Cleaning up

As the city-wide clean-up campaign got underway this week, members of the City of Winters Street Department were at work Tuesday with trucks, loaders and hands cleaning up rubbish and trash in the city. Work will continue through the week with a major, city-wide effort slated for Saturday.

For more information on the clean-up program, contact the Winters City Hall.

Winters Council okays dam rip-rap repair bid

The Winters City Council, meeting in regular session Monday, accepted the bid of Bailey Bridge of Abilene for the replacement of the rip-rap, or rocks on the face of the dam at the Winters lake.

City officials said that the rocks had washed off the dam sometime during the past year and the repair work need to be done to prevent erosion and washing on the front of the dam.

This is the second time such repairs have been necessary at the new lake. The first time the rocks had to be replaced was just a short time after the lake was completed.

City officials said that, in order to replace the rocks, a tall crane must be used to reach the damaged areas.

The winning bid, and the only bid received, specified an hourly rate of $150 for the crane along with a moving fee of $750 to get the equipment from Abilene to the Winters lake.

The rock to be used in the repairs has already been purchased by the city and is at the lake ready for use.

Members of the council and the city administrator met with representatives of the Winters Volunteer Fire Department and discussed a number of items including the expected visit this week of a representative of the Department of Justice concerning possible discriminatory practices in the election of new members to the fire department.

The council adopted a revised resolution concerning utility cuts in city streets, alleys, and sidewalks. The resolution requires prior approval from the city for such work along with the posting of a bond to insure the proper repair of the excavation.

As a matter of routine procedure the council conducted a public hearing on the annexation of Fairview Cemetery and Ted Meyer (City) Park into the city limits. Hearing no opposition to the move, the council took appropriate action.

The council also called a public hearing on the proposed annexation of U. S. 83 north and the right-of-way from the present city limits to Lakeview Cemetery and the annexation of the cemetery into the city limits.

Model rocket practice scheduled

There will be an opportunity for anyone interested in the practice launching of their model rockets Saturday, April 23 at 9 a.m. at the practice field adjacent to the football field. Each individual is responsible for their own supplies. A launching pad will be available. This is an opportunity to test their rockets before the Mayfest competition.

Softball tourney set

Mayfest '88, May 6-7, Softball Tournament games began at 6:30 p.m. on May 6. Saturday, May 7, beginning at 7 a.m. running all day.

Abilene couple held on charges of rape

Bonds of $25,000 each were set for an Abilene couple on charges of aggravated rape in connection with the sexual assault of an 18-year old Runnels County woman Friday.

The rape was said to have occurred near the Maverick Community, in far west Runnels County.

Held are Robert Phillips, 34, and his wife Lupe Phillips, 37. Sheriff Bill Baird said that the victim knew the couple but would not comment further on the arrests.

The couple were arraigned before Peace Justice Wilburn Davis, who set bonds of $25,000 for each. The two remain in the Runnels County Jail in lieu of bond.

Ballinger City Council rejects hospital request

Over an hour was spent in discussing the woes of Ballinger Memorial Hospital during the regular Monday meeting of the Ballinger City Council.

Representatives of financially-plagued Ballinger Memorial Hospital had requested that the council consider underwriting the sale of bonds for the hospital, to guarantee the bonds to bail the hospital out of the present financial crisis.

The mayor expressed his gratitude to the citizens who have undertaken to form a task force to work to help the hospital overcome its problems and resolve the difficulties the hospital is experiencing with the Ballinger doctors.

The mayor wished the task force "Godspeed" in their efforts, noting the importance of the hospital to the community.

In responding to the request from the hospital, the council told the hospital representatives that such a move (underwriting the bonds) would not solve the hospital's problems, that the hospital must cure its ills, not just bandage a wound.

The hospital was told that it must solve its basic problem of getting the doctors to use the hospital and that could not be done until differences were resolved and a line of communication was re-established.

The hospital's problems arose, apparently, from an inability of the hospital board to effectively communicate with the doctors about the time the hospital entered into a management agreement with a San Angelo hospital.

Since the first of the year, one doctor has ceased to use Ballinger Memorial and three other doctors have reduced the number of patients being admitted to the hospital.

The present financial crisis, directly resultant of the reduction in patient census, has left the hospital unable to meet payments on 30-day accounts, although payroll, utilities, and food were being paid.

