A DELIGHTFUL DAY

The editor and wife spent last week end in "the land that is flowing with milk and honey"—we spent Sunday in Hamlin. Not in many years has the Hamlin country had such fine crops as this year. The cotton acreage was large—this meant large government checks for plowed up cotton. The yield of the cotton that was left was great and the fair prices meant great sums of money to the cotton growers and the country at large. The fields of plowed up cotton were planted to feedstuffs—and such yields! The rains came just right and the fine fall weather made the maize, kaffir corn, cane and other feed crops to produce a yield almost unbelievable.

The editor and wife journeyed to Hamlin in response to an invitation from relatives and a dear good friend of the long time ago to be with them through Sunday in an all day Thanksgiving program at the Baptist church of that city.

Rev. J. H. Littleton is pastor of the church in question. For nearly ten years he has led this congregation in that capacity—and to state that he is loved and believed in by the members of his congregation expresses the fact but mildly. During these years he has led the congregation in erecting a magnificent modern brick structure as a place of worship.

Rev. Littleton stated at the outset of the day's program, it was the first all-day meeting the congregation had undertaken as a congregation during the years of his relations with them. Due to the unprecedented crops and excellent material sent upon the altar of an God had sent upon Hamlin and its section of country he felt it was meet for the congregation to have such an all day program as they had planned.

Following the Sunday school at the usual hour the pastor brought a Thanksgiving message that was instructive and inspirational, based on some scripture with a rehearsal of the first Thanksgiving by the Pilgrim Fathers.

Following the sermon an unusual scene followed, the like of which the writer has not witnessed in a long time. The pastor stated to the congregation frankly that the church needed an additional thousand dollars above the subscriptions of the church members, to take care of its work; that he felt because of Mrs. W. S. Edwards was born October 9, 1860, and departed this life at the home of her son, George Edwards at Maverick, Thursday, December 7, 1933, making her to be seventy-three years old when death called her.

Interment was in the Norton cemetery, following religious services by Rev. Lewis Stuckey which were conducted at the home.

Deceased was the mother of eleven children—eight boys and three girls. Four sons and one daughter survive to mourn her going. Her husband preceded her, dying November 16, 1930.

Deceased had been a consistent and devoted member of the Baptist church for many years. The Enterprise extends sympathy to the sorrowing.

W. L. STEPHENSON DIES

W. L. Stephenson of Tennyson died at the family home, four miles east of Tennyson, Thursday night, December 7, 1933. This morning as we are preparing to go to press arrangements are being made for burial in the Bronte cemetery this afternoon, following religious services at the Baptist church.

A biographical sketch of this good man will appear in next week's issue of The Enterprise.

LA MODE AT SAN ANGELO TO HAVE NEW QUARTERS

One of the most important business changes that San Angelo will have with the beginning of the New Year, perhaps, will be that of the La Mode, the popular exclusive ladies' store of that city.

The La Mode will move into down town quarters, in the very heart of the business section of the city immediately after the New Year opens.

The La Mode is one of the old business institutions of San Angelo. It is owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. Deason. The La Mode was first established in the center of the business district. But a few years ago when conditions became such that Mr. and Mrs. Deason believed an exclusive ladies' department store carrying only high class merchandise would meet with popular approval, out in the seclusive popular residence district, erected an elegant and elaborate building far out on Beaugard avenue—and they were not wrong as to their conclusions.

mode are convinced that another altogether new era in the country has come, especially with reference to the demands of the buying public—and that is that a store catering to the ladies only as to wearing apparel must be in the heart of the city. Especially is this true of those who travel long distances as the people do in this country to go to San Angelo to do their shopping.

Hence, looking to the end of moving back to the center of the business section of the city the La Mode has inaugurated a pre-removal sale and has thrown everything in their varied lines of feminine wear on the market at almost unheard-of prices. The La Mode has an announcement in this issue of The Enterprise quoting just a few prices which show the bargains that are being offered in this pre-removal sale.

Mr. Deason speaking to The Enterprise editor with reference to moving back to the business center of the city and with reference to the sale now in progress said:

"We greatly appreciate our friends in Coke county and the entire Bronte country, and we not only invite them to visit us during this sale, but we also desire to say to the ladies all over the San Angelo trade territory, outside of San Angelo, that we are moving back to the business center purely for their accommodation. Therefore, we want them to watch for announcements with reference to our new location just after the new year opens and always visit us in our new place."

