WHY?

The following negro story comes from Alabama, and may or may not be true—and it may or may not help to illustrate our point; but here goes:

"Not long after President Wilson had made Wm. G. McAdoo director-general of the railroads, two negroes who had registered for service in the army met on the streets of Athens, Ala., and the following conversation between them was overheard:

"Rastus, I see gwintet the ahmy nex' week. Is you?"

"Naw. I see not gwintet the ahmy a tall."

"Yes, you is gwintet the ahmy."

"Who says I see gwintet the ahmy?"

President Wilson. Dats who."

"President Wilson can't make me go to no ahmy."

"Now, look heah, Rastus; you fool niggah. Doan you know dat any man what can take de railroad away from the rich white folks and give dem to his son-in-law can make a pore niggah like you go to de ahmy?"

Now, of course, we know that the negro was mistaken about the railroads being taken away from "de rich white folks." But what we want to know is this? If advertising will fill our highways and by-ways with Ford cars; then replace them with another make—why the Sam Hill won't it do YOUR business a lot of good?

Spasmodic advertising does some good, but the man who really profits from advertising is the man who runs an ad regularly. Don't wait until you have something special before you advertise, because the chances are that unless people are used to seeing your ad every week they will overlook the "specials."

Think why you wear a Stetson hat?

Why you listen to the Victrola?

Why you always take a nationally advertised product instead of one that has no been so extensively advertised—then tell whether or not it pays to advertise.

OUR CAMPAIGN MANNERS

One need not point to the whispering that has characterized the recent campaign for the presidency—a campaign of malignity from which both sides have suffered—to visualize the dangers to which our form of government is exposed as a result of campaign slanders, innuendos, baseless charges, cruel suspicions and outright black lying. If the arch enemies of all government had planned it so they could not have devised a more perfect scheme for debasing popular governments, for alienating the people from their institutions and for creating discord generally.

The diabolical manner in which the thing works is that we start out to elect a constable, a councilman, a sheriff, a governor, or a president—to say nothing of the men who make the laws for these officials to execute—by attempting to tear to shreds the characters of the men who are to be elected to the offices of dignity, responsibility and trust. No matter who is chosen, he is the exception if he emerges from the campaign preceding his election free from mud and filth slung by some group of the electorate. Sometimes, but rarely, it is the opposing candidate who starts the outrage. Generally, it originates with those not actively allied with the organization on either side, but unfortunately it is seldom the case that the machine of the candidate who may be possibly helped by such tactics disavows it or puts a stop to it.

The result is that we are making it increasingly difficult to get a man of high caliber, of great attainments, of real worth, to seek any but the highest offices. They will not submit themselves to the slanders, the lies and the innuendos of the campaign mudslingers, the whisperers and scandalmongers. It boots a man nothing that he has lived cleanly and honorably, that he has treated his fellowmen with justice. The moment he offers for an office desired by another that moment he becomes a target for all manner of gossip and slander. The result is that almost any man elected to office carries with him the sting and resentment of the villainies and outrages of a dirty campaign.

Unless we are prepared to turn our public offices over to men with no sensitiveness, to men who regard the office as worth any price in personal humiliation, we must revise our campaign manners and morals.—Amrillo News.

AMRISTICE DAY

Armistice Day was appropriately celebrated here this year—but not as noisily as was the first Armistice Day ten years ago.

Some people think that because we do not make a loud noise about it that we have forgotten—but we have not. We still remember the "boys in khaki" who bled and died that the Kaiser's hordes might be kept from our shores, and the world be "made safe for democracy," and as time goes on Armistice Day will take its place with the other national holidays.

An Oklahoma girl has sued a man who promised to marry her every day for fifteen years. Broken promises make good campaign fodder, but do not seem to bring results.

PRICELESS THINGS

Lest in our preoccupation with business, we forget the deep foundations upon which our social life rests, let us stop for a moment to consider the things that are had "without money and without price"—that cannot be bought or sold—the priceless things.

Ours is an era of commerce. We talk of commodities and prices. "This is cheap, and that is dear," or we say, "This man has nothing," or "That man is worth so much." All too often gold is the yardstick, but we cannot evaluate truly unless we measure the inner self.

