Ducks Unlimited trap shoot Sunday

The Ducks Unlimited Chapter of Haskell and Knox counties will have a "Walk-up Trap" fun shoot Sunday, beginning at 3 p.m. It will be at the Wallace Wooten place north of Haskell.

To reach the site, go on US 277 a mile and a half north of the courthouse and look for a sign on the east side of the road.

Cost will be $40 per entry and each entrant will shoot 25 clay targets. (A Ducks Unlimited membership for one year is included in the entry cost.)

The organization will give away a Beretta A-303 or Remington 1100 shotgun at a drawing. Each contestant will receive one raffle ticket for shooting and will receive more tickets depending on how many clay targets he breaks.

Those short on shooting skills but long on greenbacks may increase the number of tickets they receive by using the "cheater's clause," which allows them to receive one ticket for each $10 donation to DU.

Other prizes will include "Early Snows" by Al Barnes, 1986 DU artist of the year; a 50th anniversary buck knife with case; and a wood carving by Tom Taber.

A drawing to determine the winners will be held at the end of the shoot. Winners do not have to be present.

Indians scrimmage Bronte here Friday

With the 1987 season opener only a week away, the Haskell Indians hope to fine-tune their offense and defense in a scrimmage against the Bronte Longhorns here Friday night. It begins at 7 o'clock.

Coaches were well satisfied, for the most part, with the Indians' efforts in the scrimmage against Aspermont last Friday.

"We did kind of like we wanted to do," said new head coach Nelson Coulter. "But we saw some things we needed to work on."

He said he wanted to work some kinks out of the passing game, which he said got better as the scrimmage progressed.

The coach said he was well pleased with the work of the defense. "The boys really hustled after the ball and did real well," he said. "There was real good contact."

Coulter said the quarterback position this season will likely be filled by either Patrick Perez or Chan Guess. Each saw limited action at that post last season. Right now, the coach said, they appear about equal. He indicated that both may see plenty of action this season.

Mark Young, who was quarterback last year, will probably be shifted to halfback where his talents may be better utilized.

County to decide on taxes

County commissioners will meet in the Commissioners Courtroom at 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 31, to vote on the proposed tax rate increase.

The meeting was originally scheduled to be held this past Monday, but an advertisement to that effect published last week in The Free Press failed to meet legal requirements.

The county has proposed raising taxes from 31.32 cents per $100 valuation to 45.5 cents. This represents a tax increase of 29 percent over the effective tax rate of 35.27 (the rate required to raise the same amount of money from taxes as was raised last year).

Clinic opening

Nearly 300 people showed up Sunday afternoon for open house at the new Hospital Clinic.

Hamburgers and baseball Young Japanese visitor enjoys his stay here

By Wendell Faught

He likes Mexican food, hamburgers and pizza.

He also likes the Alamo, Six Flags over Texas, Wet 'n Wild and baseball games.

He is Kenjiro Ueda, 17-year-old Japanese student who has made his home with Bob and Fran Cass for the past six weeks.

He will be leaving Friday to return to his home in Taishi, Japan, where he will be a high school senior Sept. 1.

Ueda came here under a Lions Club exchange program. He had to take a test and otherwise qualify for the trip to America. Although he is president of LEO (teenage Lions Club) in his hometown, that was not a requirement for his selection.

The Casses have made his stay a busy one by taking him to San Antonio, Fort Worth, Granbury and other points in Texas. He got to see a Texas Rangers' baseball game.

In school, Ueda has taken six years of English. Other courses include Japanese history, old and modern Japanese language and math. After he completes high school next March he will go to college where he will take business courses and then, hopefully, go into banking.

In Taishi, a city of about 30,000, schools are quite a bit different from those in America, Ueda explains. He goes to school six days a week, and year-round except for two breaks of two weeks each and a summer break of 45 days. Even while on the 45-day break, students are required to study for examinations.

Perhaps the most fascinating thing Ueda has found in America is the price of merchandise. He bought several pairs of bluejeans for less than $20 each, explaining they would be $50 or more in Japan.

A cassette tapeplayer cost him $24 here, less than half what it would have cost him at home. He also loaded up on cassette tapes at a fraction of what they would cost in Japan. "Even those items made in Japan cost a lot less here than at home," he said.

Ueda said he has enjoyed American food. Mexican food, hamburgers, pizza and any kind of beef rank high on his list of favorites. Beef is a scarce item in Japan where the most common meat is fish.

"I've liked everything I've tried except refried beans, hominy and oatmeal," said the young Japanese.

He said he has learned a lot during his visit here, and the Casses said they have learned a lot from him.

It all ends Friday morning when his hosts take him to the airport in Lubbock where he will begin his journey home.

Kenjiro Ueda

Outreach operation to begin

The local outreach service of the Noah Project will be in operation officially in Haskell Sept. 1.

Its objective is to provide safety for men, women and children, including the elderly, who are victims of family violence.

A 24-hour telephone hotline (817-864-3972) has been established and will be in operation Sept. 1.

The local project is an outreach program under the umbrella of Noah Project Inc., which has a shelter in Abilene. It will serve the counties of Haskell, Knox, Stonewall and Throckmorton.

Betsy Nanny is outreach coordinator. The advisory committee, which will meet at noon Friday at Glenn's Barbeque Express, is headed by Katy Hopper, chairman; Dusty Garrison, vice chairman; and Laura Tidwell, secretary.

Formation of the local program began about three months ago and was funded by the Department of Human Services. It is not known now if the DHS will be able to fund the operation of the service.

Volunteers will answer the phone calls on a 24-hour basis. All have been trained over the past few weeks. Although it is not yet officially in operation, Mrs. Nanny said she already has received a number of calls.

She pointed out that many people are in need of help in dealing with family violence. Some do not have extended family members to call, and others do not have relatives willing to help, she said.

Booster deadline

Next Tuesday (Sept. 1) is the deadline for Haskell Indian Booster Club members to get their names listed in the football program. Dues are $5 per person, $10 per couple or business. Money should be sent to Mary Rike, 307 N. Ave. B.

670 students predicted

School begins Tuesday

"Next year" arrives Tuesday morning for some 670 Haskell students when school bells signal the end of the summer and the start of a new school year.

Dr. James Kemp, superintendent, said he expected about 405 students in the elementary classes (grades K-6) and 265 in the secondary school (grades 7-12), which would approximate last year's enrollment.

Elementary students will register Friday between 9:30 a.m. and noon. Students who were attending school here at the close of last year will register in their rooms. Those who were not attending school here at the end of last year will register in the library. New students should bring their report cards and shot records.

Pre-registration for secondary students was conducted last week. Registration for classes will be Friday in the library, seniors from 9 to 10, juniors from 10 to 11, sophomores from 11 to 12, freshmen from 1 to 2, eighth graders from 2 to 3 and seventh graders from 3 to 4.

Tutorials this year will be from 7:35 to 8 a.m., but the superintendent said it would probably be a few weeks before tutorials begin.

In the chief faculty change for the new year, Gerald McCoy will be principal of the secondary school. The veteran Haskell science teacher was elevated to the post during the summer when Clayton Neal resigned to accept a similar position at Wheeler. Assistant principals will be Greg Melton and Jimmy Lisle.

Eight new teachers have joined the Haskell faculty. In the secondary school, Walter Hargrove will be a coach and teach English; Randy Stone will coach and teach PE, English and reading; Minette Marr will teach science; Nelson Coulter will coach and teach math; and Billy McKeever will be guidance counselor.

At the elementary school, Janie Coulter, Pamela Thigpen and Jo Nell Trammell are new faculty members.

Deanna Jordan will be an aide and Susan Blanks will be a nurse.

A number of physical improvements were made in school facilities during the summer. These include:

- Cleaning and renovation of the exteriors of all main buildings.
- Grading of the grounds and rebuilding of playground equipment at the elementary school.
- Remodeling the interior of the elementary building.

New doors on the secondary building.

- Re-roofing of the Home Economics Cottage.
- Remodeling of dressing rooms in the gymnasium.
- Re-wiring of the typing lab.
- New steps at the secondary building.

Distinguished Service Award

Haskell County extension agent Max Stapleton, center, receives the Distinguished Service award from the Texas County Agricultural Agent Association. Making the presentation at the TCAA meeting in Lubbock was Roger Corbin, Ellis County extension agent and president of the association. At left is Stapleton's wife, Christie.

County youngsters score big in Anson

Haskell County youngsters won a big share of the honors last weekend at the Jones County Fair in Anson.

Kirk High exhibited the grand champion ewe and the reserve champion ram in the breeding sheep division and Dalyn Gilly had the grand champion market lamb. Mindy Ballard showed the reserve champion market steer.

High also had two first places in the breeding sheep division and two firsts, a second and a third in the market lamb category. Kim Gilly also took a first place in market lambs.

Shana McKenzie took a second in the breeding sheep division. Dalyn Gilly took three second places in the market lamb category and Jennifer Comedy had two second places in this division.

Dalyn Gilly took a third in the breeding sheep classification, while Jennifer Comedy, Michelle Green and Stephanie Green had third places in market lambs.

Haskell County youngsters won first places in five of the six classes in market steers. First-place winners were Brad Bevel, Joseph Pace (2) and Mindy Ballard (2).

Causes of cattle deaths still unknown

Investigators are at a loss for the cause of the deaths of 14 cattle on the Walton Ranch. The dead cattle were discovered Monday morning.

One dead animal and one live animal have been sent to a laboratory in Amarillo in an effort to determine the cause of the deaths.

Debra Teague weds Chris Medford

Debra Jean Teague and Danny Chris Medford were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 14, in a double ring ceremony in the home of the groom's parents, Danny and Vicki Medford. Parents of the bride are Jan Heaton of Haskell and Bob Heaton of Nocona.

The sunset garden ceremony took place before an archway decorated with greenery, pink bows and white doves. On each side of the archway was white stairstep lattice work for background. It was decorated with bouquets of pink roses, gladiolas, carnations and pink bows. Atop the lattice work were pink and white candles with hurricane lantern globes. At each end there were ferns and at the bottom there were baskets of white periwinkles. There were four white ceramic swans filled with English ivy to grace the bride's walkway.

