SECRETARY WINDOM'S POLICY.

It is Formally Set Forth in Reply to a Question.

WASHINGTON, April 16 .- Secretary Windom to-day made the following reply to a question addressed to him by Senator Plumb:

"The operations of the Treasu ry department have not been conducted vrith a view to controlling the finances of the country, but in pursuance of a fixed policy to produce the least possible disturbance of the natural current of events. The purpose of the Secretary has been and is to pay out for bonds all the available surplus as rapidly as possible. In pursuance of this policy, and with a view to keeping the money in circulation to the fullest extent practicable, purchases of bonds were so freely made that on Jan. 20 the available balance of public funds has been reduced to less than $20,000,000, and this entire amount, as well as further sums amounting to about $18,000,000, was on deposit in national banks. From this it will be seen that the entire surplus and $18,000,000 in addition were in circulation.

"In view of this fact, and of large disbursements to be made, it was not deemed prudent to draw further upon the reserves in the treasury, and therefore the purchases of 4 per cent. bonds were temperarily suspended and Government purchases for a time were confined to 41/2 per cent. bonds. On the 6th of March, when purchases of 4 per cent. bonds were resumed, the available surplus had reached $29,000. 000, the whole of which was on deposit in national banks. The amount now on deposit in national banks is about $3,000,000 more than the entire av silable surplus.

End of the Pan-American Conference.

WASHINGTON, April 19 .- At noon to-day the Pan-American. Conference adjourned sine die. After the transaction of some routine business and the adoption of resolutions pledging the sympathetic association of the members of the conference with the quadro-centennial. celebration of the discovery of America and expressing their gratitude for the host sitality received, a motion to adjourn sine d ie was made and put to a vote. Mr. Blaines, rising to announce the result, said:

Gentlemen, I withhold for a moment the word of final adjournment in order that I may express to you the profound satisfac-tion with which the Government of the United States regards the work accomplished by this international conference.

The extent and value of all that has been worthily achieved by your conference cannot be measured to-day. We stand too near it. Time will define and heighten the estimation of your work and experience will confirm our present faith, that the final result will be your vindication and your triumph.

If in this closing hour the conference dare call the world's attention to the deliberate, confident, solemn dedication of two great continents to peace, and to that prosperity which has peace for its founda-tion. We hold up this new magna charta, which abolishes war and substitutes arbi tration between the American republics. as a result of the first great International American Conference.

The delivery of the address was characterized by Mr. Blaine's customary deliberate emphasis, and also with the evidence of deep feeling on his part.

Extravagance in Paris.

NEW YORK, April 19 .- A Paris cable to the Mail and Express says:

It is stated that the scandals which have come to light in the municipal government of this city are no way exaggerated by the current reports. The expenditure has been simply reckless, and the cost of fetes, carriage hire, etc., is fully five times what was spent in a similar way under the empire. The sinecures in the gift of the municipality have been trebled and have been utilized entirely for the benefit of relatives of the municipal counselors.

So far has the matter now gone that it will be impossible to hush the scandal or avoid a government inquiry. The revelations will be something astonishing, and will give the enemies of the republic another opportunity to deride it and its

The Tariff Bill.

The bill introduced in the House by the majority of the ways and means committee is accompanied by this statement:

The estimated surplus at the end of the present fiscal year will be $92,000,000. Deducting the sum required to make payments to the sinking fund, the net surplus of receipts over expenditures will be $43,-679,000. The estimated surplus of the next fiscal year will be $43,570,000, which, with the amount of cash now on hand and available, reaching $90,000,000, will justify a reduction of the revenue in the sum contemplated by the bill reported of $30,937,000, aud probably more from customs, and $10,-328,000 from internal revenue, or a total of $41,265,000. The report further says that the bill as proposed will result in a de creased revenue-that in all cases, except the increased tariff tin, will result in decreased importations and therefore decreased revenue; that the committee aimed to put an increased rate on manufactured goods and farm products producible in this country in order to develop the home market; that the committee is not so much concerned about the prices of articles we consume as to encourage the increase and diversification of home products; that if it is necessary to run the government by taxing foreign imports, then take it from articles which cannot interfere with domestic products; that the entire bill is based upon protection to American industry, but at the same time recommending no duty above the point of difference between the normal cost of production here, including labor, and the cost of like production abroad. The committee recommends an increase the duty on wool: no change in nig iron sugar to come in free, with a 2 cent bounty on the best grades made in this country; an increased duty on agricultural products; hides are placed on the free list.