The council said that what the hospital was requesting could not be done until the problems were resolved.

In other action, the council rejected the only bid received for lots advertised for sale because the amount bid was not enough to cover the back taxes due on

North Runnels Hospital to benefit from grant funds

As a member of the West Texas Rural Health Providers organization North Runnels Hospital will benefit from grant funds recently awarded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. West Texas Rural Health Providers is a network organization of 30 rural hospitals located throughout West Texas. The organization is dedicated to strengthening rural medicine and supporting rural health care facilities. The initial Robert Wood Johnson grant for the first year is $165,859.

Leighton E. Cluff, MD, president of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation said that the West Texas project is one of 13 projects funded under the Princeton, N. J. foundation's Hospital-Based Rural Health Care Program, a $9 million national initiative.

The initial one-to two-year grants to selected hospital networks are eligible for renewal. Over the course of the four-year program, grants are expected to average $650,000. Each group of hospitals also is eligible to apply to the foundation for up to $500,000 in low-interest loans to help upgrade or expand its services in rural areas.

"Rural hospitals are a vital part of their communities," said Cluff. "The grants will help them work together to expand their revenue bases, become more cost efficient, recruit physician and staff, and improve the quality of care they provide."

West Texas Rural Health Providers will use the funds to develop and implement a computerized management information system to help hospitals plan more efficient and cost effective operations. It also will develop rehabilitation units and nutrition and fitness programs at some member hospitals. The organization is located in Lubbock and its President is Gordon Russell, Administrator of Hi Plains Hospital in Hale Center.

In Winters we can expect to see initial efforts directed to developing a Health and Fitness program with initial emphasis on nutrition. This program will provide consultation to help with nutrition care programs as well as explore the possibility of providing medically indicated (diabetic, salt restricted) to members of the community.

Directed by Anthony Kovner, PhD, a professor at the New York University Graduate School of Public Administration, the national program also includes projects in: Eutaw, Ala.; Decorah, Iowa; Portland, Maine; Presque Isle, Maine; Tupelo, Miss.; Springfield, Mo.; Havre, Mont.; Reno, Nev.; Albany, N.Y.; Raleigh, N.C.; West Columbia, S.C.; and Prairie du Sac, Wis.

The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation became a national philanthropy in 1972. Since then, it has awarded more than $800 million in grants to improve health care in the United States.

Burk Burnett and the 6666 Ranch

After seeing the landmark structure with 6666 painted on the side and learning some of its history on the visit to the Ranching Heritage Center, the Young Farmers Tour group was eager to visit this ranch at Guthrie on the way home.
 Built in 1908, this huge barn was located on the famous 6666 Ranch begun in 1870 by Burk Burnett. The L is the 6666 horse brand. Replicated at the Center in 1982, the barn appears much as the original did when in active use. The interior has been changed, extensively, however, to create a theater for special events. It has a stage, piano, podium, plenty of chairs and a lot of space; naturally it is a popular place.

We departed Lubbock with our spirits high on Sunday morning, looking forward to our tour of the quarter horse operation on the 6666 Ranch at Guthrie.
 Young Burk Burnett was ten years old when his family migrated to Texas in 1859, and settled along Denton Creek. His father had a small herd of cattle and in 1867, Burk bought some cattle carrying the brand 6666. There is a colorful story about how Burk Burnett had won a big stake with 4 sixes in a poker game, but it seems that is all it was, a story Burk made several cattle drives to Wichita, Kansas. He bought and sold cattle and began investing in land near Wichita Falls.

During the 1880's, there was great expansion in land and cattle, in which he developed vast holdings. Burnett became friends with the Indian Chief Quannah Parker and at one time leased 300,000 acres of grazing land from the Indians.

After the turn of the century, the "Boss of the 6666," as he was commonly known, found himself with an oilfield and a boomtown named after him. The derricks crowded his cattle, so he moved farther out in Wichita County and into King County.

Burk Burnett died in Fort Worth in 1922. The present headquarters are at Guthrie in King County, but the 400,000 acre domain extends into Hutchinson, Wichita, and Carson Counties. It is still owned by heirs of Mr. Burnett and today is known for its modern quarterhorse operation.

Halfway on our trip to Guthrie Sunday morning, the wind began to blow and soon it was kicking up dirt. Before long it became a gale and we arrived in a cloud of dust. When Randall went in to inquire about our tour of the ranch he was told it was too windy, but the horses would be brought into the barn where we could see some of them.

