Blaze Strikes In Hogue Wheat Field

Fire that struck yesterday afternoon in the H. H. Hogue wheat field, eight miles southeast of Dalhart along State Highway 5 in Hartley county, was smothered, with the help of passersby, after it had destroyed only a few acres of grain.

Harvest workers, who discovered the blaze, were having trouble with it when passersby came in with wet sacks, brooms and other equipment and wiped out the menace.

In today's Texan Mr. Hogue is expressing his appreciation of the help given by others and said: "It's mighty nice to know that you live among such fine people."

Chamber of commerce directors, meeting tomorrow night at 7:30, will, among other things, hear a report on the Oil Field Highway 41 convention held yesterday in Binger, Okla.

Dalhart delegates were Rex Mahoney, secretary of the chamber; District Attorney John Honts, A. P. Edwards and Charlie Coombes.

Edwards Chevrolet Co. and the Chas. Summers & Sons store have among the first, or perhaps the first, 1941 XIT displays, directing attention to the Sixth Annual XIT Reunion that will be held in Dalhart August 4 and 5.

Mrs. A. P. Edwards and Bill Matthews arranged the miniature ranch in the window at the Edwards firm. The tiny ranch has out a big sign: "Welcome! XIT—August 4-5."

Summers & Sons window shows a huge Levi Rodeo map which prominently pictures Dalhart as one of the outstanding U. S. rodeo towns. The window also features complete rodeo outfits for men and women.

Truckload of wheat burned up Tuesday

A loaded wheat truck, belonging to R. C. Buckles of Stratford, burned at the Hitt farm in Sherman county Tuesday, it was reported in Dalhart late yesterday. Buckles son, R. C. Jr., was driving and escaped injury, it was said.

Stocks And Grains Are Scrambled Today

Prices of both grains and stocks are irregular today. Chicago wheat at noon was unchanged; July $1.05 1-8. Corn was a quarter to a half cent down; July 73 5-8. Oats were unchanged to a quarter down; July 37 1-2.

For the first time in a good many days cotton dropped off. In New York it was unchanged to 14 points down; and in New Orleans receded 1 to 11 points.

Industrials in the Dow-Jones list on the New York stock market were a dime down. Rails were down 7, while utilities were up 18. Fourth-hour volume was 640,000 shares.

WASHINGTON.—The 1942 political rumba is still a long way off, but the politicians already have begun to cast their eyes over possible candidates. One of their chief topics of discussion is the governorship of New York.

Herbert Lehman, thrice governor of the Empire State, is certain not to run again. This creates a wide open situation for a prize considered a stepping stone to the 1944 presidential contest. Remember that Franklin Roosevelt went from the executive mansion in Albany to the White House in 1932.

A number of hopefuls are known to be ready to try their luck, chief among them Republican Tom Dewey and Democratic Lieutenant Governor Charles Poletti. Dewey came near beating Lehman in 1938 and his yen for the presidency is undiminished. As governor of New York, he would have the inside track for another shot at this ambition. Poletti is a political protege of Lehman and was selected as running-mate on his insistence.

But the most interesting possibility being mentioned in inner circles is Wendell Willkie.

Particularly significant is that this talk is coming from Democrats as well as Republicans. These Democrats are not the party bolters who supported Willkie against Roosevelt last year. They are men who fought Willkie bitterly then.

Brother, Can You Spare A Pint Of Blood?

Brother, or Sister, if you can spare a pint of blood you can probably save a life.

A transient — a man — lies gravely ill in Loretto hospital. A citizen discovered him in a semi-collapsed state, and called Mayor Herbert Peeples, who took him to the hospital.

Officials and others anxious to help yesterday scoured Dalhart rapidly searching for someone who could give him an immediate transfusion. Delay meant death. Type 4 blood was needed.

Finally Rev. R. H. Campbell's blood matched. He gave a pint. But more blood is needed.

If you know your blood is type 4, please call the hospital; Dr. Victor R. Moore, city health officer; or Mayor Peeples.

If you can give a pint of blood and don't know what your type is, please go to the hospital for a type test which takes only a few minutes.

A life probably hangs in the balance.

Band Rehearsal Will Be Tonight

Director C. W. Beene this morning reminded of band practice at 8:00 tonight at the band hut.

He said another in the series of weekly summer band concerts will be held in the downtown section Saturday night at 7:30. It will run an hour.

It is particularly for Dalhart and for Dalhart's tri-state territory and everyone, Beene emphasized, is invited to attend.

Delegates To 41 Parley Are Home

Charlie Coombes, A. P. Edwards, John Honts and Rex Mahoney, Dalhart delegates to the Oil Field Highway 41 convention in Binger, Okla. yesterday, returned last night.

The highway association had let Gov. Phillips of Oklahoma set a convention date when he could attend, but late night before last he said unexpected business would prevent him from coming. An Oklahoma state highway commissioner was his permanent representative.

The three main unpaved gaps in the highway that runs from Oklahoma City through Pampa and Borger to Dalhart, Boise City and on to Denver, are in Oklahoma as follows: Between Wheeler, Texas, and Sayre; 30 miles across Caddo county near Binger; 12 miles from Boise City south to the Dallam county line.

The Texas portion of the Wheeler-Sayre gap is under construction; and Dallam county is paving the 36 miles north from Dalhart to the Oklahoma line.

The Oklahoma highway commissioner said, the Dalhart delegates reported, that his state now has a million-dollar highway fund, but he made no definite construction promises. He did, however, indicate that the three unpaved Highway 41 segments are on the paving program.

Three U. S. Lynchings First Half Of 1941

There were only three U. S. lynchings in the first six months of 1941, according to the Tuskegee Institute of Tuskegee, Ala.

All victims were negroes. Offenses charged were rape, stealing from employer and altercation with white men. Florida, Georgia and North Carolina were the sites.

Doctors And FSA To Meet Tonight

Members of the North Plains Medical society and representatives of the Farm Security Administration in Dalhart will meet tonight at 8:30 at Loretto hospital, Dr. Victor Moore, president, reminds.

Dr. Artis Dawson will report the Dallas clinical meeting. Physicians from Dallam, Hartley, Moore and Sherman counties will attend.

There seems little doubt that the initial shocking force of the German blitzkrieg against Russia has been exhausted without the Nazis gaining their No. 1 objective—destruction of the Red army as a fighting force.

