CITY HOSPITAL IS URGENT NECESSITY

LONG-FELT NEED FOR SUCH AN INSTITUTION EMPHASIZED LAST NIGHT.

IS BEING CONSIDERED

Young Man Run Over Last Night Was Without Medical Treatment For an Hour.

The long-felt need for a city hospital was emphasized last night very thoroughly, when the young man who was run over by a freight engine was brought to the city hall for treatment. The county hospital was inaccessible, and the railroad authorities declined to take charge, because in so doing they would have assumed some liability for the accident.

The young man went for an hour with practically no medical treatment, and his chances for recovery were materially lessened by the continued loss of blood and exposure. It was not until Mayor Noble agreed to be responsible for the young man's treatment that he was taken to the sanitarium and a physician secured to attend him. Had the accident been a more serious one, death would almost certainly have ensued before medical aid was rendered.

This is not the first time that a city hospital has been felt necessary and the city authorities have considered the matter tentatively. It is very likely that a modern hospital will be erected here as soon as the city's finances will permit.

YOUNG MAN BADLY HURT BY ENGINE

JOHN TEDDER OF MOUNT VERNON LOSES LEG IN ACCIDENT AT MIDNIGHT.

IS LIKELY TO RECOVER

Chances Are That Injury Will Not Prove Fatal—His Relatives Are Notified.

John Tedder, aged about twenty-one years, was run over by a freight engine about midnight last night near the coal chute in the Fort Worth and Denver yards, sustaining the loss of a leg. He is today in the Wichita Sanitarium and his chances for recovery are said to be good.

The exact nature of the accident has not been determined, but it is understood that Tedder miscalculated the distance between himself and the approaching engine when he started to cross the track and was run down. The crew at once picked him up and he was taken to the city hall, being later removed to the sanitarium. The leg was completely severed by the wheels, an operation being performed at the sanitarium this morning.

Tedder has relatives at Mt. Vernon, Titus county, a brother and a sister, who were notified by Mayor Noble this morning. They instructed him to see that everything possible was done for their brother's comfort.

The injury is, of course, a dangerous one, but the young man is bearing up well under the shock and his chances for recovery are good. He is being attended by Dr. MacKechney.

While here her two sons, aged nine and fourteen, were drowned, the dock upon which they were standing having caved in. This occurred two weeks ago.

The hospital authorities declare their information is authentic, and that they took drastic action because the girl is sick and indifferent to her fate.

Texas News Service Special. Galveston, Tex., Nov. 10.—The entire crew of the dredge Helm, due to clear for Holland this morning, deserted during the night, declaring the craft unseaworthy and the food provided for the trip unfit. The captain alone remained in charge.

The Helm cleared the dockage, but was forced to return after covering thirty miles, owing to an inadequate coal supply. The captain believes he will have no difficulty in enlisting another crew.

PRESIDENT TAFT EN ROUTE TO WATERWAYS CONVENTION; HIS DEPARTURE FROM ST. LOUIS.

When the fleet of steamboats with President Taft and the delegates to the waterway convention steamed from St. Louis it bore the most distinguished body of men ever embarked on the Mississippi river. There were the governors of more than half the states, many senators and congressmen and an army of business men. Vice President Sherman did not accompany the fleet, and Mr. Taft had a little joke at his expense when he spoke at Cairo. He said: "Did you ever contemplate what would happen to the nation if this fleet went down?" One of the accompanying pictures shows the president waving goodbye to St. Louis from the deck of the steamboat. The other is a snapshot of the president in company with Huxford Crawford and A. L. Sniappish of the St. Louis reception committee. Mr. Crawford is the man next to the president.

"WHITEWASHING OF BALLINGER"

INTERESTING ARTICLE WILL AP-PEAR IN THIS WEEK'S ISSUE OF COLLIER'S.