The Rev. J. C. Amburn performed the wedding ceremony. Organist was Nelle Amburn who played traditional wedding songs. Soloist was Debra Merchant of Haskell, aunt of the groom. She sang "There Is Love" and "Wind Beneath My Wings."

The bride was escorted by her brother, Mike Teague of Marble Falls.

The bride wore a long gown of challis. It featured a high neckline, adorned with lace. The empire waistline was accented with lace, and the long sleeves were cuffed with lace. The gown fell into a long train in the back. Her veil was held in place by a pearl crown, and was chiffon, edged with lace which also fell to a train in the back. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink rosebuds and white satin ribbons and lace. It was especially made for the bride by the groom's aunt, Shirley Strickland of Hawley.

For something old, the bride carried a handkerchief which belonged to her late great-grandmother. For something borrowed, she carried a white Bible belonging to her prospective mother-in-law. Something new were her shoes and something blue was the traditional blue garter. The bride and groom wore pennies in their shoes that were dated the year they were born.

Derinda Simmons of Gilliland, cousin of the groom, registered guests.

Serving as usher was Garland Medford, brother of the groom. Flower girl was Delinda Strickland of Haskell and ring bearer was Jeremy Brock of Gilliland, cousins of the groom.

Matron of honor was Cheryl McKintosh of Haskell, cousin of the groom. Her dress was of pink taffeta topped with pink lace. It was accented with a sweetheart neckline, puff sleeves, a dropped waistline in the back and accented with a pink satin bow. She carried a bouquet of pink and mauve rose buds, accented with pink and mauve satin ribbons and lace.

Best man was Kendell Medford of Haskell, brother of the groom.

A reception was held in the back yard following the wedding. The table had a four-tiered cake separated by crystal columns. It was decorated with tiny rose buds and bells and was topped with white doves. The cake was a creation of Sue Brown, aunt of the groom. The table was covered with a pink cloth and a lace overlay with appointments of silver and crystal. Serving guests were Stacy Merchant of Haskell and Kelly Strickland of Hawley, cousins of the groom.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Haskell High School and is employed by Perry's in Haskell.

The groom is a 1986 graduate of Haskell High School and is employed by Anderson Tire Co.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Haskell.

Williams, Clonts united

Kim Elaine Williams and Samuel Gregory Clonts were married Saturday at the First Baptist Church of Anson. The Rev. Jerry Paulding officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ken Williams of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Watson of Knox City. She is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Lucille McCurley of Haskell.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clonts of Austin.

The bride attended Anson High School and Hardin-Simmons University and graduated from from McMurry College with a bachelor's degree in education. She is owner/operator/pilot of "Excursions by Kim."

The bridegroom graduated from Knox City High School, attended Texas Tech University and graduated from Southwestern Graduate School of Banking at Southern Methodist University. He is president of Citizen's State Bank in Knox city.

The couple will live in Anson.

BIRTHS

Robert Ace and Brenda Turner are proud to announce the arrival of their son, Samuel Lee. He was born at Hendrix Medical Center in Abilene at 8:25 p.m. Aug. 17. He weighed 9 pounds, 10 ounces and was 22 inches long.

Proud grandparents are Marvin and Berlene Stegemoeller of Rochester and Sam and Joyce Turner of Rule.

Great-grandparents are Mary Adkins of Rochester, Belle Turner of Rule and Clarence Stegemoeller of Sagerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Don Smith of Rule announce the birth of a daughter, Keli Laura Smith, born August 22, 1987 at Haskell Memorial Hospital weighing 8 lbs. 1/2 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Lee Bingham of Aspermont announce the birth of a son, Jason Lee Bingham, born August 22, 1987 at Haskell Memorial Hospital weighing 7 lbs. 12 oz.

Around town

Mr. and Mrs. Rody Sorenson visited Bay Landing near Bridgeport last weekend where he enjoyed a birthday party with his children. Present were Doris and J. L. Carpenter and children of Wichita Falls, and Bill and Frankie Sorenson, their son and his wife of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby D. Lowack

Thomas reunion Aug. 15-16

The children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas Sr. met for their 21st annual family reunion Aug. 15-16 at the Corral Building in Haskell.

All enjoyed a Saturday afternoon and night of fun and time of meeting new members of the family and sharing past years of memories.

On Sunday, the group gathered for fellowship and the noon meal. The afternoon was spent taking pictures, looking at photo albums and wedding and anniversary albums.

Family members attended from Dallas, Plano, Cotton Center, Lubbock, Arlington, Morton, Forney, DeSoto and Sundown.

A family friend, Mike Konicki of Euless, also attended.

Haskell Nursing Center

By Jo Fischer

East Side Baptist Sunshine ladies had a luncheon for our residents. Special music was presented by John Pike. He also led the congregation in song, accompanied by his daughter Allison.

Bro. Chenault, L. C. Johnson, Rev. and Susie Jackson and Birdie Mae Lewis of Greater Independent Baptist Church brought special music and the message.

We appreciate all those involved in preparing the luncheon.

Some of the volunteers for this week were Allison Pike, Eleanor Blohm, Vivian Shaw, Randy McLelland, Rev. Hodges and his wife.

We welcome Irman "Dad" Whitaker and his family to our home.

Mrs. Elvie Lefevre is in Hendrick Medical Center and we wish her a speedy recovery.

Visiting with us this week were Daniely Yarbrough of Carrolton with Irene Yarbrough, Mary Zelisko with Eddie Smith, Rev. Mel Swoyer with Robert Monse.

Brent and Jerita Taylor with Bessie Davidson, Chris and Lucille Adams with Connie Cook, Grady Newsome with Loyd Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitney, Shanna and Becca of Burkburnett and Mr. and Mrs. J. Camp of Colorado City with Wilomet and Ray Oliphant.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Monse, Mr. and Mrs. Mrazek of Aspermont with Robert Monse, Abigail Salinas and children and Kathleen Felker with Albert Hannsz, James Ford of New Haven, Mich., with Kathryn Mitchell and Harriet Sims. Dorothy and Clarence visited with Linnie Hickman.

Opshal, Brister married

Debbie Opsahl and Greg Brister were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Aug. 14 in a double ceremony at the couple's home.

Minister Virgil Smith performed the ceremony before a few family members.

Amy and Angela Aycock, nieces of the bride, and Kasha Brister, sister of the groom, served as attendants.

A reception was held in the couple's home following the ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aycock and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brister, all of Haskell.

The bride is an employee of Martha's Beauty Center and the groom is an employee of West Texas Utilities Co.

Ceremony unites Old Glory couple

Kimberly Lee Pierce and Bobby D. Lowack, both of Old Glory, were married Friday evening, Aug. 14, in the Faith Lutheran Church in Sagerton with the Rev. Mel Swoyer officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Glen W. Pierce of Old Glory.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alden Lowack of Old Glory.

Jami Pierce of Rule was her sister's matron of honor. Best man was Ronnie Wenderborn of Old Glory.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

A reception following the wedding was held in the church fellowship hall.

The bride is a graduate of Old Glory High School and is employed with Aspermont Small Business Development Center.

The groom is a graduate of Old Glory High School and is engaged in farming.

The couple lives in Old Glory.

Hobby Club

The Rochester Hobby Club had two meetings in August.

At the Aug. 4 meeting, Mae Speck was hostess, serving a delicious meal to 14 members and 12 guests.

Then on Aug. 18, Emily Wilson was hostess to 14 members and two guests.

Lois Dean Yeary, Elda Jean and Owen Aikin have August birthdays. On birthdays, members feed pennies, one for each year, to the club pig.

Annie Marshall's pretty "Snow Ball" pattern of the "Bow-Tie" is in the frame along with the club's "Bow-Tie", one set together by Oleta Fitzgerald.

The club is planning a bazaar in early November.

Shelly Speck is to be hostess for the Sept. 1 meeting. Visitors and new members are welcome.

We have bookends in new colors of rose, red, white, pale green or blue. Mix or match them for an exciting way to straighten those books. Haskell Free Press.

Rice Springs Care Home

By Judy Wolsch Activity Director

Rice Springs is happy to report their August inspection went well. This was made possible by all RSCH staff pulling together. Our superior rating still hangs on the front wall.

Our prayers and love go to the Mattie Hines family. We have several residents who remain in the hospital. John Kuentler and Carrie Covey are in the Haskell hospital and Orene Walker remains in the Abilene hospital.

Tillie Wendeborn, better known as "Grandmaw" to RSCH, is back home and doing well after breaking a hip.

Residents held a new activity Friday, cooking class. We had five of the ladies make Rice Krispies cookies for all other residents. Included in the class were Rosa Weaver, Lora Goewens, Laura Parker, Virgie Bledsoe and Frieda Carter. Thanks to you ladies for the treats from the other residents.

Visitors during last week were Bro. and Mrs. W. J. Patton with all residents and staff; Aleatha Mayfield from Fort Stockton; David and Carolyn Jones visited with Jesse Jones; Clark and Mary Terrell from San Antonio, Glenda Bryan from Santonio and R. R. and Frances Clark from Sagerton all visited Izzetta Clark.

Frank and Virginia Stroud from Throckmorton visited J. C. Hargrove; J. D., Joseph and Sophia Wendeborn visited John and Tillie Wendeborn; Harold and Juanita Smith from Henrietta visited Mrs. Clark and Wendy Carlton from Stamford Lake visited John and Tillie Wendeborn.

We would like to thank Joe Clark for the many cantaloupes he brought, Gene Blair and Tony Williams for the watermelon they brought. All your donations are appreciated by the residents. They don't get fresh grown vegetables unless someone like you folks bring them in. Thanks again.

Correction...

The first name of Marquis Lafayette Ratliff, whose descendants held a reunion Aug. 8-10 in Abilene, was misspelled as "Marcus" in last week's issue of The Free Press.

Marquis Lafayette Ratliff, who was born in 1949 in Hickman County, Tenn., died in 1937 at the age of 88. He is buried in Highland Cemetery in Stamford.