Trouble in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, April 16.—Ambrose Lepine, who was secretary of war and commander in chief of the forces under Riel's provincial government from 1869 to 1870, was condemned to be hanged, but was afterwards respited and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, has been appointed by the dominion government to a position in the immigration department. This appointment has raised a war of blood among the old settlers, who suffered imprisonment and indignities at the hands of Riel, and they threaten to raise the worst row the Ottawa government has ever had to deal with in this part of the dominion. The Orangemen are particularly hostile, and unless the appointment is forthwith cancelled, they will call meetings all over the province and adopt resolutions. Mr. Scott, a loyalist who was murdered by Riel's orders, was an Orangeman, and the agitation will at once be commenced to erect a monument to his memory. This is certain to embitter more than ever the race and creed prejudices, and the dominion government will find itself in hot water.

The English Budget.

LONDON, April 17 .- Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, presented the budget to the House of Commons to-day. It shows that the expenses exceeded the estimates by £11,600, and that the receipts exceeded the estimates by over £3,000,- Commenting on the gross revenue from alcoholic beverages, £29,265,000, Mr. Goschen said that the figures showed a universal rush to the beer barrel, the spirit bottle and the wine decanter. It was a circumstance that must be deplored. A closer examination would not diminish the surprise, for the largest increases had been, of all spirits in the world, from rum It was mainly at seaports. It was an extraordinary historical fact that in the years 1875 and 1876, the greatest drinking years recorded, there was precisely the same rush and precisely the same proportion of revenue from different spirits. Increased prosperity, therefore, meant a great increase in the consumption of alcoholic drinks. The total reduction of the national debt for 1889 reached the sum of £8,295,006. This amount, added to the reductions of the previous two years, make a grand total of £23,323,000—the largest amount ever had in reduction of the debt in the same length of time.

Proceeding to the estimates for the coming year, he estimated the expenditures at £36,857,000 and the revenues at £90,406,000.

CONGRESSIONAL.

FRIDAY, APRIL 18. SENATE.-Mr. Platt, by request, introduced a bill for the admission of New Mexico. He said he did not intend in doing so to commit himself one way or the other. Referred. Among the bills passed were the following: Senate bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri River between the city of Chamberlain and Lyman County, S. D. Senate bill increasing the pension of General Milroy's widow to Stoper month.

On motion of Mr. Hawley, the Senate agreed to consider the World's Fair bill immediately after the morning business Monday. House-Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, reported the river and harbor appropriation bills. Referred to the committee of the whole. The House then went into committee of the whole on the private calendar. The court of claims bill was the first on the calendar. Mr. Thomas, of Wisconsin, offered a resolution that the bill be reported to the House with a recommendation that it be recommitted, with instructions to the committee on war claims to inquire into the loyalty of each claimant.

He said the bill contained 285 claims based on the pretended indings of the court of claims. Of this number there were eight cases where no findings were submitted to Congress. In 176 cases the usual method of ascertaining the loyalty of the parties had not been followed. The committee on war claims had bunched these 285 claims without any examination or investigation. The Secretary of War had transmitted to the committee, since the report of the bill, a statement showing that in eighty-four cases the claimant filed vouchers for supplies furnished the Confederates or done some other thing indi cating disloyalty.

Mr. Cannon said if this was correct the House dare not pass the bill until thoroughly investigated.

When the resolution was reported to the House Mr. Grosvenor raised a point of order, and the Speaker ruled the resolution out of order. The bill, therefore, went back on the calendar, and the House took a

SATURDAY, APRIL 19. SENATE-The Vice President laid before the Senate a letter from Mr. Blaine, with a note from the British minister asking if this Government was inclined to pass a law prohibiting the sale of liquor by the United States citizens to Canadian Indians. A report from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs is also enclosed favoring such legislation and making it applicable to the sales of liquor to all Indians in the United States or Canada. Mr. Manderson introduced two bills, which were referred to the library com-mittee, for the purchased Matthews' por trait of Abraham Lincoln and to accept from the G. A. R. a statue of U. S. Grant and the pedestal to be placed in statuary hall in the Capitol. In connection with this was a communication from a committee of the G. A. R. setting forth that it was G. A. R. men who, by private voluntary contribution, has raised $10,000 for the purpose of this statue.

Senate bill appropriating $100,000 for an equestrian statue to General Grant in Washington passed.

House.—After the speaker had laid before the House regions and the House regions.

fore the House various public building bills, public business was suspended and the House proceeded to pay tribute to the nemory of Samuel S. Cox of New York Mr. Cummings of New York, Mr. Cox's accessor, addressed the House.

Messrs. Holman of Indiana, Mills of Texas, Butterworth of Ohio, and others, also spoke, and the House then adjourned. Monday, April 21.

SENATE-Mr. Reagan introduced a bill to repeal all laws for the retirement of army and navy officers from active service on pay. Mr. Plumb introduced a concurrent resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to increase the purcha and coinage of silver bullion to the mum amount authorized by the act of July 23, 1878, and gave notice that he would ask for its consideration to-morrow.

