PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

This morning we are mad. Angry is considered a better word, but it doesn't exactly express our feelings...

Yesterday we wore our second best pipe to work and left the best one at home for a short vacation.

Now his ideas for a fancy pipe and ours do not agree at all, and so to our notion the pipe is now a complete loss.

Of course the second best pipe is pretty good. It is a little over six years old and was smoked constantly for a couple of years and since then has been substituting for our best every now and then so that it got in about half-time service.

However, we may be able to boil out the stem, wash it up good and use the tooth-marked pipe for our stay-at-home pipe and use the second best as our going-out pipe.

Both of these have a habit of going out from time to time, but we mean to smoke when we are going out.

Gus was griping yesterday because he gave the Russian Chorus a good paragraph of publicity and didn't even get a complimentary ticket to the show in return.

Few people realize what a thankless job editing a paper is. As long as you give everyone all the publicity they want they never think to thank you in any way.

"Enoch Arden" of Sing Sing

Gives Up 22 Years After Escaping From Prison.

Twenty-two years ago Walter Brannigan, above, escaped from famous Sing Sing prison. Since then he has lived a respectable life, working hard and even doing his bit in the war, and has been known to his neighbors as "John Casey," a painting contractor.

WHERE SOLDIERS GUARD THE POLLS

Mexico elected members of a new parliament Sunday. Sixty thousand regular troops guarded the ballot boxes. This is said to have insured "a very orderly and a very honest election of public officials." It is a matter of history as well as a matter of record that the leader who controls the soldiers is the supreme dictator under the skies of Mexico.

Ballots and bullets clash frequently in many Latin republics. As for that matter, the custom is found beyond the border lines of these republics. In Balkan countries, the soldier is on guard and the dictator is the supreme ruler. In many of the new republics under the skies of Europe the soldier in the instrument and the dictator is the all wise and all powerful. Man is a turbulent creature at best.

MUSSOLINI A MASTER OF LANGUAGES

Dictator Mussolini of Italy is the son of a blacksmith. He was a socialist in early youth. He was a printer and then an editor. Came the World war and he fought in the ranks for Italy and the allies. After the war he organized his Black Shirts and has been the ruler of Italy ever since. A most extraordinary man is this Italian dictator. He is a master of four languages, a gifted linguist, an orator unsurpassed for eloquence and magnetism in the land of the Romans. He made four addresses in a single day. First he addressed a German audience, then English, then a French and then an audience of Romans who are modern Italians. He is the most autocratic of all the dictators who have flourished since the close of the World War. He is as poor as a church mouse. A crooked dollar never stained the palm of his hand. Now what will happen to Italy when Mussolini dies?

HE PRAYS BEFORE HE SWEARS

General Smedley M. Butler was taken to task for profanity in his race for the senate in Pennsylvania. He entered a plea of guilty. He was sorry for it, but he had an alibi. He advised his critics that daily before he addressed an audience he knelt and sent a prayer to the heavenly throne for guidance as well as protection for all the people here below. That makes it a 50-50 proposition. General Butler is a rabble rouser as well as an ex-fighting Marine. This is his defense: "Before I get up to speak I make a prayer. I ask the Lord to please help me say the right thing and it has been a big help: If the Lord does not want me to do this I won't succeed. Let us do legally, with courage, what mobs will do if we don't. If something is not done the 30,000 hungry people in this state will do something."

Gov. Gifford Pinchot and General Smedley Butler are political comrades in arms. They are republicans and Pinchot's criticisms of the president and the policies of the republican party are the most blistering words of condemnation that have fallen from the lips of any speaker in the year 1932.

TRAFFIC TAGS AND BANK HOLDUPS

One of the angles of the recent $200,000 Minneapolis bank holdup illustrates perfectly the tangled problem which this complicated age has tossed in the laps of the police.

Armed heavily enough to resemble a World war trench raiding squad, the bandits boldly marched into a bank in a busy section of the city, in broad daylight, held up the 24 people who were in the bank, and got away with their loot unmolested.

Meanwhile, less than a block away, two policemen who might have done something to stop them were peacefully putting traffic tickets on improperly parked automobiles, in blissful ignorance of the holdup.

