Wait a minute... By Kerry Craig

It's still raining-again. I know we shouldn't complain but, we have just about run out of places to put water.

In a couple of months, no doubt, we will be crying for rain.

The wheat farmers could do well with a few dry days to get their grain in, and there are some crops that still may need to be planted.

With the more than abundant moisture, we are enjoying humidity levels somewhat like other places than West Texas.

A Sunday afternoon drive around our county was most pleasant. The rains have left this normally dry country a beautiful green-and well worth a drive.

As most of us know by now, West Texas Utilities has taken steps to increase rates for electric service throughout its system.

I am not going to take either side in this issue. Both the consumer and the company will have many points for discussion on the proposed rate increase.

Our city council has called a public hearing on the issue for Monday evening in the Community Center. City officials are asking that we all show up and express our opinions.

Although they haven't mentioned it, the electric folks will most likely remind us of the last three rate changes in which they reduced the rates. They have mentioned that the giant, new power plant is now in operation and that now they must start paying their part of the tab for the new plant which will help insure adequate amounts of electric energy in the future.

These facts are true. It is also true that WTU is one of the more consumer-oriented utility companies around. And they are a bunch of good folks.

To the other side of the coin. In our community there are many of our neighbors that are living on fixed incomes, there are others who, due to the depressed economy, have had to severely limit themselves. These folks will find any increase in prices very difficult to handle.

The local industries have also been effected by the economy, and their rates are proposed to increase even more than the residential consumers. An increase here could mean an increase in the costs of goods produced by these industries.

The city will, if the new rates are allowed by the state regulatory agency, see the largest increase in the price of electricity. Our city uses electric motors to pump water to our homes from the lake and to pump waste water away from our homes to the waste water treatment plant. The cost for these services will, of a necessity, have to pass the increase on to the consumer. It will also cost more to light the streets at night.

As I said, there are two sides to the rate question and there might be some middle ground to work toward to help everyone.

The public hearing Monday can provide much needed information and facts for presentation to the Public Utility Commission in Austin, the agency that will have the final say-so on the rate issue.

Our community has joined with the other communities and cities served by the utility company to try and work on the rate question.

Our attendance at the public hearing will help their effort. It is something that we all are concerned with.

By the way. If your electric power comes from the rural electric coop and you think you will not be effected, think again. Your rural coop purchases some if its power from the same electric company and those rates will probably change too.

When I think of public hearings in the Community Center,

Fifth Was Best

Another highlight in the life of Winters was in 1951 when the Fifth Annual Rodeo featured homecoming and one of the best parades in the history as well as a great performance at Blizzard Field in rodeo events Saturday

Approximately 130 horsemen, the Winters High School Band, several commercial and organizational floats and a number of entries from the Lazy N Stables were featured in the parade Thursday afternoon and again Saturday afternoon when numerous others were added to feature the homecoming.

The stage coach built by J. R. Dry and Sons, drawn by six Shetland horses, an entry of Lazy N Stables, owned by John Norman, won first place in Thursday's parade; second place, another Norman rig, in which Mrs. Wilton Reynolds drove a white Shetland pony; and third place, the Girl Scouts of Winters Troop 3.

In Saturday's parade first place winner was the float of the Class of '28; second place,, Winters Home Demonstration Club, "A country doctor's flivver," driven by Mrs. John Shipman as the bearded country doctor; and third place, Nancy Norman, eight year old daughter of John Norman, riding in a miniature sulky, drawn by a Shetland pony.

Theme of the first place winner was a float displaying a large banner with the words "Life Begins At 40/we've heard"-Clas of '28. Members riding the float were Mrs. Gattis Neely, the former Marie Jones; Mrs. A. J. Smith of Anson, the former V. Marie Stephens; Robert and Mrs. Hord, the former Ora Louise Jordon of Midland, he was not a member; Mrs. Homer Swofford of Clyde, the former Gladys Graham; John and Mrs. Gardner, the former Mildred Spill; Roy and Mrs. Young, the former Kathleen Lamberth; L. Information on 260 tracts of 10:30 a.m. at which time the bidstate land included in an August ding will close. Any and all bids high bid sale of forfeited Veterans tracts is now available, Texas Land Commissioner Gary Mauro announced today.

