Local Alfalfa Mill Beats Last Year's Output By 1,000 Tons

The local plant of the National Alfalfa Milling and Dehydrating Company has dehydrated 1,900 tons of hay more this year than last, according to a report from J. D. Wood, manager. Mr. Wood said that the mill has purchased and dehydrated 3,500 tons already this year and expect to buy still more. The mill dehydrated 2,550 tons last year.

Many farmers are watering their alfalfa to provide a winter pasture since rains have not fallen and very little wheat has been sowed.

District Will Vote Saturday On Issuing Of School Bonds

The question of whether or not the Lockney Rural High School district will issue $10,000 in bonds will be decided in voting Saturday. The single voting box will be at the high school. Frank Dodson will be election judge with Mrs. Carl McAdams and Mrs. Marvin Gilbert clerks. Polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m.

The money derived from the bond issue will be used to complete the grade school building. Supt. Sidney Reeves explained. The Lockney Independent school district collected $55,000 in insurance when the grade school building burned two years ago. However, due to the fact that part of this money was spent for school buses and other necessary things, slightly more than $40,000 was left when construction on the new grade school building. The bond issue will provide funds for completing this building, estimated to cost about $60,000, and also provide a lunch room for the grade school and an agriculture shop and class and band room for the high school.

School officials emphasized that the bond issue would not raise taxes. The valuations, now based on state and county levels, will remain the same and the bonds can be retired out of the 50c per $100 valuation allowed under the state aid program for retiring bonded indebtedness.

The school district voted on the matter of $1.50 tax rate and the assumption of bonds immediately after the district was consolidated last year. However, because of a technicality, the bonding attorneys have requested that these matters be voted on again at the election Saturday. For that reason, voters will find three propositions on their ballot when they go to vote. The first is shall the district levy a tax rate not to exceed $1.50 per $100 valuation. The second is shall the district assume the bonded indebtedness of the various former districts, and the third is shall the Board of Trustees be authorized to issue $40,000 in bonds.

Bonding companies have already been contacting the local school officials asking for the bonds, it was reported this week.

Interest in the election is not high, apparently because there is no open opposition to the issuing of the bonds. A light vote is expected to be cast.

Avalanche Of Cotton Covers Local Gins

An avalanche of cotton covered all local gins this week, overflowing onto the yards where wagons, trailers and trucks sit waiting their turn. The local gins have ginned approximately 4500 bales of cotton and have another two or three hundred bales waiting.

A large increase in the number of harvest hands in the area has in turn increased the flow of cotton to the gins. Cotton production, especially in the dry land areas, is running considerably more than expected with some dry land cotton making a half bale or more per acre. Irrigation cotton is running around a bale per acre.

The increased flow, coupled with the fact that Floydada gins have had trouble operating, is the reason for the local gins being covered up. It was reported to The Beacon. With only two gins operating in Floydada, one was closed down for a day or two because of striking employees while another had machinery trouble. This caused considerable cotton from the southeast part of the county to come here, adding to the burden local gins already had in keeping ahead of the incoming lint.

Pink Bollworm

A quarantine slapped on Floyd County last week was not affecting the turning out of the cotton, ginners said. The requirements under the quarantine compel ginners to burn the burs, get a permit to haul seed, cover the truck hauling the seed with a tarp so that none can escape, keep all trash cleaned up, and require that the seed be sterilized before it is crushed. However, the quarantine does not bother the farmer since he can take the seed home if he wishes.

The quarantine has no effect on the sale of the cotton.

The fact that compresses at Plainview stopped buying cotton several days ago has caused farmers some inconvenience but other outlets for local cotton are being secured and some is moving to other points, it was reported Thursday.

Mother of Mrs. Norris Passed Away Oct. 29

Mrs. J. C. Burns of Lubbock, mother of Mrs. Alex Norris of Lockney passed away Oct. 29 in the Lubbock Memorial hospital at the age of 81 years, 4 months and 29 days.