The Senate then took up the House World's Fair bill. The only amendment reported by the Senate committee is the nsertion of a new section providing for: aval review in New York harbor in April 893, and the unveiling of the statue o

Columbus at Washington. Mr. Vest spoke at length in opposition to the bill. In his honest judgment the peo people outside of the cities en-gaged in the contest, did not care anything about the exposition Had the time come when, in this country, the peo-ple had to be amused with shows, in their condition of great pecuniary distress, injust laws and outrages perpetrated upon Cullom said that Chicago would make the fair a grand success and mani-fest her appreciation of the great honor conferred upon her.

Mr. Hoar moved to amend by striking out the provision for a Columbus statue. The vote on naval review amendment resulted —yeas 27, nays 25—so the provision remains in the bill. The bill then bassed—43 to 14. House.—Mr. Dorsey of Nebraska introduced a resolution in regard to the coinage of silver. It is similar to that of Senator Plumb. Mr. Struble (Iowa) submitted a conference report on the bill to provide a tem-porary government for the Territory of Oklahoma. Adopted. A bill appropriating $333,500 to provide necessary vaults and safeguards for the security of public money in the custody of the United States treasurer passed.

Mr. Morrill moved a suspension of the rules to pass the bill pensioning prisoners defeated—yeas 133, nays 78, not the neces sary two-thirds.

TUESDAY, APRIL 22. SENATE-Mr. Cockrell offered a resolution, which was agreed to, directing the superintendent of the census to communicate to the Senate the forms of rules and regulations adopted by him for obtaining the statistics as to farm mortgages. Mr. Plumb's resolution for an increase of the treasury purchase and the coinage of silver was presented.

Mr. Eustis moved as an addition to it that the free coinage of silver is essentia to the sound financial policy demanded by all the great interests of the country, an that therefore all the laws limiting the coinage of silver ought to be repealed. Mr. Plumb consented to let the resolution lie over to give Mr. Mitchell the opportunity to address the Senate.

Mr. Mitchell addressed the Senate in favor of a constitutional amendment proposed by him for the election of Senators by the popular vote.

House-Mr. Chandler of Massachusetts moved that the House concur in the Senate amendments to the World's Fair bill, and this being agreed to, the bill is finally passed and will be sent to the Pracident.

THE NECKLACE.

"Now, madame, what do you think of that?" asked Mme. Valois, drawing from a little mauve-colored velvet case a necklace of curious beads of a substance resembling amber, but having in the heart of each a light like that of the finest opal, and being generally of the color of which we speak as crushed strawberry. "What are those stones?"

"I think the necklace beautiful," I replied. "But you must tell me what the stones are, for I can not even guess; I have never seen anything like them, nor do they tally with any descriptions that I remember.' Mme. Valois looked pleased.

"Ah, madame, I can not tell you," she said, spreading her hands abroad; nor can any one, I believe. They have been examined by many people learned in such things without having a name given to them. They are pretty now, but when the warmth of the wearer's neck acts upon them they glow like rubies. The little clasp also become transparent, and you see that a toad is carved upon it. It has been in our family a century and a half, and many celebrated jewelers and lapidaries have seen it. I never dreamed that I should be the first to get a clew to the mystery, but I think I have done so. It was by reading your Shakspeare, madame. You look astonished, but it is true. I am much indebted to your Shakspeare," said Mme. Valois. "What a wonderful man he was! It was while reading his plays that I solved a problem that was puzzled many generfitions of our family. You remember what he said: "Like a toad, ugly and venomous, still hides a precious jewel in his head.

'My necklace, I am assured, made of those jewels that are mentioned by your Shakspeare. I will tell you my reasons for thinking so.

"You must know that I have in Avignon a very old; yet still very pretty, chateau, which I now lease to an

"A hundred and fifty years ago our family resided there, and one day a Valois brought home to the chateau a very gay and pretty Parisian wife. Mnie. Valois, coming a young bride to her husband's chateau in Avignon, thought it gray and gloomy, and felt that after Paris it was very stupid. To be sure there was a great garden, but it was so infested with toads that at first her walks among the borders always ended in her flying homeward in an agony of terror, crying out that the little wretches were too disgusting to

"One day, however, as she sat upon a bench beside an old stone fountain, she heard close to her a little singing noise, and saw squatting close beside her on the bench a little toad. It sat quite still and made this little plaintive musical sound continually. Its eyes were fixed upon her, and she noticed that they were very bright.

"Poor little thing,' she said to herself. 'Really, it looks hungry.' having a little cake in her pocket, she crumbled it upon the bench.

"The toad looked at her as she did so, and when she said kindly, 'There, toady, is your breakfast,' it hopped forward and ate every crumb. Then it did a strange thing. It sat upon its haunches and touched its forefeet to its forehead, as an oriental does to make an obeisance, and hopped away. "The next day Mme. Valois awoke thinking of the toad, and whenever she ate anything she liked very much she saved some bits, saying Toady would like that; and at sunset she went to the fountain, carrying a basket, and sat down upon the old bench.

