NRA PUBLICITY MAN

Charles Michaelson, who has served as publicity director for the Democratic national committee, was selected to act in the same capacity for the national recovery administration. He also supervises the press "hand-outs" for the agricultural adjustment and public works administrations.

Cotton Plowing Checks Not Expected Soon

Department of agriculture officials early this week completed a plan for making possible the payment in full of more than $100,000,000 in benefits to cotton farmers for curtailing production without withholding sums due the government as seed, feed and other types of loans.

The plan of agricultural officials contemplates a waiver for the time being of the government's claim on crop production loans and renewal of obligations by farmers for later payment.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Only three farmers have actually received checks from the government for plowing under cotton. One is a Texas farmer, who was brought to Washington in an airplane to receive his check personally from President Roosevelt and pose for newspaper photographers with the check in one hand and a stalk of cotton in the other.

The other two are Georgia farmers, whose checks were made out in a hurry in order that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace might make the presentation as a little publicity side performance in connection with a speech the secretary made in Georgia last week.

More than 1,027,000 other cotton farmers in the south, who signed contracts with the government, are still waiting to be paid for abandoned acreage. And unless Washington red tape starts unwinding more rapidly, a vast majority of these farmers will not receive their checks until October or the latter part of September.

Most of them will be paid for the cotton they harvest and sell before they are paid for the cotton they destroyed.

The million-odd contracts signed by cotton farmers are in the sprawling basement office of the records unit of the agricultural adjustment administration, located in the new department of agriculture building.

In that office a corps of more than 200 clerks and bookkeepers are at work. Three machines are turning out notices of acceptance at the rate of 50,000 a day.

Until a notice of acceptance is received from Washington, a county agricultural agent can not send back to Washington the certificate of compliance notifying the government that the farmer has lived up to the terms of his contract and has destroyed his cotton. And until the certificate of compliance is received in Washington, the check to the farmer cannot be drawn and mailed.

The total number of notices of acceptance mailed is slightly over 500,000. In other words approximately half of that part of the work has been completed in the three weeks that have elapsed since it was announced that the cotton campaign has succeeded.

Many persons fear the delay may imperil the cotton program. It is feared that a substantial number of cotton farmers may get tired waiting for Uncle Sam and pick the cotton instead of harvesting it as they contracted to do.

CAPITOL POLICE HEAD

Capt. William S. Orthman, who was recently named chief of the police force of the United States Capitol in Washington, Captain Orthman was a member of the Chicago police force for many years.

MCINNIS ADDRESSES THE MEN'S CLUB ON THE N.R.A. PROGRAM

Twenty-eight members of the Hagerman Men's club heard W. J. McInnes, general of the N. R. A. forces of Roswell in an address on the principles of the program at their regular Tuesday night meeting.

Mr. McInnes outlined the necessity for such an advancement, giving the scope of its operation, and predicted some results of the successful carrying out of the idea. He proposed to call it "Truce on Selfishness" in the business of the future instead of the uncompromising individualism of the past. He stated, "It offers the American business man an emblem of enlightened self interest to replace the badge of independence, artifice and subtlety heretofore more or less in vogue."

The speaker pictured the various business codes designed to eliminate unfair competition, and suggested that by the co-operation of the consumers of the nation with the dealers abiding by the spirit of the N. R. A. economic stability might be brought about.

The whole program centers about the giving employment to millions of American citizens who are now out of work.

The address of Mr. McInnes was very instructive and interesting to all who heard it. He gave a short time to answering questions proposed by the men present.

SIMPSON CASE GOES EDDY COUNTY COURT

On motion of District Attorney George L. Reese, Jr., Judge James B. McGhee granted a change of venue for the trial of J. H. Simpson, for the killing of Oscar Adams at Tatum. The case will be tried at Carlsbad, during the October term.

Reese argued that the prominence of the defendant and the man killed would make it impossible for the court to secure a jury in Lea county, and was sustained by the court.

Counsel for the defense resisted the motion.

THE VALLEY GINNERS MEET IN ARTESIA TO DECIDE ON POLICY

Representing the twenty-two gins of the Pecos valley, the Valley Ginner's Association met yesterday afternoon in Artesia to work out an acceptable code to present to the National Recovery Administration.