This, of course, does not mean that the policemen were asleep. They were doing precisely what they had been paid to do. Guardians of law and order, they were devoting themselves to the dreary, never-ending job of seeing to it that a big city's traffic didn't tie itself into hard knots.

As a result, the bandits who went out to commit an insolently bold robbery got away unmolested. That is the sort of thing the police in every city are up against nowadays.

A police department exists primarily to protect the lives and property of the citizens. If it fails in that, it fails to justify its existence.

But we have permitted our city civilization to grow so complicated that the police often find the war on crime a relatively minor part of their schedule.

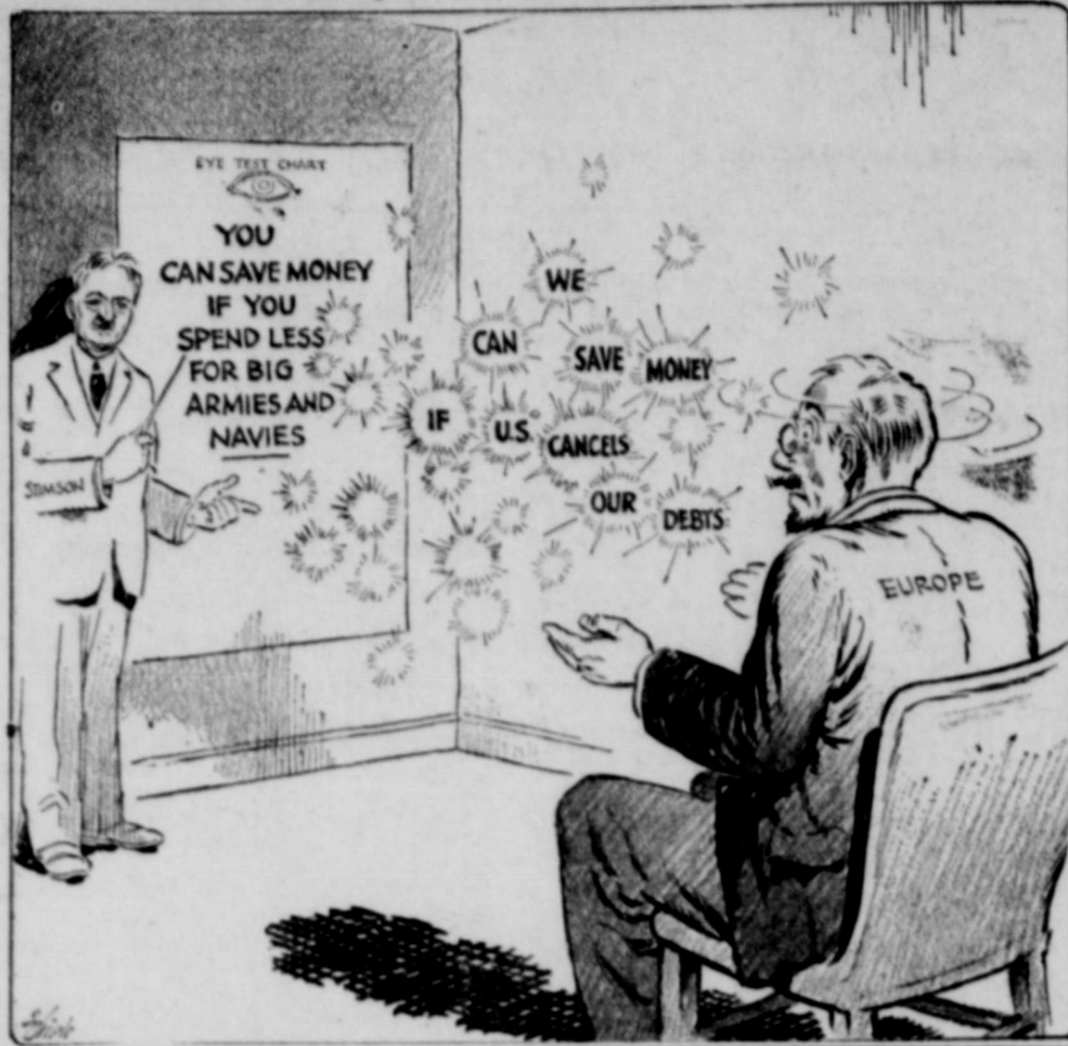

They have traffic to superintend—a man-sized job in itself. They have a host of minor city ordinances to enforce. They must also keep down bootlegging, check up on gamblers, see to it that street peddlers have licenses, cast an occasional eye at theatrical performances, look for missing persons, and so on. They are too busy with their incidental jobs to give the war on crime the attention that it must have.

