23 YEARS AGO

Taken from the files of The Texas Spur, published 23 years ago this week. Oran McClure, editor and publisher.

Monday a number of farmers and business men met at the Commercial Club rooms in Spur for the purpose of effecting a Dickens County organization in connection with the Central West Texas Agricultural Association which was recently organized at Hamlin.

The meeting was called to order by Secretary Jeff D. Reagan who after explaining the purpose of the meeting read the program of the meeting of the Association to be held Thursday at Haskell.

Chas. A. Jones was asked to further explain the purpose of the organization, and said in effect that it was mainly if not wholly for the purpose of diffusing agricultural information; broadening the views of farmers and giving the membership the benefit of practical knowledge and experience of other farmers of this territory.

Fred O. McFall, H. C. Allen and Dr. T. E. Standifer made talks. J. P. Gibson was elected President of the local organization.

All farmers present were urged to attend the meeting Thursday at Haskell. Excursion rates will be given by the railroads.

The Spur delegation composed of Chas. A. Jones, Jeff D. Reagan, Fred O. McFall, H. C. Allen and Oscar Jackson who will attend are instructed to secure the next meeting for Spur.

—23 Years Ago—
Monday Wilton Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Copeland of six miles east of Spur, had his arm dislocated and was brought to the Standifer hospital immediately and where his injuries were treated. The accident occurred as a result of his trying to ride a cow which succeeded in "bucking" him off.

—23 Years Ago—
There is no virtue in being indifferently good nor any excuse for being wholly bad. If you have done no man wrong, caused no sorrow, hindered no worthy cause but still not made some person happier or some part of the world better by having lived, your life is thus far a failure. Better to attempt some good deed and fail than not to try at all.

—23 Years Ago—
Baltimore, Md. July 3rd—For President—Woodrow Wilson, Governor of New Jersey. For Vice President—Thomas R. Marshall, Governor of Indiana. After a protracted struggle of one week, Woodrow Wilson was nominated for President by the Democratic National Convention. The nomination came as a dramatic close to a series of dramatic and historical events.

Mahon Asks For Veteran Hospital For West Texas

Congressman George Mahon appeared before the Federal Board of Hospitalization Friday, making an appeal for a Veteran's Administration Hospital for West Texas. The Board is being held by the Board to determine the need for new facilities throughout the country. The proposed hospital would be a general medical and surgical facility. It would include approximately 500 patient beds. Construction would be under the direction of the Veterans' Administration, but it is estimated that an expenditure of approximately $1,000,000 would be involved.

Facts presented by Mr. Mahon at the hearing disclose that there is a larger area centering in West Texas which does not now have access to a general medical facility, than exists in any other section of the country. This area would include approximately 1,200,000 people and an estimated number of Veterans exceeding 36,000. There are several facilities in Texas now, but not one of them is used wholly for general medical purposes. There are only 235 beds available for this type of cases in the entire state, and these serve only 29.3 percent of the general medical and surgical type cases arising within the state.

Mr. Mahon emphasized the need for the hospital from the standpoint of service to the Veterans in the area who need medical attention, from the standpoint of the cost of transportation, and from the standpoint of its value in establishing definite medical records for individual claims with the Veterans Administration.

The Federal Board of Hospitalization would choose the exact location should a hospital be authorized for West Texas.

Largest Wind-Tunnel in World Tests Full-Sized Planes in Virginia

Test Tunnel at Langley Field Surpasses Size of Giant Just Completed by French Air Ministry; Reproduces Actual Flight Conditions

THE French Air Ministry has just announced the completion of a tunnel of gigantic proportions, and an overall length of 313 feet. The air is brought into it through a collector seventy-nine feet in diameter. The air-flow is smoothed out by passage through a honey-combed grid, and then passes into the huge testing-chamber, in which an air-plane can be subjected to an artificial gale of 112 miles an hour.

The largest wind-tunnel in the world, at Langley Field, Virginia. Actual flight conditions are reproduced to test full-sized planes.

while suspended from an overhead platform. From the testing-chamber, the air flows into the suction-chamber, in the walls of which are mounted six propeller-fans, each driven by a 1,000 horse-power electric motor. Thus, a total of 6,000 horse-power will be at work during the progress of a test, making the operation of a full-scale wind-tunnel one of the most expensive forms of scientific investigation in the world. America Has Larger Even this large French tunnel is surpassed by the American laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Langley Field, Virginia. In the working section of the American tunnel, air-plane having a forty-foot span can be comfortably mounted. Only two fans are employed to suck the wind through this tunnel, each driven by a 4,000 H.P. motor.

COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT

"If the 125 foundation patterns made this year have been used only once they saved their owners more than $50.00," said Mrs. J. L. Hagins, Duck Creek, in commenting on the wardrobe report she gave in the Commissioners' Court Monday afternoon. "And one can't depend on a perfect fitting dress from a commercial pattern as from a good fitting foundation pattern," she added.

Mrs. F. B. Crockett, chairman of the county home demonstration council gave a summary report of the demonstrations being conducted this year in the women's and girls' home demonstration clubs. Each six months the Education committee of the county council makes a report to the court.

REPORT OF WARDROBE DEMONSTRATION

Nine wardrobe demonstrators class I and six class II demonstrators completed their work with all records turned in. The average expenditure for the nine class I women was $22.29 per person and $200.64 for the group. Twenty cooperators kept a record of their clothing expenses dating from August 1, 1934; they spent $522.13 or an average of $26.10. The six class II demonstrators and two former demonstrators kept a record of the clothing for their families which totalled 25 people. For these 25 people $647.50 was spent for clothing or an average of $25.90 per person. But in reality the eight women spent $281.46 or $35.18 on an average on their own clothing.

Reports from demonstrators and cooperators show that 30 new closets were built and 23 others were improved. That makes a total of 94 closets built and 164 others improved during the wardrobe work the past three years. Fifty-nine sleeve ironing boards were built this year; 45 shoe racks made this year added to the sixty-seven made last year make a total of 112 in the county.

A total of 125 foundation patterns were fitted this year. That makes a total of 502 foundation patterns made the past three years.

The club women exhibited seventy-three dresses and slips in the recent county clothing contest though (Continued on page eight) our country and by every other country for establishing legitimate title has elapsed. This you know and it is notorious. Our interests in the aforesaid cattle and horses have been greatly damaged for the last seven years through the unfair decrees (speaking with all due respect) of your predecessor, Governor Don Domingo Cabello."

The arguments which followed trace briefly the history of the Spanish colonization movement until the settlement of the villa of San Fernando de Bexar, which "has continued to grow until now there are almost four hundred settlers, including children." The settlers quoted Spanish law, offered the testimony of witnesses and cited common justice to prove their right to the cattle. The former governor's proclamation declaring that all stray stock was the property of the Royal Treasury was catastrophic in its effect, they pointed out, saying:

"If our situation was most miserable during the whole time of the war it was much worse when peace began, for, when we came to a realization of the situation, we found ourselves without horses or cattle. Some of them had been stolen and others killed by the enemy, others were frightened away, others were sold, and others turned into royal possessions. We were poor, hungry naked and in debt, after we had at such cost kept up this long and devastating war. Not only was this true, but the thing that broke our manly spirits—for we could have borne even greater calamities and kept up our courage under them—but we had eyes and could not help pitying the sad condition of the widows and orphans. We also had ears to hear their lamentations, for, after the missions were left without Indians, the widows without husbands, the orphans without fathers, or brothers, they were despoiled of their property."

