug Back. Magnolia No. 1-15 University, in eastern Crane, was reported to have shown sulphur water near total depth of 3,327 feet and will probably be plugged back to 3,267 for shut-off. It topped pay at 3,199 and had 1,000 feet of oil in the hole when water was encountered.

In Martin county, Anderson No. 1 Vance is drilling lime at 3,845 feet, with no shows of oil or gas yet encountered. It had water to 3,825 which was shut off by 7-inch casing mudded at 3,841. Also in Martin, Shaw No. 1 Williamson is drilling at 240 in red rock. Twelve and one-half inch pipe was cemented at 220 feet with 150 sacks. The well has not yet encountered any shallow water.

New Deal foe Bids for '40 Presidency

Senator Clark of Missouri Seeking To Be Re-Elected

NASHVILLE, Aug. 2 (AP).—Prospects of national guards patrolling voting booths in Memphis in Thursday's democratic primary were removed today. A guard of men being held for possible need in Memphis was ordered to proceed to maneuvers in Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP).—Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, foe of many administration measures, is bidding today for a thumping renomination majority and a chance at the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940.

A primary sweep for the son of the famous Democratic House leader, who came near winning the presidential nomination from Woodrow Wilson in 1912, would increase talk among anti-Roosevelt Democrats of putting him forward in '40 as a "compromise" candidate to stop the "New Deal's" man, whoever he may be.

That makes the size of Clark's vote a matter of widespread interest in today's numerous elections, which include primary voting in Kansas, Virginia and West Virginia as well as in Missouri.

President Roosevelt has not entered the Missouri campaign, and Clark has the support of both Democratic factions which are fighting in the state for control of the party. Joseph T. Davis of St. Louis and Willis H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff are running against him as "100 per cent New Dealers."

In the neighboring state of Kansas, Senator McGill, a full-fledged New Dealer and Governor W. A. Huxman have had no organized opposition in their campaigns for Democratic renomination. There has been a bitter campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination, however, in which one of the candidates the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, has been opposed by National Chairman John Hamilton and other party leaders. Winrod, an evangelist, has been accused of religious intolerance and in turn has charged his accusers with spreading half-truths about him.

The only contest today involving direct intervention by an administration official is that in Virginia between Republican Howard W. Smith, four-term veteran of the House, and William E. Dodd, Jr., son of the former ambassador to Germany.

They are contesting for the Democratic nomination to Smith's seat in the House—a nomination which, in Democratic Virginia, is tantamount to election.

Secretary of Interior Ickes stepped into their campaign recently, charging that Smith was trying to "muscle in" on the popularity of the Public Works Administration after voting against every PWA bill except one.

Excepting the Smith-Dodd race, there is little of national significance in the primaries in Virginia or in West Virginia.

More exciting primaries are on the calendar for Thursday, in Tennessee and Saturday, in Kentucky.

Rapid Progress on Buildings Noted Early This Week

Pouring of concrete for the fifth floor framework was under way on the First National Bank's eight story office building and the east wall of the bank proper was going up today, registering fast time for the contractors, R. F. Ball Construction Co., on the $280,000 project.

The new office building of the Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Co. at Colorado and Illinois streets, was about ready for occupancy. Rapid progress was being made by Felix Stonehocker on two brick buildings, one for Conner Bros. who will operate their Piggly-Wiggly stores, at the corner of Texas and Marietta streets, and the other for Geo. D. Phillips and M. N. Coston, on North Colorado street, for the Safeway stores.

The high school gymnasium had reached an advanced stage, with expectations that it will be ready for use during the late fall.

Residence construction, active throughout the year, was progressing steadily early this week.

Negro Apparently Makes Good Escape

Midland county officers today were following a cold trail in their search for James Burleson, negro, wanted in connection with the alleged slaying of Roscoe Weekley, negro, early yesterday morning at a dance in Moody Addition.

Burleson was named by eyewitnesses as the man who inflicted knife wounds upon Weekley, causing his death almost immediately. Weekley suffered severe wounds upon his back and a gash over the heart that led to his death. The stab wound on his chest was said to have entered his heart.

Burleson fled immediately after the altercation and all efforts to apprehend him have been futile. Funeral services were held for Weekley yesterday afternoon.

Soviet Troops Repulsed in Battle

Smacked With a Light Penalty

Peggy Giffin kissed her father, Lieut. Col. Stewart Giffin, at Governor's Island, N. Y., after a twelve-officer court martial had sentenced him to be reprimanded and moved down 100 files on the promotion list. He was acquitted on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer but convicted of two lesser charges, one that he knocked off an individual's hat, the second that he created a disturbance when refused admission to a party. Col. Giffin will retire next March after thirty years of honorable service with the army.

Oil Men's Calf Roping to Be Midland Rodeo Feature

Addition of an oil men's roping contest, with a representative to be chosen from each town in the Permian Basin, was announced as a feature attraction of the Midland Rodeo September 3-4-5, at a meeting of the general committee Monday night.

W. T. Doherty, chairman of the publicity committee, was given full authority to secure the entries, with much rivalry expected among backers of the various representatives. Besides securing the interest of several towns, it was planned to have several oil companies represented.

The roping contest takes the place of a previously planned oil men's mule race, due to the fact that the calf roping fits the type of show better and that no gentle mules were found available, officials said. The oil men will rope their calves and bell them, it was planned.