The Enterprise is pleased to state to our lady readers that we visited the La Mode the other day and found, as usual a splendor of high class merchandise that is absolutely new and seasonable—and the prices speak for themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Deason will be pleased to have you visit them during this sale.

NOBLE YOUNG WOMAN DIES

When the intelligence of the death of Mrs. Hortense Boelsche which occurred in Balinger, Saturday night, spread over the country Sunday morning, there was sorrow in an uncounted number of hearts in this part of West Texas. For she was known and loved by many for her beautiful traits of character.

She was the daughter of W. A. Holt of that city and the adopted daughter of her aunt and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. King of that place. Her mother died shortly after deceased was born and her uncle and aunt took her and she became to them as dear as if she had been their own baby girl.

Deceased was a member of the Baptist church and through the years of her young womanhood she took an active interest in the work of the young people of her church. Having attended the young people's meetings of her church at different places and on many occasions she became a favorite young woman with all who came to know her.

Last year she was married to Dr. E. H. Boelsche on August 11. A week before she died an infant baby was buried and now the little mother sleeps beside her babe. Indeed, a queenly woman just in the morning of life, who with her husband had dreams and plans and purpose in life, fair as heaven itself into all of which doting loved ones entered with her and her young husband. But, now alas!—how different! But, He Who Knows Best controls the destinies of us all. May divine comfort be granted to the bereaved.

Creek is in a San Angelo hospital in a serious condition. His trouble is kidney stone and other complications. The surgeons in charge are trying to build him up to where he can undergo an operation, which they will perform Saturday if he is able to submit to it. The many friends of Mr. Rutherford and

D. K. GLENN BUYS THE CITY CAFE

The first business ownership change at the close of the old year and as the new approaches in Bronte that The Enterprise has to chronicle is that of the City Cafe.

D. K. Glenn has bought this cafe business from Frank Grimes and assumed charge of same.

The City Cafe was owned and operated for a number of years by Mr. Grimes. He built the patronage of the City Cafe to a large volume for a town the size of Bronte.

"D. K." as all his many friends call Mr. Glenn, is one of Bronte's popular young business men. He is steady in his habits and is a hustler—hence, it is expected by all that he will build the City Cafe to even greater popularity.

Speaking to The Enterprise relative to his venture Mr. Glenn said he was going to give the very best there is in him to make the City Cafe a place of a kind that will be appreciated by everybody. "I will close at 10 o'clock on Sunday mornings till 11:30 o'clock—then I will open my place and serve Sunday dinners. This will be a convenience for families who will attend church and will not want to go to the trouble of preparing lunch. I have always been for Bronte and, now, naturally, I am more interested in the town and its growth and development than ever. So I want my business and myself counted in the affairs of Bronte and its community."

Mrs. E. T. Holman and son, Loyd, were business visitors in Angelo Thursday.

family in Bronte and at Oak Creek are anxiously hoping that he may pass through the ordeal successfully and speedily come back to normalcy and health.

I'M LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

By Roy Leslie Crawford

I'm a peaceable man, get along if I can,
And never trouble trouble till he troubles me;
I will run from a fight, even when I'm right,
So I'm easy to get along with, don't you see?
But trouble will always be after me,
He seems to chase me everywhere I go;
I run very fast, but he gets me at last,
How to get away from him I would like to know.
Since trouble finds me, and I cannot see
Any way to keep him from coming to my door;
I'm going out, and put him to rout,
So he'll never come around me any more.
There's power in a look, and I've read in the Book,
"Resist the devil and from you he will flee."
So I'm off to the chase, I'll look him in the face,
I'm looking for him before he comes looking for me.

Community Talks

BY ULMER S. BIRD

WHY NOT?

The only permanent relief in this or any other country is going to be something that gives the people a better chance to make a living.

Jobs grubbing out a road right-of-way, or working on a street will help, but when it's over, it's all over, without a great deal of permanent improvement to show for the money expended.

Why not dam up these creeks and gullies so as to keep this rich soil on this land and make it possible for more people to make a living on this soil?

Thousands of dollars of wealth is washing down these gullies and leaving the land poorer every year.

Every long draw ought to have several big tanks on it, every creek several dams, even if the river is never dammed. This would help solve our stock water problem, would provide for irrigating small gardens, and would keep our soil from leaving the country.