Mrs. Burns suffered a broken hip about a month ago and developed pneumonia about two weeks later which resulted in her death. She had been a resident of Lubbock fifty-seven years. She was a faithful member of the Church of Christ, being the first woman to obey the Gospel after the Church of Christ established a congregation in Lubbock.

Bro. Liff Sanders, a life-long friend of the family, spoke words of comfort at the funeral services conducted at the Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock Thursday, October 30. M. Norvel Young, minister of the Broadway Church of Christ, assisted in the services. Burial was in the Lubbock cemetery beside her husband who preceded her in death in March 1929.

Mrs. Burns is survived by the following seven children: Herchel Burns of Lovington, N. M.; Caleb Burns of Grand Junction, Colorado; Robert Burns of Grand Junction, Colorado; Theobald Burns of Arizona; Mrs. Earl Davis of Acuff, Texas; Mrs. Jimmy Freeman, and Mrs. Alex Norris of Lockney. Eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

Annual Grudge Game To Draw Large Crowd

The Floyd County family football feud is fuming again as the Lockney Longhorns, leading the 4A district, prepare to take on their traditional foe, the Floydada Whirlwinds tonight (Friday) on the Longhorn gridiron. Game time is 8:00 o'clock and the season's record attendance is expected to be set.

The potent Whirlwinds, defending 4A champions, were favored in early season to duplicate their performance of last year when they swept through seven conference opponents undefeated. However, a number of injuries have slowed up the county capital boys somewhat and Coach Gresham's boys dropped a game to Paducah 13-6 two weeks ago. But the injured are mended and the Whirlwinds should be ready to hit their best stride Friday night.

The surprising Longhorns, under the tutelage of Coaches Curtis Kelley and John Hansard, have posted three district wins and are the only team who remains undefeated in district play. Perhaps their most surprising win was against Spur two weeks ago when they entered the game as the underdogs but came out with a 6-0 win over the Dickens County boys.

Not since 1935 have the Longhorns been able to defeat a Floydada team, and ironically enough, Curtis Kelley, present head mentor of the locals, was one of the backfield men in the game.

Comparative scores reveal nothing, favoring first one team and then the other. Anyway comparative scores don't mean anything when Lockney plays Floydada.

The Longhorns are bounding back from two disastrous seasons when they won only one game. The Lockney offensive will probably feature Robert Quisenberry, hard-driving full back and Bobby Frank Carthel, shifty half. Wyman Guthrie, stellar blocking back and a great defensive player and Bob Logan, the smooth ball handler, who also does his share of blocking and defensive play, will probably round out the starting backfield for the Longhorns. The line will feature two outstanding ends, Calvin Pyle and Joe Keeter, three great tackles, Jack Adams, Ewell Dee Kelley and Delbert Shearer, two fighting guards, Red Daniels and Roy Glover and Center Donnie Bybee, who is also defensive player. His speciality is intercepting passes. Jimmie Lee McGowan is the kick-off man of the Longhorns and also plays a halfback position. J. D. Williams, a newcomer here is also a backfield man who has been playing some mighty good football.

The Whirlwinds have a heavy line and the backfield is fast, reports here state. Griesby and Hart are the main offensive stars of the Floydada team.

Last Week's Results
Last week the Floydada Whirlwinds defeated the Matador Matadors 14 to 6 at Matador while the Spur Bulldogs ran over the Crosbyton Chiefs 29 to 0. The Longhorns were idle.

DECLINE IN ARMED FORCES ALARMING

A great deal is being written about the startling decline in the size and potency of our military forces. On V-J Day, we had the most powerful Army-Navy-Air Force team on earth. Now, two years later, we have a good but undermanned Navy, a small Army with a handful of under-strength, green divisions, and, according to the experts, practically nothing in the way of a modern Air Force.

One of the most thought-provoking articles on the possible significance of this leads off the October issue of the Atlantic Monthly. Written by Francis and Katherine Drake, it is called "Our Next Pearl Harbor." And its tone is found in this sentence: "Our land lies naked before a weapon which, in the words of the Smyth Report, is potentially destructive beyond the wildest nightmares of the imagination: a weapon so ideally suited to sudden, unannounced attack that a country's major cities might be destroyed overnight by an ostensibly friendly power." And a little later on the Drakes write: "It is a fact that today the United States is virtually helpless against such an attack (with atomic weapons) and that we have been sliding at increasing speed towards a military impotence that is an open invitation to disaster."