Mother of Midland Man Succumbs While Visiting Him Here

The body of Mrs. Effie E. Nysewander, 77, mother of Ben F. Nysewander, Jr., Midland man, who died here yesterday afternoon, this morning was sent to Chicago where funeral services will be held, probably Thursday.

Mrs. Nysewander arrived in Midland on July 20 from her home at Santa Barbara, Calif., for a visit with her son. She became ill on July 26 and her condition gradually grew worse, death coming to her late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Nysewander's daughter, Mrs. Chas. C. Ranschaw and her husband, Chicago, arrived here when notified of her illness and together with Ben F. Nysewander were accompanying the body back to Chicago, former home of the deceased and where her husband is buried.

First Rodeo Judge Accepts Post Today

First judge of the Midland Rodeo September 3-4-5 telephoned his acceptance today. He was George Humphries, sheriff of King county and ranch manager of the famous 6666 ranch, with headquarters at Guthrie.

In a telephone call to Sheriff Humphries, Roy Parks issued the invitation this morning in behalf of the rodeo committee and the rancher-peace officer expressed pleasure at the prospect of joining the people of this section in the annual rodeo.

"I have heard a lot about your good show," he said, "and have been wanting to come to it. I'll sure be on hand."

Seaplane Norwind Plows Into Yacht On Flight From U. S.

HORTA, Azores, Aug. 2 (AP).—The German seaplane Norwind, on an experimental flight from the United States to the Azores, crashed into a yacht as it landed here today. The crew escaped injury but the nose and wings of the plane were damaged.

The plane arrived here at noon after flying from Port Washington in 14 hours.

Matagorda Is Inundated By Colorado

Worst Flood in the History of Town Is Recorded Today

MATAGORDA, Aug. 2 (AP).—The worst overflow of water in the history of this city, located at the mouth of the Colorado river, struck here today. Water stood from eight inches to several feet all over the city.

Motorboats and skiffs were used to transport supplies about the town.

High waters upstream were steadily receding.

Governor Allred issued a new plea for funds to aid the Red Cross in flood relief and rehabilitation today. He telegraphed mayors of various cities urging a better response to a previous appeal.

The Red Cross increased its field workers in the Colorado area to 25, officers announced. Exclusive of the lower reaches, relief is being administered to 1,000 families. It is estimated rehabilitation work will take at least two months.

Murder Suspect Is Questioned About Frome Slayings

DETROIT, Aug. 2 (AP).—A man wanted for a killing in Salt Lake City on May 29 was questioned today in the torture slayings of Mrs. Weston Frome and her daughter, Nancy, near Van Horn last March.

Police asked John Deering, 39, "What about those two women in Texas?"

"I'll talk about that later," he replied.

Officers said Deering confessed he killed Oliver Meredith, Jr., of Salt Lake City because he needed an automobile for a robbery.

Utah officials left by airplane to return Deering to Salt Lake City.

'Uncle Billy' Priest, Winkler County Sheriff, Succumbs

KERMIT, Aug. 2 (Special).—W. D. "Uncle Billy" Priest, sheriff of Winkler almost all the time since 1910, died here early this morning of a heart attack.

Priest had only been recently dismissed from a hospital where he was treated two weeks for acute indigestion. His end came suddenly and unexpectedly.

Priest came to this area 44 years ago as a cowboy on the old W ranch, one of the largest in the state at that time. He purchased a small ranch of his own in 1904 and in 1906 took up a tract of ground on which most of the city of Wink is now located. However, he sold it in 1925, just prior to the discovery of oil on it.

In 1910, when Winkler county was organized out of Tom Green county, Priest was elected the first sheriff and tax collector. He was re-elected in 1912 but was defeated by one vote in the 1914 elections. In 1916 he was re-elected and had served continuously since that time except for a short time in 1929 when he resigned.

Born in 1873 at Guadalupe, Priest moved with his parents to Menard at the age of five and remained there until he moved to this area. In 1906 he was married to Miss Clara Mergenthaler, who survives him. Two sons, W. D. Priest, Kermit, and John L. Priest, a student in Texas University, also survive him.

Funeral services have been tentatively set for tomorrow afternoon at Kermit. Interment rites will be held Thursday in Menard, where his father and mother are buried.

AAPG President Is Honored Here

Dr. Donald C. Barton, of Houston and president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, was honor guest at a luncheon held yesterday in the private dining room of the Scharbauer hotel. The occasion was an unofficial meeting of general committeemen and chairmen of committee in charge of arrangements for the mid-year session of the AAPG, slated to convene in El Paso Sept. 27-Oct. 2. About 15 persons were present. Bertie R. Haigh, general chairman, presided.

Dr. Barton returned to Houston last night.

War Area

Russian ships—concentrating in Possiet Bay as Soviet and Japanese troops concentrate on the Manchukuo-Siberian border directly inland at a point indicated by star—bode no good for immediate Russo-Japanese relations. Japan has protested seizure and fortification by Russian troops of a hill at a point which it claims is inside the Manchukuo border, and both sides are believed to be rushing up reinforcements in case of a border clash resulting from a Japanese attempt to expel the Russians.

Extensive Repairs To South Ward School Planned

Specifications were being given out today to contractors, seeking bids on repairs to the south ward school building, the bids to be opened at noon Monday, August 8.

The repairs will include outside doors, window sash and frames, plaster patching and roof repainting. Separate prices must be submitted by contractors on each job, also the total bid for all four jobs.

Two pairs of outside doors, now in use, will be replaced with new white pine doors and yellow pine frames, primed, painted and fitted with hardware according to specifications given out.