The German high command communiqués, assertedly authored by Adolf Hitler, continue to be vague and to speak in only the most general terms about the war. They say merely that Nazis continue to be successful.

Germans reportedly are pouring tens of thousands of reserves into reactivated drives to crush the main Russian Stalin line. But a question arises: Where are they getting these reserves?

Figures vary, of course, but it was once said that Germany opened the current war Sept. 1, 1939, with the invasion of Poland with about 5,000,000 men under arms.

Presumably more and more reserves have been called up, but German losses in killed and wounded are known to have been heavy in the Low Countries, in France and particularly in the Greece campaign. The capture of Crete, if British figures were at all correct, cost the Germans upwards of 5000 to 7000 men. More than 5000 assertedly drowned when British naval units sank a German troop convoy.

It is also to be presumed that Hitler has not been keeping a large idle force in the interior of Germany, just to hurl into the Russian war. There are several reasons: 1, by his own statement he didn't expect to have any trouble

PLAN FETE THAT WILL OPEN LAKE

Eight boat races, bathing beauty revue, polo game, airplane stunt and formation flying, and a wide variety of water stunts, contests and sports, all free to the general public, are among entertainment highlights for the formal opening of Rita Blanca lake on Sunday, July 20.

They were announced this morning by Pat Flynn, of Amarillo, following a conference with Earl S. Carter and son, E. G., concessionaires for the $500,000 Rita Blanca recreation project which includes the lake and which adjoins South Dalhart.

There may be a ninth boat race. Flynn said that Mayor Herbert Peeples had issued a challenge to all other Panhandle mayors to meet him in a boat race. Peeples will let the other mayors decide on the kind of boats they want to use, then he'll join 'em. They'll all have to use the same type.

The bathing beauty revue, Flynn said, is in charge of Mrs. O. E. Duggins and will choose Miss Rita Blanca for 1941. The Carters will give a trophy for first place, a beautiful bathing suit for second and Mayor Peeples will present a corsage to the third-place victor.

Do You Know The Answer To This One?

It was a serious-minded group of big business men who several years ago studied the question, "What method, if any, of advertising pays the greatest dividends?" They wanted to know because they were spending millions of dollars telling the world about their product. If one single method could get the same results, why continue to spend so much in so many different methods?

Finally, one of the men who had taken little part in the discussion came up with a suggestion. "Why don't we ask someone who has done extensive advertising over a long period of years?" The idea offered a way out that was quickly agreed upon.

Selecting the President of a company that advertised in newspapers, on billboards, on street cars, on highways, theaters and most every other conceivable method the committee presented their question. "Which of the methods that you use, Mr. Blank, produces the best results?"

The successful business man studied the group for a long time. Finally his answer came in a short, crisp sentence: "I don't know. If I did I would discontinue all other methods."

And there you have the story of advertising. For more than twenty years we've advertised International Harvester Farm Machinery, the famous FARMALL family and McCormick-Deering genuine parts and repairs. We've talked to thousands, we have written thousands of letters, and we've consistently used this newspaper to tell the story of our product. We don't know which brings us the business. But we do know that consistent advertising of a product that we believe in has placed more FARMALL tractors on farms than ever before and we are still advertising.

Dealers of International Harvester Farm Machinery have an interesting and true story to tell. We have been, and shall continue to tell that story.

but now feel differently because of his outspoken stand against isolationism and appeasement.

Convinced that this issue will dominate the 1942 elections, these Democrats already are discussing the possibility of starting a boom for Wilkie as a fusion candidate for governor.

NOTE.—Wilkie has not been approached on the idea, has given no intimation even to close friends that he is interested. But the idea is in the air, and, as proved in 1940, anything can happen in politics.

GERMANY vs. RUSSIA

One of the key factors in gauging the Russo-German war is that the Germans are marvels at transportation; the Russians are not.

As long as the Red army can force the Nazis to fight a digging-in, slow type of warfare, Hitler's forces are up against it. But whenever Nazi mechanized columns are out ahead, dodging through Russian wheat fields, then even if they sometimes get cut off from their own forces, the advantage is very much with Germany.

So far the Nazis have employed exactly the same tactics they used so successfully in France, cutting through enemy lines with one mechanized spearhead, then widening that spearhead with infantry.

This use of infantry is one tactic of the German army which most people have not realized. For although the shock attacks have been accomplished by tanks and heavily armored troops, Germany's great military genius has been the ability to bring up horse-drawn infantry immediately and widen the gap made by the panzers.

In the campaign against France, U. S. military experts estimated that the Germans used about 700,000 horses to bring up infantry, field kitchens, hospitals, food, guns, ammunition and all the other vast paraphernalia of war.

NAZIS LEARNED FROM CIRCUS

Inability to organize transportation is one of the Russian army's greatest defects—especially so while transport trains, airports, railroad trains and switch yards are being bombed ceaselessly from the air. Also the Russians have no genius whatsoever for repair. Trucks and tanks will get out of kilter and the Russians simply abandon them on the roadside. The Nazis, in contrast, will be on hand with traveling garages and repair the stalled equipment immediately.

So this war, spread over very long distances, may be won by the army which has the best organized transportation.

NOTE.—The Nazis learned the art of quick transportation by coming to the United States and studying the American circus—probably the greatest development of the technique of quick unloading, hauling and repairing.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The White House is the oldest federal building in Washington. Designed by James Hoban, an Irishman living in Charleston, S. C., the mansion was completed in 1800 and the first President to occupy it was John Adams. . . It was originally called the "President's Place" by L'Enfant, French engineer who laid out the Capital. President Theodore Roosevelt was the first to designate it officially as the White House, in an executive order issued October 21, 1901. . . Assistant Secretary of Commerce Robert Hinckley was responsible for the dispatch of the group of crack airplane mechanics to Britain to familiarize the RAF with the repair and maintenance of U.

This Is Worst Time For Poliomyelitis Outbreaks

Infantile paralysis can and does occur any time of year, but over half the total number of cases are in the July to October period, warned Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, today.

He said 31 cases of infantile paralysis, technically known as poliomyelitis and commonly referred to as polio, had been reported in Texas through June 30.

It apparently is spread mostly by direct contact between persons, he said. However, because of the summer prevalence of the disease flies and other hot-weather insects are suspected carriers. Insect transmission, though, has never been scientifically demonstrated.

