How Lindbergh Looked Here in '27, Today

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Midland airport at 10:55 o'clock this morning, refueled his P-36 army pursuit plane, made a brief inspection of the Army Airways Detachment, and took off fifteen minutes later for Shreveport. Arriving at Roswell yesterday morning for a tour of army air bases to the west, Col. Lindbergh visited Dr. R. H. Goddard, Guggenheim Foundation scientist who is engaged in rocket ship experimentation, at his ranch home and laboratory. Last visit to the Midland airport was made by Col. Lindbergh ten years ago last month when he was en route to Mexico City to visit Anne Morrow, now Mrs. Lindbergh. He had made several previous stops at the field here.

Natural Flow of Pecos Ordovician Discovery Rated at 175 Barrels Day

BY FRANK GARDNER.

Release today of information on the Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation and Monte Warner No. 1 M. I. Masterson, Ordovician pool opener in northern Pecos county, indicated its natural output to be in the neighborhood of 175 to 200 barrels a day. The last 18 hours of testing through open 2 1/2-inch tubing, ending at six p. m. yesterday, credited it with having flowed slightly less than 10 barrels of oil per hour for the first six hours and having averaged six and five-eighths barrels an hour for the final 12. The well was flowing for 20 minutes out of every hour and 20 minutes, and operators today are experimenting with various-sized tubing chokes in an effort to develop a steady flow. Oil now tests 43-gravity, with no water, and gas-oil ratio is 1,000-1.

When opened Sunday morning at 2:30 after nearly a week's shut-in, No. 1 Masterson flowed 302 barrels of oil through open tubing the first 24 hours. The following 24-hour period it flowed 200 barrels of oil through tubing and casing. Tubing then was pulled to install an 8-foot perforated joint on bottom, then was run to approximately 4,565 feet, with packer at 4,462. In the next 12 hours, the well flowed 100 barrels of oil, and the next six hours it made 51 barrels. The subsequent 18-hour gauge is reported above.

Total depth of the well, which opens Pecos' first Ordovician pool and third for the entire West Texas area, is 4,595 feet in Ellenberger dolomite, which it topped at 4,550 feet. The well missed the Simpson, middle Ordovician. It is located 1,980 feet from the northeast and northwest lines of section 104, block 10, H. & G. N. survey, on the northeast edge of the Masterson shallow pool, which produces from the Permian at the 1,400-foot level.

Eight and one-half miles to the northwest, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2 Abell-Eaton, new Ordovician test, 493 feet out of the east corner of section 23, block 8, H. & T. C. survey, has completed and is skidding on derrick. It is 75 feet west of No. 1 Abell-Eaton, which failed in the Permian at 2,076 feet.

250 Citizens Hear Details Of Project

Army Station to Be Retained Here If Improvements Made

Midland's proposed $125,000 bond issue for a municipal airport, to be voted on Tuesday, May 23, received strong impetus today when 250 property tax paying voters met at a luncheon, heard an explanation of the project and heard a letter read from Major General H. J. Brees, commander of the Eighth Corps Area, United States Army, to the effect that removal of the army airways station from Sloan field is not contemplated, the decision being predicated upon the expansion program.

The luncheon, attended by members of the Rotary Club, Lions Club, senior and junior chambers of commerce and by other interested citizens, had as a guest Col. Chas. H. Pursley, in charge of ten army air fields including Midland, who, although here only on a routine trip, met Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh here today and attended the luncheon as guest of Mrs. W. H. Sloan and of city and chamber of commerce officials. He was introduced by Judge Ed M. Whitaker, president of the chamber, and made a brief statement of appreciation for efforts of Midland citizens to improve the airport and provide better facilities. He admitted that on his numerous landings here, he sometimes found the field "somewhat bumpy."

Judge Whitaker, presiding at the luncheon, reviewed briefly the history leading up to the proposed bond issue. News first was received that the army was considering the Big Spring municipal airport, due to its recent improvements. A committee composed of Whitaker, Mayor M. C. Ulmer and J. R. Martin, named by the chamber of commerce directors, made investigations, contacted army officials at San Antonio and in Washington. He told of the petition circulated among citizens and of the 155 signatures leading to order by the city council of $125,000 bond issue to be voted on May 23.

