500 Is Voting Power In Dallam

Dallam county will have an actual voting strength of about 500 ballots.

Dallam county, according to figures secured by County Judge West of Channing for The Hartley County and The Hartley County has an actual voting strength of 500 and will probably cast 500 votes.

In the July 1940 primary election, 2,348 votes were cast in the same precinct. Hartley county last year had a total potential vote of 822 divided as follows: Paid over-age exemptions, 105; over-age exemptions due to new residence, 7.

This year has 384 paid over-age and 35 under-age exemptions for a total of 519. This year has 1,140 paid over-age exemptions. It has about 1,900 paid over-age exemptions. It will, of course, be the same as last year except if percentage of exemptions is estimated at 350 to 400.

The election closed last night with a total of 47 cast in the county, contrasted with 38 last July.

Next Saturday the election will not be nearly so close as indicated by the absentee ballot returns. Perhaps fewer persons have been on vacation this month, and there has been less absentee voting.

The election will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. In Dalhart they will be held in the justice of the peace office court house; and at the city of Texline they may be in the school house, though that could not be determined from local sources.

At other precincts they will be held in the school houses, it was determined from local sources.

Following a long-established custom, the B. & B. will cooperate in gathering the returns from Hartley and Sherman counties.

The Texan will gather the returns and the B. & B. will post on its big board.

Babson Says His Topic Today Most Vital Of Career

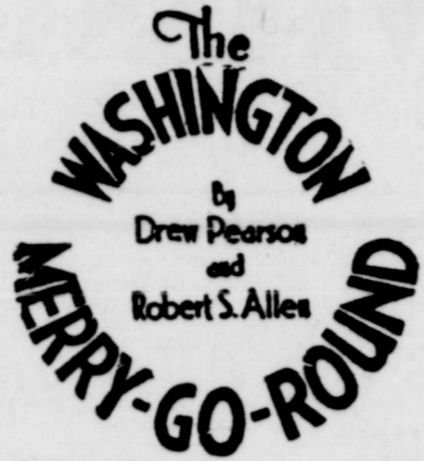

You, of course, know who Roger Babson is—the world's foremost authority as a business forecaster; an expert on financial matters; taxes, national income; monetary trends that may determine outcome on wars.

He is internationally known. He has been writing his now world-recognized column for 21 years.

Yet today's column, he says, is on the most important subject he ever covered.

It isn't world finance, or Hitler, or the Russo-German struggle, or any other topic that Americans have come to think of as a world-shattering, mind-staggering all-out problem that for the present defies solution. —It's crime.

Turn to Babson's column and see why crime today is the No. 1 U. S. domestic problem.

WASHINGTON.—The Russo-German war has brought more than ever to the forefront two young diplomats who represent the two belligerents, Ambassador Constantin Oumansky of Russia and Charge d'Affaires Hans Thomsen of Germany.

Both are about the same age, in their early 40's, both are extremely able, both play an extremely different role, and neither circulates very much in Washington society.

Thomsen, born of a Norwegian mother and married to a Hungarian wife, sometimes is suspected of anti-Hitler leanings. This suspicion has been increased by his wife's unconcealed dislike for Hitler.

Frau Thomsen has declared (Turn to Page 4—Column 1)

More Rain Falls Over This Sector

Rain, varying considerably in intensity, fell over the Dalhart area again late yesterday.

The U. S. field station, four miles southwest of Dalhart, recorded .23 inch. This boosted the total since Jan. 1. to 20.78 inches. The average normal is 8.43.

The Canadian River Gas company booster station, two miles east of Dalhart, recorded .65 of an inch. The rain swept in from the north, and fell heavily all the way from north of Clayton into Dalhart.

Rita Blanca draw was moving about running board deep over U. S. Highway 54, a mile and a half southwest of Dalhart, at mid-morning. It may have been higher earlier, said W. H. Wadkins, SCS employee. He said the Rita Blanca Lake level is still 36 feet even. Enough water has flowed in that the level hasn't varied since last Saturday.

The Rock Island reported rain from Dalhart to Sunray, 40 miles east, about the same as here. There were also rains on the east end of the division in Kansas.

Roy Wharton of the Bunker Hill area, west of Dalhart, said no rain fell there, and that it didn't fall seven miles south of Texline.

REDS SLOW DOWN BLITZ

Even the German actions indicated that Adolf Hitler's blitzkrieg timetable against invaded Russia has been disrupted. How seriously may not be known for several days.

But an action on the diplomatic front, that so far has received little attention, may become as world-shocking as the sudden and thunderous explosion of the Russo-German war.

This newest action may parallel the Russo-German rupture in that it may mean another shifting of alignments in the current conflict.

This report, from an informed Vichy source, says Germans have already released 4000 French sailors from prison camps and that another 6000 are to be turned loose. If this is true, it may mean that the Petain government may be on the verge of turning over the French fleet to Germany, a possibility that England has long feared and against which the British and the U. S. have repeatedly warned Petain.

The German high command last night promised details on its blitz successes which, it said, are so brilliant as to stagger description. But the details didn't come forth today.

Observers consequently are sure that all is not going as well as Germany anticipated, though how serious the blitz may be stalled is not known.

What are believed to be reliable sources say the blitz has penetrated little if at all into the main Russian defenses which are inside the former European boundaries of the Soviet.

All the fighting so far has been in Russia's half of old Poland; in the recently acquired Soviet Baltic states—Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia; along the Russo-Finnish frontier and in the south along outer fringes of the Ukraine, Bessarabia and the Rumanian Nazi boundary.