Sincere character—that combination of qualities so difficult to define but so easy to recognize, that invites the confidence, compels respect and inspires affection. Lacking it, the wealthy are poor; possessing it, no one can be poor for it is a priceless thing.

Good cheer, that sees through the darkest cloud its silver lining, that laughs with good fortune and smiles at mischance, the will to emphasize the bright side of life rather than its dark hours, a courageous heart with which to face the adventure of being—all priceless things.

Sympathy, the word that gives fortitude to the downcast, the handclasp that brings hope to the forlorn, the desire to lighten the other man's burden; without these, success is empty show and wealth brings no real happiness, but their possessors never can be poor for their own priceless things.

Good health, the visible sign of the life force that is in us, that gives strength for work, zest for play and quietude for repose, that resists and overcomes the enemies of the body and of the mind, without which the greatest fortune is but a burden, having which the poorest man owns a priceless thing.

Good faith in a company is what sincere character is in a man—a high ideal of its function in society, not for profit solely but as an agent of human betterment. To be known as keeping faith with those we serve and with those who serve us is a priceless thing.

Peace among nations, within our own borders, in our homes and in our hearts—not indifference nor neutrality that goes armed—but the deep peace that comes of tolerance for the viewpoint of others, for their right to their own way of thinking and of living, the peace of good conscience, of good health and good cheer—without it, existence is bitter and blighted—without it, life becomes indeed a priceless thing.

WILL THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY SURVIVE?

Now that the solid south has been apparently broken for the first time in fifty years, there arises the question, whether or not the democratic party will survive. Disaster has been predicted for the party after previous defeats and yet during the reconstruction period the party passed through perilous times to arise more unified than ever. We do not believe there is a doubt but that the organization will continue to be an important factor in politics. How soon the party will be able to wield a dominate influence will depend largely on the length of time it takes the leaders to patch up their difference and whether or not the president elect will be able to carry out his promises satisfactorily.

The greatest surprise of course was sprung in Texas, where factions are still warring, but the post election battle is being waged among the leaders who are placing their personal ambitions before party loyalty. We believe that Texas is at heart just as strongly democratic as ever, if it had not been so the voters would not have given Moody an approximately six to one lead over his republican opponent for governor.

A two party system is necessary, if we are to maintain our democratic form of government. The fundamental principle is that one party shall act as a check on the other and if the present political situation reaches the point where one party continues to dominate the governmental policy without fear of an effectual check, then we may have cause to fear that the government for the people, and by the people will cease to exist and will be replaced by a strong centralized government, little short of an absolute monarchy.

As for that matter we do not believe the republicans desire to see the democratic party buried without hope of resurrection. Remove the competition and you will remove the fun of playing politics just as we would remove the sport of athletics if we pit the strong against the weak.

COOPERATION

Education is proving a valuable aid in bringing the city and country dweller together. More and more have we come to realize that the success of one is dependent upon the other. Prosperity among farmers means prosperity among the cities. Prosperous cities means better educational advantages for the farmers children, better markets for his produce, more recreational facilities for his family and better values for his farm lands.

Looking toward a cooperative move between the farmer and the city dweller, the Nation's Business, a magazine of the United States Chamber of Commerce tells of interesting experiment which is being conducted by Rock Island county, Illinois with the aid of the various commercial organizations.

Continuing the Nation's Business remarks: Business and the farmer are working together in Rock Island county, Illinois to find out what the farm produces; secondly, who in that area buys the farmers' products; thirdly, how to get the producer and the consumer together more effectively.

Surveys have been made, information has been gathered and is now being tabulated.

And when the job is done Rock Island is going to know what it raises and what customers there are to buy it.

A worthwhile job and already other communities are planning and asking for help in planning like surveys.

The successful farmer isn't the farmer who raises twice as much wheat or twice as many eggs as last year. He's the farmer who raises and sells at a profit more wheat and more eggs.

Swift's philosopher should have showered praise not on the man who made "two blades of grass grow where only one grew before," but upon the man who needed the second.