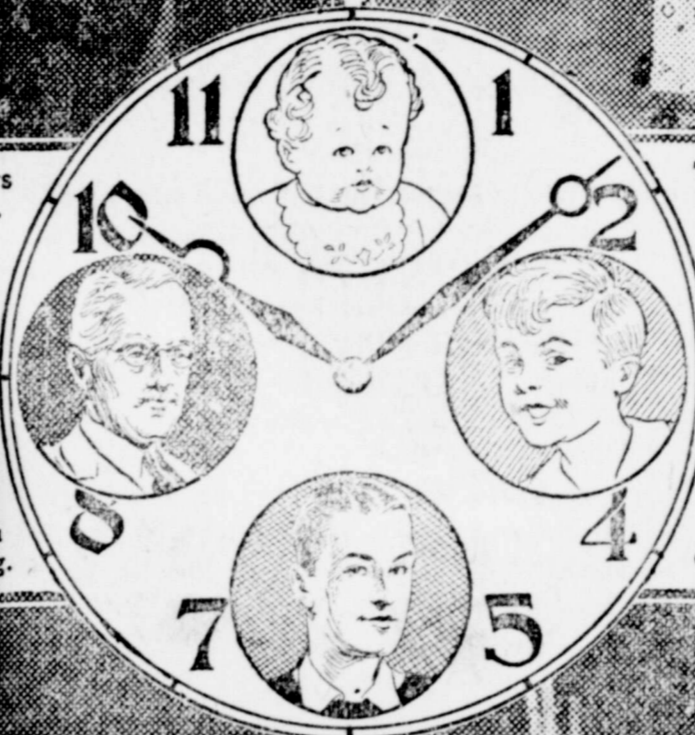

All in all, a most piteous tale is unfolded in the lengthy document, which, translated and typewritten, runs in excess of one hundred pages.

On the other hand, the rights of the Indians, whose existence on the Texas prairies antedated that of the Spanish settlers, was staunchly defended by the priests. A letter from Frey Jose Manano de Cardenas