Germany, according to military observers, is stabbing at Russia with two giant blitzkrieg forks and two daggers.

The three-pronger forks are on the northern and southern flanks of the broad front stretching from the Baltic area southward. A single column is trying to push eastward from the middle of this front; and another single column is trying to drive out of Rumania and into Bessarabia.

Two of the three columns of the northern fork apparently have been stopped and the third is snailing. One of the three prongs of the southern fork has been smashed, according to observers; another is stalled, another is crawling laboriously.

Senate Wanting To Quit July 3

Austin — The Senate and House returned today to their old argument of whether to adjourn or recess.

The House still wants to recess to mid-July, then reconvene and probably on July 18 take sine die adjournment.

The Senate today proposed sine die adjournment July 3. Speaker Leonard indicated the House would recess today till next Tuesday, July 1, and at that time would take up the Senate's latest proposal.

XIT Committee Studies Ways To Better Reunion

General XIT Committee, Spencer, chairman; Charlie Coombes, in charge of entertainment for XIT and other pioneers; J. C. Parker, in charge of dances and concessions; Willis Stewart, director of parades and band contest.

Mahoney, who is also secretary of the chamber of commerce, handles a large part of the correspondence and other detail work of the Committee.

Mrs. Rhoades, proprietor of the Rita Blanca Studio, last evening made a number of XIT pictures for publicity use.

The business meeting was given to suggestions and discussions aimed at perfecting plans for the Sixth Annual XIT Reunion August 4 and 5. Chairman Spencer vigorously solicited criticisms and ideas designed to make this year's Reunion outstanding.

Among other things, it was decided to lay more emphasis than ever on historical atmosphere in the XIT parades that will roll at 11 a. m. each morning.

DON'T LET US RUSSIA YOU INTO THIS

With the weapons of democracy in their hands patriotic Texans will stage a blitzkrieg on every voting precinct in the Lone Star State next Saturday. The raid will open at eight o'clock and firing will continue until seven o'clock in the evening. A rapid advance is expected along all fronts, and a victory over disinterest, disloyalty, and lack of state pride is expected.

Few are the nations that use the same methods. Daily their number grows less. Here the people are bombed for days and nights but their constitutional rights give them the privilege of stopping the bombing any time they don't like it. No censored statements come to them by press or radio. Instead of being commanded to appear on a certain day and bow in humility to certain individuals, Americans become the most sought-after people in the country. The common man walks on an equal with the nation's great; the poor man is as rich as the wealthiest and his ammunition is just as potent.

In Dallam county more than 500 soldiers are enlisted in this army. Most of them pay for the privilege of being soldiers on election day. They love the battle. They believe in the cause. They differ among themselves but accept the result in the true democratic fashion.

But strange as it might seem to the millions denied these same privileges in foreign countries there are good American citizens who refuse to take part in the daylight raid on the ballot box. They are not slackers, they have just accepted this privilege without realizing its true value. They would be among the first to shoulder arms if they thought it might be taken from them but they think it is all right to "let George do it" on election day.

Texas will select a United States Senator Saturday. It would be a travesty on democracy if that person were selected by only a small percent of the voters of the State. Let's prove our pride in the things we are willing to sacrifice our youth for by going to the ballot box and casting a vote for the candidate of our choice next Saturday!

"SHOW ME," Said The Missourian

"I'm from Missouri, you've got to show me."

And with this statement many folks have insisted that the merits and demerits of the product in which they are interested be thoroughly explained to them. Whether the statement originated in Missouri we do not know. It might have been a Texan, for Texans are prone to be shown exactly what they get for their money before parting with the hard cash or making an agreement to pay.

Any merchant who has been doing business any reasonable length of time in the same community delights in serving the "show me" folks. True, a merchant whose word has proven reliable over a long period of years is seldom asked to "show me" but generally insists upon doing so before the customer receives the purchased product.

We are proud of the fact that we are a "show me" firm. And we don't just mean that we like to show our product, have it thoroughly tested before we reach the climax in our sales, but we insist on being shown what we purchase to sell our customers.

And there is a reason behind this. We know what we are selling!

There is no guesswork on the part of our salesmen when they tell you exactly what the FARMALL will do. They have been shown. They have seen it perform. They know that years of study, planning and work have gone into the smallest part of that tractor. They know that each working part is constructed of the very best material. They know the company behind the product and they know the needs of the buyer.

We've never lived in Missouri, but we make no excuse for being a "show me" firm and we like "show me" customers. Just invite us to show you the new FARMALL-H or FARMALL-M.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burnings sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

that she would not go back to Germany if her husband were recalled, as long as Hitler is in power.

Actually, however, Thomsen is a loyal Nazi and a close friend of Hitler's. He happened to be in the Foreign Office when Hitler came into power, and served for some time as liaison officer between the new Chancellor and the Foreign Office. Quite a bond of friendship grew up between them.

Likewise, Ambassador Oumansky is close personally to the dictator of his country, Josef Stalin. Oumansky once was chief of the press bureau in Moscow, in other words, chief censor, and came into close contact with Stalin.

Oumansky and his wife are great students of American life and politics, and know this country as well or better than most diplomats. They have not circulated socially since Russia made her ill-fated alliance with Hitler in 1939, but the Soviet receptions once were famous for caviar, vodka and rich viands rivaling anything given during the ornate days of the Czar.