And that's what the Rock Island farmer will know.

It is noticeable that the farmer who diversifies and keeps the cow, the sow and the hen on his farm spends very little time arguing for farm relief. He has it right in his barnyard.—Tucumcari News.

Radio was successfully used in Rhode Island to locate a stray mule, but did not seem to help the democratic donkey much.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Lemon and olive oil may be used to season spinach. Pass sections of the lemon as you would with fish, and a cruet of oil.

Take the guesswork out of roasting beef by using a meat thermometer thrust into the thickest part of the meat. When the thermometer registers between 130° and 150° F. the meat will be rare, medium between 150 degrees and 170° F. and well done at about 180° F.

The five food groups recognized as necessary in the day's meal, though all five need not be represented at every meal, are: Vegetables and fruits, meat, milk and other foods depended on for efficient protein, cereal grains and their products, sugar and sugar foods, fats and fat foods.

If your kitchen table is too low it can be raised to the best height for you by the use of blocks of wood under the legs. These blocks can be made with a socket into which the leg fits securely or they may be fastened with strips of metal to the table legs.

Some of the hard varieties of pears are delicious baked. Wash them, cut in half, and core. Place in a baking dish. Sprinkle with brown sugar and a little salt, dot with butter, and add a very little water. Place in a moderate oven. Cover at first until the pears become soft. Baste occasionally while they are cooking. Add more water if necessary to keep them from burning.

Do you think about how you are standing or sitting when doing your housework? Much fatigue that is blamed on hard work is really due to faulty posture. Keep the back straight, bend from the hips rather than from the shoulders, sit well back in chairs with the feet squarely on the floor, and do not allow the abdomen to sag forward.

A NEW PHONE INVENTION

J. Luther Collins of Oak Cliff, a Dallas suburb, has a new telephone invention which will answer calls when no one is home.

He calls his invention the "Anso-phone." In a practical test before newspapermen, he called a telephone at which no one was present.

The telephone whirred and clicked and then said, "Mr. Blank is out of his office at present. He will return at 2 o'clock. Please call again."

This will make a fine thing for persons trying to dodge bill collectors. The phone will ring:

"This is the Hopkins Collection Agency. Is Mr. Blank in?"

And the "Anso-phone" can answer: "No, Mr. Blank is out now. He will take care of the bill after the first of the month."

Teacher—"Now Willie, if James gave you a dog and David gave you a dog, how many dogs would you have?"

Willie—"Four."

Teacher—"Now, dear, think hard. Would you have four if James and David each gave you one?"

Willie—"Yep. You see, I got two dogs at home now."

IN THE STATE OF MIND

Think you are beaten, you are. Think you are not, you don't know. You would like to win, but think you can't.

Almost a cinch you won't. Think you're lost, you're lost. But in the world you'll find that as begins with a fellow's will all in the state of mind.

Many a race is lost ever a step is run. Many a coward fails even his work is begun.

Big and your deeds will grow; small and you'll fall behind; that you can, and you will—all in the state of mind.

You think you're outclassed you are. You've got to think high to rise. You've got to be sure of yourself before you can win a prize.

HIGHWAY SAFETY WEEK NOV. 12-18

SANTA FE.—The attention of the state was bid for Monday in a bulletin from the State Highway Department offices in announcing the beginning of Highway Safety Week.

"Monday and for the remainder of this week," says the bulletin, "the people of the state are asked to consider the 50 odd deaths which have occurred so far this year from highway accidents. Further, they are asked to consider ways and means of eliminating these accidents in the future. It is hoped that a workable constructive idea will evolve from some person or group in the state which will forever hinder the rise of another such total of deaths as has been the case this year."

"It has been proved by other states and by the national research organizations that highway accidents can be prevented by courtesy and caution. Supplementing this and for the drivers who will heed neither of the above suggestions must be some punitive measure which will protect the innocent from the criminally negligent. What will the people of New Mexico suggest as this measure?"

MORE PLAYGROUNDS AND PARKS SAFETY MEASURE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A vigorous plea for the construction of more public playgrounds in cities, and footpaths along county roads was made recently by the American Road Builder's Association.