New window sash and frames will replace those now in use throughout the building, except certain windows described in the bid forms, the type and quality being set forth to the contractors who will place bids.

Plaster that is damaged by this work, also that already cracked or damaged in any part of the building is to be patched.

The contractor given the job must employ the services of a first class roofing mechanic and inspect the present roof, doing such work as necessary to render the roof free from leaks and guaranteeing same for one year.

Sealed bids may be handed in by any member of the building committee, composed of Roy Parks, C. M. Goldsmith, W. A. Yeager, and J. L. Greene, or to the office of the superintendent of schools, by noon August 3. The school board reserves the right to reject any and all bids, the bid forms announced.

Exposition Officials Coming to the Rodeo

Fort Worth's Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show already has shown its interest in the Midland Rodeo September 3-4-5, hotel reservations having been made today by John Hendrix for himself, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis, all three of whom will be here for the entire show.

Davis, general manager of the Exposition, has aided the Midland Rodeo each year through cooperation from Fort Worth, as has Hendrix who is public relations representative.

Hendrix was here today with Jack Turner, secretary of the Texas Hereford Breeders' Association, and N. H. Eden, Corsicana Hereford breeder. They were en route to Marfa where cattlemen are hosts for three days to feeders and cattlemen from southeastern states.

Several Sales of Cattle Reported

Two cars of heifer yearlings were bought early this week by E. W. Nicodemus of Fort Worth from Norman Read of Coahoma, to be shipped to feed lots.

John Poe of Stanton bought from C. M. Goldsmith 160 head of dry cows. Lane Bros. bought from C. W. Crowley 100 head of cows and calves. Earl Ray bought a truck load of calves from W. F. Scarborough to be run on stian pasture.

Scarborough received today five head of young bulls bought from E. B. Dickenson.

Situation Is Said Serious By Officials

Japanese Gains in China Threatened By North Crisis

TOKYO, Aug. 2 (AP).—The Japanese government announced today its army had repulsed a large-scale attack of Soviet troops in the disputed area along the Siberian-Manchoukuo frontier.

Tanks, heavy artillery and warplanes cleared the way for Russian infantry attacks. Japanese estimated the Russian losses at 220 and their own at 30 in the recent fighting.

"We consider the situation exceptionally serious," a government spokesman said.

A later communique charged Russians were repeatedly bombing Korean villages in the vicinity of the border conflict.

In London, British officials were inclined to minimize the battle; but in Moscow and Tokyo foreign observers believed the situation was the most serious in many months.

Meanwhile, a Shanghai survey indicated Japan was threatened with loss of effective control in many areas captured during the past year. Reports asserted Chinese communists and guerrillas are already recouping numerous districts.

Pressure on the Japanese northern border, Chinese believe, will lead to further re-occupations.

The battle rages as the biggest clash on the Soviet-Manchoukuo frontier since the beginning in 1931 of the long series of boundary incidents, numbering hundreds.

Foreign military observers in Moscow who previously were inclined to view the situation as only another of these incidents were beginning to take a graver view of the encounter.

Thirteen Russian soldiers were reported killed and 55 wounded.

The Russians captured five artillery pieces and 14 machine guns, and lost a tank and a field piece themselves.

The official account of the battle said Japanese concentrated one division against Zaozernaya (Chang-kufeng) after they were repulsed in an attack on a nearby hill last Friday and on Sunday opened the battle unexpectedly with an artillery barrage. They were driven back.

Soviet troops did not cross the Manchoukuo border, it was explained, and so were unable to encircle the Japanese or make a flank attack upon them.

Attends Reunions In Two N. M. Towns

Attending two family reunions in New Mexico, Mrs. D. W. McCormick returned to her home yesterday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Lee of Eden. They first went to Lee of Eden. They first went to Lee of Eden. They first went to Lee of Eden.

Notable among them were the Lee Bros. of Paradise, Ariz., widely known big game hunters who, with their trained dogs, have guided some of the nation's important hunting parties. They specialize in jaguars, mountain lions and bears, capturing the animals alive with ropes after they have been tamed by the trained hounds. Mrs. McCormick then went to Alamogordo for a reunion of the Gilmore family, 65 being present at that occasion.

Members of the Cattlemen's Protective Association will meet here Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the county court room. The membership, composed of ranchers of Midland, Ector and Andrews counties, will hear R. E. Gallendar, game management specialist, College Station, in an address.

Callendar, who will come here from Balmorhea where he is now on duty, will explain to ranchmen the best methods of increasing game on their lands and the best ways to keep game birds.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. — The White House has been taken over by people you never heard of before. They're the same indispensable men and women who make the machinery go around in the large handsome, costly important institution even when the President and his secretaries are there in command.

It's a skeleton crew. Anyone entering the long lobby of the executive offices and suites adjoining finds deep, comfortable leather chairs and divans wastefully unoccupied in benignly air-cooled surroundings. Just what would happen to an ordinary citizen who had no other business than parking himself in the lobby for a cool rest is uncertain because no ordinary citizen tries. Secret Service men went off with the President and those who didn't follow him to sea are vacationing. But uniformed White House policemen still guard gates and doors.

Now's the only time you can see the President's office, assuming you won't be having an appointment with him. With congressional endorsement, you can peer through the door at the great desk with its many gadgets, while a cop watches lest you vault the doorway's velvet rope. JIMMY'S UP NORTH.

