Make Your Will Workable Urges Trust Expert

Will your will work? That is the pointed question concerning the disposition of estates which Gilbert T. Stephenson, director of trust research of the Graduate School of Banking of the American Bankers Association, raises in the current Rotarian Magazine. A will may be legally sound and up to date, he says, yet it may not be workable.

Distribution, administration, and investment provisions can be defined to make a will workable, says Mr. Stephenson. Arrangements should be sufficiently flexible to provide for emergencies which often arise, to provide additional funds beyond the regular income at the time of an accident or illness or when a daughter marries or son goes away to college. While it is necessary to state what a trustee may and may not do, he should not be put in a strait-jacket and, as a consequence, be hampered in changing investments to meet changed conditions.

Because of violent fluctuations in the market value of estates, it is desirable to state money gifts in fractions rather than in amounts, he declares. He cites the case of a woman whose estate at the time she prepared her will was valued at 2 1/2 million dollars. First she divided $250,000 among her friends and charities; then she left the remainder in trust for her husband and children. The depression wore on and her estate dwindled to $250,000. When she reread her will, she found she had in effect disinherited her husband and children. When she rewrote it, she made her gifts in fractions, not amounts.

Provision also should be made against estate and inheritance taxes defeating testamentary desires, Mr. Stephenson points out. For example, one must decide whether he wants the residuary estate to stand all taxes or whether each part of the estate shall bear its proportionate part of the death duties. Sometimes when the former plan is adopted, those nearest and dearest ones may be left only the shell of his estate.

"An executor and trustee who will see that your will works as it should must have a rare combination of qualities—physical, mental, and spiritual," he asserts. His knowledge of taxes, real-estate values, bookkeeping, settling estates, administering trusts, should be grounded on experience—successful experience. A person who is human, sympathetic, honest, understanding with this training should be chosen as an executor and trustee.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — This is supposed to be the big winter of suppression, when the New Deal and the business lamb lie down together in sweet friendship. President Roosevelt has made pleasant speeches, and the word has gone out that Congress henceforth is to be its own boss.

But you need to look no farther than the President's recent appointments to see that the New Deal is as aggressive as ever—and possibly even less compromising.

In his last half-dozen nominations to key government positions, President Roosevelt has named staunch liberals — in most cases, stalwart New Dealers. Far from retreating he is still attacking.

Here is the current list. Read it, and see how it contradicts a widespread impression that the New Deal is pulling in its horns: Attorney General — ex-Gov.

The Big Push

Frank Murphy of Michigan. Secretary of commerce — Harry Hopkins, former WPA administrator. Supreme Court justice — Felix Frankfurter. Labor Relations Board — Donald Wakefield Smith. Tennessee Valley Authority — ex-Senator James E. Pope of Idaho. Interstate Commerce Commissioner — ex-Congressman Thomas R. Amle of Wisconsin.

AND THEN THERE'S AMIE.

THREE of these appointments — those of Murphy, Hopkins and Frankfurter — have been confirmed by the Senate. The other three have not been acted on yet. Much opposition to the Smith appointment has developed, leading to rumors that the appointment may be withdrawn. It is also probable that there will be fireworks over Amle's appointment.

Amie was one of the most pronounced left-wingers in Congress. He was a member of the Wisconsin Progressive Party, but was commonly looked upon as being considerably to the left of the La-Follettes. He once sponsored a constitutional amendment which would have given Congress power to set up federal agencies authorized to condemn, buy and operate banks and industries. On another occasion he introduced a bill which would have set up a "10 year plan" for American business.

If the business world thought Mr. Hopkins a bit of a wild man for the commerce job, and looked upon Mr. Murphy as somewhat radical for the attorney generalship, its feelings on seeing Mr. Amle put on the body that handles the country's railroad problem may be imagined.

FDR DRAWS DIMES.

YOU'VE heard about the "mile of dimes" stunt, by which 10-cent contributions for the war on infantile paralysis are collected? They set up a table on the sidewalk; on the table are a series of grooves. You're invited to put a dime in one of the grooves. When all the grooves have been filled four times, a mile of dimes (measuring edge to edge) has been collected. Total value, at 17 dimes to the foot, $9276.

Anyhow, it seems lots of people still insist on sending their dimes direct to the President. During the last few days, the cash room of the Treasury Department has been getting about $700 worth of dimes from the White House daily.

The White House sends the dimes to the Treasury instead of simply depositing them in the anti-inflation fund account so that the coins may be examined for counterfeiters. So far, no bun money has turned up. After being checked over by the Treasury people, of course, the dimes go to the bank.