"The unwarranted slaughter of children by motor cars and trucks linked closely with the general problem of safeguarding the pedestrian traffic," stated Chas. M. Upham, Secretary-Director of the Association. "Statistics show that 7,400 children of school age were killed on the highways of the United States in 1927, and of these children, 3,638 were killed while at play in the streets. More than twice as many children between the ages of 5 and 10 years were killed than any other similar period of years.

In discussing this problem of child safety Mr. Upham states, "There are entirely too few playgrounds and recreation centers and children in many cities are forced to play in the streets. Roller skating on highway pavements should be discouraged, as well as tobogganing, coasting or sledding."

"Formation of school patrols, class room instruction in the public, parochial and private schools, posting of safety bulletins and constant warning from parents will go far to promote caution among the children and minimize the number of child accidents.

RUIDOSO ROAD FINISHED

ROSSELL.—Word was received here at the District Highway office that the road near Gilliland by way of Ruidoso Summer Resort to Junction with Carrizozo-Capitan has been completed.

Work on this road has been going forward with interruptions on account of the weather for over a year. In all there was 26 miles of road built through this mountain section.

The work consisted of heavy grubbing through pines, light grader work rock work and a number of timber bridges built, according to the report. The road will open a large recreational area in the mountainous country abounding in beautiful scenery, and also open the markets of this region.

74 KILLED IN AUTOMOTIVE CRASHES IN SEPTEMBER

CHICAGO.—The grim reaper exacted relentless toll in this country during September, when an average of 74 persons were killed daily in automotive crashes and 48 lives were snuffed out daily in home accidents.

These figures just published by the national safety council show an increase of two per cent over the August fatality record and an alarming jump of eight per cent in the home fatalities.

Ninety cities and ten states, with a population of 51,000,000 reported their auto deaths. Thirty-eight cities, totaling 14,000,000 turned in their home fatalities.

SMITH CARRIED ONE COUNTY IN THE STATE

SANTA FE.—The hope of the republican party to make a clean sweep of New Mexico for Herbert Hoover was blasted Monday when official returns from DeBaca county certified to the secretary of state, revealed that Governor Smith had carried that county with his three electors receiving an averaged majority of 35.

The averaged vote was: Hoover 472; Smith 507.

Poll Books and the certified sheets are slowly trickling into the secretary of state office and are being followed closely to detect any discrepancies in the unofficial tabulations and to prepare an official chart on the state as quickly as possible.

Three new lady members of Congress, all named Ruth. So we may be sure the new congress, whatever it may do will not be Ruthless.

THE NEXT NATIONAL CONGRESS WILL BE DECIDEDLY REPUBLICAN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Final congressional results have been tabulated and although several recounts will be necessary because of close votes in contests for the house it is shown that the next congress will be made up as follows:

Senate: republicans 55; democrats 39; farmer-labor 1; vacant 1; (seat of Senator-Elect Vare, Pa.)

House: republicans 269; democrats 165; farmer labor 1.

The composition of congress was as follows:

Senate: republicans 47; democrats 46; farmer-labor 1; vacant 2.

House: republicans 231; democrats 193; farmer-labor 2; Socialist 1; vacant 8.

Election to vacancies in the present congress and to fill unexpired terms give the following lineup for the approaching short session, the last of the present congress.

Senate: Republicans 49; democrats 45; farmer-labor 1; vacant 1.

House: republicans 237; democrats 195; farmer-labor 2; socialist 1.

In the senate, republicans filled one of the two vacancies and captured democratic seats from the following states: Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Missouri, Ohio, Rhode Island and West Virginia.

In the house republicans won democratic seats in the following states: Missouri 7; Kentucky 6; Ohio 3; Virginia 3; New York 2; North Carolina 2; Nebraska 2; and one each in Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. In addition the republicans won the seat held by the lone socialist, Victor Berger, of Wisconsin, and one of the two farmer-labor seats from Minnesota that was held by representative Carrs. Total republican gains—33.

Democrats in the house captured republican seats as follows: One each in Indiana, Rhode Island and West Virginia—total—3.

The net republican gain in the house 30.

