Charges to be filed in illegal trash dumping

A whole truck load... This trash and a lot more were dumped recently along the south shore of the old city lake. City officials say that charges will be filed in connection with the illegal dumping. Ironically, there is no charge for using the city landfill.

Winters City Administrator Glenn Brown says that charges will be filed and fines will be levied against persons who dump trash and other refuse on public property.

Brown said that several loads of trash and worn-out furniture have been dumped recently at the old city lake and along the road leading to the sanitary landfill. The city administrator said that the same name has been found on items both at the old lake and in a pile of trash along the road to the landfill.

Police Chief L.C. Foster said his department was continuing to watch the areas and was also continuing the investigation into who dumped the trash and that the charges would be filed if the trash was not cleaned up.

The city administrator said that if such dumping continues, the city will be forced to close off the accesses to the old city lake. Brown also said, "It is so frustrating when trash is dumped at the lake or along a road when there is a legal landfill area open six days a week at no charge." He said that if the persons guilty of dumping the trash do not pick it up, the city crews will have to pick it up and the charge may be added to any fine levied against the persons found to have dumped the trash.

The top city official said that not only do city ordinances prohibit such dumping, but charges can also be filed under state law.

Brown noted that the days of operation at the landfill will be changed next week when the new contractor assumes operation of the city sanitation department. The new days will have the landfill open on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. The landfill will be closed on Wednesday and Sunday.

The names are...

Police Chief L. C. Foster and officer Gerald Herridge check out the names printed on some of the trash thrown out at the old city lake. Officers said that names were found on a number of items in the trash.

Truck wrecks result in heavy damage, minor injuries to drivers

Two separate accidents involving large trucks last week resulted in only minor injuries to the drivers and very heavy damage to the trucks involved.

Last Thursday morning a water truck owned by Mac Oil Field overturned at an intersection on Highway 53 near the Coleman County line. Driver Randy Jones received a dislocated thumb, scratches and bruises in the crash. The 18-wheeler driven by Jones failed to negotiate a turn, ran off a culvert and overturned. Jones was carrying a partial load of fresh water to a drilling site east of Talpa when the accident occurred.

Friday night, a large cattle truck owned by G & G Livestock Hauling of Abilene struck a calf and crashed through a bridge railing about five miles north of Winters on U.S. 83.

The driver of the cattle truck, Louis J. Lesley of Tye received one broken rib and numerous bruises in the crash. Lesley's truck was almost totally destroyed in the crash which completely tore the steering axle and the front drive axle from the truck. The crash also heavily damaged the bridge, ripping nine steel posts from the cement bridge and demolishing several lengths of steel guard-rail.

Highway Department personnel indicated that it would cost several thousands of dollars to repair the bridge. The bridge however was not damaged structurally and will continue to be used while the guard-rail and edge are being repaired.

Reception to honor City Secretary

The City of Winters will host a reception honoring City Secretary Buford Baldwin, Wednesday, September 23 in the city council chambers on the second floor of the City Hall.

Baldwin is retiring from the city secretary's office at the end of the month. The reception is set for 3-5 p.m. and everyone is invited to stop by during those hours to help the City of Winters thank Baldwin for his many years service to the citizens of Winters.

Runnels youth receives wound while dove hunting

A Ballinger youth, 16-year-old Chris Halfman, was in the intensive care unit of Shannon Hospital in San Angelo after being wounded in the head by a shotgun blast.

Runnels County Sheriff Hershel Hall said the youth was hunting on a family ranch south of Ballinger this past weekend and apparently set the butt of the shotgun on the rear bumper of his pickup. Hall said the gun discharged when it slipped from the bumper and the bumper struck the hammer. The sheriff said the youth received wounds from the pellets in the side of his face and head.

Spokesmen at Shannon Hospital Friday said the youth was in the intensive care unit, but could not release any other information on his condition.

Just a dislocated thumb...

Randy Jones, driver of this Mac Oil Field water truck received only minor injuries when his truck overturned Thursday east of Winters.