Mayor Ulmer, who with W. H. Sloan, airport owner, made a trip to Washington on the matter, then was introduced by Judge Whitaker and he explained to the luncheon audience the project contemplated in the bond issue. Sloan, owner and operator of the airport, has improvements valued at $42,000, including 240 acres of land, a hanger, administration building and other houses, fuel tanks, electric lighting around the landing field and other properties which he has agreed to sell to the city for $14,000.

After study by the committee of the airport's earnings over a period of years, Mayor Ulmer expressed the belief that the bonds would be self liquidating through revenue from the airport.

The bond issue would provide purchase of the airport, construction of paved runways, erection of another hanger and of three or four homes for army staff members attached to the field and for a general improvement and modernization program.

Better facilities for army traffic, which last year exceeded 2,000 planes at the port, also would attract additional commercial traffic, Mayor Ulmer predicted. He declared the bond issue a wonderful opportunity for Midland to stay out in the lead, to meet the demands of progress. With the army air service being increased 300 per cent and private and commercial aviation also on the increase, the municipal airport will mean much to Midland's future, he predicted.

The bonds to be voted on are twenty year serial bonds, to bear not over three per cent interest. The city already has done two and a half million dollars worth of improvements without increasing the tax rate, the mayor said, and he expressed belief that with the revenue of the airport there still would be no necessity for higher taxes.

He read a letter from General Brees, stating that after an inspection of the airports at Midland and Big Spring, and in view of the improvement program outlined, the army station would not be moved from Midland. The decision clearly was predicated upon such improvements, however, Major General Brees expressed appreciation for the plans to provide better facilities, "to increase the usefulness of the airways detachment."

J. R. Martin, third member of the chamber of commerce committee which had made the survey leading to ordering of the bond issue, said that citizens contacted when the petition was being circulated had not turned it down. He expressed confidence that the bond issue will carry but urged all citizens to turn out and vote Tuesday, May 23.

The luncheon assembly gave a vote of thanks to W. H. Sloan, owner and operator of the airport, for providing such facilities up to this time and for making the reasonable proposition whereby the city may purchase the improvements for the expansion program.

Citizenship, a Dignified Status, Met With Dignity

Republican government prefers generally to get along without the uniforms, the stiff formalities, the pageantries, which have in the past been associated with monarchy and today are part and parcel of authoritarian government.

But there is such a thing as being too casual about even republican government and its responsibilities. A little ceremonial, conducted on a democratic and informal level, is sometimes a good thing in reminding citizens of the dignity that goes with their citizenship.

That is why it will be interesting to watch the ceremonies to be held in Manitowoc, Wis., on Sunday, May 21. On that day, Manitowoc plans to try out a scheme to impress on new citizens the dignity of their newly acquired status. Practically every young man and woman in the country recently turned 21 years old will assemble in the high school bowl overlooking Lake Michigan.

There more than 700 of them will formally take their places among the electorate of the republic by repeating after Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry a solemn oath to support the constitutions of the United States and of their state.

Bands will play, flags will whip the breeze, the state governor will speak and present to the chairman of each of 38 citizenship classes a "certificate of electorship" for his group.

Five months of preparation have gone into the making of the ceremony. County and municipal officials, business men and school teachers have been conducting the classes by wards and townships, following an outline of instruction that has been the dream of Dr. R. J. Colbert of the University of Wisconsin for many years.

Justice Rosenberry commended that "there are today in the world literally millions of people who would give everything they possess for the privilege of calling themselves American citizens. We who are born under the flag should be equally appreciative."

"We have finally succeeded," Dr. Colbert said, "in dramatizing citizenship in such a way that practically everybody is becoming citizenship conscious. I feel that we have in our hands here an idea that can, if properly handled, be developed into the most healthy movement that ever took root in our country."

It might well be so. To be an American citizen is in today's world a privilege and a mark of dignity. To approach the privileges and the responsibilities of that citizenship is a dignified and conscious manner instead of merely sliding into it unheeding, should make for better citizenship. And better citizenship is, in the final analysis, the best hope for this or any other country.

No nation, no country, no system, can rise far or stay long above the level of its citizenship. This Wisconsin group has gone to the very heart of the future of free government.

The Youth-Age Struggle

Competition between youth and age for available jobs is one of the most regrettable phases of the unemployment situation.

