Wait a minute...

By Kerry Craig

The public hearing last week on the proposed tax increase by the city was quite different from a similar hearing a couple of years ago.

This time, quite a few interested folks showed up to ask their questions and add their comments. In that other meeting, the council faced empty chairs, save two occupied by members of the news media.

The members of the city council have a tough job. They will tell you so. If you think about it you will agree.

The cost of everything has continued to climb. We all feel the higher prices—the city included.

Somewhere, the line has to be drawn. The federal government, the state government, our local taxing entities, are all faced with increased costs which lead to increased taxes.

The saturation point is getting closer and closer. Soon it will take more to pay taxes than taxpayers make.

Late word is that our city council is looking at cutting their proposed tax hike. If they do this, there will be a cutback in services—or something.

It could be that there are some services that the city is providing that we can afford to live without—luxuries that we cannot afford.

Living on the outskirts of a community can be very interesting.

It can give a person a contrasting perspective of the Humane Society.

Those who enjoy living on the fringe also must live with a wide variety of pets.

There are dogs of all varieties and sizes and colors not to mention temperaments. There are cats and other critters.

These pets have taken the commandment "Be fruitful and multiply" very literally. Some expand even faster than multiplication, it seems.

It is hard to not want to feed and care for a puppy or kitten, big or little, but after a while these animals seem like taxes—no end in sight.

The folks that think that the way to find a new home for an unwanted pet is to simply drop the pet just outside town need to have their head examined.

With our two family cats, my daughter's dog and my dog, we have numerous rabbits and squirrels romping about the yard. There is also a possum or two and an armadillo that digs up the yard searching for food.

The armadillo, so far, has successfully tilled most of my yard without uprooting a single weed.

In the past week the pet population has risen drastically with at least two additional dogs and another cat or two.

If you have a pet that you no longer want please don't bring him to someone who lives outside of town without at least ask-

Council takes second look at tax package

The Winters City Council spent most of Monday evening in another budget workshop trying to work out a finance package for the city that would satisfy the needs of the city and meet the demands of the city's taxpayers.

The workshop session followed a public hearing last Thursday evening on a proposed 25 percent increase in the city taxes.

A large number of city residents joined the council members in the Community Center to voice their opposition to the proposed increase in the city taxes.

City officials cited a number of things that led to the proposed increase in the tax levy—an error by the central appraisal district on property that was not in the city limits, a decrease in the city sales tax returns, the loss of bank stocks as an ad valorem taxable item, an increase in costs for law enforcement communications, a major change in the pension fund for volunteer firemen and an overall increase in costs.

The council said that it wanted to continue to provide the same services but, it would take more money to do so.

Of the citizens questioning the proposed hike were some who were on fixed incomes. These people, mostly elderly, told the council that they were already paying "all we can, if the tax goes up we cannot pay more."

One man told the council that if the tax rate were increased he would give his home and property to a tax-free operation and then he would not pay any taxes at all.

City Administrator Scott Epperson said that the tax rate in Winters, as compared to other communities this size, was about in the middle—that some were lower and others were higher.

Another resident told the council, "We all overspend, we have to make some adjustments."

The city's animal control program is likely to bite the dust as the result of the hearing and the ### Social Security visit scheduled

John Willis, representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his September visit to Winters. He will be at the Housing Project Office on Monday, September 30, between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time.

budget workshop session.

The hearing was told that the city was spending $10,000 per year for animal control. A number of voices shouted, "Scrap it!"

In the Monday council session the members took a close look at cutting the animal control program out for the next year. It would be reconsidered the following year.

Blizzards drop season opener to Ballinger

The Winters Blizzards' season opener went to the Ballinger Bearcats by a score of 32-0 Friday evening.

The Blizzards are back from a heart-break season last year with a rebuilt team and hopes for a chance at the district title.

The Ballinger Bearcats are the reigning District 7-3A bi-district champions.

The Blizzards, while looking very good on some offensive and defensive plays, still need work on executing their plays from either side of the line.

The Blizzards trailed in almost all the statistical categories in the game, logging only three first-downs to Ballinger's 21. In rushing yardage, the story was much the same.

What the stats didn't tell about was the muscle the Blizzards allowed to show through on several occasions, muscle that may just propel the Blue to much better things as the season moves along.

the knife was a proposed five percent pay increase for city employees and contractors. The council is now looking at reducing the increase from five to three percent.

The Winters City Council will take a public vote on a proposed tax rate at 6:00 p.m. on Monday, September 16, in the council chambers at the Winters City Hall.

There is much potential for Winters on the football field this year and, according to Coach Danny Slaughter the Blizzards could very well stand a chance for their district play-off game.

Be sure and wear blue and white!

The Winters Student Council and Winters Band Boosters urge everyone to wear blue and white on Friday to the football game.