ROOSEVELT PLANS A SURVEY OF THE PARTY

WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor-elect of New York, last week announced that he contemplated a survey of the democratic situation, but added that it has "absolutely nothing to do with my own election or any future election."

During a press conference, when the shouts of "Roosevelt for president in 1932" that greeted the governor-elect as his train passed Georgia towns last week was broached, Mr. Roosevelt said emphatically: "I want definitely to step on any talk of that kind with both feet. The expression is colloquial, but is very clear."

Mr. Roosevelt who arrived for a month's rest, said he contemplated a survey similar to one he conducted in 1924.

"In 1924 I sent out letters to all delegates to the national convention and to democratic leaders, asking their views of the situation," he said. "The result of their replies was a thorough-going understanding of the situation among leaders throughout the country which resulted in co-operation and the presentation of a united front on the part of congressional and senatorial leaders.

"I am convinced that this year, through the various check ups to be made during the next two months, democratic leaders will present a united front and bring home the fact that this year the democratic national ticket received 40 per cent of the popular vote, as against 29 per cent in 1924, 31 per cent in 1920 and a very substantial gain and at least half way toward 51 per cent.

TURKEY PRODUCTION

The most important sections of turkey production are the Middle Western and Southwestern states. In these states large numbers of small flocks are raised annually on the grain farms and there are also many large commercial flocks. The census of 1920 shows the six leading states in production of turkeys to be Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma, California, Kentucky and Virginia. Formerly large numbers were raised in New England, but in recent years there has been a decided decrease.

MAN SHOT BY THE ROSSELL POLICE DIES

George McClure, Jr., who was shot in the neck by Chief of Police Alford at Roswell when he resisted arrest after he had threatened to kill his wife and family, died in a hospital at Roswell last Friday. Although McClure had exonerated Chief Alford of all blame for the shooting the Police Chief said Friday that he wanted the matter to be placed fully before the grand jury.

ALL GIN TRASH TO BE BURNED

The regents of the Agricultural College have issued an order requiring all gins in the pink bollworm section of the state to burn or otherwise destroy gin trash about the cotton gins. The order, as promulgated, makes it illegal for anyone to remove gin trash from the gin yard until it has been sterilized and makes the ginner responsible for the gin trash. Federal and state authorities are cooperating in an effort to help the ginner to properly sterilize gin trash. The New Mexico authorities have been in favor of such a regulation for several years, but in view of the fact that no similar regulation existed in Texas, New Mexico authorities had refused to issue such an order, feeling it a useless precaution. Recently Texas put such a ruling into effect and the New Mexico authorities then issued the same order.

In spite of the care of the state and federal authorities and the earnest attempt on the part of ginner to thoroughly sterilize cotton seed, the pink bollworm seems to be slowly spreading into new territory. Within the past three years it has moved westward into new territories in Arizona and eastward to new counties in Texas. Entomologists believe that the greatest source of infestation or re-infestation is from gin trash or dirt. Live worms and pupae are found in gin trash. This year some were found in gin trash at a gin below El Paso as early as September. The custom in the past has been to carry the gin trash to fields for fertilizer. This means that all live worms and pupae are carried to the cotton fields and there given an opportunity to spend the winter and emerge in the spring to re-infest next spring's crop.

The new order requires that all gin trash be thoroughly sterilized or be burned. Entomologists believe that this will destroy a very large percentage of the larvae and pupae which may now be responsible for the persistence of the pink bollworm in the infested territory.

INCOMES NET $22,637,317,907

WASHINGTON.—An aggregate net income of $22,673,317,907 for 1927 was shown to have been reported by income tax payers in returns filed to August 31, 1928, in a preliminary report on statistics of income published last week by the Internal Revenue bureau.

Of the 4,122,242 returns made, 2,464,168 were found liable for taxes totaling $826,245,497. The 1927 returns represented an increase of 46,700 over those for 1926 filed to August 31, 1927, with the total net income likewise having been increased by $1,008,141,581 and the tax by $98,766,071. The average net income was computed from the 1927 returns to be $5,475 and the average tax liability $200.43.

