Our Crops Best of All.

Rev. W. G. Caperton returned last week with his family from a two month's vacation trip. Bro. Caperton himself visited all over East Texas, parts of Oklahoma and Kansas, while his family remained at Albany with relatives. He is positive in his declaration that the best crops he has seen this summer are right here at home, and says there is no shadow of doubt but that McCulloch county is in better shape from a crop standpoint than any other county he saw while away.

This same talk is made by every visitor who comes to Brady, and there is every prospect for prosperity attending our farmers this fall. We should be very thankful for these blessings. Grand old McCulloch and bully, busy, bustling Brady are leading the procession now.

A new cement sidewalk in front of and along the south side of the Marsden building on the east side is being put down this week. Something that has long been needed.

Brady Man Honored.

Thos. Bell this week received his appointment at the hands of Gov. Campbell to the position of member of the executive board of the State Institution for the Training of Juveniles. This institution is located at Gatesville, and Mr. Bell is one of the five trustees appointed by the governor. The place was not solicited, and comes from Governor Campbell simply as token of his esteem for and confidence in Mr. Bell who is a close personal friend of Governor Tom. The position carries with it no emoluments whatever, the trustees performing their duties from a sense of patriotism to their State.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Ellis, of San Angelo, were in Brady the first of the week. Mr. Ellis had one of the new White Steamer autos with him, and two more are to be shipped to Brady soon.

Miss Helen Walker will leave Saturday for Austin where she will enter St. Mary's Academy for the ensuing term.

THAT JAIL LOCATION PLANS FOR RE-UNION

Matter Still in an Unsettled Condition, District Judge Refuses to Act as Arbitrator.

The matter of locating the new county jail is still unsettled. District Judge Goodwin, to whom the matter was referred as arbitrator, replied that he couldn't take the responsibility upon his shoulders. This reply was as might have been expected, as the case would of course come up before him should an injunction suit be filed, and he would naturally not want to assume the responsibility of deciding so important a question anyhow.

County Judge Walker said to a Standard reporter Tuesday that he would likely call the commissioners court together again next week for a further consideration of the matter. If the tie vote between the four commissioners remains unbroken at that time he will break it by casting the deciding vote in favor of placing the jail in the courthouse yard.

The question of location as put up to Judge Walker to decide lies in a choice of the courthouse park and the Matthews 55-foot lot on South Bridge street. None of the commissioners favor placing the jail on the lots owned by the county west of the square, says Judge Walker, and that location has never been seriously considered. It is a question of placing the jail in the courthouse park or else buying the Matthews lot at $2000. As between the two locations the Judge declares unreservedly in favor of the former, as he thinks the price on the Matthews lot too high. He is further influenced in this decision by the fact that if the Matthews lot be chosen the new jail would be placed right up against the old frame opera house building, and the danger from fire would be great, while the insurance rate would be very high. He doesn't think it expedient to spend $14,000 on a fire-proof jail and then throw it into such danger of damage should the opera house burn.

Judge Walker's first choice of locations is the county's property west of the square where the calaboose now stands. Here the county owns two lots of 20-feet each, with another 20-foot lot between them which can be bought for a few hundred dollars. However, this location is not being considered, for some reason, and should he vote to place the jail there the tie would still be unbroken. So the question put up to him is to express a choice between the Matthews lot and the courthouse park. As between these two he will vote for the courthouse park.

The Standard has already gone on record in this matter, as we believe it the paper's privilege and duty to do, but we say again that we are against putting the jail in the courthouse park and favor locating it on ground which the county already owns.

Rev. J. A. Kinsell, of Nine, attended communion services with the "Hardshell" Baptist church at Clariette, Erath county, from Friday until Monday. The Standard enjoyed a pleasant call from Bro. Kinsell Friday. He reports the Nine country in fine shape, and the feed crops as good as he ever saw.

Ernest Holloway, of Denton, came in last week for a visit to his father, A. F. Holloway.

Committees Report Satisfactory Progress All Along the Line—There Will Be Speakers a-Plenty.

A committee meeting was held Monday for the re-union and reports satisfactory. The grounds are being put in condition, speaker's stand enlarged, barbecue pits dug, etc., while the privileges are being disposed of rapidly.

The entertainment committee reported rather hard work getting speakers as so many of the prominent state men are already engaged for other places. However, they have four for certain, as follows: Hon. W. P. Lane, of Fort Worth; Hon. James L. Slayden, of San Antonio, congressman from this district; Jewel P. Lightfoot, candidate for attorney general; and T. L. Dashiell, ex-secretary of state. Mr. Lane will address the old soldiers on the first day of the re-union. He made quite a hit in this capacity at the national re-union at Memphis, Tenn., last spring, and his address is looked forward to with much anticipation by the veterans.

Decatur Creamery Affairs.

Decatur, Tex., Aug. 6.—Almost general satisfaction obtains among those farmers who have begun the business of shipping cream to market within the past few months. A short canvass revealed the following results: W. W. Williams, milking five cows, returns $16 to $18 monthly; Harry Mason, milking 3 cows, returns about $20 per month; W. B. Bowen, milking thirteen cows returns $60 per month, expense for feed about $25; Ball & Brown milking nine cows, returns for eight weeks $88.62, expenses $12; Ross Tucker, milking eleven cows, returns $44 monthly, expenses $5 monthly; Louis Gilbert milking thirty-one cows, returns about $75 monthly. Probably not a half dozen thoroughbred milk cows are included in the herds of these people. Very few are feeding other than green pasturage, and no fully systematized dairying methods are as yet being followed.

Change in Business.

J. E. Ford last week sold his interest in the Palace Drug Store to Mr. B. A. Hallum of Brownwood. Mr. Hallum has assumed charge of the interest and is rapidly making the acquaintance of Brady people. He is a registered pharmacist, and will be able to divide the work behind the prescription case with his partner, D. W. Bozeman. The Palace has built up a nice business, and The Standard welcomes Mr. Hallum to our business and social life. He will bring his family on from Brownwood about the first of September.

Will Make Good Report.

Rev. W. A. Knight, pastor of the Brady Baptist church, will report to the Brady Baptist Association which meets at Millersview Sept. 2-5, twenty-four additions to his church and the sum of $2000 raised for all purposes during the year just closed. Rev. Knight is corresponding secretary of the association.

W. L. Womble was in the city last Thursday to meet his daughter, Mrs. Dr. D. D. Smith of Priddy, Hamilton county, who arrived for a visit to her parents.

The Joke Is On Angelo.

