IT'S OIL RIGHT NOW

The oil products bill has added to the prestige of the Texas railroad commission on the eve of the congressional committee hearing set for Texas, the middle of November.

Before going East on a grain rate hearing, Commissioner Thompson made this comment on the latest oil legislation:

"The important thing about the oil products bill is that it showed clearly the continued and increased confidence of the legislature in the state's ability to control the production of its own oil. With this legislative expression Texas will present a united front when the congressional hearings begin in Dallas in November."

The history of state control of oil records an unbroken effort to uphold the state's right to manage its own business. Session after legislative session has resulted in strengthening the powers for the commission in regard to oil.

The sweeping change within the oil industry itself in the last 60 days from an inclination toward federal control to outspoken opposition to it indicates that the Leles plan is nearly dead. However, the Texas viewpoint is that everything to present a solid front must be done prior to January. Then congress meets and the last throw to gain federal control of oil will be made.

If there is a plan to help your city, plan to help that plan. Don't play dead and pass the buck to your neighbor. Do your share!

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

During the absence on vacation of Rodney Dutcher, the daily Washington column is being written by Willis Thornton.

BY WILLIS THORNTON

WASHINGTON.—If you got any idea from reading that story in the papers the other day that television radio programs are going to come in on your home radio set day after tomorrow, just settle back in your chair and cool off. Television is right around the corner, that's true, say experts of the Federal Communications Commission. But it's the same corner it's been right around for the past three or four years.

The Crusaders, the American Liberty League, and America First, Inc., are all angling for support from the more conservative element. The Union League Clubs and the Union Clubs are beginning to stir in their arm-chairs, and the New York club even issued a rousing Republican statement the other day. And when a Union Club member deserts that comfortable chair by the window to sign a resolution, that is a mighty stirring.

When you figure on building a receiving and re-transmitting station every 25 or 30 miles along such a route (which is what's needed today) the cost mounts. That's what's necessary in the present stage of "facsimile transmission," at distances greater than those purely experimental. When you get such "facsimile" transmission pictures fast enough, you get the effect of a movie—that's television.

THE Federal Housing Administration repair and modernization program is finally getting under way. There was considerable criticism a week or so ago, but now it is believed that loans are being made at the rate of a million dollars a day, and that helps. The program is really just getting started, being 10 weeks old. While Dickenson N. Hoover, head of the government inspection service, has been in New York probing the Morro Castle fire, a woman runs this important department. She's Mrs. A. E. Keyser, been with the steamboat inspection service since 1917, and knows all about it. It's generally expected that General Douglas MacArthur will not be reappointed chief of staff when his four-year term of duty expires November 20. This post usually rotates, and it would be unusual should MacArthur be re-named. Army circles are watching for this appointment to their No. 1 job with keen interest, as no one of the eligible major-generals has a definite inside track.

Stone & McMurray was credited with opening up the Pioneer field as a major producing sector by bringing in the famous Eakin No. 1 for flush production of 900 barrels daily in 1934. Later the partnership sold its holdings, including the Eakin well, and dissolved and McMurray associated himself with R. F. (Bob) Gilman of Cisco in a partnership. Gilman & McMurray, that existed until his death. The two operators were active and successful in developing their own properties which now include extensive production and lease holdings principally in Brown and Shackelford counties.

Mr. McMurray was a member of a number of Masonic bodies, including the Shrine, and the Elks lodge and the American Legion. He came to Cisco from Ranger about 1921, shortly after forming his partnership with Mr. Stone.

McMurray of McAlester, now residing in San Juan Puerto Rico; two sisters, Mrs. Eugene Alessandro of Norman, Okla., and Mrs. Woodfin L. Butte, of San Juan, P. At McAlester, Mr. McMurray will be buried beside his father, who died about four years ago.

The institute is sponsored by the Civic Federation of Dallas, a philanthropic organization. It is offered at the request of the Texas Relief Administration under the provisions of the training program of the Federal Relief Administration.

Eastland county was fortunate in having two of its relief employees selected as eligible for instruction in the institute, Huntz George, social service director of the county stated Thursday.

Centennial Is Facing Legislative Trouble In Future

By VERNON A. MCGEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—The Texas centennial commission faces some rough political weather before the state may hang up a "welcome" sign in 1936 and open the gates to its celebration of 100 years of independence.

Centennial commissioners requested a state appropriation for the celebration when legislators were in their third extraordinary session last month to provide winter relief for destitute unemployed.

The house of representatives answered by adopting a resolution calling for a popular referendum Nov. 6 on a $5,000,000 centennial appropriation.

The senate defeated the referendum proposal, thereby saving the centennial commission a severe rebuke, by a margin of only one vote. That vote, changed from "aye" to "no" only after considerable pleading, sufficed to indicate rough weather ahead.

Many legislators believed the referendum would have been fatal to the centennial project; that Texas voters would not approve a $5,000,000 appropriation when the state already faces a $14,000,000 deficit. Relief of hungry, destitute persons already has required all but $2,500,000 of the state-wide $20,000,000 bond issue voted last year.

Refused an immediate appropriation, and threatened with a referendum that might have meant a mandate against any appropriation at all, centennial commissioners retired in good order.