Cisneros stands firm on decision

AUSTIN—In a week marked by backlashes to the Legislature's recent work and political jockeying for elections three years away, those at the Capitol observed:

- Standard and Poor's Corp. drop the bond rating on some Texas government bonds a notch, from AA+ to AA-, blaming the recent Legislature for not providing a safer economic cushion;
- Gov. Bill Clements predict "one of the biggest scandals in Texas history" is brewing in some corners of the Texas Savings and Loan industry;
- A recent Texas Poll claim that Clements' own popularity, as well as the Legislature's, has slipped since the special session; and
- San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros drop out of the 1990 gubernatorial race, setting off more jockeying for position among Texas Democrats.

Mattox, Mauro, Richards

Cisneros called it off because of the fragile health of his infant son, even though he was leading elected state officials in popularity polls. Supporters tried to leave the door open, but he appeared the next day to say his statement was explicit.

agencies which make money for Texas. Both are hard-driving.

Mattox, Bishops Agree

Meanwhile, Mattox's probe into the illegal football payments at SMU moved ahead when a bishops' panel agreed to let his office look at its files under semi-protection of confidentiality.

Under the agreement, Mattox will keep the information confidential unless it is used in litigation. His office also sued to stop two San Antonio men from real estate schemes which violate the Texas homestead law, and to close a Stafford company from marketing aloe vera products not approved by the feds.

Wallace Steps Down

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace will resign his post to join a private law firm, giving Clements the chance to appoint the first Republican ever to that panel.

Houston State Rep. Clint Hackney, a commission candidate who had concentrated on beating incumbent Jim Nugent, switched his efforts to focus on the vacated seat.

Call For Energy Plan

Whoever it is, Clements' new appointee will likely be an advocate of a national energy policy.

Clements last week urged President Reagan to appoint a commission to develop a plan to benefit the U. S. economy.

"To my knowledge, there has never been a United States national energy policy," he said.

Clements also named a former Harris County official, Marta Greytok, to the Public Utilities Commission.

Other Highlights

- Houston State District Judge Jon Hughes announced his cross-over to the Republican Party, blaming Democrats for "undue persuasion" of court judges, a charge local Democrats denied.
- Former chairman of the State Board of Insurance Lyndon Olson Jr., whose term expired last week, will return home as president of an insurance holding company, National Group Corp. of Waco.
- University of Texas officials learned last week that a Denver high school teacher, Edna H. Rhambo, was the first black student to receive a UT degree, about five months ahead of the man believed to have been first, John Hargis.

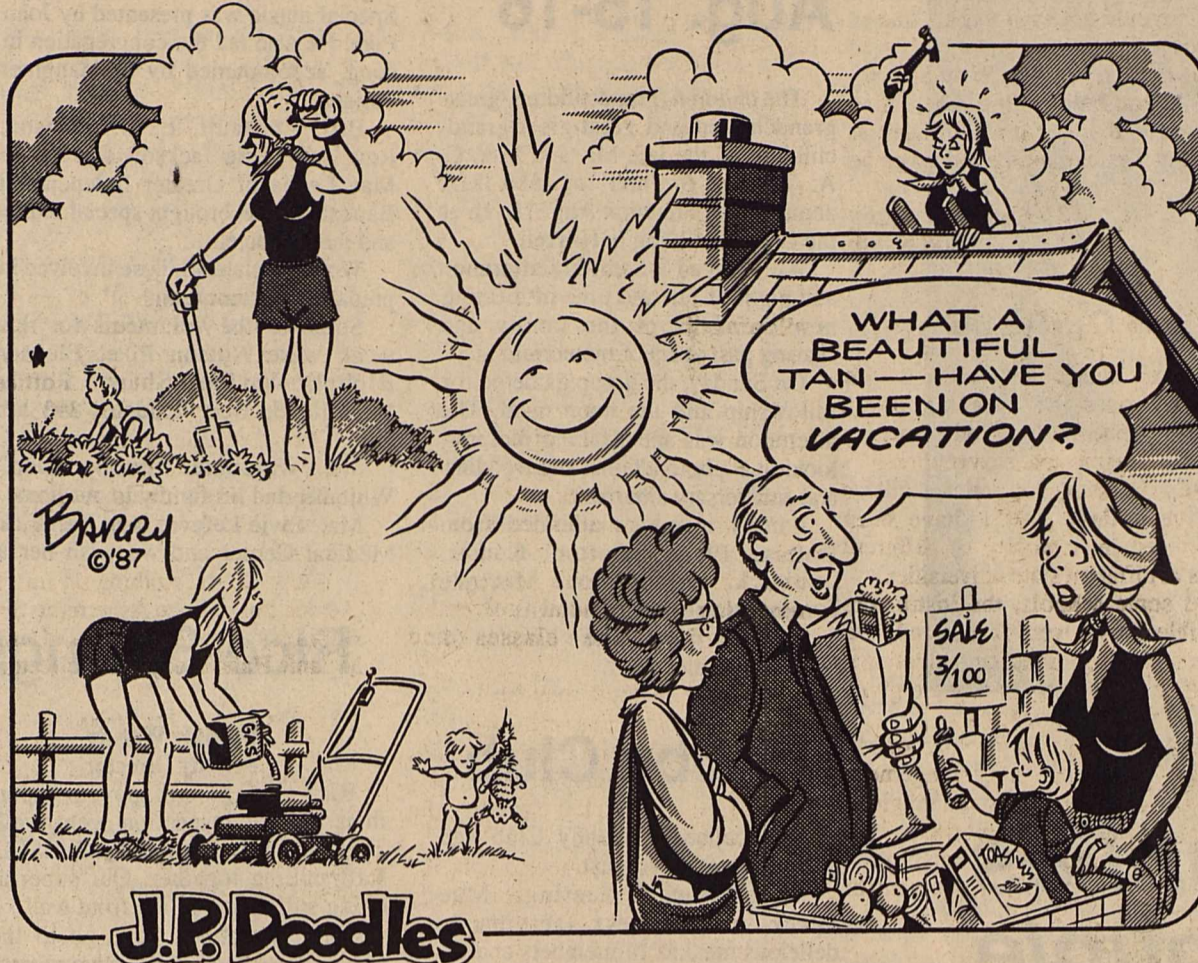

Rule turkey shoot to begin Friday

Shooting begins at 3 p.m. Friday in the annual Rule Lions Club Turkey Shoot. It will continue until dark and then resume at 10 a.m. Saturday and continue until dark.

Cash prizes will be awarded. The shoot is for shotgun only. Some ammunition and guns will be provided.

For additional information, contact Roy Wilson at 997-2730 in Rule.

His departure from the field elevates the status of Attorney General Jim Mattox, who is running hard unannounced, as well as Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and Treasurer Ann Richards, who are still deciding.

Mauro and Richards are being sought as "asset management" candidates by concerned Democrats who believe Mattox couldn't beat a Republican opponent.

Mattox's '86 GOP opponent, Roy Barrera Jr., predicted that Mattox has it wrapped up now, pointing out he will pile up enough commitments early to scare those Democrats who don't commit.

Obviously, many Democrats feel the opposite, as evidenced by the scurrying around by party rank-and-file. Many of them are concerned about Mattox's slim victory over Barrera, and the public's memory of his commercial bribery indictment trial, where he was found innocent.

At one point, Mauro spoke out to advise that Texas' elected officials should concentrate more on doing their jobs than on running for higher office the next three years.

But the speculation grows, and while other names may surface in the future, the talk today is of Mauro and Richards. Both run

Watching Washington

As if there weren't enough reasons against dumping the nation's nuclear waste in the Texas Panhandle, an accident at a construction site in West Germany has raised more questions.

Much of my opposition to locating the nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County centers on the area's agricultural importance and the presence of the Ogallala and Santa Rosa aquifers.

Despite these objections, the Department of Energy (DOE) continues to consider this site a top contender for the dump—apparently without regard for what its selection would mean to Texas and other states that depend on these aquifers for water.

Now we learn about an accident at a repository construction site near Gorleben, West Germany, earlier this year. It revealed an extra hazard in the plans to drill through the aquifer in Deaf Smith County.

We don't have a lot of details, but the ones we have cause me great concern.

We know that one worker died. We know the construction workers were using a ground-freezing technique to drill a shaft—using the same technique DOE plans to use in Texas.

And we know that as a result of this accident, West Germany is reassessing its program.

But we didn't learn any of this from DOE.

In fact, six weeks after the accident, Energy Department witnesses were telling Senate Energy Committee members that this ground-freezing technology was "proven," that it is more than 100 years old and that it is very safe. They even cited its "successful" use at the West German repository.

It is outrageous they didn't tell us about it. That requires some explanation, and I have some serious questions for Energy Secretary John Herrington.

I have asked him what kind of information was kept from us. What are the West Germans doing about the technique? Are they going to proceed with it? Have they found ways to correct the problem? I also asked him to keep Texas officials fully informed on the developments.

As I told Secretary Herrington, "I can think of few matters in our government today that require any more cooperation, openness and candor than the civilian radioactive waste program."

"As nearly everyone associated with the program admits, the problem of how and where to dispose of high level nuclear waste is particularly complex. But the analysis of the problem is not advanced when full and frank disclosure of glitches in the program or its related technology are not made known immediately to all of the concerned parties."

The people who drink this water and depend on agricultural products from this region deserve to have the answers to these questions.

If you're a smoker and want to quit, circle Nov. 19 on your calendar. That's the date of the 11th annual Great American Smokeout.

The sponsoring American Cancer Society says that last year on Smokeout Day, 23.7 million American smokers quit or cut down, 7 million quit for the full 24 hours and 3.9 million were still off cigarettes one-to-four days later.

A story in The Free Press last week concerning Bill Harris of Round Top, who was searching for information concerning his grandparents, brought a response from Donald Bowers in the form of an old newspaper clipping. Harris' grandfather, A. W. McGregor lived in Haskell from 1905 to 1912.

The newspaper clipping Bowers brought to the Free Press was one containing the obituary of Adolphus Tonn, but it was not dated. Apparently taken from the Abilene newspaper, the clipping listed one of Tonn's survivors as being a daughter, Mrs. Carl McGregor of Abilene.

She may or may not have been a member of the McGregor family of which the Round Top man was interested, but the story was nevertheless interesting from a local historical view.