San Angelo has had quite a neat little game played upon her. For twenty years the Santa Fe railroad has made San Angelo its terminus, and now by the aforesaid neat trick San Angelo is made to pay that road $40,000 to "move on."

One J. J. Lanin recently closed contracts with Angelo for $40,000 bonus to build a road from that city to Sterling City. Incidentally, he secured other contracts from other towns along the route swelling the bonus to $118,000. It now turns out that Lanin's road is nothing but an extension of the Santa Fe. The contracts are all signed up in strict legal form, and the Santa Fe pulls down $118,000 to extend her line out of Angelo. Of course had the Lanin game not been worked there would have been no bonus.

Fritz Wilhelm, a McCulloch county shipper, was on the Fort Worth market Monday with a shipment of cows and calves that he sold as follows: 24 cows of 797 at $3.10, 5 of 776 at $2.65, 4 of 692 at $2.15, 49 calves of 155 at $5.25, 61 of 204 at $5.15, 40 of 243 and 15 of 200 at $3.75, and 35 of 135 at $3.25.

Getting Exhibit Ready.

James Finlay, of Fife, was in town last week and told our reporter that the people of the Fife country had organized and started to work preparing an exhibit for the Brady Fair in October. These people had a fine exhibit last year and expect to have another almost, but not quite as good this fall. The exhibit will hardly class as well as last year on account of the lateness of the crops.

The Fife community is setting the pace. Let every other community in the county begin to get busy and try and have the best exhibit at the fair.

Mrs. R. H. Jones who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. M. Crawford of Carroll Colony, returned to her home in Brownwood Monday.

Over the County News Notes of Interest From Our Country Correspondents

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS:

The Standard values your services, individually and collectively. You have every one done good work so far, and we are anxious that the good work continue. Of late there has been a marked falling off in the number of letters. This week, for instance, we only have four letters out of more than two dozen correspondents. Of course we don't want you to write unless, there is news to tell, and we know that there are some weeks when it is impossible to scare up the necessary news for a letter. But we are very desirous that you keep Standard readers posted on the happenings of your community at least every two weeks. Some of you haven't written in over a month. One or two haven't written in two months. Now, come alive, and let's have The Standard's correspondence page the biggest and best in all West Texas. When you run out of stamps or stationery let us know and we will send you more. Yours for the BEST county paper.

MILLERSVIEW NOTES.

Brady, Texas, Aug. 10.

Editor Standard:

As this is my first attempt to write to The Standard, I will be very brief.

Health is good at present. Had an inch rain the 5th, which will prove a great benefit to feed crops. Our crops are late, having no rain until the 23rd of June to bring them up. June corn is nearly shoulder high. All kinds of feed is very promising.

Cotton chopping is the order of the day. Cotton is doing well, but the boll worm is boring in some of the squares.

This is a beautiful valley around our town. There is about 20,000 acres of agricultural land, and many beautiful farms in high state of cultivation.

Millersview is only seven years old. Has three general merchandise stores, two blacksmith shops, one drug store, one millinery store, a cold drink stand, one barber shop, a $15,000 school building, one telephone exchange, two gins and will have a bank soon, also a newspaper; a daily mail to Ballinger. Have several nice residences and two more under construction.

Mrs. A. A. Hartgrove will move to town in the near future as she has leased the ranch for five years to White and Willoughby of Brady.

N. M. Wike will build a nice residence in the near future.

Capt. Craven has sold his drug store to a Mr. Russell of Santa Anna.

The young folks had an enjoyable time eating ice cream at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones Saturday night.

G. W. Sheppard and family of North Fort Worth, are here on a visit to relatives.

Rumor has it that Millersview is to have daily mail through from Ballinger to Brady, and with the new railroad which is to be built from Ballinger via Millersview to Brady, our town is sure to grow and the country to settle up fast.

John Crews is back from his ranch at Kickerlocker to shape up his gin for the coming season.

Capt. Craven is improving from a stroke of paralysis and will probably start for his old home at Milburn today.

Mr. Hill will move in his new house Monday.

VALLEY-VIEW FARMER.

BRADY GETS FIRST BALE

J. A. Eklund, of the Sweden Community, the Lucky Man.—Bale Nets Him Nearly Hundred Dollars.

J. A. Eklund, a prominent farmer of the Sweden community, about four miles east of town, drove in early Monday morning with the first bale of this season's cotton. Mr. Eklund had 1500 pounds of seed cotton on his wagon, and the Perry gin at once got busy and turned him out a 535-pound bale, which classed as strict middling and sold at 12c, Tom Bell being the buyer. Mr. Bell made up a handsome premium for Mr. Eklund, the bale bringing up in the neighborhood of $100 in all. The cotton was obtained by picking over a 30-acre field.

The Rochelle Barbecue.

Those parties attending the barbecue and picnic at Rochelle last Thursday report the time of their lives and not less than 2000 people in attendance. The editor of The Standard knew that the Rochelle people were royal entertainers and were putting the big pot in the little one in this event, but we had already promised some good Stacy friends to come to their celebration so we had to forego the pleasure of the visit to Rochelle.

Brady furnished quite a big delegation to Rochelle, however, and all say they never saw better arrangements than that enterprising little city afforded, and all came home pleased with the day.

The work on Dr. J. B. McKnight's sidewalks at his residence has been completed and the doctor is now engaged in having his yard terraced. When completed he will have the most "cited" looking place in Brady. The streetwork cut down the hill in front of his place five or six feet. He has now leveled and terraced his sidewalks, with steps leading up from the street and a nice grass plat between curb and walk. The doctor has a most valuable property.

Ladies of Brady.

Let The Standard print your calling cards. They will be just right if they come from this office. We have the standard sizes, also the latest type faces for the printing. Calling cards are too cheap for any woman to be without them.

The Standard is equipped to print wedding announcements and invitations, ladies' calling cards, dance programs, etc., in the latest styles of type and stationery and on short notice. When you need anything in this line it will be to your interest as well as our's to call on The Standard.

Brady Baptist Association.

It is hoped that all churches in the Brady Baptist Association will be represented by messengers at Millersview on Sept. 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th—Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A number of distinguished visitors from abroad, representing the various denominational interests, are expected to be present. W. D. VINSON, Secretary.

"The Microbe of Love."

The Airdome was packed and the audience was appreciative Tuesday night, when Miss Goldie Green, of Comanche, presented that exorcisingly funny play, "The Microbe of Love." The play was given as a benefit to the Presbyterian church, and the ladies of that denomination supplied the talent, which under Miss Green's direction showed up to great advantage.