Located in 105 counties across Texas, the tracts range in size from 10 acres in several counties to a 57-acre tract in Lamb

All tracts are available for a bid by eligible Texas Veterans and many of the tracts are available for bid by nonveterans. The interest rate to eligible Texas Veterans is 8.75 percent and the interest rate for the general public bidding on non-veteran tracts is 10.25 percent. Both will carry a 30-year assumable fixed rate loan. A $25 non-refundable bid fee for each bid submitted has been set by the board.

The Texas Veterans Land Board will finance the entire loan amount less 5 percent for both eligible Texas Veterans and the general public. There is no limit on the amount loaned.

A public reading of bids submitted to the Texas Veterans Land Board will be held on August 17, 1987 at 10:30 a.m. in Room 831 of the Stephen F. Austin Bldg. at 1700 N. Congress in Austin.

"I want to urge all Texans that have been looking for quality land to take advantage of this unusual high-bid sale. Everybody has an equal shot at winning under this arrangement," said Mauro, who also serves as chairman of the Texas Veterans Land Board.

"Naturally, there's an enormous interest in a sale of this kind," Mauro said, "so I urge you to get out as soon as possible, take a look at the tracts that interest you, and get your bid in."

The sale will be by sealed bid only with a minimum bid set by the Texas Veterans Land Board. All bids must be received by the board by August 17, 1987 at Williamson, Wise, Wood, Zavala.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen released a Library of Congress study

Saturday, June 6, indicating that a repeat of the 1973 Arab oil embargo would send the U.S.

The study demonstrates the need for an energy policy as a way to prevent another embargo, said Bentsen, who as

Chairman of the Senate Finance

Committee will play a key role

in coming weeks during the search for ways-including a fee on oil imports-to reduce the federal deficit.

"With the problems developing in the Persian Gulf, I had the Library of Congress do a study on what would happen if we had a repeat of their '73-'74 oil embargo," Bentsen said.

"The analysis showed that this economy of ours would go into a tailspin. That we'd lose around $700 billion in real income over five years. That you'd see inflation double. And that unemployment would go up by 25 percent," he said.

Bentsen requested the study in order to obtain some idea of how the economy will perform over the next five years and what might happen if it were subjected in 1987-88 to a rise in oil prices comparable to that of 1973-74.

The results, he said, make an important argument in favor of developing an effective U.S. energy policy.

"That tells us we must have an oil policy, and that the most effective thing we can do to stabilize our dependence on foreign oil and develop production in this country would be to implement an oil import fee," Bentsen said.

But he acknowledged the presence of strong opposition in other parts of the country and in Washington.

"Politically, that is very unpopular-and that's particularly true in the northeast and mid-west-and with the President dead set against it, it's quite a hill to climb," Bentsen

"But I'm still going to be pressing to see if we can get an oil import fee, and as Chairman of the Finance Committee, I'm in a key role to do something about it-if it can be done," he said.

Bentsen said an import fee also would aid in reducing the federal budget deficit. "In bringing down this budget deficit, there are no easy options. But one way to help would be an oil import fee-and in turn, you'd be buying yourself a little insurance," Bentsen said. "You'd be paying a small premium to see that the house doesn't burn down, to see that we don't have a disruption of our country's economy by a repeat of the 1973 oil embargo," Senator Bentsen said.

Consider wildlife when spraying mesquite

Many ranchers across the western half of Texas are planning or considering some aerial spraying for mesquite control in the next four to six weeks. According to Carl Smith of the SCS in Ballinger there will probably be more mesquite sprayed this year than in the last several years combined. The release of a new mesquite herbicide and the excellent growing conditions will convince many ranchers to do some spraying this year.

Wildlife biologists agree that proper use of herbicides and brush control can actually improve wildlife habitat while at the same time increase forage production for livestock. They warn however that excessive brush control or poorly planned patterns of control can seriously hurt wildlife populations for many years to come. Ranchers who consider wildlife an important resource and who want to maintain or increase their abundance will want to follow a few general rules when planning aerial spraying projects.

-1. Spray no more than half of the acreage in any one pasture. In some cases spraying even 30% is too much and in other cases, spraying up to 70% is acceptable, however, without an on-site evaluation by a biologist, landowners should stick to the 50% rule.