Of the 1927 returns 3,234,877 were for incomes under $5,000 and 283 for incomes of $1,000,000 and over. Ten tax payers were shown to have annual incomes of $5,000,000 and over. Incomes of $1,000,000 and over were placed at 60 for 1914, 141 for 1917, 33 for 1920, 74 for 1923, and 231 for 1926.

PLAN TO DYNAMITE BURNING GAS WELL

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Efforts to snuff out the 100-foot flaming gas torch at Santa Fe Springs oil field with dynamite, were underway here Monday as the "outlaw" gusher, which came in with a violent explosion Friday, continued to burn unabated. Workers said that if the fire continues as a gasser, dynamiting will probably be successful, but they were of the opinion that if oil starts to flow to the surface with the gas, the method would not only fail to extinguish the blaze, but would splatter burning oil over a large area, which would result in a great conflagration.

The force of the gas as it rushed to the surface of the well, feeding the flame with approximately 50,000,000 cubic feet of fuel a day, continued to make the ground tremble for a large radius, and the heat from the flames further hampered workers who were laying plans to shut off the tremendous jet and subdue the flames.

Should oil be found in the gas, engineers may attempt to use the tunnel method, which proved successful in shutting off a gusher, which came in at the same field some time ago. By this method they would attempt to tap the casing below the ground and divert the pressure of the gas.

Already the gasser, besides causing one death, was estimated to have cost more than a million dollars during its brief existence. All operations in the field have been suspended, and nearby derricks razed in order to eliminate the hazard of the fire spreading.

GOOD BUSINESS IN SOUTHERN NEW MEXICO

Southern New Mexico again occupies the white spot in the business map of the United States recently issued by the Nation's Business. White means business good, shaded areas mean business fair and black areas indicate business is poor. The Pecos valley has been occupying the white space on the map for more than a year, indicating that business is good.

CLOVER SEED CROP SMALLER THAN EXPECTED

The clover production this year is fifty per cent smaller than expected, according to information received from growers who previously reported to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics the first half of September. At that time it was estimated that the crop would be about the same as last year, a somewhat larger amount offsetting decreases in the yield per acre. However, unfavorable weather conditions at harvest time cut down production greatly in some of the important districts.

PAUL'S EXPERIENCES IN JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:18-29:25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might.
PRIMARY TOPIC—How a Boy Helped His Uncle.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How a Boy Helped His Uncle.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Proves His Courage.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Religious Prejudice and Fanaticism.

I. Paul's Vow (21:18-26). Upon Paul's arrival at Jerusalem representatives of the church there gave him a most cordial reception. In order that the brethren in Jerusalem might graciously receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish vow to prove that he was in no way opposed to the law. The effort was to remove prejudice.

II. Paul's Arrest (21:27-40). How far this act conciliated the Christian Jews we are not told, but it only enraged the unbelieving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These maddened Jews on the basis of a supposition seized Paul, dragged him from the temple and beat him mercilessly, intending to put him to death. Paul was rescued from the mob by the Roman guard. The chief captain, not being able to get any information from the howling mob, bound Paul and started for the castle. In order to protect him, the soldiers lifted him upon their shoulders and bore him up the stairs.

III. Paul's Defense (22:1-27). Paul's chief concern was not his own safety. He used this last opportunity of witnessing for Christ.

1. His just claim for a hearing (vv. 1-3).

(1) His birth (v. 3). He was Jewish-born in Tarsus, a city of no mean reputation.

(2) His education (v. 3). He was educated in a school under the tutelage of Gamaliel and instructed "according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers."

(3) His zeal (v. 3). He was as zealous toward God as those Jews who were trying to destroy him.

2. His former attitude toward Jesus (vv. 4, 5).

"I persecuted this way unto the death," so that his attitude was one of hatred as was that of the Jews.

3. How his attitude was changed (vv. 6-10).

This change of attitude was brought about by the intervention of God. While on his way to Damascus with authority to bring the Christians to Jerusalem to be punished, Paul was smitten from the ground by a light from heaven, and the voice of the Lord said, "Why persecutest thou Me?" When Paul inquired as to what he was to do, he was told to go into Damascus where he would be told what to do. Ananias was sent by the Lord to make known His will.