NEW LIGHT ON SUBJECT

L. R. Glavis Brings Out Some New and Important Facts in the Controversy.

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 10.—"The White-washing of Ballinger is the subject of an article which will appear in this week's edition of Collier's Weekly, and which throws some light and startling evidence upon the controversy.
The article is by L. R. Glavis and says,
in part:

"From 1902 to 1909 I was in the field service of the General Land Office, for the last two and a half years, as chief of field division. In September, 1909, I was summarily removed from my position without a formal hearing by Richard A. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior, by authorization of the president of the United States.
That removal was accompanied by the publication of a letter of the president to Mr. Ballinger. I believe that my removal was unfair. I believe the president's letter was grievously unfair, because in it the president gives weight to a charge against me which I never had the opportunity to see or answer.
The president states in his letter that I withheld from him information favorable to my superiors. I do not know of any such information withheld by me, nor am I conscious of doing injustice to my superiors. Nevertheless, I should not now make any public statement of the matter were it not still possible to save for the government many thousand acres of coal lands which I believe the land office may in the near future grant to fraudulent claimants. The hope that my statement will help to arouse public sentiment, and that this danger to the national resources may be averted, is what actuates me. This statement will simply give facts and leave to the judgment of those who read whether or not the land office has been zealous in the public service.

"The coal lands of Alaska, owned by the government, amount to over 100,000 acres. They are the future coal supply of the nation, of almost inestimable value. Possession of them by private individuals means great wealth—a monopoly of them would be a national menace.

On November 12th, 1906, President Roosevelt withdrew all coal lands in Alaska from public entry; but previous to that time there were about 900 claims filed, covering about 100,000 acres (nearly the whole of the coal fields). The law attempts to prevent monopoly of such claims by limiting the amount of each claim and providing that each claimant must take up the land in his own interest and for his own use. This law has been interpreted by the supreme court of the United States to forbid speculating in coal lands before entry—either by dummy entrymen or by previous agreements to consolidate claims after entry. Of these 900 claims to Alaska coal lands—among them the so-called Cunningham group—the majority are fraudulent.

As to the action of the land office on these claims, I assert that the land office ordered the Cunningham claims to patent without due investigation when Commissioner Ballinger knew they were under suspicion; that while in office Commissioner Ballinger urged congress to pass a law which would validate fraudulent Alaska claims; that shortly after he became secretary of the interior his office rendered a decision which would have validated all fraudulent Alaska claims. A reversal of that decision on every point was obtained from Attorney General Wickersham. Had it not been for Mr.
Wickersham's decision, every fraudulent claim would have gone to patent. I assert that in the spring of 1909 the land office urged me to an early trial of these cases before the investigation was finished, and when Secretary Ballinger, as the president has stated, knew that the Cunningham claims were invalid. When I appealed to Secretary Ballinger for postponement, he referred me to his subordinates. The department of agriculture intervened. I was superseded in the charge of the cases, and the man who superseded me endorsed by recommendations, and the postponement was granted. Immediately thereafter
I made my report on the Cunningham cases to President Taft, and was dismissed from the service for insubordination.

"Mr. Ballinger retired as commissioner of the land office in March, 1908. A few days before, while still an officer of the United States, Mr.
Ballinger appeared before the house committee on public lands in favor of the Cole bill, then pending. In the course of his statement he said: "...the last section of the bill provides for a consolidation of existing entries and does not call for the proof of good faith of the original entry or location. There are a great many charges pending against some of the original entries in Alaska. At the time these fields were located, corporations were organized. The men had really no method of taking advantage of these coal measures. It resulted in their getting involved in conditions which, upon the records of the land office, are a technical violation of the statute, and it is a situation which should be cleared up. In my estimation it has not been the intention of the people in the field nor in Alaska to put them in hostility to the laws, but they have been in a position where they could not, by virtue of the circumstances, accommodate themselves to the laws, and, with this last provision, they could transmute their present entries into the form suggested by this bill, and those new entries would be treated as primary entries. In other words, it would be an abandonment of the old conditions which have made a great deal of difficulty in the matter of the disposition of the land in many instances."

