Jumbo Community Wins 2nd Place In District Rural Progress Contests

The Jumbo Community was informed this week that it had won second place in the annual Community Progress contest for District 1.

This is probably the last time the contest will be conducted after several years of operation by Farmer-Stockman magazine and the Texas Extension Service.

Judging was Tuesday evening at Jumbo. Judges were Hank McCullon of KGNC, Amarillo and Gladys Martin, state Home Demonstration Agent. They were conducted through homes of the community that had gone through extensive remodeling and had been considered applicable to community progress. These homes included the George Heard residence, the A. L. Hodges home which was almost completely redone; and the R. L. Shepard home where two residence design were combined into one modern brick building. Also on exhibit was the mercury vapor lighting system of M. L. Simpson and the orchard spraying system of Dilmond Neumayer.

According to Dean Martin of the community, there are about 15 families who actively participate in community work their continuously. At a community get-together following the judging Tuesday night, Community Chairman Bill Simpson told the group "All in all this has been a good year. We were first place in several contests including the community exhibits at the Castro County Fair. We are proud of our seventh year as a community group and we feel the work has had a bonding influence." He went on to explain the benefits of the newly-organized girls' 4-H club to the community.

According to Mrs. Sybil Stringer, Castro County Home Demonstration Agent, the community contests will be discontinued after this year.

Dimmitt Students In Pageant

Dimmitt High School, represented by Mary Behrends and Morris Westberry, (above) was among some 20 high schools and junior colleges to send personality representatives composing the royal court for the presentation of West Texas State College personalities at the Eleventh Annual Panhandle Personality Pageant held Saturday.

Building Permits Show $85,300 For First Six months Construction

Dimmitt, one of the steadier growing communities of the High Plains, dropped off by about one-third this year in its first-quarter building permit figures.

A total of $85,300 in building permits were issued, mostly for residential purposes. Last year at this time there had been about 123,195 issued.

Although local building has had its ups and downs, the general trend is for a steady increase in home building. Commercial building goes in spurts and often one large building will amount to more than considerable small building activity. Apparently 1959 will not be a record year. Heaviest construction comes with new elevators, schools and churches and it is doubtful that anything in these three categories will be constructed this year.

January was almost nothing this year. Only $500 was spent for one home improvement as compared to $17,075 last year for the first month. February bounded upward with $15,500 residential and $20,000 commercial. March was the big month so far, with $49,300 being spent—all on residential construction. One $25,000 residential permit was issued in March which accounts by itself for more than the total of February. The remainder in March was made up of smaller permits.

New areas for residential construction are being added to the city at about a one-year clip.

Mr. Roy Montgomery Warren, 65, years of age, died Tuesday afternoon at the High Plains Clinic. He had been a resident of Castro County since 1944 and was engaged in farming in the north-western part of the county until his retirement several years ago. He was residing, at the time of his death, at 608 Lee St. in Dimmitt.

Mr. Warren was born in Ellis County November 11, 1893. On December 23, 1912 he was married to Daisey Katherine Keen. The Warrens moved to Levelland in 1927 and lived there prior to moving to Dimmitt. Mr. Warren joined the Baptist Church in 1924 and was active in church work until the time of his death.

Mr. Warren leaves 39 living descendants. One daughter preceded him in death. Survivors include his wife, seven sons: Loyce of Dallas; Lloyd of Hereford; Lewis of Dimmitt; Odell, Weldon and Maxie of Delray, Florida; and Bobby Joe of Springfield, Missouri; four daughters: Mesdames Alyene Rawls of Dallas; Mattie Mae Sheek of Oil City, La.; Ruby Howell, Friona; and Belva Bates of Dimmitt; twenty-three grandchildren. Also surviving are three brothers: W. E. of Lubbock; O. A. of Goodland; and Leslie of Dallas, and one sister; Mrs. Leona Smith of Tahoka.

Services were held today, Thursday, in the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt with the pastor, the Reverend M. A. Smith, Jr., officiating. Interment was in the Levelland Cemetery at Levelland under the direction of Dennis Funeral Home of Dimmitt.

Honorary pallbearers were members of Mr. Warren's Sunday School class.

Prather to Head Little League Ball

At a meeting, Tuesday evening in Hart, Boyd Prather of Dimmitt was elected president of the Little League Baseball in Castro County. Other officers elected to head the Little League were A. J. Schumacher of Nazareth as vice-president, Carl Dean Klemm of Nazareth as Player's Agent, Willis A. Hawkins, Jr., of Hart as Treasurer and Jack Flint of Dimmitt and Secretary.