OUANSKY AND HULL

Oumansky has had frequent contact with the State Department, especially last summer and fall, when Sumner Welles was trying to work out an agreement by which Russia might be weaned away from the Axis and aid the United States in case of trouble with Japan. It was tough diplomatic negotiating, first because Oumansky was having trouble with pro-Axis Stalin; second because Welles was having trouble with his anti-Soviet chief, Secretary Hull.

Despite his knowledge of American politics, Ambassador Oumansky made one of the prize remarks of recent diplomatic history one day when he complained:

"The only person I see when I go to the State Department is Sumner Welles. I think a nation of the importance of Russia should have its ambassador received by the Secretary of State himself."

Ambassador Oumansky did not know it, but the chief reason Hull did not see him (though he did later on one or two occasions) was because the Secretary of State was using his most pungent Tennessee phraseology on all things Russian. And he had very definite ideas about Mr. Welles' hope that Russia might be brought into the same corner as the U. S. A. But it took time for charming Comrade Oumansky to tumble.

WAR NOTES

Underground reports from the Ukraine indicate that several Russian military commanders there are none too sympathetic with Stalin. . . There has been a small German population in the Ukraine ever since the days of Catherine the Great, when she imported 60,000 Germans to increase farm production. The Russians at that time were serfs. Catherine gave the Germans their freedom and they have been landlords ever since, though suppressed by Moscow in recent years. . . Apparently even some parts of the Russian Government did not believe there was going to be war. Nazi fliers found some south Russian cities brilliantly lighted, easy bomb targets. . . When the Rumanians folded up last year, the Russians took not only Bessarabia but Bukovina, which went further than specified in their deal with Hitler. Within twenty-four hours after the war broke, a German column was reported as having taken back Bukovina.

ROOSEVELT'S COUSINS

The heat has gone out of the hatred Roosevelt used to suffer from his political foes. But not from his foes within the far-flung Roosevelt family.

Not long ago, George Emlen Roosevelt, Wall Street banker and cousin of the President, had occasion to come to Washington, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt sent him a friendly invitation to lunch at the White House. But the banker declined.

Back in New York, a friend asked him why he had not accepted. "Because," he said, "the last time I was with Franklin, he had us pose for a picture together. It was a frame-up! He must have known I didn't want to be seen in company with him!"

Note — George E. Roosevelt is five years younger than the President, a Harvard graduate, and a member of the investment banking firm of Roosevelt and Son.

*** AXIS STEEL PROFITS

The crackdown on Axis assets, which State Department appears blocked for months, has revealed to officials many hidden loopholes through which Germany and Italy siphoned millions of dollars to finance subversive operations in this country and Latin America.

Freezing the funds also disclosed that while the loopholes were plugged, Axis agents are still defiantly active.

One case of this kind was a group of Italians who, shortly after the outbreak of war, organized a U. S. company to export highgrade steel, used in making machine tools and instruments. When Mussolini leaped into the fray as France was collapsing, shipments to Italy ceased.

But the company continued to buy large quantities of the steel, which it sold to U. S. users at fancy profits, as ever-mounting defense needs boosted prices. This money the company turned over to Italy.

When freezing order came, blocking further transmission of funds, the company had on hand a large stock of steel. It immediately notified its U. S. customers that no more orders would be filled. Inquiries brought the cocky reply that the company didn't care to sell if it couldn't get its hands on the money — to send to Italy.

On this, however, the Italians have another trick coming. They will sell the steel they hold and the money will not go to Il Duce. Also they will get no more steel. Uncle Sam has taken steps to these ends.

Note — In another case involving a $160,000 check cashed by the Nazis just before the freezing order, Treasury agents discovered that this was done by shunting it through four different persons to a secretly Nazi-controlled Swiss concern.

*** FOOD FOR MARTINIQUE

Though Department of Agriculture says it's only "routine," the real reason for sending experts to investigate food shortage on Martinique, and Guadeloupe is to prevent reshipment of food to Nazi-dominated Europe.

The Allied blockade has cut off the supply lines of the two French Caribbean islands. Recently, the U. S. Treasury has allowed limited amounts of French blocked funds to be released for shipment of American farm products to the islands. And now the Agriculture Department's food survey in French possessions is a polite way of preventing the food from being relayed to Europe.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ex-Governor Winant of New Hampshire, now Ambassador at London, is credited with selling another ex-New Hampshire Governor, Robert P. Bass, as the new "minister of propaganda." Bass, one of the many Republicans in the Roosevelt Administration, will function under Republican Mayor LaGuardia's new Civil Defense Administration. He will be in charge of civilian morale. . . Price regulator Leon Henderson has been arguing for about a week with Ford and Chrysler, two companies which did not rescind the price increases announced some time ago. General Motors was the only company

Maybe it's my second childhood, but right now I can hardly wait to see Charlie Chaplin, his famous cane and mustache, in action again. I'm going to think it is some twenty years ago and I was at the age when everything was funny and the funniest man in the world was Charlie Chaplin. "The Dictator" is at the Mission Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and nights.

Believe it or not; after so many years Mama and Dad Lewis are going to take a vacation, the first in their lives and Dad says, "Boy, we aint no spring chickens." Leaving about the first of the month they will visit in Texas, Louisiana, Georgia and possibly several other states before coming back to work. And I'll bet they have a swell time.

The chigger situation is still claiming attention. I have this very fine letter from our friend R. H. Faxon, secretary of the Raton Chamber of Commerce:

Let me give you a new, and yet an old version.

Thomas A. McNeal is editor of Kansas Farmer Mail & Breeze, Topeka, a Copper publication, whose head is the distinguished Kansas United States Senator, Arthur Capper, now serving his fourth term in the United States Senate.