"Not five minutes had she been seated there when she heard the soft. singing sound, and there sprung to the bench beside her the toad she had fed the day before and four of the most charming little toads any one ever saw evidently Mme. Toad's family. "She sat in the middle, with two on each side of her, and they ate the crumbs Mme. Valois gave them, and when all were gone Mme. Toad made a salutation as on the first occasion and hopped away backward, as people are expected to retire from the royal presence, and Mme. Valois went home and wrote in her journal-which is preserved to this day-all the particulars I have recounted to you.

"She was now quite in love with Mme. Toad, and every day she went at the same hour to feed the little creatures. She was very young and very much afraid of her husband, who was a very grave, elderly man, and did not like nonsense, so she did not tell him anything about all this, but kept the secret for her diary until winter came. Then indeed she was obliged to confide the matter to her maid, for the dearth of insects caused a famine among the toads, or so she supposed, for when she went to the fountain hundreds of them came and squatted about her with pleading looks in their little bottle-shaped eyes, and all their little hands clasped imploringly.
"When she saw them thus assembled for the first time, Mme. Valois made them this speech.

"My pretty little toads, I love you all. You are my tenants, being born on my ground. I assure you you shall not starve. Every morning and every evening you shall be fed.'

"After this the maid always carried a basket of food to the bench and madame distributed it. The army of toads swallowed the last crumb. Mme. Toad thanked her as at first, and away they hopped. All this and much more she has written in her diary.

"Time passed on and one day there come a baby to the chateau—a beautiful little girl. Madame was very happy, but she did not forget her toads. Every day the maid fed them and reported to her. As she lay in bad she often said to her baby. 'Ah, petite, when you are able to take notice you shall see my toads.' But while she was still an invalid a very curious thing happened.

"The winter was passing; the air was mild; the window of her chamber was left open, and one evening, when the nurse was absent for a time, Mme. Valois suddenly saw a dark object appear on the window-sill-another and

"The toads,' she said to herself, and, watching, saw the great throngs that she had fed drop from the sill into the room and approach the bed.

"How I would have screamed once!" she writes in her diary. 'But now I loved them, and I knew well that they loved me. "Good evening, my little toadies," I said. "Do you want to see my baby?" Then the room was full of the faint little toad music, and I lift ed my Celestine and held her up, and one by one the toads hopped to the bed. looked at her, hopped down the other side and out of the window.'

"Mme Toad was the last of all, and made obeisance as in the garden. Her four toadlets remained upon the floor and looked up at us.

"Before the nurse returned the room was empty again, but lying at my elbow I found a string of exquisite, jewel-like beads-a chain or necklace such as I had never seen before. The toads had brought it to me, and I wore it at my Celestine's christening, where it was remarked what numbers of toads hopped across the church floor and seemed to stop to listen to the music. But no one can tell me what the jewels

"No one has ever been able to tell that madame," continued the speaker. "But my ancestress now felt that she must tell her husband all, and so she did, and after that the toads were fed every winter as long as this Mme. Valois, of whom I have told you, lived. Also Mme. Toad maintained terms of the most intimate friendship with the family, as far as a toad might. Even yet the toads are always fed in the winter at the Chateau Valois, and the necklace is given to the eldest daughter. So it came to me, and it is I who, having read the account of the jewels in the heads of toads given by your Shakspeare, know of what the necklace of my ancestress is made."—Mary Kyle Dallas in Fireside Companion.

A MARTYR TO FAITH.

It was Only a Dog, but He was a Better Man Than His Master.

"I have never let any of my dogs retrieve birds since an experience I had with a cruel sportsman over on the Delaware river one day last fall." said a Scranton bird shooter the other day. "The man owned a splendid pointer that knew a good deal more about some things than his master did, and we were both shooting quails over him along the banks of the river. He was harsh with the dog, and the poor creature was often compelled to do what he knew to be senseless things, just because he felt certain that he would be licked like the mischief if he didn't obey. Each side of the river was frozen over out to the main channel, where there was a strip about a foot wide that wasn't covered with ice. One of the quail that I shot started to fly across the river, and dropped dead on the thin ice within a few inches of the open channel. My companion ordered the pointer to go and get it, and the obedient dog dashed out upon the ice until it got within a couple of yards or so of the dead bird, when he halted, for the ice had begun to crack under him. Then he looked back at his master and wagged his tail, and his actions told us as plain as words that he knew it would be dangerous for him to proceed any further. I begged the man to call the dog back and let the minks have the quail, but he wouldn't listen to me. Again he ordered the dog to fetch the quail in, and again, the dog made an effort to reach it, but the ice cracked and he turned about, whined piteously, and in every way that he knew how begged his master to call him back. But the heartless man was determined to make the dog do as he said, and he yelled savagely at the pointer to get the dead bird. Then the dog sprang forward and seized the quail. The ice gave way under him, the current was swift, and out of sight the poor thing went, with the bird in his mouth. That was the last the cruel man ever saw of his obedient dog He hunted down the river for a long distance, but it was useless, for the dog had perished under the ice while faithfully performing his duty. The man was sorry then, of course, and indeed the poor dog's death taught him a lesson he never forgot.