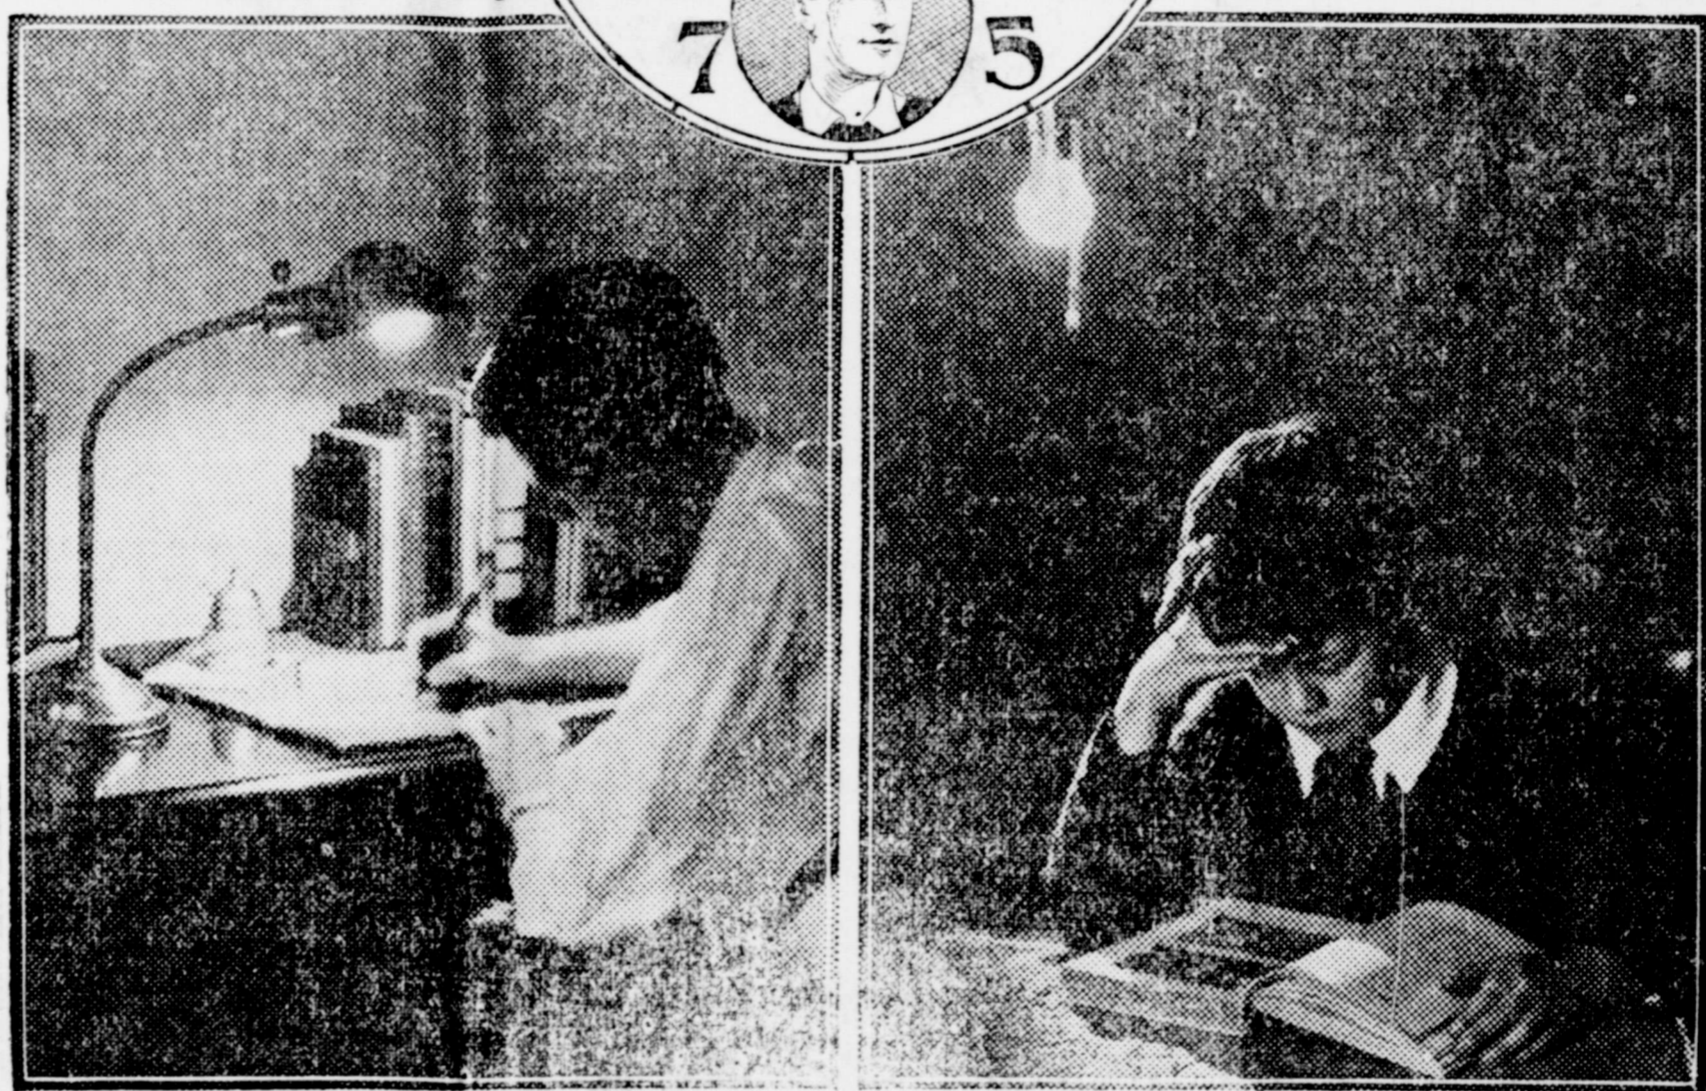

Science Reveals Why Eyesight Fades As Birthdays Increase

Of all men and women past 60 years of age, 82% have defective eyesight. Such is the penalty that man pays for his compromise with nature. Neglected teeth may be replaced, but damaged eyesight at best can be only partially restored. Good light and properly fitted eyeglasses are a great boon to old people. Since the pupils of their eyes are only one-third as large as those of young people, they need at least three times as much light in order to have an even break in seeing.

The average child is born with normal sight. All too soon, however, he begins to use his eyes for close seeing tasks, such as looking at pictures or playing with toys, often under poor lighting. Eyestrain and ocular defects are quick to result. No child should be permitted to use his eyes for close work under any but the best of visual conditions. Abundant, glareless light should always be provided, and the child's eyes examined frequently by a competent specialist.

Thousands of young men and women in schools and colleges throughout the country are needlessly wearing out their eyesight by reading and studying for long hours under poor light conditions, under large amounts of natural daylight. When a child does close visual work indoors under inadequate and glaring light, the child's eyes are strained. Statistics show that one out of every five children in grammar school has defective vision.

to Manuel de Espadas, commandant of the presidio, dated September 5, 1790, depicts this phase of the cattle war in Texas. It reads in part:

"I state that in this Mission there are no stray or unbranded cattle which could belong to the Royal Treasury or to the coffers of His Majesty. The proof of it is that because only those belong to him which after the public reclaiming are left without an owner according to law 11. Feb. 5, Fit. 5 of the Neuvo Recopilacion de Indias, all the cattle found in these pastures, although they are not branded and consequently are improperly called strays or unbranded cattle, have owners and belong to the Indians of this Mission, marked with his own brand by his iron. Partus sequitur ventrem, since the law does not apply to them, nor do they belong to the Royal Coffers or Treasury, the reason they have not been branded is because of affairs of war, opened ranges and other justified reasons. Then, is it right to take away Indians' rights? It is certain that if they had all branded the cattle, they would have owned them; this is unquestionable, and if they have been prohibited the right to do so it was not meant to be done . . .