We want to promote spirit and support for the Blizzards Football Team.

Z.I. Hale Museum plans for new year

Plans for this fall and projects for 1986 were outlined at the Z.I. Hale Museum board meeting on Tuesday.

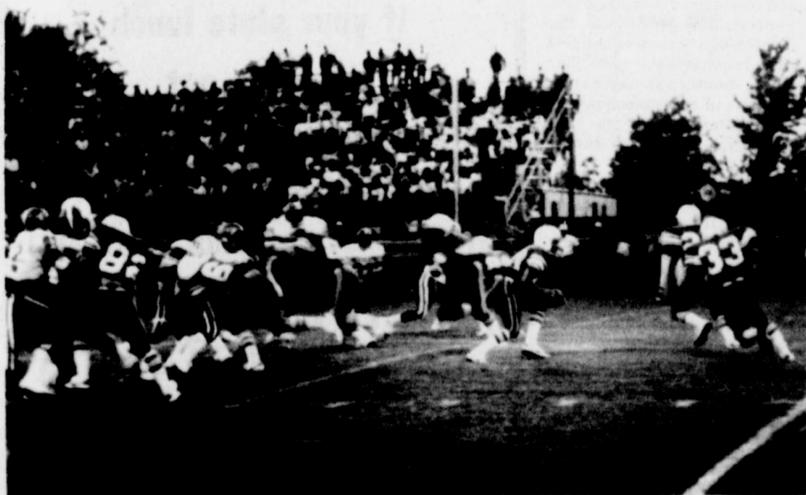

In cooperation with the Arts and Crafts Festival, November 8-9, the museum will again sponsor the quilt show. Quilts may be brought to the museum Wednesday from 3 to 5 p.m. or by calling Jewel Kraatz, chairman, for other arrangements. Entries will be judged on Thursday and displayed Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded in five categories: pieced, embroidery, applique, baby, and quilts over 50 years old.

It is time for museum memberships to be renewed and new members are welcome. One year membership is $5, one year family membership is $10, and a lifetime membership is $100. These may be mailed to Estella Bredemeyer, treasurer, P.O. Box 42, Winters, Texas 79567.

M. R. Williams presented the project for 1986, which is an addition to our building that will be used to display artifacts the present building will not hold. This includes the 1906 horse drawn hearse, a gift from John Grohman.

Williams outlined the many ways that individuals could participate: such as active work; memberships; outright gifts; memorial gifts; and all types of donations.

We are preserving our heritage and remember, "The museum belongs to everyone."

QUILT TIME AT THE FAIR

How long does it take to make a quilt? Of course, it all depends on the kind of quilt it is and how much time one has to spend on it. But Mary Watkins can tell you that it takes years if you make one that includes the family tree.

Mrs. Watkins began working on family records in the 1930's. She was fortunate that her great-aunt, Bessie Yoakum, was a writer and provided much of the early day information. But Mary did a lot of research and wrote many letters to Chambers of Commerce and other leads that she obtained.

Beginning with her mother's people, Mary traced her family as far back as Mathias Yoakum, 1706-1783, who came from Germany and settled in Botetovrt County, Old Virginia. He married Eleanor Sees from Switzerland. Mary's grandmother was Cordelia Jane Yoakum who was married to Jackson Alfonso Bryant of Rockdale. Their daughter, Allie Maude was married to Wilson Morgan in Milam County in 1913. Their second child was Mary Allie who was born in Frederick, Oklahoma. She married L.B. Watkins in Runnels County on November 12, 1938.

Naturally, the Watkins four children are included on the family tree. The oldest, Jerry Dean, was married to Lana Kay Bolin in 1961. They have four children; Lori Kay Watkins, bride of Charles Travis Evens in 1981; Leslie Ann, Deanna Lea and Margie Faye.

Marilyn Joyce Watkins was married to Jerome Benard Egan in 1960. Their children are Rebecca and Patrick. Richard lives at home.

Rita Illene was married to Jerry Don Powers in 1969. Their three daughters are Cheryle, Angela and Amber.

Going through the same process, as with the Yoakum's, Mary traced other lineage such as the Samuel Getzen family, who came with a colony of French Quakers from Alsoce, Loraine, France to Savannah, Georgia. His granddaughter, Mary Polly Getzen, married Drury Morgan. Names such as Wells—and more also appear.

Tracing L.B.'s side of the family, Mary was not able to find as much information but traced the Watkins and Jones families back several generations. She located another relative, Thomas Benton McCarley, through his service record.

All of this information is written in embroidery on a quilt that she started three years ago.

Making a nine inch square of unbleached domestic for each person, Mary used a different color for each family: Yoakum, red; Bryant, purple; Getzen and Morgan, green; Wells and Moore, brown; Watkins, orange; Jones, blue and McCarley, yellow. Each square has an inch border of yellow and blue with small green squares at the corners.