Why not some kind of Federal aid for this kind of work?

Landowners should do a lot of this themselves, but if the government is going to put money out anyhow, this kind of work would help keep people from needing relief in the future.

The country could then support more renters, and each renter would have a better chance to make a living. And the landowners would be benefitted at the same time.

SHELLED PECANS AND DISEASE

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 7.— Pecans, the favorite nut of thousands of people, may be a source for the spread of disease, according to E. C. Koerth, Director, Bureau of Food and Drugs. The pecan itself is not to blame, but the manner in which it is shelled and later handled is the cause for this warning.

The shelled pecan industry has assumed large proportions in the last few years and the shellers in other states have attacked the Texas product on the ground that the shelled nuts are not handled in a sanitary manner. The large packing houses that have the nuts shelled in their own packing plants maintain a satisfactory standard of sanitation. The evil of the shelled pecan industry is where pecans are taken to individual homes where no supervision is possible.

Many Mexicans, Negroes, and a few whites do this work at home, with at times the neighbors coming in to help them out. It is possible for the communicable diseases to spread by shelled pecans, and for that reason it will be to the public's advantage to ask where the pecans were shelled and under what conditions. The food inspectors of the State Department of Health have investigated the home shelling of pecans for hire and report that many homes where this work is done are most unsanitary.

All persons engaged in shelling pecans should have a health certificate the same as any other food handler. The purchaser should demand that the pecans they buy shall have been shelled by such a person and handled in a sanitary manner and under supervision to lessen the chances for the spread of tuberculosis, colds, dysentery, typhoid, and other diseases.

Do You Believe It?

The Texas Outlook, state for this best believe "Not" of the season: A farmer hung his vest on a fence in his back yard. A small calf chewed up a pocket in which was a gold watch. Seven years later, the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for beef and the timepiece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration had kept the stem-winder wound up and the watch had lost only four minutes in seven years.—Scurry County Times.

MRS. B. R. KING HOSTESS TO DEMONSTRATION CLUB

To The Enterprise:
 The North Norton Demonstration Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. B. R. King, Monday November 27. Fifteen members were present. The meeting was opened with a prayer and song appropriate for Thanksgiving. Several members answered roll call by reading clippings why we should be especially thankful at this time. Mrs. Joe Caswell, the president, gave a report on the Council Meeting which was held at Ballinger Saturday, November 25. Plans were discussed for securing a play to be given in order to raise funds for the treasury, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Bus Loyd, Mrs. Myrtle Kelly, Mrs. Fay Boyson, and Miss Holland Murphy was appointed to select the play and characters.

After the business session, Mrs. Grover Murphy gave an interesting demonstration on pecan canning, at the close of which hot chocolate and doughnuts were served.

Stuffed toys for Christmas gifts will be the special feature of the next program, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Bus Loyd on December 11.

MARRIED

Saturday afternoon, November 25, 1933, in the home of the editor, in the presence of a few who had gathered in the home, Mr. Ernest Harris and Miss Mildred Cook, both of Blackwell, were united in marriage, the writer officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cook and is one of the popular young ladies of that community.

The groom is one of Blackwell's sturdy young men and is to be congratulated in his winning the one he has as his companion through life.

The Enterprise joins with the friends of these two young people in wishing them every blessing in life as they set sail together.

"Gram'pa" and "gram'ma" R. McCleskey just don't hardly know how young they are. They received the first picture of their only grandchild the other day—the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCleskey of San Marcos. The young man is four months old and tips the beam at seventeen pounds. He looks like a prize winner of a baby food contest. His name is Master Jack Morris.

C. L. Barron is now a full-fledged citizen—he has become a subscriber to "the old home town paper," paying cash in advance, for which we thank him. Lots o' room in and around Bronte for more people like Mr. and Mrs. Barron.

TODAY, SON

Donald: "Mother, more yesterday." Mother: "Cold weather does interfere with school, Donald, but I'm glad you can get there—thanks to our car." Donald: "But, mother, nearly all the other boys who were absent could come in cars but their folks don't even try to use them in cold weather—'cause they can't get them started." Mother: "Maybe, dear, they don't use the right gas and oil—that's practically the only difference between our car and many others. Understand, Donald, people are careless—they fail to get penetrative oil—found only in Germ Processed Motor Oil made by Conoco. Cold oil, even winter grade, unless it is right, makes it hard for the starter to revolve the motor. Conoco Oil helps motors turn over easily and then the Conoco Bronze Gasoline acts at the first spark and the motor starts at once."