Mr. McNeal is in his eighty-seventh year, ripe, sound, keen of mind and body and pen. He is one of my oldest and best friends. He was mayor of Medicine Lodge, Kansas, long a member of the Kansas Legislature, was private secretary to two Governors, was State Printer of Kansas, served on the Kansas State Textbook Commission, and has been a newspaperman all his life.

Long ago, when I was a kid, and I am no neophyte, as you know, "Tom" McNeal wrote this, and printed it, and was the founder of the "chigger" ditty school:

If a chigger were bigger,
As big as a cow,
And its digger had vigor
Like a subsoil plow,
Can you tell me,
Pieknicker,

Where you would be now?
All the offspring have varied this original, but it is the original, and in view of my good old friend Tom's age and background, I think it worthy to reprint it.
With kind regards, I am,
Cordially yours,
R. H. Faxon, Secretary.

And Faxon includes a handbill in his letter telling about the "finest lights in the west," which means the new street lighting system at Raton. It's called Mercury Vapor lighting. Has anyone seen it? What does it look like?

Parents who have worried about this influx of "funnies" flooding the country are finding some relief in the one published by Parents Magazine. Its called "Real Heroes" which did not up prices on new models. . . Henderson is now putting a price ceiling on cotton print goods. (Distributed, 1941, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Young Folks Again Stress Recreation Facility Need

Dalhart young folks, in their own way, have again emphasized the need for adequate recreational facilities in the town. They are driving, late in the evening, to the public school tennis courts, turning their car radios up to a thunderous pitch and using the concrete courts for a dance floor.

They talk, laugh and have a hilly and instead of being superman stuff it deals with real folks, teaching the children as it entertains. This week's copy deals with Franklin Roosevelt, Eddie Rickenbacker, Molly Pitcher and others.

The above paragraph is, of course, advertising and ordinarily it would never appear in this column. But we have a couple of boys who get buried up in those comics and I know that it has worried us a lot. With the coming of this new comic we feel some relief and it seems to me to be important enough to call your attention to even though we would ordinarily get paid for doing so.

Many of Deskin Wells' friends have asked me about his election as secretary of the Texas Press Association, a full-time job that has been held the past thirty years by Sam Harben of Dallas. Deck has made no formal statement but the news behind the news seems to indicate that the TPA is establishing a new working set-up. A committee has been working with the University of Texas on a plan to provide a full-time executive secretary who will work in cooperation with the University and the association. Deck was acceptable to both the University and the organization and his unanimous election indicates that the association has completed its arrangements for the change. The University is expected to act on it in July or August.

This working arrangement between the state University and the state Press Association is one that is used carefully in many other states of the union. They happen to be among the strongest and most active of any of the state press associations.

arious time far into the night cording to Chief of Police J. Dickey who has begun to get orous protests from persons near the courts.

They don't object to the having fun. Chief Dickey said they don't blame them. They with the kids that more recreational facilities are needed.

But on the other hand they can't sleep while the are going on, and they have that they be stopped. One said she was about to lose a er on account of it.

Dickey, accordingly, is that young folks stopped the tice. At the same time he v question that has been uppe for years in the minds of every adult Dalhartan: "When we going to get adequate recreational facilities?"

Crime Prevention Is Now Most Vital Domestic U. S. Problem

(By ROGER W. BABSON)

Babson Park, Mass., June 26.— This week I am writing on probably the most important subject I have ever covered in my column during its 21 years of continuous publication. After a thorough statistical study of the cost of crime, carefully checked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other government authorities, I make this statement. If crime committed in this country could be eliminated and government peace-time appropriations cut to what they were ten years ago, we could pay for our entire defense program with no increase in taxes and without the issuance of any additional government bonds. Naturally, this terrific annual crime expense of over $15,000,000,000 could not be cut immediately; but enough of it could now be eliminated to go a long way in accomplishing the desired purpose.

Billions Spent for Insurance

Crime places a tremendous burden upon every community in which it strikes. There are both direct and indirect losses incurred from crime committed which must be considered in estimating any cost of crime.

The most tangible cost is the private losses in income due to annual premiums paid for insurance against criminal acts. This would include burglary, robbery, forgeries, auto thefts, and all other types of theft insurance. There would also be fidelity insurance which would include premiums paid on fidelity policies insuring banks, commercial firms, and private individuals against embezzlements, forgeries, and other defalcations by employees. Riot insurance would also come under this heading.

In the case of losses not covered by insurance, we must consider the direct losses suffered by private citizens from crimes against property which would include arson, malicious mischief, theft and robberies from railroads, express, and similar companies which carry their own insurance.

Loss in Human Values

Losses due to crimes against the person, such as homicides and wounding and sex offenses, form a large item in any tabulated cost of crime. In homicides, there is a direct loss to the community of the victim's services as a human asset and to the victim's family there is a loss of income. In wounding and mayhem, there is a resultant economic loss to the victim and cost of hospitalization, together with the loss of earning power to his family and to the community at large.

Under sex offenses would come prostitutes. Although it is quite impossible to estimate the actual loss that might be incurred, still there is bound to be an economic loss to the family of the prostitute as the earning power of the family is decreased thereby. Commercialized fraud, organized extortion, and racketeering losses due to the use of mails to defraud cover a tremendous amount of the tribute paid by society annually in these phases of criminal activity.