Mary did all of the research, embroidery, and piecing on the quilt but turned the quilting over to Mrs. Reed McMillian of Bradshaw.

When she was going fishing or on vacation with the family, Mary took along her quilt blocks and embroidered while her husband drove or while everyone else was fishing. Since Mary didn't like to fish, she found this and cooking a good past time.

While doing research, Mary heard some good stories about some of her ancestors. Her great-grandfather, Robert Moore, was born in North Carolina in 1809. He left home when a young boy because his mother sold cider and ginger cakes at all public gatherings when it was not necessary. He eventually drifted to Mississippi and invested in a steamboat, but the boat was grounded on a sandbar in the Mississippi River and left him dead broke. He came to Texas and fought in the Mexican War. He was with Sam Houston in the Battle of San Jacinto and they became close friends. Houston often spent weeks with him when he and grandma lived at the old Winfield place. For his service in the war, he received a league of land in Bell County, but after his death, no one paid any attention to the land and a man by the name of Punched settled on it and finally held it by right of possession.

Grandfather William L. Hendley and grandmother, Ivah Wells Hendley, were both born in North Carolina and married in Mississippi in 1828. They settled on a farm near the Choctaw Reservation. It was during the period of the "Pet Banks" established in the different states by President Jackson. Speculators borrowed recklessly to invest in government lands, and Grandpa Hendley was one of the borrowers.

The Pet Banks failed and there was widespread financial panic. Hendley left the farm and all improvements to pay his debts to the government and with his family, his Negro slaves, and a few household necessities, came to Texas and settled in Burleson County in about 1842. The place is still known as Hendley's Hill. Of this marriage there were eight children. He died in 1847.

In 1848, Grandma Hendley, because of the serious illness of her father, took her three youngest children and some Negroes and started for Mississippi. Mr. Moore, an old friend of the family, went with her for protection. When she arrived, her father was dead and buried. Before her return to Texas, she and Mr. Moore were married November 5, 1848. By this marriage, there were five children. He died in 1866 and she in 1879.

Those who would like to read more of the history on Mary's quilt will be able to see it at the Museum during the Arts & Crafts Festival, November 8-9.

Use blender or food processor to make fine Duncan Hines Peanut Butter 'N Fudge Chocolate Chip Cookie crumbs. Melt chocolate pieces with sugar and milk over low heat. Stir until smooth and very slightly thickened. Cool slightly. Cut bananas in bite-size chunks. Spear with toothpicks or fondue fork. Dip in chocolate, then in crumbs.

It is as absurd to pretend that one cannot love the same woman always as to pretend that a good artist needs several violins to play a piece of music.

Anxiety is a function of freedom. Only the fully domesticated animal, only the enslaved human being, can or should expect a life devoid of continuous tension. From tension, indeed, all human progress springs. Felix Morley

Whirlpool dehumidifiers are featured with sturdy rust resistant steel cabinets and have moisture removal capacities ranging from 12 to 40 pints per 24 hours. Some models offer an automatic humidistat to let you select the level of moisture you want, which then automatically cycles the dehumidifier on and off to maintain that level. This keeps the air from becoming dryer than you'd like.

A dehumidifier can help make a basement recreation room more than just extra space. It makes it an extra pleasant space that everyone will enjoy using.

Turnrow Tidbits

General Situation
Conditions continue to be hot and dry. Most of the dryland cotton is cut out and maturing the big bolls that it has managed to hang on to. Irrigated cotton is also maturing very nicely now and could sure benefit from a rain and/or some cooler temperatures.

Although the insect activity is decreasing daily, we do continue to have heavy insect pressure in cotton that is still being irrigated and in some of the Acala 90 cotton fields.

Boll Weevils

Overall boll weevil activity is fairly isolated to certain hot spots and is not a widespread problem. However, the fields that are infested are taking quite a bit of damage to squares and small bolls. As discussed in previous newsletters, the squares are not of too much importance now but it is important to protect the small bolls that you have to moisture to mature.

In most fields, if any control for weevils is needed, one or two applications would probably be sufficient to protect small bolls until they are large enough to be fairly safe from weevil damage.

Weevils have been discussed at length in several previous newsletters. Please refer to those issues for further information.

Bollworms

Bollworm activity is light in most fields now. However, fields that are being irrigated and are still squaring at the top of the plant should be scouted closely for bollworms. At this time of the year I think a suitable threshold would be 10-12 small worms per 100 terminal or more. The condition of the plant terminals would be important in making bollworm control decisions. If the terminals are tough and do not have many squares, more bollworms can be tolerated.

Bollworms have also been discussed in previous issues so please refer back for any information you might need.