Several other state codes and the proposed national code were examined as they related to working hours, pay and ginning rates, but, because none of these codes had been accepted at Washington it was finally decided to leave the questions open pending a general south-wide ginner's meeting of state delegates to be held at Memphis, Tennessee September 1.

At that time John Tweedy is to go to Memphis representing the valley. It is believed that the code written there with variations for the several states will be acceptable, and the ginner's here have agreed to be governed by it.

All of the codes call for shorter hours, with relatively higher pay where the old schedule of pay has been less than $14.00 a week. Relatively higher pay may not increase the pay check but would decrease the hours, thus calling for more labor, it was pointed out.

Somewhat higher ginning rates are indicated to compensate for increased labor costs, it is believed. The west Texas code calls for a 40 cent ginning rate and it was learned that the El Paso and Mesilla valley district was working in conjunction with west Texas.

This leaves only the Pecos valley ginner's to represent the state organization. It is thought likely that the N. R. A. might also require the valley ginner's to operate under the west Texas code.

This, by reason of the fact that west Texas cotton gins faster and easier and the fact that they are not required to sterilize their seed, is considered more advantageous to the Texas gins.

Tentative rates may be filed with the state corporation commission by the ginner's meeting here in order that gins in the valley may obtain licenses to operate.

A raise in rates, but it is hoped not an exorbitant one, seems sure for this territory, according to W. R. Hornbaker.

ANTELOPE AND ELK TO BE HUNTED FOR FIRST TIME IN N. M.

SANTA FE—For the first time in New Mexico the elk is included this year in big game animals to be hunted. The state game commission has authorized a special permit elk season extending from November 6 to 15 inclusive, in an area of approximately 120 square miles near the headwaters of the Pecos river. The limit authorized by each permit is one bull elk with at least 3 points on each antler. Only 100 permits are to be issued according to the ruling of the commission.

Applications for permits will be received by the department of game and fish in Santa Fe up to October 6. Each application must be accompanied by a remittance of $10, and each applicant must be the possessor of a regular big game hunting license. If more than 100 applications are made the 100 to whom permits will be issued will be determined by a drawing, but the order in which the applications are received will have no priority effect.

It is estimated by the state game warden that there are between 600 and 800 in the elk population of the area to be hunted. He estimates that approximately 300 of these are bull elk of legal killing size. Arrangements will be made to check the hunters in and out of the area, and to distribute them over the area so that there will be no undue congestion in any one place. There is approximately 1 1/5 square miles of area to each hunter.

Sportsmen are urged by the game department to see that their applications are filed, together with the required fee, prior to the limitation date of October 6.

Another permit season on antelopes has been authorized for this year. The season extending from October 1 to 5 inclusive. The area to be hunted is in Catron and Socorro counties, and is slightly larger than the area that was opened last year. The bag limit is one buck antelope.

Applications for antelope hunting will be received by the department of game and fish up to September 10. Each application must be accompanied by a remittance of $5, and the applicant must be the possessor of a regular big game hunting license. No permit will be issued to persons less than 14 years of age.

Virtually all of the antelope hunters last year were successful in bagging an animal. This year there will be 150 permits issued. In event of more than 150 applications being received, a drawing will be made to determine the successful applicants, but the order in which the applications are received will have no priority effect in the drawing.

This is the first time since the establishment of a game department in New Mexico that it will be possible for a hunter to obtain elk, antelope and deer trophies in the one year; possible if one sportsman is fortunate enough to obtain both an elk and antelope permit and then bag his game.

Rev. J. A. Hedges, who suffered a recent relapse, began to improve Sunday and is much better. Rev. Hedges has been unable to be up out of bed since his attack of illness over two months ago.

KILLS WIFE WITH RAZOR

CARLSBAD—A fit of jealousy was blamed by officers Saturday night for the killing of Mrs. Maria Lares, 22, and the attempted suicide of Angel Lares, 22, her estranged husband at Loving.