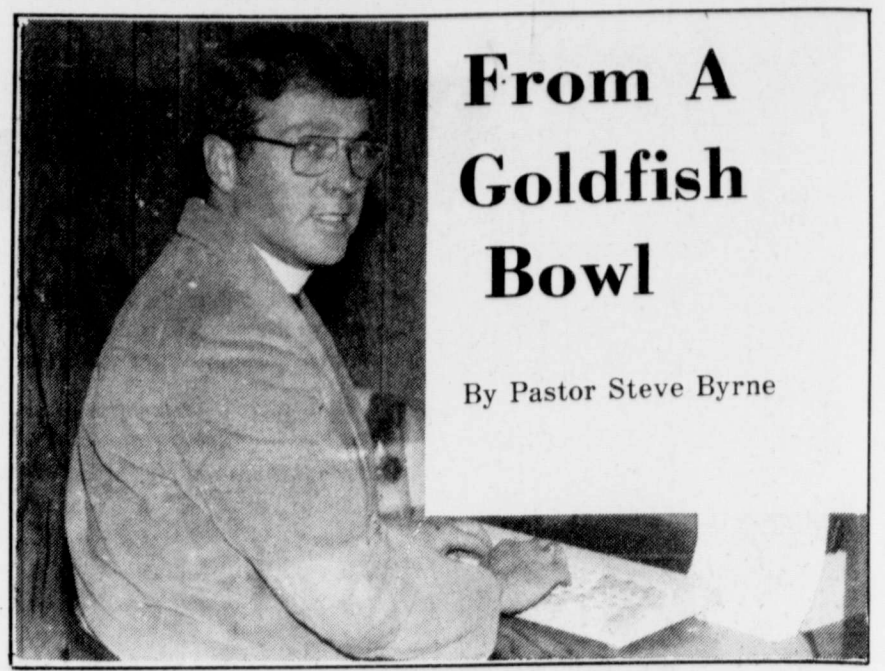

Fine quarter horses are raised here by artificial insemination. The veterinarian, Dr. Glenn Blodgett, showed us through the operating room, hospital and other facilities. He said their horses usually sold for $1500 or more. When he learned we were from Winters he said he had been in school with Jimmy Smith.

Lunch was served on a card table in the horse barn and it tasted just as good as any fancy meal we had in Lubbock. Our hostesses; Susan Conner, Linda Duggan and Jill Bredemeyer, served us sandwiches, chips and cookies.

The two prettiest horses we saw were "Preferred Pay" sired by "Dash For Cash", and "Peppy Tip" out of "Three Bars". The vet said his wife helped him name some of the ponies and they are good riding stock but not all thoroughbreds.

There was no shopping in Guthrie on our way home as we were promised—the only store was a company store run by the ranch and it was closed.

Randall Conner is responsible for the good background research in these articles and I am grateful for his help. Edna England and Anthony Lange took the excellent pictures that make a good story better—an my thanks to them. I almost finished by the time they took another trip this time to the Waggoner Ranch.

From A Goldfish Bowl

By Pastor Steve Byrne

Those of you who read this column with some regularity probably have figured out by now that the greatest blessing of my pastoral ministry is the people that I have known. I learn more from them than I ever teach. I feel like I have been inspired by people more than I have been an inspiration.

One such person was a lady named Emma. Emma was in her upper 80's. She lived in a little one-room house behind her daughter's home. Her life was simple. Loved to have company. But spent a lot of time alone.

Emma's mind was still working well. But her eyes had reached the point to where she couldn't read any more. Television was a blur; but she never liked TV much in the first place. It looked like a pitiful existence to me. Yet Emma was always cheerful, dare we even say, "happy?" I think so.

What she did with her time was to remember. And pray. She would sit alone and sing the liturgy that she had memorized. Since she had memorized it in both English and German, she had some flexibility to keep this practice from becoming monotonous.

Emma would recite passages she had memorized from Scripture. The promises of God mostly. The verses that your confirmation pastor made you memorize under threat of terrible things. Sometimes it was parts of the Small Catechism or her favorite hymn.

I got the feeling that she knew something the rest of us didn't. That in the midst of losing all those things we think we need to have any kind of life, she had found peace. She had a continuous close walk with God. Emma was an inspiration.