One Word Told the Story.

Here is one of the stories that A. M. Palmer brought back from his summer's trip to Europe. He overheard an animated discussion in the Victoria Hotel, London, between an Englishman and a "Yankee," as all citizens of the United States are called on the other side. The dispute, of course, was relative to the merits of the disputants' respective countries. It happened that the American was a bit the readier with his tongue, and maintaind his ground so stubbornly that the Briton at last gave it up with the re-

"Well, you Yankees are getting so bumptious that we shall have to send over an army pretty soon to take some of the conceit out of you.

The American's reply was one word: "Again?"-N. Y. Sun.

Statehood Assured.

Washington, D. C., April 21.-The feeling here has grown very precepti-bly in favor of statehood for New Mex ico during the last few weeks. The character of the recent delegations from the Territory has been of a kind to remove much of the opposition heretofore felt by those who looked further than the present political advantage of either party. There is a feeling prevailing that the conduct of the general govern-ment towards New Mexico has been anything but what it should have been under the treaty by which the country was ceded to the United States, and that if there are troubles in the way of the Territory's admission to statehood, the general government is most largely responsible for the state of the case.

With this feeling is another, to admit the Territory and at the same time provide for the removal of the difficulties. It is the talk of those who profess to know the truth inwardness of the status, that New Mexico will be admitted, but in the admission her three greatest troubles will be removed.

The first of these is the uncertainty of her land titles. In their present condi-tion even statehood could not give prosperity to the new state. So a part of the scheme not to be divorced from it, is a federal commission for the settlement of disputed land titles. The difficulty growing out of the absence of a public school system is to be obviated by the establishment for the Territory of a school system by the general government, and the making of the perpetuity of this system a condition of admission. Subsequent legislatures, even if so minded, will thus be prevented from interferring with the efficiency of the school system, by disabling stric-tures, as part of the school system will be the gift of sections sixteen and thirty-six for purposes of public educations.

Such is the talk now amoungst those who are here working in New Mexico's interests, and in view of the fact that the committees of both houses have reported favorably on admision, it now does not seem improbable that the Territory will be added to the sisterhood of states before the present session of congress shall close.

Another Railroad.

From San Antonio Cor. to Globe Democrat. It is learned to-night that the presence of Col. O. L. Houghten, of New Mexico, in San Antonio means the culmination of a large scheme. With several other New Mexican capalists, he has acquired a clear title to the Las Cerrillos coal fields, to the southeast of Santa Fe. It is the intention to build a bee line from the coal fields to Aransas pass. Col. Houghton went to Dallas to meet Jay Gould, and had three days' conference. The last day's meeting was attended by a couple of engineers in Mr Gould's employ. The route was carefully gone over and close estimates made. While no definite arrangements was made, Mr. Gould was favorbly impressed, and took the plans north with him to study them at his leisure. The line will be run 250 miles north and east of El Paso, and will pass through this city.

Grand Jury.

John W. Poe, foreman; A. T. Gunter, Francisco Romero y Lueras, Florencio Gonzales, Roman Lujan, John A. Brothers, Jones Taliaferro, J. B. Math-ews, Jesus Lueras, Scott Truxtun, Jose D. Vega, Samuel J. Slane.

The above gentlemen compose the grand jury for this term of court, and past ten days. A good grand jury is a pendent man will do well to steer shy of terror to law breakers.

The headgate for the great canal will be con pleted this week. Captain Garrett's business in the lower Pecos Valley this week was to round up a lot of horses.

Dr. Van Norman started for Roswell Tuesday in company with Ash Hawkins. He will return Monday. If the Pecos City base ball beats the Eddy boys, the latter, in sheer mortifications, will fall upon their clubs and expire. W. A. Hawkins left for Roswell Tuesday, where he will stay three or four weeks on legal busiess. During his absence Eddy will be withou building will cost $10,000 more than was at first anticipated. The work at the dam is progressing swiftly under the direction of manager Captain Mann.

If he has no bad luck the captain will turn the tremendous work over to the company by the first of June. Dr. A. A. Bearup, the White Oaks dentist, was in town this week. He did considerable work, notwithstanding he came unannounced. He is so well pleased with Eddy that he thinks seriously of locating here.

The subscription for the base ball club was generously signed. Louis Ross started out Thursday morning, and by noon he secured eighty iron dollars. Eddy can always be depended upon to come to the front.

It is expected that the contract for the nev railroad will be let by May 15th, and, if so, we will have a completed railroad by January 1st. This will give a new impetus to our country, and the coming summer and winter may be expected to be a lively one.