4. The Lord commissioned him to go to the Gentiles (vv. 17-21).

It was not of his own will that he preached to the Gentiles, but by the Lord's direct commission.

IV. Paul Before the Sanhedrin (23:1-10).

The Roman officer, in order to learn why Paul was arrested, commanded the chief council to assemble, and brought Paul before them.

1. Paul's earnest look at the council (vv. 1, 2).

This was a solicitation of their honor to give him a fair hearing, and also a look of conscious integrity and unflinching courage.

2. Paul's stern rebuke of the head of the council (v. 3).

"God shall smite thee, thou whited wall." This was a just sentence, no doubt directed by the Lord. Paul showed that he had the highest respect for the office, but the man then occupying it was not worthy of it.

3. Paul's appeal to the Pharisees (vv. 6-10).

Seeing that he could not get a fair hearing, and perceiving that the body before him was made up of Pharisees and Sadducees, he appealed to the Pharisees for his preaching and something in common with their belief.

V. The Lord Stood by Paul (v. 11).

He was in great need of grace to sustain him. He may have begun to question the wisdom of his going to Jerusalem, but this assured him that his course was right, and thus comfort was brought to him.

VI. The Conspiracy to Kill Paul (vv. 18-22).

More than forty men banded together for the purpose of getting Paul out of the way. This plot was known to Paul's sister's son (v. 16), who reported it, and thus doubtless saved the apostle's life.

THE LARGEST CATTLE MOVEMENT IN MONTHS

ALAMOGORDO.—The largest cattle movement in Otero and Lincoln counties for several months was reported for the month of October by Alfred Hunter, inspector for this district, with the shipment of 3485 head. November shipments, he said, are expected to be the largest of the year, with cattle from the Mescalero reservation to be shipped the 11th, and with other large shipments that are scheduled.

Malcolm Shelton, wealthy Amarillo stockman, who recently purchased the Bud Howell ranch, to stock it with fancy cattle and polo ponies, shipped three hundred head of cattle last week end. The Block ranch near Carrizozo soon will ship 2,000 head.

SPLENDID ARMISTICE PROGRAM RENDERED AT H. S. AUDITORIUM

A splendid community program appropriate for Armistice Day was rendered at the School Auditorium Sunday afternoon, and was enjoyed by a large crowd. Below the program:

Opening address—Rev. J. A. Hedges.
Piano solo—Miss Snyder.
Address—Mr. Kellihin, of Roswell.
Vocal solo—Presbyterian church choir, Ruth Hedges at the piano.
Reading—Henry Slater.
Invocation—Rev. Hedges.
The program was prepared by Mrs. R. N. Thomas and her committee of the Woman's club, assisted by the members of the local school faculty, and was enjoyed very much by the large crowd that attended.

It seems to me a great truth, that human things cannot stand on selfishness, mechanical utilities, economics and law courts; that, if there be not a religious element in the relations of men, such relations are miserable and doomed to ruin.—Carlyle.

THREE KEYS TO HAPPINESS

Unselfishness is the golden key which unlocks the door to happiness. It takes the place of twenty rules. Emerson said, "The only way to have a friend is to be one."

You will find as you look back upon your life that the moments that stand out above everything else are the moments when you have done things in a spirit of love.

The man who goes more than half way in making folks happy in this world, is more than half way toward happiness in the next one.—Exchange.

"Now, who is absent-minded?" he cried triumphantly, producing two umbrellas from under his arm. "You have forgotten your umbrella, but I've mine and your as well!"

The woman gazed at him pityingly. "Idiot!" she exclaimed. "Neither of us had one"—Answers.

D. D. Wimberly, general representative of the Prætorian Life Insurance Co., of Roswell was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Baron J. V. Auriemma, Salvation Army Financial Ambassador, reports that he has made a 100% drive for funds in this section of Chaves county. Detailed report, and account of program given at the school house tonight (Thursday) will appear in our next issue.