At one time, I didn't believe in making confirmation students memorize much. It was too hard. You didn't have parental support for such things that you used to when all social life centered in the church. And what good was it, anyway?

Emma changed all that. If we are fortunate to live that long, all of us may find ourselves immobile and alone. Without that firm foundation of certain memorized hymns, Scriptures, liturgies, prayers, where is our comfort going to come from? Now our confirmands have a lot of memory work. I hope it will be an arsenal of solitude into times in the arms of God.

If you get a chance, thank that Sunday School Teacher that insisted you memorize a Bible verse every Sunday. Or that confirmation teacher who threatened you with everything sort of physical death to get you to memorize that Catechism. They really did it for you. Just ask Emma.

ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE PERTAINING TO THE EXCAVATION OF STREETS, ALLEYS, SIDEWALKS OR PUBLIC HIGHWAY OF THE CITY AND REPEALING SECTION 4 - 54 OF CHAPTER 4, CODE OF ORDINANCES, OF THE CITY OF WINTERS, TEXAS.
Section 1. Permit - Required.
It shall be unlawful for any person to make any excavation or opening in any street, alley, sidewalk or public highway of the city without first obtaining a permit from the city administrator allowing such excavation.
Section 2. Same - Application
An application for a permit required by section 1 above shall be made to the city administrator and state clearly the location of the street, alley, sidewalk or highway in which it is proposed to make such excavation; the exact location in the street, alley, sidewalk or highway wherein it is proposed to make such excavation; and the person who proposes to make such excavation.
Section 3. Same - Bond required.
The city administrator shall estimate the probable cost of replacing soil, base material, cold mix or concrete which may be removed from any public street, alley, sidewalk or highway, and shall require the applicant to file a written bond in an amount sufficient to cover such cost conditioned that the street shall be restored in as good condition as it was before the excavation or the opening therein was made. Such bond shall be received and approved by the city administrator. If the applicant elects to do so, he may make a cash deposit in such sum as may have been fixed by the city administrator in lieu of the written bond.
Section 4. Same - Issuance
When the bond or deposit required in section 3 shall have been accepted by the city administrator, he shall then issue a permit for the excavation or opening named in the application, and the applicant may then proceed with the work in the exact location named in his application, and in no other place.
Section 5. Same - Protection of public.
It shall be the duty of any person making any excavation in any street, alley, sidewalk or highway of the city to adequately and sufficiently protect all such excavations by barricades or other obstructions, including not less than one red light on each side of such excavation during the nighttime, so as to prevent accidents or injury to persons or property until such time as such excavation is passable and approved by the city street superintendent.
Section 6. Supervision of work.
All work of excavating or making any character of opening in any of the streets, alleys, sidewalks or highways of the city shall at all times be under the supervision of the city street superintendent, and the person doing such work shall do the same in the manner directed by the city street superintendent to the end that the streets and highways of the city shall not be unduly disturbed and traffic thereon obstructed.
Section 7. Duties upon completion of work.
After an excavation or opening shall have been made, the person so making it shall backfill the same with such materials and in such a manner as the city street superintendent may require, and leave the street or highway in at least the same condition as it was before the opening therein was made.
Section 8. Acceptance, inspection of completed work
The conditions of the bond required by section 3 shall not be considered to have been complied with until the city administrator shall have accepted the street, alley, sidewalk or highway as being in good condition. In the event the person making the opening shall fail to leave the street, alley, sidewalk or highway in a good state of repair, satisfactory to the city administrator, the city administrator shall call upon the bondsmen to pay for the cost of repairing such street, alley, sidewalk or highway; provided, however, in the event of a cash deposit instead of a bond, the city administrator may proceed to have the street, alley, sidewalk or highway put in a good condition, paying for the same out of the deposit made with him, and if there is any remainder of the deposit after paying for such work, such remainder shall be refunded to the person making the deposit.

Section 9. Contracts with utility companies.
This ordinance does not apply to contracts which the City might enter into with utility companies to repair excavations in city streets, alleys, sidewalks or highways.
Section 10. Person defined.
The word "person" and all personal pronouns used herein shall be held to apply to and include partnerships, firms and corporations, as well as individuals.
Section 11. Penalties.
Any person who violates any provision of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as provided in sections 1 - 4 of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Winters.
Section 12. Repeal of ordinances.
Sections 4 - 54 of the Code of Ordinances, City of Winters, are hereby repealed along with any and all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith.
Section 13. Severability.
If any section, or any part of any section of this ordinance shall be held invalid for any reason, such invalidity of any section hereof, or any part of any section hereof, shall not affect the validity of the remaining sections or portions of sections of this ordinance. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after final passage and legal publication as required by the Charter of the City of Winters, Texas.