Jimmy Roosevelt, health restored, is at the family's far-northern summer place at ampo Bello. Fog there is thick, he writes. James Rowe, Jimmy's assistant, and his wife Elizabeth — formerly of the United Mine Workers' secretariat—are enjoying sun, salt water, and lobster at Nantucket. Secretary Marvin McIntyre returns from the west as these notes are made and in an hour or so has a roomful of visitors who hope he will tell the President something they want him to know. "Lobbyists and hangers-on," comments a White House attache.

Answering questions from correspondents and the world at large is Bill (William Dean) Hassett, Early's assistant and old-time Washington correspondent, wise and kindly. Scores of telephone callers, local and long distance, want to know about Roosevelt's movements when he returns. Hassett radios news summaries each day to Early on the U. S. S. Houston.

THE MAIL GOES THROUGH. At the center of White House machinery, as always, is slender, bespectacled Rudolph Forster, a veteran who dates back to McKinley. He is the clearing house for everything that goes to the President, super-vises files, communications, and messenger service. Right now his big problem is declining what should go to the President in the pouch about to leave for the U. S. S. Houston by plane and what can wait. White House mail has dwindled below a thousand letters a day.

Dancer Prefers Death to Scar

Because she would rather chance death than undergo an operation that would leave a scar to mar her anatomical beauty, Ada Leonard, above, was in a grave condition from peritonitis in a Chicago hospital. Although her infected appendix had ruptured, doctors said the 21-year-old exponent of the "dignified strip tease" had a chance to recover.

'What's Your Pleasure, Colonel?'

The average is between 2000 and 3,000 although it once hit 80,000 in 1933. Ira Smith, 40 years in the mail room, is in charge, with a staff of 15 or 20.

The basement mail box is the same type you see on the streets. Recently a carpenter built a wide board on top of it, very useful for piling packages and other mail that would not go in. But a postal inspector came around and said the White House was violating regulations, so the board was removed.

Pipeline 100 Years Old; Made of Hollow Logs CHARDON, O. (U.P.) — A pipeline of hollowed logs 1,000 feet long, believed to be a part of a plumbing system installed about 100 years ago, has been uncovered by D. O. Root on a farm near Chardon. Holes had been bored through the middle of the logs and the end of each log was sharpened to join the next.

The Town Quack

Sometimes I hold a few doubts as to the power of the press. Here we try to catch the citizens off their guard and write a Sunday editorial to promote weed cutting, but I've looked all about town and haven't found any weeds cut since the editorial was published. All I have to say is that if we don't get these "keerless" weeds cut pretty soon, we ought to prune them so we can walk under them. They are about as tall as Chinese elms, but they have too much underbrush

Solid Freezing of Earth Seen in 71,799 Years

MIAMI, Fla. (U.P.) — After two years of research, Prof. Hirsch Yankelewitz, formerly of the Institute of Technology of St. Petersburg University, declares that the earth will freeze into a solid ball in 71,799 years.

It's all a question of determining when the volcanic fires, which give life and vegetation, will burn out. He reaches his figure by comparing the dimensions of the earth, Mars and the moon, freezing three spheres of relative size, letting them form a coating of ice and then measuring the amount of moisture.

Odd Affliction Listed As "Word Blindness"

LONDON. (U.P.) — An affliction known as "word blindness" has come into the news here through the case of a 16-year-old cyclist who was fined at Crown Hill, Devon, for dis-

Root on a farm near Chardon. Holes had been bored through the middle of the logs and the end of each log was sharpened to join the next.

attached to them.

When you live out in the country, you just have to start home earlier at night. Roy Parks can't stay as late at a meeting as he could when he lived in town.

Arthur Judkins sends word through his kid-sister-in-law, who is our sub-society editor, and wants to know what the D. F. stands for in Mexico, D. F. Dam Fino, Arthur, but Jim Harrison says it's for "district federal". It might have sounded reasonable.

From what I can hear, Rip Smith has about broke all the boys from cussin' out at the fair grounds.

We are going to put out a bigger paper, Jack Cusack says the size it's been lately, we ought to put out a flag on it when we throw it in the yard.

obeying a halt sign.

The boy's father explained that, although the boy was a clever mathematician and could copy writing well, he was unable to read.

"I am just the same," added the father, "I can read figures but not words."

Such people, an authority at the Institute of Child Psychology explained are "word blind". They can spell out the letters of a word, but the letters convey nothing to them.

Where Clipper Radioed Last Report

This map shows the position from which the Pan American Airways ship, Hawaii Clipper, radioed its last report to Manila. At the time the message was sent the clipper was 565 miles from the Philippine coast on the 1593-mile westward flight from Guam. It had left San Francisco Saturday, July 23, flying first to Hawaii, then to Guam. With the big ship long overdue, the U. S. Army transport Meigs was dispatched from Manila to the last reported position, latitude 12:27 north, longitude 140:30, east of Samar, easternmost island of the Philippines.

Countess Likes Trapper's Life

MONTREAL (U.P.)—A Belgian Countess who lived alone seven months in a trapper's cabin in the wilds north of The Pas, Man., has arrived here to rest and recuperate from a sunburn, mosquito bites and an injured leg before sailing home to Belgium.

She is the Countess Anne de Mischeagen, explorer, trapper, writer, and stepdaughter of a Canadian, the late Sen. H. S. Beland. Despite the hardships, she encountered in the wilds, she said she was sorry she was leaving Canada. She prefers running her own trap line in the North and living entirely by herself to the civilization of city life in Europe, she said, and intends to come back to Canada.