WISD gives OK to architect for plans

Trustees of the Winters School District gave the go-ahead to their architect for working drawings and specifications for the refurbishing of the high school building and both gymnasiums.

The plans and specifications are preliminary steps to soliciting bids for the actual work on the buildings which is to be funded with monies received from the recent bond sale.

In other action, the school board heard an update on the enrollment figures for the new school year. Total students enrolled in the Winters School by September 8, numbered 831. The total enrollment at the end of school last spring was only 802.

Following a new directive from the Texas Education Agency, the school board set new prices for adult meals in the school cafeteria. The new guidelines were received from the state agency just one day after the board first set the meal prices. School employees will pay 60 cents for breakfast in the school cafeteria and visitors will pay $1.50. The lunch prices for adults also increased to $1.25 for employees and $2.50 for visitors.

The Winters School Board agreed to submit a request to the State Board of Control for the purchase of a new 53 passenger school bus for the district. The request is the standard procedure for the purchase of buses, with the purchase being made through the state agency.

The school board voted to not elect a delegate to the TASB/TASA meeting later this month in San Antonio because of the distance and that no one would be available to attend the meeting.

Injured after wreck...

Louis Lesley of Tye, driver of this cattle truck, told ambulance attendants he was okay until he released his seatbelt and fell to the other side of his truck. The truck ran off a bridge about five miles north of Winters on U.S. 83 after hitting a calf. Lesley received a broken rib and bruises to his right side after the crash.

Fire Dept. seeks help from area residents

The Winters Volunteer Fire Department is asking that area residents notify the fire department any time that controlled burning is planned. The request was made after the fire department responded to several calls recently to fires that had been started intentionally in an area where the fire could not spread and would burn only what was intended.

Fire department spokesmen said that the department did not mind being called and would respond at any hour of the day or night. The spokesman expressed concern that while firemen were responding to what might be a controlled fire, they might be needed in an actual emergency elsewhere in the city or county.

The fire department also expressed its appreciation for help from alert citizens in reporting any kind of fire, but said that it did need to be made aware of controlled burning and the person who would notify the department in such controlled burning did get out of hand.

The request from the firemen came after a call Sunday evening near a gas plant several miles northeast of Winters. Firemen arrived to find a controlled fire in a pit being used to dispose of trash and some waste material.

In addition to mothballs, place whole cloves in pockets of woolen coats or in bags of sweaters for winter storage. Helps prevent moth damage and adds a nice spicy fragrance.

Lots of damage...

Highway Department spokesmen say that damage to this bridge will run into thousands of dollars. A cattle truck, driven by Louis Lesley of Tye, crashed through the railing after colliding with a calf.

Cystic Fibrosis campaign begins September 20

The Breath of Life Campaign, an annual appeal for funds to help children with Cystic Fibrosis, begins in Winters on September 20, according to the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

The Campaign is called the Breath of Life because that phrase so graphically describes what this fundraising effort hopes to accomplish — for children and young people with CF who struggle to breathe.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation supports vital research into the cause of CF and a cure or control for the disease. It also supports specialized clinical care for individuals with CF and other related respiratory and digestive diseases. There are 121 Cystic Fibrosis Centers in the United States, specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of CF.

In Texas, CF clinics are located in San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Austin and Lubbock.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation sponsors research to find a cure or control for the disease, which takes the lives of half its victims before age 19. Research is the key to the future for children and young people with CF, and care and treatment are the necessities for the present.

Our community's support will help buy time through care and give hope through research to children and young adults for whom time is running out, so when a volunteer contacts you, give generously. If you would like to contribute to the Cystic Fibrosis research and care programs and have not been contacted by a representative, you may send your contribution to: Cystic Fibrosis Account, Winters State Bank, Winters, Tx. 79567.

The body of 7-year-old Joe Dan Parker was recovered from a private swimming pool at a Ballinger residence about 4:30 p.m. Monday, according to Runnels County Sheriff Hershall Hall.

