Damage at Lake Winters Dam

Tire tracks are evident up and down the side of the new dam at Lake Winters. One person was charged with destruction of City property in connection with the incident.

Charges filed for property destruction at new Winters Lake

Charges of destruction of city property were filed Sunday against a 20 year old Winters man in connection with apparent joy-riding up and down the side of the dam at the new Winters Lake.

Named in the charge is Jerry Wayne Kraatz of 615 N. Fannin.

Winters Police Chief L.C. Foster said that some citizens reported to City Administrator Glenn Brown that some subjects had been using a four-wheel drive vehicle to climb up and down the back side of the newly-completed dam. Brown and Mayor Lee Colburn said that the dam had been planted in a special type grass to retard soil erosion on the steep slope and that an estimate on the amount of damage done by the joy-riding had not been made.

Both the City Administrator and the expressed their concern over the incident, noting the millions of tax dollars that will be spent before the lake project is finally completed.

South Texas drug raid may be related

Chambers County Sheriff's officers at Anahuac said that about 60 pounds of a substance thought to be marijuana was confiscated in a raid July 3 near the Chambers-Liberty County lines. Deputy Gary Woods said that officers arrested two men and also confiscated three .38 revolvers, a .22 cal. revolver, a police receiver, and a pickup. Officers said was registered to a subject identified as Randy Brooks. The Chambers County officer said that a registration check on the pickup indicated that a Randy Brooks, Post Office box 1003, Argyle, was the registered owner. Sheriff's officers said that along with the name and address of the registered owner, the check revealed that the lein-holder on the pickup was a Runnels County bank.

One of the men arrested, Jack Eugene Harrison, of Argyle said he had purchased the vehicle from another man. Deputy Woods identified the other man arrested as Gary Don Jeter of Channelview. Harrison's residence was said to be in Argyle, a nearby community.

Department of Public Safety Narcotic officers said that a twin-engine aircraft, believed used to deliver the marijuana took off before officers could get to it and was next seen at the airport in Coleman. A second pickup, possibly used to refuel the aircraft also eluded officers in the raid.

Late last year state and federal officers raided the Winters airport arresting several persons and confiscating a quantity of marijuana, two twin-engine aircraft, a pickup and trailer, and an automobile. Officers indicated that the December raid here and the one earlier this month were possibly related.

Man killed when oilfield cable snaps

A 20-year-old Abilene man died last Wednesday morning in an oilfield accident near Wingate when a cable broke and struck him in the chest, according to Justice of the Peace Henry Guenther.

William Kevin Olisky of Abilene, was employed by F-W Drilling Co. of Abilene.

The accident occurred at 7:20 a.m. on the Raymond Burns property two miles northeast of Wingate while the oil field crew was unloading a substructure, Guenther said. The cable used to lower the substructure snapped and struck Olisky in the chest, knocking him off the trailer.

Guenther pronounced Olisky dead at the unloading site, located just inside of Taylor County.

Weather spotter course taught

Representatives of the National Weather Service were in Winters last week to instruct members of the Winters Police Department, the Volunteer Fire Department, city officials and other law enforcement related officials who have routinely been assisting with watching recent storms.

City Administrator Glenn Brown, who set up the training session, said that this would help keep residents here better informed and alerted to impending severe weather.

Brown said that if there were a large enough demand, it might be possible for the city to arrange for and offer a similar course to the public.

Although the severe storm season is nearing an end for this year, the possibility still exists for even more severe weather here, and the more advance warning we have, the better we might be able to prepare for storms such as those that struck Winters in March and June.

Ebb Grindstaff elected Lions International president

Everett J. "Ebb" Grindstaff of Ballinger was elected president of the International Association of Lions Clubs at the organization's 65th annual convention held June 30-July 3, in Atlanta Georgia.

As president of the world's largest service club organization, Grindstaff will travel the world representing the association, observing local service activities sponsored by many of the more than 35,000 Lions Clubs in more than 150 countries and geographical areas, and; meeting with heads of state and communities to promote Lionism and the theme of his presidential program: SHARE THE VISION OF SERVICE.

A Lion since 1954, Grindstaff is a practicing attorney in the law firm of Grindstaff, Grindstaff and Slimp with offices in both Winters and Ballinger. He is past president of the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children and also serves as chairman of the Upper Colorado River Authority.

The new president of Lions International said that his goals for the international association will involve drug awareness and education, the prevention and detection of Diabetes, along with one of the main themes of Lionism, the preservation of eyesight.

During his installation as president of Lions International, Grindstaff was accompanied to the dais by former President of the United States Jimmy Carter, who was the featured speaker for the international convention.

Grindstaff and his wife Jay will visit the Scandinavian countries, seven nations in South America, South Africa, India, Europe, the far East, and Australia along with visits throughout the United States.

Burglary evidence found near here

Deputy Sheriff Johnny Wilson said Monday that a cash box and receipt box taken in a week end burglary in Ballinger were found about five miles north of Winters along side a county road.

The cash box, along with a considerable amount of cash and merchandise, had been taken by burglars who entered the Leroy Muller Automotive Supply in Ballinger sometime late Friday or early Saturday.

Wilson said that the cash box and receipt box were both smashed apart and that business papers were scattered about the area. The deputy said that the boxes were discovered just west of the railroad that runs parallel with U.S. Highway 83 north of Winters.

Investigating Ballinger police officers said that along with the undetermined amount of money, a lot of tools were taken and that the entire business had been ransacked and that a fire-proof filing cabinet had been pried open.

Officers said that so far there were no suspects in the burglary but that the investigation was continuing.

SS Reps schedule July visit

Garland Gregg and John Willis, Social Security Representatives for the San Angelo Social Security office, have scheduled their July visit in Winters.

They will be at the Housing Project Office on Monday, July 26 from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact them at this time.

City Council okays Lone Star rate hike

The Winters City Council, meeting last week, gave their approval to a requested rate increase by Lone Star Gas Company.

The council had set a public hearing for the request at the meeting last week and after hearing no opposition to the request gave the formal nod. City Administrator

Glenn Brown said that apparently there was no interest on the part of residents of the City of Winters in the rate increase or the opportunity for residents to speak out on the issue. Brown said that no one showed up for the public hearing before the council.

The new rates, when implemented by the gas utility, will cause an increase in the average monthly gas bill of about $3.39 for a residence and commercial rates will see a slightly larger increase.

The new rates, according to Lone Star's Winters manager F.J. Malicoat, will become effective on August 5.

Bingo elections set for Aug. 14

The Runnels County Commissioners Court Tuesday set August 14 as the date for the local option Bingo elections in Justice Precincts 1, 2, and 7.