Donald: "Mother, I should think the school board would make all parents use Conoco." Mother: "They couldn't do that, Donald, but it would be a good idea if the parents themselves would find out why their cars wouldn't start and buy Conoco. And I imagine they would if they knew it would save them money also."

CONOCO

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because the penetrative oiliness, called "The Hidden Quarts" stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Instant Starting and Lightning Pick-up can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting it cannot be exceeded.

LONGHORNS RAP STEERS
20-6 IN 8TH STRAIGHT WIN

Coach Fitzhugh took his "herd" of Longhorns to Robert Lee Friday, 17 and played and beat the Steers 20-6. This gave Bronte the honor of being undefeated the entire season.

The first half saw Robert Lee with 6 points and Bronte 0. Bronte was having hard luck the first quarter. The steers received and tried a pass which was intercepted by a Longhorn. Bronte was forced to try a boot, but there was a fumble and Robert Lee downed them for about 20 yards loss. The ball went over. Eubanks went through the line and tackled "Little" Jolly for about 10 yards loss. Robert Lee was held and forced to boot. Leonard received a pass from Pairish for about 15 yards gain. Bronte booted and Robert Lee completed a pass for a gain. The Steers pulled an unusually tricky play, which enabled Jolly, their quarterback, to run around right end about 60 yards for a touchdown. The Longhorns prevented them from making the extra point.

Bronte received for no gain, and booted. Robert Lee returned the ball by a boot. Then, the Longhorns sprang into action. Leonard hit center for about six yards gain, then Pairish carried the ball around right end for a first down. They tried a pass to Spoonts, then to Eubanks which were incomplete. Leonard missed a nice pass, but redeemed himself by intercepting a short pass and running like a flash, went about 25 yards before downed. The Longhorns were starting a stampede just before the whistle blew for the half.

Robert Lee fumbled the kick-off and it was covered by a Bronte Man, close to the goal line. Pairish carried the ball for a first down, then Percifull hit center at full speed and made about six yards. Pairish hit tackle for a touchdown. Leonard carried around right end for extra point.

Hearne, Longhorn center, intercepted a pass and showed his ability to run with the ball as well as center it. He side-stepped and ran about 30 yards for a touchdown. Pairish went around right end for the extra point. This put the score 14-6 in Bronte's favor.

Leonard received a pass from Pairish. Glenn hit right end for a gain. Robert Lee intercepted a pass but the rushing Bronte boys soon forced them to boot. Percifull received the ball and went for about 15 yards. The ball was snapped to Glenn, who went around right end for a touchdown, even though he was tackled at from all angles.

Bronte had the ball and was walking on Robert Lee when the game ended.

Collier, quarterback and captain, was not able to play on account of illness.

Fitzhugh was unable to get a game for Thanksgiving, so this ended the season for Bronte. The Longhorns expect to have a stronger and better basketball team than ever. Watch them closely.

WHAT WILL CONGRESS DO?

Extraordinary powers were placed in the hands of President Roosevelt before Congress adjourned in the summer of 1933. The next regular session promises unusual measures, whether of help or hindrance remains to be seen. The News has the facilities of Associated Press, United Press and Northern America Newspaper Alliance. These would be sufficient for most newspapers, but not for the News which maintains its own staff of correspondents. The News is the only newspaper in the Southwest with its own Washington bureau, being represented by Mark Goodwin, outstanding correspondent on national affairs.

THE BRONTE ENTERPRISE
 D. M. WEST, Editor and Business Manager.
 Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office at Bronte, Texas, March 1, 1916, under Act of Congress, August 12, 1871.

