CLUB WOMEN HEAR REPORTS

Members from nine home demonstration clubs in the county heard reports of the recent Short Course in an all-day meeting held at the East Ward School in Spur Saturday. Demonstrations were reproduced and reports of all lectures and recreation programs were given by those attending the Short Course for the ones who did not attend. Mrs. C. W. Van Cleve, of Prairie Chapel, who attended the recreation programs each afternoon lead the group Saturday in songs, games, and stunts that may be used in the local club meetings or other community gatherings.

"There are three periods in Extension Work in Texas," said Lucille Harris, Espuela club, in quoting Miss Mildred Horton, Vice-director and State Home Demonstration Agent, in her talk on 'Home Demonstration Club Women of Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow.' The first period from 1912 to 1918 was a period where the individual was helped; the second period, 1919 to 1929, the emphasis was placed on the clubs; the third period, from 1929 to the present time the emphasis has been in the demonstration.

"If we are to readjust agriculture and place rural life on a higher plane we can do it by studying the philosophy of Seaman A. Knapp and O. B. Martin and make the Demonstration Philosophy our guiding star. Our present interpretation of the demonstration idea came from Mr. Martin and our present success came from that," said Miss Horton.

VENTILATED PANTRY FOR CANNED FOODS

"With the ventilated pantry which any home may have it is possible to keep the canned foods at least 15 degrees cooler than the rest of the house," Mrs. W. O. Garrison, Red Top club told women of the county Saturday when they met to hear reports of the Short Course.

"The ventilated pantry on exhibit at the Short Course was in the kitchen of the Rural Work Center and was a room about four feet square with shelves on three walls. In the floor and in the ceiling were holes 22 by 9 inches covered with screen to keep out insects and to allow cool air in and warm air to escape. The shelves were made of three inch boards spaced about a half inch apart so that there was a circulation of air on the shelves about the cans and jars," Mrs. Garrison said.

Miss Gladys Ruth Lawson, of Afton, was a Spur shopper and visitor Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Rickles and children returned Tuesday from a business trip to Dallas.

Frank Turner left Tuesday for Lawton, Oklahoma, where he has accepted a position.

Miss Clytee Collier left Sunday for Lubbock where she will attend business college.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Chapfan returned Sunday from Borger where their sons.

Press Censorship In Europe

When David Darrah, for seven years the Chicago Tribune's correspondent in Italy, sent his June 14 dispatch from Paris, he called attention indirectly to the widespread press censorship in Europe, The Literary Digest reports.

Mr. Darrah, with two Germans and an Austrian, was the fourth correspondent to be expelled from Italy since March. Two days previously the New York Times had printed on its front page the news that The Times had been forbidden entry into Italy, not for what its correspondent, Arnaldo Cortesi, had written but for an editorial published in The Times quoting Stanley Baldwin on Mussolini: "Mussolini has kept himself in power longer than most people thought possible, but the earth always trembles where he stands. Any day a great public catastrophe or a vast shaking off of Italian fetters in order to be free might leave him helpless on the ground, a shorn Samson."

Spread of Censorship

In Germany all pamphlets of J. R. Rutherford, published by the Watch Tower Bible & Tract society of Brooklyn, issues of The Times from June 2 to 5 inclusive, and The Manchester Guardian (previously banned in Italy) were included in the twenty-one publications which newsdealers had to surrender.

On information sent from Moscow by Walter Duranty, the only countries in Europe which have no press censorship are Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, the Netherlands, and Switzerland. Another analysis by Bruce Blevin, of The New Republic, disclosed that two-thirds of the world's population live under a rigid censorship and only one-ninth under the degree of freedom existing in the United States and Great Britain.

W. E. Dortch was in from his Dockum valley farm north of the city Wednesday and states that after the rain of Monday night he expects to have roasting ears until frost and grow watermelons as big as barrels.

Mr. and Mrs. Acie Bailey and daughter, Natalie, and Mis Ida Lee Golding, left Wednesday of this week for California where they will spend a vacation and perhaps take in the San Diego exposition.

Mr. Vernon J. Campbell is this week the guest of relatives in Lorenzo, Texas.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN" THE FORD V-8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. The Ford V-8 gives you fine-car construction, along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

EARLY COLONIST—

tion of the representatives of a band of a thousand who a little earlier had written the commandant general as follows:

"The reasons which may move your kind heart to accede to our petition are first and foremost religious reasons. For love of religion, we came to settle in Louisiana, where our children have been born and educated and where we have hoped to live and die; but your kind heart can not permit us to remain in a land where religion is a matter of choice and where its observance is looked upon with indifference.

"Also, since we have experienced the great kindness and friendship of the Spanish government, we desire still to be under its dominion and protection so much that we will shed our blood for it and for its defense, leaving our descendants to the care of its pious king.

"The third reason is that the king, our sovereign (may God bless him) has expended large sums from the royal treasury for the benefit of these same vassals, bringing some of them from the Canary Islands, others from Acadia, others from France and Spain; and, now, that they can repay this favor with personal service and property—a service for which they gladly offer themselves—it is not possible that he will abandon them to a foreign power.

"With the passage of time it may happen that his Catholic Majesty may have some disagreement or wars with the Americans as a foreign and aggressive power; and we do not desire to bear arms against a king so good and kind, who has loaded us with benefits we are unable to return; nor do we wish to use a knife against our brothers, the Spaniards, who absence we regret and whose withdrawal has been exceedingly painful to us.

"If this large number of persons leave Louisiana for your provinces, it will greatly weaken the strong neighboring American government and will greatly increase the royal interest of our sovereign; since it is probable that the kind reception given them and permission for the coming not only of these thousand families but of many more—and these the most influential of the said province—will fake this poor unsettled Province of Texas rich, populous, and fruitful.

"This large number of people being settled, the invasions of the Indians who constantly harass this neighboring province—because they see the region so unsettled—will end. At the same time, the expenses of the royal treasury will cease, as much because the Indians will be restrained as because of the large number of troops kept on the frontier can be reduced.

"Since they will have their families and goods and possessions in the country these people will necessarily defend it at all times and fight with all possible vigor and determination because there will be involved not only the sovereign's interest, but also their own.

"You must consider very carefully how many of the advantages to the crown will result if a port is opened for them. They will bring to these lands of the king many articles of commerce. Therefore, all the Interior Provinces—and especially these in the East—will be supplied for the landing of vessels.

"We desire our wishes laid at the feet of the King and trust that he will not scorn his faithful subjects."

RUM DESTROYS OUR DARLINGS (A Song by J. P. Shaw)

In a city by the sidewalk stood a building made of stone; and upon its painted windows beautiful ornaments adorn; and beneath its walls are shining brilliant lights with all their glow. But there are children going hungry because their father is at its door.

Chorus

O its rum destroys our darlings rum alone can destroy. Drive the monster from the nation and then we will shout, we've saved our boys.

And the wicked of every nation gather there to drink their fill and decoy our dear young men there against their precious mother's will. And the heart aches that it causes is more than human tongue can tell for its noting but the picture of a demon's earthly hell. Yes, their sisters have been pleading as though their hearts would break it seems; but their hopes have all been vanished by the liquor traffic schemes. And there are mothers praying daily hoping some day 'twill be theirs. Men, how can you be hard hearted and trample down your mother's prayers?

Now the question here before you take it homeward to your heart; and when temptation around you gathers, choose like Mary, the better part. And the angels of heaven will bless you, guided by the Master's hand. Now the voters, wont you help us drive this evil from our land.

Mrs. Addie Bryant, of Commerce, Texas, is visiting her son, C. E. Lillard and family, of Dickens.