Parker, son of Roger and Donna Campbell of Ballinger, was pronounced dead at the scene by Weldon Davis, Runnels County justice of the peace. Davis said the drowning apparently was accidental.

The boy was discovered fully clothed in a shallow pool of water in a swimming pool owned by Duncan

Wheeler, Hall said. Members of the Ballinger Fire Department and the Ballinger Emergency Ambulance Service administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation, but efforts to revive him were futile, Hall said.

The boy had been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Somma, who lived near the Wheeler home. The child had been missing from his grandparents' home about half an hour when Wheeler found the boy.

Services for the boy were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Seventh Street Baptist Church in Ballinger, with Rev. H. G. Barnard, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery in Bronte directed by Rains-Seale Funeral Home.

Born Jan. 18, 1974, in San Angelo, he was a first grade student in Ballinger.

CAUGHT ON THE SPOT

Caught on the spot for a delicious yet economical and nutritious dining idea? Then count on the spot. Considered Virginia's number one pan fish by marine sport fishermen, spot are among the dazzling variety of choice Virginia seafood that will enable you to eat like a king while pampering your budget.

Spot are common residents in and around Chesapeake Bay from April through October. The bulk of the commercial catch occurs between August and October when spot are in prime condition. Some consider the spot's small size a disadvantage. Most landed are in the 8 to 10 ounce range. But compensating for the small size is its popularity as a delicious food fish, making spot highly prized in season by Bay area residents and visitors alike.

You can enjoy spot right in your own home. Spot are among the abundant Virginia seafood harvest shipped throughout the eastern half of the United States. Here's a recipe that's not only right for your budget but a great mid-to-late summer treat. Recommended by Virginia Chef Mark Leon of Ship's Cabin Restaurant in Norfolk.

STUFFED SPOT

8 large spot (8 to 12 oz. each, deboned)
1 lb. monterey jack cheese
1 lb. backfin crabmeat
1 lb. butter
4 dashes lemon-pepper seasoning
8 dashes paprika

Line the cavity of each fish where it has been deboned with 2 ounces of monterey jack cheese. Stuff the cavity with 2 ounces of backfin crabmeat. Wet a broiler pan with just enough water to keep the fish from sticking to the pan. Dress the fish with melted butter and sprinkle with lemon-pepper seasoning. Broil under medium heat (400° F.) for 4 minutes, then turn the fish over and broil for 4 more minutes. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with lemon and parsley. Serve on bed of long grain wild rice.

In 1978, nearly 24 percent of all restaurant orders were for hamburgers.

A seventeenth-century law required locking church doors during service. Too many people were leaving before the long sermons were completed.

President Reagan signs benefit act for POW's

Former prisoners of war who were incarcerated for as short a period as 30 days may now have certain disabilities accepted as having been incurred in service without having to furnish medical proof of that fact, according to the Veterans Administration.

The 30-day incarceration period (it used to be six months) is contained in legislation recently enacted by Congress, which also waives the two-year period following service during which certain psychological disorders must manifest themselves in order to be service connected.

These and other changes are contained in the "Prisoner of War Health Care Benefits Act of 1981," which was signed into law by President Reagan on August 14.

The new law is designed to meet the needs of the estimated 100,000 former prisoners of war. A joint Veterans Administration-Department of Defense study in 1980 found these veterans have higher incidences of physical and psychological disabilities because of confinement that was characterized by starvation diets, lack of medical care and inhumane treatment.

Former prisoners of war may also have experienced difficulties in establishing claims for service connected disabilities due to inadequate repatriation examinations.

The legislation also creates an Advisory Committee on Former Prisoners of War which will make biennial reports to the VA Administrator and to Congress on problems in the areas of compensation, health care and rehabilitation which affect this group.

SSI checks to have new look

U.S. Treasury checks for people getting Supplemental Security Income will have a new look starting with checks issued Sept. 1, according to Franklin H. Upp, Social Security District Manager in San Angelo.