The airplane construction program, for instance, led the War Department to consider a plan to train 16,000 young men as mechanics and technicians for the air service.

But no sooner was the plan announced than the Machinists' Union stepped forward with the names of 13,000 qualified, unemployed mechanics who this union thinks ought to have first chance at any such jobs.

The automobile industry has presented a similar situation. Very few young men have gotten jobs in that industry in recent years. Seniority rules of the auto unions give precedence for jobs to men with already-established labor records in the industry.

We don't know any answer to this conflict at the moment. The young man and ambitious man without training but with a life before him, and the elder, experienced worker with family responsibilities—both have powerful claims. The only final answer is industrial expansion such as will provide room for both.

A rule forbidding marriage of U. S. air corps reserve officers has been delayed until next year, because some of the boys have already promised to wed. After all, as long as they have won the girls with their uniforms, it would be a shame to make them back out for the other guys.

One of these days a Joe Louis bout is going to last for three or four rounds. Then promoters will demand that the customers also pay on their way out.

Matter of great concern, says President Roosevelt, is abuse in administration of parole systems. Yeah, chief, and payroll systems, too.

Into the window of a car driven by an Ohio couple flew a duck. Suppose then a game warden popped up from the running board and demanded: "Wherez yer license?"

Europe is having a hard time dividing the countries into sets of allies. The German-Italian group is getting pleasure from lack of success in getting Russia swung into the Anglo-French side. Russia may organize a group of her own. Japan seems to lean to the Hitler-Mussolini line-up. All this may not look so important to us at present, but if Hitler ever accomplishes the strength and security he is working up in Europe, the ultimate purpose of the whole job may be brought out. Personally, I think we need to be more suspicious.

We are not so hot at winning ball games. Maybe I'm too easy going, as in the European situation, but about the only effect the losing team has on me is to cause me to lose interest. We need to come alive when the team comes back home, get behind the youngsters and help them win some games if possible. Strong backing from the fans will help in most any kind of sport.

Mayor Umer received encouraging news from army officials today, indicating that if we go ahead with the airport expansion plans, the army airfield will be continued right where it is. This branch of air traffic is about the biggest thing in the country for a port such as is located at Midland. More than 2000 army planes were refueled at Midland last year. Can we afford to lose sight of such an important industry? Let's vote the airport bonds.

History repeats itself with Col. Lindbergh's visit to this section. It was just about ten years ago that he made three or four stops at Sloan field, usually when he was

Scores Suggestion to Kill All on Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), commenting in the congressional record on the recent suggestion of a retired army officer that aged persons on relief be mercifully put to death, attacked the proposal as one of the most "inhuman, unmerciful and un-Christian" ever advanced.

Observing that the author of the proposal receives $243.75 a month retirement pay and many benefits free from the government, Patman said:

"The records disclose that he has been on the government pay roll practically all of his adult life. These good old people whom he suggests should be put to death simply because they are not physically able to carry on themselves have worked and paid the taxes which made possible Major Dyer's income."

"The aged people have helped to build this country in time of peace and furnished the manpower to save it in time of war."

"It occurs to me that the WPA could well consider a project that would make it possible for the aged people to assemble in every locality a certain time each week or month or at stated periods for the purpose of discussing public and other questions and giving the younger people the benefit of their wisdom and advice."

Basil Rathbone In Greatest Role As Sherlock Holmes

Pause for a moment. Think of the name "Sherlock Holmes." Do you not immediately get a picture of a hawk-like face in a two-way peaked cap and with a big, curved-stem pipe? Do you not begin to see a huge magnifying glass and have general visions of mystery and murder and English fog?

This is not a psychological test, but try it on some of your friends and see how well it works. It is the result of the Holmes tradition, fostered by innumerable impersonations of the great detective—and vehemently scored by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the creator of Holmes, as being quite unlike his famous character!

To Conan Doyle the sleuth was as vivid a personality as he is even today to the thousands of people who believe that he actually lives. He was anything but the eccentric theatre has made him—he could wear a top hat with the best of them, and smoked cigarettes as a frequent change from his pipe.

It was the aim of achieving a credible human personality that guided Basil Rathbone's characterization of Sherlock Holmes in 20th Century-Fox's pictorialization of Sir Arthur's "The Hound of the Baskervilles," the adventures of Holmes on the moor, which opens Friday at the Yucca Theatre.