Adolphus Tonn was 80 when he died in a Fort Worth hospital. He was the "ton" in the name of the Haskell County community of Sagerton. The town was named for W. M. Sager and Tonn, with the final "n" being dropped from the spelling.

Born in Bremen, Germany, Tonn came to America when he was 14, settling at Caldwell. The family moved to Haskell County in 1902, settling at the site where Sagerton now stands.

In the early days, he built the first Lutheran church at Sagerton. He also built and operated the first blacksmith shop there. Later, he operated a general mercantile store in Sagerton before moving to Truscott.

At Truscott, he established and operated the Truscott Telephone Co., and also operated the Truscott Sun, a weekly newspaper.

The family moved to Haskell in 1914 where he bought a blacksmith shop from John A. Lamkin and operated it until he retired in 1943.

After his retirement, he lived with his oldest daughter, Mr. J. Ned Hendrix, first in Houston and then in Fort Worth.

His funeral was held at the First Methodist Church in Haskell with three ministers officiating, the Revs. C. Jones, a longtime friend of the family and pastor of the Fundamental Baptist Church in Haskell; T. C. Craft, pastor of the First Methodist Church; and a Mr. Gaskamp of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Haskell.

Pallbearers were Gene Frierson, J. M. Diggs, Wallace H. Cox, Dave Persons, Jesse Jones, Clay Smith, Charlie Quattlebaum and Walter Folt.

I'm not sure how I like it, but I surely like the name—"administrative stoppage."

It's when an official stops the clock in a pro football game, meaning the offensive team has 25 seconds to start a play after time is resumed.

Along with another change, whereby the offensive team has 40 seconds to snap the ball after the end of the previous play, it's an experiment being used in the pre-season to see if it will speed up football games.

Bronte, the school Haskell will scrimmage here Friday, is where Coach Nelson Coulter went to high school.

Oddy, the new Haskell coach had nothing to do with scheduling the scrimmage. The schedule was made last year when the two schools agreed to home-and-home dates.

It's funny how a few million inflated dollars will improve one's vision.

Brian Bosworth, the Oklahoma loud mouth, said he didn't like Seattle and there was no way he would play football there.

But when the Seahawks dangled an $11 million contract in front of him, he decided Seattle was a pretty nice place after all.

Rough treatment

Editor:
I'm 67 years old, never been arrested, never been in jail, and have never had a threat of police action until a recent public meeting of our City Council.

I was denied my privilege of free speech and threatened to be removed from the council.

As a veteran of World War II, having fought in Europe with Gen. Patton's third army, I fought to preserve this freedom of speech. I hold it dear to me. In the last meeting of the City Council I requested but was not given an apology. He says he too believes in freedom of speech. (Just depends on who is speaking.)

If this tax increase is passed as proposed by the City Council it will make for severe hardship on the people of this city who are on a fixed income. Members of the council who are in favor of a tax increase, ask yourself this question: "Do I want to be guilty of taking the food off their table, the heat from their homes in the dead of winter and denying them the medications they need to sustain life?" I would not have this sin laid at my door.

There is a slogan "live and let live." If you believe this, then come with me to the next council meeting Sept 1 at 7 p.m. and let your voice be heard.

Bible classes

Editor: There has been confusion recently over the meaning of an attorney general's opinion regarding Bible classes at state universities.

Bible classes, for which students receive college credit, have been structured in a variety of different ways at different state universities.

At some schools, the instructors of Bible classes were chosen and paid by various religious organizations. However, the instructors were given official university status.

A 1985 opinion by my office stated that such an arrangement between a state school and a religious organization was a violation of the U.S. constitution. The constitution prohibits the active involvement of the government in religious activity, and vice versa.

The opinion did not prohibit state universities from offering Bible classes if the universities had complete control and responsibility for the classes. Nor did it prohibit universities from giving transfer credit for Bible classes offered by religious organizations.

Because of additional questions about the matter, my office issued a second opinion in May 1987, answering the questions.

The opinion stated that allowing a religious organization to nominate or pay the salary of a university faculty member gives the religious organization the opportunity to control the faculty member. A religious organization cannot participate in running state affairs. To allow that also would require allowing the reverse—allowing the state to select or pay ministers or pastors of churches.

There are a variety of ways that a state university may offer college credit for Bible classes without violating the constitution.

The simplest method may be for the arrangement to continue as in the past, but with one exception, removing the official university status given the classes and instructors.

Another method may be for the universities to assume complete responsibility for the Bible classes as they do for any other class on campus by selecting and paying the instructors themselves.

My office has offered to help the universities restructure the Bible classes so as not to violate the constitution.

As I stated in the opinion, it may be argued that one's education is not complete without a study of the history of religion and the Bible and their effect on civilization.

I have found my own studies of the Bible during my college days to be beneficial, and I encourage the universities to make the changes necessary so that students will continue to have the opportunity to study the Bible.

Clothing needed for children by local outlet

The Clothes Pantry in Haskell is in need of children's clothing of all sizes.

With demand high at the approach of the school year, citizens are urged to donate clothing. It may be left at the Double Mountain coach office at 307 S. 1st St. (phone 864-3933).

The same agency operates a food pantry for emergency food to qualifying individuals meeting the income guidelines and being in a crisis situation.

The food and clothing services are provided through the Aspermont Small Business Development Center. Melanie Hahn is executive director.

Paint Creek school has six new teachers

Six new teachers have been employed by the Paint Creek school for the coming school year.

Supt. Jerry Morgan said he felt fortunate that the six vacancies on the 14-teacher faculty have been filled with very capable personnel.

New teachers include: Elaine Densman, who will teach second and third grade. A graduate of Baylor University, she has 10 years teaching experience. She taught last year in Rule. She is the wife of the pastor of the First Baptist Church in Haskell.

Norman Jeane Frazier, who will be girls' athletic coach and will teach language arts. She is a 1987 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University.

Pamela Colbert McDonald will teach fourth grade. She has been teaching in Wichita Falls and is a graduate of Midwestern State University.

Jim Bob Mickler who taught and coached in Haskell for five years will be vocational agriculture teacher and will be boys' varsity coach. He is a graduate of Texas A&M University.

Monique Morgan will teach elementary science and junior high history. A graduate of Abilene Christian University, she taught last year in Stamford. She is the wife of the superintendent.

John Alan Steele will teach English and PE. He also will be junior high coach and will assist as a high school coach. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University.

Clinic opening well attended

An estimated 250 to 300 people turned out Sunday afternoon for open house at the new Hospital Clinic.

The clinic is located at 1400 S. 1st St., just south of the hospital.

Long-time Haskell physician Dr. Joe Thigpen and Haskell newcomer Dr. Bill McSmith are headquartered at the new clinic.

Other personnel include Mary Nell McCoy and Grace McKelvin, nurses; Selina McGuire, bookkeeper; and Beverly Decker, receptionist.

The clinic is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. until noon Saturday.

composed and recorded the original song which is illustrated by the video, will be interviewed during the one-hour program which is scheduled to air at 1 p.m., 6 p.m. and 10:30 p.m., Eastern time.

Arts and crafts sale to be feature of fair

A Country Arts and Crafts Sale is being planned in conjunction with the annual Haskell County Fair.

The sale will be Sept. 26, from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. Consigners are asked to set up between 7:30 and 9 a.m. that day.

Location will be in the fair building which has been used in the past to display youth exhibits. There are two large evaporative coolers in the building and several electrical outlets for those desiring to bring fans.

Booths will measure approximately 6 feet by 12 feet and space will cost $20 each. One five-foot table and two chairs will be furnished. It is hoped that some peg boards will be available, as well as some five-foot display tables which are framed on all four sides. (Availability of these items will not be known until late Friday afternoon when all County Fair exhibits are in place.)

To reserve a booth, send name, mailing address and phone number, along with $20, to Laela Martin, 1401 N. Ave. K, Haskell. Checks should be made payable to the Haskell County Fair Association. Money will not be refundable after Sept. 15.

Approximately 18 booths will be available on a "first-come-first-serve" basis. The Haskell County Fair Association will not be responsible for items damaged, lost or stolen.

More details are available from Lou Gilly or Joetta Burnett at the County Extension office, 817-864-2546.

The sale will be advertised in the fair catalog, newspapers, radio and posters put up in businesses.

AT&T ANNOUNCES UPCOMING PRICE CHANGES FOR SOME TEXAS INTRASTATE SERVICES

AT&T announces the following price changes for some of its Texas intrastate services. These changes, which more closely reflect the actual costs incurred by AT&T in providing these services, will become effective on October 1, 1987.

- SDN (Software Defined Network) Schedule B prices will be reduced an overall 7.1%. Schedule C prices will be reduced 4.4% for the initial 30-second rate period of each call.

- WATS 80 service prices for both the initial period 80-hour usage and additional period usage will increase 5%.

- The monthly prices for AT&T's Private Line Service will increase up to $25 per channel termination for Analog services and 10% for Digital Data Services.

- A $25 monthly surcharge will also apply to any private lines which may be used to access the local exchange network, unless certified as exempt by the customer. The $25 surcharge, which was previously authorized by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, is a flow through of charges assessed by the Local Exchange Companies to AT&T for those Private Line services.

The combined effect of these price changes is expected to produce approximately $4.99 million annual revenue, which is approximately .5% of AT&T's annual revenues for all Texas intrastate services.

If you have questions regarding the changes for Private Line service, please call AT&T toll-free at 1-800-345-5092. If you have questions regarding the WATS or SDN price changes, please call our business consultants toll-free at 1-800-222-0400. AT&T's tariffs reflecting these changes will be filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on August 31, 1987, with an effective date of October 1, 1987.

Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may also contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas in writing, at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or by calling the Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.

Weinert News

By Myrtle Phemister

As summer vacation days come to a close, many are taking those "last minute" vacations to various places.

Rene Vojkufka returned home on Saturday from an extended visit to the eastern states and a visit to the Smoky Mountains. She accompanied Jona and Glenn Caddell, and they spent some time in the home of the Caddell's daughter, Lorena and Jo Davis, Mandy, Clint and Brooke of Knoxville, Tennessee.

They toured some around Gatlinburg, and visited some restored villages and homes of early-day settlers.