They are expected to renew their request for an immediate appropriation this month, when a fourth special session of the legislature is scheduled. Meanwhile, the centennial is courting popular sentiment to back up the request for state aid.

Governor Ferguson may not submit the topic. She herself is a centennial advocate. But the legislature did not intend for the centennial commission to return for help until January, 1935.

"It shall be the duty of the commission at the regular session of the 44th legislature to make a report in January, 1935, of all activities in progress made up to that time..." the legislature declared in creating the centennial commission last February.

Another section of the law directed that the central exposition be located in the city offering the largest financial inducement.

At that point also the centennial commission faces rough weather, unless public opinion comes to its aid. The central centennial exposition was awarded Dallas. Exact amount and nature of Dallas' bid has never been divulged, but has been reported at various amounts between $7,000,000 and $9,000,000.

Several legislators suspect that valuation placed on state fair buildings at Dallas were hiked to make the aggregate bid the highest of the three received by the commission. Legislators propose to examine all bids when the centennial commission reports to the regular session of the legislature.

lady and Crockett were doubled, and the Texas Long-Leaf Lumber Company's giant mill was running to capacity and building construction was booming.

Acres far from the wildest well sold and continues to sell for fabulous prices. Oil from the discovery well was being moved in tank car lots over a railroad long declared a losing venture but now considered valuable property.

The apparent introduction of another long-time Texas oil pool interested the Humble Oil Company and more than 70 truck loads of equipment were unloaded. Headquarters for the company were erected in the vicinity and a field camp built.

Hunt Brothers rigged up one and a half miles west of the discovery.

Lacey's Hammer No. 1 derrick three miles west of the wildest was built and drilling started.

Clearing was made two miles north of the Boone well for East Texas Refining Company's Chris-holm No. 1.

East of the discovery well only 660 feet on Texas Long Leaf Lumber Company land, the Boone brothers have sunk another well.

Sandy farms that would have sold for $8 an acre cash three months ago were leased for as high as $500 several miles from the well. Prices of $1000 close to the well were reported.

Royalties were being traded from operator to operator, with the cash that bought them resting in the hands of the citizens.

Lawyers and title-busters were questioning everyone looking for "feeble-minded owners or minor heirs," against whom statutes of limitations fail to run. Others were requesting tax certificates to see if property were held in proper title under the limitations laws.

Out of all the confusion caused by the new development one thing is certain that prosperity is here—oil prosperity.

And the well that started all the excitement continues to pour out oil daily with undiminished supply and pressure.

Appetizing Foods

—prepared in less time, with less work and less fuel expense!

The New WATERLESS WAY

While the New Utility Cooker brings to you the possibilities of enjoying old-fashioned meals in addition, it permits you to prepare foods by the newer methods of cooking without water.

Science has discovered that there is so much natural moisture in all meats, vegetables and fruits that it is entirely feasible to cook them with little or no water.

About the only reason why we have cooked with water was to avoid burning. Water distributes the heat evenly, conducting it away from the point nearest the fire.

However, after we have cooked our foods we have poured off the excess water and with it we have poured the bone-forming, teeth-building minerals; the iron, calcium and phosphorus that constitute the essential elements which the human system must have. With the new perfected Utility Cooker you can prepare foods deliciously tender and full of these health-building elements. The Utility Cooker is ideal for the housewife who wishes to practice this modern, more healthful and more economical way of cooking.

Centennial Brings Out High Points In Texas History

DALLAS, Tex.—Details of how the President of Texas was notified of the defeat of victory, gained at San Jacinto, a battle that realized the independence of Texas, constitutes an interesting sidelight in connection with the Centennial, which in 1936 will be commemorated by celebrations at San Antonio, Houston, Galveston, Dallas and cities associated with the early history of the State.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
 And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sore and sick and the world looks black, don't swallow a lot of toxic, medicinal, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly smart and bright and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only make the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out thousands of liquid bile into your veins daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just ferments in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your mouth is full of skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those thousands of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain no harmful, narcotic, gentle vegetable extract, meaning when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't take any other pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remember, a substitute. Beware of cheap imitations. ©1921 C. M. Carter.

NEW YORK.—Trotter Speaker picks a winner at this stage of the campaign for the first time in his life. Speaker does a good job while about it, and picks two.

"But I no longer consider naming the Tigers and Giants a production," explained Speaker, now in the wholesale liquor business in Cleveland, to which city his Indians brought the west's last American League pennant in 1920. Clubs with their get up and go that have hovered around the top all season as they have, lead now, and which are to play the important month of September at league, rarely miss out."

Speaker had been reading where Tyrus Raymond Cobb, upon his return to Detroit for an exhibition game the other day, had watched a team that carries on the tradition that he established—speed, flaming competitive spirit, determination and doggedness, flashing courage and daring—a club that picked up the pieces of battle where the Georgia Peach left them, an outfit molded in his fashion, and patterned after his standards.

Follow the Leader
 "ONLY one kind of manager could build a team like that," mused Speaker, "the emotional, dynamic type of player manager like Mickey Cochrane."