The Great Exception

Acala 90 cotton is still fruiting heavily and in some fields is blooming like a flower garden. We're getting late, folks, but this cotton is a little different so we'll need to manage it differently.

Cotton that is still squaring and blooming heavily needs to be watched closely for insects, both bollworms and boll weevils, for the next few weeks.

To Water Or Not To Water

Lately I've gotten lots more questions about watering than about bugs. Folks, you guys are the farmers and it's up to you. I cannot recommend watering anymore. The fruit you're watering to make now will probably contribute very little to your final yield and will likely create insect problems for you as well as present some fiber quality problems.

Last year many of you watered this late and it worked out just fine. I hope it will again. I know it's hard to stop watering as hot as it's been. We're sure playing with some scary odds.

Scouting Program

All dryland fields and irrigated fields that are cut out are no longer being scouted. The fields that are still squaring are being scouted one last time this week. All of the scouts will be quitting September 13. After that time, BE WATCHING YOUR OWN COTTON.

If you are concerned about your cotton or have questions, please do not hesitate to call.

Farm and Ranch Safety Week set

Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week is September 15-21 and is a special effort to call attention to safe farming and ranching operations. A safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service notes that farming and ranching is one of the most hazardous and stressful occupations in the nation. And with so many of today's farmers and ranchers concerned about the economic health of their operations, they could not bear the added burden of loss that would result from a serious accident or illness.

Burly Fence names Yates new manager

Lamond Yates has been named general manager of Burly Fence and Hardware at 754 Burleson Blvd. in Burleson, according to an announcement by David Davenport, president of the Burly Group, which includes Burly in Burleson and Rockwell, Lawson Bros. in Midlothian, and Mueller Supply in Ballinger.

Yates, a Cleburne native who has lived 37 years in Burleson, joined Burly in Burleson in 1981 as a salesman. Prior to his new appointment, he served as credit manager, personnel director and pricing controller for the Burleson unit, and directed advertising for Burleson, Rockwell and Midlothian units.

Since coming to Burly, Yates "has proven himself as a salesman and manager," Davenport commented. "We believe he will enhance our company's continued growth in sales and market share. Among his immediate challenges will be the introduction into this market area the Mueller line of custom metal buildings."

The Burly Group merchandises a wide variety of lines of general hardware, farm and ranch supplies and building materials, ranking in the top five of similar operations in the nation. The company, founded in 1959, set forth on a long-planned period of growth and expansion in 1978. The Burly Group expects its 1985 total sales to top the $50 million mark.

As general manager in Burleson, Yates will supervise a staff of 15 and manage the unit's basic operations, inventory and marketing. He also will be involved in guiding Burly's dealer organization which includes a network of independent stores throughout Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana which carry major lines of Burly products, including the company's own Diamond Head Brand lines.

Yates and his wife have two children. He was graduated from Burleson High School and attended Arlington State College (now the University of Texas at Arlington). Prior to joining the Burly Group, he spent 17 years with the City of Burleson police department, beginning as a communications officer and achieving the rank of lieutenant and senior management officer.

Oilfield jobs still available

Oilfield jobs are still available with the proper training. Entry level course for drilling rig floor hands is offered in Abilene. This hands-on program is sponsored by Texas A&M Engineering Extension Service and the International Association of Drilling Contractors. After training, students are employed by local drilling contractors that support the program. Some tuition assistance is available for those who qualify. Call (915) 698-0981 for information.

Public Utility wants big bucks to issue permits for ADADs

According to rules adopted on an emergency basis in an open meeting of the Public Utility Commission of Texas on Thursday, persons using an automatic dialing and announcing device (ADAD) for telephone solicitation or collection of information must obtain a license from the PUC.

ADAD's include any automatic dialing equipment that can store numbers to be called or has a random number generator that can produce numbers to be called, and is capable of conveying a prerecorded or synthesized voice message alone or in conjunction with other equipment.

Persons applying for the required permit will be responsible for a fee of $500 for each permit issued. Permit applications may be obtained through the PUC Central Records Division.

The requirement that ADAD users obtain a license in order to operate their equipment was outlined in the recent Legislature's House Bill 659. The bill calls for the PUC to incorporate the licensing requirement and additional ADAD guidelines in the Commission's Substantive Rules. It also establishes failure to obtain a permit for ADAD use as a Class C misdemeanor.

Other requirements outlined in Substantive Rule 23.32 include:

*The user must give written notice of the type of ADAD to each company over whose system the equipment will be used.

*The ADAD must disconnect from the person's line no later than 10 seconds after the person hangs up.

*The ADAD is not to be used for solicitation on a Sunday before 1:30 p.m. or after 9 p.m., or before 9 a.m. or after 9 p.m. during the remainder of the week.