The nights were cool, but the days were as hot as Weinert, and they, too, need rain.

D. I. and Mattie White, with Jim and Sue Hackney, Todd and Tolanda, and Kevin White, reported different weather in Red River, NM. It was cool enough to turn on the heat at night, and they reported the temperature dropped to 30 degrees one night. The weather was just right for fishing in the day time and playing "42" at night.

Doris, Dale and Denise Carroll spent several days at Lake of the Pines, Texas, and caught so many fish they had plenty to share with others. Cool nights, hot days, they said.

They went to Nashville, Arkansas one day to visit with Bob and Betty Carroll, Ted and Edna Boykin and Deena Boykin's family. They reported all are well, and Ted and Edna sent greetings to everyone in Weinert, with an invitation to come help them eat all the things she has canned this summer. (They will kill some of Bob's chickens.)

Darlene and Kerry Therwhanger of Megargel accompanied the Carroll's on their trip.

Ed and Mary Murphy, Shanna and Lane took a vacation to "cool" Colorado, where they, too, did some fishing and caught rainbow trout and salmon. Their destination was Durango, Colo., with sight-seeing side trips that make any vacation memorable. One day they toured Mesa Verde and saw the old, destroyed Indian dwellings, there.

Several farmer's wives are going South for a few days to visit with their husbands and help move the equipment further North.

Among these is Kim Stewart, Doris Walker and Betty Raynes.

Our visitors:

Miss Bea Weinert and Jolene Perkins of Houston and Nadine Denton of Ft. Worth were guests in the home of Harlan and Jimmie Weinert this week.

Ann Glasscock, with LaDonna, Amanda, Cody, Tanya, Billy and Rusty of San Angelo were visitors in the home of her parents, Roy and Leta Phemister. They celebrated Rusty's 11th birthday with a party on Wednesday night.

Jimmie Young of Holiday spent the day with her parents, Faye and Ted Jetton, on Sunday. Jamie Jetton of Brownwood spent a few days with the Jettons, and her other grandparents, Bob and Crystella Raynes, before going to Abilene, where she is enrolled as a Sophomore student at Abilene Christian University. Jamie is the daughter of Bill and Dorothy Jetton.

Faith Crump, of Blue Grove, Texas came on Saturday to visit her son, Donnie and Debbie Crump. She was accompanied by Donnie's aunt, Mrs. Eleanor Bell and her son, Gary Lingston of Houston.

Seven from Weinert attended the Ladies Retreat held at Hardin-Simmons last weekend. They were Mary Murphy, Betty Raynes, Cindy Guess, Karen Yates, Wanda Hester, Christie Herricks and Debbie Crump. They later visited our sick in Hendricks Hospital. Sarah Guess was released Sunday and is recuperating at home. Mrs. Moody is improving and would love visitors, cards, and phone calls.

Pete and Ima Brockett hosted a birthday party at their home on Sunday for three of their grandchildren who have recently moved here with their parents from Albuquerque, N.M. They are Rane, age 7, Justin, age 6, and Jimmy age 4, children of the Brockett's daughter, Kim Taylor.

September 25th in Haskell is the date set for the 50th reunion of Weinert's graduating class of 1937.

Jona and Glenn Caddell is hosting a gathering in their home at 5 p.m. before the dinner to be held at Glenn's place at 6.

Our sympathy is extended to Bernice Mathison whose purse was stolen at a restaurant in Houston. She lost her good jewelry, and money, besides the driver's license and credit cards (one credit card having been used immediately) and all the other "important things" women carry.

School news

Supt. H. L. Guess reports a full faculty as the teachers gathered on Monday for in-service week and workshops.

New teachers this year include Janet Frazier of Haskell kindergarten, Steve Green, agriculture, Danny Pruitt, girls coach, and Deena Walker Hacker, who will assume the 5th and 6th grade teaching.

School will start officially on September 1st.

A scrimmage game between Weinert Bulldogs and Hermleigh was enjoyed by a good crowd on Friday night.

Barry Walker, Senior quarterback, was injured by having his left shoulder pulled out of place. Barry was injured last season when his right shoulder was misplaced and he will be unable to play this season.

Coach Forehand reports good spirit and cooperation among his remaining players. The first District game will be here on home ground on September 11 when McCaulley travels to Weinert with their team to challenge the Bulldogs at 8 p.m.

Notice: The cheerleaders will have a car wash on Friday, August 28th 8:30 to 4:30.

The money will be used for out-of-town trips and miscellaneous expenses. The cheerleaders have been making football name signs to be displayed in the players yards. The leaders are Monice Estrada, Teena Herricks, Nancy Estrada and Molly Estrada. Their sponsor is Mrs. Kerri Urbanzeck.

Back to school roundup will be held Aug. 31st at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. It will be an ice cream social and sponsors are asked to bring desserts. New teachers and students will be introduced.

Everyone is invited to a 5th Sunday singing to be hosted by the First Baptist Church on Sunday night, August 30th at 7 p.m. Special groups and quartets are welcomed and to have your names on the program, notify Alton Sanders, 673-8359.

Our congratulations to John and LaVern Mayfield, Julian and Andrea Estrada, George and Fay Gray, and Ted and Edna Boykin who are celebrating anniversaries this week.

Happy Birthday to Lucas Castillo, Fred Horan and to all others who are observing birthdays this week.

VA clinic scheduled for Sept. 10

VA follow-up clinic dates for September will be Sept. 10 and 24, from 8 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. The clinic will be scheduled on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month thereafter at Dyess Air Force Base Hospital.

Appointment procedures are unchanged. Veterans should continue to contact Dan Garcia, Taylor County service officer (915-677-1771, extension 328 or 329) or Pete Pegan, chief of medical administration at the Big Spring VA Medical Center (915-263-7361, extension 312 or 314).

To enter Dyess AFB, the veteran must use the VA shuttle which is located at the old entrance on Military Drive. Parking is available at this site. Veterans will be taken by the shuttle to the clinic 15 minutes prior to their scheduled appointment. To minimize congestion, only one family member may accompany a veteran to the hospital.

Country crafts may boost rural income

The Texas Department of Agriculture is beginning a new program to boost income in rural areas. It is designed to link up rural artisans with urban markets and is called "Country Crafted Texas."

The program is open to rural artisans from areas outside the city limits of towns of 25,000 or more. They must be Texas residents working in their own homes or studios.

Their handcrafted material must be original (no kits or commercial patterns). They need to be able to reproduce their crafted items for sale (retail, wholesale or commission). Due to state health regulations, food items cannot be accepted.

The Department of Agriculture, in conjunction with the Texas Farm

Crisis Hotline, will print an attractive promotional directory listing the rural artisans and the type of things they make. The Country Crafted directory will be widely distributed to press outlets, marketers and likely consumers.

In addition, The Texas Department of agriculture will offer Texas rural artisans various opportunities to exhibit their crafts in high traffic shows. For example, the department will feature Country Crafted participants at the State Fair in Dallas in October.

Also, in November, Austin's Same Show has agreed to "adopt" selected country artisans and to show and sell their wares, for a small commission on sales.

Blood pressure can be treated

More than 57 million Americans have high blood pressure or are being treated for this condition by a physician. High blood pressure can shorten life, but it can be treated and controlled.

Blood pressure is the force of the blood against the walls of the arteries and veins. The pressure is created by the heart as it pumps blood.

Each time the heart contracts, it sends a surge of blood into the arteries, and the blood pressure in the arteries increases. When the heart relaxes between beats, blood pressure decreases.

The two numbers recorded during a blood pressure check measure the two levels of pressure: the upper number when the heart is beating (systolic pressure), and the lower number when the heart is resting (diastolic pressure). These two numbers are phrased, for example, as 115 over 60.

'86 Texas farm receipts down, but cash income steady

By Mary K. Mahoney

Texas' estimated 1986 farm receipts from marketings tumbled slightly to a projected $9.3 billion. That includes the agriculturally related activities of hunting and fishing leases, horses for recreation, and land-based outdoor recreation. This figure compares with about $9.9 billion in 1985.

But lower production costs and large government payments helped support the cash income situation, according to Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Anderson said declines in crop sales resulted from low prices, fewer acres and a small cotton crop. The declines more than offset a slight rise in livestock receipts. Poultry, dairy and nursery sales made strong gains, but income from hunting leases and horses declined.

Texas is expected to rank third among states in 1986 cash receipts, behind California and Iowa. With a diversified livestock and crop agriculture, farming and ranching in Texas continues favorable compared to most other states, Anderson noted.

"Texas ranks first in sales of cattle and calves, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton, cabbage, spinach, value of farm real estate, number of farms and ranches, and farm and ranch land," Anderson said.

The economist noted that farm assets in Texas, including land, buildings, livestock, machinery, crops and livestock on hand, and farm financial assets, have dropped from $98 billion two years ago to about $74 billion. The state has 160,000 farms averaging 838 acres with a value of land and buildings averaging $552 per acre, he added. There were 187,000 farms in 1984.

Estimated 1986 cash receipts from livestock include: beef cattle $4.1 billion; poultry $652 million; dairy $565 million; sheep $88 million; hogs $80 million; wool and mohair $51 million; goats $23 million.

Estimated cash receipts from crops include: cotton $772 million; wholesale nursery industry $416 million; feed grains, including corn, oats, barley, hay and ensilage, $416 million; all vegetables $355 million; grain sorghum $331 million; wheat $267 million; timber production $250 million; rice $160 million; outdoor recreation income $147 million; hunting lease receipts $146 million; peanuts $106 million; horses $102 million; fruit and nut crops $59 million; soybeans $24 million; sunflowers and other oil seed plants $3 million.

"Texas agriculture remains strong," said Anderson. Major research and educational program efforts conducted by the Texas A&M University system support development of the state's agricultural industry to its greatest potential.

Also, the state's agriculture benefits from a relatively warm climate, productive soils and excellent export and transportation facilities, Anderson noted. Cash receipts and income in 1987 are projected to increase moderately, mainly because of higher beef and cotton prices and large government payments. The drop in land prices already appears to have slowed.

Taste, smell affect appetites of elderly

The sense of taste and the sense of smell are both affected by the normal process of aging. Because these senses are so closely tied to the enjoyment of food, older adults may find it difficult to maintain a healthy appetite.