T. E. L. Class Honors Mrs. Brunson At All-Day Meeting

T. E. L. class of the Baptist church held its annual all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. D. W. Brunson on the Lamesa road Tuesday. The occasion, now traditional with the group, was in celebration of the hostess' birthday.

Arriving late in the morning, guests spent the time until noon in informal "visiting."

At noon a birthday dinner, including turkey, roast, and numerous other good things, was served.

After the meal, Mrs. M. L. Wyatt was in charge of the program. She presented the devotional, reading the fifteenth chapter of John.

Repetition of the Lord's Prayer was followed by prayer by Mrs. V. Z. Wren.

Mrs. Brooks Pemberton and Mrs. Wyatt then left the room to return with birthday gifts which they heaped upon a table before Mrs. Brunson. The packages were opened and passed about for inspection.

Religious readings were presented by Rev. H. D. Bruce and Mrs. Wyatt and the latter also read some humorous jokes.

Mrs. Lucille Rutherford, a guest, presented a comic reading. Another feature of the afternoon was a contest on words beginning with the prefix "miss." This was won by Mrs. Bruce.

Members present were: Mrs. Brunson, Mmes. F. F. Lord, T. O. Midkiff, Mary L. Quinn, R. D. Hudson, Wyatt, Martha Holloway, J. H. Barron, J. H. Williamson, P. C. Ratcliff, S. Watson Miller, J. G. Arnett, V. Z. Wren, Brooks Pemberton.

Boy Scouts to Remove Swastika Thanks Emblem

MONTREAL (AP) — The Boy Scouts association intends to remove the swastika from among its insignia, according to E. Russell Patterson, executive secretary. The swastika is a "thanks badge" awarded to persons outside the group who have done some special service for the association, he said, and several have been awarded in Canada this year.

Discussion of the first sub-topic was led by Mrs. Hal Peck, of the second by Mrs. Richard E. Gile, and of the third by Mrs. Chas. L. Klapproth, while "Regionalism in Art" was discussed in roundtable form.

Preceding the program, coffee was served. Mrs. R. E. Williams pouring at a table bearing a decorative arrangement of fruit.

Attending were: Mmes. Williams, Robert Turpin, R. M. Barron, Fred Wemple, S. H. Hudkins, Klapproth, S. M. Laughlin, Peck, W. T. Walsh, Walker Cowden, Gile, Miss Neil Shaw, and the hostess.

The Town Quack

A Midland married man remarked that news travels fast by the "female grapevine route" here in town.

One thing we won't have to worry about now, and that is paying the boll tax. It's "done too late."

Clarence Scharbauer tells one about the late "Old Man Waggoner" millionaire rancher, oil man and pioneer of horse racing in Texas. An old fellow who had been working for Mr. Waggoner for many years once asked the ranchman: "What are you going to do when I'm dead? I don't see how you can get along without me."

"You're done dead," Mr. Waggoner said. "Come inside and get your check."

Tax paying time is hardly out of the way until auto license tax paying time rolls around. Life is just one tax payment after another, but it's a lot better now than it would be if we got our necks under the O'Daniel transaction tax system.

I can't figure out, if we had the transactions tax, who would have paid what in the recent trade between Big Boy Whitley and Fostes King. Big Boy traded two mule colts and a bay filly for two horse colts and a roan stud, and got four game roosters thrown in. No money changed hands, so how could O'Daniel have computed the transactions tax?

Headline in our paper yesterday said: "Fine of $8,000 and Year's Suspension Plastered on Burns." I lost hope when I found it was his sentence which was suspended, not his program.

Two men walked into the chamber of commerce yesterday and asked Bill Collins if the chamber had enough money. Bill was honest enough to admit that the funds were always short, so the two men left a substantial check. They were O. D. Dillingham and Hoots Lamar of the Banner. Anyway, Bill was smart enough not to brag about the condition of the treasury.

Texas Life Insurance Companies Making Contribution to State's Independence

An increase in assets of $5,777,727, the largest in its thirty-six years' history, was made by Southwestern Life Insurance Company during 1938, according to C. F. O'Donnell, president. The company's annual financial statement has been received by R. J. Graham, local representative, who announced that total assets are now $61,200,299.

A comparison with last year's statement shows that the Southwestern invested heavily during 1938 in United States government bonds, and in bonds of Texas cities and counties. The increase in these items accounts for the greater part of the gain in assets.

With more than $29,000,000 now invested in bonds, Graham said that his company had continued its record of never having had a default of either interest or principal on any bond. "The company's bonds are worth at current market prices $2,236,519 more than their book value," he said.

During 1938 the company gained insurance of $19,564,935, bringing the total to $342,017,326. "Southwestern Life is now the second largest company in the South writing ordinary insurance only," said Graham. "Measured by amount of capital, it is fifth in size in the United States."