The rules are scheduled to appear in the Texas Register next week, after which time there will be a thirty day comment period. They will be considered for adoption on a permanent basis once the comment period has concluded and any revisions based on comments received have been made.

Number is key to future protection

A person's Social Security number is the key to his or her future protection against the loss or reduction of income because of retirement, disability, or death, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

This is because future Social Security benefits will be based on the record of earnings kept under the Social Security number during a person's work-and Mrs. George Yates of Baytown; George and Mary Hudson Coder of Seattle, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. C.H. McKnight of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hudgens of Brady; Clay Melver of Ovallo; Phillip and May Ellison of Dublin; Vernon and Cleo Ellison of Canton; and Porter and LaVerne Baker of Trinity.

Others were: Mr. and Mrs. O'Dell Crow of Wimberley; Cliff Horn of Talpa; Cullen and Mildred Tunnell of Lamesa; Jerry and Melba Dobbins of Irving; Janet Davis Jackson of Temple; M.L. and Odess Dobbins; Travis and Celestine Downing; Viola Lewis; Floyd and Opal Milliron; Lucille Vir-don; Omar and Zora Mitchell; Billie Ruth Bishop; Bill Milliron; Geraldine Phelps; G.W. and Flo Scott; E.R. showing both the old and new names.

It is against the law to use another person's Social Security number or a number not assigned to you. It is also against the law to use a Social Security number obtained by giving false information on the application. Penalties include a fine, a jail sentence, or both.

More information about Social Security numbers and their use can be obtained at the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Train New Workers for SAFETY

Many people have the same name, but each person has his or her own Social Security number. The number singles each person's record from some 200 million others.

A person should show his or her Social Security card to each employer and make sure the number is copied correctly for the employer's records. This will help avoid any mistakes as earning will be reported under the correct number.

A person should keep a record of his or her number in a safe place so that he or she can apply for a replacement card should that become necessary. A person should apply for a replacement card only if he or she loses the card or there is a change in name.

A person applying for a replacement Social Security card must show evidence of identity. A person whose name is changed should show evidence

Social Security PASS bulletin

Are you disabled and wondering if you could qualify for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) but think that you might have too much income or savings to qualify? Or, are you on SSI already, but turning down opportunities to increase your income or savings because you might go over the SSI limits? If so, you should know about the Plan for Achieving Self-Support, better known as PASS.

PASS is a provision in SSA law to NOT COUNT income or savings that are specifically designated for use in meeting your occupational objective if that income or savings would otherwise make you ineligible for SSI. For instance, earnings from a vocational training program could be partially ignored IF some of the earnings are used for tuition. If savings extend beyond the SSI limit, certain of the funds could be excluded if separately designated for use in establishing necessary equipment for your future employment.

If the PASS might apply to your situation, you need to be aware of a few important requirements. First, the PASS must be in written form, and must be officially approved by an SSI claims representative. Secondly, there must be a specific occupational objective set down in the written plan. The third point is that the income and/or savings excluded must be specifically used toward the occupational objective set. For example, although you need to eat in order to study effectively, money used for food is NOT excludable; however, money used to purchase the textbook you study certainly IS excludable! A final point to remember is that there is a time limit on how long a PASS serves its purpose, which is usually 18 months, although you may apply for a formal extension.

The Rainbows, under 10, girls team lost but stayed in there trying.

They were playing a team that had been to State three times. Our girls made a good showing, although they had never played soccer before. You played a good game girls!

To take advantage of a PASS, contact the San Angelo Social Security Office at 2214 Sherwood Way or telephone 949-7426. PASS may not apply if you already meet the other SSI eligibility requirements; but if your income or savings could make you ineligible, check it out! PASS is one way that your SSI

The three players of the week were Spencer Marks, Brian Hall, and Jerry Harper. The coaches are Buddy Ross, and Joy Curry. The Scorpions will have their stingers out after The Dusters next week.

All games will be played at Lee Complex in Abilene, North 10th and Winters Freeway. Everyone is encouraged to come out and give our three teams your support.

Nutrients can't slow aging process

"Research has not identified any vitamin or mineral which can prolong life, prevent cosmetic changes such as hair loss or skin wrinkling, or protect from diseases like arthritis, cancer or heart disease," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. Taking a supplement with no more than the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) for each vitamin or mineral usually will not be harmful for older adults. But taking large doses of some vitamins and minerals can be toxic, interfere with the absorption of other nutrients or block the action of certain medications, she says.

Blackwell

by Savannah Thompson

Virginia Sissom and her two little grandsons, Mike and Chad of Bronte and her sister, Josie Griag of Blackwell, left early Tuesday morning for San Antonio. While there, they visited The Alamo. They also visited Breckenridge Park, the Whitt Museum and walked around the River Walk taking lots of pictures.