35 Per Cent of Administration Taxes

The cost of administration of criminal justice is a large item in the cost of crime. This, of course, would include federal, state, county, and city courts. The salaries of officials, guards, and other employees of penal institutions, plus the upkeep of the prisons, correctional institutions, reformatories, and asylums must also be taken into consideration and this, of course, would include federal, state, county, city, and private. All of these costs are paid by citizens and must amount to about 35 per cent of our state taxes.

Private expenditures for protection against crime, such as most commercial companies have found necessary, must be considered in the cost of crime. This would include their own investigators, detectives and guards, armored car service for the transportation of money and valuables to and from banks and commercial houses, also certain auditors, bookkeepers, and overhead.

Private citizens suffer heavy losses as victims of gambling or other illegal enterprises, through the bribery of public officials and police officers. These crimes cause alliances to grow up between crooked politicians and organized racketeers and it is the citizen who must pay through taxes for any graft practiced by unethical officeholders and public servants. Another large loss is suffered by honest commercial firms when they are forced to pay tribute to one racketeering organization for "protection" from other racketeering organizations.

Over $15,000,000,000 In All

Also in the category of indirect losses must be considered the earning power of criminals at large and the earning power of prisoners who are already incarcerated in the penal institutions. When we consider that all these have, to some degree, an earning power which has been diverted from the potential productive class to the "burden" class to be taken care of through taxation, the cost of crime becomes stupendous.

On June 24, 1931, a report prepared under the direction of the National Commission on Law Observation and Enforcement entitled "Report on the Cost of Crime" was published and copies of this report may be obtained from the United States Government Printing Office. The footnote contained on Page 70 of this report reflects an estimated cost of crime and mention is made of an article which appeared in the New York Herald-Tribune of March 21, 1931, which estimated the cost of crime at $18,000,000,000 per year.

This is my solution for the tax problem, the government debt problem, and many other problems.

THE ARMY NOW! WHY AND HOW

By S. T. Williamson

The favorite work song of the States Army is bellowed to the chorus of "John Brown's" Its more or less melodic is that "All we do is payroll" and that, to put a briefcase but less emphasis on the lyrics, nothing I have heard this song with great fervor in many a road along many a road by two generations of soldiers. Typical of the quizzical, exaggeration of the soldier, this song is no more accurate than the statement soldiers work for $21 a pay really begins where the wage-earner's leaves off. Government provides free food, clothing, light, heat and transportation. For incidentals an enlisted man is velvet. A Private makes more than four months the Army gets $30. A Private Class, has $36 base pay and corporal $54. Sergeant's pay runs from $60 a month for Master Sergeants. Technicians, a grade which includes the much-abused and much-hated Top Sergeant, begin at $84 and platoon Sergeants at $72. Enlisted men get raises according to their service. A man serving four years in the Army gets four percent more pay. Each year after that his pay rises until, after 16 years he reaches a maximum 25 percent. Thus a First Sergeant in the Army 16 years gets $135 a month. A Master Sergeant the same length of service gets $137 1/2 a month. A Second Lieutenant's base pay is $125; which means that the highest ranking enlisted man gets a higher base pay than the lowest grade commissioned officer.

Here's some mail. C. C., Baltimore, Md. I think the government should be urged to make it possible for soldiers on leave to visit Washington at low cost. It would do a lot of them good to visit the national capital and experience the inspiration which comes to every tourist who goes there.

The Morale Branch of the Army has already made provision for this. It has a tent encampment near the Bureau of Engraving and Printing where soldiers may spend the night. Soon it will have in operation a recreational area for 1000 men on the west bank of the Potomac, close to the Arlington Memorial Bridge. Tents will be floored and screened. Beds will be free but soldiers on leave must pay for their own chow, supplied on a concession basis.

VFW Is Predicting U. S. Entry Into War

Fort Worth — Veterans of Foreign Wars, closing their annual Texas convention in Fort Worth yesterday, predicted that the U. S. would send an expeditionary force to Europe within 60 to 90 days.

Resolutions, among other things, urged that a man of ability be named to succeed Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and that necessary steps be taken to stop strikes in defense work.

They called for immediate U. S. entry into the war, if that is necessary for the nation's welfare. They also asked for a firmer hand with Japan; the greatest possible aid to England; and repeal of the neutrality law.

State Representative J. A. Benton of Wylie, who has been senior vice-commander, was elevated to state commander, succeeding Tom H. Carter of Lubbock. Mrs. Nell M. Moody, San Antonio, was reelected state auxiliary president. Houston was chosen the 1942 convention city.

Three Dalhart Trips Planned

Chairman Dan Spencer of the General XIT Committee, said this morning that he would shoulder the responsibility of an XIT motorcade to Clayton July 4.

He has asked Willis Stewart to head an XIT delegation to the U. S. Will Rogers Memorial Highway convention in Tucumcari June 30; and J. C. Parker to direct an XIT group to Clarendon July 4.

Gov. John E. Miles of New Mexico has promised to attend the Tucumcari event and head the colorful cowboy parade at 1 p.m. Among Hollywood stars expected is Leo Carrillo. He has never missed a Will Rogers Memorial convention.

A highlight of the Clarendon celebration, chamber of commerce officials said, will be an impressive service in tribute to the late Homer Mulkey of Clarendon. He was an old XIT ranch hand.

Clayton will open its celebration the afternoon of July 3 with a rodeo, Spencer said. A nationally-known speaker is sought for that night, and afterward a dance will be held.

Spencer said the Dalhart group, led by the XIT band, directed by C. W. Beene, would head for Clayton early the morning of the Fourth.