Lares, only slightly injured by his attempts to slash his throat, was in the county jail at Carlsbad awaiting the filing of charges against him. He is alleged to have admitted to officers that he killed his wife because "she made him mad."

Mrs. Lares had been granted a divorce from Lares and also was given custody of their two small children.

According to officers, Lares entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Trujillo, Mrs. Lares' mother and father, shortly after eight o'clock Saturday morning. Without a word he drew a razor and slashed his wife's throat almost severing her head from her body. She died almost instantly. He then tried to cut his own throat but was stopped by his mother-in-law.

Officers were called and Lares peacefully accompanied them to jail.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict holding Lares responsible for his wife's death and officers said charges would probably be filed against him early next week.

TO BE MARRIED

A marriage license has been issued to Roy Lee Hearn, son of Mrs. M. G. Hearn of Hagerman and Miss Irma Love, daughter of Earl Love of Dexter.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENT COSTS MAN HIS EYE

Homer Lee Griffin of Dexter will probably lose the sight of his left eye as the result of an automobile crash which occurred between eight and nine o'clock Monday night about five miles south of Roswell on the Roswell-Dexter highway.

Mr. Griffin said Tuesday morning that he and Clyde Barnes were driving to Roswell Monday night from Dexter and that they ran into a car which was parked on the highway without lights. Barnes was driving, he said, and was blinded by the lights of an approaching car so that he did not see the parked car. He said that the accident occurred sometime between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Frank Pachcos and S. Pachcos, brothers were with the other car. They said they had stopped to repair a tire. They said they had a reflector on the rear but no tail light and that their headlights were burning.

DO NOT WANT ARIZONA PUBLIC WORKS ENGINEER

SANTA FE — Chairman Ed Swope of the democratic party and Governor Arthur Seligman were vigorous in their opposition to New Mexico being placed under an Arizona engineer in the public works system. They said they had sent a protest to Washington.

New Mexico has been grouped with Texas and Louisiana in the public works layout and now has an Arizona engineer to head its work, they said.

AWAY FROM IT ALL

PETITION TO COMMISSIONERS

ROSSELL—It was learned here from unofficial sources Tuesday night that the petition completed last Saturday requesting a local option election would be presented the county commissioners as soon as an opinion was received from Attorney General E. K. Neumann.

The petition was signed by 748 qualified electors of Chaves county and given to Chaves County Clerk George L. Foreman on Saturday, but due to the adverse opinion of George L. Reese, Jr., in which he advised the county commissioners against calling the election it was not presented to the commissioners on Monday as was previously announced.

A saving of the cost of a county election will be made for the taxpayers if the local option election is held at the same time as the special state election, September 19, sponsors of the petition have stated.

TO BOYCOTT ROSWELL

A move to boycott Roswell wholesalers if they do not withdraw their support of the proposal to improve the road from the Y-O crossing to Roswell is under way in Artesia, it was learned Wednesday.

It is proposed to circulate a petition to that effect among local business men; this petition to be sent with all possible signatures to the Roswell chamber of commerce.

Miss Dorothy Sweatt is visiting with Miss Helen Hockenull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hockenull, in Santa Fe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sweatt and family spent Sunday in Portales where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mann.

MANY FENCES ON PUBLIC LAND TO BE MOVED THIS WINTER

Many hundreds of miles of fence on the public domain in New Mexico will be removed during the coming winter, George G. Bywater special agent in charge of the interior department investigation office said last week.

The order of Secretary Ickes that the fences be removed, Bywater said, is irrevocable unless by act of congress.

Bywater said he would begin the task of notifying ranchers to remove the fences about September 1st. Ranchmen will be allowed 60 days from date of notice to get the fences down. Notification of removal will be made by districts which themselves will be determined by geographical boundaries.

The law against fencing the public domain, Bywater said, has been enforced rigidly in all public land states except New Mexico and Arizona. New Mexico has more public land under fence than Arizona.

Numerous stockmen have contended that the Ickes order to remove the fences would ruin many ranchers, but the secretary has refused to back down from his original order.

Bywater moved his office to Albuquerque from Santa Fe recently. He and his seventeen assistants will be charged with the task of guarding against graft in the expenditure of New Mexico's $5,000,000 allotment from the public works fund. All investigations pertaining to the Indian service and reclamation bureau as well as public lands matters will be under his office.