A good many people seem to think that no power would dare to use the atomic bomb against us because of the fear of retaliation—a factor which undoubtedly prevented the use of poison gas in the last war. The point these people miss, in the Drakes' opinion, is that we are dangerously short of retaliatory instruments. We could stockpile atomic bombs by the thousands, but they would not serve us in war unless we had means of getting them to enemy targets—and getting them there at once. According to Major General Echols, Russia is building some 44,000 military planes this year. We are building 1,300 or so. And it is known that Russia is giving unlimited resources to war preparations of all kinds—with the atomic bomb holding top priority.

Just now strong is the once-great U. S. Air Forces? Our best bomber is still the B-29, though most experts consider it obsolete. A while ago the Air Forces got together "every operational B-29 in the country" for demonstration in the East. The total muster produced 130 planes—and of these, 28 didn't get there. General Kenney, the commander of the demonstration, called his tiny armada "a futile force." And, say the Drakes, the demonstration was so unimpressive that onlookers gave it the name Operation FLOP! That, remember, was the force that once numbered 80,000 combat planes, and blasted the Japanese and Germans from the air.

We have some 2,500 B-29s in dead storage. But it would take months, and perhaps a year or more to prepare them for combat and to train the necessary ground and air crews. We had the time in the last war, thanks to British resistance and the "primitive" weapons then in use. No military commentator thinks we will have it if war comes again.

The Drakes believe that national security demands a modern Air Striking Force equipped with at least 1,000 modern, long-range bombers, which will be kept in combat readiness at all times. Secondly, they continue, we must have an adequately financed research program which will assure us world leadership in aircraft development. There is an old saying to the effect that every military plane is obsolete as soon as built—its superior is on the drawing boards. At present, our research activities seem pitifully inadequate. All we have is a few experimental prototypes of advanced planes. The Air Forces asked $300,000,000 for research and procurement—they were actually given $23,000,000.

The Drakes deal in some detail with the potential destructiveness of the atomic bomb. They quote the great physicist, Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, who said "atomic weapons might kill 40,000,000 Americans in a single night." The bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki affected only three or four miles of area. The scientists think that future bombs may be able to devastate three or four hundred square miles—an area greater than that of any American city. And even that would not be the end. These giant bombs would release enormous amounts of unshielded radium the effect of which would be unimaginable.

The Drakes touch on the dangerous theory that there will be no atomic war because it would be too horrible—that no nation would bring itself to employ so fiendish a means of destruction. They say in reply to this attitude: "Let us not forget that there has never been a weapon invented in human history, from arrows to flame throwers, that has not been used to the utmost of its capacity. If we, a tolerant and enlightened nation, could bring ourselves to drop atom bombs on the homeland of an enemy, are we prepared, in the absence of an effective international police force, to rely on moral force to prevent an enemy from dropping bombs on us?"

People who look back these days on that is the terrifying question may not turn into a pillar of salt, their article propounds. It is clearly but they may turn into a telephone a question that the United States pole.

LOCKNEY HIGH

By Martel McDonald and Glynn Earle Norman

We'll take it for granted that you all had a good time Friday night. The carnival was a big success; Betty Myers won the queen's race and considering all the Hallow'een pranks that were played, it will be considered a memorable night.

The usual pep rally was not held last night because the coaches wanted the boys to have as little excitement as possible. There will be a big rally next week in advance of the Matador game where, incidentally, the football queen will be crowned. The candidates for this race were selected by the football squad on Tuesday. They are as follows: seniors, Patsy Harris; Junior, Lena Sue Pylant; sophomore, Mervene Patterson; freshman, Velma Seale. These candidates are all definite additions to the race.