Taste buds decrease in number and sensitivity with age. The average 70-year-old, for example, has one-sixth the taste buds of a 20-year-old.

Studies show that the taste receptors to identify sweet and salty flavors are the first to atrophy while those that sense bitter and sour flavors tend to function into old age.

That is one explanation of why some elders report that "nothing tastes good." Other older adults may eat excessively to try to capture the taste sensation.

The sense of smell may begin to decline in the late 30s. By age 80, about 40 percent of the people have difficulty in identifying common substances by smell. Because two-thirds of the taste sensation depends on the ability to smell, this can also affect an older person's appetite.

Smoking, poor dental hygiene and medications also contribute to a decline in the taste of food. When appetite is a problem, the older adult may want to stop smoking, improve dental care and discuss a change in medication with a physician.

To increase their enjoyment of eating, elders need attractively prepared and served meals.

Cowboy language subject of new book

The American cowboy had a way with words! His colorful expressions are unique in the English language.

Expressions of American cowboys, past and present, have been captured by Edgar R. (Frosty) Potter in his new book, Cowboy Slang, published by Golden West Publishers.

At 92, Potter is alive and well and living in Tucson, Arizona, with his wife, Eileen. Frosty was born and grew up on his father's Diamond N Ranch in North Dakota, just across the Cannonball River from the Sioux reservation. He has lived in all parts of western United States, including 35 years in the Bitterroot Valley of Montana.

In Cowboy Slang, Potter tells of the hard and cruel life of ranching at the turn of the century, "...drought, blizzards, rustling and just plain hard luck could easily whittle a man down to sowlbelly and beans, that is, if he could scare up a few beans and substitute a neighbor's calf for the sowlbelly."

His book is mainly a collection of nearly 2,000 of the earthy, raunchy slang used by cowboys that Potter grew up and worked with in his more than 75 years as a cowboy. "Mostly all gurgle and no guts" for a braggart, "a gent with sand in his craw" for the brave, and "he ain't got sense 'nuf to spit downwind" for dumb, are a few of the expressions.

In addition, Frosty has included in Cowboy Slang such things as horse terms, cattle brands, barbed wire and rodeo information. Frosty gives more than 40 terms for whiskey and tells of 70 things a cowboy does with his neckerchief.

Potter at one time trained sheriff's officers in marksmanship and handling firearms. He still hand-loads his own ammunition for his several guns, including the old .45 Colt he has had for more than 60 years.

The book is delightfully illustrated by cowboy artist Ron Scofield of Fiddleton, Calif. Ron and his family now busy themselves with restoring wagons and carriages for museums.

Cowboy Slang can be found on the shelves of most bookstores for $5 a copy, or can be ordered direct from the publishers: Golden West Publishers, 4113 N. Longview, Phoenix, AZ 85014, for $6 postpaid.

SCIENCE MUSEUM

More than 38,000 visitors to the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History touched, lifted, stroked, played, poked and otherwise interacted with various items on Museum Discovery Cars in the first 10 months of the program's operation. Here, assistant curator Wesley Hathaway discusses the dangers of substance abuse with young visitors.

The Ombu Tree of Argentina is one of the hardest trees. The tree's wood is so moist that it will rarely burn and so spongy that it usually cannot be cut down.

Did you know?

During the Middle Ages, the year began at various dates in different times and places. In England it was not until 1751 that January was restored to its place as first month, as it had been during the Roman era.

Avoid burglaries while on vacation

Your summer vacation was all you had dreamed it would be, but as you enter your home the dream becomes a nightmare upon discovery of a burglary while you were gone.

The Texas Chapters of The Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters (CPCU) say you can lessen the chances of a burglary by creating the impression that somebody is home while you are on vacation.

Here are some tips which may help you to prevent a burglary:

- Leave blinds open in their usual position.
- Lower the sound of your telephone bell so its ring cannot be heard outside.
- Suspend deliveries of mail and newspapers.
- Arrange to have your lawn mowed and ask a friend to pick up "throwaway" newspapers and circulars.
- Use automatic timers to turn lights on and off in your living room and bedrooms at appropriate times. Consider connecting a radio to a timer.
- Notify the police that you will be away and ask dependable neighbors to keep an eye on your house or apartment.
- Equip doors with dead-bolt or double cylinder locks, put a slide bolt or other lock on sliding glass doors and be sure locks on windows are adequate. (Many insurance companies offer discounts for approved burglar and fire alarm systems.)

• Remove extra keys from around the mailbox, doormat or flower pots. Change your locks if your keys are lost or stolen.

• Put large amounts of cash, jewelry and other valuables in a safe deposit box at the bank.

• Don't advertise your vacation in the newspaper. Burglars could be among the readers.

Before leaving on vacation, The Society of CPCU says it pays to make an inventory of your personal belongings and to make sure your insurance coverage is adequate.

If you return home and find signs of burglary, it is best to go to a neighbor's residence to call the police and wait for their arrival.

During the construction of the Hoover Dam, concrete had to be poured continually for two years.

ACU program offers help to businesses

Haskell business owners will be able to participate in a Small Business Institute which will be in operation this fall at Abilene Christian University.

Anyone wishing to participate should call Professor Don Altman, SBI director at ACU (915-674-2776).

The program gives students the opportunity to apply skills they have learned in the classrooms to a live business environment while providing them with a practical "real world" experience.

The Small Business Institute at ACU assigns teams of senior or graduate students to provide research, case analysis, counseling and consulting services to area businesses at no cost to the business. In past years, ACU student teams have performed such efforts as market research projects, advertising studies, record keeping and paper work analyses, and many other similar projects.

Oil production hits 40-year low

In the aftermath of one of the worst years in history of the Texas oil industry, daily oil production in the state has dropped below 2 million barrels a day for the first time since 1944.

Preliminary May production figures show statewide oil production averaged 1.97 million barrels a day during the month.

Students to get free book

Ninth-grade students of Haskell will receive copies of a gift book titled Be The Best You Can Be.

The book is the centerpiece of the Youth Awareness Program and will be presented through the courtesy of R. C. Couch Jr. of Haskell National Bank, Ben and Sue McGee of McGee's Lumber Yard, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Cadenhead and Dr. and Mrs. Cliff Ray.

Be The Best You Can Be, handsomely bound and illustrated in full color, is a collection of eight short stories. Written to appeal to young people in today's world, the stories reinforce traditional moral values. For instance, one of the stories emphasizes the importance of being a responsible person, another shows how highly honesty should be valued and another focuses on the danger of drugs and alcohol.

The Youth Awareness Program is described as being a response to a growing concern felt by parents and others throughout the nation. Too often, it is maintained, young people are the innocent victims of harmful influences that undermine the sound values parents are trying to teach their children in the home.

The program stresses that national statistics on drug and alcohol related accidents involving teenagers, on missing children, teenage pregnancies and teenage suicide are cause for alarm. While the great majority of parents do not have these problems, they still worry about them since peer pressure is a strong influence on young people.

Cotton consumption rises

U.S. cotton's new price competitiveness, coupled with an aggressive marketing strategy, continues to increase domestic consumption and enhance overseas market development, National Cotton Council president Aven Whittington told that organization's board of directors in Washington last week.

Whittington said domestic consumption has reached an annual rate of 7.5 million bales for the first quarter of 1987. The Council president, a cotton farmer from Greenwood, Miss., said export sales may surpass 7 million bales with commitments for the 1987-88 marketing year already exceeding 1.25 million bales.

He said the new farm law, combined with Cotton Council International's expanded overseas promotion, is reaping immediate dividends for the U.S. cotton industry in the form of booming cotton export sales. CCI is the overseas arm of the National Cotton Council.

Whittington also praised new legislation introduced in Congress as the first step toward increasing Cotton Incorporated's market development activities. When passed by Congress and approved in a farmer referendum, the new law would extend the research and promotion assessment to imports of raw cotton and the cotton content of textile imports. Whittington said this assessment could eventually double Cotton Incorporated's funding and create even stronger consumer demand for U.S. cotton.

He pointed to other areas where U.S. cotton has taken the offensive in making the industry more competitive such as increased contributions to The Cotton Foundation for research and education, a fully operational Cotton Information Network, improved bale packaging, and acquisition of better technology for use by the industry.

Council economist Dr. Dean Ethridge said improved demand for U.S. cotton could result in 1986-87 offtake of 14 million bales - 26 percent above the 5-year average offtake and second largest in 20 years. Expected ending stocks of 5.2 million bales will be 44 percent below stocks at the beginning of the season.

Ethridge said domestic mill consumption increased 900,000 bales this year. That is 1.6 million bales above average consumption during the last five years. Furthermore, mill consumption has increased 39 percent over the last two years. Cotton's dramatic turnaround in both domestic mill consumption and exports demonstrates how effectively the 1985 farm law's cotton program is working.

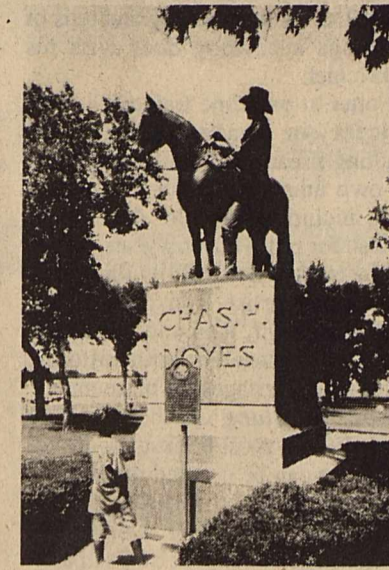

Adrian Hunnings, CCI executive director, reported on the successful U.S. cotton seminar in Europe, and announced preliminary plans to stage a similar seminar in the Far East next year. Hunnings said the European seminar attracted more than 300 textile executives, who represented nearly 75 percent of the spinning capacity of Europe.

Hunnings also gave a detailed outline of CCI's future overseas promotion campaigns for Europe and the Far East. The campaigns are made possible by a $7 million allocation from USDA's new Targeted Export Assistance program.