CHAIRMAN HUGGINS ON HIGHWAY

State Chairman W. O. Huggins is the editor of The Houston Chronicle. He was the principal speaker at the Farmers Short Course held in conjunction with the two-day celebration of the sixth birthday of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. Huntsville was the place of meeting. There was a tremendous gathering. Chairman-Editor Huggins said the highways had brought the rural people of East Texas to a happy living. He said the value of highways led first in the social, cultural and religious intercourse that they permitted rural people to enjoy. As for the economic burden, he placed it secondary. Well, Huggins is an editor. Let him tell it: "The highways have brought the rural folks, of which I am proud to be one, together. They make us neighbors and enable us to enjoy country life. I know all of you in this hall belong to families who own cars. Each car has five tires. I have had the taxes paid by farmers estimated in several East Texas counties and I tell you that the average farmer pays no more highway tax than it costs for one tire."

If this be true Chairman-Editor Huggins should let the urbanites who operate cars in on the secret.

Penn State Police Conduct School

By United Press. HARRISBURG, Pa.—The Pennsylvania state police "keep school" each night on the tri-state police teletype system.

The pupils are the municipal policemen in the station houses linked with the teletype transmission system in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

The lessons are instruction in criminal law and criminal procedure, compiled from the course of study given the state policemen in their training school here.

No examinations are conducted nor grades given, but results are reported as "satisfactory" both to teachers and pupils.

Now they're making rubber out of sagebrush. If the price of rubber keeps on dropping, they're going to start making sagebrush out of rubber.

Four Women Are Candidates For Offices In Texas

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN, Texas, the first state to elect a woman governor, may again elect a woman governor and send three women to congress, besides.

That Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, defeated for the second term, may stage a political comeback is by no means improbable. Three women are announced candidates for congress-at-large and Gov. Ross Sterling, who has been so reticent about announcing his own political intentions has announced Mrs. Alex Adams, Mrs. Barntown, as another candidate for congress-at-large.

Of the self-announced candidates, one is an avowed wet. Mrs. Ida M. Darden of Fort Worth says that her campaign will be based on a proposal for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and pending that repeal, modification of the Volstead act.

Mrs. Nelva Real of Kerrville, another of the candidates, is a prohibitionist. She was the widow of former Congressman Martin Dies of Beaumont when she married Fred Real, wool and mohair dealer. If she is elected Congressman Martin Dies Jr., will have his own step-mother as a fellow member of the Texas delegation in the seventy-third U. S. congress.

Mrs. Phoebe Warner, of Claude, neglected to mention the prohibition question in sending out a draft of her platform. She comes from a dry part of the state.

Mrs. Adams lives in the fourteenth district, whose congressman, Richard M. Kleberg, was one of those voting wet in the recent house test.

It is interesting to note that each of the women candidates in Texas has a husband. Mrs. Ferguson became a candidate for governor only when her husband was barred from making the race.

When Mrs. Darden and W. F. Myrick of Fort Worth married she secured a court order permitting her to retain her name unchanged.

Mrs. Warner's husband, William A. Warner, is a physician.

Mrs. Adams' husband is an architect.

Both Mrs. Real and Mrs. Darden have already had experience in Washington. Mrs. Real was at one time in the office of the congressional committee on railways and canals. Mrs. Darden was for a time in the office of the Southern Tariff association at Washington.

Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Adams are both prominent club women. Mrs. Warner has been both a college instructor and an editor, editing the Texas Wheat Growers magazine. She has been national chairman of the Federated Women's Club on rural co-operation.

Mrs. Adams' husband is a post-office now extinct, she married Dr. Warner of Brimfield, Ill. They came to Texas and pioneered in the Panhandle, living on a claim.