W. S. Prager, manager of the Roswell Base ball club, sends a formal challenge to the Eddy club. According to the challenge, the game must take place at Roswell sometime during the latter part of May or the earlier part of June for $100 a side. The challenge is rather unusual, in as much as the challengers insist on the time and place for meeting, but the Eddy club will seriously

The Eddy Base ball club was organized Tues day night. C. C. Blodgett was elected captain, Alonzo Luckey treasurer and Thomas Blackmore secretary. The club is composed of our most stalwart young men, nearly all of whom have had experience. The boys will have a practice game every evening on the court house square, and it is believed that in a few weeks they will be able to scoop the Roswell club. After they get away with Roswell they will accept a challenge from the Pecos City club. Caps and shirts have been ordered, and E. G. Shields will donate a lot of balls and bats.

Look Out for Lively Times.

"You may look out for active work on Worth said a well-posted gentleman," just in from El Paso to a Gazette reporter yesterday. "There is no doubt that the extension of the line from Sierra Blanco will soon begin, but I cannot say exactly when."
"What about the White Oaks road?"

asked the reporter.
"That will undoubtly be built."

"Soon?" "Soon enough to make El Paso hum. It is one of the best towns in Texas now, and she is just getting a hump on her-self that will tell like blue blazes before long.—Fort Worth Gazette."

D. M. OSBURNE MOWERS AND MOLINE PLOWS.

To those who use Machinery, and es pecially to the farmers of this country, we take this method of bringing to your notice that we are handling machinery, and the kind that you need, and guarantee any machine that we propose to sell, to give entire satisfaction, or no sale.

We have on hand the best Mower that was ever introduced in this country, and for many reasons: 1st.-It is the lightest draft machine made, no side draft, no weight on your horses necks, the draft comes direct from the main bar underneath the tongue. 2d.—It has the loose and flexible cutting bar, the outer end will drop 21/2 ft. into a ditch; the very thing you farmers need in this country to cut over your ditches. Other mowers can't do this, as they are stiff in the heel. 3d-The pittman runs in a straight line from a direct powerful stroke. In fact we are willing to give the D. M. Osburne a field test, and put up ($50.00) fifty dollars that with two 800 lb. ponnies we can cut as much grass as any other machine wit any size horses or mules, and we can cut over ground they can't, and do good work. All we want is to sell our machine, if you want one, is to give us a trial and we will willingly go and let you see it work and satisfy you it is all we represent it to be and that is, the best mower made. The Stevens arched all spring tooth harrows needs no recommendation from us, for some of your best farmers has it and don't hesitate to say it is the best they ever saw, and the very thing the country needs. Will have on hand binding twine and extras for all machines we handle. Will have in a few days the Moline Plows of ever discription and Rakes, the flying Dutchman J. R., the best three wheel plow that is made, as some of your farmers can testify to. The Moline cultivators with there 11/2 plows (bull tongue's) the very thing to go down in the ground and cultivate your corn, corn planters, and in fact everything that is needed in farming will be here in a few days. We handle the K. C. Hay press, full circle all steel, and a No. 1 press; there is one now being used by Mr. P. F. Garrett, and gives satisfaction. Bailing wire we order for any one wishing it, and if we should not have on hand what you want will take pleasure in ordering it for you, and will sell as low as goods can be sold by any one to be of first-class quality, for we handle no other goods. Come and see for yourselves and let me tell you what Osburne Mowers can do. Will

tribute to his memory:

Thou art gone from us brother,
The music that gushed
From thy lute, and thy heart,
And thy life, has been hushed.
But its echo remains
Low and sweet on the ear,
Though the minstrel hath gone
His remembrance is here.
Thou has gone from us brother.

Thou hast gone from us brother,
Thy parting was brief
As the sigh of the zephyr,
The fall of the leaf.
The tidings they brought us
Were mournful to tell,
We were even forbidden
A brothers farewell.

Thou art gone from us brother
To regions more blest,
And light lie the earth
On the place of thy rest.
Still with us lives the hope,
All our errors forgiven,
To meet the once more
In the lovelight of heaven.

The Court.

The term just closed was not a very ively one, nor was the docket very large Judge McFie pushed business as rapidly as possible and the docket was pretty well cleaned up. Attorneys from other counties in attendance were Col. Fountain, prosecuting attorney, Col. Rynerson, Mr. Fall and Mr. Young and Judge Newcomb, of Las Cruces and, Mr. Furgus McEiole son of Albuquerque. Judge McFie is growing more popular with both the people and the bar the longer he sets on the bench, his administration is clean, free from predujice or politics, and justice alike to the weakest or strongest s what he gives. The court business of this district is arrainged and done in a most satisfactory manner, the efficiency of A. L. THE TIDE AT MINAS BASIN Wall of Water Eight Feet High Running Ten Miles an Hour.