Our good friend Ed Dixon brought in the following, below, which he clipped from an Arizona paper. We agree with Mr. Dixon that it is an excellent editorial:

CODE FOR MOTHERS

What if a code should be fixed for mother? Suppose she was allowed to work but forty hours a week? She rises with the mocking birds in the morning, wakes the family, gets father off to work, washes six or eight necks and twice as many ears and starts the youngsters off to school. After the breakfast dishes are polished, she gathers up the family linen—or cotton—for the wash. She indulges in both suds and song and soon the line of garments is bulging in the breeze. Before she knows it, a hurricane of children bursts into the house for lunch at noon. Then she straightens up the house, looks after several thousand odds and ends until it is time to go to market for meat and vegetables for dinner. She is chief chef, dishwasher and nurse girl for the evening. Along about midnight Billy wakes up with the croup or something and mother gets the cold compress, the camphor and vaseline. Father saws wood all night without a thought of a code! Next day is ironing day—and the next day is mending day—then comes cleaning day—and Saturday she has to get ready for And so on and on and on. Mother puts in sixteen to eighteen hours a day and uses up her code in a trifle over two days—with five more to go. What to do! Father roars about the NRA and wants his competitor yanked up for not putting on more workers and giving shorter hours. But how in heck could we put more mothers on the job?

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE HAS WIDE ENDORSEMENT

NEW YORK, Dec 5.—Nine distinguished Americans, all of whom at one time or another have won a personal battle with tuberculosis, are sponsoring the twenty-seventh annual Christmas seal sale which started throughout the country on Thanksgiving Day with 2,084 local associations participating. The announcement was made here today at the office of the National Tuberculosis Association.

ience what it means to come face to face with the White Plague, I am glad to give any help I can to the campaign to conquer the disease."

CHARLES WAKEFIELD CADMAN: "The years have proved that this work does inestimable good."

In announcing the formation of the committee to sponsor the Christmas seal sale, the chairmen, Dr. White, said the members were outstanding examples that tuberculosis is curable, and that its prevention is a matter of great importance to society. "Tuberculosis is no respecter of persons," said Dr. White. "It still kills more people between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease. This true despite the reduction of the ravages of the disease to one-third what they were when the first Christmas seals were sold."

"What the world would have lost had the members of this committee been born a generation earlier, when the disease was almost universally fatal, is evident from the mere recital of their names. What is has actually lost in the premature death of other such as Robert Louis Stevenson, Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Frederic Chopin, will never be known. But there can be no doubt that world has lost many scholars, dramatists, musicians, writers, and actors who never lived long enough to find their way to fame.

"There is hope that science sometime will provide a specific cure for the disease. But all we have, so far, is hope, and certain definite promise from some of the new knowledge that has recently been gathered. We are often disappointed by finding things happen to the germ in the laboratory that do not happen, unfortunately in the human body. Until the problem of tuberculosis has been solved, we need to redouble our efforts along the lines which have already achieved great success: early diagnosis, followed by treatment based on rest, fresh air, sunshine, and nourishing food.

"The experience of the members of this committee," added Dr. White, "emphasizes again again the need for preventative work with children. Most of the group had tuberculosis in their early youth. It is an interesting fact that their average age today is fifty-eight years."

The committee members are drawn from every section of the United States. Dr. White lives in Washington, D. C.; Mr. O'Neill's home is at Sea Island, Ga.; Mr. Babson's at Babson Park, Mass.; Mr. Wright's at Tucson, Ariz.; Prof. Fisher, New Haven, Conn.; Mr. Cadman La Mesa, Calif.; Mr. Irwin, New York City, and Mr. Bosworth, Beverly Hills, Calif.

THAT HUSBAND OF YOURS

HOW is he looking these days? Yes, of course he looks good to you. But how does he look to people on the street . . . to the men at his office . . . to your neighbors?

Can they tell he's been scrimping a little on himself (perhaps for your sake, for the children)? How about the shine on those blue-serve trousers. That rainy day hat he's wearing every day? Those shoes he swears are "comfortable", though he knows they are really old. Maybe he SAYS he doesn't care about clothes, but wouldn't a new overcoat make him SMILE? You know it would.

And is it ever true economy to look shabby?

YOU'RE the one to spruce him up. That's your job. That's your opportunity—right now. For this the time to see that he gets what he needs—WHILE CLOTHING PRICES ARE LOWER THAN THEY ARE EVER LIKELY TO BE AGAIN!

It's true, you know. Because every year since 1929—remember 1929?—less and less clothing has been sold. And so clothing prices have fallen, fallen, fallen. Yet clothing—one of the most indispensable things in life—should certainly have some real value . . . should be worth enough to yield to its maker, and those who work for him, a reasonable living.

To bring back VALUE to the things that are made and sold . . . to the people who make and sell them . . . to those who buy . . . we have the NRA. The NRA is, day by day, restoring value to the common things of life. Food labor, property, pleasures . . . The Government's plan IS MAKING EVERYTHING WORTH SOMETHING AGAIN.