Animals are subject to paralysis, but apparently not to the human type and so far as known persons do not contract the animal paralysis. However, since methods of transmission are doubtful the safest course seems to be to reduce human contacts to a minimum during any outbreak.

Early symptoms of polio are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness and irritability, followed by stiffness of the neck and back. If polio is even suspected, a doctor should be called at once. Prompt diagnosis and proper care from the outset are the best means of minimizing the crippling effects.

Britain. Hinckley was struck by the need for such a crew and within a week after his return, arranged to send one. . . State Employment-made planes. During his visit to ment officials who balk at cooperating with federal authorities in procuring defense workers are headed for a surprise. With funds provided for this purpose by Congress, the U. S. Employment Service is reparing to disregard the obstructive state officials and set up separate employment offices.

U. S. FATIGUE PILLS

Those mysterious anti-fatigue pills fed German soldiers before going into battle are nothing new to the U. S. Army. In fact, U. S. nutrition experts have gone the Germans one better.

The Nazi pill is simply a tablet made of a mixture of corn sugar and citric acid. The acid causes a flow of saliva which in turn promotes quick digestion of the corn sugar, giving the soldier a "lift" within a few minutes after the pill is swallowed.

U. S. Army experts have developed a much improved version, known as Type D super-emergency ration. It consists of a concentrated chocolate bar fortified with vitamin B. The bar weighs one ounce, can be carried in the soldier's pocket and will withstand heat up to 120 degrees. It is enclosed in a special wrapper which will resist eight hours of mustard gas attack. One bar is the energy equivalent of a full meal.

The Army also has developed a special ration for pilots, consisting of a cracker containing whole wheat, soybean meal, ground beef muscle, whole milk, hydrogenated fat, vitamins and minerals. This cracker will withstand tropical heat without spoiling.

DALLAM HAS—

$212,000,000 a year for parity payments, and when this is distributed over what is known as the base U. S. wheat acreage the per-bushel payment amounts to a dime.

A county's base yield is nothing more or less than an average of the yields over a specified past number of years. In Dallam county it is set at seven bushels per acre. Thus, if a farmer plants 140 acres to wheat, and doesn't get up a sprig he still can collect $140 parity payment—which is reached by multiplying his acreage—140, by seven, the base yield, by a dime, the amount of per-bushel parity payment.

Carl Muech of Perryton was transferred here July 7, replacing Capt. A. A. Watt's who has been called into active service.

Deward Hine returned to Dallas Tuesday after a three-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hine.

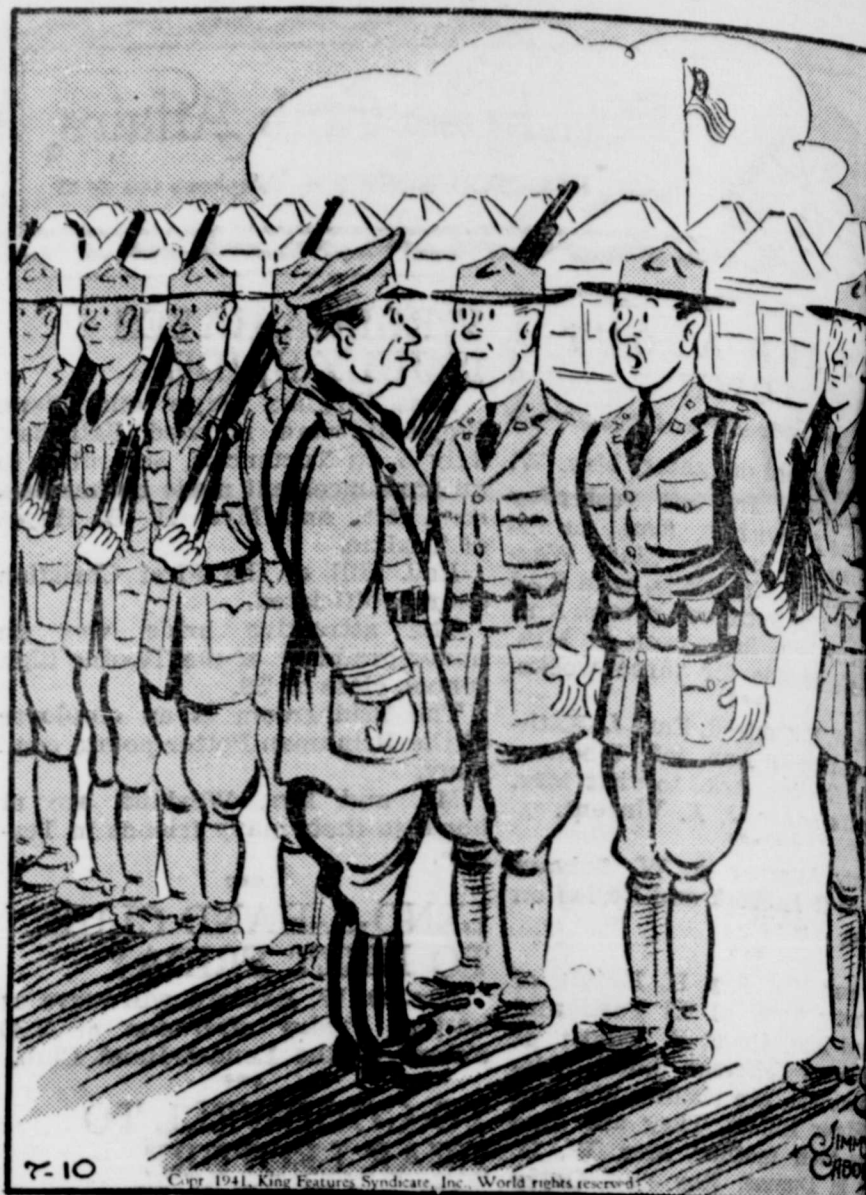

Eugene Jones has returned from Wichita, Kansas, where he has been attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Perkins and family of Perryton, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dowlen of Dallas were here last week.

Mrs. J. C. Osborne and Jimmie Lois, Mrs. F. J. Cheek, and Miss Betty Lou Elkin were in Dalhart Tuesday.

LAFF-A-DAY

"My wife joined the Ladies' Auxiliary Rifle Club and she borrowed my gun, Sir!"

Dr. Ewbank advises that he has his pickled fish back from New Mexico where Prentice and Kelly used it for pictures and it is now available, at a small lease or rent fee, for anyone who might want to use it in connection with some pictures at Rita Blanca.