Mrs. Warner, born on a farm and attending a one-room country school, later worked her way through college. She organized the science department of Illinois Women's college and was head of it for several years. She organized the first county federation of women in Texas and for more than 15 years has been writing country life features.

Another woman member may be added to the Texas legislature. Mrs. Martha H. Cassidy has announced her candidacy in Travis county.

CAMOUFLAGE INVENTED. PARIS.—A French lieutenant who served through the World war has just demonstrated the advantages of his new camouflage invention whereby in a short time, a pedestrian or soldier can be transformed into a shock of grain, heap of leaves, a bunch of newspapers, tree stump or what not while walking. His name is Georges Felix, and his invention consists of a kind of a net that weighs less than a pound, and when not used, for camouflage purposes can be employed in numerous other ways.

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthy condition.—Mr. P. M. Fisher, 352 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. Y.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package of your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BURGLAR TRACKS PAINT

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The burglar who broke into the home of Miss Mildred Shoemaker, stealing a $75 wrist watch and a $30 ring, provoked her most because he tracked paint from the kitchen over carpets and rugs in other parts of the house. He gained entrance through an open kitchen window, left open to dry the paint.

OFFICIALS CUT OWN PAY.

RENO, Nev.—Voluntary reduction of salaries is becoming common among Nevada officials holding elective positions. Recently all officials in Nye county reduced their salaries voluntarily by 10 per cent below the figure set by law. Douglas county officials speedily followed suit, with several going beyond the 10 per cent mark.

Co-Eds Baby Left On Doorstep Cries For Its Mother

CHICAGO—Since Feb. 14 a baby girl, left on the doorstep of the Chicago Lying-in Hospital, has been crying for her mother. "Surely somewhere in the country," said Mrs. Rhea Coleman of the juvenile home, "the mother must be worrying over her child. We want to appeal to her, wherever she is, to get in touch with us. She has nothing to fear—we will not prosecute and if she wants the baby adopted we can arrange that."

GRIPINGS

The column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Copies of today's paper will go to more than 600 homes and business firms in Eastland. Some of them will pay for it and some will not. In some places it will be welcome and in some it will probably be kicked out without a reading. But be that as it may, it will be delivered.

The United Dry Goods company has an advertisement in this issue. It's there for you, if you want to read it. If you don't want to read it, you can pass it by and save the time, which is more than you can say about certain other kinds of advertising, meaning principally moving picture screen advertising.

A lot of folks won't advertise in this paper because it's not printed in Eastland. I'll say in that connection that if enough merchants want this paper printed in Eastland to advertise enough to make a pay roll and a few other necessary items of expense, I'll make arrangements to print it here. Now, how do you like them apples?

I'd like to start several movements for Eastland. One of which would be a canning factory. The idea is by no means original with me but was given me by one of the town's leading citizens. He is a good citizen because he has proved his faith in Eastland in more ways than one.

It may turn out that this town is willing to permit itself to dry up and blow away and turn the courthouse into a chicken incubator. I can't say so much about it. However, I will say that if enough of you guys are willing to put your money where your mouth is and let's all boost together we'll either fix things up or fix them to where nobody else can possibly fix them.

They tell me that Eastland wants a daily newspaper, but wants it entirely produced in Eastland. I am hereby and herewith calling your hand. How badly do you want it? All replies treated confidentially, if you prefer.

Students Keep Haywood Faith

MADISON, Wis.—The tradition of William (Big Bill) Haywood, mighty man of I. W. W. faith, is being kept alive in a cheaply furnished rooming house here by 13 University of Wisconsin students. Haywood House, named after the late I. W. W. leader, is a co-operative affair. The house is university property and Dean Scott H. Goodnight approved its organization.

Half of its residents profess communistic connections, while others reveal radical views. They started the co-operative venture solely because they wanted to live economically. So successful has their experiment been that two similar groups are being organized for next semester by other students of meager financial resources.

There are no rugs on the floors, only a few pieces of carpeting scattered about. An old coal stove stands in the middle of the living room. Chairs are grouped about it. The place appears poorly kept, but it is strictly bachelors' quarters. Members of the group do what cleaning they consider necessary. They even take turns at preparing the meals.