"The substantial growth of the home insurance companies of Texas is significant in the light of remarks recently made by Chairman William O. Douglas of the Securities and Exchange Commission during his recent visit to Texas. He advised Texas investors to put their money in home enterprises. 'There is no reason,' said Douglas, 'why the huge financial structure of the nation, now centering in the East, should not be decentralized, stopping the siphoning of income from producing regions to New York.'"

"Texas life insurance companies are making a substantial contribution toward the financial independence of Texas."

The Midland representative,

R. J. GRAHAM

through his volume of production, has qualified double or the company's annual convention to be held at Colorado Springs June 15.

Idle Machinist Scorns Relief, Turns Author

CLEVELAND, O. (U.P.)—When Chauncey S. Hoyt, finds himself temporarily unemployed, he does not apply for relief, nor for unemployment insurance.

He hustles off his typewriter, writes articles on labor and true confession stories, and sells them. "I never tried to write," he said "until last spring when I lost my job as a machinist. The first week I was unemployed, I looked for work, and got a promise of a job. For the next two weeks I tried my hand at writing—something which never had occurred to me before. My two weeks' work brought checks totaling $50."

He repeated his performance last fall when he again was unemployed. Industrial magazines are Hoyt's best markets.

"I think this is because I have had so much experience along this line," he said. "I've belonged to all kinds of labor groups."

The industrial articles bring him about $30 each, he said. "Confession stories don't pay off quite as well—usually only about $15," Hoyt said.

Skiing Center Will Be Built Above Boston

WEST OSSISPEE, N. H. (U.P.)—New England winter sports fans will have facilities comparable to the famous Alpine centers upon completion of a project on Mount Nickerson.

Plans call for the building of a tramway, 50-room lodge at the summit, an observation platform, a concessions building and a series of over-night cabins on the mountain top. There will be numerous trails for the expert and the novice skier, a bob-sled run, a ski jump, a skating rink, a toboggan slide, and open slopes.

The development will cost about $500,000, of which nearly $250,000 will be needed for the tramway

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

"You must have a veil on your hat," we're warned by a Midland woman just back from the city markets.

It seems that Dame fashion is not so particular as to how this veil is used, just so it is there. For example, if you don't think that a veil falling over your eyes or from the brim of your hat is flattering, then just tie it into a perky, flaunting bow and perch it where it will do the most good on the hat. (The new veiling is stiff, so some body is given to the bows).

If you do like flowing veils, then you may simply let a square of the stiffish veiling fall straight down before your face. Or you may add to this a long straight piece that falls from the back of the hat and is worn thrown over the shoulder in the way considered most becoming to the wearer.

As was mentioned recently in this column, matching gloves and veils is a style-sure custom this spring. The remainder of the costume may be a nodge-podge, but do have your gloves and veil to match, improved the one-just-back-from-market.

Something new in the way of veiling this year is that which blends a trio of colors—thus leading the way into new ideas of ensembling by picking up the various colors in other costumes.

The plain straw sailor gains glamor through using vari-colored veils swathed about it or perched in jaunty bows atop. Also spring flowers go nicely with it.

A nice thing to remember is that a colored veil adds chic to a dark hat. (And that's an idea for re-making last year's loved but slightly-worn chapeau.)

Valentine is coming. To prove it, look at the displays of heart-shaped boxes of candy, varied Valentines, and old-time candy hearts with sugary mottoes which are now being exhibited.

Valentines we delight in—except one type and that is the comic valentine which is clever at the expense of being kind.

Nobody is compelled to like all his associates but at least he may have the kindness to refrain from sending said associates a greeting that will sting and hurt. Why any greeting at all if it can't be a pleasant one?

alone. The cars will be operated similarly to the Cannon Mountain system at Franconia Notch, controlled by an electric motor and a complicated gear system.

Mount Nickerson is about 100 miles north of Boston, and is situated only a quarter-mile from the Mount Whittier railroad station, which means easy access for snow trains.

Among the directors of the project, which will be known as the "Star Camp Tramway," are Gov. Francis P. Murphy, Sen. H. Styles Bridges, and Attorney Charles M. Dale, president, a member of the Governor's Council.

Night Club Killing At Pampa Is Mystery

PAMPA, Texas, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—Silence clothed the motives Tuesday in the slaying of Constable Otis Hendrix and J. D. White on a night club dance floor crowded with celebrants at a Roosevelt Birthday Ball.

White, a night club operator, former banker and Texas ranger, was shot four times in the heart. Hendrix suffered mortal abdomen wounds. Two men and two women were wounded slightly by stray bullets.