"It is claimed that they belong to the Royal Treasury, the Fiscal must prove that the cattle do not belong to the Indians, and if they should prove the contrary in defense, the Royal Court must show them protection.

"Meanwhile, until they do not prove that the aforesaid cattle do not belong to these Indians, I shall not permit the agents of the King to take a single animal from their canal or from their pastures, because they are so certain the unbranded cattle belong to them, and it is impossible to make them believe otherwise. Upon one occasion during the time of Domingo Cabello when the Commandant, Joseph Santaja, ordered that some cattle without a registered brand of the King be taken from the canal of the Mission, half of my Indians ran away, giving the excuse that the Spaniards were robbing them of their property. Of these some have died in the woods and have lost their souls, and some are still in the same danger and because of what? So as not to deprive the Sovereign King of the trifling sum of four reales for each cow, as if His Most Merciful Majesty does not value the salvation of a single Indian more than all his treasures.

"In conclusion, although it may be proved that the aforesaid cattle do not belong to these Indians, they should be given to them any-

RELIGION IN OUR HOMES

"We should practice our religion seven days a week. We should take our children to Sunday school but not expect the Sunday school teacher to teach them all they should know about the Bible," were some of the points brought out in the round table discussion of religion in the home following a study of Job in the Duck Creek home demonstration club Wednesday afternoon when it met at the home of Mrs. H. A. McLaurin.

Mrs. J. L. Hagins was elected delegate from the club to the State Home Demonstration Association which meets during the annual Short Course.

Club members present were Mrs. D. G. Simmons, Mrs. O. L. Driggers, Mrs. J. L. Hagins, Mrs. C. R. Bennett, Mrs. E. E. Hagins and Mrs. H. A. McLaurin.—Reporter.

COMMENTS ON CARE OF CLOTHES

"Knowing how to care for my clothes without fear of fading them, is almost indispensable knowledge that I gained from Mrs. Barnes demonstration when she was here in May," says Mrs. Roy Johnson, wardrobe demonstrator class I from the Espuela home demonstration club. In selecting material for dresses, one should first determine how much you expect to pay for it, and then proceed to select the material most appropriate for the purpose. What is to be worn constantly must be of a material which will stand laundering and pressing. Color and design should be considered, and chosen according to the use intended and to the individual who is to wear them. It is not so much the money invested or even the material selected which accounts for the pretty dress but rather the color and design and the style in which the dress is made," Mrs. L. B. Jones of Red Top club has learned as a result of her wardrobe work this year.

Mrs. Donnie Pace of the Friendship club is very proud of the improvements made in her clothes closet which are three hat racks and a shoe rack.

"I have improved my wardrobe by buying clothes that could be worn with the things I already had," says Mrs. D. G. Simmons, of Duck Creek.

Proposed Amendment No. 7
Free Text Books for Private and Parochial Schools:

The Texas Constitution at the present time provides that the State is without authority to furnish free text books to other than public schools. Proposed amendment No. 7 would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks, it is presumed, to be the same as used in the public schools.

Advocates of this Amendment state that this would entail no additional expense because the State now purchases more books than are necessary. However, this point is merely one of the claims made and has not been substantiated by the Secretary of State. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the text books free.

Probably the most important and less publicized provision of this Amendment is the fact that it propose to rewrite Section 5 of Article Seven of the Constitution so as to permit the apportionment of school funds on some other basis than scholastic population.

For many years there has been considerable agitation in certain quarters to abolish the "school census" or scholastic population system of apportioning school funds and substitute in lieu thereof the "average attendance" basis or some other basis. The Legislature would determine just how this was to be done, if this Amendment is adopted.

If adopted this proposed Amendment Number seven would mean, in effect: (1) that the State would furnish free textbooks to pupils in all the schools of Texas; and (2) that a new basis for apportioning school funds other than the scholastic census basis, could be set up.