While there, they rode the Street Car, the first time Josie had ever ridden a street car. She said it was re-finished in 1913 and put back in operation and this was a novelty.

They stayed at The Downtowner Motel Tuesday night and said it was a very nice place to stay. Had real nice beds, but she said she couldn't say much about their food, but all other eating places, the food was delicious.

Josie had gone to The Alamo about 25 years ago, so she could see many changes. Said they also had lots of construction work on the streets there as also the highways as like other places. She sure didn't like the one-way streets and the fast drivers, so, she would stay here, where she could drive better.

They arrived back home about 9 p.m. Wednesday night. A very tired bunch, but all reported a very interesting time, but all were glad to be back home.

Katy Winnett, daughter of West Central Texas Oil & Gas annual meeting Thursday

William P. Clements, former governor of Texas, will be the keynote speaker at the annual fall meeting of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association at the Sweetwater Country Club on Thursday, September 12, according to Dan M. Fergus, WeCTOGA president.

Fergus also noted that tax reform proposals in the U.S. Congress will be a major topic of discussion at the meeting.

Fergus, an oil and gas lawyer and producer from Abilene, said the House Ways & Means Committee has starting writing its tax bill. "Ways & Means Committee Chairman, Dan Rostenkowski, has stated that the oil and gas industry will feel the pain of tax reform," Fergus said.

"We know that Chairman Rostenkowski would like to remove percentage depletion and immediate expensing of intangible drilling costs from the tax law," he said. "Without these tax incentives, many independent oil and gas producers would simply get out of the business, because the risks would far outweigh the potential advantages of drilling a well."

Fergus noted that the Association's Board of Directors will also discuss the proposed oil import tax recently introduced in the Congress.

WeCTOGA Vice-President Rick Rhodes of Sweetwater, this year's Meetings Committee chairman, stated that he expects a large turnout for the annual fall event.

"The high interest level regarding various tax proposals, coupled with our annual golf tournament and barbecue has created a good response from the oil industry," Rhodes said.

Golfers will begin teeing off at the 71-par, 6,369-yard Sweetwater Country Club at 8 a.m. Thursday. Eighteen foursomes will begin play simultaneously. Eighteen more foursomes will tee off at 1:30 p.m.

The Board of Directors meeting, which is open to all WeCTOGA members, begins at 3 p.m. in the clubhouse.

Refreshments will be served at 5 p.m., and the barbecue begins at 7 p.m.

People wishing to register for the various events can do so by calling (915) 677-2469 in Abilene. Cost of the barbecue after September 6 is $20 per person, and golf registration is $30.

West Central Texas Oil & Gas Association is an organization of more than 920 members who are interested in a healthy independent oil and natural gas industry. It is based in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. James Winnett of Blackwell was admitted to the Shannon Hospital in San Angelo last Sunday. She was very disappointed to be in the hospital, as this was her first time to start to school, she said she wouldn't get to start to school last Tuesday, when the Blackwell school started.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Wade and sons of Odessa visited over the Labor Day weekend with his aunt and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Pratt and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Chew and son, Jody, have been visiting parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Chew, other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oden of Littlefield and their son and his wife, Pat and Patty Oden from Great Falls, Montana have been visiting his brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Oden and Larry and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Patterson received word late Thursday night of the death of Mrs. Patterson's uncle, Grady Eckles in Gainesville. They went to Mineral Wells Friday afternoon to her aunts, Miss Mable Eckles, and all were to go on to Gainesville for the funeral at 10 a.m. Saturday morning.

James Chew from Oklahoma has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Chew, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Chew, other relatives and friends and attended the funeral of his school mate, Joe LaPrade, who was buried last Tuesday afternoon. James came in early Monday morning, but had to go back Tuesday afternoon after the funeral to be back on the job Wednesday morning. His wife came with him.

Blackwell had a thunderstorm Thursday afternoon, with a high wind with lots of sand, some thunder and received 3/10 of an inch of rain. Then Friday night had another thunderstorm with lots of thunder and lightning and received 7/10 of an inch of rain, making a total for both rains, an inch of rain, so, in closing out the news at noon, the sun is shining, a nice breeze is blowing and everyone is enjoying the nice and cool weather, hoping to get more rain again this afternoon.

Blackwell schedules homecoming

A pep rally in the new gym will be held at 6 p.m.; introduction of players and parents on the football field at 7:15; high school football game will be Blackwell vs. Highland at 8 p.m.; halftime activities will include crowning the Football Sweetheart and Hero and presentation of Coming Home King and Queen.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 5, 1985

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Sections 1 and 2 of House Joint Resolution 6 propose a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

The additional bonds to be issued will be dedicated for deposit in the Texas Water Development Fund, with $190 million of those bond proceeds to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition and with $400 million of those bond proceeds to be used for state participation in the acquisition and development of facilities for storage, transmission, transportation, and treatment of water and wastewater. Of the remaining bonds authorized, $190 million will be dedicated for use in water quality enhancement projects, and $200 million will be dedicated exclusively for flood control projects.