"That's an advantage both the Tigers and Giants have over the opposition—remarkable players having big years directing and inspiring them."

"Bill Terry has all of Cochrane's fire in a different way. He long ago learned how to make up his mind, and the Giants have as talent acts could be given and also that the band could play all during the evening, and possibly a street dance be staged.

Home Projects in Home-Making
 The newer conception of education emphasizes the necessity of giving all students, as an essential part of their instruction, experience in solving problems of daily life outside of school and classroom so that there may be no line of demarcation between life in school and life outside of school.

It is believed that students in home economics will be fitted to deal with situations that arise in home life and activities carried on in the home by having actual experience in working with such situations and carrying on such activities.

Children learn to behave properly at the table not by learning rules of etiquette, but by practicing good table manners; they learn to spend money wisely, not by memorizing the divisions of the budget but by spending money and paying the penalties of unwise expenditure; they learn to make their rooms attractive not by painting side elevations of charming bedrooms, but by rearranging the articles on the bureau, rehanging the curtains, and straightening the rug, so that they may see the improvement which the chances make; they develop managerial ability not by following dictated directions but by planning their work and carrying out their plans.

Angelo by as much as two touchdowns they can be rated as pretty good guesses for first place in the Oil Belt this year, while they hold Lubbock to a comparatively low score they will probably be the early-season choice. However, much can happen in high school football.

Things can happen to other football teams besides the high school variety, though. For instance take the troubles of the coach at Joliet, Ill., state prison: "Through all the barred walls of Stateville, where only yesterday ro men and gangsters chattered in simulation of one big, happy family, gloom paled today in thickening clouds.

"The English professor, it seems, has pulled a tricky double-cross play on the prison football team, the prison administration has booted a couple of star backs for a goal, and a proposed Thanksgiving Day game has been knocked to limbo by a rule against traveling."

"L. G. Bradley, confidence man and coach, admitted today in the best manner of coaches that he thinks probably the women's reformatory at Dwight could take his boys without a handicap."

"He blamed his troubles on new eligibility rules."

"With the opening game against Chicago semi-pro team scheduled for Oct. 6, eight 'letter' men were ruled off the squad by a regulation limiting them to three years of play. Newly matriculated aspirants complained they had no chance against life termers who seemingly intended to play forever."

"Bradley hardly had recovered from that blow when word came that Duke Hartley and Speedy Schaffner, burglars and guards, had flunked an English examination in the course conducted by Richard Loeb, one of the youths who killed Bobby Franks in Chicago."

"He said I don't know what the subjunctive mood is," wailed Hartley.

"The prison population has been all a twitter since it heard of a challenge received from the Sing Sing grid squad. One element frowned on the match because Sing Sing does not enforce a three-year rule but generally the game was expected to be the seasons' piece de resistance.

"Prison officers virtually halted the discussion by ruling the game must be played at home, if at all."

"We feel," judicially said one, "that such a long trip would be almost-inadvisable. We can't afford to lose any of the team before the late game at Peoria."

11 CHILDREN IN TEN YEARS
 FORT DODGE, Ia., —Eleven children in ten years is the record of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Dencklau, of Vincent, Ia., near here. They do not have any consecutive pairs of twins to detract from the prolific aspect of the record, but they give the Bulldogs considerable trouble as it has shown up to be one of the best high school forward walls in this section of the state, while the backfield is fast and at the same time has plenty of weight. There are no exceptional big men on the Central lineup, but the entire team shows a consistent average and in previous games they have presented a well organized scoring machine with plenty of defense. Their two victories this year, over the strong Waco team and over Mineral Wells, indicates that they are evenly the favorites to win the seventh district title again.

Not since 1930, when the Bulldogs won by a score of 20 to 0, has a Central team lost to Ranger, though the two teams have played each year since. In 1931 Central downed the Bulldogs by a score of 24 to 13. In 1932 the Oil Belt District champions were down by the Central Panthers by a score of 6 to 0, and again in 1933, when the Bulldogs went through the Oil Belt season without a loss on the gridiron, the Panthers were victorious by a score of 6 to 0.

The Bulldogs will be trying, Friday night, to stop this long string of Panther victories, and although the team is somewhat crippled, they are expected to put up a good fight before the Fort Worth fans.

Others who had signed up to take their cars today, and who will take some of the members of the pep squad or band, are Dr. H. A. Logsdon, C. E. May, C. P. Simmons, J. A. Sloan, Otis M. Moore, L. E. Gray, E. A. Ringold and J. A. Thrower.

Sisters Entertain At Lions Meeting
 Miss Madeline and Miss Margaret Lee, Ranger schoolgirl twins, gave a "vister-act" entitled "Poor Old Maiden," a clever reading given in union. The sisters dressed alike and perfect old maids in their long rustling skirts, plumed hats and small black mitts. The reading revealed lots of talent and are sure to be called upon often.

Lion Stella Perlstein reported an interesting incident that she heard of one of the meeting held a few days ago in a nearby town in the manner in which Ranger will celebrate on November 11th, Armistice Day. He told the club that it was decided to have a big parade on the Main street sometime during the day, and that at night the Main street would be roped off and the movable stage brought out so that a lot of local
