Mass Meeting of the Pecos County Stockmen.

J. M. McKenzie elected chairman; Morgan Livingston elected secretary.

Following resolutions unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The lands in Pecos county are enclosed by fence; are owned, leased and controlled by us; and we have labored and expended large sums of money in improvements upon these lands; and,

Whereas, That heretofore, we have been harassed and have suffered great damage by drifting sheepmen trespassing upon our pastures and ranges; and,

Whereas, We have only range and water sufficient for the wintering of our own stock; and,

Whereas, Large numbers of sheep have been drifted in this county, and are to be drifted in from the surrounding country, the owners of such sheep having no range in this county of their own, be it resolved:

1st. That we take this means to notify sheep-drifters, or drifting sheep men, that "open and free" range is not to be had in Pecos county;

2d. That drifting sheep upon the ranges in this county does great damage to the stock upon our ranges; and

3d. That all trespassing upon ranges and pastures in this county by drifting sheepmen will be vigorously prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

J. M. MCKENZIE,
Chairman.

J. M. LIVINGSTON,
Secretary.

As far as reported all fever cases are convalescent and the several parties gradually gaining strength, Bill Moore and Fred Davis attending to their respective callings about as usual. Mrs. Will Carson is picking up but slowly, still she is on the improve and manages to get around some. Quoting Dr. Deal, Sherwood is "distressingly healthy."

E. T. Dameron and wife paid a visit to the sheep last week and found them doing well. Still on the drift. Ernest has offered five cents!—and no range to be had. With February rains the sheepmen hope for better things.

Dr. Deal was the sure enough Good Samaritan when, on Friday, he relieved the little daughter of Geo. Stedham by taking her ear a monster tick. The extracting of a foreign substance from the ear drum affords relief such as only those that have been there can appreciate.

IRION COUNTY ADVERTISER

By OLIVER WERST.

WEEKLY $2 PER YEAR

Entered at the Post Office at Sherwood, Texas, as second-class mail matter.

January 22, 1902.

Major R. A. Blanks.

Judge Blanks of this city, has received a telegram bearing the sad intelligence that his brother, Maj. R. A. Blanks of Wills Point, Van Zandt county, had departed this life Friday, 17th inst.

Major Blanks was a native of Virginia; he was married in Texas to a Miss Dumas and resided in this state twenty five years prior to his death. He was 66 years old and a well known Confederate veteran. Many of Sherwood's people kindly remember Major Blanks, he having visited the Judge here about nine years since. Beside his brother, W. H. Blanks of this place, he leaves a wife and son, W. C. Blanks, a resident of Wills Point, and a host of friends to mourn his death. We all join in sympathy with Judge Blanks in his loss.

--Rawls, Sigman & Co., the grain house of San Angelo, is the place to buy your corn, hay, bran, oats, etc.

Miss Belle Vinson of Knickerbocker, has gone to Sherwood to enter school. Miss Belle will board with Prof. Johnson.

Mr. Walter Johnson was visiting friends in Sherwood Sunday.

Mr. E. L. Rucker came in from the ranch yesterday. Mr. Rucker was accompanied by his father-in-law of Arkansas, who by the way is a Confederate veteran and an affable old gentleman.

Ernest Dameron and Albert Kincaid left yesterday evening for San Angelo on business, expecting to return today.

J. M. Watson, the Middle Concho stock farmer, was in the city a few days ago, and called on the Standard with a bit of information which he considered worthy of disseminating, in view of the present scarcity of feed. He said that Johnson grass roots made fine fattening feed for cattle, providing the latter were given free access to salt. Mr. Johnson said that a Johnson grass field, which is barren in winter, could be turned to good use by plowing up with a sulky plow and that cattle would follow right along, picking up the roots laid bare by the plow. One plow, he said, would turn up enough daily to feed 75 head. Although perhaps not new, this information may not be generally known, and the Standard gives it publicity for the good it may do.—S. A. Standard.

E. T. Carson came in from the ranch Sunday suffering with bronchial trouble.

For Sale,

An irrigated farm adjoining Sherwood. Thirty-two acres under irrigation; forty acres in pasture; thirty-four hours' water every nine days; ditch running through corral; good peach orchard; a large two story barn; a new eight room house, well finished; two good wells of water; good milk-house. Mowing machines and all farm implements go with it. For further information address. W. P. MOORE, Sherwood, Texas.

Tom Lucas took Miss Parker in to Angelo last week, the young lady going on to Robert Lee to meet her brother. They have some business to close up, after which, about February 1st, Sherwood's popular music teacher will return and resume her work.

Bain and Studebaker wagons, at Hagelstein's, San Angelo.

Joe Montague passed through Saturday returning from a thirty days' visit in the old states. He reports a royal time.

Born, Sunday, January 19th, to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hill, a 9-pound daughter.

The older army officers will be interested and saddened by the belated news of the death at Fort Sill, O. T., of Horace P. Jones, known to them familiarly and favorably as "Colonel" Jones. He died at that military post on November 16, full of years, wealthy in the honors of a brave and useful life and with a career crowded with hazardous adventure which belongs to that passing epoch of the wild Indian and the frontiersman. Jones was of that famous band of scouts and guides of which a few old men have survived, such as Buffalo Bill, who has gained wealth and fame, and Ben Clark, who still lives in the quiet of Fort Reno. Jones was the favorite and trusted guide and interpreter of such officers as Sheridan and Custer, and had many perilous encounters in the early days on the plains. No one can fully estimate the value to the army of such men as Jones and Cody and Clary. They did much to aid in the march of the pioneer and were important, if unknown and unnamed, contributors to the extension of pacific industry across our continent. Jones was a thorough frontiersman. He knew little of the graces and the adornments of civilization, and from all accounts took little store by anything which was not of his rugged and hazardous west. He was a well read man to the extent of taking a keen enjoyment in the publications of the east, but he rarely trusted himself among the comforts of the great cities. He had no faith in the modern elevator, lest the string should break, and when forced to stay at a public hotel he preferred a room no higher than and near a tree, down which he could clamber in case of fire. He had many narrow escapes in his lifetime of contact with the untamed savage, and went to his grave at last highly respected and greatly admired and was buried in the cemetery at Fort Sill with the military honors of a colonel.—Army and Navy Register.

W. L. Locklin dipped his sheep this week at the Downie ranch and left for the Lemons ranch north of here, where he has leased pasturage. . . . Mr. Purington, who ranches north of here, sold this week to a Mr. Alexander of Temple, Tex., 290 head of 3-year-old steers at $25 per head. They were shipped from here this week to Temple, where they will be put on feed for the winter.—Sanderson Star.