The amendment would also allow the legislature to provide for the creation, administration, and implementation of a bond insurance program to which the state pledges up to $250 million of its general credit to insure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or other obligations issued by political subdivisions of the state for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control or desalinization. Unless authorized to continue by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the Legislature, the bond insurance program will expire on the sixth anniversary of the date on which this section becomes a part of the constitution. Bond insurance issued before expiration of the program will not be affected by such expiration.

The amendment would authorize the legislature to create and appropriate money to special funds in the state treasury to make grants, loans, and other financial assistance available to governmental entities for certain enumerated water planning purposes. Also, the legislature would be permitted to extend the benefits of constitutionally approved water projects to nonprofit water supply corporations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds, to create special water funds for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, agricultural soil and water conservation, and desalinization, to authorize a bond insurance program, and to clarify the purposes for which Texas Water Development Bonds may be issued."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 3 of House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Texas Water Development Board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds in an amount not to exceed $200 million, if authorized to do so by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the legislature. The Texas agricultural water conservation bonds would be general obligations of the State of Texas, and would be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year. The amendment would allow Texas agricultural water conservation bonds to be issued and sold only for four years after the date on which this Act becomes a part of the constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance and sale of $200 million of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds."

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property if such relocation or replacement is done in conjunction with or immediately following the relocation or replacement of water mains serving the property. Any legislative enactment permitting the expenditure of funds for such purposes would authorize the city or town to fix a lien on the property, with the owners' consent, for the cost of relocating or replacing the water laterals, and would provide that such cost shall be assessed against the property, with repayment by the property owner to be amortized over a period not to exceed five years at the rate of interest set by law. Such liens could not be enforced until after five years from the date the liens were affixed.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to enact laws permitting a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 9 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant an additional $500 million in bonding authority to the Veterans' Land Board for the veterans' housing assistance program. Under the current constitution, the Veterans' Land Board is authorized by Article III, Section 49-b-1 to issue and sell not more than $800 million in bonds, $500 million of which may be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. This amendment would increase that authorization to permit the issuance and sale of up to $1.3 billion in bonds, $1 billion of which would be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. In addition, the amendment would remove the current definition of "veteran" from the constitution and permit the legislature to redefine "veteran" as the changing times and circumstances require.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment providing $500 million in additional bonding authority for the veterans' housing assistance program and changing the definition of those veterans eligible to participate in the veterans' land program and the veterans' housing program by authorizing the legislature by law to define an eligible veteran for the purposes of those programs."

The amount of bonds outstanding at any one time would be limited to $500 million. The principal and interest that becomes due on such bonds in each fiscal year would be paid from amounts remaining in the interest and sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year, with the balance due to be appropriated from treasury revenues in the fiscal year when such amounts become due.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide financing assistance for the purchase of farm and ranch land."

PROPOSITION NO. 11 ON THE BALLOT

Hard to beat the humble sack lunch

Unless the sack lunch provides at least one-third of your daily food needs, it may not do much for you nutritionally, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist. According to nutritionist Marilyn Haggard, a sack lunch should contain two to three ounces of meat or other protein food; a cup of milk or plain yogurt or two thin slices of cheese; one or two slices of bread or a serving of cereal and a serving of fruit or vegetables to meet this nutritional requirement.

Risk management course for farmers

Managing risk is a key to the economic survival of farmers, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has planned a shortcourse to deal with that issue. The activity is October 1-3 at the Computer Training Center at Stiles Farm at Thrall, six miles east of Taylor on U.S. 79. Producers will be briefed on yield and price strategies, crop insurance, crop budgets, accounting reports, cash flow projections, whole farm planning, the market outlook, grain futures, commodity options and options hedging.

"A new era" in Texas proclaimed

"A new era" for Texas water has been proclaimed by the chief executive of the state water agency.

Larry R. Soward, executive director of the Texas Water Commission, has told each owner of wastewater discharge permit in Texas that he is prepared to uniformly enforce all provisions of state law which pertain to water quality matters.

In a letter which reached each of the permit holders this week, Soward said that he is "firmly committed to take whatever actions are necessary or appropriate to actively and aggressively enforce all rules, standards, orders, permits, licenses and laws under the jurisdiction of the Texas Water Commission."

Similar letters will be sent to owners of permits to withdraw water from the state's lakes and streams and to owners of permits to dispose of hazardous wastes.

"It is a new era in Texas," Soward said in explaining his letter. "Enforcement is going to be at the forefront of our efforts. We want everyone to know that we mean business."