The Bay of Fundy forms a cul-de-sac at which the Atlantic Ocean seems to have taken a spite, and at regular intervals pours in its waters viciously and with intent to do all possible harm. Take for instance the harbor of St. John. In most parts of the world a tide of from 6 to 10 feet is quite sufficient to satisfy all reasonable demands. In St. John harbor the tide rises 21 feet on an ordinary day, and occasionally varies the monotony by pushing the mark up three or four feet, as the humor seizes it, and I was never struck so much with anything in my life as with this advance and receding of the

I have described the narrow gorge through which the St. John River is forced into the Bay of Fundy. At low tide, where the water drops into the bay, there is a fall of some ten feet, the channel being very rough and totally impassable for vessels of any description. At high water the fall is the other way, the bay falling into the river. This was the first time that I had seen a river with the water flowing from its mouth toward its source, and this occurs every day in the St. John. One good effect of the tide is this, that when it is half up or half down the river is level with the harbor, and then the immense number of timber barges and other craft, which have gathered in the river while waiting for the rise and fall, are able to run nicely and easily out into the harbor. St. John, be it understood, is a great port for shipping. At any day you can see a dozen of the largest ocean-going vessels loading deals for different parts of the world. This timber mainly comes down the St. John river. I saw the tide come in around the headland at the Minas Basin, and it is a sight worth going to see. The head of the advancing tide is called "a bore." If you can imagine a straight wall of water eight feet high, curling over at the top, advancing upon you at the rate of ten miles per hour, you will get an idea of what a "bore" is and what a turn of the tide means. At the Minas Basin this wall of water comes tearing around the headland like an express train, and the man who was down on the flat sands of the bay at this time stood a remarkable good chance of never leaving the sands alive. If he got a good start of the "bore" he might escape and if he did not he was drowned. You cannot fool with the tide of Minas Basin. It is a plaything that the native who is acquainted with the animal avoids. The rise of the tide at Minas

Basin is forty-five feet. At the extreme head of the Bay of Fundy the tide rises from sixty-five to seventy-five feet, and runs at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. This is not only the highest tide in the known world, but it is double the height, I am told, of any other known tide.-Portland Advertiser.

Great Society Beauties.

The great beauties who take the social prizes in marriage, says a Loudon letter in the Ladies' Home Journal, are almost all bred in the lesser towns, where a less conventional society gives woman a snatch at freedom in girlhood. You don't find them growing up with calisthenics, health lifts and a them.

You all remember the painful story of a girl in a city home, surrounded by every care, who was strangled in the cords of her "health pull" one evening little more than a year since. Scarcely more pitiful is her fate than that of girls brought up to depend on such substitutes for work and exercise if they live. A sick, anæmic woman, unused, unable to care for herself or others, is the most pitiable, repugnant object in creation. You seldom find a lasting beauty which has not had a semi-Greek education of outdoor life and exercise behind it.

Take the beautiful Gunings, who ran wild in their Irish country home till their calculating mamma had raked and scraped enough to take them to Dublin and thence to London. The Gunnings were unlicensed hoidens, but their races over the hills gave them matchless complexions. Later still Mrs. Langtry took her beauty course, roving the Jersey lanes with her brothers in soft, pure sea air, living on peaches and coarse bread, with just as little of lessons as sufficed to fit her for London drawing rooms.

Just How to Cut a Justice's Gown.

The Supreme court is a place of traditions and precedents, and even the cut and make of the gowns of the justices are so well defined by custom that there is but little scope left for the individual taste of the owner.

An authority on this subject says that the gown is made of wide straight widths. At the bottom it is three yards and a quarter wide, and it comes down to the ankles. The gown has a narrow hem around the bottom and a broad one straight down the front. At the top it is gauged to a yoke, which is short on the shoulders and forms a deep scallop at the back. This yoke has a silk lining between the outside and the inner one of silk. The sleeves are a yard and a quarter wide and reach to the hands. The lining of the sleeves is formed by doubling the material at the bottom, turning it up on the inside, and placing it about a quarter of a yard above the bottom to a narrower silk lining, which nicely fits the justice's arm. The arrangement makes the lower part of each sleeve appear to be a wide, loose puff. The sleeves are gauged to a yoke on the shoulders with many rows of gauging, but not so many at the back of the gown, where it is a quarter of a yard deep.

One woman has made the gowns for the last forty years, and she gets $100 for ever one of them. They are made alike, the only difference being in the material, the chief justice wearing black Chinese satin, while his associates are robed in black silk. The chief justice always wears a new gown when he swears in a president. The new gown is always subject to a good deal of criticism by the older justices, and its fit is closely scanned.-Baston

LIKE A WATER TOBOGGAN.

An Old Miner's Floating Trip on a Raging Torrent.

"We had some high water in 1852." said James Siddons, of San Rafael, to a San Francisco Examiner man, after he had lit his pipe in the lee of the chain-box on the Tiburon boat, "and during the flood I made a unique and rather exciting trip down the river.