Sheriff Cal Rose and District Attorney Clifford Braly threw no light on the causes for the shooting, which occurred early Tuesday morning.

Groundhog Day Is Gala Holiday in Quarryville

Costumed Lodgers Worship the Shadow Dodger

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., Feb. 1.—Strange goings-on mark recent weeks in the neighborhood of the hardware store of George Washington Hensel II. Men with plug hats, and shotguns, and nightgowns, and large keys, and shepherd's crooks, move mysteriously about.

mystery, but merely preparation of the annual Feb. 2 pilgrimage of Slumbering Groundhog Lodge to the burrow of their patron saint, Arctomys Monax.

On that day, as on Candlemas Day for 30 years back, the Hibernating Governor (Hensel) will lead his expedition into the fields near Quarryville and observe with due solemnity and yet with hilarious "ceremonial" the conduct of Arctomys. If he appears from his burrow and sees his shadow, the Hibernating Governor will proclaim six weeks more of winter. If the day is overcast, the Slumbering Groundhogs will rejoice in the end of winter.

In the morning the 65 members (no more, no less) will follow the Venerable Patriarch, the Patriarch De Luxe, the Exalted Patriarch, and the plain ordinary garden va-

"Sh-h-h, Don't Cry, Honey"

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt comforts little Phyllis Lerner, infantile paralysis victim, at Children's Hospital, Washington.

The gunfire commenced shortly after Sheriff Rose, Deputies George Pope and John Hudson and Hendrix entered the front door of the club, situated on the outskirts of Pampa.

When the firing started the 200 dancers quickly made for the exits. The wounded included Mrs. John Strange, J. I. Huvall, American Legion commander; Mike Mitchell and an unidentified woman.

The grand jury will investigate Thursday.

Texas to Have 6-Flag Museum

HOUSTON, Texas (U.P.)—Relics and documents of "Texas Under Six Flags" are being assembled for the San Jacinto Museum of History, which will be dedicated April 18-21.

The museum for mentos of Texas under the flags of Spain, France, Mexico, Texas, the United States, and the Confederacy will be housed at the base of the $1,500,000 San Jacinto Memorial shaft, the largest monument of its kind in the world. Funds for assembling material for the museum are being raised by private subscription, but the first money was received from the San Jacinto Centennial Association.

George A. Hill, Jr., of Houston is chairman of the museum's board of trustees. He said that no definite quota has been set, but that the minimum need was $70,000.

"We will be performing a great educational service," Hill said in praising the museum. "Houston has everything for the museum's success—a background of 400 years of colorful history, the most historic spot in Texas, and thousands of valuable historic items in the hands of its citizens."

The San Jacinto monument was constructed with PWA and state funds on the site of the battle which won Texas independence from Mexico on April 21, 1836. On that date, approximately 1,800 pioneer Texans under Gen. Sam Houston defeated a force of Mexican regulars under Gen. Santa Anna, Mexico's dictator.

The monument is located 21 miles east of Houston on the banks of Buffalo bayou and was the scene of an address by President Roosevelt on his fishing trip off the Texas coast three years ago. Dedication plans for the shaft have not been completed. The

Actress Plays Real Life Role

Glamorous Hope Hampton, former star of stage, screen and opera, walks tentily to New York District Attorney John Dewey's office to answer questions in connection with mysterious shooting of her millionaire husband, Jules Brulatour.

Texas legislature, now in session, probably will consider the program if construction of the monument has been completed by April 1.

Health Chief Urges Smallpox Elimination

AUSTIN.—Smallpox can be eliminated as a cause of illness and death if every person would be vaccinated against this disease at least every five years declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. There were over 600 cases of smallpox reported to the State Health Department in 1938.

Smallpox occurs most frequently among young children under 14 years of age. The incubation period averages from 8 to 14 days, and the disease begins suddenly with a severe headache and a high fever. The severe headache and the intense pain in the loins, back and extremities are more characteristic of smallpox than of any other disease occurring in temperate climates. At the end of 3 or 4 days of these preliminary symptoms, an eruption begins suddenly with a few hours becomes distinctly raised above the general level of the skin. With the appearance of the eruption the fever subsides and the patient becomes more comfortable. In contradistinction to chickenpox, the eruption does not occur in crops, but goes through its development in a characteristic fashion nearly simultaneously all over the body.

Every community is in position to determine the amount of smallpox it wishes to have. Vaccination against the disease is economical, safe and sure and brings complete protection. Smallpox stands as one disease which science has brought completely within human control, and the State Health Department's advice is to be vaccinated immediately if you have not been vaccinated within the last five years.