County Clerk Linda Bruchmiller told the commissioners that the petitions had been completed and certified by her office as having at least the minimum number of required signatures and that those signatures had been certified as those of legally registered voters in the respective precincts.

The commissioners noted that if the bingo issue is approved by the voters, licenses must be obtained from the State Comptroller's in Austin before games can be conducted, and then only by charity or non-profit organizations or groups.

The August 14 date is the last time this year that such a local option election involving the bingo issue can be held.

On that date voters will be given the option of voting for or against the proposition of allowing games of bingo to be conducted under strict control of the State of Texas.

Blood Pressure Clinic scheduled

A Blood pressure, diabetes and T.B. clinic will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon, July 20 at the Multi Purpose Center, 142 W. Dale, in Winters.

Children's inoculations will also be given on the same day from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

City sets project priority goals

Following several weeks of work and consideration, the Winters City Council and City Administrator Glenn Brown have settled on a list of sixteen priority projects for the City of Winters.

Those projects, in the order of priority, are: 1. Replacement of deteriorating water and sewer mains; 2. Extensive street paving; 3. Expansion of water treatment facilities; 4. New sanitary landfill site; 5. Annexation of developed areas contiguous to the city limits; 6. Civil Defense procedures; 7. Continuation of the community clean-up and beautification projects; 8. Computerization of city finances; 9. Codification of city ordinances; 10. Park improvements; 11. Updating building codes and related procedures; 12. Development of subdivision regulations; 13. Cemetery expansion; 14. Development of comprehensive personnel policies; 15. Better utilization of, or the selling of, the old city lake, north of the city; 16. New street name signs.

Brown said that the projects would now be evaluated and handled as they become possible both economically and practically.

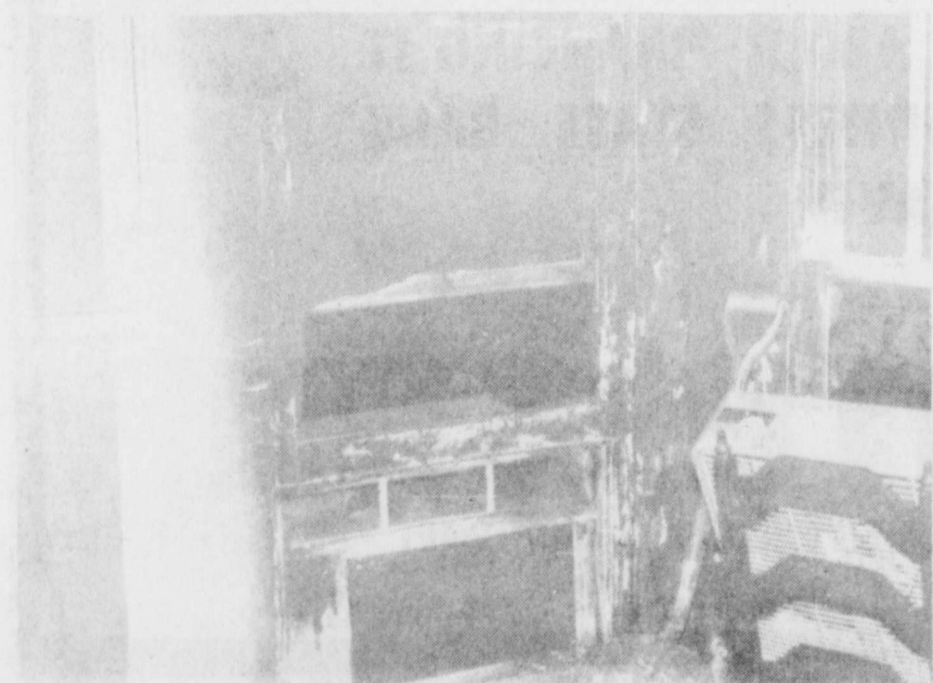

The priority projects will continue to be a topic of discussion for the city council for some time as the details are worked out on accomplishing these goals.

Monday morning fire

Lightning was apparently the cause of an early morning fire in the Mary Beth Smith home, in the 200 block of Spill Street. Firemen said that lightning probably struck an air conditioning unit, to cause the smoky fire. Fire damage to the home was limited to one room, but smoke damage was noted throughout the residence.

The Amana Colonies

The Magic Travelers were headed for Williamsburg, Iowa, to spend the night at the Colony Haus Motor Inn and tour the seven Amana Villages on the following day.

Another one of Dean Smith's famous short cuts, to save us 40 miles, turned out to be a rough one. I could take it, but my stomach couldn't. However, a front seat on the coach and some Dramamine solved the problem until lunch. If I had just left the "grasshopper pie" alone!

Lunch was at the Timbers in Platteville, Wisconsin. We were traveling Highway 151 on our way to Cedar Rapids, Iowa and within 30 miles of where Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa meet.

We were on our way home now and the tempo of our schedule picked up. After a night's rest at the motel in Williamsburg, bags were to be packed and out early before our visit to the Amana Colonies on our way to Overland Park, Kansas.

Linda Hahn, a petite, black-eyed miss, a graduate of the University of Iowa was our step-on guide. She told us that she and a girlfriend were leaving soon for Texas in search of a school teaching position. They planned on going to Houston or Dallas. We reminded her that there were also other cities in Texas. The Elgin Hahn's were delighted to visit with Linda, as their only daughter is also named Linda.

Linda has lived all her life in Amana, but was not born there because the villages have no hospital. She guided us first to East Amana which is non-commercial. The homes are made of brick and sandstone and all are from 105 to 110 years old. Her home is 118 years old.

Every village has its own cemetery. Each gravesite is identical, as is each stone marker. The small concrete slabs are made in Homestead. There are no family plots, whoever dies is buried by the last one who died. There is a special area for the burial of children. The Amana church teaches its members that they are "brother's all, as God's children." And there is simplicity, dignity and equality even in death. There is no funeral home. The body lies in state in the home while the family stays with friends and goes to a memorial service at the church. The body and flowers are then put in the hearse and carried to the cemetery.

"Amana" means "remain faithful" and comes from the Song of Solomon. The church dates from 1714, when it began as the "Community of True Inspiration" in the province of Hesse, Germany.

Excessive rents, taxes and a killing drought combined to force the Inspirationists to look for another home. In 1842, 5,000 acres of land was purchased near Buffalo, New York and 800 church members traveled by ship to America to establish the Ebenezer Community. Some community members were unable to buy land and to keep the community from disbanding, a communal system was established whereby the members shared the businesses and property of Ebenezer. The community grew so large it became necessary to buy more land. Prices of land at Buffalo had soared so Metz and other leaders looked to the west. Four men were sent out to search for land. They settled on the wide green valley with its high bluffs and flat bottom lands of east central Iowa - now known as the Amanas.