"The expression, 'as cool as a cucumber,' comes from the fact that cucumbers are a degree cooler than other vegetables," Miss Alpha Lynn, county home demonstration agent, told their meeting at Warfield school house Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

"All tender, sweet flavored, leafy vegetables make excellent salads," Miss Lynn said. "Too often we think of cabbage, lettuce, and tomatoes as being our only salad vegetables.

"Tendergreens, mustard, Swiss chard, turnip-tops, beet-tops, asparagus tops, green English peas, young tendergreen beans, and green onions will bind together with each other, either a few of them or all of them, into a refreshing salad.

"French dressing is particularly good with leafy vegetables. A dressing that is also good with them may be made from the bacon or ham grease from trying bacon or ham, to which is added 1/2 teaspoon of mustard, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of sugar, 1/2 teaspoon of paprika, 2 tablespoons of vinegar, 2 tablespoons of lemon juice or 4 tablespoons of vinegar. Slinger, pour over vegetables and serve at once.

"This is particularly good for wilting leafy vegetables."

"Eating vegetables raw is a very healthful way to take them," Miss Alpha Lynn, county home demonstration agent, told the Stokes 4-H club girls when they met at the Stokes schoolhouse Tuesday.

A vegetable salad using tendergreens, Swiss chard, lettuce, mustard, spinach, English peas, cucumbers, pepper, radishes, tomatoes, and celery was made. All the vegetables except the cucumber, tomato and celery coming from frame gardens.

Plans were made for a 4-H club chart on the school program at the close of the term this month.

The next club meeting will be with Oleta Cain, May 23, when the program will be on table services. Plans were made for the club girls to make ice cream for this meeting.

Roll call at the meeting was answered by each club girl reading a verse she had written about something she had done in 4-H club work.

Asparagus tips, English peas, green onion tops, and leaf lettuce make a very good salad combination when served with French dressing, Miss Alpha Lynn, county home demonstration agent, told the Cotton Flat 4-H club girls in a meeting Wednesday.

If you want to make this salad, garnish it with round red tender radishes split down through the center about six times, so that they look like small red roses, she advised.

A salad was made from vegetables grown in a frame garden. New vegetables that were used in the salad were asparagus tips and English peas.

House of Steel Built for $5,000

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP) — The nation's first rustless steel house, completed here recently, has attracted thousands of visitors and aroused national attention.

The house is a one-story structure designed by W. H. Cook, a Youngstown architect.

"We worked for years on the design," he said, "and I think we have overcome all the objections to steel houses. For instance, we have eliminated the basement—not to save expense, but because it wasn't needed.

"Everything that could be done in the basement can be done on the ground floor without running up and down stairs and without working in the dampness of a cellar."

The utility room has a built-in automatic clothes dryer as well as numerous other facilities.

The house consists of five rooms—two bedrooms, kitchen and dinette, living room, bath and utility room. The outside walls are of alloy steel, with a composition material for the inner walls and composition material partitions.

"The roof wasn't made flat to save money," Cook said, "but to make use of the room. The flat roof now is the ideal house design."

The steel house is strong enough to withstand a tornado, yet quite light.

The bathtub "eliminates the chance of falling," according to the architect. It is made with a flat bottom and a seat.

Cost of the house should be about $5,000, Cook said.

Homing Pigeons Kept For Use of the Army

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Uncle Sam has enlisted Dewitt Haley in his defense preparations.

Haley is breeding and training homing pigeons for service of the War Department. Despite rigid requirements he has had 15 pair accepted in the past 18 months.

"The present problem in training pigeons is getting them to stay aloft at night," Haley explained. "It always has been easy to get birds to wing their way home during the day but they ground in darkness."

The government is correcting this through the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department, Haley said. Its messenger birds are concentrated at Manila in the Philippine Islands where they receive extensive training in night traveling before being sent to other places for duty.

In training the birds for night flights, Haley takes them two miles from their "lofts", for the initial trip starting just after sundown. The next time the starting point is two miles farther away and the pigeons released 30 minutes later than on the previous flight. This is repeated until the distance of flights is 15 miles. A flare light on the loft guides the winged messengers home.

Speed, too, is getting considerable attention in "educating" messengers, Haley said, adding that Germany had established the speed record.