Dear Bob Bullock: I am a city employee in Texas, and I need to determine the taxability of two services provided by some cities—moving vacant lots for a fee for lot owners and providing police reports and birth certificates to the public.
J. S.

Dear J. S.: Charges for the first service provided by the city, mowing vacant lots for owners, is always taxable. In instances where the city contracts with a private mower to mow lots, the charge is still taxable. Charges made by the city for providing police reports are not taxable since these reports contain information that is public record. Charges for copies of certified birth certificates are also not taxable.

The picky panda: Of the 20 bamboo varieties, the giant panda eats only five. And only certain parts of those plants at certain times. According to International Wildlife magazine, only bamboo stems are on the menu in spring. At other times, pandas prefer the leaves and shoots. Researchers believe the animal alters its diet because of seasonal changes in the parts of the plant that are most nutritious and taste the best.

Petroleum predictions: A 15 year old study of America's energy needs had presented a sobering vision of the future. It predicted the nation's energy use would rise almost 20 percent by the late 1980s. But according to International Wildlife magazine, energy use in the U.S. has actually fallen. The effects of energy conservation are being felt worldwide as well with savings totaling some 250 billion dollars a year.

Also qualifying was Jack Hood who will run the 3200 meters and 1600 meters at Big Spring.

"The team made a great effort at this meet and I was proud of each of our young men. I feel we made great strides this track season in getting our young men to compete and compete hard. I look for only good things to come in the future."

Tennis players advance to Regionals

The Winters Girl's Tennis Team played well in the District tennis tournament at Brownwood. In Jr. High play the team of Kim Deike and Carrie Smith finished in second place. In single play Michelle Carter also advanced to the championship round and finished in second place. In varsity action the double team of Lynda Billups and Julie Wheat finished fourth as they were defeated by the Wall team in Consolation play. The #1 Double team of Landa England and Tammy Belew won the doubles championship in a marathon match. Cross Plains won the first set 7-6 after the tie breaker. Cross Plains led the second set 3-1 before Winters started their come back and won 5 of the next 6 games for a 6-4 set win. The third set ended 6-6 and had to be played out until a team won by 2 games. The teams battled to a 7-7 time before Winters could put two wins together for a 9-7 championship. The remarkable thing about the match is it lasted for 3 hours and 21 minutes.

In boys play Brandon Boles finished second in singles play losing to San Saba. The consolation match was decided by the two Winters teams of Jay Cowan/Monte Baker and Lance Brown/Shane Rice. In varsity play Bryan Green and James Self lost to San Saba. The team of Nathan Smith/Brent Green defeated Jim Ned in their first match before losing to a very good San Saba team in round two.