The front of the checks will still be gold, Upp said, but the back of the checks will be buff colored with orange printing. Starting in late 1981 or early 1982 Social Security checks will be green on the front, buff color on the back with orange printing.

The change is being made to increase the effectiveness of the treasury department's check microfilming operation.

The color change on the back will not cause any problems, Upp stated. Banks and other financial organizations have been notified of the change and will accept these new checks just as they did

Police activity still slow

Winters police say the past week has been relatively quiet with only three arrests reported along with one accident and nine traffic citations.

Assistant chief Winfred Reel said that of the nine citations issued, two were the result of failing to observe the speed limit in school zones, and one was issued to a truck driver for interfering with a funeral procession. One traffic ticket was issued in connection with a minor traffic accident.

One person was taken into custody on a charge of driving while intoxicated Saturday evening and on Sunday arrests were made on charges of disorderly conduct and public intoxication.

Madstones

When Greg, one of my grandsons, read my stories in Frontier Times about Merle Bains' life in the Big Bend area, where she grew up on a frontier ranch, he was quite interested.

In addition to having all their cattle stolen by Pancho Villa, Mrs. Bains' brother was bitten by a skunk and the whole family was relieved when the test for rabies proved to be negative. At that time there was no known cure for rabies. People had to rely on Madstones, said Mrs. Bains.

Greg wanted to know what madstones were and I couldn't tell them. I called Mrs. Bains and she didn't know either. She was only eight years old when the accident occurred.

While browsing through the first issue of Frontier Times was printed, Vol. I, No. I, October, 1923, I found an article on "Belief in the Efficacy of the Madstone," since there is no name given, I suppose it was written by the editor.

Belief in the efficacy of the madstone as a preventive of hydrophobia is beginning to wane, though there are still many intelligent men, some of whom are learned in science, who believe the application of madstones will prevent rabies.

The madstone, according to physicians, who have studied the subject, was first used by the Indians. The genuine madstone is a hard substance usually taken from the stomach of some animal, and is unusually porous, partly because of the fact that it contains strands of hair. Its formation in the deer particularly is due to a form of indigestion, the animal licking up earth with its salt and swallowing its hair in shedding time.

Because of its porosity the madstone readily absorbs almost any sort of liquid and therefore when applied to a fresh cut or scar, is likely to stick either until it is saturated or until all the blood in the veins and arteries near the scar has been sucked out.

When the stone sticks for awhile after being applied and then falls off, the one who has been bitten is supposed to be safe from evil effects of the wound.

So far as is known, according to physicians, the first use of the madstone by white men was among pioneers in the west.

In the south central states there is a tradition that the stone was given to Daniel Boone by a member of one of the tribes that formerly lived in Kentucky. The secret was told to the white man after he had saved the life of an Indian, so the story goes. Later on the Indian was executed by his tribal chief for betraying the secret.

It was public among the white men after that time, however, and one of the first things for any man to do before he moved into the Western wilderness was to obtain a madstone. Until the middle or last century that was fairly easy to do, for deer, from the stomachs of which the stone was most frequently obtained, were plentiful.

About 1850, however, the madstone became hard to obtain, and its value in the estimation of the settlers increased greatly. It reached the point where the people for miles around would contribute to a fund, buy one and take turns keeping it. For one madstone in the Panhandle of Texas a ranchman once gave twenty-five head of cattle and a new saddle.

The white man's faith in the potency of the madstone was as strong as the Indians, so far as hydrophobia was concerned, but the settlers never absorbed the breadth of the aboriginal faith in it. The Indians believed the madstone to be a certain cure not only for the bite of a mad dog, but also for the bite of a snake or any other sort of poisonous animal.

In this, according to the doctors, the Indians displayed more consistency than the whites, for if the madstone is good for one sort of an infectious wound, it is good for any.

Of the madstones in existence undoubtedly many are manufactured, for when the supply became small the enterprising American took the hunch and started a madstone factory. The genuine madstone is easy to duplicate, and it was a long time before it became known that some of the madstones in use were not the natural sort. Those who believe in the stones, of course are thoroughly convinced that no imitation stone can have good effect.