And here's a card from Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Alkire, at Decatur, Arkansas, complimenting a recent column and its very much appreciated.

It's even nicer to know that the Alkire's are still reading The Texan.

Some peculiar things happen in advertising. Was talking to Fritz Scheuer the other day and he was fixing his ad for THE XIT BRAND and we got to talking about advertising. "It's hard to figure out", said Fritz. "Here several weeks ago I worked up what I thought was an excellent ad and ran it in The Texan. It brought no immediate results. But three weeks later I began hearing from that ad and sold some merchandise on the strength of it. And thirty days after the ad had appeared a former Dalhart man came in the store with a copy of it and instructions from his wife to be sure and make that purchase while in Dalhart".

Fritz says the best advertising ever done by Herzstein's was the Father's Day advertising. It was a series of Father's Day ads appearing ten days in advance of the event.

The boat dock that the government built at Rita Blanca is now being moved around in front of the bath house. And the swimming area is being separated from the rest of the lake by a line. All swimmers will be required to within the ropes and all boats will be required to stay out them.

They had another big night at the lake. At 9:30 last night must have been thirty or forty swimming and all the boats in use. Dick Coon is moving motor boat out there and got it all tuned up. And Dr. Coon already has his there and is working on buying a canoe. I figured on a motor boat but

The reason more people bid on the lake concessions is because they have been disappointed at the other lakes. But the hart lake will take in dollars and the others get pennies, because is right here in town. Fish drive or walk to it in a short time. To visit most of the others you got to take at least half a day. On Sundays and holidays the lakes do a big business. But the average day they never much activity. But in Dalhart Rita Blanca will do business day. And if the Carter's plans out there'll be plenty doing there in the Winter as well Summer.

"God and the Cowman" is title of a tribute to the ret of the cowboy that will appear one page in THE XIT BRAND.

What's wrong with an "All male XIT Booster trip"? I got some of the best looking women and girls in the country and are not only pretty but they are talented. Why wouldn't it be to get a group together, hire of those big busses and send to neighboring towns to advertise the XIT? The girl's trio, in swell-elegant costumes, the auto haired twins (Mrs. Nite and Pierce), members of the Dalhart band to play various solo and numbers and some women to the speeches. We've got girls can tap dance on sidewalks paved streets, children that beautifully. Such a group would attract more publicity that could get in spending ten thousand dollars.

Mrs. A. B. Pinnell and daughter Joan of Petrolia, N. M., have turned home after a visit with Pinnell's sister, Mrs. H. Coon at Coon ranch in Moore county here with her brother, Loyce Coon and family.

—I. I. N. Radiophoto

According to the official German censor who released this picture, a radiophoto from Berlin, this is a scene in a prison courtyard in Lemburg, the Ukraine section of Russia, as Ukrainians attempted to identify 3,000 relatives murdered by the OGPU, the Russian secret police.

NAZI BLITZ—

being in Moscow by today; 2, the stories of unrest in occupied countries, the vast expanse of conquered territory, the assertedly close policing of Italy, and the spirited Libyan drive together with the necessity of guarding against a sudden British thrust across the channel all argue against any big idle force in interior Germany.

Thus, either he isn't throwing tens of thousands of reserves into reinforced pummeling of the Soviets, or he is drawing the reserves from occupied areas. Reds said papers found on captured German officers prove that artillery batteries have been removed from the Western front to the Russo-German fighting.

Russians last night admitted that the suddenness of the Nazi attack, reportedly using 10,000 tanks and hundreds of planes, caught them temporarily flat-footed and cost them heavily, including several hundred planes.

Yet despite these admitted losses, and much bigger German claims, the Red air force continues to raid and pound at far-flung objectives along the entire front, and has been reported especially active and effective in assaults on the German rear lines. Last night it struck Constanta, Rumania's vital Black Sea port; and sectors of the Rumanian oil fields.

Germans early in the Russo-Nazi struggle, which is now nearing three weeks, claimed air supremacy over the Russian front. In a few days they began to modify their claims and now even DNB, the German news agency, has ceased making any air control claims.

Germans said today that they had shot down 100 Russian planes in the past 24 hours. Reds said they destroyed 38 German planes in one engagement.

On top of the fact that the Red air force continues to carry on, is the fact that Germany undoubtedly has been forced to shift part of its Luftwaffe back to the West.

Since June 11 the RAF has been reaching farther and farther into Germany and hitting harder and harder. German air resistance has been negligible. Last night the RAF struck a huge plant that produces 500,000 tons of synthetic gasoline yearly. It was 550 miles from London.

For the past two nights the Germans have been retaliating with scattered raids over England.

It all adds up to this: It is generally conceded that Hitler had 2,500,000 men concentrated on the Russian frontier when the war started. Stalin faced him with about 3,000,000 men. Stalin probably has 5,000,000 men under arms and reportedly has enough reserves to run his potential fighting strength to 18,000,000.

Germany's potential strength has rarely been rated at much over half of that.

If the Nazis had 2,500,000 men facing Russia when the war started, the other 2,500,000 must have been scattered far and wide since there presumably was no big idle force in interior Germany. Could Germany have switched them, with equipment, to the Russian front this quickly; can Germany afford to switch them at all?

Of course, most of this must necessarily be conjecture, but on the basis of generally admitted facts it seems to most observers to be reasonable.

There is no doubt that the Germans have rekindled their drives against Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev, but with the possible exception of the Leningrad thrust they apparently have made little headway.

They have apparently taken Salla, heavily fortified point on the Baltic front; and Tallin, capital of Esthonia. And they reportedly have taken Ostrov, on the road to Leningrad. But if all German claims are true, the big Stalin line is hardly more than bruised.

Other factors that appear to militate against the Nazis include these: That when a blitzkrieg slows down or is stopped all the gains it has made are immediately menaced by the enemy's counter attacks. This is because the blitz moves so fast that its gains cannot be adequately consolidated.

Also, the Reds apparently have powerful guerilla bands operating behind the German lines and hamstringing attempts to reorganize the Nazi offensive and start a dead blitz rolling again.

However, all this doesn't mean that Germany has failed. Most optimistic U. S. war experts are expecting the Soviets to hold only three months. And the German high command reportedly it will be able to dictate terms in another three weeks.

The New York in a front-page editorial today called on President Roosevelt and congress to declare war immediately on Germany. Hitler is already fighting U. S. as well as he can, with threats, secret agents, hostile political parties in nearby countries and by keeping Japan prodded a lather.