Grains Advance All Along Line

Chicago wheat at noon was one and seven-eighths to two cents higher: July $1.04-5-8. Corn advanced an eighth to a quarter: July 73 7-8. Oats were up an eighth to a quarter: July 36 1-4.

The New York stock market was moderately active with 370,000 shares traded at the end of four hours.

Cotton in New York was 14 to 16 points higher, and New Orleans 11 to 18 points up.

In Kansas City salable cattle were 1,200; total 1,300. Calves salable and total, 400.

from midway of the two forks has taken Brest-Litovsk, fortified city in old Poland, but east of there is stymied.

Germans and Rumanians have made some advances on their front, but today seemed to be making little if any progress.

What all this may now or ultimately mean is all conjecture. British observers hold out no hope that Russia can definitely turn back the invaders. England is preparing for a Russian collapse in six to eight weeks.

Germany is still apparently trying to use some parachutists, but Russia claims they are being captured as they land. The Soviet yesterday claimed the parachutists were dressed in Russian uniforms. Nazis angrily denied it.

Germany claims to have full control of the air over the fighting front. Russia denies this and points out that it is continuing to heavily bomb Constanta, Warsaw, points in East Prussia and elsewhere. Reds say in four days fighting they lost 391 planes and that they shot down 457 Nazi craft.

Reds have continued to bomb what they call German concentrations in Finland, and Finns finally have announced they are waging a defensive war against the Soviet. However, observers construe this as meaning full-blown Finnish collaboration with the Nazis.

Sweden, under pressure from both Finland and Germany, has agreed to let up to one Nazi division cross its territory from Norway to Finland. Swedes said they would try to stay neutral, but have called up army and navy reserves.

Nazis continue to claim that anti-Russian revolts are spreading throughout the Baltic states. But there is no confirmation.

British continue increasingly heavier assaults on the Western aerial front, blasting at industrial areas in Germany and Nazi occupied France. Apparently it is trying to force a part of the Luftwaffe, now being used against the Reds, to be returned to the Channel areas.

Germany admitted today that one of her big surface raiders had sunk in a battle with a British cruiser, but that the ship's companion raider, the German pocket-ship battleship Admiral Scheer, had escaped and returned to port.

Vichy said British naval units today for the first time heavily shelled Bierut defenses. British and Free French pressure increased on all Syrian fronts, but Vichy troops continue fierce resistance.

British said German planes have been severely bombing British occupied cities, transportation and communication lines, apparently in a desperate effort to bolster the Vichy forces.

In Washington today, the U. S. navy asked congress for a law empowering it to hold all enlisted men, regardless of their expiration time, until the current emergency is past.

A senate defense investigating committee today bitterly condemned the Aluminum Corporation of America. The committee said the firm had purposely led the OPM to believe there was an adequate aluminum supply just so it wouldn't get a competitor in this highly lucrative field. There is now a disastrous shortage, the committee said, and no chance to do anything about it.

Barmaids Protested By Texas Bartenders

El Paso — Texas bartenders today appealed to the Texas Federation of Labor convention in El Paso to do something to prevent the hiring of barmaids.

They are unmatched competition, the male beer-slingers complained, and besides they can, or at least do, work cheaper and are destroying the wage standards of the profession.

Resolutions before the convention today include one opposing Gov. O'Daniel for the U. S. Senate; endorsing President Roosevelt's foreign policies; and calling for full support of British labor.

But the whole fact in a nutshell is—advertising is simply a TIME-SAVER.

RAILWAY LABOR UNION DEMANDS WOULD COST 900 Million Dollars A YEAR

THE labor unions have made their demands upon the railways of the United States—and through the railways upon the PUBLIC. These demands are vastly larger in proportion than any they have ever made. The economical and efficient operation of the railways is vital to the nation's defense effort. Therefore, the Western Railways present to the public the following facts:

The labor unions representing engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen are demanding a 30 per cent increase in wages, amounting to 190 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay are the highest in history.

Other unions representing a greater number of railway employees are demanding wage increases ranging as high as 95 per cent—averaging 47 per cent—and amounting to 580 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay also are the highest in history.

Thus the wage increases being demanded by the labor unions amount to 770 million dollars a year, an average increase in excess of 41 per cent.

In addition, certain of these labor unions have demanded advances in their pay not included in the above figures, and more rules for the creation of unnecessary jobs.

The situation, then, is this: The total cost of complying with all the demands made would be approximately 900 million dollars a year!

The average weekly earnings of railway employees are now 15 per cent higher than in the peak year 1929, while the cost of living is 12 per cent less.

The demands of the railway labor unions are being made when the entire nation has just been asked to make a supreme effort for National Defense.

The railways cannot meet these demands without a great increase in the cost of transportation. They exceed by more than 700 million dollars the income that the railways had left after paying their annual expenses, taxes and charges in 1940.

The railways have a vitally important job before them. They need all their resources to continue adequately to serve you and contribute effectively toward the National Defense Program.

SYNOPSIS

To the very rim of the Shanghai-Tientsin-Hongkong Far East war threat zone goes Capt. Hugh North to work "on the inside" for peace in the guise of Howard Nevins, big game hunter. Within the hour of his arrival at Honolulu, he is warned via 'phone by a woman's voice to return to the States. That night he attends a gay party tendered by Abner Polk, wealthy American. Alluring Phèdre Ren-ôire, hostess; Baron von Rentner, German industrialist; and Hideyo Kanamura, Japanese merchant, attract North's special attention. The party reaches a grim end when the corpse of an unknown nude beauty comes in on the tide to the gayly illuminated float. North makes an interesting post-mortem discovery . . . Later he excoriates Coast Artillery Lieut. Wilson Clark for neglect of duty. The latter is now describing undeclared-war-zone activities of a mysterious Transpacific Company.