Rep. Jerry Huckaby (D-La.), chairman of the House Cotton, Rice, and Sugar subcommittee, addressed the board at a breakfast meeting earlier in the day. Maid of Cotton Amy Gough gave an update on her domestic and overseas tour, and Frank Mitchener, Sumner, Miss., cotton producer, reported that industry members across the Belt will soon be given the opportunity to subscribe to the Cotton Telecommunications Network.

Dewey Trogdon, board chairman of American Textile Manufacturers Institute, gave the board an update on textile trade legislation, and Council staff directors reported on program activities in technical services, communications services, and Washington operations.

A monument sculpted by world famous artist Pompeo Coppini stands in tribute to the cowboys of Texas in the town of Ballinger. The sculpture was inspired by Charles H. Noyes, killed in a range mishap in this north central Texas town. The statue may be seen on the spacious courthouse lawn, at the intersection of U.S. 83 & 87. Machinery costs can be controlled Machinery cost is one important production cost that can be controlled by good management, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The first step to control machinery costs is to develop a detailed inventory of the farm machinery. Then identify machinery that is not used or is not worth repairing and sell these items. Next, calculate annual ownership and operating costs of each item as a basis for cost control and replacement decisions.

Developing a seasonal machinery use calendar can provide good information to estimate machinery capacity and requirements. The Extension Service has computer software that can facilitate machinery management decision-making.

Abilene native tests political waters here

By Wendell Faught

Texas politics—1990 style—bowed its head in Haskell last Wednesday in the person of John Odam, who said he is testing the waters for a possible 1990 race for attorney general.

The Houston attorney, who was born and reared in Abilene, shook hands with courthouse personnel in what he said was just one of 254 courthouse visits he plans to make in Texas. He hopes to hit every courthouse in the state by the end of next year.

"I've always stressed the importance of the relationship between counties and the state," said Odam, in explaining why he is visiting the courthouses.

A Democrat, Odam was an assistant to John Hill when he was attorney general from 1973-76. He served as a special legislative counsel to former Gov. Mark White in 1985-86 and as a special assistant to Houston Mayor Kathryn Whitmire in 1985. He was selected by the Texas Young Lawyers Association as the outstanding young lawyer in Texas in 1976.

Odam graduated from Abilene High School in 1961. He earned a BBA in business management from the University of Texas in Austin in 1965 and a law degree in 1971 from

John Odam

Baylor University where he was editor-in-chief of the Baylor Law Review. In 1966-68 he served in the U.S. Army, being discharged as a first lieutenant.

He was chairman of the Harris County Democrat Executive Committee from 1982 to 1984 and has served on numerous campaign and finance committees for Democratic candidates.

He has been a partner in the Houston law firm of Helm, Pletcher, Hogan, Bowen and Saunders since 1980.

Obituaries

Mattie Hines

Services for Mattie (Mrs. L.E.) Hines were at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. James Densman officiating. Burial was in Willow Cemetery, directed by Holden-McCauley Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hines died Thursday at Rice Springs Care Home.

Born in Goldthwaite April 5, 1901, she was the oldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Daniel. After moving from Robertson County to near Hamlin, she lived in Jones and Fisher counties until moving to Rice Springs Care Home in Haskell in 1973.

She married the late Estel Hines in Anson Sept. 6, 1922. She was a long-time Baptist, teaching young people in Sunday School for many years. She was employed at the Celotex plant near Hamlin during World War II, then as kitchen supervisor at the Hamlin Memorial Hospital until her retirement in 1965.

Mrs. Hines was preceded in death by her husband in 1980; a son, PFC Melville E. Hines, in 1944; her parents, six brothers and three sisters.

Survivors include a daughter and son-in-law, Bettie and Wayne Wainscott of Haskell; two grandchildren, Susan Pope of Haskell and Danny Wainscott of Knox City; and three great-grandchildren, Mandi and Jodi Pope and Philip Wainscott.

Pallbearers were Virgil Cobb, Gentry Middleton, Miller Montgomery, Carl Bailey, Charles Swinson and Jack Medford.

Annual Stenholm FUNday Sept. 12

House Speaker Jim Wright heads the list of dignitaries who will participate in Rep. Charles Stenholm's annual FUNday Sept. 12.

Other guests will be Reps. Bob Matsui of California, Steny Hoyer of Maryland and Marcy Kaptur of Ohio.

"We will make certain that they visit Dyess Air Force Base and see something of our problems in agriculture and oil production," Stenholm said.

"More important than all of this, we want them to meet our hometown friends. Cindy and I want everyone who possibly can make it to come to FUNday," he added.

The food line will begin to serve at 4:30 p.m. at the Ericksdahl picnic grounds east of Stamford near the Stenholm farm.

A western band will provide music and there will be food, visiting, some politicking and plenty of cold watermelon.

Mary Watson retires from City

Mary Watson, an employee of the City of Haskell for the past 21 years, has announced her retirement. She was a clerk at City Hall.

Loretto Gray has been employed by the City as her replacement.

Pace gets scholarship to ACU

Seth Pace has received a $2,000 L. E. Mitchell scholarship from Abilene Christian University.

The award goes to qualifying students based on the ACT entrance examination composite score.

The 1987 Haskell High School graduate also has met the requirements to be included in the Honors Program.

Because of his interest and accomplishments in creative writing, Seth has been invited to join the staff of The Pickwicker, literary publication of the English department at ACU.

Earlier this year, Seth and Scott Burris received scholarships from the Haskell Lions Club for representing the club in district-wide essay and public speaking contests.

Both Pace and Burris are among those from Haskell who have been named to Who's Who in American High School Students.

Haskell Independent School District has released the guidelines for the school lunch program:

The school district serves nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for $1.05 in the elementary school, $1.30 for high school and 50¢ for breakfast.

Children from families whose income falls within the level shown on the pictured scale are eligible for either free meals or reduced priced meals at 40¢ for lunch and 30¢ for breakfast.

To apply for free or reduced meals, parents should fill out an application as soon as possible, sign it, and return it to the school. Please answer all questions on the form. An application which does not contain the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) the total household income must be listed by the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income it is (such as wages, child support, etc.) or food stamp case number if the household is on food stamps, (2) names of all household members, (3) social security numbers of all household members 21 years of age or older or the word NONE for any household member who does not have a social security number and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

If you have any questions or need help in filling out the application form, please contact the individual campus principal. You will be notified when the application is approved or denied.

(This scale should be provided parents with the letter and application form.)

Options for Health

by

Dr. Scott White

DR. SCOTT WHITE is offered as a public service by Scott and White Clinic and Hospital, Temple. If you have a question you would like answered, please write to DR. SCOTT WHITE in care of your local newspaper.

Q. Although my job doesn't involve heavy lifting, my back does hurt some of the time. Are there any general precautions I can take to prevent a serious back injury?

A. Yes, there are several things you can do at home to prevent back injuries while working or at home.

- Exercise to strengthen muscles in your legs, arms, and stomach so they can be used to help the back muscles when lifting heavy objects.
- Keep your weight under control. A "pot belly" pulls on the back muscles.
- If you sit at a desk all day long, take periodic exercise breaks. The chair should be low enough so your knees are higher than the hips when your feet are on the ground.
- Position your typewriter, computer terminal, etc., at a level that eliminates bending over it.

Q. Sometimes I feel sleepy during the day, even though I slept eight hours the night before. At other times, I can't seem to sleep at all. How can I improve my sleeping patterns so I feel rested?

A. If you feel excessively sleepy during the day or if you have problems falling asleep, you may have a sleep-related disorder. People who experience daytime sleepiness may not be aware that poor quality of nocturnal sleep may be the problem. Some people just need to learn how to sleep well again. You may improve your sleeping by following these basic rules:

- Sleep only as much as needed to feel refreshed and healthy the following day, but not more than that. Not everyone needs eight hours of rest.
- Get out of bed at the same time every morning including weekends.
- Exercise daily. However, don't exercise strenuously just before bedtime. Exercise in the morning, mid-afternoon, or early evening.
- Choose a comfortable room temperature. Excessively warm or cool rooms are not conducive to good sleep.
- Caffeine in the evening disturbs sleep, even for good sleepers.
- Avoid coffee, tea, and other beverages containing caffeine.
- Avoid alcohol. Although alcohol helps tense people fall asleep more rapidly, it makes them wake up repeatedly and the sleep is fitful.
- If you feel angry and frustrated that you can't sleep, do not try harder and harder to fall asleep.
- Instead, turn on the light and do something different.
- Don't smoke. It has been shown that chronic use of tobacco disturbs sleep.
- Use the bedroom for sleep. Use another part of the house for homework, paying bills, family discussions, TV watching, etc.

Careful snacking can prove healthful

Snacking between meals can be healthy if you're careful not to overeat and you choose your snacks wisely.

"There's a good case for snacking," advises Addison A. Taylor, M.D., president of the Texas Affiliate of the American Heart Association. "It can be especially important for growing youngsters, active teens, pregnant women and nursing mothers."

In order for a snack to provide value to the diet, it should be loaded with nutrients and low in fat, cholesterol, sodium and calories.

If you have a snacking urge, select snacks made of familiar, wholesome foods, with minimal processing. Look for labels that describe the product's protein, fat, carbohydrate, cholesterol, sodium and calorie count. If the protein and carbohydrate numbers are higher than the fat count, it's a better bet than a high-fat snack. Of course, fruit or vegetables from the produce section of your grocery store don't contain ingredient labels. Most tree- or vine-ripened fruits and vegetables are fine for snacking.