METHODIST REVIVAL

The revival meeting which started Sunday in the local Methodist church is attracting much interest. Rev. A. C. Douglas, pastor of the Methodist Church at Artesia is doing the preaching.

The entire community is invited to attend these services which will continue for another week. Rev. Douglas is a very inspiring and talented speaker.

The Methodist church has been covered with a twenty-five year galvanized roof put on by a process developed by C. F. Tressler. The work was completed the latter part of the week, and the parsonage is also to be covered as soon as possible in the same manner.

MEETING AT GREENFIELD

COWARDS

There are three kinds of cowards... the best known is the physical coward, and yet, that person is comparatively rare who is afraid of bodily injury or death.

But the moral cowards probably number more than any other tribe. These are the men and women who have opinions, but who cannot stand criticism of them— who haven't the faith to carry on, and who are swayed by the beliefs and the prejudices of the other fellow to the extent that they are fearful to paddle their own canoes.

USE CARE IN SELECTING CHILD'S SCHOOL CLOTHES

Boys and girls work and play at school, therefore, their clothing must be made of materials that are easily cleaned and that will stand hard wear.

If the mother is buying new school clothing for her child, she should first consider the garments on hand. The new garments should fit into the needs and color schemes of the old ones.

Children are very sensitive to their clothing, therefore, even though the garments should be kept simple in design, they should be made as attractive as possible.

It is always a question whether it is more economical to purchase children's school clothes ready made or to make them at home.

Again, may we remind you that the behavior of your child is influenced by his or her clothing.

THE VALUE OF HEALTH

A man values his health very little until he has lost it. After that he will give all of his money and half of his remaining days to get it back again.

When I ask what is the value of a baby's life I am usually told that it is priceless. Yet nothing is more certain than the ability of public health workers to save babies' lives in New Mexico.

In 1930 the infant mortality of the state was 138 for every thousand and babies born. In 1932 it was 118. There are 240 babies living in New Mexico today who would have been buried last year if the rate had continued at the 1930 level.

Cotton market has been much of the past week due to buying orders, gradually going to lower levels than we have seen since the price moved up from the nine cent level several months ago as a result of the Reconstruction Program and the reduction plan of the administration.

Lower prices are in prospect for the immediate future. The administration can ill afford to allow prices of agricultural products to sink much lower than to put over to a successful conclusion its present N. Y. program.

With growing weather, larger prospects and perhaps a desire to see immediately lower prices on the part of the administration probably account for the decline.

It still believe it is not wise to expect cotton at present levels, confidently expect to see some change in news soon that will bring the market to higher, (perhaps higher) levels.

NEW CAVERN EXIT PROPOSED TO CUT DOWN THE DISTANCE

Ernest Barnes of Carlsbad inspires the El Paso Herald-Post to the use of a considerable amount of space for the exposition of his plan to have the main entrance to the caverns by a 700-foot tunnel from his place to the far end of the "Big Room," going away with the present and future highway to the cavern mouth, and all of the present features on top of ground.

The theory is not new. It has been talked about ever since anybody knew that the caverns were something more than a bat roost. The estimated distance may be exactly correct. It makes no difference if it is a few hundred feet short or long. The rock would be easily tunneled. It would shorten the way into the "Big Room."

There are other considerations than mere distance.

The corridor leading down to the caverns is the most majestic anteroom in the world, even more inspiring than any of the major rooms of the whole outfit. It is sublime both going in and coming out. To short-cut it out of existence would be poor economy from an esthetic point of view.

The automobile climb to the cavern mouth is one of the most interesting features about a visit to the national park now. When the new highway is completed it will be one of the finest scenic drives in the world. It will employ hundreds of men for a long period of time, when work is the great need of the nation.

Conceding the practical possibilities of the tunnel plan, there is every reason in the world why no serious thought should be entertained to even considering a change.—Current-Argus.

A PIONEER OF PECOS VALLEY DIES SUNDAY

J. Smith Lea, Pecos valley pioneer, died suddenly at Roswell Saturday morning. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Ballard Funeral Home.