CHAPTER SEVEN

"But to get on with the story: this Transpacific Company, an American corporation, made a great fuss about reopening; their manager hired hundreds of coolies, brought in machinery and mining experts, and generally put the Talingho property back in condition."

"Just a minute, Lieutenant," North interjected from the midst of his mental calculations. "Did this purchase take place after Japan created Manchukuo as a buffer state—or before?"

"After, sir."

"Thank you. I think I remember the later developments." Meditatively joining his fingertips, the intelligence captain went on: "No sooner had the Transpacific got well settled in Talingho than this bandit marshal, Wang Tso Kin, began raiding into Sino-Japanese territory. Strange coincidence—eh?"

"That's right," Clark eagerly agreed. "When Wang got chased by the Japanese, he retreated towards the Transpacific property, though there was a much easier route about five miles to the north of the mine."

"It does give one pause," North remarked, "almost as much as to know why old Wang, after retreating over seventy-five miles direct to Talingho, decided to dig in just beyond the Transpacific property?"

"It was a neat piece of work on somebody's part," Lieutenant Clark observed. "Old Wang so disposed his troops that the Japanese commander had to post his on the Transpacific property or be wiped out. Remember what happened?"

A moment Captain North delved into some mental archive, then looked up, his eyes narrowed a little.

"Seems to me that when the Japs tried to take possession of the hill, American employees raised our flag and warned them off; then when the Japs persisted, they opened up with machine guns."

"In fact," cut in Clark, "the Transpacific mine guards knocked off about fifty of the attackers."

The intelligence captain frowned a little. "It took a clever man—one above the average—to think that out."

"Yes, sir. But that wasn't the real damage. When the Japs fell back, Wang's crowd promptly took advantage of the opportunity to stage an offensive of their own. In fact, Captain, the bandits caught the Jap force in the flank and so cut 'em to kybobs, and of course Tokyo didn't like that a bit."

The speaker paused to slap a mosquito that lit on his wrist. "G-2 came into it because about a dozen American mine guards got shot during the row; American property had been invaded, Americans killed defending it, and all that."

Captain North began to pace back and forth while Clark, apparently eager to reinstate himself in his superior's good graces, hurried on with his account.

"The Japs of course sent out more troops immediately, drove Wang into the hills, and all was quiet till the end of April—the twentieth, I think."

"The twentieth—is that exact?"

"Yes, sir. That was when this second offensive of Wang Tso Kin's began. As you know, the Japs shelled the Chinese position yesterday, and in doing so had to fire on the Transpacific property."

The intelligence captain's lips formed a noiseless whistle, then changed the subject with, "Where are autopsies generally held in Honolulu?"

"At the Tripler General, sir—Dr. Thaxter's the coroner," Clark said earnestly. "And—well, I—I hope you'll let me help you, sir—I've . . ."

Abruptly, North, folding his arms, looked the other in the eyes until they wavered and sought the floor.

"Do you think I ought to? Do you realize what this idiotic infatuation

In China "the mine guards opened up with machine guns," explained Lieutenant Clark. "They knocked off about fifty attackers."

Lieutenant Clark's erect body sagged a little on its seat when North inquired, "What was the reaction here in Honolulu?"

"I—I don't know, sir, I was away on a trip—a trip. But the evening papers said that seven more Americans had been killed."

Again a strained silence fell on the bedroom, until North asked: "Well, what about this so-called 'friendly visit' of the Japanese Scout Squadron I heard them talking about on the mainland?"

"Due in two days, sir," Clark said in a flat, sad voice. "Six cruisers, an airplane carrier, and a flotilla of twelve submarines. Everyone on the island is afraid of trouble, but you see how it is?"

"How what is, Lieutenant?"

"Why, if either government calls off this visit, the other will interpret it as an unfriendly gesture."

"I see. If the Japs don't show up, then our own jingos will say it shows bad faith and will assume that a declaration of war is imminent; and on the other hand, if Washington asks the Japanese admiral to postpone his visit, Japan will have it that the United States is about to declare war. It's an ugly mess, an event."

Hugh North checked his restless parade by the open window to gaze out at palm tops which, in the pale moonlight, seemed to have been coated with frost. . . . Did Japan want war?

"Outside of rumors that there will be trouble, do you know of anything specific?" queried North, suddenly fixing his subordinate with grim and searching eyes.

"No," Clark replied with a return of his early sullenness. "But the feeling is so strong that lots of men are sending their wives and children to the other side of the island till the Jap fleet pulls out."

of yours has cost G-2? Here's the Department faced with the worst crisis the country's had since 1918, and you"—his condemnation was utterly impersonal, and wholly withering—"you neglect your duty, spend your days and nights boating, picnicking, and chasing some girl."

"And now," North announced, "I've reached a decision. I'm not going to recommend you for dismissal. I've done plenty of fool things myself—though nothing on a par with this—so I know what it is to be young. There's still plenty of time for you to get over this nonsense."

"Thank you, sir!" Clark burst out. "I'll never be able to tell you how grateful I am, and I—I'll work to the limit!"

"Right! But on the mainland—not here." Captain North paused by the window and looked out into the light-filled darkness where the Aloha tower, faintly gilded by the city's glare, dominated Honolulu. "You're going aboard the liner that sails for San Francisco at eleven-thirty tonight."