-2. Always spray in patterns rather than large blocks. Wildlife habitat is almost always improved when there is lots of "edge" area between openings and brushy cover. The use of treated strips has proven to be an easy and effective way of maximizing edge and retaining a proper distribution of cover, browse and openings. Alternating strips 300 - 500 feet wide of sprayed land and untreated land will achieve a proper balance in most situations.

-3. Leave all high value habitat areas in brush. Creeks, draws and arroyos and the 100 - 300 on the SCS office Ballinger.

foot wide area adjacent to these drainageways are usually prime wildlife habitat. In many cases they are essential to the needs of turkey and deer on a particular ranch. Where planned patterns cross such areas be sure that the contractor understands to leave them untreated, and that your are not paying for that acreage to be sprayed.

Indescriminant large scale spraying in blocks may be deterimental to quail, turkey and deer for many years. All broadleaved forbs (weeds) and woody plants are susceptible to damage or death by all of the bursh control herbicides used. Quail, turkey and deer are all absolutely dependent on these forbs for a major part of their diet. Forbs also provide the highest quality forage available to domestic livestock. While the annual forbs may reappear in one to two years, the more valuable perennial forbs and legumes may be reduced for a number of years due to a limited seed source.

The best browse plants such as hackberry, bumelia, sumacs, elbowbush, and oaks will also be killed or damaged by these herbicides. In addition to the loss of browse for deer and goats, cover will be reduced which may further hurt the habitat. Turkey are very vulnerable to herbicide damage to roost areas.

Smith emphasized the fact that wildlife are an important economic resource to many ranchers in Runnels County, and that proper brush control is important to the future of wildlife populations. The Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District also recognizes wildlife management as an important natural resource concern. Landowners wishing some on-site assistance in planning brush control patterns are invited to call

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

In his continuing efforts to maintain viable rural health care, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm was seated as a special member of a Congressional Select Committee reviewing problems in the health field.

The Stamford Democrat, who has introduced and co-sponsored bills in support of physicians and small town hospitals, was invited to join the House Select Committee on Aging for a hearing about rural health. The hearing is evidence of a growing concern for rural health care problems on Capitol Hill. Congressman Stenholm said he hopes the increased attention will translate into results that gives the federal government a better understanding of rural needs. The area congressman was pleased with the remark by a Department of Health and Human Service representative that the administration is considering the formation of an Office of Rural Health.

Congressman Stenholm said. "Because no one wants to be stranded without adequate health care available nearby, the current threat to rural health care is equivalent to a threat to rural America in general." He cited a study by the Texas Tech Regional Academic Health Care Center in which many medical statistics for rural areas are significantly negative when compared to those of urban areas. "We must stop assuming that we can develop national standards and procedures and expect them to work in every community across the country," he continued. "Whether it be in health care, education, business, welfare, or any other issue, simply down-sizing a successful urban model of anything does not mean that it will succeed in the rural setting.'

"We must develop a sensitivity to the unique realities - not inferiorities, but differences – of rural areas. It is encouraging to row boats were purchased to acsee these forums emerging. They are bringing these issues to light and will help in the sensitizing effort," he concluded.

Offering colleagues an opportunity to save $3 billion annually without loss of federal services, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm appeared before a House of Representatives panel in support of his legislation, "The Competition Savings Act

Camp Tonkawa dedication Sunday

Sunday, June 14, not only marks the opening day of the summer camping season of the Chisholm Trail Council but also is the day the newly completed bathhouse and swimming pool facility will be dedicated.

The time of the dedication ceremonies is set for 3:30 p.m. and will be held at the pool site. Scouting officials, Scouts & Leaders, invited guests, donors to the Capital Development Campaign, and the general public are invited to participate in the 15 minute ceremony.

The largest attendance in many years is anticipated for the summer camping season which will include Boy Scout camp, Cub Day Camp, Webelos Camp, and Junior Leader Training, and the Order of the Arrow Ordeal. Around 750 boys are expected to attend. Although a number of other improvements have been completed and will be ready for the camp opening, the swimming pool & bathhouse facility is the largest and most visible project. The total cost is approximately $160,000. Other projects recently completed are new latrine facilities for the campsites and a new roof and seating for the chapel. Additional canoes and

The legislation would require competitive cost comparisons between private business providers and some 500,000 federal employees now involved in "commercial" activities, activities which are not categorized as inherently governmental or are restricted due to national security.

