Navy Requests Congress Stay Mum On Code

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy asked Congress again—please—not to reveal part of the Pearl Harbor story, the part about the Japanese code.

The Army told Senators it expects to be discharging 800,000 men a month by December 1.

Congress listened to the Army and Navy—with mixed feelings.

That was the situation on Capitol Hill Thursday, along with Congressional news about surplus property, standard time, government corporations, airports, unemployment pay, and the Japanese Black Dragon Society.

High Army officers did some more explaining before the Senate Military Committee on their plans for faster discharges.

Before the hearing opened, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said the Army had given him the 800,000-a-month forecast, and he said it sounded good to him.

Johnson said he also was told there will be 171 Army separation centers by Dec. 1. There are 22 now. Separation centers are where soldiers get their tickets to civilian life.

As for the Pearl Harbor facts: It was learned that the Navy has renewed its plea for continued secrecy for portions of the Naval inquiry board's report on the 1941 disaster. These portions have to do with breaking the Japanese code. A 10-man Congressional committee will start an A-to-Z investigation of Pearl Harbor shortly.

Meantime, the law-making machinery is gathering speed. Here is the situation on four proposals that moved ahead Wednesday.

1. Left-over war goods. The Senate followed the House and passed a bill to snuff out the three-man Surplus Property Board and substitute one body (probably W. Stuart Symington, President Truman is sure to sign it, because he asked for it).

2. Standard time. The House passed a bill to turn America's clocks back one hour on Sept. 30. The Senate is expected to do likewise.

3. Government corporations. The House passed the Whittington Bill which would bring federal corporations—like RPO and HOC—under stricter congressional control.

4. Airports. The Senate passed a bill to put up federal cash for a big program of airport building. The House has a different version before it, but hasn't acted on it yet. The Senate-approved bill would grant $75,000,000 a year, for five years—to be matched by states and cities. That would total $375,000,000. The House version, okayed by the House Interstate Commerce Committee, would grant not more than $100,000,000 in any one year.

The Senate Finance Committee expected to put the finishing touches on its Unemployment Compensation Bill Thursday.

Eisenhower Visits Pope Pius In Rome

ROME (AP)—Pope Pius XII received Gen. Eisenhower, his son, John Eisenhower, and Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. S. commander in Austria, in a private audience Thursday.

Following the audience Gen. Eisenhower visited St. Peter's Cathedral. The Allied commander was expected to return to his headquarters in Germany Friday.

Byrnes To Consult US Diplomats On Balkans

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.

LONDON (AP)—U. S. representatives in Eastern and Southeastern Europe were gathering in London Thursday for urgent consultations with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on numerous touchy Balkan situations now before the Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers.

Byrnes saw King Peter of Yugoslavia at Claridges Hotel on the express invitation of the young exiled monarch. Later the Secretary of State consulted with the Greek regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, at the American Embassy. Another Byrnes conference was with Herbert Evatt, Australian foreign minister.

Diplomatic quarters considered significant the disclosure by the American Embassy that the American diplomatic representatives were hurrying to London. Already here are Arthur Bliss Lane, American ambassador to Poland, and Robert Patterson, ambassador to Yugoslavia.

Maynard Barnes, minister to Bulgaria, was expected here soon. Burton C. Berry, American representative on the Allied Control Commission, also is expected here.

Another Test To Ellenburger Is Staked In Ector

By JAMES C. WATSON

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill an 11,000-foot exploration test for Ellenburger in Central Ector County.

The project is Stanolind No. 1 Ector. It will be 600 feet from south and west lines of section 34, block 43, T-2-S. It will start drilling immediately.

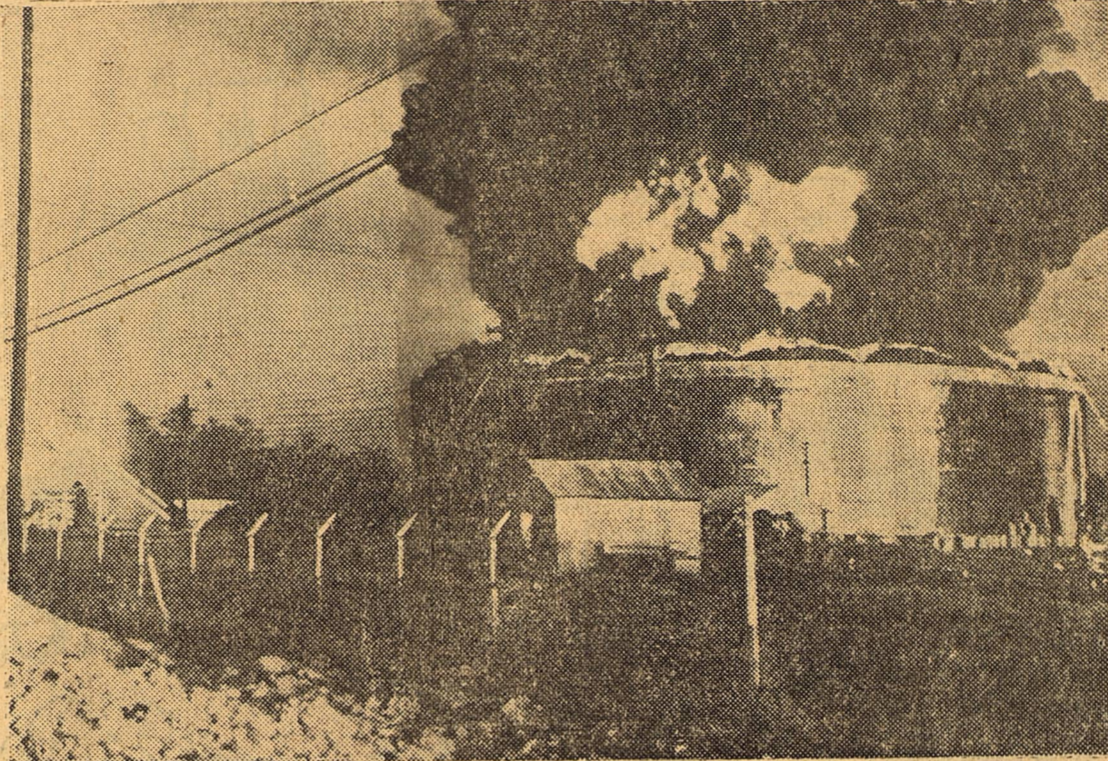

It is five miles southwest of Odessa and on southwest side of the South Cowden field. It is on a lease shown on some maps as being Addis estate. It is understood that the lease was originally taken by Cities Service Oil Company and that concern is said to retain an interest in the tract.

The acreage is about ten miles east and slightly south of a location reported Wednesday for a 10,500-foot prospector to be drilled by Cities Service in a deal with J. H. Wentz, an acreage that operator had to the west of the Harper field.

The 2,000-foot objective is calculated to take the project to the Yates horizon. There are 19 producers from the Tobary pay around 425 feet, on the lease, but there is no production from the Yates and (Continued on Page Two)

Pre-War Jap Premier Says Army Halted Peace Meeting

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, Japanese vice-premier, declared Thursday he had tried in the summer of 1941 to meet President Roosevelt and avert the war but his proposal failed partly through militarist opposition and partly because the Japanese government was regarded internationally as a liar.

"The Japanese government long have had a reputation abroad as liars," he explained, "because they were unable to control Japanese militarists in the field, or often didn't know what the militarists were doing."

"It was that way when I was trying to see Roosevelt. The government was considered a liar, because no matter what we promised regarding China, final decision on the removal of our troops from China depended upon the military. That was one reason why the meeting was never held."

Konoye, premier in that fateful summer and fall, said an argument with the then War Minister Hideki Tojo over continuing peace negotiations led to his own resignation and Tojo's climb to the premier's office.

