"COW PUNCHERS" HAVE EASY SAILING THROUGH F'D'B'G LINE

The Mason High School Football team ran up a score of 72 to 0 over the Fredericksburg High School team on the local gridiron last Saturday afternoon, recording the largest score ever made on the local grounds.

At no time during the game did the visitors threaten the goal of the "Cow Punchers", and only once during the game did Fredericksburg make 1st downs, and this happen when some of the Mason linesmen went to sleep and let the little quarterback for the visitors slip through for a ten yard gain, (but they'll be awake at Llano).

Mason scored forty-five points in the first half, of twenty-two minutes. The first touchdown came when Zesch got away on right end for a fifty yard dash

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PAYMENT OF AUTO LICENSE TAX

Issuance of 1924 automobile license seals will begin December 1st.

Attention was called to the new law passed by the last Legislature in regard to auto licenses. Registration will be based on both weigght and horsepower of a motor vehicle, and the fee will be much larger than heretofore. The auto Feense department has the weights of all passenger motor vehicles, but it will be necessary to weigh all commercial motor vehicles before a license can be obtained.

MüstKnow Car Model

Applicants must know the exact model and year in which their car was made in order for the department to ascertain the correct weight. Operators of service cars, whether bus or passenger,-will have to pay, in addition to the weight fee and the horsepower fee an additional fee of four dollars for each passenger the bus or car will sent.

If the following rules are observed, applicants will have no trouble in securing a license:

"Bring your last license receipt if possible, as this will save much time for both you and the clerk.

If your car was registered in the county for 1923 and you have lost your receipt, copy the license number of yeur car.

If your car was registered in some other county and you have lost your receipt, write the State Highway Department of Austin for a duplicate.

If your car was registered in some her state you must have registration papers. If these have been lost, write the Highway Department of that state

A. Song For Thanksgiving

Sweet land of Liberty, how fitting is this hour of thanksgiving for all the blessings we enjoy. How inspiring is the vision of your bounty under government based upon equality and temperate consideration of human rights. There is something deeper in the day than selfishly to review those betterments that personally have blessed us through the year. Rather should our thanks go forth to Him for planting in American hearts those principles of government which ensure our happiness and contentment.

We will be poor indeed if we offer only formal lip service of appreciation yet fail firmly to resolve to protect to the last ounce of our power our sacred heritage of freedom. Yes, at this Thanksgiving time, let each throat shout in clarion tones: "From every mountainside let freedom ring," and with that glorious song of inspiration let each man gird his loins to resist the insidious attacks that constantly wage war to undermine the principles of our constitution. Our thanks for bounteous crops will be as tinkling cymbals if each of us is not a constant watchman at the tower ready to sound the alarm when sinister interests seek to undermine the tiller of the soil. Our praise for our prosperity will be but as babble if we do not resist the insidious and grasping flank assaults on equal opportunity. Americans will give their greatest thanks in action. Let us express our thanks in intelligent interest in the management of our country. The government is not a thing apart. It is not a private enterprise. It does not belong to officials elected or appointed. It is the expression of the people's will. As founded it is the only successful system of government in the world. Let us give thanks a thousandfold for its existence, but let this thanks be buttressed by a determination to protect it-Sweet Land of Liberty.

Your city man never looks up for fear he will be mistaken for a countryman. The countryman always looks up. He is proud of being a country.

Israel Zangwili told New York's National Arts Club that it cost him $10 to get into America. Also he said Americans have little honor, less sense of justice and dignity, and absolutely no sense of humor. Then speaking of the admission fee again, he said he had had his money's worth.

If we wonder whence Henry Ford obtained his great imagination and his delicate wit, let us remember that his parents were born in Cork, Ireland.

Charles M. Schwab declares ninety percent of his misfortunes have om his kindness to others. It is pleasing to note that million aires have at least something in common with newspaper publishers.

Following the recent exhibitions on the turf involving Zev Pan and My Own, we reach the conclusion that the only real after all, is the old Irish race in which each man rides the older at low's nag and the last horse in wins.

UPSIDE DOWN

Perhaps this title could be better phrased in the light of what I am about to say, if we were to use the phrase "Turning the World back to its rightful position."

Sin has turned the world upside down. It is literally walking on its bend. It is dead at the heart, its soul is doomed, its society is cursed, its fellowship is selfish; really it is upside down. We have become accustomed to its present position. Therefore, when we say "turning the world upside down" we are talking about the effect that Christianity is going to have upon present conditions. If Christians were living as true, earnest stewards ought to live they would be counted fanatical and dangerous, just as

Paul and Silas were so considered. If ministers were preaching the pure old time religious gospel, they would bring on antagonisms, prodace social earthquakes, and arouse the violence of the mob. The Jews said of Paul and Silas, "These men have turned the world upside

The time has come to preach the gosnel so forcefully and fearlessly that that seene will be re-enacted. If we can attack the pagan system of wealth and bring the money changers under the lash of true Christianity, you will see the greatest upheaval the world has ever witnessed. The god of money, the love of money love of money, the pagan, indescrib-ably pagan financial appetite of today is the curse of America and the shame of civilization.

This country is dancing around the golden calf, and the pagan manthis country are as dead as any pagan corpse the world has ever seen They do not admit the doc-trine of Christian stewardship; they deay the authority of God to demand in accounting: they refuse to bring their income into the house where it telongs. When Van Herne was building up the Southern Minnesota railway in 1876, a plague of grasshoppers threatened the farmers there with ruin. Pubfic prayer was ordered but Van Horne suggested the first and best remedy lay in hustling. He tried having canvass smeared with pitch drawn over the ground by horses. The grasshoppers jumped up, got caught in the pitch and could be raked up and burned. The farmers tried it. The state supplied them with tar which the raffroad carried free. Black heaps of dead grasshoppers soon dotted the prairie. One day in a cloud that seemed mfles in length the survivors dew away. Most of the crop was saved and the earnings of the railroad resumed their old level.

Independently of a highly varied symphony of casual sounds, one's sleep men armed with long, thick clubs.

for at frequent intervals the marest vatchman awakens you by buting heavily upon the scones with a resounding cudgel.

It needs a fire, however, to give the watchman full scope for making night hideous. Constantinople, being mainly built of wood and heated by open charcoal stoves, this opportunity comes all too often. As soon as a fire is sighted from the high lookout post on Galata tower word is sent to every quarter of the city. Till ten years ago this was done by picturesque red-coated runners armed with javelins, but now it goes by telephone, and, for the night watchman, the real fun of the evening begins. Beating a double volley on the pavement, each in turn fills his lungs to capacity and in a tone of long-winded, lugubrious despair wails out fortissimo at frequent intervals: "Yanghin var!" ("A fire there is!"), following on with an announcement of its situation, and ending with more battering of the flagstones.

As this cry is taken up and repeated from street to street it swells to an appalling clamor.

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard on us.

"I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work." This card fulfils her wish.