A victorious Hitler, The Post will never forgive U. S. aid to Britain. The U. S. no longer the alternative of war or peace.

Senator Taft today said he has reliable information that the U. S. is building an air base for a main in Northern Ireland.

That there is dead wood among its officer, the Army freely admits. This admission and the evident intention to do something about it may be an indication that the Army is more progressive than some critics are willing to grant.

What progress is in the mail? A. E. F., Royal Oak, Mich. In the World War battalions were commanded by Majors. Is it different now?

Yes. Usually an infantry battalion is headed by a Lieutenant Colonel with a Major under him as an executive and operations officer.

A. S., Ellenville, N. Y. Are Salvation Army cadets exempt from the draft?

Not from registering if within the age limit, but cadets studying to be Salvation Army officers are deferred until next September 16, one year after the Selective Service Act became a law.

According to Selective Service rulings, the Salvation Army is recognized as a religious sect and its commissioned officers have the status of ordained ministers with deferment in Class IV-d.

O. H. P., Akron, Ohio. Were convicts required to register for the draft?

Not until their terms are up, and then most of them automatically are placed in class IV, ineligible for military service.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Guy McGee, who has been playing golf since the first club was organized in Dalhart, won his first match by a 1-up score, and C. B. Crawford, third fighter, beat his opponent by a score of 4 and 3. Joe Langhorne, one of Dalhart's most consistent players, was off his game to lose by 4-2 count. Finals will be played today.

Mrs. George Hawkins has returned from Amarillo, where she visited for several days with Mr. Hawkins, who is receiving treatment at the Veterans hospital for a stomach ailment.

Cal Farley, New Rotary Head, Full Of Surprises

(By John McCarty)

Cal Farley of Amarillo, governor of the 127th Rotary district, won the first World War. That however is just one of his many accomplishments and while he doesn't have positive proof, he won the Welterweight Wrestling chamampionship of the A. E. F. and Inter-allied games in Paris in 1919. He has wrestled twice for the world's championship since that time, being defeated both times by Jack Reynolds. Despite his extravagant claims on World War One, Farley does have a discharge (honorable) from the army which shows he took part in seven battles. He modestly admits he won each of those fights.

CAL FARLEY

The new district governor was born in Saxton, Iowa, two years before the Spanish-American war, or he would have claimed credit with Admiral Dewey and Teddy Roosevelt for winning that one. He lived on a farm until he entered the war. After the war he played professional (rotten) baseball, being a second baseman with St. Paul of the American Association in 1922. In 1923 he was farmed (fired) out to the Amarillo club of the Panhandle-Pecos Valley league where he hit his weight (145), played a fair second base and at the end of the season took over a defunct tire shop and married Miss Mabel Fincher, an Amarillo girl who has worked in the business ever since. She runs it while he gallavants around the country. They have one child, a talented daughter named Gene Tunney. He is past president of the Amarillo Rotary Club and has taken side-splitting, mountain music programs to more than 200 clubs over the nation during the past few years. While he was president of the Amarillo Rotary Club the attendance jumped so high that the club considered selling tickets to his weekly performances. He usually had his members rolling in the aisles before the meeting was over. If they didn't roll he knew enough wrestling tricks to make them.

The 55 clubs of the 127th district, accustomed to some dignified-minded orating type of district governor, are going to get the surprise of a lifetime this year. Farley is just as likely to turn a handspring into the banquet room and burst into a line of comedy chatter as he is to walk in on both feet the way a man is supposed to enter a club room. Another thing is that the ladies will get a real treat this year. Farley is a handsome devil despite the manner in which his ears have been pinned back by wrestlers in various parts of the world. He also recognizes the importance of women in the success of any organization so he asked that instead of meeting with the sourpuss men members of the club he be given the opportunity to hold club assembly meetings with their wives.

That was one of the planks in this platform at the Lubbock convention. Said Farley to the assembled Rotary Anns: "District governors have been going along all these years working with the men and ignoring the women and you see what a 'shape' they've gotten Rotary into. I'm going to see what the results will be."

Farley's greatest love, and the only thing he has ever been serious about except the collections in his budget-pay-plan business, is boy's work. Years ago Farley saw the need of doing something for the underprivileged boys, and with a group of similar minded fellows he aided in organizing Amarillo's famous Maverick Club in 1933. He has been president of the Mavericks since its inception. That club has achieved a national reputation for its work and has been invaluable to Amarillo. It has 400 members. Out of it grew the idea for Boy's Ranch which is located at old Tascosa, 35 miles Northwest of Amarillo. This is for boys without homes or in trouble. Boy's Ranch and the Mavericks Club are both sponsored by the Amarillo Rotary Club.

There are 32 boys at Boy's Ranch and it is fast growing into one of the nation's largest. The boys do their own farming, milking their own cows, go to their own school and live there working and playing until they graduate. Their first graduate this spring was a top hand and is now holding down a good hard job as a plumber's helper and is supporting his mother and two smaller brothers.

Farley is, of course, a sport expert and is known to thousands for his sport broadcasts of football games and other contests. His own daily radio program put on in his Number One store in Amarillo is now in its tenth year. Friends of Farley wanted to elect him Mayor last year but he turned it down saying that one job at a time was enough. That job he had in mind was the district governor's office of Rotary.

If he gets serious at any time when he visits the Rotary Clubs in the district it will be when he starts talking about the Maverick Club of Boy's Ranch, and you will like him serious then because he has a heart big enough to be daddy to 432 boys, and he is keeping a place for the many more these two clubs are constantly being called on to serve.

Miss Clara Suter has been vacationing the past two weeks. She spent several days in Denver and Amarillo.

Frank Mueller returned Wednesday morning from Denver.

WHEAT STORAGE INSURANCE RATE DRASTICALLY TRIMMED IN TEXAS

Texas wheat farmers this year will save thousands of dollars because of lower fire and windstorm insurance rates on farm grain, according to the Dallas County Land Use Planning Committee, headed by Roy Wharmer, farmer-stockman of west of Hart.

The average combined fire and windstorm rate on grain stored in bins on farms last year was $1.33 per $100; and the year before was $2.53 per $100.

The combined efforts of the Dallas County committee; A. E. Ferguson, Hansford county farmer of Spearman and Panhandle, member of the State Land Use Planning Committee, and the State committee itself have secured for wheat farmers a combined fire and windstorm rate this year of 50 cents per $100, said Ed Crabtree, secretary of the Dallam county organization.