And in 1855, Metz and his followers came to this land and built a village which they called Aman. Five more villages were added. Linda said that Middle Amana was the second village started and the last one to be finished.

The others were High Amana, West Amana, South Amana and East Amana, already mentioned. In each village large story and a half stone, brick and frame houses were built and families assigned to each community owned home. The villages being located to serve as the center of each farm. Farming was and is the colonies' largest industry. The women love flowers and have beautiful gardens. It took one hour to go from one village to another in the days of the ox-cart. Today's equipment is gasoline powered.

In 1861, a way to ship to outside markets was needed, the community purchased Homestead, a small village south of Amana with a newly built Mississippi and Missouri Railroad Station. With this purchase and other lands adjoining the original tract, the community came to own about 26,000 acres. In search of water power for the woolen mills and flour mills, a canal about six miles in length was dug by hand conveying water from the Iowa River. It was started in 1865 and completed 2 1/2 years later.

The most important building, the church (Saal) was located in the center of each village. In the beginning, thirteen church elders controlled what went on. Everything was rationed by the elders; cooking and eating were done in communal kitchens. Church services began at 4 or 5 a.m. and ended at 11 p.m. and there were eleven services a week. Now there are only three churches and usually only one or two services a week but women still wear a black cap, shawl and apron. The women sit on one side of the church and men on the other. The men wear black or dark suits.

Linda took us to the Hahn's Open Hearth Bakery in Middle Amana. Over 100 years old, the bakery was started by her grandparents and now run by her parents. The bakery closes when the day's baking is sold. Jack Hahn, Linda's father, baked the bread personally until he became a full-time wildlife artist. We were treated to delicious fresh doughnuts from this oven.

The Amana Meat Shop was filled with tasty sausage items, smoked hams and bacon. We visited the smoke tower and saw the thick incrustation on the inside of the tower doors, hard and shining, the deposit of hickory fires since the tower was built in 1858. Linda was explaining the smoke tower when Joe Matsehek stuck his head in the door.

"Don't get in there or you'll be cooked," someone said.

"Then we'd have smoked bologna," replied Linda. Sample tastes of rhubarb and red grape wine was provided at the Ackerman Winery. Fruit is brought in from a hundred mile radius. Heirloom quality furniture is built in the Amana Furniture and clock shop. Polishing is done by women who varnish the pieces from six to eight times. Among all the clocks we saw "a granddaughter" clock. Amana air conditioners are sold in our area. A visit to the broom and basket shop and to the woolen mill concluded the shops.

We went across the street, in the rain, to The Colony Inn for a family style dinner with three kinds of meat, homemade pie and ice cream.

A woolen market collapse, depressed farm prices and rebellion of the young people brought about a change, and in 1932, 90% of the people voted for the free enterprise system now in effect. The population is now 1,675 and of all high school graduates, 89% go to college. Two thirds of that number return to the colonies to live.

Our last fling was a farewell banquet at the Sheraton-Century Center Hotel in Oklahoma City on Saturday night. The dinner was topped off with cheesecake and strawberry sauce. The entertainment was superb with Dean as emcee. Since the tour was a celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary for Freddie and Juanita, Dean decided we should have a wedding ceremony. I'm sure there has never been a wedding like this one and will probably never be again, which is just as well.

On Sunday everyone's thoughts turned to loved ones and we counted the miles until our arrival at home in the late afternoon.

It is wonderful to travel, but so good to be home!

TOTS program urges children's seat belt safety

The mother holding her small child in her lap in a moving auto gives the impression of caring about the youngster's safety. It's a mistaken impression.

In a 30 mph accident, the child can catapult forward with a force 30 times its own weight. That's equivalent to a fall from a three-story building.

If the mother is wearing a seat belt, this forward force can tear the child from the parent's arms and send the child into the windshield or dash. If the mother is not buckled up, she and the child will fly forward. The child likely will be crushed between the mother and the dash.

But serious and fatal injury to the child can be avoided in most auto accidents by using a crash-tested child safety seat, says the Texas Medical Association.

That's the object of a program called TOTS (Texas Occupant Traffic Safety), sponsored by the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, Texas Safety Association, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, and the Texas Extension Homemakers Association. Noting that more children die in automobile accidents than from any other single cause, the program encourages parents to consider these factors in selecting a child safety seat:

- Is it crash-tested? Unless a safety seat indicates it has been crash-tested (or dynamically tested), it probably will not provide adequate protection.

- Is it padded and free of sharp, hard edges? Will it fit your car seats and be held properly by the seat belts?

- Will you use it correctly, even if the directions seem tedious?

Regarding the child's size, an infant carrier should be used beginning with the first ride home from the hospital until the baby can sit up alone. This device straps the child into a semi-reclining position facing the back of the car.

When the child can sit up without support, a child seat should be used. It is upright, faces forward, and has a harness or protective shield to hold the child in the seat. When the child reaches 40 pounds and 40 inches in height - about age 4 - a regular seat belt should be used.

More information is available from the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, 1801 N. Lamar Blvd., Austin 78701.

ITALIAN ENCHILADAS
 (Makes 4 servings)

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 sliced (1/2 cup) medium onion
- 1/4 sliced (1/4 cup) medium green pepper
- 1 crushed garlic clove
- 2 cups (two 8-ounce cans) Contadina pizza sauce
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
- Four 8-inch flour tortillas

Brown ground beef with onion, green pepper, and garlic in large skillet. Drain off excess fat. Stir in 1 can Contadina pizza sauce and Parmesan cheese. Boil gently, uncovered, 5 minutes. Pour 1/3 of remaining pizza sauce in bottom of 8x8x2-inch square baking dish; reserve remaining sauce. Spoon equal amount of meat mixture in center of each tortilla. Reserve 1/4 cup each mozzarella and Cheddar cheese. Divide remaining cheeses equally among tortillas. Roll up; place seam side down in dish. Pour remaining sauce over enchiladas. Sprinkle reserved cheeses over top. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes.

Congratulations

Norman R. Adamson, Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster of Waco congratulates Wanda Snuffer on her appointment as postmaster at Wingate. Adamson administered the oath of office to Mrs. Snuffer. Also on hand for the ceremonies were Ken Davis, Customer Service Representative of Waco, and Gerald Young, Abilene postmaster.