In a 321-mile race from Appledorn, Holland, to Berlin, a German racing pigeon average a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Only the best birds among the Cost of the house should be about $5,000, Cook said.

offspring of the original strain furnished by the War Department are kept by Haley. He has 65 pairs and also possesses a variety of utility types.

"The top racers are extremely valuable. One or two are on record as having covered 500 miles in darkness," Haley recalled. "A single that will perform in this manner is said to worth hundreds of dollars for breeding purposes. Birds for breeding are selected according to their ancestry."

Government authorities prefer yearling, or six-month-old pigeons. Between seven and ten days after they are born breeders are required to place a band around the right leg of the rooster and around the left leg of the squab. Seamless, the band carries the year of birth and name of the breeder.

"Even an expert has difficulty in determining the age of the pigeon," Haley said. "Consequently the bands protect the government and allow its representatives to get the best birds."

Usually 17 days are required to hatch pigeon eggs. The hens lay once a month, the two eggs producing a squab and a rooster. In the setting stages, one bird nearly always remains on the eggs.

Particular attention is paid to color in breeding, Haley pointed out. "The white bird attracts the enemy or hunter immediately. The government wants blue or dark-feathered racers."

Ex-Millionaire Unable To Pay $10 Auto Fine

DEWSBURY, Yorkshire, England. (AP) — Henry Fenton, one-time millionaire, was unable to pay a $10 fine to the Dewsbury Magistrates for a motor offense.

He wrote, saying he was dependent on the charity of friends and offered to pay $2.50.

A few years ago he controlled three of Dewsbury's biggest wool mills, with a capital of $100,000.00.

Civic Music Club Concludes Work For Year With Tri-Part Meeting

Civic Music club concluded its year's activities with a brief program, business meeting, and social at the Cornelius studio, 706 W. Ohio, Wednesday evening.

"Music Appreciation" was decided on as the course of study for next year. This will be a course similar to that followed the current year but with more emphasis on the types of music rather than on the people of the countries studied.

Officers for the next year were inducted as follows: President, Mrs. R. M. Turpin; first vice president, Mrs. John Casselman; second vice president, Mrs. E. S. Hitchcock; treasurer (re-elected), Dr. Thomas Imman; secretary, Mrs. R. M. Andrews.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Tom Parker, retiring president, through presentation to her of a sterling silver and fuchsia glass cake plate as a token of appreciation for her services during the past year.

Other retiring officers are: Vice president, Mrs. Lee Cornelius; second vice president, Mrs. De Lo Douglas; secretary-reporter, Miss Lydia G. Watson.

The program committee, of which Mrs. Cornelius is chairman, was praised for its efficient work during the season just closing, much credit being given to it for the success of the club.

Plants were made for the concert to be given about September by the club. This program will include several numbers by six pianos and one or two in which 12 pianists will play six pianos and probably some choral numbers.

Guide for the evening's program on "India, China, and Japan" was Mrs. F. C. Cummings.

Numbers presented were: Paper—"Music of India, China, and Japan"—Mrs. Holt Jowell; Piano—"India"—"Song of India"

Quartet of Papers On Africa Read at Fine Arts Club

Four papers on the general subject of "Africa" composed the program at the meeting of the Fine Arts club with Mrs. W. H. Gilmore, 511 North D street, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Chas. Brown read a paper on "Egypt Under the New King", the youthful Parouk whose name has been much in the headlines in the last two years.

"Ethiopia as a Part of the Italian Empire" was discussed by Mrs. Tom Sloan.

"Housekeeping on the Congo," the adventures of an explorer and his wife in making a home in the wilds, was described in a paper read by Mrs. J. M. White and prepared by Mrs. L. A. Absher.

Mrs. Alden Donnelly's paper on "Diamond Mines" concluded the program.

Yearbooks and other business matters were discussed by the group. Present were: Mmes. Elliott H. Barren, T. Paul Barron, Chas. Brown, L. G. Byerley, Alden Donnelly, Fred H. Fuhrman, J. Howard Dodge, Geo. Kidd Jr., Lem Peters, A. P. Shirley, Harvey Sloan, R. C. Tucker, J. M. White, L. A. Absher, Curtis Gilmore, O. J. Hubbard, Tom Sloan, and the hostess.