Crabtree and the Dallam county committee, Crabtree said, checked rates and found that Texas rates were paying premiums five times higher than being paid by farmers in other states, such as Oklahoma and Kansas.

Crabtree said, then the matter up directly with the state fire insurance commissioner at Austin, and among things pointed out to him there had been few if any losses in Texas and that there was no reason for the high Texas rates.

Ferguson had the full support of the State Land Use Planning committee, and as a result the Texas structure has been completely revamped, putting the Texas rates on a par with those in adjacent states, Crabtree said.

Toledo, Ohio (UP)—Sidewalk superintendents are well provided for in this city. Commodious glassed-in peepholes for all sizes of superintendents have been cut into the construction barricade where crews are excavating for a new main building for the public library.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carter, daughter, Mary Ross, and Miss Isla Mae Strong all of Houston, are here with Mr. Carter's mother, Mrs. E. G. Carter, and brother, Earl Carter.

County Agent Ed Crabtree is attending Short Course at College Station.

Special Polio Bulletin Have Explanation

In connection with the annual polio drive, the National Association of Postmasters at Washington sent a letter to each county seat postmaster asking that they have a special polio drive at a dime each throughout the country in support of the polio drive.

The National Association released a bulletin showing that each Texas county had a special postmaster in this special campaign. Dallam and Hartley counties were not listed among persons have wondered the reason: Dallam-Hartley Counties Paralysis Chapter at Dallas which directs the annual drive in both counties, decided January to sell $1 membership in the chapter instead of offering a $1 dance ticket as has been done in all prior years. The chairman wanted a dance ticket to his $1 membership to be free.

Many persons, especially members and constituents, had the membership idea. Some of them helped sell the memberships.

In reaching this decision, the chairman asked national headquarters for some kind of an emblem to be given with each $1 membership. They sent lapel buttons and part of these had been sent when Postmaster Jack Wade and Postmaster A. J. Channing got identical buttons from the National Association of Postmasters with instructions to sell them—not for $1 but for a dime.

The chapter's only salvation was to have the postmasters not to display the buttons and they agreed to the request. That's why Dallam and Hartley counties are not on the National Postmasters' list.

T. S. Hanna of Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wafford of Houston left this morning for a visit with Mrs. Ida Logan of Hartley. Mrs. Hanna and Mrs. Logan are sisters and Wafford is a niece of the pioneer.

"THE GORGON'S MASK"

by Van Weyck Mason

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

"Nice of Kanamura to leave me my gun," North commented when he slipped on his shoulder holster.

"Come along, old chap—I'm pinning for a breath of Hawaii's justly famed pure air," remarked Kilgour as he strolled to the window to look out at the Koolau Range looming black and ragged, save where the moon had silvered certain volcanic peaks.

"My word, look at that moon! Isn't it—"

Kilgour's speech was cut short when a bullet sang through the open window and with a vicious chunk! buried itself in the bedroom wall, all but creasing his scalp. It had come from a silenced.

The Englishman, who had dropped to the floor, blinked up at North, who was standing alert and somber-eyed across the room. Kilgour laughed a particularly mirthless laugh. "I say, old lad," he said, "You surely are in demand."

"The Floating Lily" certainly believed that name when Captain Hugh North and Bruce Kilgour presently halted before it. It was a wide-fronted, two-story stucco structure. Once tinted a deplorable shade of pale green, it resembled a lily neither in color, odor, nor purity . . . especially around 3 A. M.

For a few minutes the two men, inconspicuous in their dark clothes, sauntered down the street, surveying with tired disgust a succession of tawdry dance halls, tiny Chinese shops, tenements, and dives.

This quarter had only one thing in common with the rest of Honolulu—its patent excitement over the threatened war. All along the sidewalks knots of loafers—Chinese, Portuguese, Filipinos, and Europeans—gesticulated and yelled at one another. The Japanese, who usually crowded this quarter, were noticeably few.

The two intelligence men soon teetered up to the Floating Lily, hats crammed loosely on the backs of their heads, hair over eyes, and otherwise giving a convincing counterfeit of two tea-ed up tourists in search of amusement.

"Hi, Jack," North shouted to two sailors who came reeling out of the Floating Lily. "Anythin' doin' in there?"

"Doin'? Sure! Besh li' place y' ever seen—"

"But I say, it's nearly three o'clock." Kilgour had chosen the solemn and dignified drunken pose. "The bally shop isn't shutting up?"

Swaying a little, the two sailors made violent gestures of denial. "Shut up? Now?—don't shut up 'til last bozo passes out."

"Hear that swing, will ya? The ban's beginnin' to get hot." The sniffer of the two waved an uncertainly tattooed hand towards the Floating Lily. There was no denying that the blaring jazz inside was reaching fever heat.

"C'm on back in, Jack, an' show us the ropes," North invited. "We're new in town—want to see the works—see? C'm on, we'll blow you guys to some oaks, or maybe—Say, Jack," North's arm went affectionately about the other's sun-reddened neck, "ever wash your tonsils with a Kanaka Moon cocktail?"

"Cocktail?" The bigger man made that vulgar but expressive noise known as the Bronx Cheer. "Nix, not for baby—gimme straight oke ever' time. Whaddya say, Gus?"

"Okay, Freddy." Swaying slightly, Gus thrust his arm through Kilgour's. And so the quartet lurched in through a pair of swinging doors.

"Gimme a drink," grunted Kilgour, waving his arms a little aimlessly. "I jolly well want to get squiff-o."

Like harpies, a swarm of shrill-voiced women flung themselves upon the newcomers. For the most part they were utterly repulsive.

The air was gray with the reek of tobacco, Joss sticks, in holders along the wall, attempted feebly to dispel some of the fumes of cheap perfume and poor liquor.

"C'm on, podner," North's friend insisted, "they's a good table over in that booth. Hi, there, Luisa!"

That frizzed and painted damsel laughed shrilly, "You coma back again?"

Luisa swung near to greet Gus while skillfully making room for the gyrations of other dancers.

"Hey, Soo Lee!" Freddy smacked the glass-marked table a whack that made its legs tremble. "Four oaks—wiki-wiki dlink, savvy?"

A tired-looking Chinese waiter waddled off with the order. Then North shoved a five-dollar bill across to Freddy.