A pioneer in the true sense of the word, the late J. Smith Lea came to Roswell in 1881. He was 77 years old at the time of his death and had been a resident of Roswell for more than half a century.

Failing in health for the past year, he suffered a heart attack in his sleep Saturday morning and death came before medical aid could be secured. Mrs. Beulah Lynch of 100 North Richardson at whose home he has resided for the past twenty years, said that she thought she heard a struggle in his room about 5:00 a. m., rushed to his room, found him stricken and called a physician. He was dead however, before the doctor arrived.

A native of Del Rio, Tennessee the deceased was born January 18, 1856. His boyhood was spent in Jackson county, Missouri, near Kansas City, and in his early manhood he went to Texas. In 1881 he came to Roswell, making the trip on horseback from Ellis county, Texas in company with his step-brother, Frank Burnett.

After prospecting for a short time in the White Oaks he became a deputy sheriff under Pat Garrett. He assumed his duties just three days before Billy the Kid met his death at the hands of Garrett. He continued work as a peace officer until 1882 when he returned to Roswell and became a partner in the firm of Poe, Lea and Cosgrove mercantile store.

He represented Chaves county eight years in the second and third legislatures of the state of New Mexico and was treasurer of Chaves county for two terms. He served also as county assessor, Mayor of Roswell, police judge and justice of the peace.

Throughout his long residence here and his many years of service to the public, he made and held a host of friends who mourn his passing. He was known throughout the southwest as a man of strong moral character, kindly natured and ever commanded the respect and admiration of all who knew him. His death came as a distinct shock to the entire community and his passing is mourned in the hearts of a multitude of friends and acquaintances.

PROPOSE A PEGGED PRICE AND BONUS ON 5 MILLION HOGS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Emergency plans for raising hog prices were presented to the agricultural adjustment administration last week.

Earl C. Smith of the national corn and hog committee of 25 which was selected at Des Moines won impressive support of interested parties for the committee's plan to remove 2,000,000,000 lbs of hogs from the market in the next twelve months by paying a bounty to farmers on light pigs and brood sows.

The plan provided for the marketing of 4,000,000 pigs ranging in weight from 25 to 100 pounds at pegged prices ranging from $6 to $9 a hundred in the 15-day period beginning last Tuesday.

It also provided for the immediate marketing of 1,000,000 sows above 275 pounds soon to farrow by offering a premium of $4 a head, plus removal costs.

"To make this effective," the plan proposed, "we recommend that a very substantial or restrictive processing tax be placed on all hogs above 235 lbs at the earliest possible date."

The revenue to pay the bounty would be raised by the processing tax on pork, probably a fraction of a cent a pound. This would send a large amount of cash to hog raisers immediately. With hog prices off 50 per cent, many are hard pressed.

The plan was endorsed by E. A. O'Neal, American Farm Bureau Federation, S. S. McCloskey, National Grange, E. E. Kennedy, National Farmers' Union, Charles Ewing, National Live Stock association, Milo Reno, Farmers' Holiday Association and Joe Mercer, Kansas City Livestock Association.

A. D. Majors, president of the United States Live Stock Association formed January 1, which has grown into an association of nearly 20,000 volunteer members, including range men, feeders and marketing men, was prepared to protest the plan.

"We oppose tampering with the supply and marketing of live stock and favor elimination of direct marketing," Majors said.

Dr. A. G. Black, A. A. A. director of corn and hog production, presided at the conference but Administrator George N. Peek was scheduled to see the conferees later.

The hog emergency was said to be due to a shortage of corn for feed, although Majors said "our

LANE LIQUOR BILL IS DECLARED OFFICIAL LAW OF THIS STATE

The Lane liquor bill is the law of New Mexico, according to legal opinion at the capitol. The question was raised by an opinion in Chaves county by the district attorney who was reported to have told county commissioners that the vote of the people determined the status of the Lane law. The opinion supposedly was given when the commissioners were about to consider a petition for calling a local option election to be held with the special election September 19 as is being done in other counties.