The demand for the stone has fallen off rapidly since 1882, in which year Pasteur discovered his preventive cure for rabies - miscalled hydrophobia. This cure often is administered uselessly, because of the popular belief that a mad dog should be killed as soon as it is seen.

Good rains have again blessed much of West Texas terrain, even flooding some areas. However, the high water has been limited to remote areas and nothing like what South Texas residence experienced.

Perhaps too much rain has fallen to suit cotton and peanut farmers. Yet on the milo front, bumper crops have reaped good returns this season. Most of the crop is out of the fields in areas I have traveled. And the quality of the grain is good with low moisture levels.

Production of maize is averaging from 2,000 pounds per acre up to as much as 5,000 pounds.

Prices quoted is from $4 to $4.80 per hundred weight.

Covering some of the other waterfronts this week, feeder lambs were steady to $1 higher, the advance on weights under 70 pounds, slaughter ewes firm to $1 higher, stock ewes fully steady to firm.

Feeder steer and heifer prices were about steady last week, though quality was not as high as the previous week. Slaughter cows at Producers in San Angelo were $4 to $5 lower early in the week but closing mostly $2 to $3 lower late.

Texas mohair has remained slow to bearish resulting from a South African Cape sale a couple weeks ago. Sonora Wool and Mohair Company sold about 18,000 pounds of fine spring adult hair at $2.95 per pound and about 35,000 pounds of spring adult at $2.80. Elsewhere, buyers are said to be talking $2.60 to $2.65 on fall adult but doing little activity.

Very little of the fall clip has been contracted or sold with the exception of kid hair. A substantial tonnage of fall kid was contracted early at up to $7, minus deductions according to degree of defect.

Having too much rain in ranch country has never been heard of when we compare it with farming. With fall here, a weekly shower or two would be a welcome. It would certainly serve to get us ready for winter and in turn would help the mohair prices, too!

CRCC sets 1981 Rehab goal at $185,000

"When people think of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, they always think of the Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children," says general chairman Jim Alexander.

And that's as it should be. Alexander sees the Cattleman's Round-Up as the backbone of the Rehab Center's fund-raising, responsible for the grass roots support that is still vital to WTRC.

"It's what got the Center off and going. These area people working for the Cattleman's Round-Up are still what keeps it working. I don't want these people ever to feel like they are not important. They are important," he said. "We need for them to feel they are a vital part."

Alexander said, as he has said since assuming the chairmanship of the Cattleman's Round-Up in 1979, that this year's sales will be the biggest and the best.

Goal for the 1981 CRCC is $185,000.

The sale schedule this year is cattle sale, Sept. 28, Abilene Auction; horse sale, Oct. 3, Abilene Auction; sheep and goat sale, Oct. 5, Junction Stockyards; special sale, Oct. 7, Coleman Livestock Auction; special sale, Nov. 4, Brownwood Cattle Auction; and farm equipment sale, Nov. 7, Sweetwater.

By each area chairman talking to his or her friends and neighbors, Alexander believes that the livestock donations will come in. "People give to people. That's how the area chairmen make it work," he said.

Alexander claims to have been Shelley Smith's first patient in Abilene, even before the West Texas Rehabilitation Center existed.

"I had a bad back when I was a teenager — still do — and Shelley worked on it. That's how I got to know Shelley," he explained. Alexander's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Minor Alexander, supported the Center from its start.

"We try to involve every facet of our business in the Cattleman's Round-Up," he said. He is involved in cattle operations including a feedlot as well as other businesses.

Alexander believes that most people getting into the cattle business are those who have some background in it.

"The ones who make it in the cattle business are the ones who have the staying power to get through the bad periods — or are crazy enough to want to," he said.

There will be no problem getting a market for the cattle at the series of CRCC sales this fall.

"There is always someone to buy. They may stretch some to give a little more, but there's always a market."