"When Mr. Ballinger made this statement (before the committee on public lands), he was urging a change in the law by which fraudulent entries would be made valid—by which the Cunningham group and the other Alaska claims would have received patents to practically 100,000 acres of Alaska coal fields. Whether or not we agree that a fraudulent entry is a 'technical violation' of a statute, there seems little doubt as to the defects of the Alaska coal claims (which included the Cunningham group).

"It was at this time that I laid the facts in my possession regarding the Cunningham case before the president. The president has chosen to treat my report as a charge of criminality. I made no such charge, nor do I make it now. The president's letter is a defense of Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Dennett from charges not made in my report to him. I was not investigating either Mr. Ballinger or Mr. Dennett, but the Alaska coal cases. Because I knew that these cases were to come before Mr. Dennett and that there was no appeal from his decision save to Secretary Ballinger, because Secretary Ballinger had stated he would not act in these cases and because the next ranking officer of the department was Assistant Secretary Pierce, who had signed the decision which Mr. Wickersham had overruled, I believed the Alaska coal cases were in danger. The president has seen in this nothing but overzeal and insubordination on my part, and an opportunity to praise the secretary of the interior. I have not been informed what answer the department of the interior has made to my statement, but the public will judge whether I am right in thinking the Alaska coal claims are still in danger."

Coming to a Bad End

That's what the chap in this picture is surely doing, and that's what anybody is likely to do who does not pay attention to what he's doing.

The question here is, can you afford to go on ignoring the money-saving possibilities of buying your lumber and building material from us? Our stock is certainly the finest in this section and our prices are as low as you can get anywhere.

To prove that we can save you money, let us give you an estimate on your next bill.

Will Prohibition Hurt Wichita Falls?

Waxahachie, Tex., Nov. 9, 1909.
In 1902, in a prohibition election, the prohibition side won by a majority of 799, and in 1906, in a similar election, the pro majority was 2009. This will indicate to you what the citizenship of Ellis county think of this question.

In 1901, the last year of saloons, there was filed in the city court 395 cases, 215 of this number being for drunkenness. In 1908 there was filed in the city court 116 cases, and 38 of these were for drunkenness. Our public school have increased more than one third in enrollment in the last six years. There is not now vacant in the city a desirable business house or residence, and rents are no lower, except in a few instances—more often higher, and not a desirable business house for sale, except at excessive prices. The present short crops have hurt business at this time, but even some of the antis confessed to me that their business had been better and far more pleasant. I have been a citizen of this county for twenty years and have held county offices, city offices and have been engaged in the mercantile business. I state facts and hope they may be worth something to you.
Yours truly,
A. LASSWELL, Mayor.

The Saloons and Crime.

The Times:
During the two years ending Sept. 1st, 1909, the court dockets show the following cases in Wichita county:

District court felony cases, 82; county court misdemeanor cases, 258; justice court, Precinct No. 1 (Wichita Falls), 484; city court, 2543, making a total of 3367 cases involving criminal charges. From the best information to be had the county jail has received 550 prisoners during that time (250 during the last ten months of the time, or an average of 25 per month), and the city jail 2250, making a grand total of 2800 commitments in the jails of the county.

Hon. P. A. Martin, our district attorney says:

"It is my deliberate judgment, based on grand jury and court room experience as a public prosecutor, that more than 60 per cent of the crimes committed in Wichita county is either directly or indirectly due to the existence of saloons in that county."

The records will show that 80 or 90 per cent of the cases in the city courts of Wichita Falls are the result of drunkenness and kindred evils.

The last 31 months of saloons in Fannin county there were in the justice and city courts of Bonham, Honey Grove and Ladonia 3136 criminal cases filed. The following 31 months, under prohibition, the same courts showed 1838 cases, a decrease of 1298 cases.

In Nacogdoches county the last year of saloons showed 274 indictments by the two grand juries. Two years later, under prohibition, they found but 90, a decrease of 184 bills for one year.