There were so many "hits" and the good points of the entertainment were so frequent that to attempt to describe the play in detail would take more space than The Standard has to spare this week. Everyone of the cast fitted nicely the niche provided, and there was not a dull moment during the entire evening. And yet we cannot pass this point without giving special mention to Mrs. F. W. Henderson, who, as Bridget O'Hooligan, was easily the feature.

Never did Brady's youth and beauty appear so lovely as in the tableaux and choruses. The spot-light was used with wonderful effect throughout the performance, and from the audience it appeared that those old bachelors on the stage should not have required the hypodermic injection of the "Microbe" to have lost their hearts, and when it appeared that Jim Mann would require the second dose the audience, to a man, wanted to rise up and "baste" him with a club.

The Indian song by sixteen little girls in appropriate Indian maiden costume, was another feature, which was also ably added to by the artistic handling of the spot-light. The quartette lemon song is also deserving of special mention. Brady's amusement loving public will look forward to another such evening's enjoyment.

SAN SABA GETS ROAD

Santa Fe Has Made San Saba County a Bona Fide Proposition to Build Through from East to West.

The people of San Saba county seem to be at last face to face with a genuine, bona fide railroad proposition. A committee of citizens went to Galveston a week or two ago and met the officials of the Santa Fe railroad who made them a proposition to build a road starting at some point on the San Angelo branch between Golthwaite and Lampasas, running west entirely through San Saba county, touching the towns of San Saba and Richland Springs. The conditions are that the citizens will furnish a free rightofway through the county, and a cash bonus of $75,000.

The people of San Saba county are very much interested and already several meetings have been held, committees appointed and the work of securing the road started. Those people have been wanting a railroad a long time and it is a cinch that they will grab this one, using as their motto that trite phrase, "Do It Now."

Just where the Santa Fe expects to extend this branch to is not yet made known. It points directly at Brady. Or it might turn slightly north, cross the Frisco at Rochelle or Placid and go to Paint Rock to meet the Miles-Paint Rock Sunflower road. It has been hinted before that the Sunflower was really a Santa Fe proposition, and this San Saba road pointing that way looks a little suspicious. However, the Sunflower people vigorously deny that the Santa Fe has anything to do with their road.

Anyway you look at it, it shows that there is another railroad pointing toward Brady, while Brady sits quietly and awaits the crash of being run over.

Get Well First

Don't risk even a penny—until health first returns. And I mean just exactly that. I am the one physician who says to the sick "I will, out of my own pocket, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help." And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively standard in every community—and everywhere. Then why pay the cash, and at your risk, for other unwarranted and uncertain medicines? Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative. When the stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, these sick ones know how quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money risk whatever. They know that when health fails to return, Dr. Shoop will himself gladly pay the drug cost. And for that test a full 30 day treatment is freely granted. This will save delay and disappointment. All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—for I have appointed an honest and responsible drug-gist in almost every community, to issue my "no pay" medicines to those who are not well. Besides you are perfectly free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands by my private personal advice prescription or medicine. My best effort for is surely worth your simple remedy. So write now, while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis. Which Book Shall I Send You? Surprising, What Kodol Will Do

For you, when you need it. But the longer you neglect indigestion, the more you will suffer before Kodol can restore Good Digestion.

And, of course, indigestion if neglected long enough, brings on serious diseases in which Kodol cannot benefit you. Some of these there is no help for at all. There are, in fact, very few ailments which cannot be traced directly to impure blood. And impure blood is always due to a disordered stomach. Use Kodol and prevent Nervous Dyspepsia. Kodol will effectually assist Nature to secure a complete restoration of good digestion. It does this by at once digesting all food in the stomach and keeping it digested, until the stomach is rested and can resume its own work. Kodol removes the cause—and the effect quickly removes itself. When it is recalled that Apoplexy, Heart Disease, Cancer—and even Consumption—are due to poor digestion and poisons thus transmitted to the blood, and throughout the system—the importance of maintaining good digestion is at once realized.

Cut the Bushes.

The city council Monday took up the matter of having all streets and sidewalks kept open. Their attention was called to the fact that bushes and weeds and other obstructions are allowed to fill up sidewalks. They are of the opinion that all property owners ought to have civic pride enough to keep the sidewalks around their own premises in a good condition, and feel that where persons will not clean up their own sidewalks on request, the power of the law will be invoked. As a preliminary, this request is published. Cut the weeds and bushes around your property, clear away the obstructions from the sidewalks. No matter what part of town you live in you will be expected to clean up the sidewalks around your property. Do not throw the weeds and bushes into the street, but burn them. Clean up. If the property owners will do this the council will take no further action. But where property owners show no disposition to clean up, the council will take the needed action to have the premises cleaned. Clean up.

BRADY, TEXAS, AUGUST 26, 1909

AND now another railroad is pointing directly at Brady. Look at the map. Brady could be and ought to be the center of a perfect net work of railroads.

BRADY should lose no time in locating a creamery. The farmers are ready for it, and the benefits to accrue to both town and county are evident. Local capitalists would find it a good investment.

THE Brady papers are rejoicing over the rainfall and the prospects for good crops throughout the Brady country and in their joy the Bulletin freely shares. A better people never lived than the citizens of McCulloch county and they deserve the cream of all the good things of the earth. May their tribe increase and their lands yield manifold—Brownwood Bulletin.

Thanks, Bro. Mayes. Your kindness is only exceeded by your extreme good looks.

THE STANDARD'S plea for a commercial club will eventually bear fruit. We feel sure that the energetic citizenship of this town will not remain idle much longer. Our efforts have attracted attention and the editor hears favorable comment every week. The Standard wants to see a live, working commercial organization perfected, and the sooner we get it the better for the town and county. With a secretary paid to devote his entire time to the work the results to be accomplished are many and certain.

SOME editor down state has figured it out that there are 10,000 pieces of type to the column, that there are seven wrong positions each letter may be put in, therefore 70,000 chances in each column of making an error, besides millions of chance transpositions. Taking the sentence, "To be or not to be," he figures that it is possible for the printer to make 6,256,800 errors in setting the type. The average man in possession of these facts will perhaps be the less disposed to criticize an occasional error in his favorite paper.

Gainesville Register: Texas people are now calling for Texas butter, and the creamery of this city has been forced to cancel its Chicago orders in order to supply the demand in Texas and Oklahoma. A few months ago the local creamery was shipping more more butter into Ft. Worth than the Ft. Worth creameries were making; then it put on a refrigerator car to Chicago; now it cannot meet the demand of the cities of Texas and Oklahoma.