The four Little League Baseball teams will be known as the Gold Sox, Red Legs, Cardinals, and Braves. The organizations supporting the teams are in the same order, the Dimmitt Lions Club, the Hart American Legion Post, the Nazareth American Legion Post and Dimmitt Jay-Cees.

At the meeting, Tuesday evening, it was decided that the Little League would play four games per week or two games per team. Willis A. Hawkins, Jr., will draw up a playing schedule and present it at the next directors meeting.

Club Managers and their assistants will be present at the next meeting as well as the directors and a Constitution and By-Laws will be drawn up then.

JayCees Install New Officers At Banquet Monday

"A JayCee is devoted to his family, his community, and his church and he automatically makes an outstanding citizen." He is called upon sometimes to work long hours and he learns early to be generous with his time.

These were the words of Dr. Douglas Guthrie, state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who spoke Monday night to almost 200 guests at the annual Dimmitt JayCee installation banquet.

He went on to expound on his speech title of "What is a JayCee." The Waco doctor then told of the basic fundamentals of Jay Ceesism and the codes by which JayCees operate.

Prior to his speech a joint installation of officers from Tullis and Dimmitt were held. Installed for the Dimmitt group were Steve Taylor, president; Bob DuLaney, vice president; Billy Graham, Jr., second vice-president; Jack Miller, secretary; Dale Prather, treasurer; Charles Armstrong, state director; and Bob Cranford, Bill Birdwell, James E. Wohlgemuth and Jim Cleavinger, directors.

Outgoing officers were Bob Cranford, president; Charles Armstrong, vice-president; Bob Brooks, second vice-president; Bill Birdwell, secretary; Joe Wallis, treasurer; Bob DuLaney, state director; and Ray Robertson and Steve Taylor, directors.

Master of Ceremonies for the banquet was Dick Reinhardt and the installation of officers was by Fred Haket, state vice-president for this district from Amarillo.

Margaret Odom Makes All-American With Wayland Girl's Basketball Team

Margaret Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Odom, of Dimmitt, was placed on the annual All-American team of the National Women's A.A.U. Basketball Tournament in St. Joseph, Missouri, April 4.

Miss Odom is the second member of the Odom family to be placed on the All-American team, with her older sister, Lometa, making the mythical team four consecutive years earlier with Wayland's Flying Queens.

"The 5'10" senior guard will be a great loss to Wayland," said Ailese Parten, Wayland director of Public Relations, "as the Dimmitt star was outstanding all season long, holding several top offensive stars below their season average."

"Her play in the tournament was indeed tops, as she played a

Water Flocculation Looking like Recharge Problem Solution

This is the lake being drained by the flocculation process on the Bill Sutton farm southeast of Dimmitt. The water enters the small lagoon where the chemical is applied. It then enters a concrete pipe at the far side of the lagoon which lies in the trench to the left of the trailer. Finally it moves into the settling basin (lower left) where suspended particles settle out.

Experiments on the Bill Sutton farm five miles southeast of Dimmitt are showing that apparently a chemical known simply as AP-30 will be satisfactory in preparing lake water for underground recharge.