"I have spent several winters in the Canadian north country, and I love it," she said.

Before establishing herself in a trapper's cabin at The Pas, she spent some time hunting in the Cariboo valley of the Rockies, where she heard tales of lost gold mines, found that the only grizzly bear in the country preferred to charge her guide and die under his rifle before she even caught sight of the beast, and where she gathered material for her writings. The Countess has written three books, all in French, on her North Country and hunting experiences. She cut her leg while chopping wood.

The Countess plans to come back to Canada to get one more shot at a grizzly.

"I don't like killing things any more," she said. "I've had so much of it in the Belgian Congo. I do most of my hunting with a camera now. But I would like to get a grizzly."

Man Whips Recession With Couple of Guppies

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—A pair of guppies enabled John Jackson of Philadelphia to lick the depression and the recession.

The tropical fish were given to Jackson and his wife in 1929, soon after they were married. Jackson took an active interest in them and a short time later was laid off from his job as a shop salesman.

"By that time I had learned a lot about tropical fish," Jackson said. When the guppies began multiplying he decked his tiny rear yard with glass to provide a hothouse for them.

He then started and made a business of selling tropical fish.

"I've done very well, too," Jackson added. "Last year I raised and sold over 10,000 descendants of my original pair. So all along I've been wondering why all this talk of hard times."

Dog Grows Reckless In Carrying Out Tricks
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (U.P.)—Annoyed at not being able to find his morning paper for several days, William Rickard finally has solved the mystery.
Up a little earlier than usual one morning, Rickard saw a dog take his paper in its mouth and trot away.
An investigation disclosed that the dog had been trained to bring in his master's paper and, apparently liking the task, had gone to several neighboring residences to do the same thing.

HOBBS HOPS ON SOULE FOR EARLY LEAD, WIN SECOND STRAIGHT

CARDINALS LEAVE FOR WEEK AFTER TONIGHT'S GAME

The official averages show the Hobbs Boosters are on the bottom of the league standings, but you could not prove it by the Midland Cardinals. For the second day in a row the Boosters defeated the Cardinals by hanging a 6-4 defeat on them last night.

The two clubs will meet in the final game of the series tonight, giving the Cards a chance to salvage at least one game. However, both clubs leave for Hobbs after the game here tonight, and the Cardinals will have three more days in which to try getting even.

The Lubbock Hubbers were hanging a 13-4 defeat on the Wink Spudgers last night while the Cardinals were losing out, and it placed the Hubbers three and one-half games ahead of the home club. The Cards are going to have to take at least three of the remaining four games from the Hubbers to keep the series beginning in Lubbock Saturday from being just another bunch of games. It was nice, if the Cards had to get beat, to have a Midland boy furnish the power that did it, James White, who had a trial with the Red Birds earlier in the year, for the second day in a row had a home run and a single that accounted for two runs, the margin of victory. The home run was the fifth made by White in as many days.

Sunday, the Boosters gave the Cardinals four runs in the first inning. But last night things were exactly opposite. The Hobbs boys ganged on Soule for three runs in the first and two in the third before he could be derlicked. And that was enough to win.

Frank Nelson, undisputed number one hurler of the Cards, took over the flinging duties at the start of the fourth and pitched one-hit, one-run ball for the rest of the way. But his efforts were wasted since his mates could not consistently get to Hogan for safeties.

The Cards picked up one run in the third and another in the sixth and then had all the fans on their feet as they scored two runs in the ninth, had the bases loaded and only one man out. But manager Rabe killed all Midland hopes by jerking Hogan from the box and sending in Falls, a hurler who has been with the Hobbs club just one week. The first man to face Falls was utility man Clarence Beers, sent in to bat for outfielder Evans. Beers went down on strikes and center-fielder Garbe, next man up, did the same thing, thereby retiring the side and ending the game.

High School Students Attend Old College

SHERMAN (P).—Students attending the high school at Whitewright, Grayson county, moved among the shadows of college undergraduates of a half century ago, because the building once was the home of Grayson college. Its graduates are scattered over the United States. Grayson college, one of the multitude of collegiate enterprises that have disappeared from the educational scene in Texas, was established about 1886 by H. L. Piner and E. T. Kemp. Its first home was a frame building but in the early 80's a brick structure was erected and the college was affiliated with the University of Texas for awarding degrees in the sciences and arts. J. R. Westbrook of Denison, former member of the Texas legislature, for a number of years served as professor and one of its co-owners. Associated with him were the president, F. E. Butler, who died last year at Jacksonville; J. F. Anderson; the Rev. J. L. Truett, still a resident of Whitewright, and brother of Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, and H. S. Parsons, Mr. Anderson, now deceased, later was president of Carr-Burdett college at Sherman, another enterprise in higher education that has joined the procession of ghost colleges.

The original brick building was burned about 1900, and the present structure, an almost exact duplicate, was built on the site.

At peak of operation the school enrolled as many as 400 young men and women from Texas points and adjoining states. There was a large frame girls dormitory that no longer stands, while the boys boarded at neighboring houses.

Among members of the faculty were S. S. Strop, Mrs. J. H. Watkins, J. H. Watkins, A. L. Groves, Mrs. Isabell Ingalls, E. L. Harp, Miss Ida Root Gordon, Miss Mary Olive Norris, and O. R. Randle.