Clothing has been one of the first things to recover its value. Under the NRA codes, salaries of workers are being raised . . . fabric prices are going up . . . trimming, wrapping, transportation costs, too. Pay rolls have advanced 32½ per cent since February. Raw materials have advanced in value 49 per cent. And clothing prices are rising accordingly. A good thing, in the end, for business . . . for living . . . for you.

But at this moment the rising values have only begun. Stocks of clothing, now in stores, are still priced extremely low. Lower than they ever should have been. Lower than they are ever likely to be again. Tell that husband of yours to go out and fix himself up. NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY!

director; and Dr. William Charles White, chairman. Dr. White is head of the medical research committee of the National Tuberculosis Association.

In consenting to act, several members of the committee accompanied their acceptance with personal statements.

WILL IRWIN: "Glad to act on your committee of ex-tuberculosis victims. I am proud of my victory."

IRVING FISHER: "The financial loss from tuberculosis to the people of America, estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars a year, is a wholly inadequate measure of the cost of the disease in terms of broken homes, blasted hopes, poverty and pain. The twenty-seventh annual Christmas seal sale this year offers a chance for all to share in solving this community problem."

ROGER W. BABSON: "Despite the declining death rate from tuberculosis since the beginning of the century, the disease still kills more persons between ages of 15 and 45 than any other. It is imperative that the preventative measures successful in the past be continued if the ground gained is to be held."

HOBART BOSWORTH: "The ten years I spent in fighting tuberculosis were the best investment I ever made. I am amazed when I think of the progress made in knowledge and prevention and cure, which the little Christmas seal makes available to everybody."

HAROLD BELL WRIGHT: "As one who knows from exper-

FALSE REPRESENTATIONS ARE PUNISHABLE

Those in charge of the local CWA work want to be absolutely fair and administer the funds in keeping with the spirit and purpose of the funds and in keeping with the law governing the matter. There is a heavy penalty for willfully misappropriating or spending the fund. Hence, the local committee will appreciate any information furnished them with reference to those who are seeking the benefits of the CWA funds. If you know the financial condition of one is such that he does not really come within the provisions of the law creating the fund, you will do only your duty and at the same time greatly aid the local committee by giving the committee the information you have.

And those who seek the benefits of the CWA funds had better be careful and know that they come within the provisions of the law concerning the funds.

The law reads as follows: "Any person or persons who shall knowingly make any false statement or misrepresentation in order to procure any sum or sums of money provided for in this act as Relief Funds, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than ten ($10.00) dollars nor more than fifty ($50.00) dollars, or by a jail sentence of not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and jail sentence." You had better watch out—and know that you come within the prescribed requirements.

County Commissioner S. A. Kiker does not know exactly whether he has so much for which to be thankful this time or not. He had a car wreck Saturday that has reduced his bank account considerably. Saturday morning he was driving his truck across West Kickapoo creek. Mrs. Kiker and their daughter Mrs. B. E. Modgling were driving close behind him. This fact Mr. Kiker did not know. As Mr. Kiker started up the east bank of the creek he killed his truck motor. He thought he would let the truck roll back down in the bed of the creek then start his motor. So, as he went back down he crashed into his car and smashed his radiator into smithereens and otherwise damaged the car. Of course, it greatly frightened the ladies but fortunately none was injured. For that fact, of course, Mr. Kiker is very grateful. But, with memories of that heavy car repair bill in mind he does not know just how far to go in being thankful.

John Scott of Christoval was a week end guest of Mrs. Maggie Scott and family.

DELIGHTFUL DAY

the fine material conditions due to good crops and the return of prosperity much beyond that which had come to other parts of the country, he believed the congregation should make an offering in addition to regular contributions, to aid the church to meet every financial program they had planned. Without any "ado" or high pressure, fast as the names of the donors and the amounts contributed could be written, more than eight hundred dollars were pledged and most of which was paid before the close of the evening service. And the total amount given during the day ran beyond the one thousand dollars the pastor suggested at the morning hour was needed. And the more striking thing about the offering was the large number that participated—not only those in more easy circumstances contributed liberally, but the day laborer and the aged and the little boys and girls—everybody, regardless of age or station in life gladly had part in the wonderful Thank offering. It is no wonder that the remainder of the day was "a time of thanksgiving and praise."