MRS. LAWRENCE RANDALL DRAKE

Miss Hancock, Mr. Drake exchange marriage vows

Rebel Lee Hancock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hancock of Wilmeth, and Lawrence Randall Drake, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Drake of Winters, were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, July 10.

The ceremony took place in the Winters First Baptist Church with Bro. Charles Myers, pastor of the Wingate Baptist Church, performing the ceremony.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. William Patterson of Winters.

The church was decorated with an arch and candelabra, covered with greenery and white roses.

Music was provided by organist DeOnn Deaton, and soloist Teresa Osborne, who sang "Endless Love" and the "Theme from Ice Castles".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of dacron organza, which featured a fitted lace bodice, apron effect skirt, a Queen Ann neckline and full sleeves. Ruffles edged the hemline and attached train. The gown was adorned with alencon lace trim. A chan-

New officers installed in Rebekkah SS Class

The Rebekkah Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met Monday night in the fellowship hall for the monthly business meeting and social hour.

A salad supper was served by hostesses Gladys Sneed, Pat Simpson and Janie Humble.

Patsy Rogers installed the new officers for the coming year. Her theme was "Shining For Christ, The Light Of The World".

Installed were Patty Rosson, president; Lillian Cooper, vice president; Lila Mitchell, second vice president; Loretta Pierce, secretary; Janie Humble, assistant secretary; Dorothea Laughorn, treasurer; Lavonda Herrington, reporter; Virginia Brown, Theresa Briley, Marianne Antilly, Joyce Krause, and Lila Mitchell, group leaders.

Patty Rosson presided over the business meeting. Emily White led the opening prayer. The class song, "Because He lives", was sung, with Lillian Cooper at the piano, with Patsy Rogers leading the singing.

Others present were Thelma Sneed, Dovie Lou Marks, Darlene Sims, Arlene Boles, Jo Poe, Lillian Roberson, class teacher, and a visitor, Charlsie Poe, the Departmental Director.

Mrs. Poe closed the meeting with prayer.

Groomsmen were Roger Stevens, Pat King, James Fairey and Tony Osborne, all of Winters.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a light blue ruffled shirt, while his groomsmen and party wore blue tuxedos.

Guests were seated by Lynn Glidewell of Miles and Tommy Fields of Winters.

A reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was covered with an off-white tablecloth, trimmed with beige lace. An arrangement of blue and white flowers in a basket served as a centerpiece.

The three-tiered and columned wedding cake was trimmed with light blue flowers, and held on top a miniature bride and groom kissing, surrounded by a lace heart.

Serving at the bride's table were Betty Brown, aunt of the bride, and Judy Gersbach, cousin of the bride, from Brownfield.

The groom's table was covered with a white tablecloth, imprinted with white flowers. The groom's cake was decorated with miniature doctor's instruments.

A miniature doctor's bag centered with an arrangement of orange and brown flowers served as a centerpiece.

Serving at the groom's table were Cheryl Williams of Lubbock, sister of the groom, and N.J. Stevens of Winters.

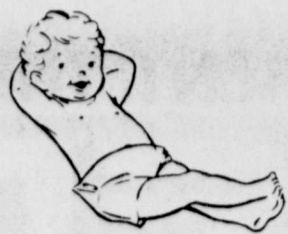

Others in the house party were Marcelle Patterson of Winters and Ann Pierce of Abilene, both aunts of the bride, and Mary Watkins of Winters.

A rehearsal supper with barbecue and all the trimmings was hosted by the groom's parents in the Hospitality Room.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Winters High School, and has been employed at Presley-Oil Co.

The groom is a 1979 graduate of Winters High School and has been a pre-medicine major at Angelo State University in San Angelo. He is presently employed by William's Plumbing, and will attend Texas Tech University at Lubbock in the fall.

The couple will live in Lubbock.

Runnels County searches for Farm Bureau queen

The Runnels County Farm Bureau's Queens' Contest and Talent Find will be held Sunday, July 18 at 3 p.m. in the Farm Bureau office in Ballinger.

The contest has been divided into three categories — Junior Queen, Senior Queen, and Talent Find.

Entered in the Junior Queen Contest are Ginger Lang, daughter of Barbara Lang, a sophomore at Ballinger High School; Gayle Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lange, and a freshman at Ballinger; Marci Caffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bub Caffey, and an eighth grader at Winters; Tabitha Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bryan, a Ballinger eighth grader; and Kerri Jansa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jansa, a freshman from Miles.

Six entries in the Senior Queens Contest include Beth Patton, senior at Ballinger, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Bobby Patton; Lucy Rohmfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rohmfeld, and a senior at Ballinger; Becky Lange, another Ballinger senior, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lange; Karen Gesch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gesch, and a senior at Eola; D'Ann Book, a Miles junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Book; and Sherri Gerhart, an ASU freshman, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gerhart of Winters.

Talent Find entries are Beth Patton, D'Ann Book, Karen Gesch, and Diane Goetz, currently attending nursing school in Ballinger, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Goetz of Winters.

Contestants will receive gifts from the Farm Bureau, and the Senior Queen and Talent Find winners will compete in the District Contest to be held in Ballinger.

P-T-O meeting set for July 20

The Winters Parent-Teacher Organization will meet Tuesday, July 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

On the list to be discussed will be the beginning of the concession stands for football season.

All parents and concerned parties are invited and encouraged to attend.

Social Security tax increase brings little reaction locally

There has been very little reaction locally to the increase in the social security tax rate and base which became effective January 1, 1982, according to Frank Upp, manager of the San Angelo Social Security Office. Part of the lack of complaint could be that people realize that the additional tax is building greater protection for themselves and their families under social security, Upp said.

Actually, the increase in the rate paid from 6.65% to 6.70% does not affect the lower income workers as significantly as the higher paid workers as it only costs one making $10,000 a year about 10 cents a week, while those earning a maximum of $32,400 a year pay an additional $3.77 a week.

The increase in the tax

Girls' All-Star team takes first victory

The girls' Little League All-Star team won their first victory against the Anson All-Stars in Abilene Monday night, 13-2. This was their first game in district competition.

Winning pitcher was Tammy Belew who had three strike outs to her credit, gave up 10 hits, and walked two.

Leading hitters were Heather Brown who was 4 for 4, scoring 3 out of her 4 times at bat; Angie Ledford, Tracey Grantham, and Tammy Belew, who all had 3 base hits to their credit.

The team's next game will be Thursday night in Abilene at the Key City Little League Park which is lated inside the Cal Young Park just off South 11th Street and T&P Lane.