"I had been mining up on the South Fork of the American, and it became necessary for me to get to Sacramento or starve, and a big transaction also depended on my meeting a man on a certain day. The trails were impassable, and for a long time I was in despair.

"Then an idea struck me. I saw the flood going down and asked myself why I shouldn't go down with it. So I gathered a great quantity of dry tule, bound it firmly into three big bundles, caught some boards out of the drift, lashed the boards on the bundles, making a raft; fashioned a rough oar and launched myself on the river with the few provisions I had

"I went down a-kiting for a long distance till I swung into a calm streak where the river was unusually high. Before I had fairly made up my mind what was the matter I suddenly shot ahead as if things had dropped from under. My raft was whirled round and round in great swirling eddies.

"I was nearly knocked off into the torrent by colliding with the branches of a tree that was going my way. Then I was flung forward at something less than a mile a minute, as soon as I got out of the tree, and my hair stood up like converts in an experience meeting. Big boulders seemed going right down with me, and the rush and roar of the water was enough to have disturbed a sick lady over at Whiskey Jim's.

"You see the river had been damned by one of those big slides which used to come down the long slope on one side of the river and butt clear across it to the bluff on the other side. I had reached the impromptu reservoir behind the dam just as the thing broke away. But I rode it out and kept my fodder on board.

I got to Sacramento in due time, wet, heavy-eyed and nearly frozen. There I laid the basis of my competency by the transaction which I filled on the proper date. Still, I'd rather be poor all my life than make such a fool trip again. Nothing but a basket-like tule raft would have pulled through."

Saying Disagreeable Things.

Nothing is easier than to say disagreeable things, and there are people who labor under the mistaken opinion that there is nothing more clever. It was one there is nothing more clever. It was one of these mortals who was asked not long since what was the age of a maiden lady of his acquaintance.

"I do not know," he replied, "I have never studied archæology."

As fate would have it, the lady in the amount of $15,000 by their investment of $1 in the purchase of a coupon. Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Kappeler were seen by a Call reporter and questioned about their lucky venture. Mr. Kappeler, speaking for himself and partner, said: "Yes, we were fortunate to win a $15,000 prize in The Louisiana State Lottery, and we have got our money safe. At present we are looking for a

As fate would have it, the lady in question chanced to overhear him, "And yet you remember," said she, with a suspicious smoothness in her voice, "I have heard my mother say that I was born the first year that you were add everythe bring home the lady in bank. At present we are looking for a suitable piece of property to invest our money in, so that we will have something to fall back upon in our old age or sick that I was born the first year that you were add everythe bring home the lady in t were old enough to bring home the washing."

The retort was cutting, and the passage not over-refined—the fact that the man was most anxious to conceal his origin giving a sting to the words in which the other took her revenge; but the woman was on the whole to be blamed least .- Boston Courier.

WYOMING'S CAPITAL.

WYOMING'S CAPITAL.

In the Congressional report upon the admission of Wyoming, many facts were given going to show her as richer in resources than any of her sisters, and no territory ever applied for admission so thoroughly qualined. This report shows the CAPITAL CHEVENNE, to be one of the wealthiest cities of its size in the world, and certainly the most favored and prosperous. The Union Pacific Hailway is now constructing shops there to cost $6,00,000, and employ 2.50) men. This fact, coupled with the early admission of the State assure; is causing a rush to CHEYENNE, but her realty is still low, offering the best investment in the West. We have the best unimproved residence property in the city, and our prices are even lower than that immediately adjoining. We are offering only alternate blocks, and to induce a quick response we will, to a limited amount, take two-iffths in clear lands or chattles, a small cash payment, ballsnee in one and two years, at seven per cert. semi-annual interest. I could hardly walk or lie down from lameback; suffered several weeks, St. Jacobs Oit permanently cured me, other remedies having failed to do so.

FRED. HITTMAN.

Cloverdale, Ind., Feb. 8, 1887.

From a bad cold pains settled in my back and I suffered greatly; confined to bed and could hardly move or turn. I tried St. Jacobs Oil, which cured me. I do not fear recurrence.

MRS. P. M. REINHEIMER.

"Yes, my friend, I have been practicing my profession of medicine for over thirty years, and have studied this matter of blood disease closely, and to-day I am frank to say that Swift's Specific is the only remedy which I have ever found for this hydra-headed monster called contagious blood poison, and its consequences. It seems to eliminate the poison from the system entirely, and at the same time builds up the vital forces of the patient, causes good appetite and digestion and tones up the whole system. I have long ago discarded the old potash and mercury and sarsaparilla mixtures, which only substitute one disease for another, and sooner or later wreck the health of the sick person."

Have used S. S. S. in treatment of blood taint, with remarkable success.

J. WILEY QUILLIAN, M. D., Easley, S. C.

I have tried Swift's Specific in a very bad case of blood disease, and take great pleasure in saying it was a perfect success, producing a complete cure. I have also tried it in many other cases with good results.