Where To Meet At Honolulu
"I feel confident that if I had been able to see Mr. Roosevelt, I could have established a basis for intervention of the imperial house in the rising war tide within Japan at that time," Konoye said in an interview.

In April, 1941, he officially suggested to the United States that he and President Roosevelt meet personally. Washington agreed and Honolulu was tentatively mentioned as the scene.

Meanwhile, Konoye said, the negotiations became entangled with the unsolved problems of Japan's activities in China.

"Finally," he said, "Washington made clear that such a meeting would be useless unless three problems were settled:

"First, Japan's adherence to the Tripartite Pact; second, removal of Japanese forces from China; and third, financial and economic problems in China."

"In the controversy with the militarists, I had one remaining weapon—an appeal through the throne. It had been able to converse with Mr. Roosevelt if an agreement I could have brought back enough assurance of prospects of peace—even if the basic problems were then unsolved—to convince 'he throne to intervene.'"

Says Tojo Planned Attack
The prince, who was succeeded by Gen. Hideki Tojo as premier in October, 1941, said that the Pearl Harbor attack—the following December—was engineered in strictest secrecy by a small group under Tojo and that many of the military clique of the civilians and himself were totally unaware of the attack beforehand.

Col. Josef Meisinger, chief of the German Gestapo in Japan, previously had told me Konoye was leader of the pro-American faction in the pre-war struggle with the militarists, and had been Tojo's strongest opponent.

When I asked Konoye if this were true, he replied affirmatively. The Army, he said, named Tojo as war minister in a slight reshuffling of Konoye's cabinet in December, 1940, and there was nothing he could do to oppose the appointment, made by General, now Field Marshal, Shunroku Hata, former war minister. From then on, said Konoye, Tojo's power increased.

Nips To Show Action Within Two Days Or Yanks Will Step In

By The Associated Press

Japan abolished her imperial headquarters, fountainhead of her militarism, under General MacArthur's orders Thursday and began the job of rounding up her own war criminals as Gen. Hideki Tojo, No. 1 on the "wanted" list, showed definite improvement from his suicide attempt two days ago.

The Eighth Army granted the Japanese government request that it be permitted to take into custody the war leaders listed by General MacArthur for possible war criminal trials, but indicated there had better be action within two days or the Americans would step in again.

The Japanese request apparently was prompted by a desire to prevent further "incidents" such as Tojo's attempt to shoot himself to death Tuesday when American officers went to arrest him.

At an American hospital, Tojo was reported as in "quite satisfactory" condition and talked with correspondents.

Nimitz Advises Yanks
Admiral Nimitz on Guam advised Americans that the Japanese were telling them what America wanted to hear and their stories should be taken with "a grain of salt."

In another interview in Tokyo, a group of leading industrialists charged Japanese militarists with refusing to end the war even after the country knew it was beaten. The business men admitted they had been so badly beaten that even without atomic bombs some 7,000,000 Japanese would probably have starved in another year of war. The present national economy is based upon "nothing," they commented.

Navy Minister Surrenders
Tojo's navy minister, Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, surrendered quietly at his home to an American officer. His name is on General MacArthur's list of "wanted" men. Said the admiral, to a request that he hurry: "Be quiet. No suicide, no suicide."

Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, however, killed himself with a pistol at his office near the palace. "As I was in an important post, I don't feel my responsibility," he told his aide, Sugiyama, former war minister and one of Japan's three field marshals, had planned to lead the defense of the Tokyo area against the expected American invasion.

More suicides were expected as the hunt for other names on MacArthur's list went forward. High on the list is Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, of Bataan infamy, who had slipped away to his home on an island off Western Japan. Seven others were named as leaders of the Black Dragon Society, now ordered dissolved, but Japanese said two of the seven were dead and a third had no connection with the militaristic society.

Cabinet Meeting Called
Premier Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni called Thursday's cabinet session after learning of MacArthur's 47-name list of "wanted" Japanese. Sources close to the government said cabinet members probably would be asked if their own backgrounds could stand close Allied inspection.

Occupation went forward peacefully and MacArthur informed the Japanese government Thursday that Gen. Walter Krueger of the Sixth Army and Vice Adm. Harry Hill, commanding the Fifth Amphibious Force, will reach Cebu, Northwest Luzon, Sept. 20 to prepare for troop landings there two days later.

British Air Minister Will Fish In Gulf
McAllen, Texas (AP)—British Air Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham is expected to arrive at Fort Isabel Thursday to fish for sailfish.

He is to be accompanied by a party of American Army and Navy officials, according to Lt. Charles J. Sullivan, commanding officer of the Harlingen, Army Air Field rescue boat at Fort Isabel, in charge of arrangements.

17-Gun Salute Grets Wainwright In N. Y.
NEW YORK (AP)—A 17-gun salute touched off a hero's welcome from New York's cheering millions Thursday for Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, defender of Corregidor and Bataan.

The salute rolled out as a C-54 Air Transport Command plane, bringing the four star general and a party of 11 from Washington, taxied to a stop at La Guardia Field at 10:02 a. m. (CWT).

Gen. Wainwright, with Mrs. Wainwright at his side, was greeted by Mayor F. H. La Guardia.

Liberations Cut Army Casualties
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army gained but the Navy lost men Thursday's latest revision of casualty reports from World War II. The total now stands at 1,070,730 for all branches of the armed services. This is 278 more than last week's recapitulation.

Liberation of 285 more prisoners of war who previously had been listed as missing cut the Army's casualty total down to 922,302, but the Navy's total rose to 148,428, an increase of 563.

American Secret Underground Said Within Jap Palace

CHUNGKING (AP)—SACO—the Chinese and American underground network which criss-crossed occupied China and on good authority actually reached into the Tokyo imperial palace—was revealed Thursday as one of the top secrets of the war.

Guerrilla armies with which SACO worked now may be publicly credited with killing more than 25,000 Japanese in the past year.

Chinese and American partners in SACO—personnel of a Naval group in China facetiously known as the "Rice Paddy Navy"—took the wraps off the organization and its manifold hush-hush adventures. Arizona Man Deputy

The guidance of the Sino-American co-operative organization—SACO—came from two sides. The director was Tai Li, head of the Central Government secret police. His deputy was Milton S. Miles, 45, of Jerome, Ariz., imaginative and incisive American Naval officer who was promoted from commodore to rear admiral just a month ago.

Tai's organization, with which Miles has worked since a few weeks after Pearl Harbor, was far more than a secret police force. It provided the manpower for SACO—guerrilla armies, junk masters and crewmen who became saboteurs, anti-Japanese fifth columnists and agents of every description.

Staff Over Wage Terms
Officials of both networks have termed the walkout unauthorized and said it began without warning. The union said it resulted from a breakdown of contract negotiations.

Immediately after the walkout which the union said resulted from a breakdown in contract negotiations during the afternoon, there was "dead air" on NBC for 15 minutes, and on ABC for half an hour.

The walkout began half an hour after the two networks received notification from the union that a strike would be called after a 30-day waiting period.

NBC said, "the preliminary union demands, which were not accepted, were for wage raises from 40 to 60 per cent."

Charges Filed On Youthful Forger

Charges of forgery and passing a worthless check were filed in juvenile court Thursday afternoon against a 16-year-old Big Spring boy. The lad was arrested after a business man noticed the boy filling out several blank checks and called police.

When arrested the boy had four checks in his pocket for $3.50 each. All were signed with fictitious names. He passed four checks before he was arrested.

Police Chief Jack Ellington said the boy was in Midland in February.

Tojo Relates He Had Long Planned Suicide But Awaited Proper Time

By DUANE HENNESSY
YOKOHAMA (AP)—Hideki Tojo, in the fls' interview since he shot himself two days ago, said Thursday he had planned to kill himself for a long time but that when he saw American officers standing outside his house he "knew the time had come."