The Lane bill became law 90 days after the close of the legislature and is now the liquor control law of the state. Any prosecutions for liquor law violations from that date henceforth, or until a new law is passed, will be under the Lane law. It has no issue with the people of the state except that if they wipe out article XXIII of the state constitution (prohibition section) then the Lane law covers where the constitution covered before.

The Lane law provides county, or city, commissioners must call a local option election within 90 days after a properly prepared petition is presented asking such an election. It was held that commissioners refusing this request would be liable to mandamus proceedings in court.

Since the Lane law repeals chapter 72 of the previous laws which controlled liquor, it now must be the law else there is no statute controlling liquor, attorneys said. Some time ago an informal opinion was given by the attorney general's office that it was law. Nothing in the Lane law shall conflict, it sets out, with the state and national constitutions. Until such times as the voters amend the state constitution, it will prevail. If the state and national constitutions are amended to permit liquor, then the control sections of the Lane law become operative.

These control sections provide for licensing at fixed fees the dealers, fermenters, brewers and distillers as well as the consumers. Only established business houses may deal in liquors and public drinking is prohibited. Revocation of dealer, maker and consumer permits is provided for infraction of any part of the law.

There is possibility liquor may be made available in New Mexico legally immediately after September 19 votes are officially canvassed. One section of the Lane law provides nothing in the act shall apply to use of liquor for medicinal, mechanical or scientific purposes. Thus, if the state constitution's dry section is repealed, the federal statutes govern. Since the federal government permits the sale of liquor on prescriptions without restrictions, it was held that such liquor would be available immediately in New Mexico if article XXIII is repealed.

CHILD'S PET FRYER SLEEPS WITH HER

ODESSA—We'll bet a hard-earned nickel to a hole in a worn-out inner tube that the sandman let his jaw drop down on his chest and spilled a fresh sackful of sand on the floor the other afternoon when he came around to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Peery to toss a few grains in the eyes of their little daughter, Sally Jane. The old boy was confronted with a most unusual sight, a sight that even gave Sally's mother a start the first time she noticed it.

Stretched out on the big bed, already sound asleep, he found pretty little Sally, and stretched out full length beside her, with her head on Sally's shoulder, he saw a long-legged white leghorn fryer, also sound asleep. Sally's bed-fellow for the afternoon nap, and her constant companion during most of the day's play is none other than Biddy, a half-grown white leghorn which Sally has kept for a pet since infancy. Last Easter an enterprising drug store man in another town filled his display window with fluffy little baby chicks, dyed pink and green. It attracted much attention and Sally's father bought her a pair of the chicks, a pink one and a green one. The green one died and Biddy was the pink chick, now with the dye faded out and her native coat of white.

Not only does Biddy slip in and hop up on the bed with her mistress to stretch out human-fashion and sleep, instead of roosting upright as most chicks do, but she also hops up on Sally's knee and remains perched there as her young mistress rides her tricycle. If you will call to mind the pumping motion of a child's legs while riding a tricycle, you will readily see this is in itself no mean accomplishment.

IMPROPER CONDITION FOUND AT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

SILVER CITY—Too much interest in highways and not enough in education and conditions in general within the school are blamed in a report of a special inspector of the north central association of colleges and secondary schools for the failure of the New Mexico State Teachers College to come within the association's requirements.

It was on the basis of the inspector's report that the board of regents early this week dismissed Dr. A. O. Bowden and named Dr. Roy C. Graham as president of the Teachers College.

The report made by B. L. Stradley deals with many phases of the school's activities and points to what it declares to be a failure on the part of the school to provide proper arrangement of curriculum according to national standards, proper physical education facilities and in general, differentiate properly between the various classes of students as to the work required for a degree.

On two occasions the inspector referred to the leadership at the school in the faculty and on both occasions the reference said the faculty members in general, were prepared for their work and well chosen.

General conditions under which the faculty worked was blamed for some of the trouble at the school.

Faculty members' salaries were said to be small, but Stradley explained that this was because of financial condition within the state.

"Furthermore," he said, "the state administration is more interested in road-building than in education. The president of this college has spent a great deal of time and effort struggling with the state officials for the necessary financial recognition of the colleges. Under the existing circumstances, he has done well, and will do well to hold the present salary standard."