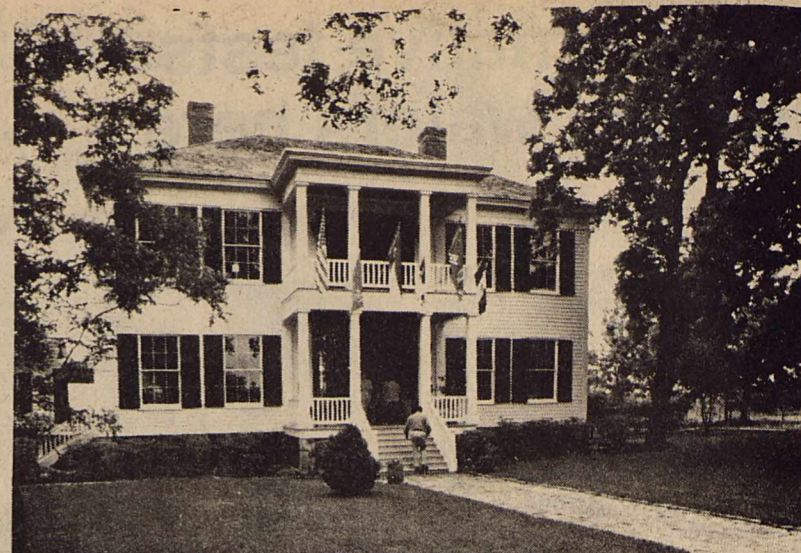

Avoid the popular fried snacks such as most chips. They're high in fat, calories and usually sodium.

You'll save calories (and your teeth) by munching on apples, carrots and air-popped corn instead of candies, pastries and cookies. Try low-sugar frozen juice bars purchased at a store or made at home by pureeing fruit, pouring it into paper cups, inserting a spoon or tongue depressor and freezing. Instead of sugary soft drinks refresh your thirst by mixing one part fruit juice to four parts sparkling water.

Many people have a difficult time escaping the vending machine snacking cycle while at work. To decrease the temptation and save money they should bring low-calorie, healthy snacks to work. Some concerned companies are also offering healthier options in their vending machines.

"A small snack during the day is fine as long as the snack and the meals are balanced, healthy and moderate. Overeating can add to a person's chances of gaining unnecessary weight. Excess weight may lead to high blood pressure, a controllable risk factor of heart and blood vessel disease," states Taylor.

You don't need to go any farther than Chappell Hill, Texas to experience the antebellum mystique of the Old South. That's where you'll find the Browning Plantation, a three-story Greek Revival home built in the 1800s and recently restored to its original beauty. The 6000 sq. foot mansion is now open for wedding receptions, lodging, and tours by appointment. Chappell Hill is 60 miles west of Houston on U.S. 290. Hearty, healthy lunch important to student

Most parents will agree that a healthy, hearty lunch is an important and fun part of every child's school day. But school lunches and bag lunches have different advantages that deserve some attention from parents, says the Texas Medical Association.

Public school lunch programs in Texas provide one-third of the daily nutritional requirements for children. Each school district's menu planners must follow strict standard when deciding what to serve, including the number of servings from the four basic food groups, as well as the quantity of each serving.

Another plus for school lunches is that certain children are eligible for free or reduced-price meals.

Possibly the only disadvantage of the school lunch program is that your child may not always like what is being served and consequently may not eat well. TMA suggests following the school lunch menu and packing a lunch for your child on those days.

When packing a lunch, remember that children have different nutritional and caloric (energy) needs than adults.

TMA offers these tips for parents: --In general, children need more nutrients and calories than adults because they are very active and have rapid growth "spurts."

--Iron tops the list of nutrient needs during early childhood and adolescence. Iron is necessary for the formation of red blood cells and other functions and is especially important for adolescent girls.

--Protein is necessary for bone and cell growth and calcium is vital for building strong bones and teeth.

--Use the four basic food groups--meat, milk and cheese, fruit and vegetables, and bread--to plan lunches. Include a wide variety from each group to ensure that your child gets a balance and enough of the essential nutrients.

--Finally, remember that a child's eating habits often stay with him or her to adulthood.

A newly hatched alligator is just eight inches long. It will grow about a foot a year until it reaches the average adult length of six to eight feet.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Gerald Rodgers, CPA

MAINTAINING TAX RECORDS FOR 1987

The Tax Reduction Act of 1986 has increased the need for detailed recordkeeping by taxpayers. Some transactions must be reported even though they may not affect your taxes. An example is tax-exempt interest, which the IRS requires to be reported because it could affect the taxation of Social Security benefits.

Other tax-related data to retain include:

Detailed evidence to support claimed deductions such as business meals and entertainment. Such costs may be fully deductible, 80 percent deductible or not deductible at all.

Evidence showing whether income is active or passive. Since active income is tax favored, save any evidence of active participation in a business activity.

Evidence showing that interest is deductible--usually a matter of how the money is used.

Records of original cost plus all major improvements for a principle or second home refinanced since August 16, 1986. This documentation will show full cost basis which is necessary to deduct fully the interest paid on the loan.

Records of IRA and Keogh accounts, even if contributions are no longer tax deferred. These records will be needed when you begin withdrawing funds from the plans.

Records of medical expenses. We can't know until the year is out whether we will exceed the 7.5 percent of AGI minimum. Also, document all miscellaneous deductions, even if you don't expect to exceed 2 percent of AGI. You will not know until year-end whether your deductions will exceed the 2 percent limitation.

Finally, there is a new form of documentation required this year: a social security number for any dependent five years of age or older.

Control procedures for fleas revealed

To control fleas, the infested animals, the entire house and the yard should be thoroughly treated. Insecticide containing carbaryl, dichlorvos, pyrethrins, rotenone, malathion, methoxychlor or propoxur are labeled for use on animals. Dust formulations are preferred for treating pets.

Outdoor areas should be treated thoroughly to prevent reinfestation of the pet. The bedding area should receive special attention. Pets should be prevented from getting under the house. Rats and mice should be eliminated and the areas frequented by them treated.

Inside the house, flea control should begin with a thorough cleaning. A vacuum cleaner should be used on carpets, around baseboards, cracks and crevices in floors and in and under furniture. Dispose of the sweepings immediately to prevent flea escape and reinfestation.

There are several insecticides that can be used inside the home and in the yard. Insecticides used in the home are formulated for that use. Some of these are bendicarb, chlorpyrifos, diazinon and propoxur. Outdoor insecticides that might be used are carbaryl, chlorpyrifos, diazinon, malathion and propoxur. When using any insecticides, always read and follow the instructions on the container label.

Low-flying insects are said to be a sign of impending bad weather.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reding of Seymour and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank White and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reding of Haskell.

To be eligible for the scholarship a student must be an employee of a store that is served by the Dallas Brokers Association. The award is based only on scholastic achievement throughout high school. Only 10 students from 221 applicants were selected.

Scholarship recipients attended a scholarship award luncheon at the Las Colinas Sports Club in Irving. Each year the Dallas Food Brokers Association hopes to increase the number of scholarships given by raising a larger sum of money at the annual golf tournaments it sponsors.

Tammy is employed by M-System Supermarket in Seymour. She will attend Midwestern State University this fall and major in accounting.

Immunizations are needed by children

With all of the back-to-school hustle and bustle, the Texas Medical Association reminds parents to take time out to immunize their children.

In fact, children must receive vaccinations for five diseases---diphtheria, tetanus, polio, measles and rubella---before they can enter Texas elementary and secondary schools.

Additionally, TMA recommends

Booster Club

President Mike Guess presided over the Monday night Haskell Indian Booster Club meeting.

Tentative date for the hamburger supper was set for Thursday, Oct. 8, the night of the Hamlin JV and junior high games.

Cheerleaders will sell pictures of varsity football players and coaches for the club as booster items for $20 each. The pictures will be on display all the way through football season.

Dr. Jim Kemp, school superintendent, reported that the Haskell ISD has finally acquired the last piece of property necessary in pursuit of a track. He said he will petition the City Council Tuesday evening (Aug. 25) to close off North 9th Street between North Avenue C and North Avenue D. He requested that those interested in the track project be present at the council meeting to support his petition.

Guess stated that while the school board will probably not spend a lot of money on a track, the board will help if there is a lot of work being done on the project. Mention was made that once the street is closed, stands and the fieldhouse must be moved.

Ice cream will be served following the Bronte scrimmage this Friday night. The scrimmage will begin at 7 p.m. with all high school boys out for football participating.

pertussis (whooping cough) and mumps immunizations.

These seven major childhood diseases can in some cases cause complications like brain injury, ear infection and pneumonia, or even death. But they can all be prevented by immunization.

Some parents who hear about child deaths from vaccinations may decide not to have their children vaccinated. TMA notes that serious reactions are infrequent and that immunizations continue to play a major role in reducing illness and death at an early age. Smallpox, for example, has been completely wiped out due to immunizations.

However, if your child is ill at the time of immunization, be sure to tell the doctor.

Council to decide tax issue

The City Council will make its final decision on the proposed tax increase following a public meeting at City Hall next Tuesday, Sept. 1. It begins at 7 p.m.

About 40 people appeared at the previous public meeting last Thursday. Several voiced opposition to raising taxes.

The City has proposed to raise the tax rate 13.63 cents per $100 valuation, from 22.37 to 36 cents to finance an on-going street improvement project and to give pay raises to full time City employees.

This will be the third public hearing since the proposal was announced.

Refugio gets nod as best team in state

Refugio is the best 2A football team in Texas if preseason polls can be believed.

Both the Dallas Morning News and the Associated Press preseason polls listed Refugio as the No. 1 team.

The Dallas newspaper gave the No. 2 spot to Pilot Point, while the AP chose Reagan County.

No team on the Haskell schedule was listed in the top 10 in either poll, although Holliday did get honorable mention in the News poll.

Munday, the Indians' opening opponent, was listed No. 2 in the state by the AP, while the Morning News had the Moguls in the No. 3 position.

Here is how the two polls listed the top 10 in Class AA.

Dallas Morning News: 1. Refugio, 2. Pilot Point, 3. Reagan County, 4. New Waverly, 5. Shiner, 6. Winona, 7. Boyd and Kerens (tie), 9. Mart, 10. Abernathy.

Associated Press: 1. Refugio, 2.

Reagan County, 3. Shiner, 4. Pilot Point, 5. New Waverly, 6. Winona, 7. Abernathy, 8. Mart, 9. Kerens, 10. Boyd.

Cheerleaders to sponsor dance Friday

Haskell cheerleaders will sponsor a dance Friday night following the scrimmage with Bronte.

The dance will be in the Corral Building and admission will be $3. All HHS students are invited.

Cheerleaders also will sponsor a back-to-school party for high school students (9th through 12th grades) Saturday at the football field.

The party begins at 6:30 p.m. Homemade ice cream will be served after the party.