A picture of Lenin, sent to one of the residents from Russia, hangs on the wall. Soon it will be matched with a life size portrait of Haywood, which one of the students is painting.

BUSINESS MEN'S SLUMP PLEDGE

CLARKSDALE, Miss.—Business men have pledged themselves to spend $106,648 for repairs to buildings and homes during the next 90 days. Two teams of business leaders sought to obtain a pledge from every citizen to have $100 in repairs made. The goal for the city was $100,000.

Get-Together Meeting Is Announced For All Alumni And Ex-Students of Simmons

One of the most outstanding events of the spring season has been announced for Sunday, April 17, when all a general get-together meeting will entertain all alumni and ex-students of Simmons university.

The meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church of Eastland on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This occasion will be celebrated in observance of Founders Day. The purpose of this promisingly delightful entertainment is for the expressed desire to bring about relationship between Simmons university and its alumni and every ex-student.

Feature speakers on program will be Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, vice president of Simmons; W. Henry Haney, president of Alumni association, and special musical numbers from the boys and girls quartets.

This especially arranged get-together is expected to entertain every ex-student in this section of the country and their parents.

This is a rare opportunity for the meeting and greeting of old friends and ex-students and a personal invitation is extended.

There are many in Ranger who have attended the university and are looking forward to the program.

Numbered among them are: Mrs. Clyde H. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Walker, Mrs. L. L. Bruce, Mrs. Mabel Keys, the former Miss Mabel Walker, and Misses V-Marie Stephens and Arritta Davenport, and others.

Ward Week Will End On Saturday

Saturday will be the last day of Montgomery Ward's Ward Week Sale, which has been coaxing hoarded dollars out of their hiding places.

Reports have been received that silver dollars, bearing all the early marks of having been hidden away for years, have been spent at Wards this week. H. J. Barham, local manager for the store, says that he is well pleased with the results of his sale and believes that many dollars have been put back into circulation this week that had been idle for some time.

Personal

Numbered among delegates who are attending the convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations from Ranger are Mrs. P. E. Moore and Mrs. J. S. Reynolds, representatives of the Parent-Teacher associations and Child Study Clubs.

Mrs. D. Joseph, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Hassen and Joe Spie, were visitors in Mingus yesterday, where they attended the funeral services of Mr. George, with interment at the Thurber cemetery.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hassen, who has been very ill with flu, is reported somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Ty Gravano have recently moved from the Sam Houston apartments into their new home, Sue street.

Gilder Levey of Dallas transacted business here yesterday.

Miss Mildred Bradley, associate of the Texas Electric Service company, was a Fort Worth visitor Wednesday.

Wilbur Jones of Gordon visited Ranger friends yesterday.

Carroll Coyle of Cisco spent Thursday afternoon here.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Hassen is reported much better following a severe attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. King are visitors in Woodson today, where they will attend the funeral services of Bill Cummings, who died at Wichita Falls early Thursday morning, following an illness of several months. Mr. Cummings is the step-father of Mr. King.

Frank Ford, who is a patient at the T. & P. hospital at Marshall, is reported as doing exceptionally well after having undergone an operation Tuesday morning. Mr. Ford holds the position as ticket agent in the local office.

Mrs. Joe Thompson and little daughter, Jo Ann, are visiting relatives in Jonesboro, Texas, this week.

Master Bob Driskill, young son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Driskill, is ill at the home of his parents, Cypress street.

Star Tire Prices Lower Than Ever

The Star Tire Store, Ranger, owned by J. C. Heflin and now operated by his son, Earl Heflin, is offering special prices on Star tires and tubes.

Prices on first-grade Star tires are now cheaper than they have ever been and the public is taking advantage of the opportunity to buy really first class tires at these new low prices, Earl Heflin said today.

He believes in the tubes he sells, too, because he has inflated one until it almost fills the entire store, and still it has not broken or shown any signs of strain. This gigantic tube, with another of normal size, are displayed at the store now.

Another Good Thing About Black-Draught

When you take Theoford's Black-Draught, normal bowel activity is restored without sickening effects. This is only one of many agreeable qualities of this medicine.