Members of the 1982 All-Star team are: Jill Conner, Michelle Baker, Angie Ledford, Melinda Parker, Lucy Lugo, Heather Brown, Tammy Belew, Alysa Bilbrey, Dorinda Scott, Dorothy Liggins, Tracey Grantham, Gina Nesbitt, Melissa Hatler, and Kimberly Slaughter.

Manager of the team is Peggy Belew, coach is John Joeris, and they are assisted by Rhonda Joeris and Scotty Belew.

base from $29,700 to $32,400 is also felt more strongly by those in the upper income brackets, as they will pay an additional $195.75 in social security taxes in 1982. Those earning less than the $29,700 will not be affected by the increase in the tax base.

Self-employed persons will also pay a higher tax in 1982 with an increase in percentage from 9.30 to 9.35, and those earning the maximum will pay an additional $267.30, or $5.14 more per week. Persons earning only $10,000 will pay only $5.00 more in 1982, or less than 10 cents a week.

Along with the increase in taxes paid, there will be a corresponding increase in the benefits earned, as benefits are related to earnings. This means higher retirement benefits in the future, but it could very well be needed earlier in many cases. Social security also pays many survivor's insurance benefits to the families of deceased workers, and disability insurance benefits to the disabled worker, and to their families. These taxes also provide medicare hospital insurance protection for most people age 65 and older, and for people under age 65 who have been getting disability checks for at least 24 months. No such protection is available for a comparable price in the private insurance field for the total package available under social security. This is especially true when you consider that the benefits are tax free, and that there is a cost-of-living increase built into the system to provide for added payments as the cost of living increases.

For more information or answers to questions about the social security program, contact your local social security office in San Angelo. The telephone number there is 949-4608.

Cub Scouts receive awards at camp

Winters Cub Scouts, Troop 249, were at Camp Tonkawa July 5-8, and returned with several individual and group awards. All three dens from Winters participated, with a total of 17 boys enjoying camp.

In Den 1, Billy Holland received a first place medal in swimming; J'Dan Miller received a first place medal in swimming; and Lance Bellis received a third place medal in swimming and a trophy for Spirit Boy.

Raul Rodriguez, from Den 2, received a first place medal in swimming and a medallion in knot-tying.

Terry Day, of Den 3, won a bronze medal and a first place trophy in swimming.

All boys received ribbons for participation.

The theme used during camp was "Pirates", and each troop was named after a pirate ship.

Troop 249, "The Sea Lions" won a medallion for the neatest campsite, a medallion for the best at crafts, a medallion for the best at trading post, and a medallion for Honor Guard.

The Roman emperor Trajan founded a school for baking about 100 A.D. The Romans had learned of baking from their Greek slaves.

COOKING CORNER

Warm Weather Treat: Crunchy Ice Cream Sandwiches

Chocolate glaze finishes these refreshing ice cream sandwiches made with healthful wheat germ, raisins and oatmeal.

Start off the warm weather season with a freezer filled with refreshing treats. One cool idea might be homemade ice cream sandwiches that are both nutritious and delicious.

The recipe below, from the Kretschmer Wheat Germ Kitchens, calls for lots of good things...wheat germ, raisins, and oatmeal. The cookies make up in a breeze. Sandwich them with cool, tempting ice cream and dip into satiny chocolate glaze.

Kids will love them as afternoon snacks and so will guests when you serve them as an ending to casual meals.

ICE CREAM SANDWICHES

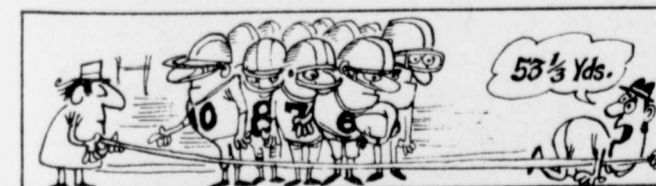

- 1 cup unsifted all purpose flour
- 3/4 cup Kretschmer Wheat Germ, Regular or Brown Sugar & Honey*
- 1/2 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup softened butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup raisins, pureed or finely chopped
- Ice cream
- 1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 6 tablespoons butter or margarine

*If you use Kretschmer Wheat Germ with Brown Sugar & Honey, increase flour to 1 1/4 cups.

Combine flour, wheat germ, oats, salt, and cinnamon on wax paper. Stir well to blend. Cream 1/2 cup butter and sugars thoroughly. Add eggs, vanilla, and raisins, beating well. Add blended dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Mix well. Refrigerate dough for 30 minutes or until easily handled. Shape into 24 balls. Place 4 inches apart on well-greased baking sheets. Flatten balls to 3-inch size with bottom of moistened glass dipped in sugar. Bake at 350°F. for 10-12 minutes. Cool on rack.

Place scoop (about 1/3 cup) ice cream on 12 cookies. Top with remaining cookies. Press together sandwich fashion. Place on tray. Freeze until firm.

Combine chocolate and remaining butter. Stir over low heat until melted. Dip each sandwich halfway into glaze. Place upright in loaf pan. Return to freezer to set chocolate. Wrap each separately. Makes 1 dozen ice cream sandwiches.

Most sports fans know the length of a football field (120 yards including end zones) but few know its width...which is 53 and one third yards.

Nursing Home News

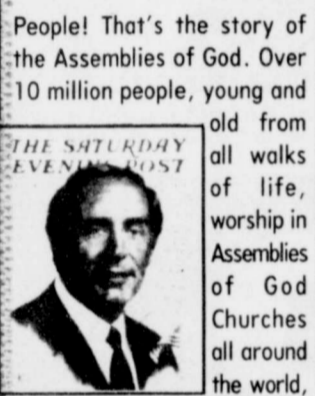

The 4th of July watermelon party was enjoyed by all residents and employees. The tables were decorated in red, white and blue, and flags are everywhere. The cold watermelon couldn't have been more delicious, and everyone ate all they wanted.

Ladies from the Church of Our Lady will have charge of our July birthday party. They will bring the refreshments and entertainment on Tuesday, July 20 at 3:30. The honorees will be Laura Stanley and Melissa Smith. Friends and relatives are invited to attend this happy occasion.

We wish to thank Jim Black, and all personnel of the Winters Oilfield Supply for the barbecue and potato salad brought to the nursing home. It was thoughtful for you to remember us.