At the noon hour a lunch of delicious edibles was served in the church kitchen in the basement of the building. A banker had given a fine fat calf for the occasion and it had been "barbecued just right." To this was added basket up on basket of delicacies, cooked only as the ladies of Hamlin—and the ladies of Bronte, of course—can cook. Visitors were there all the way from Houston to Ardmore, Oklahoma—and it was "scandalous" the way some of the guests gorged themselves—of course, we call no names.

The afternoon was given over to a song and praise service in which many took part.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Collier and little son and Miss Baird of Abilene. Mr. Collier is manager of the West Texas Baptist hospital of that city and Miss Baird is one of the supervisors of the hospital. At the evening hour Mr. Collier spoke briefly with reference to the hospital and its work. Remarkable indeed is its record—an institution not only to administer to the needs of the people of the religious denomination maintaining it, but to all people regardless of race, creed or color, this institution by day and night like the silent footfall of an angel passes out its ministries to the suffering everywhere. Indeed, the writer did not know that its ministries in its field are so broad and wide!

It was the privilege of the writer to bring the message of the evening hour of worship, which closed the day's program—and the program, like the mercy of which the poet said, "blesses twice," blessed both those who planned and rendered it and blessed the many who attended from far and near.

There was only one thing that marred the holy delight of the day to both hosts and guests, that was the destruction of the Methodist church of Hamlin at midnight Saturday night. It was a beautiful modern brick structure built at a cost of more than thirty thousand dollars. It was largely a complete loss with a limited amount of insurance.

Monday morning, having not seen the editor of "the old home town paper," Bowen Pope, anywhere abouts we supposed he was at home "figgerin'" just how he could use the surplus that the "good times" had brought. But upon inquiry we learned that he was ill with a cold which was bordering on the flu. So, Monday morning we called at his office and found him considerably indisposed, but "things were going fine," for we found Mrs. Pope in charge of the office—and she is "just as good editor" as "the boss."

So, this is to serve notice on the pastor and congregation with whom we spent Sunday, or any other religious congregation of that goodly little city, that when they have a program such as Sunday—including the lunch, of course—that if they want out-of-town guests all they will have to do is to invite the members of the family at this "editorial parsonage."

COKE COUNTY CHAPTER OF RED CROSS HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

The Coke county chapter of the American Red Cross had its annual meeting at Robert Lee, Thursday night, Dec. 7. The Roll Call Chairman reported 176 members. This is 24 less than our quota. By vote the time has been extended to Jan 1.

The county was represented as follows: Robert Lee had three present, Bronte, five, and Fort Chadbourne sixty-three.

The following officers were elected:

Chairman, L. T. Youngblood; Vice Chairman, O. D. Spoons; Secretary-Treasurer, Floyd Bridges; Disaster Chairman, J. A. Knight.

The executive committee is composed of the following: Robert Knierim, O. D. Spoons, W. J. Eads, McNeil Wylie, Judge Bell, D. K. Smith, Ben Brook, W. N. Dunson Lewis Stuckey, J. W. Leggett, R. H. Reaves and Judge Geron.

Mrs. Keeney of Bronte and Mrs. Cumbie of Robert Lee were retained as distributing committee until they had finished with material on hand.

If you have not bought a membership, do so at once so that we can go over our quota of two hundred.

Lewis Stuckey, Secretary Pro Tem.

MARRIED

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Rogers. She is a young woman with lovely character and her friends wish her much happiness.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fletcher. He is a young man of steady habits and his friends are congratulating him upon his good fortune in winning the one he has for his life's companion.

P.-T. A MEETS

(From Last Week)

The Parent-Teachers Association held an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon. A program in keeping with Thanksgiving was rendered.

Mrs. Lucy Warner read a Psalm and made comments on same.

Piano solo, Mrs. C. C. Holder; reading, "Giving Thanks," Virginia Dunson; "The True Significance of Thanksgiving," Mrs. Dee Hull; "The First Thanksgiving," Mary Beth Cumbie, first grade pupil. America was sung by audience.

The regular time of meeting was changed from Tuesday to the second Wednesday in each month.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of thanking the good people of Bronte, Hayrick and elsewhere for their kindness in the illness and death of our husband, son and brother, John Eubanks. You did all in human power to soften the pangs of death. God bless you, one and all.