In Van Zandt county the last two grand juries, under saloons, found 183 indictments; the next year, under prohibition, two grand juries found 87 indictments, less than half.

In Clarksville the city court the last two years of saloons docketed 914 cases; next two years, under prohibition, 158, a decrease of 757 cases.

In Ellis county the two grand juries for the last year of saloons found 499 indictments. Four years later, under prohibition, the two corresponding grand juries found 176 indictments, a decrease for one year under prohibition of 323 crimes.

In Lamar county the last grand jury under saloons found 64 bills; the next under prohibition, 31.

Vote out saloons and reduce crime one-half in Wichita county.

A Gold Mine to All

The following is an analysis of water taken from a well on my farm two miles southwest of town, on the road to Lake Wichita; was made by G. S. Fraps, Ph. D., State Chemist, at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, on Oct. 13th, 1909.

This sample of water has the following composition, expressed in grains, per U. S. Gallon:
Carbonate of Lime.....	7.58
Sulphate of Lime.....	23.23
Calcium Chloride.....	15.68
Magnesium Chloride.....	32.19
Sodium Chloride.....	135.41

This water is classed as a muriated saline water. These waters stimulate the secretion of the stomach, increase digestion and favor a more complete absorption of the food. This water should have a laxative action, taken in small doses, and a purgative action taken in larger doses, on account of the magnesium which it contains.
Yours truly,
G. S. FRAPS.

This water will be delivered to any part of the city at 10c per gallon.

AMUSEMENTS

Foreign comedies, if their humor is retained, invariably falls flat when produced thos side, and vice versa. One of the few exceptions of recent seasons has been the great success of "Who's Your Friend," an American comedy dealing with the New England type of American life, which has met with equal triumphs in New York and London.

"Who's Your Friend," with Mrs. Harry Beresford, the odd comedian, surrounded by almost the same cast as seen in New York, and the same identical production will be seen in this city at the Wichita Theatre, on Saturday Nov. 13th.

The Nashville Banner says: "Plays to the number of forty or fifty will make their appearance at the Vendome Theatre during the present season, and of the number 75 per cent will probably have passed from memory within thirty days after their engagement here, but Harry Beresford, who opened a week's engagement here last night, will not help to make up the 75 per cent. Nashville will remember Harry Beresford and his play, "Who's Your Friend?" and the audience manifested by their actions that they realized that they were witnessing a performance that comes but seldom in the course of a season, and it won't be long before every theatre-goer in Nashville evinces a desire to see Harry Beresford.

"Mr. Beresford is an actor par excellence, and one is tempted to say that he is made for the part he depicts in his present play; on second thought, however, he would shape and mould any comedy in which he starred until he would fit the part like a glove.

"As for the vehicle for the display of Mr. Beresford's talents, "Who's Your Friend?" by Harry and Edward Paulson, is the most cleverly conceived comedy imaginable. No elaborate stage setting is needed to bring out their parts. There are three acts and the same scene in each, a change of furniture for the room being the only difference between the first and the second scenes.

"The support accorded Mr. Beresford is not faulty, but in comparison with his work, in a few places the cast does not show to great advantage. H. Sleigh as Jabez Vennamy, the villain, is a faithful portrayal of the part, and never makes the mistake common to the cheap actor, that of carrying his villainy to an extreme. C. Clayton Burnison as Mr. Nicholas and J. Paul Jones as Harry Harrison, interpret their lines satisfactorily, and Miss Grace Beebe as Rosalie, is an actress of ability. The latter as the servant girl comes in for a full share of applause."

A QUESTION OF BAIT.

Should the Beggar Leave Few or Many Cents in His Hat?

"One thing that I've never been able to settle in my mind to my own satisfaction," said a street beggar whose specialty is sitting on a step and holding out his hat to passersby, "is the question of how many pennies it is wise to have in the hat for people to see as they go by. Of course you understand there are two theories on this. Working on one you leave there only a few, just three or four pennies scattered around irregular, but pretty far apart, and on the other you leave in the hat a lot of pennies.