Mr. George W. Cassidy, of Waco, Texas, whose experience in the use of Black-Draught has extended over forty-five years, says:

"When I take a laxative or purgative, I want something that I can take just a dose or two of, and then quit taking and feel as good as ever. Black-Draught is like that. You don't have to take it every night. It just brought a box yesterday, and after forty-five years I find it does me as much good as when I started taking it."

Judge Clyde L. Garrett, Candidate for Re-election

Clyde L. Garrett Announces For County Judge

"My three years in the office of county judge have served to impress me with the responsibilities of the office. My former experience as a business executive have been valuable to me in the performance of its duties thus far. In presenting myself for re-election to the office I feel that my intimate knowledge of the details of the county's affairs, and its financial status will enable me to give it a better executive administration than bringing in a new man who is unfamiliar with the situation," said Clyde Garrett in speaking of his intention to make the race for re-election to the office of county judge.

The office of county judge carries with it a far greater responsibility than the average citizen realizes. In addition to being the presiding officer of the commissioners' court, the county judge presides over a law court for the trying of civil and criminal cases and acts as a referee in matters pertaining to lunacy, epileptics, pensions, indigents and probate matters such as guardianships and the probations of wills and the administration of estates.

The county judge is the chief executive officer of the county's affairs by reason of being presiding officer of the commissioners' court and having these responsibilities prescribed by the statutes. Judge Garrett and the commissioners' courts have been particularly diligent in seeing that the county's funds in county depositories have been adequately protected. In a recent bank failure the county had on deposit approximately $265,000 of which the indications are that it will be recovered in full.

In view of the fact that in the closing of a county depository a few years ago in which there is still due the county the sum of $355,587.88 and probably none of it will ever be recovered, the present county judge and commissioners' court have every right to take pride in the results of their diligence in attending to the county's money. In the former bank closing the county had on deposit the sum of $556,335.15. The securities guaranteeing the deposit were sold for $435,389.44, and the state guaranty fund refunded the county $85,557.82, making a total recovery of $520,947.26, and a net loss of $35,587.88.

In talking to a representative of this paper, Garrett said that prior to his taking of the office there was a separate judge of the county court at law. This position was abolished. Garrett's present salary is $2,500 per annum while the total salaries for the two judges and a stenographer were $3,760, making an annual saving of $2,260 and Judge Garrett is doing the work alone.

Judge Garrett and the commissioners' court have adopted a broad policy in matters of adjusting property values for tax purposes. Sitting as an equalization board they have tried to be fair and reasonable to both the large and small owners of property.

Garrett is a native of Eastland county, having been born here of one of the pioneer families. Prior to being elected to county judge he has served as city manager of Eastland and as a banking executive.

"Eastland county owns real estate valued at more than $375,000 in addition to office equipment and road equipment of a probable value of $100,000," said Garrett. "and it's a man-sized job to see after all of it, attend to the safety of the county's funds, handle probate matters and preside over the court." "However, I like the job and am experienced and qualified to hold it and am going to ask the people to re-elect me to the place."

Garrett is a native of Eastland county, having been born here of one of the pioneer families. Prior to being elected to county judge he has served as city manager of Eastland and as a banking executive.

He is from this standpoint that we ought to study him, not simply as a figure in his own rather dim past, but as a figure associated with a moral revelation, in many of its incidents and details still worth studying and worth imitating. We shall never advance our own age until we meet its problems in the spirit of Abraham the pioneer and the man of faith.

He is a great and significant figure of history, a foremost representative of religion, not only in faith but in action.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 17.

By WM. F. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist.

Abraham has been referred to as "the first pioneer." As a matter of fact he was by no means the first pioneer, nor was he even at the beginning of pioneering in history. The archaeologist has been digging in Abraham's country, and his excavations have been largely confirming the Biblical story; but at the same time investigations and explorations have been going on that take us into far distant experiences of the race in which Abraham is relatively modern.

But Abraham is a significant figure for our modern world because he was very distinctly a pioneer in the history of that movement westward, and especially in the pilgrimages of religion and the new civilizations associated with the religious motive, which have continued through our own time, and which have constituted such a significant part of the history of our own country.

