Coke Tax Suit Filed Last Week

A suit for $10,029.86 in delinquent taxes was filed in 51st District civil court here Thursday against San Angelo oilman S. E. (Skinny) Adams.

It is believed the largest tax suit ever filed in Coke County.

The San Angelo oilman has fractional interests on mineral royalties on more than 7,000 acres of Coke County property, records show.

The plaintiff's original petition states that Adams owes $2,231.98 in state taxes, $2,693.13 in county taxes, $2,243.75 to the school district and $509.06 to the road districts.

Adams has an abstract office in San Angelo as well as oil and insurance interests there.

The suit was filed by the San Angelo firm of Johnson and Tupper, tax attorneys, who are retained by Coke County to represent the county in tax cases.

Fads Are a Part of Most Teen's Life

By BRENDA McDORMAN

You know, the young people of today have such strange customs. A while back, every boy in high school was left out in the cold if he did not own a little odd-looking hat with a feather stuck in it. These and many other fads are only a part of growing up in the 20th century.

Fads such as sack dresses, chemises and leotards, in the clothing department are almost extinct now; however, a while back, anyone seen without at least one of these ridiculous pieces of clothing was considered too "square" to reform!

In some places a year or so ago, the college boys invented a new fad which was to see how many people they could crowd into one telephone booth. All over the country, kids were cramming and squeezing into telephone booths. But here in Robert Lee, the telephone booths just don't attract as much interest among the kids as an automobile. Actually, this fad of crowding into a car as many as possible is a fad which has continued since the cars were first invented, and will probably continue a good deal longer.

Another fad which will probably continue a good many years more not only here, but across the nation is one-arm driving. Our law officers say it isn't safe, and if the young men of the nation would stop and think, they would realize that it certainly is dangerous. Another great danger of one-arm driving is that you're so likely to "skid" into a church!

Let's face it! Fads are a part of our way of life and there isn't really much we can do about it—so relax, have fun, and enjoy them while they last!

THEY WORK HARDER BECAUSE THEY RIDE EASIER!

Because they ride easier they last longer, too. They take better care of payloads and they make a long day's work a lot more pleasant for the driver. All that—primarily because of Independent Front Suspension (I.F.S.). If you think it's stretching a point to attribute that many advantages to a suspension system, you haven't driven a new Chevy with I.F.S. Take the wheel and feel its road-leveling ride, its almost total absence of shimmy and wheel fight, its ease of steering even in the big rigs. Spend hours behind the wheel and you're not nearly as tired. You're not and neither is the truck. That independent suspension soaks up the worst shock and vibration—the kind that can twist sheet metal and loosen joints and increase your maintenance costs. That's why Chevy trucks keep on working and saving for extra thousands of miles.

I-beam type front axle. A stiff-beam design that transmits road shock right through the truck.

Chevy Independent Front Suspension. Wheels flex independently, minimize body wear and tear.