The deposed Japanese dictator then shot and wounded himself near the heart, with a .32 caliber pistol, but prompt blood transfusions and other treatment by American Army doctors saved his life and he was declared Thursday to be in "satisfactory" condition.

In talking Thursday Tojo brushed aside many questions relating to war and politics, but when asked if Saburo Kurusu had known about Pearl Harbor plans when he talked to Cordell Hull about peace, Tojo replied that he could not answer without documentary evidence.

Tojo was registered as patient No. 10,694 and was the one hundredth patient admitted Tuesday at the Army's 98th Evacuation Hospital.

He looked little like a dictator as he was interviewed. He was propped up on his bed with a folding chair and pillows behind his back. He was covered by a clean white sheet, but his feet were sticking out. He was dressed in G. I. pajamas many sizes too large.

Tojo said he felt much better but suffered a little pain "inside," pointing to his left side. Maj. Elbert Elliott of Houston, Texas, said Tojo's condition was considered "quite satisfactory" but later the former war lord's eyes appeared to become slightly glassy and he complained of being "tired."

Asked why he decided to shoot himself instead of performing the traditional ceremony of hara kiri, he replied:

Need For A Peacetime OSS

Some of the war's most surprising and interesting "now it can be told" stories were the first ones describing the secret overseas activities of the Office of Strategic Services. They probably will become more interesting as more details of the dangerous and dramatic OSS operations are revealed.

It is certain that a lot of people never heard of OSS during the war. It also is certain that nobody outside the highest government circles and OSS itself knew exactly what this super-secret agency was doing.

But the people know now. And having become acquainted with OSS, they must decide whether they want to keep it.

The United States never has had a foreign secret service, perhaps because Americans just haven't liked the idea, or because our government has been a little too honest, trusting and innocent. But other countries have had such services and will continue to have them.

So it would seem only sensible that we carry over into peacetime some form of organization to collect and coordinate foreign information as Maj. Gen. W. J. Donovan, head of OSS, has suggested.

Already there is talk of smaller occupation forces and a shorter occupation for Germany and Japan than were originally planned. Some day we shall be getting out of both countries. But it is naive and dangerous nonsense to think they will not need watching for a long time, or that influential groups in both countries are not already thinking about a coming war of vengeance.

If we had had an OSS before the war, the disaster at Pearl Harbor might have been averted or certainly minimized. To prevent another such disaster will require constant vigilance, probably maintained in secrecy.

It seems safe to say that an international spy system is a little too sinister and melodramatic for the tastes of most of us. But if it can avoid the inaccuracies, confusion, cross-purposes and delay that led up to Pearl Harbor, let's have it.

20,000,000 Fewer Ducks And Geese Predicted

WASHINGTON—(P)—There will be fewer ducks and geese on the Southward flight this year, Director Ira N. Gabrielson of the Fish and Wildlife Service predicted Thursday.

Gabrielson said last winter's inventory of waterfowl showed a decrease of approximately 20,000,000 birds. The figures were confirmed by observers watching the migration northward this spring.

Gabrielson said a heavy kill during the hunting season last year was largely responsible for the large reduction.

Col. Chester P. Gilger Addresses Rotarians

Col. Chester P. Gilger, commanding officer of the Midland Army Air Field, told Midland Rotarians at their meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer that no station in the Army Air Forces Training Command is better equipped to perform its duties than the Midland Army Air Field.

Relations between the Army and Midland have been excellent, he emphasized, and may be a big factor in determining the future of the large bombardier and navigation school.

He said he had no definite information on the future of MAAF, and decisions yet must be made by commanders of the Army and the Air Forces.

Expediting Discharges Details necessary to release men from the armed forces were discussed by Colonel Gilger. He said these men have earned the right to return to civilian life and that the Army is doing all within its power to expedite matters. The Army, he continued, is determined that justice be done in the discharge of personnel, and that the work be handled in an orderly, efficient and fair manner.

The size of the postwar air force must be determined, Colonel Gilger said, before its needs will be known.

"It is the duty of the Air Forces to maintain the peace as the first line of defense."

He discussed the outstanding activities of the Air Force in World War II and its place in preparing for peace and security.

The importance of an Army chaplain's work was discussed by Chaplain James L. Russell of MAAF who urged civilians to place more confidences in their ministers. He said he receives more confidences than he had received in his entire career as a minister to civilians.

Major M. D. Oakley of MAAF also addressed the meeting. Dr. L. E. Pemberton was program chairman and Guy Breneman, club president, presided at the meeting.

Dairy Short Course Scheduled At A. & M. On October 8 And 9

COLLEGE STATION—(P)—Feature of the dairy fieldmen's short course to be held at Texas A&M College Oct. 8 and 9 will be an eight-point dairy operational program. The program is recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Dairy Industry Committee.

A. V. Moore, professor of Dairy Manufacturers and director of the short course, said this program is being put into operation all over the country through state schools similar to Texas A&M College.

The eight-point program:

1. Feed every cow for economical production.

2. Save milk dollars by improving grasslands.

3. Retain reeding values by improved hay making and silos.

4. Keep production records for better herd management.

On Leaving El Paso, Cavalry Formed Tokyo Club But Meet Delayed

EL PASO—(P)—Two years, eight months and eight days late was the "Tokyo Reunion Club" of El Paso. But that didn't dampen their enthusiasm.

When the First Cavalry Division left Fort Bliss for the Pacific, its commander, Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift, issued a number of cards to El Pasoans telling them they were members of the Tokyo Reunion Club and invited them to assemble in Tokyo at 10 p. m., U.S.A. time, on New Year's Eve, 1943.

Reason for the assembly, said the cards, was "to get plastered."

At 7 p. m. El Paso time, Sept. 7, the Seventh and Eighth Cavalry Regiments, headed by the First Cavalry Band, marched into Tokyo.

An El Pasoan, Lt. Col. William A. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Adams, was leading. Another El Pasoan, Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, is commander of the First Cavalry Division.

The Tokyo Reunion Club, presumably, celebrated.

U. S. To Sell Or Lease 'Inch' Pipelines Soon

WASHINGTON—(P)—The government plans to sell or lease the Big Inch and Little Inch war emergency pipelines soon, an official disclosed Thursday.

Operation of the Big Inch will be discontinued about October 15, said Sam H. Husbands, a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The date will depend upon a finding by the Petroleum Administration for War that the property no longer is needed for war purposes.

Sale or lease of the pipelines will be carried out by the Surplus Property Board, Husbands added.

The Big Inch went into operation in February, 1943, and through August, 1945, carried 260,750,000 barrels of crude oil from the Gulf to the Eastern Seaboard. Little Inch moved 107,125,000 barrels from March, 1944, through August, 1945.

The first U. S. census, taken in 1790, showed a count of 3,929,214 persons.

Mad Dogs and Wagging Tongues

The county had a "mad dog" scare last week. Phoebe Token's spaniel bit the postman, and he vowed that he was plenty mad about it.

But by the time the rumor got around, it wasn't the dog. And before the truth was learned, half the kids in the neighborhood had missed school, while their mothers nearly died of fright.

Wagging tongues can cause a lot of "mad dog" trouble. Like wagging tongues that gossip about our soldiers drinking too much around Army camps. It's just not true, as the government found out and told us. Milk and beer are among a soldier's favorite drinks—which is why we have the best behaved army in history. But those ugly rumors are bound to hurt morale and cause hard feeling.

From where I sit, wagging tongues can cause a heap more trouble than mad dogs.