Abraham is an interesting and inspiring figure for our study because he typifies exactly this pilgrim movement of life and of religion. Brought up in an environment of idolatry it was Abraham's distinction that he came to finer and clearer ideas of God and of religion.

Probably we read into the story the conceptions of a later age; but Abraham could not have done what he did, nor could he have had the impulse to do it, if his religious ideas had not been far in advance of the community in which he was reared. Like all souls in advance of his community he felt restraints upon his freedom, and like the pilgrims of later eras, he solved this problem by reaching out to a new territory where he planned to make a home for himself and to build a civilization in harmony with his own conceptions.

It was divine impulse that led him. Who can doubt it? He is the father of the faithful, the typical man of faith and the man who through faith has found the guidance of the eternal.

Nor was Abraham's significance only in the courage of his physical adventure and in that spiritual daring which led him to break with his own environment and to seek a better way. As we shall see in later lessons, he has a deeper significance for us. With keen vision he saw a better age arising for man, and he peered far into the future of nobler worlds of thought and action. As Jesus put it, "Abraham sought to see my age, and he saw it and was glad."

The proof of this is in the quality of the record, revealing a man far in advance of his own time so that the world with its strife and its warfare is still, in the twentieth century, far behind the peaceful visions, peaceful purposes, and peaceful acts and policies of Abraham.

It is from this standpoint that we ought to study him, not simply as a figure in his own rather dim past, but as a figure associated with a moral revelation, in many of its incidents and details still worth studying and worth imitating. We shall never advance our own age until we meet its problems in the spirit of Abraham the pioneer and the man of faith.

He is a great and significant figure of history, a foremost representative of religion, not only in faith but in action.

BEHIN HERE TODAY SUSAN CAREY, 19, pretty and an orphan, lives with her AUNT JESSIE on the West Main highway. On finishing a business course she is employed by ERNEST HEATH, architect. She meets JACK WARING, man about town, and RAY FLANNERY, newspaper editor for Europe and Susan realizes she cares deeply for him. BEN LANGMAN, another admirer, takes her to a studio party but she hates his friends. Aunt Jessie reports to state her sister and HENRY, slighted. Waring's invitation for an evening's fun. Ray Flannery and another man go with them. They go from one noisy pleasure resort to another and Susan is disgusted. When Waring takes her home he kisses her.

Keeping Up With Eastland County Students at C.I.A.

DENTON, Texas, April 14.—Kenneth Wier, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Wier, Ranger, spent the week-end with her brother, Truett Wier, who is a student in Baylor Medical school, Dallas. Dr. Wier and son visited Miss Wier on the campus Monday. Miss Wier, a junior in the college, is a voice major.

Melba Gamble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gamble, Ranger, visited Mrs. F. O. Turpin of Fort Worth, over the week-end. Miss Gamble is a freshman in Texas State College for Women (C. I. A.).

Frances Glazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glazier, 307 S. Street, Ranger, accompanied the college choir to Waco, where they were presented in concert at the Austin Avenue Methodist church, Sunday, April 10, under the auspices of the Euterpean club, sponsored by Mrs. Ethyl Lanford of Waco. Miss Glazier is a freshman in the college.

The F. M. Bralley Scholarship society, of which Miss Maydell Sikes is vice president, held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening. Miss Sikes gave a report of the Council of Scholarship Societies of the South, which met at Sikeston, Feb. 22 and 23. Miss Sikes represented the college in the meeting. Miss Sikes is a senior in the college and a business administration major. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sikes, Eastland.

Troop No. 5 of Brownwood have received their troop charter. George A. Hitt Jr. is scoutmaster. Oswald Daugherty and Gerald N. Smith, assistants. Rev. W. H. Foster, chairman of the troop committee, assisted by James C. White and R. M. Hallum. We wish for both troops a most successful year.

Prof. F. M. Jones is to be scoutmaster of the troop that is reorganizing at Blanket. We are glad to extend to Mr. Jones a hearty welcome to the scoutmasters round-table.

she had had her lesson. She interrupted Rose's continued soliloquy to cross the room and stare at herself in the mirror. "Do I look older?" she inquired. "I feel it—years and years." "You look a fright," Rose assured her with a best friend's frankness. "You're pale as a ghost and there are rings under your eyes."