In his testimony to the subcommittee, the fifth-term representative said, "If a given activity that the federal government wants conducted is commercial in nature, then both federal and private providers should welcome fair competition to determine who conducts it. The purpose of our bill is to require that such competitions do take place. The positive results of such competitions are not only logically obvious but are proven and documented."

Congressman Stenholm said, "The basic concept of conducting cost comparisons is sound management and good economics. The Smith-Stenholm Competition Savings Act is a bill based on the proposition that competitiveness is good for everyone-including the federal government."

During his presentation, the area congressman noted the considerable savings that could result from this bill. The General Accounting Office has reported that the Act could reduce the budget by $2 to $3 billion yearly, even while preserving critical federal programs and without sacrificing the quality of goods and services procured by the government. The bill is a successor to the Smith-Stenholm "Contract Savings Act of 1985", which was not acted on by the

All of these improvements have been made possible by the Donors to the Capital Development Campaign held in 1986.

For the first week of summer camp, starting June 14, Troops from Abilene, Sweetwater, Clyde, Haskell, Winters, Blackwell, Hawley, and Hamlin plan to attend. Larry Peabody wil serve as Camp Director and a staff of about 30 older Scouts and adults are at camp this week training, planning, and completing camp preparation.

Used vehicles donated to the tornado victims of Saragosa

Officials have begun distributing to Saragosa tornado victims the used cars, trucks and vans donated by members of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

The first vehicle drawn from the pot on Wednesday, June 2, was a 1983 Ford CLub Van, donated by North Central Ford at San Antonio that was given to the Ramirez family.

Almost half the 60 used cars, pickups and vans TADA donated to Saragosa residents were given away Wednesday at a county lot in Balmorhea by the drawing of lots by Representative Larry Don Shaw, D-Big

Bomber convicted in Dallas

DENNIS OLIVER FRALEY was found guilty yesterday in Dallas, TX, on each of three federal charges, involving the mailing of a bomb. The guilty verdicts were reached at the conclusion of a three-day jury trial presided over by U.S. District Court Judge A. Joe Fish.

Fraley, age 33, of Sciotodale, OH, was arrested by Postal Inspectors on April 2, 1987, for the mailing of a bomb which prematurely exploded at the Dallas Bulk Mail Center on February 21, 1987. The explosion, which did not injure any employees, caused extensive damage to mail processing equipment.

Postal Inspector in charge D.

C. Strader of Fort Worth said the bomb, which consisted of two pipes with black powder, a small propane tank, and a blasting cap, was concealed inside a parcel mailed from Shinnston, WV, and addressed to Fraley's former girlfriend in Copperas Cove, TX.

According to Kim Wade, Assistant United States Attorney in Dallas, Fraley is years in prison and a $30,000 minutes back in 1938.

The remaining cars and trucks will be distributed to Saragosa residents as the vehicles arrive in Balmorhea, replacing those vehicles destroyed by a killer tornado

Meanwhile, four motor transport companies and two automobile wholesalers have assumed responsibility for shipping most of the vehicles to the Saragosa residents - Texas Auto Carrier of San Antonio, J.J. M.A.C. "The response from our dealers and the auto transport companies and all others involved has been overwhelming," said Gene Fondren, president of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association which coordinated the project. "I expected a good response, but I never imagined it would be this enthusiastic."

All the vehicles should be in Saragosa within a week and "hopefully these people will be in a better position to begin putting their lives back together,' Fondren said.

The killer tornado that flattened the West Texas town May 22 left Saragosa residents with virtually nothing but the clothes they were wearing when the storm hit.

for the elderly

A total of 87 elderly Texas residents have been examined and treated for a potentially blinding eye disease related to diabetes in a public service program sponsored by the state's eye physicians and surgeons.

In addition, the program has uncovered more than 1734 cases of cataracts, 168 cases of glaucoma, and 369 cases of macular degeneration-serious eye disease that in many cases can lead to blindness. The project is designed to bring needed medical eye care and information to the nation's disadvantaged elderly.

Since it started in March 1986, more than 8610 Texas residents have called the toll-free Helpline 1-800-222-EYES (3937) of the National Eye Care Project, sponsored by the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the Texas Ophthalmological Association. Nationwide, more than 185,000 people have dialed the toll-free Helpline.