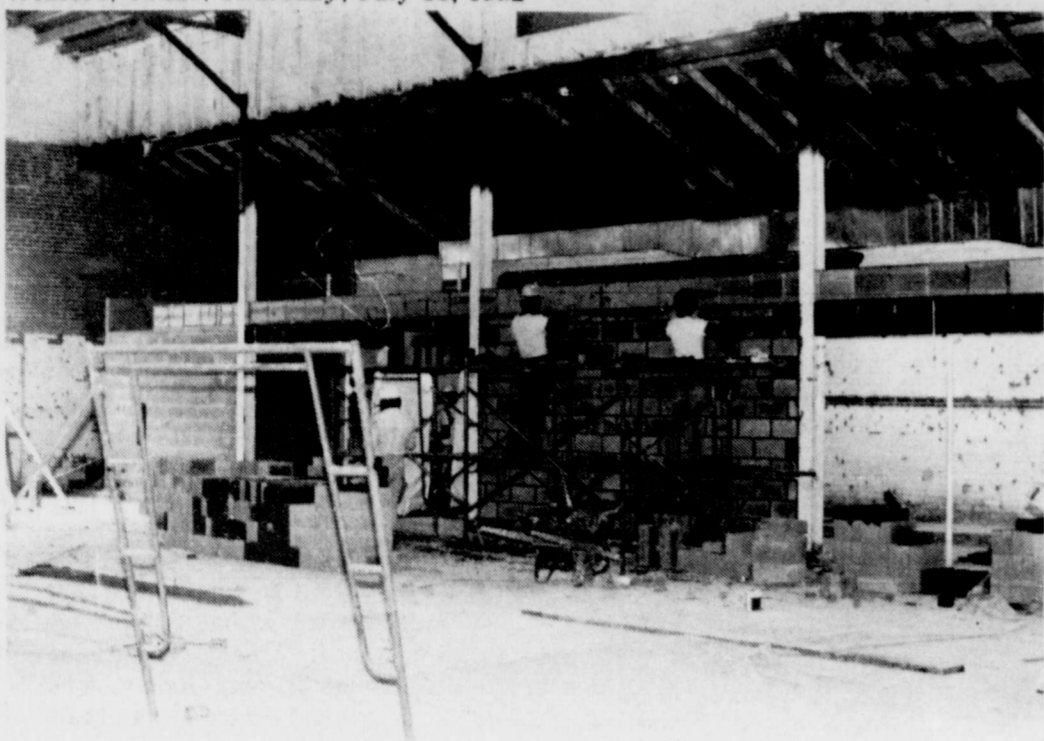

About 8 members of the Winters String Band came to play for us on Friday evening. We also had a good attendance of our residents, along with some visitors, and we had a foot-patting, hand-clapping good time.

Queen Elizabeth I of England had more than 80 wigs of different colored hair and more than 3000 gowns.

Work on the old gymnasium is progressing ahead of schedule. Construction crews have completed the cement floor and are in the process of adding new walls to the structure before the installation of the hardwood floor, which will be the final step in the project.

Proposed USDA rule would permit states to operate workfare program

"Though workfare demonstration projects for food stamp recipients have been operating for several years, proposed regulations announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in June provide states and local jurisdictions the option for the first time of adopting workfare as a permanent feature of the food stamp program," said Assistant Secretary Mary Jarratt.

Under the "workfare" concept, work-eligible food stamp recipients participate in a work-experience activity along with receiving their food stamp benefits. The public service work done in return for food stamp allotments is valued at the federal or state minimum wage, whichever is higher. A maximum of 20 hours per week could be required of any household.

The workfare demonstration projects, some of which began operating as early as July 1979, provided helpful information for policymakers.

"We believe workfare can provide valuable work experience to recipients in assisting them to become self-reliant, and we are hopeful that skills acquired in this program will enable more public assistance participants to transfer to private sector employment," the assistant secretary said. Past workfare participants have engaged in a wide array of work activities, including learning how to operate heavy construction equipment, using existing electrical and carpentry skills for community building projects, providing crafts activities to senior citizens, and learning radio repair work.

The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981, Public Law 97-98, approved December 22, 1981, authorized the extension of workfare as a permanent food stamp program feature at state or local political subdivision option. The law allows participating jurisdictions to combine food stamp workfare operations with those from other workfare-type programs that states and local jurisdictions might already administer.

"Obviously, the program is more economically feasible when operated in conjunction with other public assistance programs, and we are delighted that P.L. 97-98 allows local jurisdictions to combine their food stamp workfare with that for aid to families with dependent children, for example," said Jarratt.

The state agency, through its local offices, would be responsible for referring eligible recipients to workfare operating agencies and for establishing and processing sanctions for non-compliance, under the proposed regulations. The state agency also would be responsible for monitoring job sites and for interviewing and assigning eligible recipients.

USDA's Food and Nutrition Service would provide 50-percent funding to both state and operating agencies for cost incurred in administering a workfare program. As a part of this 50-percent funding, participants would be reim-

SELF-CONTROL CAN BE THE SMARTEST THING YOU DO THIS SUMMER...

Self-control can be the smartest thing you do this summer. Sometimes you have to cut down on the things you like that takes self-control. Self-control is important when you overindulge in too many calories, or when you over cool your home. It can be tough on your pocketbook if you set your thermostat too low on hot summer days. WTU recommends setting your thermostat at 78 degrees or higher. Clean or replace your air conditioner filter at least once a month so your unit will operate as efficiently as possible.

Funeral services Wednesday for Opal Stanfield

Mrs. Alan Stanfield, 29, of San Angelo, died at 1:30 p.m. Monday in her home.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 Wednesday at the First Baptist Church, with Rev. Fred Thomas, pastor, and Rev. Bob Holloway, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Winters Funeral Home.

Born Opal Sue Waldrop on October 6, 1952 in Ballinger, she lived in Winters most of her life, and graduated from Winters High School. She married Alan Stanfield on November 26, 1969 in Winters. After their marriage, the couple lived in Winters, later moving to Irving, Lewisville, and finally San Angelo.

She was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Craig of the home; two daughters, Terri Lynn and Michelle, both of the home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Waldrop of Winters; two brothers, Johnny Waldrop of Winters and David Waldrop of Brownwood; three sisters, Donna Chambliss of Winters, Jessie Collom of Crews, and Doris Geistman of Miles.

Pallbearers were Mike Loehman, Neal Haschke, Melvin Williamson, Milton Williamson, Wesley Crouch, Buddy Weems, Hudon White, Jr., and Jim Matthews.

"Ole Coke County" to be presented in Robert Lee

"Ole Coke County" Home of the Rabbit Twisters, will be presented in Mountain Creek Amphitheatre, Robert Lee, on July 23-24 and July 30-31.

"Ole Coke County," a musical pageant, depicts the colorful history of Coke County. It is performed by around one hundred local and area citizens of all ages. From the opening scene, depicting an exciting and colorful 1854 Indian Pow Wow; planning the organization of the county; conflicting points of view of free rangers, nesters, ranchers; rails through Bronte; to the closing of saloons in Coke County is West Texas history unfolding before your eyes.