Registered Nurses Are Urgently Needed For MAAF Hospital

An emergency appeal has been issued by the Midland chapter of the American Red Cross for civilian registered nurses for the Obstetrical Clinic at Midland Army Air Force Hospital.

Red Cross officials have stated that unless additional nurses are secured to replace the vacancies which have recently occurred, the clinic will be compelled to close. Army regulations prevent the use of Army nurses for this work.

The clinic accommodates not only service men's dependents stationed at MAAF, but families of men in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps who reside in this vicinity. In order that they may receive medical aid, it is vitally essential that the clinic be kept open.

For an interview graduate registered nurses may contact Col. Fred W. Hartwick, flight surgeon, and Capt. Maurice Menyer at MAAF Hospital, or Mrs. Vera Garner, Red Cross field assistant at the post.

The nurses will remain on a civilian status.

XVI
JUST then Dr. Lacey came noisily down the stairs. His eyes were burning. "She was trying to reach the phone to call me," he said. "I got that much from her." Mrs. Kittridge flinched back from the anger in his face. "Why in heaven's name wasn't I called hours ago? You must have realized the importance of it!" "It—it didn't seem serious," Mrs. Kittridge faltered. "She'd been out without a coat; she had a chill. I—I didn't want to disturb the whole household." "That's unfortunate." The two words were a lash. "You mean—she is really ill?" Lacey snapped his words. "What in hell do you suppose? Where's the phone? That's what I came down for. . . . Last night I might have been able to do something. Now I can't; she'll lose the child." "Dear God!" It was a hoarse whisper from Hildreth. But Mrs. Kittridge stood as if she had been struck a blow which had stunned her and from which presently she would fall. Color washed out of her face; her eyes, enormous and terrified, sought her son. She tumbled stupidly for words. "But I didn't know—I didn't know. . . ." Dr. Lacey did not answer; he reached for the telephone. Brock had not spoken. He seemed beyond speech. In utter silence he was looking up the stairs; now in utter silence he started toward them. "Brock!" his mother cried. "Brock, you can't go up there. Not now, like this. You haven't even your canes. . . ." She tugged at his sleeve. "Brock. . . ." He put her aside. He said five words, so fraught with purpose that she quailed. He never took his eyes from his goal. He said, "Get out of my way." There was a pounding clamor to his ascent of the stairs; his hands tore at the bannister as he jerked himself up step by step.

THAYER lay in the big bed, her gaze wandering about the room. This had been her room for months yet nothing looked as it once had; nothing was the same. In this room she had waited, in it she had hoped; in it she had known complete despair. Dr. Lacey, for all his skill, had been unable to save the growing child within her. Always she would know regret and tenderness for the nameless son who might have been. But tonight many things filled Thayer's heart, and holding the most important place, that never-to-be-erased picture of Brock coming in at the doorway of her room. Numbly she had heard the sound of noisy footsteps on the stairs and her pain-filled eyes had turned to seek Dr. Lacey. Instead it had been Brock, a Brock who shocked incredulous face bore no resemblance to the embittered self-centered man she had known these past months. She saw that he was clutching at the side of the door jamb; she saw that he had no canes. From her bed it seemed far far off to where he stood. His eyes were fastened on her face. He came to her, across the long expanse of carpet, alone, unaided, walking with unsteady, uncertain gait, but walking. She had cried out, a whisper more than anything, "Brock, Brock, you came up—the stairs. . . ." He was beside her then, on his knees by the bed, his tortured face close to her own. He was saying over and over, utter denunciation of himself in the words, "Thayer, Thayer—what have I done to you? What have I done?" She was crying weakly, soundlessly. She said, "Brock—I wanted the baby. Brock, we can't have this one. . . ." Lying there, wracked by pain and exhaustion, she knew too a sort of ecstasy that was above pain. This was Brock come back to her, who, obeying at last the summons of a need greater than his own had, through that obedience, found himself. CORINNE KITTRIDGE sat in her room amid the ruin she had pulled down upon herself. The old pain was dogged in her chest, but a deeper pain was in her heart. She had wronged them both—Brock and Thayer. She had meddled with a terrible consequence to them all. Hildreth had put it into unforgettable words of harsh pity. "I'm sorry for you, Corinne, because after all most of what you did was stupidity, and Life is somehow kinder to the sinners than to the fools." She had tried to cling to the lame excuse, "I tried to do what I thought best for my son; I loved him." But now there seemed no ring of truth in the words. Love. She had seen love this day—in the eyes of two people brought together by the tragedy of a shared loss. She got up heavily and went out. She looked in at the open door of Thayer's room. They were together. Brock was holding the girl's hands and they were looking into each other's eyes. They were neither missing her, nor caring. She could not intrude with her poor apology, her plea. They did not need her; they would never need her. They would tear their eyes from each other unwillingly at her intrusion. They would be embarrassed because of her embarrassment, but kind. Having so much they could be generous. They were young and the world was theirs, the new world that they and their kind would make. She belonged to yesterday. They could claim tomorrow. That was where she had been wrong. The old have their place, but no part of it should be in keeping the world from the young. Their lives would go on, theirs and their children's. The children she would never see. She turned from the bright rapture of their faces and went back to her room.

While Sylvester Gintell of New York has won some team championships in the past, his first major pair victory was in the national men's pair championship this year with Lee Hazen. Gintell certainly counted today's hand down nicely to execute a good squeeze play and make his contract.

East won the opening spade lead with the ace and returned the trump. Dummy's 10-spot won and the ace picked up the other adverse trump. At this point Gintell took the diamond finesse. When it held, he decided he could not be lucky enough to have the club finesse work too, so he played out all his trumps. East found himself squeezed. In order to hold diamonds, he had to blank down to his king of clubs. Gintell led the club, went up with the ace, dropped East's king, and the club queen again squeezed East.

Over 21,500 GIs Will See Packer-Eagle Game

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The champion Green Bay Packers put their professional football prestige on the chopping block Thursday night when they tackle the Philadelphia Eagles in a charity game.

To more than 21,500 servicemen many of them amputees, cases, the gridiron clash promises to serve as a morale builder. They'll be on hand to watch Jack Sanders, who lost part of his left arm while serving as a Marine lieutenant on Iwo Jima, start at left guard for the Eagles. He'll play with a specially constructed steel brace covering the lower part of his arm.

Meat should be unwrapped as soon as it comes from the store and placed immediately in the refrigerator, either uncovered or wrapped loosely in waxed paper.

Max Schmeling Released

He is shown here being questioned by a British security policeman in Hamburg on a previous occasion.

Cards Use Farm Pitcher To Stay On Cubs' Tail

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam Bredon's Cardinal farm system shriveled to a handful of outposts and a smattering of talent, has turned up lefty Art Lopatka to prove it still can produce a live one when the hurry call for help is sounded.

With Billy Southworth's St. Louis gang struggling desperately to catch the front-running Chicago Cubs, who had won via the shut-out route a few hours earlier, Lopatka was given his big league launching against the hard-hitting Brooklyn Dodgers in a two-night game.

The 25-year-old grad of the Columbus Red Birds justified the management's faith by subduing the Dodgers with four hits, 3-2, keeping the Cards 2½ games behind Chicago. A scheduled second game was rained out.

Hank Wyse made sure the Bruins wouldn't lose any ground by blanking the Phillies, 4-0, nine hits.

Cincinnati shaded New York, 4-3, in the other National League contest on successive homers by Frank McCormick and Hank Sauer. Boston and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Wainwright Sees Nats Win
Washington picked up a half game on Detroit in the blazing American League scrap, slicing the Tigers' advantage to a game and a half, all on the losing side of the ledger. Five big games with the Bengals over the weekend in the nation's capitol probably will decide the issue.