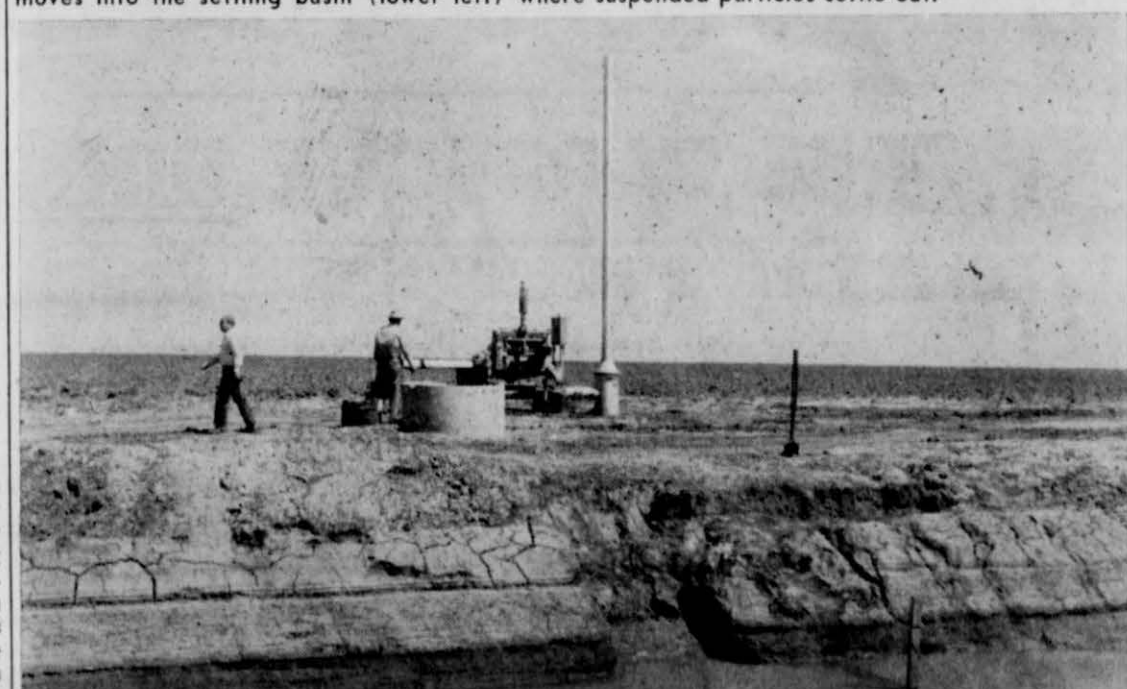

The chemical, settles impurities out of the lake water in a settling basin and permits the water to run underground through an irrigation well casing and to be absorbed by the water sands without choking up the well.

Engineers from Dow Chemical Company, Texas Tech, the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, and Bushland Experiment Station are studying the effects of various applications of the chemical to the water.

Apparently the final practical usage will be 400 parts of the flocculant to one million parts of water. At this ratio the chemical would cost less than $2.00 per acre foot of water run underground. One engineer said the silt could be absorbed by the well without the flocculant, but that it would be

A graphic illustration of the settling powers of the flocculation chemical was shown by Wayne Wyatt, High Plains Water Conservation District engineer from Hereford. Mr. Wyatt shook both bottles and the water in the bottle containing the chemical cleared up within a moment while the other remained muddy.

Clearer water from the settling basin enters a pipe (see opening in side of basin) and runs through a meter between the well and basin. From the meter it enters the well through a hole cut in the casing about fifteen feet down.

Spring is sprung, the grass is rising, it's waving on its own budget!

Not much for poetry or our English language, but it certainly does give the poet one gets all of their summer wear appears. How can we help but have a "mumps"?

And, likewise, just about the time we get out all the garden tools and start digging, it freezes one more. How in the world is one to know WHEN to do WHAT?

But wouldn't it be boring without a question mark once in a while?

School is nearly over for the summer, once again, so I guess it's about time for our youngsters to come down with some of the contagious diseases... some already have a head start. I hear my older daughter had never seen anyone with the mumps, so the other day, upon finding out that a friend had had them, she promptly visited her friend's home, but to satisfy her curiosity, Humm, how long does it take for one to catch mumps?

Now when I was a kid, I didn't get in such a rush, I always managed to get exposed to one thing or the other just in time to come down with it just before the last of school picnics or parties. I think I had the measles about ten times and the mumps, chicken-pox, scarlet fever, etc., sandwiched in between. You name it, I caught it and usually at the end of school.

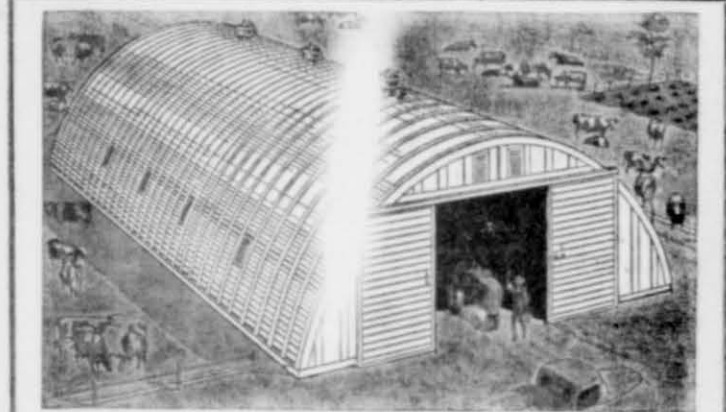

And when I caught anything, I really caught it. I was never very sick, but with the measles, I had only one mumps, all over.