Complimenting the Midweek club, Mrs. M. C. Ulmer was hostess to a luncheon at one o'clock Wednesday at her home, 111 North C. Four tables of bridge were played after the two-course luncheon.

The spring theme was followed in flowers for the party room and in tallies for the games which were in pastel hues and flower designs.

High score in play was held by Mrs. W. L. Brown and high cut by Mrs. J. L. Greene.

Present were three guests and the following members: Mmes. J. M. Armstrong, W. L. Brown, Hugh Coran, E. A. Culbertson, I. E. Daniel, J. L. Greene, Allan Hargrave, John House, J. B. Leonard, M. D. Self, Don Sivalls, W. E. Wallace, Fred Wright and the hostess. Guests were Mrs. W. W. LaForce, Mrs. B. F. Nyswander, Mrs. Jas. FitzGerald.

Members present were: Mmes. Ben Black, W. M. Blevins, Chas. Edwards Jr., Wade Heath, Frank Miller, Donald M. Oliver, Alf Reese, Miss Georgia Goss, Miss Lucille Thomas, and the hostess.

Stripes are important, as the fashionists have been telling you for the past few months.

The newest way to use them is to have your hat striped in a burst of colors, swirling from crown to brim edge, and to ensemble this with striped bag, striped belt, and (believe it or not) striped shoes.

For the latter, by the way, you may use a solid color above a multi-striped platform sole or you may have the slipper top gaily striped above a solid color platform sole—and perhaps a heels of some other color.

In other words, color, color, color is correct.

The tallies decorated with midgesize sea shells are something ingenious and new for the alert hostess to consider when buying party accessories. Some of the tallies show these delicate shells formed into pastel-colored flower sprays and leaves. Others form delightful weathats to decorate milady's score.

The younger generation, just learning table manners, will be helped thereby by using some charming little handmade aluminum napkin rings. For each ring is decorated with a bunny, long ears alert, watching the world, or his brother comfortably cuddled down, or an entrancing little creature that is either a chicken or a plump little birdie, we can't tell which (as if it mattered).

Surely no young hopeful would forget to put his napkin up neatly with such an attractive ring, to put it in.

Makes Cow Pay His Way Through School

LUBBOCK, Texas. (P) — Boxes from home contain cotinoused meal and crushed hay for his cow instead of delicacies for J. C. Womack, 19-year-old Texas Tech freshman agriculture student from Tahoka. He pays his board bill with the four gallons of milk his Guernsey cow gives daily. His family sends feed twice each month.

Besides paying his board, Womack nets enough from the milk to pay $3 a month lot rent and additional feed.

"Stunks," he said, "what's the use of working when a cow can do it for me?"

Search Spurred For Meteorites

BAKERSFIELD, Cal. (U.P.) — Dr. H. N. Nininger, director of the American Meteorite Laboratory at Denver, has advised Kern county residents, as well as residents of the United States in general, to look for meteorites.

The reason why he believes that Kern county should be a likely place to find them is that few have been picked up here and Kern county presumably has received its share.

Dr. Nininger explained that meteorites fall all over the world at the rate of about 12 every hour. It is estimated, however, he said, that at least 1,000,000 of them start for the earth each hour but the great bulk of them are consumed by friction caused by passing through the 200-mile atmospheric blanket, producing what is known as "shooting stars." Otherwise, the world's population would have to be dodging meteorites all the time.

Their speed, he said, is between 40 and 50 miles a second. Contrary to popular belief, Dr. Nininger explained, meteorites are not porous rocks, but are more often marked with shallow pits. They are not round, nor are they hollow. They are much heavier than ordinary rock, he said, and often are covered with a thin fusion crust due to burning during their flight through the atmosphere. This crust is generally black but sometimes it is brown.

The meteorites, which are fragments of disintegrating planets, are of white metal, steel-like with bright grains of pickled appearing flakes. He advises that it is always best to test them on an emery wheel before sending them in to the Denver laboratory.