That is an item of news that should interest every Texan. It means much more than appears on the surface. It assures both farmers and investors that there are opportunities in butter-making and cream selling in this State which are ready for those who have the enterprise to avail themselves of them. Dairying is an exceedingly profitable branch of agriculture, and Cooke county has made good. Why should not the Gainesville success be duplicated in every rich county of Texas?—Dallas News.

THE STACY BARBECUE

Citizens of the Stacy Community Entertain Very Large Crowd with Old Fashioned Hospitality.

The Standard's editor attended the barbecue at Stacy last Thursday, and can now bear personal witness to the hospitality of the good people of that corner of the best county in Texas—Grand Old McCulloch.

Accepting the invitation of Dr. J. S. Anderson to ride in his automobile we were bowling rapidly along on the 35-mile trip at an early hour. Dr. Anderson is said to be a fine hand at cutting off a man's leg and performing other difficult feats of surgery. We suppose these reports are true, but we know if he is as good at that as he is at driving a one-lung automobile he must be about the best in the land, for he certainly does know how to cover ground in an auto. The entire trip, 35 miles and back, 70 miles in all, was made in a small fraction over four hours, without a semblance of an accident, and in spite of some twenty-odd gates to open, in which job the genial doctor got the full benefit of this editor's company. And by the way, those gates are a detriment to Brady's best interests. There should be a big, wide, well worked public road all the way from Brady to Stacy, and our business men should use their influence and money to see that it is opened. The people up there are entitled to a good road.

All along the road to Stacy the crops looked fine. In the Lohn valley a perfect panorama stretched out to our view on every side. This side of Cow Gap and in the Pear Valley neighborhood, everywhere, crops looked good. We failed to see a really "sorry" crop on the entire route, and our judgment is that there will be a world of feed stuff made, while cotton, with nothing to damage it, ought to make one-fourth to one-third bale easily. In the immediate Stacy country the crops are somewhat later, and the young cotton would do better with another rain, but the general prospects are good, and the people are seemingly well satisfied.

Stacy is a thriving little village with several good lines of general merchandise, a drug store, two blacksmith shops, etc. The people are thrifty and the general appearance of the community is one of happiness and prosperity. The picnic grounds were about a mile from town on the banks of the Colorado in a beautiful grassy pecan grove. And the crowd was there, at least 1500 strong, everybody happy and out for a good time. They had a brass band, a dancing platform, speaker's stand, refreshment stands, and a plum plenty of barbecued meat for dinner. The entire affair was well handled, showing that the people knew what they were about.

In the afternoon a corking good game of baseball was played between the crack Fife team and a team from Fisk, over in Coleman county. Fife won by a narrow margin. A gun club shoot was also pulled off, there being shooters from Ballinger, Coleman, Brady and Stacy. Lee Jones of Brady was champion of the day and won a fine bird dog offered by Dr. McCanne of Stacy to the best shooter for the day. There were other good shots on the grounds, among them that red headed Stacy wonder, Lewis. Mr. Lewis' shooting attracted more comment than any, on account of his quickness. He powdered them and got them "right now."

There was a lot of speaking. Ballinger sent over a delegation of bankers and business men whose instructions were to "pull the Stacy trade to Ballinger at any cost." They proceeded to get busy and made all kinds of wild promises, offering to build half a dozen bridges and an 80-ft macadamized road all the way to their town if the people would only come there and trade. Their "windies" were ably met by Tom Bell and Prof. M. L. Stallings, and in spite of the fact that the Ballingerites were organized and Bradyites were not the impression seemed to be that Brady was the natural trading point for that country and they would continue to come here where the highest prices were always paid for cotton, etc. Stacy people are too intelligent and too loyal and patriotic to rush off after false gods when they have the best county seat in Brady, peopled by their friends and neighbors. Stacy needs Brady, and Brady needs Stacy, and a mutual understanding cements the bond.

Agricultural Statistics.

Tax Assessor Quicksall is in receipt of the following letter from the Commissioner of Agriculture regarding his report on agricultural statistics as required by the new law:

My Dear Sir:

I have your very kind letter of the 23rd inst, in which you refer to the forwarding of the agricultural statistics of McCulloch county. As soon as this report is received in this office I will carefully tabulate the same and forward you the totals and take up the matter of shortage referred to in your letter.

You have certainly done well and have received the co-operation of the farmers in that only about 2 per cent. have refused to give information. I feel that if the farmers could realize the necessity of complying with the law and the benefit to them in compiling this work there could be no trouble in getting the necessary information.

This department is getting up a publication showing the products and agricultural possibilities of the different counties in the state and it seems to me that every man interested in the development of the State should take an interest in making a complete report of his products.

Most truly yours,
ED R. KONE

CHAPTER VIII. THE AMERICAN.

THE clatter without continued unabated, and Ethel and the countess walked back to the terrace rampart to stand looking out over the glorious bay.

Horace, still in the seventh heaven of delighted realization, took the Daily Mail from the table on which the earl had thrown it and seated himself to read beside Lady Crech, who was already deep in the Church Register. The earl had buried himself in the Pall Mall Gazette and was apparently oblivious to such minor details as an Italian peasant row.

But to Horace in his highly strung condition of nerves the uproar was aggravating, and he called to Mariano, who was bustling setting the table again.

"Mariano, how long is this noise to continue?"

The maître d'hôtel shrugged his expressive shoulders and replied:

"How can I know, m'sieu? We can do nothing."

Michele, who was assisting his chief, smiled covertly at the young man.

"The populace they will not be de-part so long as there shall be the chance once again to observe the North American who pulled the automobile with the donkeys?"

"Merci!" cried Mariano, with vigor. "He have confuse me. He have confuse everybody. He will not be content with the déjeuner until he have the ham and the egg, and he will have the egg cooked upon but one of two sides, and how in the name of the heaven can we tell which of these two sides?"

Mariano was about to continue his grumbling complaint when from the doorway of the hotel there came an interruption. The courier who had spoken with him earlier in the morning stood there and voiced but one word.

"Garçon!" he said softly. But it was like the command of a cavalry officer in its effect, for instantly the maître d'hôtel and his aid stood at attention like trained veterans. The earl evidently was not too deeply immersed to catch the sudden silence, for he looked up from his paper and observed:

"Upon my soul! Who's this?"

Mariano did not turn his head nor relax his attitude of stiff attention, but answered obsequiously:

"It is the Herr von Grollerhagen, a German gentleman, m'lord."

Hawcastle turned with an amused smile to Horace.