C. T. Freeman and Charles Batsell of Sherman, R. M. Now and John Scott of Denison, and Scott Fulton of Van Alstyne, publisher of a weekly newspaper, were among the students of the early college.

R. H. (Bob) Wilson, for eight years state supervisor of Oklahoma schools, was a Whitewright graduate. Grayson college was the alma mater of B. B. Cobb, former superintendent of Waco schools and now secretary of the State Teachers association. Bob May, former superintendent of Port Arthur schools, also attended.

The school ceased to operate about 1906. The building was used for a short time by Carlisle Military academy before being taken over by the city of Whitewright for a high school.

10 Years Needed to Work Presidio Mine

PRESIDIO (P).—Lead ore blocked in the Dodge-Phelps mine at San Carlos, Mexico, 58 miles from Presidio, will require at least 10 years for the present crew to work, officials of the concern say. The ore visible, in blanket form, is being worked from shafts, some 275 feet deep.

Officials estimate around 1,000,000 tons of ore has been blocked. The deposit was discovered in 1929 and the mine, representing an investment of $1,500,000, has been in operation since 1935.

Lively Ball Curbs Infield and Base-Running

First of a five-part series, "Changing Baseball."

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service.
Babe Ruth revolutionized baseball with a new and fabulous era of power hitting.

The customers wanted home runs, and the owners enabled rather mediocre hitters to supply them by hopping up the ball. The game prospered beyond the wildest dreams of those at its head, but a good share of the trade has grown tired of circuit clouts that have become commonplace. The trend definitely is back to the good old days.

Big Ed Walsh pleads for the return of baseball to the ball player. The immortal right-hander of the old Chicago White Sox says that there is little real infield play today... that in the case of the infielder it's either you do or you don't. Certainly, it is true that the pellet is rifled through the infield so fast that there is more outfield play than in the days of the deader sphere.

Infielders like Charley Gehring of the Detroit Tigers, Frank Crosetti and Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees, Don Heffner of the St. Louis Browns, Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Billy Jurges and Milly Herman of the Chicago Cubs, Pop Young of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Rabbit Warstler of the Boston Bees, Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, and Dick Bartell of the Giants can be depended upon to make the right play when they get their hands on the ball.

BALL MAKES INFIELD PLAY MATTER OF FACT.
They have the diamond sense, speed of foot, and throwing arms to carry out clever infield play, but the lively ball makes the best part of it matter of fact.

The speed with which they get the ball generally gives them ample time to make a play. A less lively sphere would be fielded by infielders oftener. It would provide closer plays... more hair-line decisions.

Tris Speaker, famous outfielder and manager, still contends that a ball hit over their heads is going to hit the fence anyway, and that too many fly balls drop safely in back of the infielders. But I don't know a single major league pitcher who doesn't say that Speaker is wrong... that the game has changed since his day.

Few of the current retrievers can turn their backs to the grandstand, charge back after a ball, and turn to catch it at precisely the correct instant as did Speaker, but the theory today is to hold the hitter to a single instead of allowing him two bases on a ball

It's Not a Lack of Players, It's the Type of Game

Outfielders now have to play too deep to make diving catches such as the one being made by Pepper Martin, upper left, of the St. Louis Cardinals. Leo Durocher, lower left, of the Brooklyn Dodgers can be counted upon to make the right play when he gets his hands on the ball, but more often than not the pellet is rifled past infielders nowadays. Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox is sacrificing, top center, but until late innings the percentage now is in hitting base-runners around. Ben Chapman of the Boston Red Sox diving feet first into second base, left center, probably is the fastest man in the majors and one of baseball's finest base-runners, but the lively ball gives the attack such a bulge that it doesn't pay to take too many chances on the paths. Joe DiMaggio, right, of the New York Yankees throws with the best of all time, but with the rabbit ball in vogue it is taken for granted that a runner on third base will score after an outfield fly is caught.

that cannot be caught in the outfield with a reasonable amount of trouble.

PERCENTAGE NOW IS IN BATTING RUNNER AROUND.
Certainly, the flychaser of today have to play too far back to make the diving and shoestring catches that once enlivened the proceedings.

The hopped-up sphere would curb the base running of even the masterful Tyrus Raymond Cobb, which wrecked great clubs, for the percentage now is in hitting the runner around.

Pie Traynor, a grand base-runner in his heyday, asserts that he was amazed to see Tuck Stainback of the Dodgers steal third base at Forbes field the other afternoon. Although it formerly was considered easier to swipe third base than second with a right-handed batter up, it was the first time in years that the Pirate foreman had seen the feat performed.

Eyes popped from old-timers' heads in Cleveland this season when Gehring purloined third base in a clutch. The thing seemed to be positively old-fashioned. Ben Chapman stole home on Carl Frisch's windup in Cleveland last season, and Steve O'Neill returned the south-paw to the Double A's the following day.

SCORING FROM THIRD AFTER OUTFIELD FLY AUTOMATIC.

Chapman, now of the Red Sox, probably is the fastest man in the majors and one of the game's finest base-runners. He stole 61 bases as a Yankee in 1931, but the club was going nowhere that season and he was permitted to run from the showmanship angle. The lively ball gives the attack such a bulge that it doesn't pay to take too many chances on the paths.

Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees throws with the best of all time, but with the rabbit ball in vogue it is taken for granted that a runner on third base will score after an outfield fly is caught.

NEXT: Strategy passes with inside technique.

an outfield fly is caught. Such wasn't the case when the deader ball was in use, and when it was propelled by the strong and accurate arms that dangled from the shoulders of such as Speaker, Duffy Lewis, Joe Birmingham, and Happy Felsch.