Another criticism of the state administration was made in commenting on the failure of the state to provide proper library facilities at the institution.

"In justice to the present administration (of the school)," Stradley's report said, "it should be known that a new library building was approved by the legislature of the state but the plan received executive veto. Therefore, the college officials are not at fault."

The library, it was charged, was too small, lacked supervision and was generally unsatisfactory. High school and college students both use the library for study purposes.

WHEAT PLAN ON FARMS WITH NO 1933 CROP

The preliminary meetings conducted by the extension service to explain the wheat adjustment plan have been completed in the more important wheat producing counties of New Mexico. The enthusiasm of the wheat growers for the plan indicates that most farmers who are eligible to cooperate with the government in the wheat adjustment program and receive allotment benefits will sign the application for a contract just as soon as the necessary legal forms are received. It is expected that these forms will be available within the next few days so that the actual signing of the applications can begin.

Farmers who grew wheat in the three years previous to 1933, but are eligible for this year's crop may come under the government's wheat plan, but are eligible only to share in the benefits for 1934 and 1935, and are not eligible for payments based on the 1933 crop, the agricultural adjustment administration has announced.

However any such grower must sign the wheat contract this fall, in order to be eligible for the benefits during the last two years of the plan. Under the contract, he will agree to reduce wheat acreage for the 1934 and 1935 crops by whatever percentage may be required by the secretary of agriculture, but the secretary may not require more than 20 per cent of his average planted acreage for the three-year period 1930-1932.

Furthermore the administration announces, farmers who join in the plan, in order to receive full payments this year, must have planted enough acreage for the 1933 crop to have produced their allotment, at their average yield. For farmers who planted less acreage than this for the 1933 crop, the adjustment payment will be scaled down in proportion to the amount planted for the 1933 crop. Then, if the farmer plants enough to produce his allotment in 1934 and 1935, he will be entitled to whatever payments are made for those years.

LOS ANGELES FIRM WINS BIG CONTRACT ON POTASH SPUR

Sharp and Fellows, Los Angeles engineers and railroad builders were awarded the contract of the Santa Fe spur to the Potash Co. of America holdings east of Carlsbad Saturday.

The approximate figure of the contract is $150,000. The contract covers all phases of the work through from the beginning to the completion of the 20 miles of track which leaves the main line of the Santa Fe just north of the Pecos river bridge in La Huerta.

J. P. Gilmore, representative of the Sharp and Fellows concern, was unable to say when actual construction work will be started. The railroad has not yet secured permission from the interstate commerce commission to start the work.

It is expected that work will be begun within a month and possibly within two weeks, it was said. Gilmore said that probably 100 men will be needed for about three months' time on the spur.

The Sharp and Fellows company constructed both the standard gauge road to the refinery of the U. S. Potash Co., and the narrow gauge road from the refinery to the company's mine northeast of Carlsbad.

Tobacco Seed Used as Food

Animals can live and thrive on a diet of little else but tobacco seed. This was proved by the Connecticut agricultural experiment station experts, who declare that when tobacco seeds are fully ripe they are entirely lacking in nicotine and so nutritious in quality as to make a good food for mammals. The doctors base this statement on results obtained from experimenting with albino rats. It was found that these animals would grow to maturity and reproduce successfully if fed almost exclusively on ripe tobacco seeds. All that was added to this diet in the case of the animals used in the experiments were a small percentage of inorganic salts and a few drops of cod liver oil.

Famous Recipes Of Famous People

BAKED Southern ham with Virginia apples is the favorite of United States Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia—newspaper publisher and once Virginia's youngest governor. He also is a brother of a ham baked whole with the stuffing removed, then thoroughly sliced and masked with mayonnaise, and with it, chilled baked apples.

The ham is soaked over night, put into boiling water and simmered until tender, allowing about 15 minutes to the pound of meat. When the ham is allowed to stand in hot water until cool, then the cooking liquor until cool, then the ham is put on a large platter covered all over with thick mayonnaise which has been seasoned generously with mustard. A garnish of stuffed olives and sprigs parsley is applied. And what a treat it is!