Re-emphasizing the tradition behind the CRCC, Alexander said: "Remember the area chairmen. They are the ones that make it work and we need for them to feel they are a vital part of everything we're doing."

Young Farmers Week proclaimed by Governor

September 20-26 has been officially designated as Young Farmer Week in Texas by proclamation of Governor W. P. Clements, Jr.

The proclamation signed recently gives additional recognition to this rapidly growing farm group. The Young Farmer Association is sponsored under the auspices of vocational agriculture departments in high schools across Texas and the Texas Education Agency.

Over 150 Young Farmer chapters have been organized on local school district or countywide basis to carry out educational activities which will help members keep abreast of technological advancements in the field of agriculture and to develop greater skill and efficiency in management, production and marketing.

Governor Clements points out in the proclamation that, in addition to educational activities, Young Farmers incorporate in their planned chapter programs civic and community service projects and leadership activities that are designed to improve their communities, state and nation, and to promote the welfare of all citizens.

He further points out that through these efforts they are helping to strengthen the economy of our country and are promoting good citizenship.

In closing the proclamation, the governor predicted that as the organization continues to grow, it will play an increasingly important role in the life of rural America.

Booster Club to meet Sept. 22

The Winters Blizzard Booster Club will meet on Tuesday, September 22, instead of their regular Monday night meeting.

State statute sets eye tests for school children

Children entering school for the first time in Texas must have their vision checked.

The 66th Texas Legislature passed the Children's Vision Screening Act of 1979. The purpose of the Act is to identify children who are in need of professional eye examinations to determine whether they are visually handicapped.

The statute requires that all children enrolling in any public, private, parochial or denominational school for the first time have an eye examination by a licensed eye specialist or an approved vision screener.

To assist in implementing this law, schools

Young Farmers of Texas is a non-political organization sponsored by the Texas Education Agency and generally a local school district for the purpose of providing a source of adult education in rural communities. Emphasis is on providing a source of education, leadership development, and recreation to the younger farmers and agribusinessmen in an area; however, involvement in the organization is not limited by age, occupation, or experience. Blizzards lose thriller to Roscoe 27-22

The Winters Blizzards showed much improvement last week even though they lost to Roscoe. The Blizzards started off very slowly in their first home game of the young season. Winters had zero first downs in the first half of the game and were trailing by a score of 14-0.

The Blizzards came out playing in the second half. After having to punt on their first possession, the Blizzards gave up another touchdown to fall behind by a score of 21-0. But Winters finally got it's offense moving as they went 70 yards to score. Good running by Dwight Hubbard, who carried the ball 11 times for 86 yards, and excellent throwing by Jeff Butts started the Blizzards on a comeback.

Butts threw a 26 yard pass to Alfonso Campos for the first Winters touchdown. The Blizzards failed in the try for the two extra points. Later in the third quarter Jeff Butts ran in from 14 yards out to score. An option to Dwight Hubbard was good for the two extra points. The score was then 21-14. Jeff Butts intercepted a pass on his goalline and ran it back 20 yards to start Winters second touchdown. After a good defensive stand on the 15 yard line, the Blizzards began a drive to take the lead. Winters went on fourth down three times during the drive. The Blizzards score came on a fourth and 25 for a first down. Butts threw a 34 yard pass to Alfonso Campos for the touchdown. Butts ran the ball in for two extra points to make the score 22-21 in favor of the Blizzards with four minutes remaining on the clock.

A call of roughing gave Roscoe a first down after an incompleated pass which would have brought up a fourth down and four for Roscoe. The penalty got Roscoe moving and they went in to score to take the lead 27-22 and ended the game.

The Blizzards showed a lot of desire and hustle to come from behind like they did. When the Blizzard start playing two halves like the last half of the Roscoe game, they will be even more exciting to watch.

If the Blizzards keep improving, they can make a run for the district championship.

Winters travels to Rotan this week to begin district play. Rotan is 1 and 1 for the season and Winters is 0 and 2. game time is 8 p.m.