"The man who owns the automobile. Probably made a fortune in sausage." From within the hotel there came the tones of a heavy though cultivated voice declaiming quietly:

"Nein, nein, Riblere! 'S macht nichts!"

And instantly there came down the steps the German gentleman aforesaid. He was tall and of a commanding presence. He wore a grayish beard and an automobile cap that half concealed the eyes that burned with the authority of generations beneath. Withal it was a kindly face, and, though there was a stern command in the figure, there was genial humor and even tenderness too. By no authority could he have been considered well dressed. His clothes seemed rather to have been thrown on negligently. The little party at the table regarded him with hostility, and Lady Crech turned up her aristocratic nose.

"What a dreadful person!" she said and turned again to her paper.

The German walked sedately across the terrace to the table where the two servants still stood at attention and lifted his hand in a curt half military salute in acknowledgment of their bow.

"See to my American friend," he said.

"What a terrible person!" remarked Lady Crech again, and Hawcastle bent toward her.

"Undoubtedly, but he speaks English. So be careful."

"So many objectionable people do," commented the crusty dame.

Herr von Grollerhagen turned smilingly to Mariano.

"My American friend desires his national dish."

Mariano bowed.

"Yes, Herr von Grollerhagen," replied Mariano deferentially. "He will have the eggs on but one of two sides and the ham fried, so he go to cook it himself."

Von Grollerhagen smiled, when from without the gates came a shout of amusement and wild laughter. Mariano instantly bowed and ran toward the hotel.

"Ha!" he said eagerly. "He return from the kitchen with that national dish."

Michele emerged from the hotel walking backward and carrying a covered dish, while Ethel turned with a little shudder of disgust to the countess.

"How horrible!" she said, and the Frenchwoman patted her shoulder reassuringly.

Immediately following the servant came Pike, the same self possessed Pike, clad in a linen duster and a straw hat that was decorated with a bright ribbon. If there was anything distinctive about him it was his scarf, which was of that type known as Windsor and much affected by artists in the east hind every one in the west. He carried a towel with him and dropped it in one hand as he glanced about.

"Law!" he observed, startled, but amused. "I didn't know there were folks here. Reckon you'll have to excuse me. Here, son!" he called, tossing the towel into Michele's hands and walking over to the table. Hawcastle, Lady Crech and Horace stared unbelievably. Ethel hid her face, with another little shudder, as Pike, without removing his dust coat, sat down opposite the German.

"You are a true patriot," laughed Von Grollerhagen. "You allow no profane hand to cook your national dish. I trust you will be as successful with that wicked motor of mine."

Pike laughed heartily.

"Lord bless your soul, doc, I've put a self binder together after a pony engine had bucked it halfway through a brick depot," said Pike genially, tucking his napkin inside the collar of his shirt and falling to on the ham and eggs. At the table where sat the Hawcastle party there were expressions of pained agony.

"You have studied mechanics at the university, then?" went on Von Grollerhagen. "Is it not so?"

"University?" returned Pike. "Not much! On the old man's farm."

Hawcastle turned at once to Horace. "Without any disrespect to you, my dear fellow, what terrific bounders most of your fellow countrymen are!" Horace mentally writhed under the veiled taunt, but turned quickly with an assent in effect.

"Do you wonder that sis and I have emancipated ourselves?" he asked, and the noble earl, with a softened glance as he thought of the dollars, replied blandly, "Not at all, my dear boy," and turned once more to his paper.

Von Grollerhagen glanced at the three with slight amusement and held out the caviare to Pike.

"Can I persuade you to try one of my national dishes," he asked—"caviare?"

"Caviare?" replied Pike. "I've heard of it, but I thought it was Russian."

"It is also German," answered the other, recovering himself from the start he had given. "Will you not?"

Daniel looked him straight in the eye quizzically.

"I'd never get into the legislature again if any of the boys heard of it," he remarked, "but I guess I'm far enough from home to take a few chances."

Quite slowly and hesitatingly he placed some of the caviare in his mouth and then turned a vacant and pained look upon the German. The latter smiled and observed quickly:

"You do not like it? I am sorry, here! A taste of the vodka will destroy the caviare."

Mariano quickly filled a glass and passed it to Daniel, who seized it eagerly. This time he sat bolt upright in the chair and exhibited real distress. Then he quickly seized another forkful of the caviare and ate it hurriedly.

"But I thought you did not like the caviare?" said the German.

Daniel breathed quickly for an instant, and the flush died from his face. "That was to take away the taste of the vodka," he said weakly, and Von Grollerhagen lifted his head and laughed heartily.

"I lift my hat to you, my friend," he said, and Pike looked at him genially.

"You never worked on a farm, did you, doc?" he asked, and the German admitted that such a pleasure had been denied him.

"I guess that's right," went on Daniel reflectively. "Talk about things to drink! Harvest time and the women folks coming out from the house with a two gallon jug of ice cold butter-milk."

Horace shuddered convulsively, and Von Grollerhagen asked:

"You still enjoy those delights?"

"Not since I moved up to our county seat and began to practice law, ten years ago," Pike answered. "Things don't taste the same in the city."

"Then you do not like your city?"

"Like it! Why, sir, for public buildings and architecture I wouldn't trade our state insane asylum for the worst ruined ruin in Europe—not for hygienic and real comfort!"

"And your people?"

"The best on earth. Why, out my way folks are neighbors!"

Horace rattled his paper sharply and glanced angrily at the disturber of his harmony. The German went on:

"But you have no leisure class," he objected, and Daniel smiled.

"We've got a pretty good sized colored population," he replied.

The German lifted his hand protestingly.

"I mean no aristocracy—no great old families such as we have, that go back to the middle ages."

Pike laughed seriously, if one might imagine such a thing, and returned instantly:

"Well, I expect if they go back that far they might just as well sit down and stay there. No, sir; the poor man in my country don't have to pay any taxes to keep up a lot of useless kings and earls and first grooms of the bedchamber and second ladies in waiting and I don't know what all. If anybody wants our money for nothing, he's got to show energy enough to steal it. Doc, I wonder a man like you doesn't emigrate."

"Bravo!" cried Von Grollerhagen, with keen delight, while Hawcastle turned with an angry gesture to Horace.

"Your countryman does seem to be rather down on us!"

Horace flushed with mortification and returned:

"This fellow is distinctly of the lower orders. We should cut him as completely in the States as here."

CHAPTER IX.
RECOGNIZED.

THE German was frankly enjoying his guest's conversation and quaint mannerisms and went on:

"I wonder you make this long journey, my friend, instead of spending your holiday at home."