You seldom see a batter sacrifice nowadays unless a club is seeking to tie the score in late innings.

What's the use of fooling around when the ball is so easily shrouded through the infield, up against the wall, or out of the park?

Use Swastika to Ward Off Bombs

International intervention in the Sino-Japanese war gets pretty involved at times, as is demonstrated by the presence of this huge swastika flag atop a Chinese military train which took German military advisers out of the country at the insistence of the Japanese. The German strategists, who had been aiding the Chinese, were ordered out after Japan brought pressure on Adolf Hitler, her ally in an anti-Communist pact. Chinese spread the swastika on top of the train in Hankow so the Japanese wouldn't make a mistake and bomb it.

CCC Improves Indian Highway Of Northwest

HANCOCK, Mich. (UP).—The L'Anse trail, once one of the principal Indian "highways" of Wisconsin and Michigan, soon will be traveled again, not by Indians, but by the youth of 1938 who will camp on its 10 camping grounds. The CCC will improve and develop the trail which took the Indians from Lac Vieux Desert, a large lake along what is now the Michigan-Wisconsin line, to the hunting and fishing grounds near Lake Superior.

Portions of the trail have been obliterated due to erosion and dense growth of underbrush. The CCC boys will clear the trail and establish 10 camp grounds along the 60-mile route.

Streams are to be restocked with fish and water will be tested for drinking.

that of 1936, but few disputes were of great magnitude, and the aggregate time lost was considerably less than in several of the years since 1920.

According to the Ministry of Labor Gazette, the number of disputes involving stoppages of work beginning in 1937 was 1,129, as compared with 818 in 1936. In these disputes about 398,000 workers were directly implicated—on strike or locked out—and about 209,000 were indirectly involved—thrown out of work but not themselves parties to the dispute. The total number of workers involved, directly or indirectly, in all disputes in progress in 1937 was 810,000, as compared with 322,000 in the previous year. The aggregate duration in working days of all disputes was 3,413,000, as compared with 1,928,000 in 1936. About two-fifths of the disputes occurred in the coal-mining industry, affecting for the most part single collieries only.

Socialized Medicine Question in Great Britain Is Not "Whether?" But "How Much More"

England Has Had Health Insurance For More Than 27 Years and Now Is Discussing Means of Extending It

This is the second in a series of five articles discussing "socialized medicine" in the United States and Europe.

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON.—It is a significant coincidence that while the United States is in the midst of controversy over the question of government-sponsored medical care, a forceful campaign is being waged here for even more socialized medicine than Britain has had for the past 27 years.

While the American Medical Association is busy fighting proposals for an $850,000,000 federal health program, the British Medical Association, representing 37,000 qualified professional men, has begun an advertising campaign to extend the existing system still farther.

Very nearly every argument now being urged against socialized medicine in the United States was voiced here long ago. Having had Opportunity to view first-hand the workings of state health insurance, British physicians generally believe that the system is working well. At a court of inquiry set up by the Ministry of Health to investigate the fees which should go to so-called "panel doctors," the Insurance Acts Committee of the B. M. A. reported:

"In the committee's view, the National Health Insurance system, providing as it does for free choice of doctor and patient and eliminating direct payment to the doctor at the time of sickness, is the best means of providing medical attendance and treatment for the lower-paid workers of the country."

Dr. L. Haden Guest, traveler, author, and member of the House of Commons, who was once a panel doctor, takes issue with any statement that the British system has resulted in depreciation of the quality of medical care.

"In 1935, with millions of calls upon the panel doctors, in only 157 cases was it found necessary to investigate complaints regarding inadequacy of service, and in only 48 were the complaints found justified," Guest said.

B. M. A. HOPES FOR THE FUTURE.
Now, the B. M. A. is going still further. It wants the law revised so as to extend the benefits of health insurance to all members of a worker's family—instead of only to the worker as at present. In an pamphlet distributed by thousands, the B. M. A. explains basic principles of its plan as follows:

1. That the system of medical service should be directed to the achievement of positive health and the prevention of disease no less than to relief of sickness.
2. That there should be provided for every individual the services of a general practitioner or a family doctor of his own choice.
3. That consultants and specialists, laboratory services and all necessary auxiliary services should be available for the individual patient, normally through the agency of the family doctor.

4. That the several parts of the complete medical service should be closely co-ordinated and developed by the application of a planned national health policy.

HOW THE PLAN WORKS IN BRITAIN.
The B. M. A. pamphlet urges extension of the service not only to the families of persons now insured under the act, but also to persons over 70 years of age who are no longer paying for such insurance; to those in small independent business, and to the dependents of those in the defense services of the nation. In addition, the association proposes that dental and ophthalmic service be given free to all insured persons.

Here's how the British health insurance system works as now constituted:
The plan is practically compulsory for all workers with incomes of less than 20 pounds (about $250) per year. The cash side of the plan is administered by "approved societies," some of which are mutual benefit societies organized prior to insurance.
In the case of males, the workers and employer each pays about 9 cents weekly; the woman worker pays 8 cents and her employer 9 cents weekly. The national treasury contributes a subsidy of one-seventh the cost per male worker and one-fifth the cost for women, which is applied to the cost of administration.

FREE CHOICE OF PHYSICIAN.
The insured person can choose his physician from a list of all the doctors in the vicinity who have agreed to provisions of the act. They are known as "panel doctors."