VA Questions & Answers

Q-I receive a Veterans Administration pension and each year I complete a questionnaire about my income. I just started drawing Social Security. Should I wait until I receive the next questionnaire to report this additional income?

A-No. You should report any new income immediately, to prevent an overpayment of your VA pension.

Q-My husband was killed in World War II while on active duty and was buried at sea. I never remarried and would like to be buried in a national cemetery. Is this possible?

A-Yes, the widow or widower of a member of the Armed Forces lost or buried at sea, or officially determined to be in a status of missing or missing in action, or whose remains have been donated to science or cremated is eligible for burial in a national cemetery.

Q-Am I required to occupy as a home the house I purchased with my VA home loan eligibility?

A-Yes. The law specifically requires that you certify that you intend to occupy the property personally as your home within a reasonable period of time in order for you to qualify for the loan.

The Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution was established by law to "promote and coordinate activities to commemorate" these historic events. The Commission's Chairman, former Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has called for "a history and civics lesson for us

Our Constitution, the world's oldest governing document, symbolizes our national ideals of freedom, justice and equal opportunity. Because it is the basis for our laws, our institutions and our liberties, public awareness of the origin and meaning of this governing document is crucial.

From public opinion polling and anecdotal evidence, it appears that the typical American's lack of knowledge of the history and provisions of the constitution is apalling. Therefore, the Bicentennial Commemoration will provide an opportunity to inform and educate, and to involve the whole nation in a rededication to the values of the Constitution and the political system that is run by "we the people."

As President Reagan said in his State of the Union address, "The United States Constitution is the impassioned and inspired vehicle by which we travel through history...

The strategy of the advertising campaign is to convince people that the Constitution affects them personally in many ways, and that their lives would be radically and negatively changed if we did not have the Constitution guarantees of rights and freedoms. #### Bentsen's Catastrophic Health Care Bill passes finance committee

Senator Lloyd Bentsen said ly home care for 45 days if they finanical catastrophe for elderly Americans who suffer lengthy illness.

The Senate Finance Committee, which Bentsen chairs, approved the bill 20-0 on Friday. It is a bipartisan measure providing catastrophic coverage under Medicare. It would cover all hospital and most doctor bills.

"This is the most significant, far-reaching change in the Medicare program since its inception in 1965. I want to see it become a law so that we can better protect our nation's older citizens," Bentsen said.

"It is particularly important to note that about 60 percent of America's elderly, who currently pay no income tax, would pay nothing but the flat premium for this additional coverage."

The catastrophic benefits are financed by combining a basic premium of $4 a month and a progressive supplemental monthly premium.

"During the Finance Committee's hearings over the past few months, we heard over and over that while Medicare has made a tremendous difference, it does not fully keep its promise of protecting older Americans from financial catastrophe when a serious and lengthy illness strikes," Bentsen said.

"Eight percent of our nation's senior citizens spend more than one-fourth of their income on medical care. Unless we act, nearly seven million Medicare beneficiaries who require hospitalization in 1989 will pay an average of $1,720 in out-ofpocket payments," he said.

Average out-of-pocket medical payments spread among all 31 million Medicare enrollees would be reduced by 22 percent - from $542 to $423 - in 1989 under the Bentsen bill. The bill would cap out-of-pocket costs at a maximum $1,700 in 1988 with the cap indexed in future years to the Social Security costof-living adjustment.

Other features of the bill provide that:

* Participants would be liable for no more than one inpatient hospital deductible each year, as opposed to as many as six under current law.

* Participants could receive dai-

Mrs. Martin Middlebrook used a Rainbow theme to install of ficers at the Z. I. Hale Museum meeting Tuesday.

At the business meeting the treasurer's report was given, which included $1,969.31 cash, $1,000 in building fund and $4,000 C.D. Buford Baldwin and Mrs. Leathers were appointed auditors.

Baldwin reported that the colored shields ordered for the flourescent lights had been installed.

Scott and White delivers set of two Quads in two years

Four baby boys born 13 weeks premature were delivered by cesarean section at Scott and White Wednesday (June 3) just before 4 p.m. to Peter and Cora den Harder, ages 31 and 30 respectively.