Roger Wolff pitched and batted the Senators to a 5-1 triumph over Cleveland in an arduous game witnessed by General Jonathan M. Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor. The knuckleball artist yielded only four hits in recording his eighteenth win and drove home three of the Washington scores with a bases-loaded double.

Detroit's crippled Tigers lost a head-breaking second game to Philadelphia, 3-2, in 16 innings after romping to a 7-4 decision in the opener behind Al Benton.

It has been a tough week for Steve O'Neill with Hank Greenberg and Eddie Mayo out of the lineup and Hal Newhouse's sore back forcing him to skip his regular turn. But Wednesday's marathon nightcap was the toughest of all. Hawaiian Hurler Comes Through O'Neill gambled with Prince Henry Oana, the big Hawaiian from Buffalo, and saw his choice justified as the recruit allowed only one single for 2 2/3 innings. Roberto Estalella tied it with a double and the same stocky Cuban finally broke it up with another two-baser in the sixteenth, scoring Mayo fifth win of the Eastern jaunt, was the victim of Estalella's second double.

The Yankees greeted Chicago's White Sox like a sure ticket to a first division berth, grabbing both games of a series opening double, 3-1 and 9-8, the second in 10 innings, to tighten their grasp on third place. Russ Derry and Charley Keller hit homers to ease Red Ruffing's task in the opener and Frank Crosetti tied the finale in the ninth with a round tripper. Oscar Grimes' triple followed by Aaron Robinson's single finally broke it up.

Sloppy Boston fielding let down Mike Ryan as the Red Sox bowed to St. Louis, 9-2. Bob Munster handcuffed the home club with four blows in gaining his twelfth victory against three setbacks.

cause of bad shoulder; Heinz Becker, sore feet. Tigers—Eddie Mayo, shoulder and chest strapped up; Hank Greenberg, sprained ankle; Hal Newhouse, pain in back. Senators—Dutch Leonard, lame shoulder. Maybe the explanation is that they started out this year with wartime 4-F squads.

Unnecessary Punishment

A rookie lineman in the Cleveland Rams' training camp was put in to scrimmage against Gil Bouley, the big, rough tackle from Boston College and Cornell, and received a good going over. The next day he tried again and found it even more strenuous. Finally the kid approached Coach Adam Walsh with a complaint.

"What's the matter?" asked Adam, sensing a timid attitude not in keeping with pro football, "is Gil too tough for you?" "It isn't what he does on the field," the battered kid replied. "He roams across from me and keeps me awake all night talking in his sleep. I wish you'd make him stop saying 'get up, you so-and-so, and I'll knock you down again!'"

Service Department
Jim Harris, line coach of the Air Force P.D.C. football team, says he was the last man to be substituted by Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. He must have been the one Rock was "saving for the junior prom."

Temperature Falls To 52 Degrees Here

Midlanders had an opportunity to cool off Thursday morning as the temperature went down to a low of 52 degrees at 7 a. m. The present cool wave is expected to continue until Saturday.

The cool front which moved down from Wyoming Thursday morning brought high winds with gusts of 45 miles an hour recorded at Midland Army Air Field between 12:30 and 1:30 p. m. The winds were not expected to get higher than 20 miles an hour Thursday.

The temperature for Thursday was not expected to go above 74 degrees, 10 degrees below Thursday's maximum of 84.

Bulldogs Concentrate On Offensive Play In Practice For Pampa

By CROM HOLMES
With the game against Pampa High School only eight days away, the Midland Bulldogs are pointing their practice this week toward building an offensive for that initial tussle Sept. 21 under the Midland field lights.

To strengthen the Bulldogs' running department—where the Midlanders revealed their greatest weakness in a scrimmage with Monahan last Friday—Coach Gene McCollum Wednesday concentrated drills on ball carrying, open field running, stiff-arming, and offensive aggressiveness.

McCollum said the Purple and Gold team was rounding into condition fairly well but that Sept. 21 seems very near. The Bulldogs will concentrate on building a defense against Pampa's attack during practice sessions next week and on building up their own offensive.

McCullum Gives Encouragement
In Wednesday's practice, McCollum was a pep squad in himself, yelling encouragement to his backs as they practiced broken-field running through the linemen.

"Atta-boy," he called to charging backs. "Keep those legs digging. . . . Keep fighting. . . . Head for that goal line. . . . Fight the tacklers off. . . . Don't stop, they'll get you from behind. . . . Atta boy." But the linemen came in for their share of morale building, too.

"When you go after him, you've got to drive. . . . That's the way. . . . Keep your legs operating after you make contact. . . . That's the way to tackle. . . . Make it pop. . . . Bet you an ice cream cone you don't get him this time. . . . Atta boy."

The athletes showing up well on running the ball were Dunn Goodie, Bobby Cole, Wilbur Yeager, and Jimmy Edwards.

Senate Passes Bill To Give Nation 3,000 Additional Airports

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate has just passed a bill to give the country 3,000 more airports. The House has to approve before work gets started.

There may be some changes before the 3,000 airports start to get built.

There are about 3,000 airports now. The majority of them can handle only small private planes. They're sort of air parks.

The government — through the Civil Aeronautics Administration — suggested last November that 3,000 more airports be added.

The vast majority of the new ones—about 2,900 of them—would also be for small planes, the air park type.

CAA figured the job of laying out the airports, plus the land, would cost $1,250,000,000.

Half of this—$625,000,000—would be paid by the government. The other $625,000,000 would be paid by states, cities or counties.

Two Bills Before Congress
Two Congressmen—Rep. Clarence Lea, California Democrat, and Senator Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat—shoved two bills into Congress to carry out in some degree the CAA program.

Lea's bill would have the government put out about 65 million dollars a year for the next ten years—or $650,000,000 to be matched dollar for dollar by the local communities for a total of $1,300,000,000 over 10 years.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

MacArthur's grist-mill is grinding finer and faster—an encouraging circumstance, since studied speed is vital.

The situation in East Asia as a whole is dangerous—and Japan is the focal point of the infection. It will require both adroit and quick handling to forestall an epidemic of discontent, and anti-Western animosity, in the various countries. For while Japan is the main source of the evil which has descended upon that part of the world, yet because the Allies are now in control they will get the blame if the disorganization isn't righted speedily.

In short, the Western Allies are on trial in a big way in the Orient. Anyone who has studied the Far East at first hand knows that it long has harbored much suspicion of Occidental motives. This is a mighty danger which either will be eliminated or accentuated, as Allied efforts at rehabilitation—economic, political and social—succeed or falter.

Occupation Proceeds Smoothly
So it is good to get General MacArthur's report that the occupation of Japan is proceeding smoothly. One notes in this connection that it's only a month since Tokyo surrendered—a short time to get a tight grip on a country which had some 3,000,000 crack troops still under arms, and the military-clique anxious for further trouble.

While the occupation was said to be going well in the mikado's home domains, reports from other quarters weren't so optimistic. The Japanese high command in China says it may take several months to repatriate the million Jap soldiers there. And Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten says the Japs in Southeast Asia "are finding it very hard to accept defeat and may try to wriggle out of the terms of surrender."

Continued smooth progress in occupation of the Japanese homeland is bound to have a good effect on the Japs in other countries. It was to be expected that they would give some trouble until they had full understanding of their nation's defeat.

Couldn't Find Home, So Vet At Houston Built One Himself

HOUSTON—(P)—Twenty-seven-year-old Harold Mobley of Houston came home from the wars to find his first reconversion problem solved. He didn't have a place to live.

The landlord had sold the house his folks were living in right out from under them.

So the corporal, an ingenious and resourceful lad, settled his housing problem by building a six-room frame cottage—practically unaided.

"I wouldn't say I did it all myself. My mother helped, and I had some help with the roof," said Harold.

His mother, Mrs. A. L. Mobley, smiling, said her help was principally in the form of moral support.