Pike looked up in astonishment.

"Holiday! Why, I never even had time to go to Niagara falls. I'm here on business."

Ethel, who was still standing by the countess, looked at her friend with pained entreaty, and Horace, catching Lady Crech's basilisk eye fixed on him, reddened with mortification.

Daniel carefully folded his napkin and sat back.

"I expect it's about time for me to go and find the two young folks I've come to look after," he said.

"You are here for a duty, then?" asked the German quietly.

"I shouldn't be surprised if that was the name for it," answered Pike, rising. "Yes, sir; all the way from Indiana!"

Both Ethel and Horace started in horrified amazement and looked at each other with stricken terror on their faces. If this should—

"I—I can't stand this. I shall go for a stroll," said Horace hysterically and rose from the table, while Hawcastle looked at Pike fixedly.

"By Jove!" he said slowly.

"I expect, doc," went on Pike calmly, "that I won't be able to eat with you this evening. You see—you see I've come a mighty long way to look after "Reason! Why, yes, I'm her guardian!" her, and she—that is, they—will probably want me to have supper with them."

The horror was closing fast around the other party, and they simply stared.

"Do not trouble for me," observed the German. "Your young people—they have a villa?"

"No," answered Pike, with a smile. "They're right here in this hotel."

Horace, with fear lending wings to his scattered senses, sprang to his feet and began to walk toward the grove Pike looked up.

"I'd better ask," he said, and then, observing Horace, went on addressing him: "Hey, there! Can you"— He stared at the young man, paying no attention, proceeded on his way. Pike raised his voice.

"Excuse me, son, ain't you an American?" As Horace paid no more attention he turned to Mariano. "Here, waiter! Tell that gentleman I want to speak to him!"

Mariano sprang after the retreating Horace.

"Pardon, m'sieu," he began, as he wished to speak to you.

Horace whirled in an angry dash.

"What gentleman?" he demanded, and Pike regarded him calmly.

"I thought from your looks," he proceeded quietly, "you might be an American."

Horace planted himself squarely before his interrogator.

"Are you speaking to me?" he demanded haughtily.

"I shouldn't be surprised," said Pike genially. "Ain't you an American?"

"I happen to have been born in the States," replied Horace aggressively, and Pike smiled quizzically.

"Well, that was luck," he commented, and as Horace turned again to go he said: "Hold on a minute! I'm looking for some Americans here, and I expect you know 'em—boy and girl named Simpson?"

Horace flushed deeply to the roots of his hair.

"Is there any possibility you mean Granger-Simpson?" he asked, with elaborate sarcasm, but this was lost on Daniel.

"No, sir; just plain Simpson. Granger's their middle name. That's for old Jed Granger, grandfather on their mother's side. I want to see 'em both, but it's the girl I'm really looking for."

"Will you be good enough to state any possible reason why Miss Granger-Simpson should see you?" and Pike started in genuine astonishment.

"Reason!" he reiterated. "Why, yes, I'm her guardian!"

The effect of this simple statement was terrifying. Ethel reeled dizzily and was supported by Mme. de Champigny. The earl rose to his feet, and Horace staggered back.

"What!" he cried.

"Yes, sir," went on Pike—"Daniel Voorhees Pike, attorney at law, Kokomo, Ind."

Horace fell back from him in horrified amazement.

"I shall ask her," he began weakly and shamefacedly, "if she will consent to an interview."

Pike looked at him in amazement in his turn.

"Interview!" he said. "Why, I want to talk to her!"

Hawcastle, with some of his sister feelings aroused, picked up his sister-in-law with his eyes, much as a clever hostess picks up her feminine guests at dinner, and arose, turning to Ethel.

"This shall make no difference to us, my child," he said and, turning sharply, took Lady Crech by the arm and left the terrace. Pike looked at Horace pityingly.

"Don't you understand?" he said. "I'm her guardian!"

For a fleeting instant Horace stared at him and then dropped his chin and walked away.

"I shall never hold up my head again," he said.

The sudden horror of the revelation that Horace had drawn forth bore down upon Ethel's mind with a crushing weight.

We Want Your Business

To Brady Public School Patrons.

The session of 1909-10 will begin Monday, September 6th. All patrons should see that their children are present the first day and every day, and continue uninterruptedly to the close. Many parents do not seem to fully appreciate the fact that the absence of but a day seriously interferes with the child's standing, and affects its progress throughout the course. Absence creates a restlessness of mind, and is very unfavorable to proper application, which is absolutely essential to the student's success.

As the Board of Trustees did not publish a catalogue for this session you are advised to see the old catalogue for course of study and regulations governing the school. I will call your attention to one change made by the Board at its last meeting. As the High School is taught on the department plan, it was decided to promote pupils in that department by courses instead of grades. Of course you will understand that this will not permit graduation without a completion of the entire course of study laid down in former catalogues. The same books will be used this session for the different grades as far as found practicable. You will find them at the Jones Drug Store and the Central Drug Store, where you can see a catalogue giving a course of study for the different grades.

I appreciate, highly appreciate, the continued confidence you have placed in me in the past, and assure you that it shall ever be my purpose to merit it, and I further hope to receive in the future, as in the past, your sympathy and hearty co-operation, for without it success is impossible in the highest degree.

Remember that while Brady has a noble citizenship and many worthy business and social enterprises, that her educational institution stands at the head of the list in importance, because the education of the masses is our first and highest duty. Education is the only panacea for our social and political woes. Then let every good citizen of Brady, whether he be patron or no, lend his very best endeavors to the upbuilding of Brady's public school, which is already second to none.

Thanking each of you all for all past considerations and courtesies, and trusting that our future relations may prove pleasant and profitable, both to pupils and citizens, I beg to remain,

Yours truly,
M. L. STALLINGS, Supt.

August time tells on the nerves. But that spiritless, no ambition feeling can be easily and quickly altered by taking what is known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Within 48 hours after beginning to use the Restorative, improvement will be noticed. Of course, full health will not immediately return. The gain, however, will surely follow. And best of all, you will realize and feel your strength and ambition as it is returning. Outside influences depress first the "inside nerves" then the stomach, heart, and kidneys will usually fail. Strengthen these failing nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly health will be yours again. Sold by Central Drug Store.

FOR BROOM FACTORY

Brady Country Will Grow the Broom Corn
and Brady Should Have A Big Factory.