Mrs. den Harder, a patient in the Scott and White fertility clinic for the past three years, was admitted to the hospital approximately 4 weeks ago on May 6 when premature labor pains began. Doctors were able to stop the contractions with medications, and Mrs. den Harder remained at Scott and White on total bed rest and for observation until her membranes ruptured Wednesday morning (June 3). At that time it was determined that a cesarean section would be performed.

The quadruplets were delivered by Dr. Robert V. Cummings, director of the division of obstetrics, Dr. Jose Pliego, Scott and White fertility specialist, and obstetrics residents Dr. Andrew G. Mahaffey and Dr. William L. Rayburn.

Mrs. den Harder was 27 weeks pregnant at the time of delivery. The babies, born 13 weeks premature, can be expected to remain in the neonatal intensive care nursery for about 3 months, the approximate length of time they arrived early.

Born at 3:54 p.m. was Edwin Cornelus, 2 lbs. 1/2 oz.; at 3:55 p.m., Casper Johann, 1 lb. 131/2 oz.; 3:56 p.m., Gideon Peter, 2 lbs. 3/4 oz.; and at 3:57 p.m., Tobin Christian, 1 lb. 151/2 oz.

The den Harders came to Temple in 1980 from the Netherlands. Peter den Harder is plant manager for Materials Transportation Company (MTC) and Cora den Harder is a relief secretary at Scott and White in Temple.

The den Harders have no other children. They lost a very premature set of twins about two years ago.

The babies are in critical condition in the neonatal intensive care nursery at Scott and White.

First Quad Set Born In 1985 The first set of quadruplets born at Scott and White were two boys and two girls born 11 weeks premature to Robert "Robby", 25, and Terri Lynne Rucker, 23, of Nacogdoches, at 1:40 p.m. on Saturday, December 21, 1985.

The babies, Carly Frances, Baby A, born weighing 2 lbs. 11 oz.; Dustin Aaron, Baby B, 2 lbs. 14 oz.; Jeremy Ross, Baby C, 2 lbs. 13 oz.; and Savannah Elise, Baby D, 3 lbs. 2 oz. The Rucker quads were dismissed to a Nacogdoches hospital on January 29, 1986. The quads have returned for the past two years in May for the annual Children's Miracle Network

Telethon which benefits Scott and White pediatric services.

General Quadruplet Statistics The incidence of quadruplets is one in 700,000 births. As of 1985 approximately 25 sets of quadruplets had been delivered since the first set was recorded in 1890 in Fort Worth. However, not all of these babies survived, and some died at birth.

There are currently 160 sets of quadruplets, in which all four babies survived, still living in the United States.

A person or family cannot receive Social Security payments unless an application for them is filed, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

There are certain special times when a person should get in touch with the Social Security Office. For example, people should contact Social Security if they are unable to work because of an injury or illness that is expected to last, or has lasted, for at least 1 year; if someone in the family dies; or, if the worker, spouse, or a dependent child has permanent kidney failure.

In addition, a person should contact a Social Security office is he or she is at least 62 and plans to retire or is within 3 months of 65 even if there are no plans to retire, to arrange Medicare health insurance protection.

local government officials will consult in selecting projects for a $37 million bridge replacement program approved last month by the State Highway and Transportation Public Commission. "The commission recognizes the plight of the cities and counties in coping with bridge deficiency problems," said Robert C. Lanier, chairman of the highway commission. "This program is our way of responding to those problems.

"Together with city and county officials, the highway department will be selecting deficient bridges for possible replacement in this program," he said. "Special consideration will be given to structures that are on school bus routes and those that help local people avoid long, outof-the way detours," Lanier said.

Other things the state and local road officials will be looking at are volumes of traffic using bridges, condition of the individual bridges, and cost of replacement, he said.

The program will be financed using 80 percent federal funds earmarked for bridge replacement, matched with 20 percent local contributions.

The $37 million program authorized by the commission is 25 percent of Texas' total bridge replacement program for two

"We recently authorized a new Farm to Market Road program," Lanier said, and these programs traditionally have been formed after consultations between each of the highway department's district engineers and the commissioners court of each county in the district.

"We are putting this bridge replacement program on the same basis, and I expect that many of the highway department people and the city and county people will want to work on both these programs at the same time," Lanier said.