The corporal, now civilian Mr. Mobley, laid the foundation for his new house last May 2. The house isn't finished, and he doesn't think it will be for a good many months.

But Harold, his mother and his father, A. L. Mobley, who works for the Hughes Tool Company, are living there, and have been since June 27.

"Like Camping Out" "When we moved in, it was something like camping out," Harold and his mother said. "but it was a matter of necessity."

They had rented for ten years. When the landlord sold the house they were living in, and gave them 90 days notice they tried to rent a house, and then they tried to buy one.

But son Harold had bought a couple of lots before he went into the Army nearly three years ago, and since he always had liked tinkering with tools and building things, he set out to build.

He started to work on the plans the day he was honorably discharged after 27 months, which included service with the Fifth Army in Italy.

Permit Through WPB From the War Production Board, he got an H-3 permit which gives the war veteran priority on housing materials.

He set to work. But a man doesn't just build a house. Before he went to the Army, Harold attended the University of Houston and worked at the Western Electric Company here as a clerk and telephone repair man. In the Army, he was a map draftsman.

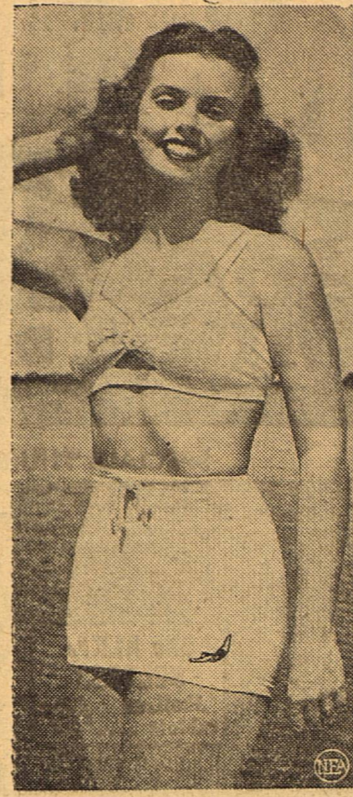

His hobby probably accounts for his skill. He always had a shop at home. He liked tinkering with tools and "prodding through new houses as the carpenters put them together."

"It's a slow job, but after all, there's no rent. And I've paid cash for all the material I could get. No monthly instalments," Mobley explained.

Mobley soon takes up another job. He will begin his senior year at the University of Houston; the government will pay for the education he is entitled to under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

He plans to complete his education with a major in physics. After that, he wants to work in a laboratory.

Lensmen's Choice

They make 'em photogenic down in Florida, and easiest of all on the camera lens is comely Laura Norden, above, of Winter Haven, according to Army photographers from 14 fields who chose her "most photogenic girl" in a recent state-wide contest.

Old Houston Died Shooting At Japs

WASHINGTON—(P)—The game old cruise: Houston shot it out with a Japanese naval force for an hour and a half before shell fire and torpedoes sank her in Sunda Strait.

The first 13 survivors to reach this country related how the cruiser met her doom trying to run the strait the night of Feb. 26, 1942, after the battle of the Java Sea. When the end came she had almost nothing left to shoot but star shells.

U. S. JG Harold S. Hamlin Jr., of Orlando, Fla., said many of the men who did not go down with her spent from three hours to three days in the water before reaching the Java shore.

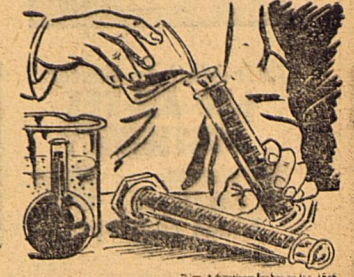

Seized by the Japanese, they were held six weeks in a foul jail in Surong. They were sent to Batavia, Singapore and finally to Burma. There they joined a prison labor force of 60,000 building a railroad from Burma into Siam (Thailand).

Of 368 Houston survivors on this job 69 died of malnutrition in a year. The Navy has accounted for the Houston's complement as follows: Liberated survivors, 94; prisoners of war, 179; identified dead, 108; missing, 594; status in doubt, 7.

Tramp Enters Furnace To Sleep, Gets Stuck

CHICAGO—(P)—As the mercury slipped down into the low 50's, James E. Dore, 45, who told police he has no permanent address, hunted a place to sleep. He went into a basement of a small Madison Street hotel and crawled into the furnace—which was not fired. Later he told firemen who came to extricate him he would have been all right except that he got stuck in the furnace chimney pit. After pulling him out, firemen washed away the soot and then took him to the county hospital where he was given a more leisurely cleansing.

Longhorns Favored To Win Southwestern Conference Crown

FORT WORTH—(AP)—If the Texas Longhorns don't win the Southwest Conference football championship, it's going to be a major upset for the experts.

Eighty per cent of the newspaper sports editors and radio sports commentators of the Southwest who participated in a poll have named the Longhorns as the No. 1 team of the 1945 race.

Many of the better qualified experts, including George White of The Dallas News, refused to vote at this time.

Never has there been such an overwhelming unanimity of opinion in the eleven years that J. Willard Edgings of the Texas Christian University news service has taken the preseason poll. Only fifteen of seventy-four ballots placed Texas out of the title spot, and only six of these fifteen put them lower than second.

There is almost equal agreement as to the tail-end positions, awarded to Rice and Baylor by a wide margin, no one putting the Bears higher than fourth nor the Owls more than third.

Confusion exists as to the merits of the four other entries, Texas A. & M., Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, were placed in every position, from top to bottom. However, total balloting gave SMU the No. 2 spot, TCU No. 3, Arkansas No. 4 and A. & M. No. 5.

The overall picture then, for the predictions on the forthcoming race is:

1. Texas; 2. Southern Methodist; 3. Texas Christian; 4. Arkansas; 5. Texas A. & M.; 6. Rice; 7. Baylor.

Texas Ranges Reported In Good Condition

AUSTIN—(AP)—The United States Department of Agriculture reported Tuesday that the condition of all ranges on the first of this month was 81 per cent of normal, but well above the 77 per cent of a year ago and 78 per cent for the 1942-43 average.

Except in southern counties and parts of the northwestern districts range feeds were ample for livestock to maintain flesh.

Rainfall during the month was spotted but dry areas were temporarily relieved.

Cattle held up well during August and the movement of cattle was increasing as a result of range feed shortages in some areas, particularly where ranges were fully stocked.

In dry districts, some supplemental feeding enabled animals to maintain good flesh despite lowered range conditions.

Sheep range condition was six points below the 86 per cent reported a month ago.

The demand for sheep was dull and marketings of lambs slow. Many shepherds were concerned over prospective shortages of concentrated feeds for winter feeding.

Women In Armed Services Not Quite As Anxious To Get Out Without Job

By TYRRELL KRUM
Lieutenant Commander USNR,
Retired

WASHINGTON—It's hard to tell exactly whether the women in Uncle Sam's various armed forces—WAVES, WAVES, SPARS and Women Marines—are as happy over the prospects of being released and going back home as one would have been led to believe a couple of weeks ago.

You talk to one WAVE and she says her discharge can't be handed to her too soon. You talk to another one sitting at a desk not far away and she will tell you that she hasn't had much of an opportunity to look around for a job yet and doesn't want to leave until she's sure of a good position outside.

A curbside survey made recently indicated that the big majority of the female members of the armed forces in Washington would willingly step out at the earliest moment—if they had a good paying job to step into. And they were almost unanimous in their desire to get away from Washington—most of them seemed to loathe the very mention of the name.

Sold Bill Of Goods

Many a WAVE will tell you that he was "sold a bill of goods" by her home-town recruiting officer and that "two weeks in Washington was enough to convince us that the military life was not for me."