"There y'are, Buddy, slip that to the band. Tell 'em to play 'Sain' Louie Blues."

"Okay, Buddy!" Joyously the two gobs became lost in the varicolored crowds of dancers.

"Well, this is sweet-scented!" Kilgour remarked. "I suppose the next step is to meet a couple of baggages so we can ask them if they knew the late lamented!"

"Careful!" North had suddenly let his head sag forward as though drowsy with liquor and was peering between his fingers.

"Ouch, I say!" Kilgour protested when North kicked his shin.

"Look!" hissed the intelligence captain.

Groggily, the English agent turned to observe the door at the far side of the dance hall and saw Baron von Rentner, immaculately gross, followed by a servile yellow headwaiter.

"Well, strike me!" breathed Kilgour. "The blighter's slumming, too."

"Look!" North's disheveled black head indicated two men who appeared immediately afterwards through that same door. "Take a good look at those two men back of Von Rentner—especially the plug-ugly with the big bruise on the side of his head."

While the band burst into the "St. Louis Blues," North watched Von Rentner, stiff-backed and coldly disdainful, being joined by two powerful men who had waited outside that door through which the Prussian steel master had appeared. Apparently bodyguards, they immediately fell in to Baron von Rentner's right and left.

On this trio, however, North wasted hardly a second glance. It was on the two seafaring men who followed that he fixed his attention. They were puzzling him for, though dressed in grimy merchant officers' serge uniforms, there was in their carriage a hint of drilled stiffness which, as a rule, only military men possess.

The foremost, a blunt-featured giant at least six feet two, was distinguished by bristling blond mustaches which swept off to either side of his broad and shiny snub nose. Never, North was thinking, had he seen blonder hair than that of this stolid seafarer who, strangely enough, walked without the long, rolling gait of a sailor. Moreover, that blond hair was clipped very short, and what particularly interested North was the fact that in several places angry red and blue bruises showed very distinctly through the stubble.

Swiftly he made an accurate mental inventory of the figure: clothes, dark blue serge, gray turtle-neck sweater, both smeared with grease; a sheath knife such as is carried by nearly all non-Anglo-Saxon sailors; heavy, badly made cowhide boots of a sort associated with European peasants. By and large, a very interesting get-up.

North's interest grew apace when he noted on the side of the second man's brutal red face a dark purple bruise; he, too, had recently received a hard bump. How?

Then the blond giant in the lead halted and, narrowing his small, pale blue eyes, peered through the eddying smoke at North's table.

With evil premonition, the intelligence captain's eyes flickered sidewise to realize that Kilgour had unconsciously exposed most of his face. Breathless, North watched the blond giant's wide features and on them saw suspicion give way to alarm, and alarm to menace.

"Quick!" North muttered. "That big fellow with the bruised head—know him?"

It was already too late for Kilgour to get a good look at the merchant officer, for the latter was lumbering hurriedly after Von Rentner who had disappeared through the front door of the Floating Lily.

"Don't think so," said the British agent.

"Too bad, because he certainly seemed to know you," North retorted grimly.

Common Sense Thrift Is Still Way To Win

(By ROGER W. BABSON)

Babson Park, Mass., July 10.—It is not the function of this column to forecast the stock market. It is, however, my duty to give certain facts to readers. This week, these pertain to the stock market.

Prices Very Low

The dividend-paying stocks, listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are now selling at less than 14 times their dividends compared with nearly 20 times in August, 1939, and perhaps 27 times in August, 1929. This means that if you shut your eyes and blindly put a little money in every dividend-paying stock, you would get a yield of 1 per cent! With the exception of the 1917 break, the 1920-21 panic, and the 1931-33 depression, at no time in the past 41 years have good stocks been so cheap in relation to dividends as today.

After the War?

Four main reasons are given for these very low prices:

1. "Present good business is largely artificial due to the war. There will be a severe and long business slump immediately after the war is over." My answer to this is that the first part of the statement is true; but not necessarily the second part.

A sharp drop may be expected directly after the coming armistice; but it should be short followed by a healthy reconstruction period which may last for some years. In this, the United States and Canada must take a leading part. Of course, unless some great new industry comes into being, the world must someday "pay the piper," but cannot fear of such now be overdone?

Frightened of Labor

2. "Labor has the upper hand and is taking all the profits." To read the newspapers, one would think that 50 per cent of the workers are out on strike. Statistics, however, show that, at the very worst, less than 1 per cent of the workers have been on strike at any one time—and less than 4 per cent of those engaged in defense work. This percentage is too much and a disgrace; but are we not "making a mountain out of a mole hill?"

Of course, there has been considerable increase in wages in many industries. But why worry from an investment standpoint? Wage workers spend all they get. If your investments are properly diversified, you get back in additional profits from your chain store and other consumer stocks what you lose on your stocks hurt by labor demands. Besides, we investors are at fault if labor leaders win any unjustified strikes. We cowardly stick our heads under the bed clothes and let the labor leaders do all the shouting.

3. "The U. S. is going Communist and nothing can stop it." Let me reply to this by saying that Communism is distinctly on the decline—everywhere except in the newspaper headlines. Even there it is the fault of those supposed to protect your investments. Consider, for instance, the recent strike in Boston of office building elevator and other employees. Many of these buildings are being operated at a loss and are practically owned by the policyholders of insurance companies and depositors in savings banks. Yet these insurance companies and savings banks did picketing nor lifted a finger to protect them.

I forecast that after this there is sure to be a reaction the right—not further to the left. This return to common sense will come now if the heads of our insurance companies and banks have the courage and fighting quality of the labor leaders.

What About Taxes?

4. "Taxes will be so high this following years that the common will not have profits to distribute. Those who talk as above are making a great mistake. Most taxes passed on to the ultimate consumer. The retired person living on fixed interest coupons has his income cut down by taxes. But a rule—this does not apply to active business who have their money in well-selected common stocks. They are tax collectors—tax payers. The ultimate consumer pays the taxes when buying goods."