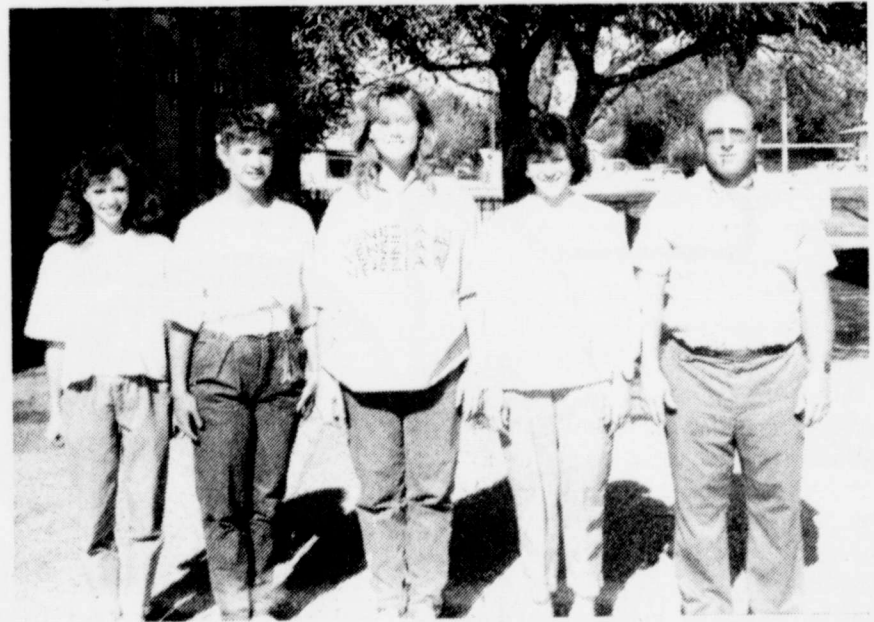

Varsity Girl's District results

The District Track Meet was Friday in Wall. Our girls did an excellent job and I was very proud of them. We had three girls qualify for the regional meet. Tracy Grantham in the 100 m. hurdles, Melanie Smith in the 400 m. and Heather Brown qualified in the discus. Our overall standing was 6th place which doesn't sound impressive at all, but the real fact is, the girls ran the best they could have possibly ran. We had a dropped baton on a relay that cost us third place overall, because the point standings

Point totals included the following: Wall 173, Coleman 153, Bangs 56, Goldthwaite 52, Cross Plains 50, Winters 48, Jim Ned 26 San Saba 0.

School

Little Red school house is as loud as a mouse. It sleeps at night and squeaks in the day. Everyone has fun at school when the sun is out. I like to sing and write my name, too. When the bell rings I'm always here and when it stops I am nowhere to be found. I like the way it sings along when ever we creep away, and you know that no other school can be the same.

R. C. YOUNG SORGHUMS

CATTLEMAN'S CHOICE

Cattleman's Choice is an inexpensive grazer. A 3-way cross it would be ideal for set aside acres, grazing or bailing. It sells for $20.00/cwt.

ORO G HYBRID SORGHUM

This medium-season hybrid is designed for maximum grain production in areas where the greenbug is a pest. In addition to resistance to the biotype C Greenbug, ORO G possesses good resistance to head smut and tolerance to MDMV. These levels of resistance combined with excellent yield capacity give ORO G a superior hybrid rating. Good standability under a variety of conditions make this hybrid a good producer under dryland or irrigated production. The large open head of bronze grain dries quickly, and it consistently rates high in bushel weight. A short, stout stalk enables ORO G to stand well under a variety of conditions.

KOW KANDY

Cattle show a grazing preference for KOW KANDY because its high protein and sugar levels enhance its palatability. KOW KANDY is a superior multi-purpose sorghum-sudangrass for spring and summer production. This excellent forage crop, with its sweet, juicy stalk and abundant succulent leaves is a very palatable and nutritious livestock feed. It produces excellent results when used for pasture, green chop or hay production, and when fed in large or conventional bales. Fast and abundant regrowth make KOW KANDY a maximum TDN producer. Its rapid regrowth and drought tolerance enable this superior hybrid to produce several cuttings per season.

Runnels-Tom Green County Entomologist resigns

Amanda "Mandie" Armstrong England, well known Extension Entomologist serving Runnels and Tom Green Counties will resign her post effective April 30 according to District 7 Extension Director, Ken Cook. Cook in accepting the resignation said, "We in Extension have always felt that Mandie was one of the very best people that the Extension Service has ever hired and we have great admiration for her professional abilities and dedication to our programs."

Mrs. England assumed the post she is leaving in 1979 after completing a M.S. degree in Entomology from Texas A&M University. She was recently presented with a special award at the Annual Runnels County Ag Day held March 8 in appreciation of her tireless effort to agriculture in Runnels County. The award citation was read by Randall Conner of Winters who serves on the Runnels County Crops Committee. Conner related that the entomologist was a key figure in developing tremendous scouting and integrated pest management programs for this area. These two programs are touted as being among the finest of their kind anywhere. She has worked with area farmers on an individual basis and in large and small meeting settings. Conner noted that she has always been tremendously dedicated to her job and very knowledgeable in her work. He emphasized that her enthusiasm is an inspiration to all who work with her. "She's the only one I know that can get farmers out to their pickups and down on their hands and knees in a cotton field to look for insects."

Mrs. England was recently married to Lanny England, a cotton and grain producer from Winters. The couple plan to spend more time concentrating on the England operation, however; Mandie relates that she still plans to continue with some insect scouting.