Admission prices are $2.00 for children, ages five to twelve, and adults, $4.00. Children under five are admitted free. Busloads with 20 or more persons who have reservations, will receive a 25% discount.

Mrs. Murphy died Friday in Dallas

Mrs. Robbie Murphy of Dallas, died Friday morning, July 9 in the Presbyterian Hospital. She had been ill for sometime.

She is survived by her husband, Clifford Murphy; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Finley of Dallas, and Mrs. Chapoy Holley of Garland; one son, Chris Murphy of Dallas; a brother, Byron Estes of Hatchel; and seven grandchildren.

Coke County Rodeo planned

The Coke County Rodeo will be held Friday and Saturday, July 16 and 17, with both performances beginning at 7 p.m.

Admission will be $2.00 for adults, and $1.00 for school age children. Events for the rodeo include barrel racing, pole bending, and flag racing for girls and for the younger boys, and steer or bull riding, eye down, breakaway, or ribbon roping for the older boys and men.

All ages are welcome. The rule for eligibility for all-around awards will be in effect during the rodeo. The rule states that to be eligible there must be four or more contestants in your age group. Anyone who wishes to move up to the next age group may.

Senior Rodeo Queen for this year is Melanie Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cooper of Bronte. Junior Rodeo Queen is Teresa Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vaughn of Bronte.

Rodeo Chairman is Elton Millican of Robert Lee; Arena Director is R. T. Thorn of Bronte; and secretary is Brendi Gentry of Bronte. For further information, contact her at 786-1482.

Awards for each event have been furnished by O'Neal's Western Wear of Winters. First place will receive a belt buckle, second, a halter; third, a head stall, and fourth place will receive a curry comb.

All-around cowboy and cowgirl will be awarded $25 gift certificates from Donah's Saddle Shop of San Angelo.

A concession stand will be open both nights of the rodeo offering hot dogs, sloppy joes, sausage on a stick, drinks, and other food items.

A parade will be held Saturday, July 17 at 5 p.m. beginning at the Bronte Nursing Home, and ending at the old railroad depot. Anyone interested in riding or participating in the parade should be at the depot in Bronte by 4:30, so everyone can get lined up. Bicycles and stick horses are welcome.

Playday Saturday, July 17

The Winters Rodeo Association will have a playday, Saturday, July 17.

Participants need to be there by 6:30 p.m. in order to start the playday at 7 p.m.

Tax relief available for flood victims

The Internal Revenue Service advises victims of flooding caused by the recent heavy rains that they may be eligible to claim casualty losses on their 1982 returns.

Losses to business property are generally deductible in full. Personal property loss deductions are limited to the amount of loss exceeding $100 for each occurrence.

To claim a casualty loss a taxpayer must be able to substantiate the loss. Victims should compile a list of those items damaged or destroyed and determine their value immediately before and after the loss occurred. Before-and-after photographs of damaged property are important records to maintain, as are judgments of independent appraisers.

Of course, any portion of a loss covered by insurance and subsequently reimbursed is not deductible.

Further information for taxpayers is available by calling IRS toll free and asking for Publication 517, "Tax Information on Disasters," Casualty Losses, and Thefts," and Publication 584, "Workbook for Determining Your Disaster Loss." Call 712-2110 in Dallas, 313-1370 in Fort Worth and 1-800-492-4830 elsewhere in Texas.

Hobby urges President Reagan to release emergency funding

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby recently urged President Ronald Reagan to cut through federal red tape to provide immediate relief funds for West Texas farmers whose crops were devastated recently by natural disasters.

If the federal funds are not released immediately, hundreds of farmers in the Panhandle and South Plains regions will face certain economic ruin, Hobby said in a letter to the President.

Blackwell

A bridal shower honoring Marcy Messick, bride-elect of Phillip McCarty was held Tuesday evening, June 29, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Blackwell First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall with 25 attending.

The hall was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of magenta and pink.

The table was laid with a white lace cloth over pink. The centerpiece was a floral arrangement of magenta and pink flowers.

A white cake with pink flowers, colored mints, nuts and pink punch was served.

Mrs. Ruby Sneed of Shep served the cake and Mrs. Gwen Ware poured the punch. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Hostesses were Meses. June Hicks, Charles Sawyer, Gary Weeks, Billy Holland, E. J. Tucker, Joel Shipp, R. L. Smedley, Russell Sneed, Carl Shaffer, Bobby Sanderson, James Ware, Buddy Dyess and Charlie Roland.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Messick from Rotan was out-of-town guest.

Mrs. Willie Stevens had as her visitors over the July 4 holidays her daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Roe and daughter, Melissa from Waco; Mrs. Edwina Henderson and granddaughter, Heather from Carlsbad, N.M. Mr. Roe also replaced a window that Mrs. Stevens had lost from the bad hailstorm.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Oden and Larry visited Saturday through Monday in Littlefield with his brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oden, other relatives and friends.

They reported the crops had been hailed out up there and it was too late to plant cotton again.

The Omega Coterio of Blackwell took in $158.00 from their pies, cakes and ice cream at the barbecue Saturday evening at the Blackwell Volunteer Fire Department, which was held in the new building and they donated it all to the Blackwell Volunteer Fire Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crain had as their visitors over the July 4 holidays their children and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crain with Kellie and Casey from San Angelo; their daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Moore from Sweetwater and Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Holloway and sons, Justin and Jason from San Angelo. They celebrated Cecil Crain's birthday on Monday and then spent the rest of the day repairing windows for Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crain which they lost from the bad hailstorm.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Chew and son, Jody of Abilene visited Saturday through Wednesday over the July 4 holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Chew, and Johnny helped put the siding on their house, and will be back this Saturday to help them again.

Mrs. Vivian Hipp suffered a considerable loss to her house from the bad hailstorm Blackwell had Friday night, May 18, as she had broken windows and her roof was badly damaged. Then, about midnight last Monday night, July 5, she was awakened by a terrible noise, and it was her cookstove that exploded from a gas leak, so she had another clean-up job. Thank Goodness, she wasn't hurt — it could have been lots worse.

Every house for several miles around the Blackwell area and at Oak Creek Lake suffered damages from roofs and all windows on the north side of the house broken out. All the crops and gardens were ruined and the trees were shredded of their leaves and several have said they believe the trees were so badly damaged they would lose them, especially the fruit trees.