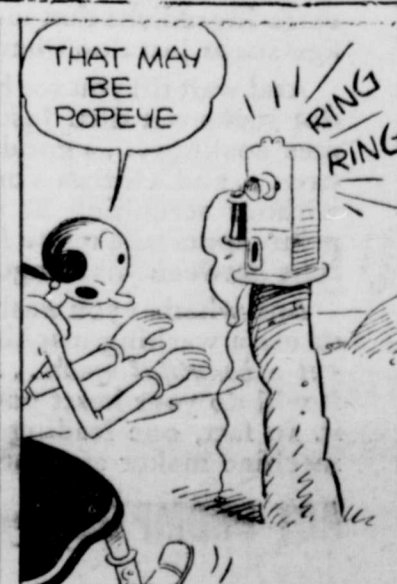

There is also another reason. I do not worry about taxes. The whole Federal and Dominion structure depends upon U. S. Canadian corporations making money. Over 50 per cent of all government revenue receipts come from taxes on corporation profits and dividends. These governments have put their heads in a no-Unless they permit these corporations to make good profits, the governments can get no money to their bills. Furthermore, the experts are now learning that the only way to collect more revenue is to help these corporations make even greater profits!

Face the Facts

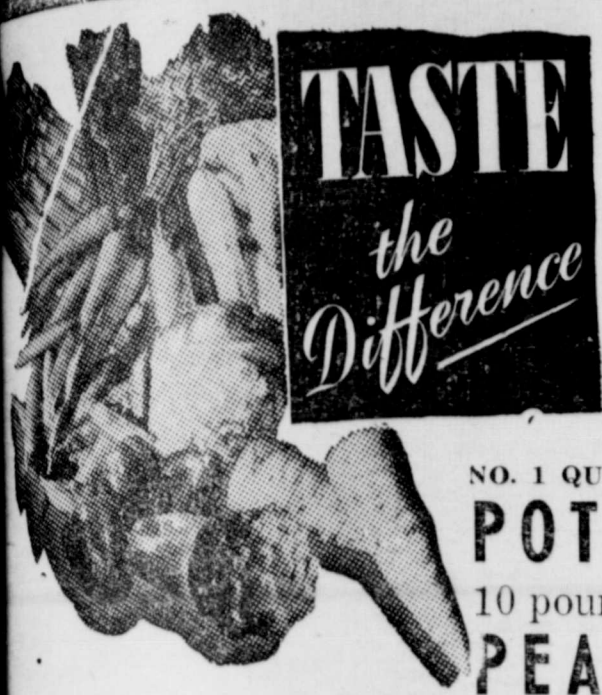

The simple truth is that these excuses are new. Go to any public library and ask for a copy of newspapers published 25, 50, or even 100 years ago, and you will find the same wailing and complaining. "Panic ahead!" "Labor becoming unruly!" "Taxes are too high!" . . . etc. . . very fact that most business men and investors are discouraged and fearful now may be proof that many prices are far too low. The same people were BULLISH in 1929. The great majority are the same today.

Can we have a worse twenty years than from 1920-1940? They were made up of foreign business depressions, recessions, booms, presidential campaigns, every known trouble. There were twenty years of American history so crowded with uncertainty. Yet, these twenty years show if one had invested EACH MONTH in each of America's 24 chief industries—he would have received an AVERAGE income of 3 per cent in dividends during the twenty years! Moreover, his "income," including undistributed earnings, would have been one per cent. I say, if you will profit invest the same amount each month—good years and bad—you should come out all right whatever the ahead!

Mahoney who had been kidded relentlessly about "the dam by a lake site" got out a mimeographed letter to his mailing list and said in part:

"We take this means of officially informing you and all our good friends that Dalhart's famous Rita Blanca dam is no longer a dam by a lakesite, but is a real lake by a damsite."

West Texas Today, official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, got one of the letters, reproduced it and wrote a story about it. The article describes the big dam and lake.

Incidentally, the lake will be formally opened July 20. Marvin Jones, for years congressman from this district and now a federal judge in Washington, will be the principal speaker.

Baptists Are Doing Extensive War Work

Texas Baptists — through their 3250 churches—will be asked to raise $35,000 Sunday, July 27. All of it will go for religious work among the nation's armed forces, according to Dr. W. W. Melton, general secretary of the Baptist General convention of Texas and chairman of the Texas Promotional committee on Baptist war work.

Part of it will go directly into the Baptist war work in Texas, launched in the fall of 1940, and the rest will go toward the South-wide Baptist effort to raise $300,000 for religious activity among U. S. soldiers, sailors and marines.

H. B. Thompson and brother, George Thompson of Lubbock, left this morning on a fishing trip to Conchas dam.

Mother Aloysious and Mother Judith left yesterday for Pittsburgh, Pa., to visit Mother Ignatius, who is gravely ill. The local hospital was built under Mother Ignatius' supervision.

news magazine of the Greater Buffalo, N. Y. Advertising club, recently wrote that "ignorance is the womb of the monster". It makes dictators and all the enslaving isms possible.

"Education", wrote DeMun, is the most economical defense of America. Ignorance is the mother of defeat and failure. In America, as in Europe, the ignorant classes are the dangerous classes.

"Dictators are arrogant in proportion to their ignorance. Man's natural tendency is to egotism, and dictators in their infancy of knowledge think that all creation was formed for them. Narrow-souled men are like narrow-necked bottles — the less they have in them the more noise they make in pouring it out."

New Texas Law Is To Favor U. S. Defenders

Austin.—Under a new law all members of the U. S. armed forces, who are stationed in Texas, regardless of how long, may enroll their children in the state's colleges and universities for the same tuition and other charges as are paid by residents.

The new law was introduced by Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg as Senate Bill No. 486 and applies to enlisted men as well as officers, and to all branches of the armed forces, including reservists.

Under the old law these men had to live in Texas for 12 consecutive months in order to send their children to university or college without paying exorbitant non-resident fees, Senator Kelley said.

Soft Ball Twin Bill Is Tonight

Too Many Americans Are Not Replacing Themselves

Goodwell, Okla. July 10 — Dr. Albert E. Wiggam, author of "The Fruits of the Family Tree" and other best sellers will speak on the Panhandle A. & M. College campus here tonight at 8:30 and is a recognized master of both the written and spoken word.

Dr. Wiggam tonight will give his challenging lecture: "Who Shall Inherit America—the Strong or the Weak, the Intelligent or the Stupid?"

He is going to ask the question: What will happen to America since the middle and upper classes are practicing birth control to the point where they are not even replacing themselves?

This question becomes all the more serious, he says, because in America today the most children are being born where there are the least schools, and the least children where there are the most schools. Ignorance and illiteracy are mounting in the U. S. Dudley J. DeMun in Ad-Vents, weekly