"Tonight!" Lieutenant Clark's white-clad body stiffened, and his eyes became two brown pools of misery. "Why—why—but I can't go tonight."

"You can, and will." Utterly final was North's tone. "I won't run the risk of having you see that Stefan woman again. I'm out to beat her and I don't want you"—he was deliberately brutal now in an effort to arouse his subordinate from his daze—"to go blabbing to her about my plans. See to it," he added sharply, "that you take that boat tonight. I suppose you can be trusted to do that?"

Softball Rosters Must Be Complete By Tonite

Rosters for all four Dalhart Softball League teams must be in the hands of officials before game-time tonight. President W. H. Fowler warned this morning.

Each team is allowed 14 men. The rosters, Fowler said, should be given to A. O. Swofford, secretary-treasurer, but any official will accept them.

Porters Market has a chance to even things with the league-leading Ambassadors tonight when they clash in the second game of the doubleheader.

Ambassadors are leading with three wins and no losses; while Porters have two wins and one loss. A Porter victory would throw the two clubs in a tie.

The first game tonight at 8:15 under the lights on the Legion football field a block east of the high school will be between the Rock Island, in third place, and the Charros, which so far is the

Outstanding 4-H Clubber Writes Story Of Her Work

Miss Dorothy Roberts, 12, whose outstanding 4-H club achievements have won her a trip to the 4-H Short Course at College Station July 15-19, has written a story of her work during the past year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell J. Roberts of Conlen.

The other outstanding 4-H club in Dallam county is Virginia Allen, 16, of Chamberlain, who also is a delegate to the Short Course.

Miss Robert's report was released today by Miss Lillie Henrichs, Dallam county home demonstration agent, and follows:

"The first of the year I started on my sewing. First I made two dresses out of print from chicken feed sacks. And then I made a smock out of pinacle print. It cost me 24c for two yards. I made a bonnet of the same material to match my smock.

"I purchased 200 matings, the Barren English type White Leghorns. I fed and watered them in large containers every morning and evening. I kept them in a small brooder that I used last year for my chickens. I raised 194 out of 200 chicks. They were day old chickens. They now weigh about 2 1-2 or 3 pounds. I began to sell my roosters which were fryers on the third of June. I have 88 pullets and 106 roosters. I took some of my year old chickens to the Dalhart poultry show and won three blue ribbons.

"I have a garden also. First I waited until it was dry enough to plant. Then I dug little ditches and then I dropped the seeds in the little ditches to one side and watered it. I have in my garden beans, peppers, watermelons, tomatoes, potatoes, cantaloupes, spinach, pumpkins, squash, mushmelons, cucumbers, beets, carrots, lettuce, okra, and cabbage. They are growing fine, but we have not had anything out of it for it is a later garden. Last year I raised enough vegetables for the family.

"This year I am bedroom demonstrator. I have improved my bedroom in many ways. I have added more closet space and have made and covered a dressing table. I made curtains and bedspread to match. First when I started on my curtains and dressing table cover and bed spread. I worked for my sister and made enough money to buy the material. I bought unbleached muslin at 8c a yard. I bought some different colored bright and dull wool thread. I tied the different colored thread in little bows about six inches apart on both the bedspread and the curtains. I varnished the floor. I painted my dresser. I have cleaned the wallpaper.

"I have planted a flower garden. I have many pretty colored flowers. Since I have a garden I have pressed different flowers and started a flower scrap book, too.

"I have kept a record of my chickens. I know just how much they have cost me and how much the feed cost."

this entire Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico tri-state territory to start the showing of "The Great Dictator." It continues Friday and Saturday.

This is the picture that is taking American by storm. It was written, directed and produced by Charles Chaplin who, in addition, takes the title role.

It is a take-off on Hitler, Mussolini and Reichsmarschall Goering. In the film they are called Hynkel, played by Chaplin; Nopaloni, dictator of Bacteria, played by Jack Oakie; and Herring, played by Billy Gilbert.

The Mission for prevue Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday will show the historic saga of Bill Bonney, known to the Old West as Billy the Kid.

Robert Taylor, in a role foreign to his past performances, plays the part of Billy the Kid and according to the critics does a bang-up job.

Incidentally, the real Billy the Kid was a frequent visitor at Old Tascosa, only 45 miles southeast of Dalhart, where the widely-known Boys Ranch is now located. The tree where he tied his horse and under which he often camped can be pointed out by any very frequent visitor to the historic old ghost town.

New Address Rule In Registration

Young men who have become 21 years old since the first Selective Service registration Oct. 16, 1940, and accordingly must register in the second registration July 1, may choose which place of residence to record in event they do not live in one place at all times, according to General J. Watt Page, of Austin, state Selective Service director.

Sometimes, he said, a man maintains his legal residence in one community, but temporarily resides in another. He may record either of these addresses when he registers, General Page said, and thus determine what local draft board will have permanent jurisdiction over him. However, he cannot ever change the address.

The new registration cards, General Page said, will have a separate space for a mail address. This may be the same as the place of residence, or it may be a different one at which the registrant would receive mail more promptly.

While the same draft board maintains jurisdiction over a registrant, it is necessary that the registrant promptly report each change of address to the board so that he may always be reached quickly.

The board with permanent jurisdiction may also transfer a registrant's papers to another draft board and ask it to classify, physically examine and perhaps induct the registrant. However, this does not affect the permanent jurisdiction of the original board.