A paid-up health insurance card is all that the British woman sketched above needs to obtain a general practitioner's service and free medicine from a "panel doctor" of her own choosing. If she earns less than $250 yearly, she pays 8 cents weekly in premiums. In addition to care by her physician, she also receives sickness benefits if she becomes ill after being insured 26 weeks.

The presentation of an insurance card to the panel doctor entitles the insured to a general practitioner's services and free medicine, but not to any surgical, hospital, or specialist care.

The insured worker also is entitled to sickness benefits for a period not exceeding 26 weeks, after which he receives smaller disability benefits. To qualify for sickness benefits, he must have paid 26 weekly insurance premiums. He cannot receive disability benefits until he has made 104 insurance payments.
The ordinary sickness benefits are about $3.75 weekly for men, $3 for unmarried women. If a person has been insured for more than 26 weeks but less than 104 weeks, the benefits are reduced from $2.25 for men and $1.87 for all women. The rate of disability benefits is $1.87 per week for men, $1.50 for unmarried women and widows, and $1.25 for married women.

Dr. Robert Moore Duncan, 35, assistant professor of politics at Colgate university, disappeared from the wind-swept boat deck of the palatial ship Sunday night, said Henry Villar, the Normandie's purser.
His wife Alice, 36, daughter of a longtime associate of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was torn from her husband's grasp by a violent argument, the purser said, as Duncan "attempted to throw her over the side."
Bruised and cut about her head and face, Mrs. Duncan, mother of two small children, arrived in the ship's hospital at the end of a six-weeks trip that started as a summer holiday cruise.
"When Mrs. Duncan was revived," said Villar, "the first thing she said was 'get my husband, he is going to commit suicide.'"
The United States attorney was notified and will conduct an inquiry.

Mrs. Duncan's father, Willard Samuel Richardson, a former Baptist minister who has been associated with Rockefeller in philanthropic and educational work since 1912, was notified.
He requested that interviewers not be allowed to see his daughter and she was taken from the ship in a private automobile with New Jersey license plates.
Mr. and Mrs. Duncan left New York June 25 for a North Cape cruise and boarded the Normandie at Southampton, England, for the return.
The Normandie was about 450 miles from New York when, Villar said.
"Just before midnight last night Mr. and Mrs. Duncan were walking on the boat deck. At a point just beneath the bridge they stopped and began an argument.
"Duncan grabbed his wife by the throat and hit her several times over the head, apparently with some instrument, knocked her unconscious and attempted to throw her over the side."
"A seaman, Joseph Brouard, heard the argument and went down in time to tear Mrs. Duncan from her husband's grip. He carried her to a companionway, put her down and then went back to see about Duncan, but the man had disappeared."

The fast liner was not turned about, the purser said, but a thorough search was made and the loudspeaker system was used in an attempt to find Duncan.
Villar said Mrs. Duncan could not explain her husband's actions.
Before joining the faculty of Colgate university, at Hamilton, N. Y., in 1924, he taught at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, and Yen Ching university, China.

Ernest N. (Major) Reeves, who operates the Reeves Printing company at San Angelo, has compiled a book which will be off the press soon, entitled "Living Sparks of Life."
Reeves expects to sell 1,000 copies of the book to finance publication and put it on the market generally. He was here receiving contracts for the book Tuesday and this morning.
Purpose of the author, who has been writing and compiling the book for the last five years, is to gladden the hearts of men, to fire human ambitions and to awaken the dormant forces in every human breast. He has been encouraged in many compliments on the quality of his writings and more practically by the sale of 300 volumes on the original 1,000 he is contracting ahead of publication.
"I hope this will be one of the greatest volumes in modern history, making a helpful contribution to those who read it. If it ranks in this class, it must meet a definite need of the people," the author said.
Mr. Reeves was born in Kaufman county July 21, 1895, and he lived there until about nine years ago when he moved to San Angelo. He served in the World war with the 133rd field artillery and while on leave of absence fell under the wheels of a train at Terrell and lost both legs. Subsequently he wed the nurse, Miss Rosa Johnson, who cared for him in the hospital, and he joyfully refers to giving her a life-long job as his helpmate.

Of the hundreds who submitted their guess, only three, Miss Bernice Tidwell, Miss Dorothy Hines, and Miss Eureka May Profit, were within reach of a pass.

Delivery of First Aid Kits Delayed

Officials of the Mustang Boys club today announced first aid kits purchased from the Mustang Boys may not be delivered here until Thursday or Friday due to an unavoidable delay.
All kits were ordered from a Dallas supply firm but there were not enough kits on hand for the firm to fill the order and it had to be reshipped to Chicago.
Expressions of thanks to the residents of the city for cooperation received during the sale were voiced by club officials. Money realized through the sale of the kits will go towards sending boys to the Davis Mountains for a short time this summer.
All boys making the trip have been requested to meet at the Mustang Corral tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

Judge Advises Attorney He'll Never Be Dancer

CINCINNATI, U.P.—Police Judge William E. Handley advised Attorney Louis Rubenstein to stick to his legal work and abandon a dancing "career."
Rubenstein, retained by two women who were arrested on a charge of performing an indecent dance, sought to prove the number his clients were doing was "classical." To that end he draped a towel around his shoulder and skipped around the courtroom.
Judge Handley was not impressed.
"If you haven't any more dancing art than that," he told Rubenstein from the bench, "you'll never make a dancer."