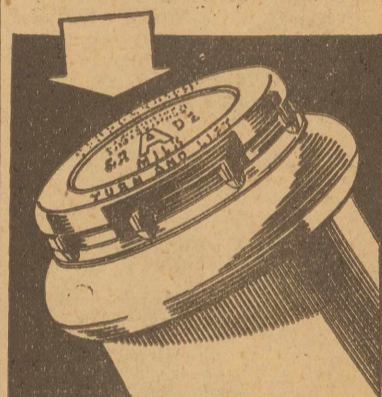

With trillions of them flying around in outer space, Dr. Nininger said a rocket-propelled plane collided with them, especially one as big as a balloon, and at the rate of 150,000 miles an hour, would certainly feel a jar.

Prized Letters Go 15,000 Miles For Two Cents

HONOLULU (U.P.) — Twenty "covers" that traveled 15,000 miles for 2 cents postage each, with the first 4,000 miles by airplane over a previously untraveled route, are claimed by a local collector.

Donald Billam-Walker, the collector, arranged with other stamp enthusiasts to send the covers aboard the flying boat Guba when it left Honolulu June 6, 1938, for Hollandia, New Guinea. The covers were mailed in Honolulu, and were postmarked the day of the plane's departure. They were carried from Honolulu direct to Wake Island, marking the first such airmail postage delivery, then to Hollandia, on the northwest coast of New Guinea.

Five months and 19 days after they were mailed they returned to Honolulu addresses via steamer, after having gone from Hollandia to Hong Kong to connect with the ship mail. By some quirk of circumstance postal authorities in Honolulu, Hollandia and Hong Kong accepted and delivered the letters without requiring additional postage beyond the 2-cent stamps affixed.

Scientists Will Study World's Newest Lake

MOSCOW (U.P.)—An expedition of seven Russian scientists is now on the way to study the youngest lake in the world, Lake Sarez in Soviet Central Asia.
 This baby lake, which is 44 miles long, a mile wide and 1,800 feet deep, was created only 28 years ago by a tremendous earth tremor which tore loose an entire mountainside from one of the Pamor peaks. It slid into the bed of the Murgab river, 3,000 feet above sea level, creating a natural dam.

Longhorn Tracksters To Wind Up Season

AUSTIN, May 11. — It is wind-up week for all University of Texas spring teams except the southwest conference champion baseballers, who will carry their campaign through May 19.

Strong tennis and golf squads will be in Houston today to start their conference tournaments and Clyde Littlefield will have his track team at College Station Friday for the meet preliminaries.

Uncle Billy Ditch's Longhorns will go to Galveston Saturday for an exhibition game with the Todd Dry Dock team of that city, then move up to College Station for their final conference game with Texas A. and M. Monday and Tuesday. They already have clinched the championship, but they need those two games to finish their official 15-game schedule undefeated.

Two more games with the Aggies, these non-conference, will be played at Brenham Thursday and Friday.

Coach Littlefield stated this week that Boyce Gatwood, his injured sprinter-hurdler, would not be in top shape this week-end. Gatwood will enter only the high and low hurdles races, he said. He will not run in the 100-yard dash, the sprint relay or the mile relay.

With the condition of Gilliam Graham, star javelin thrower, also in doubt, the Longhorns' chances of taking the track title from Rice were considered slight.

Texas' No. 1 bid for the individual golf title will be Buck Luce, Austin sophomore, three-time state junior champion. Other members of the team are Capt. Babe Fouts, Walter Benson, Andy Chilton, Leonard Spitzer and Tommy Taylor.

The golf tournament, 72 holes of medal play, will be conducted over the Brae Burn course today and tomorrow.

Capt. Bobby Kamrath of the Texas tennisers probably will play with Reuben Riskind in the doubles at Houston, and they will constitute the Longhorns' main title threat. Kamrath is expected to get as far as the single finals, but he is not considered capable of dethroning Frankie Guernsey, Rice's conference and Intercollegiate champion. Warren Christner and Maurice Fincher are other Texas players.

Uniting Conference Of Methodists Ends

KANSAS CITY, May 11 (AP) — The Methodist uniting conference, in closing business sessions Wednesday adopted a peace resolution recognizing "honest" difference of opinion on peace measures, and deferring by the closest vote of any session a proposal to grant women the clergy rights.

Officially the conference ended with a formal declaration of allegiance to The Methodist Church, formed from the previously separate Northern, Southern and Protestant branches.

An echo of the unsuccessful fight led by Alf M. Landon last night to sent back to committee a clause of the church social creed supporting members who are "conscientious objectors" to war was seen by some delegates in one section of the peace resolution, it read.