Mrs. Bessie Hoyt and daughter, Helen, went to White Deer, Texas, the latter part of last week to accompany Mrs. Hoyt's small nieces and nephew, the Crawford children to their home at that place. The children have been visiting in the Hoyt home for several weeks.

The foreman of the roadmenders had been taken ill suddenly, and his right hand man, Patrick O'Casey, was duly promoted to the post temporarily.

On the foreman's subsequent return he was surprised to find Patrick the only man working, and inquired as to absence of the others.

"Where's all the boys Pat?" "Oi sacked ivery man o' them," replied the Irishman with a grin.

"It's not very often Oi have a chance of showing me authority; but bedad, Oi made the most of me opportunity yesterday, to be sure."

"CALL OF THE WILD"

November tenth, the opening of the hunting season is the signal for all lovers of the out of doors to pack their bed rolls, take their guns and leave for the hills. No matter how civilized man becomes this submerged instinct comes to the surface in the deer season. Each has a keen desire to bag a buck or turkey, but the quest of the game is really the important thing. The hunters will cheerfully tramp miles over broken country and, dead tired, return at night to camp. Exercise has given him a keen appetite for camp fare, steaming coffee, bacon, beans, delicious biscuits baked in the dutch oven.

The exodus of hunters to the hills began last Thursday and continued unabated until Sunday, when some hundred of them were scouring the Sacramentos in search of deer and turkey. A few went farther, to the Black range in the western part of the state, but most Hagermanites stopped nearer home. There were numbers from all valley towns and neighboring states of Texas and Oklahoma. Incidentally the hikers were not all of the masculine gender. A number of ladies went along to enjoy the the outing in the woods. The weather in the mountain district has been perfect this week sunny and warm in the daytime and freezing at night.

And when darkness settles down the tired hunters settle down to spend a happy evening around the camp fire exchanging experiences of the chase. The brooding stillness of the night, broken only by a musical tinkle as the bell horses range about grazing or by the belated discharge of a gun, and the brilliance of stars, which appear so near in the high altitude, throw a glamor over the scene which appeals to the gypsy instinct of the hunter. He is tired but happy and at peace with all the world. After a few days of enchantment he is ready to return to his job, his home comforts, his bed springs, his natural gas and his radio. The "Call of the Wild," has been satisfied once more.

The Vicar was paying a visit to the homes of his poorer parishioners, and in the house of a certain costermonger he asked many questions about the family. A very grubby, but very cheerful, lad attracted the kindly cleric's attention, and he asked him his name.

"Reginald D'Arcy Smith, sir," replied the lad with a grin.

The vicar turned to the boy's father. "What did you give him a name like that for?"

"Cos I want 'im ter be a professional boxer," returned the parent, "and, wiv a name like that he'll get a bit o' practice at school."

City of Vanished Empire

On a high plateau in Asia Minor lie the desolate ruins of the largest city of the ancient Hittite empire. It is reported. The existence of a city in this remote place has long been known, but the site has hitherto been ignored by scientists.

Humble Beginning

The automatic telephones now in use employ a principle devised fifty-five years ago by a Kansas City undertaker named Strouger. The original of the automatic switch that works the phones was designed from a collar box.

SCHOOL NEWS

Tuesday morning Rev. Hedges made a very interesting talk to the Hagerman High school. The subject for the morning was "The Battle of life," and in this talk he told the story of the work of scientists in the discovery of disease germs and how to destroy them. He also told the story of vaccination and why we should take the serum. He said that God had put within our bodies the means of combating these germs and if we live clean lives we need have little fear, but if the disease is too strong to be overcome by the substance within the blood that we owe it to ourselves and to others to take medicine and help prevent the spread of disease. His talk was along the line that is being emphasized so much in the schools at present, and we were very glad that he chose this subject.

WHAT COLLEGE OFFERS

To be at home in all lands and at all ages; to count nature a familiar acquaintance and art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and a criticism for your own; to carry the keys to the world's library in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever you undertake; to make hosts of friends among men of your own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose yourself in generous enthusiasm and cooperate with others for common ends; to learn mankind from students who are gentlemen and form characters under professors who are Christians. This is the offer of the college for the best four years of your life.—The Mustang.