The girls, who donned their uniforms with a great deal of glee and enthusiasm, were soon bemoaning the fact that they had to go out all the time, even on their best days, wearing the same old rags they worked in instead of being able to dress up in the rills and ribbons so dear to every young girl's life.

Then, of course, there was the extraneous supervision and regimentation of military life that irked them no end. It was "do this" and "do that" and "yer, sir" and "aye, ye, sir" all day long without the least bit of a chance to talk back or even discuss the problem to see whether there might not be a better way of solving it than that dictated by some uniformed superior.

Three weeks ago you could have the entire WAVES, WAVES, SPARS and Women Marines absolutely free so far as most of its members in Washington were concerned and there wouldn't be a whimper from any of them. But now things are beginning to change.

Girls Do Good Job

There is no denying that the majority of the girls, and particularly the older ones who entered the service out of a high sense of patriotism, or because possibly, they had lost some dear one already in the war, have done a great job for the armed forces.

I know of my own personal knowledge many a WAVE that I'd stack up against the best government civil service worker ever to sit down at a secretary's desk. And, furthermore, I'd be more than anxious to leave the job to be done to her discretion and go away knowing it would be completed and on time.

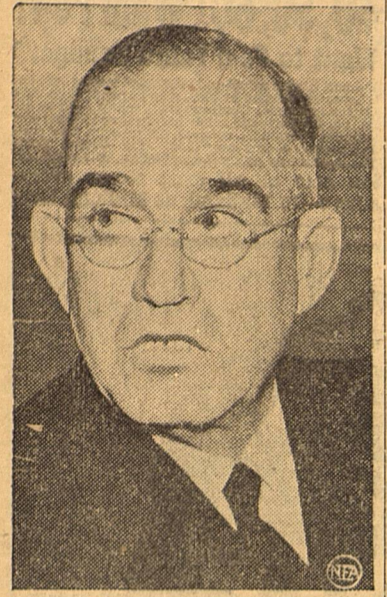

That's where the women in the armed forces stand with most people who have had any experience with them professionally. And socially they are generally tops. And you can forget about most of the things you heard about their morals—most of them have come through this war the same clean girls they were when they volunteered.

But now most of them are yearning to get out and on some job where they can wear filmy clothes and do what they want when they want to do it. And we should be all for them and lend a hand to help them back to civilian life.

Anyone who is intending to hire a secretary or some other clerical helper couldn't do much better than try to get a former member of the female branches of the service. They'll soon be coming out by the hundreds as the Army and Navy get demobilization in high speed.

Forty to 82 per cent of the office workers in small-arms plants are men.

Convalescent Vets Prove Horse Racing Is Sport Of Fighting Men World Over

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Along with a lot of others I nurtured the belief that betting was the sole interest of the great bulk of racing fans. Crowds of 60,000 surging to mutual wickets and $4,000,000 a day turnovers seemed to confirm that belief.

But a trip to Marine Hospital on Staten Island showed me that there are racegoers who are interested in something more than the price.

Enlightenment came in an auditorium, whither I had gone with Alex M. Robb, executive secretary of Thoroughbred Racing Association. Robb has a rich racing background, having managed the interests of the late Willis Sharpe Kilmer. We had gone to the hospital to entertain convalescent veterans of the Coast Guard and Merchant Marine, but wound up being vastly more entertained by them.

Robb told them about the clocker who turned up missing on the back stretch soon after the war started. Someone said he had taken a job at the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground, timing shells.

"Huh," grunted one of his former fellow-workers, "he'll hold out the best ones for himself."

Then there was the one about the veteran horseman, Green B. Morris, who scorned the use of a watch and tapped out the time with his foot. Once asked how a certain horse worked, he replied, sadly: "Dunno. Got a cramp in my foot the last three-sixteenths and a cold'n tap."

Vets Pop Questions

Our eyes were opened, however, when, following an interesting talk, Robb asked if there were any questions. There certainly were, and we were amazed at the interest and knowledge the veterans reflected in highly intelligent queries.

And not one had anything to do with betting.

The boys wanted to know why a thoroughbred was more skittish than an ordinary horse.

"The average thoroughbred is nowhere near as jumpy as an ordinary horse," Robb told them, "because practically from birth he is gentled and examined by trainers, hostlers, etc. He is, for example, used to having his hoofs picked up and looked at. The thoroughbred lives more among men than horses, gets accustomed to humans. A blacksmith would rather shoe two thoroughbreds than one dray horse."

"Why the mudder?"

"The mudder usually is a small-footed horse," was the explanation.

"Why can't a claiming horse that beats other claiming horses in faster time than a stake horse has run the distance beat the stake horse?"

"Against a claiming horse the stake horse can make his own pace," elucidated Robb. "He is capable of beating the claimer at any time he desires, so time means nothing."

Jockey Watch For Moment

"Why is it that one jockey can hold back a horse without incurring a penalty while another rider in the same race is set down for doing the same thing?"

Answer: "Every thoroughbred has one burst of speed, to be let out at a certain time. Some are front runners. Others come from behind. The jockey must hold his mount at times until the psychological moment to cut loose. The jock who holds his horse back at the wrong time is guilty of bad riding, at least."

During the discussion I learned that the length of a horse's leg from knee and hock downward is fully grown when it is foaled.

Although the Arabian was the progenitor of the thoroughbred, the latter has been refined and developed to such an extent that it completely outclasses the Arabian as a racer.

The ratio of a horse's age to that of man varies. A yearling is a tot, but a horse matures so quickly that a two-year-old is equal to a boy of 14. The horse is in the prime of life between three and six. After that the ratio recedes to about four to one.

Exterminator Won In 1918

After recounting how a despised workhorse, Exterminator, supplanted the renowned Sun Briar to win the 1918 Kentucky Derby at 30 to 1, Alex Robb revealed that the greatest of Cup horses, crowding 30 at Sun Briar Court, Binghamton, is nearing the end. He has lost 300 pounds in the last year, now weighs no more than 800. He weighed 1,500 pounds in his heyday.

Soon Exterminator, best loved of all race horses, will really be Old Bones.

The bath-robed veterans knew all about him, were sorry to hear about his failing and our visit to Marine Hospital convinced us that racing is no longer the Sport of Kings.

It's the Sport of Fighting Men the world over.

Television Expert Says Movie Stars, Not Stage Actors, Best For Broadcast

By BOB THOMAS
AP Features

HOLLYWOOD—Perhaps you, too, are confused concerning the relationship of television to motion pictures. For information on this important subject of the future, I went to the television studio of Michael Patrick Cunning.

Cunning, a leading man at the old Fox studios in the silent days, was swept out along with many others by the advent of talkies, and in succeeding years he studied almost every job in the process of making motion pictures. In 1939 he switched his interest to television and applied his cinema knowledge to the new medium.

"I think the television experimenters in the East are on the wrong track," he said at his studio, Stage Eight. "Most of them are schooled in the stage or radio, instead of motion pictures, which is the medium television comes closest to."

Present Movies Not Adaptable

Cunning first worked with the Don Lee television station, but lately he has been doing his own research. His backing? That remains a mystery.

"Is the present motion picture adaptable to television?" I asked him.

"Some people think so, but I definitely do not," he said. "The motion picture is made to be seen on a gigantic screen. Long shots and medium long shots comprise 34 per cent of the picture."

What is the answer for television entertainment then? Cunning says it will have to be provided by new methods, adaptable to the new medium.

The television play could be completely filmed, with the accent on closeups.

As an example, let us take a chapter from one of Cunning's serials, "Tom Sawyer". First we would see a Telecine of the river, scenes which Cunning took on the Sacramento. There would be a shot looking up to a tree house. Then we would switch to the live action and we would see Tom and Huck talking in the tree house.