"Of course the idea of the first plan is to make people when they see how little you've got want to chip in and help, and the idea of the other plan is to stir people up to generosity by showing them how generous others have been, and there's a heap to be said for that. There's lots of people that give, because other people have given—because they like to go with the crowd.

"I've tried both plans and had good days with lean bait and bad days with a full bait in the hat, and then I've had good days with a full bait and bad days with a lean bait. All you can do is, if one plan doesn't work well, try the other. You never can tell."—New York Sun.

AVIATION.

The Dangers Involved in Three Dimensional Steering.

The navigation of the air is a form of locomotion that differs from all the others to which men have resorted in that it involves three dimensional steering.

It is in the three dimensional nature of aviation that the real wonder of it lies. Its demands upon the aviator's attention are almost appalling in number and constancy. The automobilist has to mind what he is about not a little, and a moment's carelessness means disaster, but his divagations from safety are all horizontal. The road and gravity take care of the others for him, while the aeroplane can make mistakes all the way around a sphere; hence, in addition to lending an attentive ear to every sound from a complicated and delicate engine, he must manipulate one rudder for up and down, another for right and left and two more at the ends of his wings. And all these must be combined and co-ordinated. Water is stability itself in comparison with the medium through which he moves. When in flight, therefore, the aviator is probably the busiest man alive, and there is not an instant of rest for him till after he has made his perilous descent.—New York Times.

He Put the Brakes On.

In his autobiography the late Professor Shaler of Harvard tells this story: Once he was present at a dinner in England where Tyndall, the renowned scientist, started to tell about experiences in America. His descriptions were, to say the least, exaggerated. Just as he was telling about a thrilling escape from drowning which he had had while viewing Niagara falls—describing it with bursts of hyperbole—his eye happened to catch that of Shaler, whom he had not noticed before.

For a moment Tyndall stopped, abashed—then, with wink of the eye, as if begging Shaler not to "give him away," he continued the tale, but in a noticeably subdued vein.

At its conclusion Tyndall sought Shaler.

"I fear that yarn of mine was rather highly colored," he confessed to the American, "but it is sometimes necessary to touch up the truth a bit."

More Than One Trafalgar Square.

The Scotland Yard examination which would be taxicab drivers have to undergo in the knowledge of London is no mere matter of form. "If," asked the inquisitor recently of a candidate, "a fare hails you in Trafalgar square and asks to be driven to Trafalgar square what would you do?" "I should drive him around a bit and drop him on the other side of the square," replied the candidate. And he was turned down, for he did not know that London has three Trafalgar squares besides the finest site in Europe—one in Camberwell, one in Chelsea and one in Stepney.—London Chronicle.

The Truly Reticent Woman.

Speak of a reticent woman and most people picture to themselves a woman who doesn't talk much. But the truly reticent woman—the woman who makes reticence an art—is not at all silent. She talks with what is apparently the greatest candor, so that people go away from her saying what a frank, genial woman she is. And no one ever suspects, unless he or she is phenomenally clever, that the genial conversationalist had all sorts of unspoken things in her mind.—Exchange.

Father's Real Role.

"Fathers have been much maligned." "As to how?" "About using their boots on suitors. On four different occasions I have been referred by a young lady to her father, and every time I found it was for the purpose of letting me down easy."—Pittsburg Post.

Intrinsically.

Constituent—What do you suppose Graphter is worth? Senator Lotzman—I don't know what he's worth now. I bought him once when he was just starting out for $75 and a railway pass.—Chicago Tribune.

Doubt is born of the mind; faith is the daughter of the soul.—Emerson.

Attractive One Story House.

A Complete Home on a Single Floor—Can Be Constructed in First Class Style For About $2,500.

Designed by Thomas L. West, Seattle, Wash.

BEST PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH

FLOOR PLAN.