With the Chicken-pox, I only had one ITCHING pox, that was all over, too. With the scarlet fever, I was just scarlet... and with the mumps... well, my jaw hung clear to the floor (which wasn't too far, however, as I have never been anything but short short of money, short of breath, short of time, and in a short, just "out" said.

A Tenderfoot in Europe

The film of the European tour by a number of Plains people was shown to the high school students Monday, April 13. Mrs. Pearl Shelly, a participant in the tour, made a very explanatory remarks to the students preceding the showing.

Mrs. Shelly told the students they would be world minded because they were not only citizens of Dimmitt, but of the world also. She suggested that a person should learn more than just his home language. She said that a course in conversational Spanish would be a start in this direction in Dimmitt.

Mrs. Shelly said the students should concentrate on one particular interest in life. An example she gave was the formation of the drama club. She said that if a student is interested in photography at an early age he has become an excellent photographer.

The thirty minute featured color film was edited from several thousand feet of film. The editing took two months. "A Tenderfoot in Europe" narrated by Cotton John, takes the viewer to England, Holland, Germany, Brussels, Italy, and climaxes its tour in Paris.

The film was also shown to the general public Monday night at 8:00 p.m.

FHA ACTIVITIES

National FHA Week began Sunday morning when forty-two churches attended the Methodist Church together.

Monday started "Twip Week" with a series of lectures and cuped books. From that time on until the end of the week the church had no rest from carrying books and buying mats and covers. Everyone will agree though that it was fun even if it was rather expensive.

The FHA deputies collected quite a number of lines on No Grip Day and everyone tried to be nice on the King to Teachers Day.

Thursday at noon we had our FHA meeting. Zofia Ivey will represent our chapter in the annual REA Beauty Contest in Hereford on April 30.

The girls have collected $20 toward a vacuum cleaner for the department and hope to soon reach their goal.

BOY DATES GIRL

A poll was taken among some of the students at different high schools to see what kind of girls the boys like to date, and the kind of boys girls like to date. The following opinions seem to hold true in many cases.

Some of Mike's favorites are food, fried chicken; song, There'll Never Be Anyone Else but You; actor, Paul Newman; actress, Brigitte Bardot; movie, Gidget; color, red; cars, wrecks; pastime being with Linda.

tell us they figured they paid well above the minimum wage laws. We believe most farm workers fall within this category. Despite the current scare about a possible $1.25 minimum wage affecting farmers, we are prone to doubt that it will have much effect. In the first place even if dollar wages do not reach this amount, there is real likelihood that fringe benefits such as free rent and utilities and often free transportation and crop-sharing would push the wages of most conscientious latin and colored workers to respectable proportions.

Nonetheless we would oppose any measure that would force any man—farmer or industrialist—to raise wages when he cannot force a corresponding increase in the cost of his products onto his consumers.

If all these things were to come to pass—unionism, stopping of bracero labor and the $1.25 minimum wage—the farm labor pool will also wind up hurting.

Already one generation has seen tremendous mechanization of farm work. Now there is even a machine that gins cotton in the field and combined with other engineering feats of recent time it might be that farm labor could quickly become a thing of the past merely by forcing farmers and farm service industries to look for other ways of getting the job done than by hand labor.

This has happened before in the automotive industry, the printing industry, and anywhere else where a machine has been designed to do the work of dozens of men.

Any man who professes to know all there is to know about the farm situation in general and the labor situation in particular, is showing a mountain of ignorance. To grope through all the angles and ramifications of farm labor and arrive at the best solution is almost impossible. We may believe strongly in one thing one day and learn something the next—that if we are fair-minded men—will change our minds completely. But as it stands now we believe the situation is best left alone and that farmers will be justified in taking any honorable means of keeping it that way. We see no reasonable justification for a union anywhere in the farming or farm-service industries, nor do we see any point in a higher minimum wage until the cost of living index rises considerably higher, nor can we see any reason for stopping the importation of bracero labor in deference to native Americans who are jobless (it would be hard to find United States citizens in quantity who would do bracero-type labor).

Most of the ills of the farm industry today were brought about by enforced changes of one kind or another. Every time someone tries to do something differently it seems the situation gets worse. This applies equally to the labor situation as much as it does sliding scale crop supports, soil bank or what have you.