Historic buildings plagued by arson

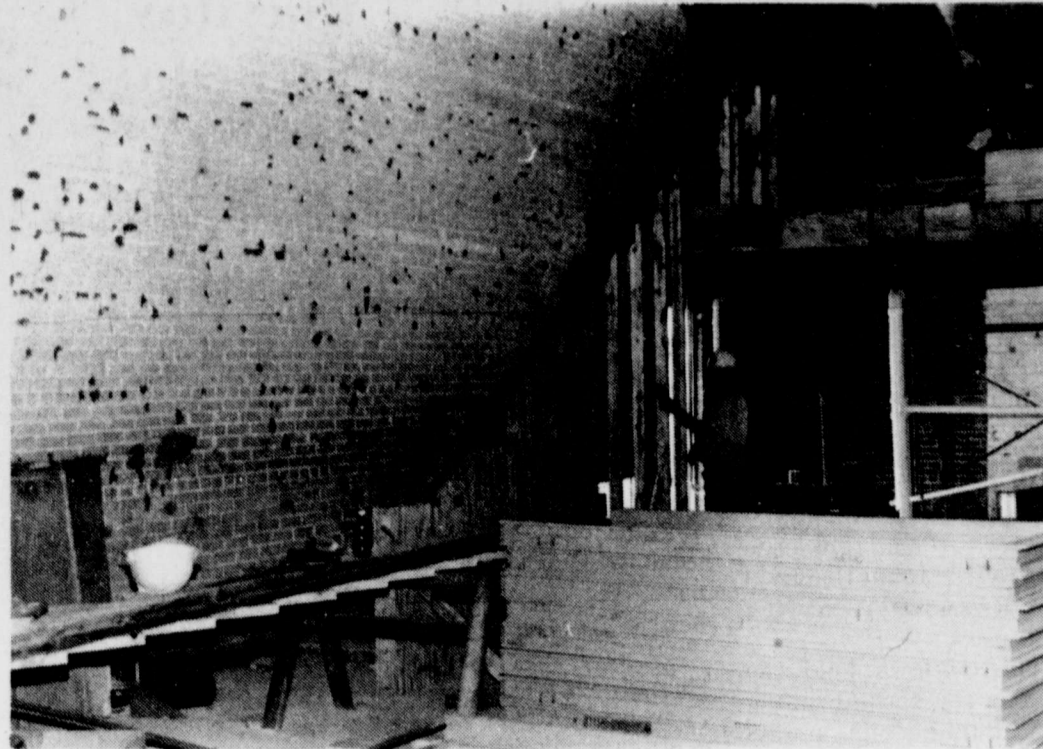

Arson, the fastest growing crime in America, is consuming the nation's heritage. Insensitive to historical significance and architectural beauty, the arsonist often targets older structures that still have much life left in them. In the face of a growing interest in the preservation and restoration of landmark buildings, the arsonist is becoming a major public enemy.

Arson — defined by the United States Fire Administration as "any intentionally set fire" — is increasing at an annual rate of 25%. And, the destruction of historic structures through arson is also growing at an alarming rate. Over 10 historic districts in the U.S. have been victimized by arson in recent years, and in the last two years arson has claimed over fifteen historically significant buildings in Massachusetts alone.

In Texas, officials have investigated the possibility of arson in recent fires that have damaged numerous structures, including the 1877 McLendon House in Tyler, the 78-year-old Trinity United Methodist Church

Ahead of schedule

Workmen construct a new stairway to the second floor of the old gymnasium. The new walls and floor are in place in the structure built in 1925.

in Dallas, two buildings in Dallas' historic Old City Park, the Old Main and Austin College Buildings of Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, and the 1891 Ronald McDonald House in Trinity.

While the U.S. Fire Administration has identified 24 types of arson, the two most frequent forms of destruction of historic structures are juvenile arson and arson for profit. While juvenile arson crimes are usually committed by youngsters suffering from boredom, curiosity, family and personal problems, and peer pressure, arson for profit schemes are carried out for a variety of economic reasons. Building owners may see arson as a way to stop business losses, to remove low-income tenants in order to convert a building to more profitable use, to collect insurance, or to create new construction. Development pressures in some neighborhoods often cause land to be more valuable without the existing buildings, thus making these buildings prime targets for the arsonists.

Individuals can help curb arson in their communities by understanding the reasons behind arson attempts and identifying those structures which run a high risk of being victimized by arsonists. These structures are most vulnerable:

- A building in poor condition, either vacant or with a high vacancy rate
- A building frequently changing hands

- A property that has been the site of recent fires

- A building owned by someone who has been connected with other buildings that have burned

- A building that cannot be altered, renovated or demolished due to local restrictions such as historic preservation ordinances

- A property involved in a controversy between a developer and residents or preservationists.

Despite the fact that arson destroys at least $1.7 billion in property annually and takes an estimated 1,000 lives, it is a very difficult crime to prove and prosecute. According to experts, the only way to catch the arsonist is to increase anti-arson concern and activity at the local level.

Community fire and police departments should work together in approaching the arson problem. Arson-training, arson hot lines, stricter state arson laws, arson counseling for juveniles, and public awareness campaigns are but a few of the successful programs resulting from a combined local initiative to curb arson.

Texas law makes arson a crime punishable by imprisonment for a period of two to twenty years. Still, unless alert individuals in communities take part in stopping arsonists, the punishment, often with the chance of an early parole, is a weak threat.

To help individuals know how they can help stop arson, the National Trust for Historic Preservation has developed an anti-arson program. This program is designed especially for neighborhood preservation groups, and encourages individuals not only to get involved in stopping arson, but to fight to save and restore buildings even after arson has occurred.

For further information on this program contact the Texas Historical Commission, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, Tx. 78711, or the National Trust for Historic Preservation, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

- ORIENTAL VEGETABLES
- 1 c. thinly sliced carrots
 - 1 large cucumber, peeled, seeded and cut in strips
 - 1 c. quartered fresh mushrooms (about 1/4 pound)
 - 1/2 c. sliced water chestnuts
 - 2 medium cloves garlic, minced
 - 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Chicken Broth
 - 2 tbs. dry sherry
 - 1 tbs. soy sauce
 - 3 tbs. cornstarch
 - 1 package (6 ounces) frozen pea pods, thawed and drained
- In 2-quart microwave-safe casserole, combine carrots, cucumber, mushrooms, water chestnuts and garlic. Cover. Microwave on HIGH 5 to 7 minutes or until just tender, stirring once. Combine broth, sherry, soy and cornstarch; stir until smooth. Add with pea pods to vegetable mixture. Re-cover. Microwave on HIGH 6 to 8 minutes or until thickened, stirring occasionally.