This would be done on the spot by actors from the Cunning studio.

Switch to Miniature Set

When the scene was over, the camera would switch to a miniature set of a Mississippi town. After that, we would return to the love action and Huck and Tom would be talking at Tom's house.

"With a crew of fast-moving actors, we can put on an interesting play without a single stage wait," said Cunning. "It places a responsibility on the actor because he has to move fast and think fast and sometimes make a costume change in 30 seconds."

"This is the only method by which television programs can be interesting enough and yet commercially possible."

Now don't ask me how television itself works.

Social Situations

THE SITUATION: You enter a person's home for the first time, and note that it is not especially attractive.

WRONG WAY: Look around and say, "Nice place you have here."

RIGHT WAY: Make no comment on the surroundings, since if there is really nothing to rave over, you may be suspected of being condescending in your praise. Or the other person might prefer not to have attention called to the house.

Pretty Blue-Eyed WAC Major To Help Prosecute Axis Criminals In Paris

By JANE EADS
AP Newsfeatures Writer
WASHINGTON—Maj. Catherine E. Falvey of the Women's Army Corps has her pretty blue eyes on a pair of high-heeled, toed sandals and a hat that's a diller. She also wants to climb a mountain.

But Maj. Falvey will have to go on wearing those "sensible" brown oxfords and that khaki chapeau for some time. As to scaling an Alp, she doubts the Army will let her go galavanting about that way.

She is the first WAC officer assigned to the office of counsel for the prosecution of Axis war criminals at Paris.

Despite her hankering, Kay—as she is known to her associates—is full of zest for her new job.

She'll probably question some of the criminals, but her main assignment will be compiling evidence against them. This assignment is not entirely out of line with what she did for 16 years before she enlisted in the WAC in August, 1942.

She practiced law in Boston and from 1941 to 1942 was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. She is a member of the Massachusetts bar, Federal District Court bar and the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Against Corruption
She has always been interested in outlawing corruption from politics.

"What I have to do now is the same sort of thing in a way, only on a broader scale," she says.

"It's going to be difficult when democracy is dealing with what's left over from a dictatorship.

"But by the fact that we have a fair trial instead of indiscriminately disposing of war criminals, we are proving that the ends of justice are best administered by democratic processes."

TRAGEDY and . . .

Living skeletons are the two Allied soldiers shown preparing to leave Aomori prison camp, Yokohama, after rescue. They're typical of thousands of other war prisoners of the Japs, who endured months of starvation and torture from the enemy.

Tortilla Club Eats, Drinks, And Cements International Unity

By JACK RITLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
Unique among what some people call stomach clubs is Brownsville's Finger and Tortilla Club. Pull up a chair and sit in on a typical meeting.

The members gather in a Matamoros carina still untouched by tourists. A long bar dominates half the interior. Swinging doors are framed by cardboard cases of Mexican beer which line the wall facing the bar. Between are tables for four.

The first members to arrive each Saturday sit at a table. As others come in more chairs are pulled up. When as many as ten arrive, waiters push two tables together. By 1 o'clock, most of the available tables in the place are linked to form a long table seating as many as 25 members.

The members shake for beers. The house provides the food—free. With each round, waiters bring heaping plates of tacos, a sort of Mexican sandwich made of tortillas and whatever happens to be with the aid of tortillas—to eat, nandy. Everyone uses his fingers—hence the name of the club, a kind of knife and fork club.

So many members gather and shake for drinks that a waiter excitedly follows the cup around the table. With a piece of chalk, he scribbles a large X on the table in front of the person shooting high. He is eliminated as a possible member of the round.

The table is soon a mass of X's which the waiter wipes off when the next round begins. The waiter then chalks the bill on a beer case unless the member pays promptly.

Conversation is animated and probably unintelligible to anyone not a Texan. All members are bilingual. One will start a sentence in English and finish it in Spanish. A question may be asked in Spanish, and answered in English.

There are no speeches. There is no formality. The cantina is for men only. The club elects a president now and then just for the heck of it. Current president is H. A. Garcia, a Brownsville lawyer.

Mixture Of Members
Members include Mexicans, Latin Americans, and Americans. One operates Brownsville's largest dairy; two are county officials; one a city official; several are lawyers; still another is a well-known writer; a couple are newspapermen; others are ranchers, businessmen, oil men.

They are from both Matamoros and Brownsville, and the friendships formed at the weekly meetings have cemented relations between the two towns which already have paid off in dividends of improved understanding.

The club is the only one of its kind, but Garcia said for a nominal fee of $1, it would issue charters to any others which might like to organize.

'Honest Crooks' Return Billfolds To Victims

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—(AP)—Pickpockets with a conscience are giving Los Angeles postmen their newest—and biggest—headaches these days.

According to Acting Postmaster Michael D. Fanning, the "honest" thieves now remove the money from the victims' billfolds and drop them into mail-boxes. Mailmen have to deliver them, and as a result their owners are able to recover Social Security cards, licenses and other papers.

Money rarely finds its way back, however.

Forty persons can stand inside the head of the Statue of Liberty.

Timberwolf Division To Be Deactivated

SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIF.—(AP)—Fifteen thousand men of the fighting 104th (Timberwolf) Division will parade in review at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., Saturday on the third anniversary of the famed outfit's formation at Camp Adair, Ore.

It will be the division's last big event before it is deactivated in the near future. Redeployed from Europe in July, the Timberwolves were headed for Japan before peace brought a change in orders.

Fourth Air Force Team Claims Fastest Backs

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—There may be better, but there won't be any faster backfields than the present Fourth Air Force combination.

The Flier backs boast these times for the 100-yard dash: left half Jack Leicht, formerly of Oregon, 9.6 seconds; fullback Gene Meeks, Kentucky, 9.7; right half Forrest Hall, Duquesne, 9.8; and quarterback Tommy Gallagher, Illinois, 10.1.

In reserve, Coach John Baker has Joe Vetrano of Mississippi Southern, who has been clocked in 9.9.

Styled To Win Stamp Of Approval

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK—Twinkling with sequins, gleaming with gilt nailheads and blooming with roses, shoes for fall and winter belie the down-to-earth life they are going to lead.

Indicating a fine defiance of the weather, new fashions which make a bid for your next shoe stamp are as open at front and back as the summer's breeziest styles. Elevated soles, however, ranging in height from one-fourth of an inch to one inch, give most open-work shoes a platform on which they can take this defiant stand.

Many Platforms
The platform sole, which keeps fancy uppers at a safe distance from the dust, explains the fabulous-looking materials that make this season's shoes and the whooped-up glitter, needlework and dressmaker details which embellish them.

New evening shoes made of silk scarves, brocades, rare paisley prints and satin, and glitter-trimmed with sequin and bead embroidery, make Cinderella's fabled slipper seem to be a poor thing indeed. Example of design that beats the fairy tale is shown, upper left, in a platform sling made from a silk scarf and embroidered with jewels which pick up the fabric's multicolor print.

Only a shade less dressy is the brown or black suede "bracelet" platform shoe, shown upper right. Designed to keep step with fancy afternoon dresses or cocktail suits, an all-over glitter motif is traced with cut-steel beads.

Nice Nailheads
As an example of the gleam which glamorizes street shoes and of the fine detail which elevates footwear into dressmaker realms, note the sling pump of black suede, sketched center. A quarter-inch platform sole is bradded with gilt nailheads, and the vamp is a dressmaker's dream of handmade tucks.

The walker's wedge, shown in black suede, lower left, takes a broad instep band and turns into a "sabat".

The pagan sandal, shown lower right in red satin, designed for wear at home with fancy lounging ensembles, sprouts a rose—one that you clutch between bare toes—and glorifies feet without costing a stamp.