A number of new pioneer skill demonstrations have been added to those featured in the past. Among those available for visitors to watch and, at times, participate in are grain grinding, hoe cake making, rope braiding, weaving, spinning, quilting, sausage stuffing, top spinning and apple doll making. Displays of handmade brooms and folk medicine will also be featured. Many of these skills have been demonstrated at the Texas Folklife Festival by Cisco Civic League members for the last several years. The Civic League sponsors the Cisco Folklife Festival to raise funds for community improvements.

Dancers, actors, and musicians of all kinds will be featured in the entertainment tent. A Fowl-Flyoff will pit brave birds and their even braver owners against each other for prizes totaling over $400 in cash.

On that occasion, there was a parade in Winters in which school bands in Runnels County and, other bands marched, costumed individuals and groups, floats, and modes of travel presented Runnel's County's history.

Present were people who helped to make us proud of our county. Among them was David Guion, noted composer and son of Judge John I. Guion, one of the earliest and most influential citizens of Ballinger and the county. With him was his niece, Kathleen Lasater, who sang as he played "Home, Home On The Range," and others of folk music which was a part of the growth of this county which he transposed into piano compositions or orchestrations.

The parade was the beginning of a county wide tour of Ballinger, Rowena, Miles, Maverick, Norton, Blue Gap, and as many historic places in the county as they could visit that day. Mrs. Poe showed slides made where these gatherings took place, also of school, plants, churches, hospitals, libraries, and homes of particular architectural design or where history had been made.

Of visitors attending the meeting was Jerome V. Ray of Stephenville, Texas who is one of the Gray-haired Legislators of our district. He explained the role of these legislators and said the Texas legislators understand their reasons for being and value their in-put regarding the welfare of older citizens of Texas.

After the meeting was adjourned some lingered to view some of the exhibits. Also they toured the old hotel across the street which is being restored and will become the site of Hale's Museum.

Metroplex resident dies in hunting accident

A 35-year old Irving man was apparently shot to death Sunday while hunting wild turkeys on the Smith Ranch about six miles west of Paint Rock, in Concho County.

The Runnels County Sheriff's Department investigated the death because the body was brought to the Runnels County Jail.

Sheriff Bill Baird said that Paul Phillely died about 8 a.m. Sunday after being shot in the chest with a .22 magnum rifle by his hunting partner, Larry Howard, 47, of Arlington.

The sheriff said that Howard apparently mistook Phillely for a turkey.

The sheriff said that he believed the shooting was accidental and that no charges would be filed in connection with the incident.

Letter to the Editor

(The following was recently sent to the City of Winters Street Department in recognition of that department's work in maintaining the cemeteries. Although the Lions Club undertook a project last year to work on the cemeteries, the street department has provided the day to day maintenance at the cemeteries. — Editor

Mr. Charles Grenwelge
 City of Winters
 Winters, Texas

Dear Charles:

We want to express our appreciation to you and your crew for the excellent job you did last year in maintaining the cemeteries.

The work in cleaning, removing old trees, and mowing resulted in the best appearance the cemeteries have shown in years.

We appreciate the extra work you do to make our community look nicer.

Sincerely,

Don Johnston, Secretary

Wee Care School to pre-register May 5

the property.

No action was taken on a request for use of the old community center at the Carver School for recreational purposes. The council noted that no one appeared to speak on behalf of the request.

Approval was given, along with authorization to the relocation of the shooting range at the city lake.

The council heard a request from Police Chief Paul Boggess for the city to reimburse Runnels County Crimestoppers $600 for funds used for information concerning a drug-related case.

Action could not be taken on the request because the request was not on the official agenda for the council meeting.

Special Olympic results

The Runnels County Reds participated in the Area 14 Special Olympics track meet on Friday, April 15. They did a great job!

Otis Liggins won first place in the Junior Division pentathlon. He also carried the torch in the opening ceremonies and was interviewed by KTXS TV (Channel 12) Friday afternoon.

Sammy and Otis, along with five other athletes from Ballinger, will compete at the State level in the Chapter Games May 25-27. This competition will be held at Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Parents of children who will be four or five, (for Pre-Kindergarten or Kindergarten) on or before September 1, 1988 should bring a birth certificate and immunization records to the elementary school business office in order to pre-register their child. Those students not enrolled in Kindergarten and who will be six (6) on or before September 1, 1988, should also register for the first grade.