"There exists an honest difference of opinion in regard to the particular form which the convention of that (Methodist) church in this crucial (peace) issue ought to take."

The "conscientious objector" clause, however, which also recognizes the right of those members whose consciences so dictate to serve in the armed forces in time of war, stood as it was adopted last night.

A proposal that the conference oppose shipment of munitions to Japan unofficially was reported killed in a committee which held the action was not within the legal province of the uniting group.

Sweetwater Fans Not For WTNM League Club

SWEETWATER, May 11. (Special) — Mass meeting of baseball fans here Tuesday night took no action on the proposed removal of Abilene's baseball franchise in the West Texas-New Mexico League to Sweetwater.

Since Tat Withers, president of the Abilene ball club, decided to install lights at the Abilene park and continue operations there, the Sweetwater fans decided to make no effort to meet the requirements Withers had outlined to them for moving the club.

Approximately 100 fans attended the meeting.

IS DISCHARGED

A. M. Bond, who has been in a Midland hospital for treatment of a fractured leg, has been dismissed, going to the home of relatives out of town.

Team to Meet the Amarillo Gold Sox Today and Friday

CLOVIS, May 11. (Special) The Clovis Pioneers made it two in a row over the Midland Cowboys here last night when "Lefty" Lesar gave the visitors three hits and hung up an easy 9-0 victory.

For three innings, Adair matched the hurling of Lesar but the Pioneers picked up two runs in the fourth, two more in the fifth and drove him from the mound with a four run outburst in the sixth. Murphy took over for the Cowboys and gave up two hits and one run the rest of the way.

Lesar was never in danger, allowing only seven runners to get on base, three on hits, three on walks and one on an error.

The Cowboys left here today for Amarillo where they will play today and tomorrow, returning home Saturday against Clovis.

Conservation Study Offered at Schools

DENTON, Texas, (AP) — Ten institutions of higher learning in Texas will offer the course in conservation of natural resources inaugurated at the North Texas State Teachers College last summer, Dean B. B. Harris, course director at the Teachers College, announces. In addition, the University of Texas and Southern Methodist University will use one or more lectures each week in connection with their general lecture and entertainment programs.

Colleges which will offer the full conservation course include the seven Teachers Colleges — North Texas at Denton, Sam Houston at Huntsville, Southwest Teachers at San Marcos, West Texas at Canyon, East Texas at Commerce, Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches and Sul Ross at Alpine—Baylor University, Texas A. & M., and Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville.

Headquarters will be at the Denton Teachers College, which last year inaugurated the first college course in conservation given in the United States. The course of 28 lectures given by 24 lecturers, including 18 federal specialists, enrolled some 750 students, and drew several thousand out-of-school visitors to hear leaders in the Soil Conservation Service, Park Service, Forest Service, Department of Interior, and other governmental agencies.

"The tremendous interest aroused among the general public and the staffs of other Texas educational institutions by the success of the course at Denton has led to the cooperative expansion of the work to reach 12 Texas colleges and universities," Dr. Harris said.

Since the institution of the conservation program at Denton, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas are attempting to affect a similar program, Dean Harris said that rarely a week passes in which Denton Teachers College officials are not called on to answer letters from various sections of the United States inquiring details of how the course was organized and operated.

Announcement of the speakers will be deferred until the list is complete, Dean Harris said. Speakers at Denton also will appear at the nine other schools offering the complete course, which will begin at all schools on June 7.

Professors Author Book on Accounting

AUSTIN. — To be an expert accountant these days, you must know the "ins and outs" of the SEC and other "New Deal" agencies, University of Texas business professors believe.

Three accounting professors at that institution, Dr. George H. Newlove, Dr. C. Aubrey Smith, and John Arch White, have just written a new textbook delving into hitherto untouched phases of the theory and technique of auditing.

In it they emphasize the new types of accounting which have arisen out of operations of the Securities and Exchange Commission, and its effects on the basis income tax laws and accounting.

Volume two of the three-volume series, this book deals with "Intermediate Accounting." Their first volume treated fundamentals of accounting, while the third, uncompleted, will stress accounting for large corporations, legal auditing and other advanced fields.

It takes 35 men about three months to paint the dome of the Capitol at Washington, D. C., and 4300 pounds of paint are mixed for the task.