Although the resemblance between the house shown in the above photograph and the ordinary summer bungalow is striking, the design presented is for an all the year round home. Size, 25 by 30 feet; height of first story, 9 feet; attic, 8 feet. The exterior may be shingled from the ground to the gables, which will appear well covered with plaster. Five good rooms are provided for the first floor, with two rooms in the attic suitable for bedrooms. By cutting out the back chamber the dining room can be turned into a large living room, with the parlor for a "den." The house is economical to build and on a wide plot with open views all around makes an attractive home. Estimate of $2,500 as the outside cost of construction includes basement in concrete, porcelain plumbing, gas and electric lighting and furnace heat.

A Stylish Gable Roof Cottage.

Designed for a Terrace Site—Can Be Constructed and Finished Complete and Up to Date For About $6,300.

Designed by Albert E. Davis, the Bronx, New York.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

Here is a design for an attractive gable roof cottage to set upon a terrace. The dimensions are 28 by 43 feet. The foundations are of stone, with rustic field stone underpinning for the piazza. The first story is clapboarded with shingled piazza railing, carrying double and triple colonial columns for the support of roof. Second story and roof are shingled with cypress shingles, gables having projecting verge boards. The cellar floor is cemented with portland cement concrete. There are stained glass windows in the hall, stair landings and bathroom. The hall and dining room are finished in oak, parlor in ivory white, sitting room in birch, kitchen in ash and the upstairs rooms in sycamore. The chamber flooring is of maple, with a double border of oak and the other floors of North Carolina pine. There are ample closets and dressers, and the plumbing is first class, with white enameled fixtures and nickel plated trimmings. Electric bells and burglar alarms are provided. There are outside blinds to all side and rear windows. Total cost, including plumbing and hot water heating, $6,300.

WORLD'S BANKNOTES.

Shape, Size and Color of Paper Money of the Nations.

The only paper money that is accepted practically all over the globe is not "money" at all, but the notes of the Bank of England. These notes are simply printed in black ink on Irish linen, water lined paper, plain white, with ragged edges. The reason that a badly soiled or worn Bank of England note is rarely seen is that notes which in any way find their way back to the bank are immediately canceled and new ones are issued. The notes of the Banque de France are made of white water lined paper printed in black and white, with numerous mythological and allegorical pictures. They are in denominations of from 25 francs to 1,000 francs.

Bank of England notes are of a somewhat unhandy size—5 by 8 inches. South American currency resembles the bills of the United States, except that cinnamon brown and slate blue are the prevailing colors. German currency is printed in green and black, the notes being in denominations of from 5 to 1,000 marks. The 1,000 mark bills are printed on silk fiber paper.

It takes an expert or a native to distinguish a Chinese bill from a laundry ticket if the bill is of low denomination or a freerack label if for a large amount, the print being in red on white or yellow on red, with much gilt and gorgeous devices. Italian notes are all sizes, shapes and colors. The smallest bills, 5 and 10 lire, are printed on white paper in pink, blue and carmine inks.

The most striking paper currency in the world is the 100 ruble note of Russia, which is barred from top to bottom with all the colors of the rainbow blended as when a sun ray passes through a prism. In the center is bold relief is a finely executed vignette in black. The remainder of the engraving on the note is in dark and light brown ink.

The American practice of scattering strands of silk through the paper fiber as a protection against counterfeiting is unique.—Harper's Weekly.

POLAR PHENOMENA.

The Mirage and the Mock Sun of the Arctic Regions.

In the spring of 1900 I changed over to the steamer Corwin and sailed for the Arctic ocean to establish a trading station somewhere on the northern shores of Alaska. Although we went on a purely commercial venture, there was a good deal of talk about the pole during the seven months we spent in the almost continuous sunlight.