Rose slipped an arm around Susan's waist. "Please don't be so cross," she said. Then to an accompaniment of "oh's" and "ah's" and "I don't believe it!" she poured out the whole story of her adventure. When she had finished Rose said with emphasis, "I hope this will be a lesson to you. Now let's go to bed!"

Everything seemed quite as usual. There was Pierson at his high desk with his ledgers spread out before him. There was the neat little pile of mail to be sorted and, in five minutes, there was Mr. Heath, dapper and well groomed as ever. Susan felt like a thief and a coward as she returned his cheery good morning. Quite well she knew what would be his opinion of her part in last night's entertainment. She valued his esteem.

She thought she would never drop off to sleep but so superb was her health and so clear her conscience, now that her fault was confessed, that in five minutes she was breathing deeply and evenly, safe in the land of dreams.

The next morning, however, the ordeal came flooding back to her. She began to wonder: What if Mr. Heath should find out? What if Ray should talk? Susan knew her own conduct would bear a close scrutiny but she also knew how such matters can be distorted. She arrived at the office in a fever of apprehension.

When it actually did happen it was not nearly so bad as she had expected. The South Bend business dragged on for days and it was not until the following week that she and Waring met. There was a brief interchange of greetings. The man was as cool and composed as if they were complete strangers. Susan, answering his "good morning" as calmly as possible, began to think she had dreamed the episode of the kiss. She felt immensely relieved.

"Well, that's that," she told herself. "What she had been dreading had come to pass and proven her fears groundless. Maybe life was always like that. She hoped so."

DESDEMONA

Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass and her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Heever, were shopping at Ranger Thursday. Mrs. Fred Bradley left Friday for her home in Dallas after several days visit with her mother, Mrs. J. K. Elrod, and her grandmother, Mrs. Mary F. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ashburn and daughter, Anita, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burns and daughters, Dorothy and Lillian, and Plummer Ashburn returned Saturday evening from a two days fishing trip on the Colorado river near Goldthwaite.

W. C. Bedford made a business trip to Ranger, Friday. Mrs. S. K. Butler and her daughter, Mrs. E. F. White, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer of Stephenville attended the funeral of Mrs. Annie May Thursday.

Rev. Cullum H. Booth and wife came down Sunday from Cleo and Rev. Booth preached an inspiring sermon at 11 o'clock at the Methodist church. At 2 o'clock the 2nd quarterly conference for Desdemona Olden charge was held. Reports of the Sunday school, missionary societies, and other departments of the churches were good with the exception of the salary collection being somewhat slow. This was Rev. Booth's first visit to the Desdemona church as presiding elder of Cleo district and all who met him and his wife were delighted with them.

Students Write Excellent Compositions on "America."

Members of the third grade in Young Ward are certainly doing excellent work. This statement is excellently proven by the following composition, written on "America," by Junior Powell, 8 years old, member of this class. Miss Charlotte Ratliff teaches this class:

"AMERICA"
By Junior Powell

Rev. S. F. Smith composed "America." He was born in Boston, Oct. 21, 1808, and died Nov. 16, 1895. One gloomy day in February, 1932, he was looking through some German music books. He came across the song, "God Save the King." He liked the music. On a scrap of paper he composed the words of "America," using the German music.

"America" was first sung at a children's Fourth of July celebration in Boston.

"America" was not popular until the Civil war. Making the song we love 100 years old.

We wonder if some of these third grade students could be per-

Pedro Fenino Yo-Yo's for Ranger High School Students.

Pedro Fenino was a welcome visitor in Ranger high school Friday, where he explained the yo-yo contest which is being sponsored by the press. Pedro also did a number of yo-yo tricks for the entertainment of the students. Pedro was given a rousing welcome by the students and we would gladly have kept him with us.

Come again soon Pedro.

The students received the news of Principal H. S. Von Roeder's election with many smiles. Mr.

Von Roeder is a favorite among the high school students and we do not wish to lose him.