About a mile east of Eden, Concho county, J. D. Moody has established a small manufacturing plant for making brooms and his product will compare most favorably with anything of the kind shipped into this territory. Mr. Moody is an expert broom maker and has no difficulty in disposing of his out-put at living prices. But, what is better still, he raises on his own farm the raw material,—the broom corn—threshes it, cures it, does everything, from the planting of the seed to the completion of the broom, on his home farm. Now the point is—the "raison d'être" of this article—that if Mr. Moody can make such a success of his venture in a small way at Eden, thirty-five miles from the nearest shipping point, what would prevent him making a big success of it at Brady? By capitalizing the plant and the introduction of new and up-to-date machinery, of large capacity, with Mr. Moody as manager there seems to be no reason why it should not prove a paying investment. In the first place Mr. Moody knows how to make brooms equal to the best, and this knowledge can be easily demonstrated to any doubter on short notice. And another important fact is that he has also shown that broom-corn would be a paying crop in Brady territory. A large factory established at Brady would be a money-maker from the start, affording a profitable market for all broom-corn raised here, besides, to some extent at least, emancipating the women and children from the slavery to which the all-cotton idea consigns them. Broom-corn belongs to the sorghum family, is a drouth resister and would be a certain and paying crop almost any year in this country and more especially so if Brady would come alive and create the market.

Delicate Women

"From a thin, nervous wreck, miserable and wretched, I am now enjoying splendid health, and it is all traceable to Dr. Miles' Nervine."

MRS. MAUD B. OPLINGER,
Philadelphia, Penna.

As a rule women understand the nature of their delicate organism, but overlook the wonderful influence their nervous system has upon their general health. They do not realize that nearly all their ills are directly traceable to the nervous system. Thousands of women have regained their health and vigor by the use of

Dr. Miles' Nervine.

It restores strength to the entire nervous system.

Route Beyond River.

The Mason Herald gives the following information concerning the route of the Frisco extension after the survey crosses the San Saba river:

Mr. Welsh engineer of the Frisco surveying corps was in town Wednesday looking around. Max Martin took him out in his auto to the grove near Judge S. A. Collum's where he located a place for his camp. They are surveying now from the river to the Mason mountain and expect to move their camp to the new location by Saturday. The route being surveyed runs about half a mile east of Katemcy and will run around the east side of Mason mountain. Mr. Welch says that while he does not know what the Frisco's plans are, that he has orders to survey to Mason and that, in his opinion, the road will be under construction in a short time.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels. Sold by Jones Drug Co.

Cotton Crop Prospects.

The past two weeks have changed the prospects for a cotton crop in this country considerably for the worse. From talks with farmers from almost every section of the county The Standard learns that a quarter-bale to the acre is about the correct estimate now. The very hot weather of last week caused considerable damage, and in some sections the boll worm and weevil have been getting in their work to the detriment of the crop. If frost holds off for a few weeks longer than usual the yield may average better than a quarter-bale, but present prospects indicate that a bale to four acres will probably be the average yield over the county.

When the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys nerves get weak, then these organs always fail. Don't drug the Stomach—nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is simply a makeshift. Strengthen these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quick help will come. Sold by Central Drug Store.

Mrs. W. G. Joyce has returned from a visit to relatives in Franklin and Hopkins counties, and reports it very hot and dry in East Texas. Still in the Lead.

Miss Stella Sayle, of this city, is still in the lead in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's popularity contest for this district, and last reports showed that she has a most excellent chance to win the prize, which consists of a trip to the Seattle Exposition with stops at points of interest in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming. The contest closes Saturday, and Miss Sayle is working hard this week to retain her lead. Brady people feel a justly loyal interest in her success and are showing that loyalty in the proper way.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Jones Drug Store.

Some wag started a rumor Monday that there was a flaw in the title to the jail property recently sold by the county, and that the heirs of the original grantee of the land had entered suit for possession. In a remarkably short time the rumor had reached proportions which occasioned much comment, but was soon traced down and the joke shown up. Investigation shows that the title to the property in question is perfect in every respect.

FOR BROOM FACTORY

Brady Country Will Grow the Broom Corn
and Brady Should Have A Big Factory.

About a mile east of Eden, Concho county, J. D. Moody has established a small manufacturing plant for making brooms and his product will compare most favorably with anything of the kind shipped into this territory. Mr. Moody is an expert broom maker and has no difficulty in disposing of his out-put at living prices. But, what is better still, he raises on his own farm the raw material,—the broom corn—threshes it, cures it, does everything, from the planting of the seed to the completion of the broom, on his home farm. Now the point is—the "raison d'être" of this article—that if Mr. Moody can make such a success of his venture in a small way at Eden, thirty-five miles from the nearest shipping point, what would prevent him making a big success of it at Brady? By capitalizing the plant and the introduction of new and up-to-date machinery, of large capacity, with Mr. Moody as manager there seems to be no reason why it should not prove a paying investment. In the first place Mr. Moody knows how to make brooms equal to the best, and this knowledge can be easily demonstrated to any doubter on short notice. And another important fact is that he has also shown that broom-corn would be a paying crop in Brady territory. A large factory established at Brady would be a money-maker from the start, affording a profitable market for all broom-corn raised here, besides, to some extent at least, emancipating the women and children from the slavery to which the all-cotton idea consigns them. Broom-corn belongs to the sorghum family, is a drouth resister and would be a certain and paying crop almost any year in this country and more especially so if Brady would come alive and create the market.

Delicate Women

"From a thin, nervous wreck, miserable and wretched, I am now enjoying splendid health, and it is all traceable to Dr. Miles' Nervine."
MRS. MAUD B. OPLINGER,
Philadelphia, Penna.

They do not realize that nearly all their ills are directly traceable to the nervous system. Thousands of women have regained their health and vigor by the use of

It restores strength to the entire nervous system.

Route Beyond River.

The Mason Herald gives the following information concerning the route of the Frisco extension after the survey crosses the San Saba river:

Mr. Welsh engineer of the Frisco surveying corps was in town Wednesday looking around. Max Martin took him out in his auto to the grove near Judge S. A. Collum's where he located a place for his camp. They are surveying now from the river to the Mason mountain and expect to move their camp to the new location by Saturday. The route being surveyed runs about half a mile east of Katency and will run around the east side of Mason mountain. Mr. Welsh says that while he does not know what the Frisco's plans are, that he has orders to survey to Mason and that, in his opinion, the road will be under construction in a short time.

Cotton Crop Prospects.

The past two weeks have changed the prospects for a cotton crop in this country considerably for the worse. From talks with farmers from almost every section of the county The Standard learns that a quarter-bale to the acre is about the correct estimate now. The very hot weather of last week caused considerable damage, and in some sections the boll worm and weevil have been getting in their work to the detriment of the crop. If frost holds off for a few weeks longer than usual the yield may average better than a quarter-bale, but present prospects indicate that a bale to four acres will probably be the average yield over the county.