We urge every loyal Longhorn supporter to be present at the football game tonight. The Longhorns meet their traditional enemy, Floydada, at Mitchell Zimmerman field at 8:00. This promises to be the most exciting game of the season. Come foul or fair weather, let's let those guys know that they have our support, win or lose! (But its going to be win if the following people know what they are talking about and we think they do.)

Captain Daniels—"We are going on the field with the power and determination to win over Floydada for the first time in seven years. We have a better than even chance. The game will be a close one but I would not hesitate to say that our team is the better of the two and I am anticipating victory tonight."

Captain Hansard—"I've seen every team in our district play this fall, with the exception of Paducah, and I can say without hesitation that Floydada's Whirlwinds are the best I've seen. They have experience, size, and will to win. I look for a close game. We can win by keeping calm and exhibiting sharper blocking and tackling—thus making up for superior size and experience. I'm confident that we can and will."

Captain Daniels—"This team will be the toughest that we have played yet but we will play a better game than we have ever played. All that we are asking is that you people want to see us win come out and let us know that we have your support."

Captain Cartel—"This will be a tough game but its about time for Lockney to turn the tables on Floydada and we are better equipped for it than we have been in a long time. We will play a better game if we know that you are out there supporting us, so come and see the game."

The seniors closed their magazine sale Friday with sales totaling over four hundred dollars. The prize, a table model radio, was awarded to Janet Huffman, who sold more magazines than anyone else in the class. The proceeds of the sale will be contributed to the senior trip fund.

What's the verdict on these new report cards? They are hard to keep track of, WE'LL have to admit, but they are a more accurate gauge of our grades. Looks like they are here to stay though, so lets make the best of them.

Next week there will be a box in study hall to put gossip in, so everyone that knows anything interesting to the students, please write it up and put it in there. It will be collected at noon on each Tuesday. Everyone please co-operate and it will do a lot toward improving this column.

Lockney High Wonders

Who was responsible for the tractor that was left on Mrs. Thomas' door step?

Who in the world was so thirsty Friday night as to let the butane out of Mr. Hansard's tank so they could get a drink?

Daniels and cheer-leader Miller. This charming little girl and the handsome captain make a nice couple, if we may be so bold as to say so. Glynn Earle, who are you really going to be supporting tonight? I'll have to admit that the choice would be difficult.

Kay, Trigger, let's don't fall too hard now, it might prove fatal. . . .

Serid, don't you and "Shoulders" speak any more?

"Muscles", how are you and your Silverton woman getting along?

Floyd County Farmers Use Smith-Doxey Act

Here's another "first" for Texas agriculture and Floyd County. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that Texas has more farmers than any other state who planted cotton this year in groups organized under the Smith-Doxey Act of 1937. Smith-Doxey, you know, authorized the government to provide free classing and market news service to any group of producers organized to promote the improvement of cotton, the big aim of the Act being to enable growers to sell cotton on the basis of quality and to allow the producer to know within a few days after ginning just what he has to offer for sale. Texas has well over one-fourth the total U. S. Smith-Doxey membership, over 94,000 farmers in this state. Mississippi is second with 57,600, and Alabama third with 31,600. Sixty-four percent of this year's U. S. cotton acreage was Smith-Doxey cotton, and that's a record, and an increase of about two million acres over last year. Floyd County gins are enrolled for this service annually by A. L. Hartzog, County Agent. Rusty Baccus flew to Dallas last Thursday on business and to attend the Texas-S. M. U. football game.

Plains Irrigation Resources Studied

Plainview—R. L. Cushman, hydraulic engineer of the United States Geological Survey, has reported here for duty with the staff of the USGS and Texas State Board of Water Engineers, which is making joint study of ground water resources of the High Plains. Cushman will make pumping tests. He hopes to be able to make tests on wells which are located close together. During the season when wells are not being operated for irrigation it is expected to operate one well and observe the drawdown in nearby wells and measure the transmissibility of the sands. He is looking for good spots for such tests during the non-pumping season. The field staff hopes to gather and correlate such information as will help water users of this area determine what are safe water yields. He will office with J. R. Barnes and W. C. Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging headache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