On September 1, the Texas Water Commission assumed enforcement responsibilities relating to the protection of the state's waters. Those responsibilities had been under the jurisdiction of the Texas Department of Water Resources, which was abolished by the 1985 Legislature.

The Legislature also gave increased enforcement powers to the Water Commission. Hearings are now mandatory for permit holders who have been out of compliance with their permits for over four months. The Water Commission has been given increased power to levy administrative fines and civil penalties.

Soward called upon the holders of the permits to do their share to help him improve and maintain good water quality in Texas. He told the permit holders that he plans to be fair and uniform in the administration of the new responsibilities, but cautioned that he will not hesitate to fully use "whatever powers are available to me."

Soward assumed his duties September 1, but has served as acting executive director since July 3. His new executive staff has already assumed its responsibilities for water quality in the state.

Paul Hopkins is Chairman of the Texas Water Commission and Ralph Roming is a member of the three-person citizen Commission. Gov. Mark White on Wednesday appointed John Houchins of Houston as the third Commissioner.

Wait — ing first if it's alright. Call the animal control folks or the Humane Society folks or somebody. We have all the pets we need and can feed. Maybe those of us who have these unwanted pets dumped on us should just write down the license numbers of the vehicles that deposit these pets, load up the pets and take them back home.

Say, whats with the folks that left before the scrimmage was over Friday evening?

So the score was not one that we liked. It was the first game of the season and was against a team that was from a larger district and ranked higher.

It was not a district game and whether it was or not these boys don't need to look up at the home stands and see folks leaving in large numbers before the final bell rings.

Put yourself in their places and see how you would feel if your supporters walked out on you.

We have another game this Friday. Go to the game and help our boys. And stay with them regardless of the score.

See you at the game!

Former Wingate Man Sells Time

Editor's Note: This article was written and submitted by Mary Ann Slaughter who is the sister of Meira Slaughter Boggus. Ms. Boggus taught school at Winters High during the 1977-78 year.

Cloy Allen has a lot of time on his hands. But he's never bored.

Allen, a Temple resident who was born and raised in the West Texas hamlet of Wingate ("kind of a suburb of Winters"), retired from the U.S. Postal Service in 1972. In the years following his retirement, he said, he realized something.

"We Texans have got everything else, so I think it's about time we had our own time," he said—thus the inception of "Texas Time," a hand-made, Texas-shaped clock branded with a logo, stained, finished and ready to hang on the wall.

Time in Texas
"A Texan living in a different time zone or who travels a lot can sometimes have trouble keeping up with what time it is in Texas," he said. "I gave one of the prototypes to my grandson to take back to the North Carolina-Maryland area, and I told him to leave it set on Texas time."

"That way, he'll know what time it is in Texas and he won't be calling us so early in the morning."

Allen cuts the Texas-shaped pieces of wood in his own garage shop, using a variety of wood, including birch plywood, solid maple, yellow pine and maple plywood. He uses a plastic guide which he traced from a scale map in an encyclopedia, 80 miles to the inch, and which also is marked for the hanger and clock holes.

After the shape is cut, Allen puts a 3/8" bevel on the edge, then routs out the space for a quartz clock in the back.

Then he uses a woodburner to brand the Texas Time logo as the face of the clock.

Branding Iron
"I spent a week trying to make my own branding iron," he said, "using a piece of 3/4" brass and telephone wire from the old Wingate Post Office," which had been torn down. "I had to heat the wire and the brass on the burners of my wife's stove, and she didn't like it too much."

"The iron would have been heated with a propane blowtorch, but I just couldn't get all the letters level."

He displayed some pieces of wood on which he tried to use his homemade brand. Only portions of most letters were visible.

"It just didn't work very well," he admitted. "But now I've got a guy in Ohio working on a brand for me. Once I have it, it will really cut down on how long it takes to make a clock; the woodburning is the longest part."

After the logo—for which he has applied for a trademark—is put on, he adds a coat of stain and two coats of finish, then puts the clock in the back and adds the hands.

Finished Clock
The clock then is ready to set on Texas time and hang on the wall.

Allen said he is not interested in marketing the clocks himself; he wants to work out a contract with someone else to manufacture and sell them.

"I have guys in Austin and Killeen that are interested in marketing them," he said. "And a fellow in Buchanan Dam has agreed to cut the wood, so then all that would be needed is to brand them, put in the clock and finish them."

He added that as the Texas Sesquicentennial—the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Republic of Texas—approaches, he expects Texas time-pieces to be popular items.

"And I think they are going to be a really good seller at Christmas, particularly if people have out-of-state friends and relatives that keep waking them up with long distance phone calls," he said. "They can buy them some Texas Time, and they won't be bothered again."