Strengthen these nerves, build them up with Dr. Shoop's Restorative—tablets or liquid—and see how quick help will come. Sold by Central Drug Store.

Mrs. W. G. Joyce has returned from a visit to relatives in Franklin and Hopkins counties, and reports it very hot and dry in East Texas. No rains, except local showers, have fallen and crops are very poor, pastures barren and stock thin and in general bad shape. Mrs. Joyce says McCulloch county is in better shape than any other county she saw, and our green fields and growing crops certainly look good to her.

Still in the Lead.

Miss Stella Sayle, of this city, is still in the lead in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's popularity contest for this district, and last reports showed that she has a most excellent chance to win the prize, which consists of a trip to the Seattle Exposition with stops at points of interest in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming. The contest closes Saturday, and Miss Sayle is working hard this week to retain her lead. Brady people feel a justly loyal interest in her success and are showing that loyalty in the proper way.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Jones Drug Store.

Jail Muddle Hoax.

Some wag started a rumor Monday that there was a flaw in the title to the jail property recently sold by the county, and that the heirs of the original grantee of the land had entered suit for possession. In a remarkably short time the rumor had reached proportions which occasioned much comment, but was soon traced down and the joke shown up. Investigation shows that the title to the property in question is perfect in every respect.

Green's Column Current Comment By J. Walker Green

There seems to be a good deal of perplexity concerning my statement in a letter from the Eden country, that a new religion was being exploited thereabouts. People seem to be in doubt whether to accept it as a joke, or as a fact, and many inquiries have reached me relative thereto. Well, it is a fact, that there is, or was, a rather eccentric, long-haired individual down there, who claims to be the apostle of the "Church of God" with the far-sight of prophecy, posing as the intermediary or mouth-piece of divinity whose preachments are freighted with fore-bodings, wailing and gnashing of teeth. As said in former letter, I was unable to get the tenets, the main essentials of this new religion, and in fact nobody seemed able to locate the cable which holds this new ship to its anchorage in Jordan's stormy waters. From my best information however, this new religion and its apostle, seems overburdened with negatives, and goes short on affirmatives. All religions are wrong, all denominations are in soul-damning error except "his'n." All the joy our fathers found in the uplifted voice of prayer, all the hymned sweetness of our mothers' lives, all of our knee-shrined invocations, following the promptings of the mother-heart:

"Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep,
If I should die before I wake
I pray the Lord my soul to take,"
were inspired by the "insubstantial visions of a dream," and the living God, after a silence of six-thousand years, has but now, discovered a worthy and fitting oracle to brush away the mists which obscure our visions of His purposes, and reveal to an astounded world at last the immaculate and shining jewel of Truth, of indubitable sanctity, and all pervading light. And the Eden country is the coming "Glory Land", the "Paradise Reclaimed." Its metes and bounds are given, and 'tis but seven years away. It might be wise (I "dunno") for the Eden folks to begin to sprout wings, but it would be wiser to plant hogs. Because, the possibility of utilizing the wings (there's the taxicab aviator anyhow, in case you get left) is at least uncertain, while the utilization of ham and red gravy carries no vestige of doubt in its make-up. Therefore it would be safe and sane, eh? By gum! Human credulity is the forty-seventh wonder of the world! Ignorance is the colossus that bestrides the world, and lovingly hugs to its heart the self-seeking, mouthing mountebank while the trained thinker and path-finder of human progress walks alone, and lonely, without acclaim. In science, religion, law and medicine it is the same, but of all these, religion offers the most inviting field to the fakir. The soul is a mystic quantity, and the sum of human knowledge is written in the three letters which spell, n-l-ll! Hence the fakir's random guess at psychological problems is accepted as the correct solution, until by the wear of familiarity, the novelty disappears—the weather-worn paint reveals the rotten wood—and we are ready for any new prophet that happens along. But good friends let me say in conclusion, that there is no conservatism that assures greater and happier returns than conservatism in religious matters—the holding fast to mother-wit—common sense. The creed you learned at your mother's knee,—the holiest altar on earth—is good enough to live by and die by! Hook it to your hearts with links of steel, and rivet it with the faith of your fathers. Denominationalism is a word that defines a difference in detail only, the essentials of the Christian religion are identical everywhere, and in all churches. And these churches working together for the good of nations, have redeemed the world, from chaotic barbarism and savagery, to order, civilization and a nearer approach to the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man. They have labored with abiding faith and unfaltering purpose through the centuries, and the high plane of human life and endeavor we see all around us today, is a living ever-present proof, that if they have not been inspired by an over-watching providence and guidance they have accomplished a work so nearly divine in itself, that it justifies the assumption of divine direction. Then cling to the decks of the "old ship of Zion," whose helmsman, tried and true, has steered many a voyager to the safe harbor we all hope to reach at last.

not object to the issuance of bonds to meet the expense of placing the bridge, because there are but few residents of McCulloch who have not felt the inconvenience, not to say discomfiture and loss, occasioned by a sudden rise in the river. Besides we have a duty to perform to our neighbor counties, north and west of us, and we should provide reasonable facilities, in roads and bridges, to strangers and travelers within our gates. They have a right to expect it—since we claim to be civilized—and if the expectation be disappointed, they will carry away the idea that we are either too poor or too stingy to meet a crying need. Either supposition would be a libel upon the opulence and liberality of McCulloch county, nevertheless that will be the kind of freight every move-wagon will carry across our border, when they are compelled to wait days, sometimes weeks and then perhaps be obliged to travel twenty-five or thirty miles down the river, over almost impassable roads to the Milburn bridge. Twenty-year bonds would divide and distribute the expense in such a way that it would be a burden to nobody. If it be objected that the expense should not be shifted to the shoulders of those who have no voice in creating the debt, the answer is that since the coming generation will use the bridge, it is but just and right that they should bear their share of the cost. Frank Bradley is right; good roads and bridges across the streams, especially the Colorado, are present and imperative necessities, far more so than a new jail, and the commissioners court is respectfully requested to consider them.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Allen of Brady, were in the city last night enroute to Marlin, where they will spend a few weeks recreating from a year's work. Mr. Allen believes in singing the praises of his home town and actually insisted to a Bulletin man that Brady is a better little town than Brownwood is a big one. He says the crop conditions there are unusually good and that prospects for a great fall trade are bright.—Brownwood Bulletin.