Dr. Cook relates instances of seeing mirages above the ice fields—mountains passing in solemn review and sometimes inverted and standing on their peaks—but he goes on to say that there were no forms of life. Mirage is a common sight even in lower latitudes than those mentioned by Dr. Cook. I have seen the spires and domes of well defined buildings, whole cities, in fact, appear above the horizon, sometimes lingering for several minutes, or, again, with their towers reaching up higher and higher, attenuating apparently to a mere thread. The "mock sun" is a common phenomenon in the Bering sea. On the evening of June 2, 1900, perhaps 100 miles south of St. Lawrence Island, about 9:30 o'clock and past sunset, the sun was visible as though half an hour high, but appearing as a much flattened oval. Then another sun more nearly round emerged from the horizon beneath the "goose egg," rising quite rapidly until it blended with the descending orb. Thereupon, instead of settling below the horizon, the light was quickly dissipated in the air. This phenomenon was probably due to the unequal density of several superimposed strata of air producing refraction of the sun's rays from below the horizon.—Captain Edwin Coffin of Ziegler Polar Expedition in National Magazine.

Parental Severity.

The children of two centuries ago fell on sterner times, if one may believe that the spirit of family life was accurately expressed by an excellent mother of that day who said, without humorous intent, that her children "loved her as sinners dread death." There is little doubt that parental control at that date was as rigorous as this anecdote indicates. It is said that when little Andrew Elliot, afterward lieutenant governor of New York, objected to bolled mutton his father, Sir Gilbert Elliot, frowned.

"Let Mr. Andrew have bolled mutton for breakfast," commanded the stern parent, "cold mutton for dinner and cold mutton for supper till he has learned to like it."—Youth's Companion.

A Bushel of Cents.

It beats all what odd questions reach some of the departments of government in Washington. Not long ago the treasury received a letter from a man who had made a bet asking "How many cents are there in a bushel?" The answer was not easy to offer. If the man had asked about pounds he might have received a definite answer. As it was, he got in reply a guess from a clerk that "roughly there is something like $320, or 32,000 pennies."

A JOYFUL PASTIME.

It's Really a Pleasure to Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei.

It isn't a pleasure to saturate your stomach with vile nostrums or to shock the tender membrane of the nose and throat with disagreeable sprays and douches.

But, strange to say, there are a few thousand people who do not keep abreast of the times who are hoping against hope that these ancient methods will rid them of catarrh.

If the readers of the Daily Times who suffer from catarrh want to banish this vile and disgusting disease forever, go to Mater-Walker Drug Co. today and get a complete Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit for $1. If it doesn't cure it won't cost you a cent because Mater-Walker Co. will give you your money back.

Hyomei is so simple and pleasant to take; pour a few drops from the bottle into the inhaler and breathe it.

As it passes over the membrane and into the lungs with the air you breathe it soothes the raw membrane and kills the catarrh germs. Don't experiment longer. Leading druggists everywhere sell Hyomei for catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc. Drop a postal for our free book, Booth's Famous People, Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

What we have to say here concerns you lovers of exclusiveness in dress among our higher priced lines—those at $22.50, $25.00, $30.00 and $35.00. You will find materials and patterns confined to us alone in Wichita Falls by Hart, Schaffner & Marx. But very few suits of each material came to us and, considering the enormous size of our stock, we can surely say that nowhere in Wichita can you find so wide, so varied assortment of splendid garments. These are beautifully made, cleverly styled clothes, luxurious to the last degree; mere words are inadequate to describe them justly—come and see for yourself. Woolens have advanced and clothiers generally are putting up their prices—some more, some less; according to the skill and manner of their buying. There is nothing extraordinary interesting in that statement but read what follows. Hart, Schaffner and Marx are the greatest manufacturers of clothing in the country. The amount of woolen clothes they buy each season may be measured in leagues. Their buyers are most skillful and experienced. And here is the interesting point: On account of their buying skill, on account of their enormous quantity of their purchases, Hart, Schaffner & Marx have been enabled to give us better fabrics at each price than any other make can afford. That is why Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes of ours are better value than any you can find elsewhere in Wichita today.
