COMPANY MAY SEEK AID IN STEEL STRIKE

By United Press
WAUKEGAN, Ill., Feb. 20.—State Labor Commissioner Martin Durkin recessed conferences in the Fansteel Metal Corporation sit-down strike after three hours today, and announced he had failed to bring the union and the company together for a settlement. "I have been unable to bring them together," Durkin said. "The company won't even guarantee to give the sit-downers their jobs back."
Company attorney Max Swiren said, "It is quite possible we will call Gov. Henry Horner and ask for troops."
The strikers have held two company buildings in North Chicago since Wednesday in defiance of two court orders and Friday withstood an assault by 140 deputies armed with clubs and tear gas bombs.
Company officials told mediators that unless "the sheriff or the governor" clears 100 sit-down strikers out of its plants, it will do so itself.

YOUTH BILL BRINGS OUT SITDOWNERS

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Twenty-six hundred youthful paraders of the American Youth Conference staged a "sit-down" demonstration today in the street before the White House.
The sudden "sit-down" in the broad driveway brought immediate action by police. They arrested William Hinckley, president of the group, and Abbott Simon, its legislative director. Hinckley and Simon ordered the sit-down, police said.
The paraders, marching to the White House to present a petition in behalf of the Lunden Youth Bill, which would provide an initial $500,000,000 for youth-aid, completely halted traffic.
The youths shouted, "Pass the National Youth Act. We want jobs. Give us scholarships, not battleships."
Hinckley and Simon charged they were not staging a sit-down, but were merely allowing the paraders to rest after their march from the capitol.

The fighting has developed into the biggest battle of the war. Insurgent artillery and tanks battered the loyalist lines in an effort to isolate the capital. Losses on both sides were heavy.

THREE TESTS STARTING AS TWO HAVE SHOWINGS

Three tests were being started and two other operations had showings at the close of the oil week ending Saturday in Eastland county.
After having a showing of oil the Hickok Producing & Development company was drilling No. 2 City of Cisco, north of that city, at 3,394 feet. Location is in section 84, H. & T. C. survey, block 84.
Eight miles north of Rising Star, J. T. Anderson No. 1 Crist, block 36, Lamar county school lands, 1,490 feet east from the south and 700 feet from the west northwest quarter of block, was being spudded.
In a shallow test six and a half miles southeast of Eastland, Thompson & Price had shut down work on their No. 1 W. U. Fox to run pipe after having struck the saturated oil sand at 1,085 feet.
The No. 1 Fox is in an area where four shallow wells have been recorded out of five tries for shallow production. It is in lot 45, blocks 3 and 4, McLennan county school land.
Rigging up was the report from States Oil Corporation, which is to drill one and a half miles north of Eastland the No. 1 H. S. Schmick for gas production obtained recently by Dorothy Oil Company 1,500 feet northeast. The Schmick is spotted in section 1, H. & T. C. survey, block 4. The plans call for drilling to 1,500 feet.
Hoffmann & Page of Eastland was moving rig for No. 1 J. S. Dodd, William Van Norman subdivision 11 of the Brownson subdivision five miles south of Ranger. The Dodd is a half-mile east of the well from which Garvin D. Chastain obtained daily over 500 barrels of oil initially.
After shooting two sand formations (1193-1204 and 1208-1212) with eight and two quarts respectively, production of two barrels daily—nothing before—was registered by Panhandle Refining Company from its No. 19 L. A. High-tower, block 2, abstract 965 William Van Norman survey.
Four and a half miles east of Rising Star, Cox, Cox No. 1 O'Rear was underreaming at 2,777 feet. It is in the J. W. Clifton survey.
Gallagher and Lawson, 3 and 1-2 miles northeast of Carbon, were fishing at 1,195 feet in No. 1 Hearn, section 8, H. & T. C. survey, block 2, 225 feet east from north and east southwest quarter of the southeast quarter.
Of interest to the section is an Ellenbert test now at 1,000 feet, being drilled by Snowden & McSweeney of Breckenridge in the old Curry pool from which production has been obtained over 10 years ago in the Caddo lime at 1,400 feet. The new test, No. 12 J. P. Jones, seeking the Ellenbert at 4,200, is southwest of Breckenridge, 960 feet from the south and west of the northwest quarter, section 32, T. & P. R. R. survey, block 8.
Work was scheduled to have started in an adjoining county, Palo Pinto, according to Railroad Commission records at Eastland, by Hickok Producing & Development Co. on No. 3 Gay U. Robinson & P. R. R. survey, five miles northwest of Straw, the well to be drilled to 1,600 feet, is 1,787 feet north of south section line and 987 feet from the west line and 620 feet southeast of the No. 1 location. The No. 2, north of No. 1, was a water well.

SNOW, RAIN, SETTLE DUST IN MIDWEST

By United Press
Snow and rain fell in the parched Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles Saturday, halting a series of dust storms that have caused prolonged misery to residents and destroyed wheat worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.
The snow started falling at 4 a. m. and covered the ground with an average of two inches. Freezing temperatures covered the dust bowl from Wyoming and Colorado.
Snow and rains were reported in large sections of the dust area. Weather observers said they had "high hopes" that the precipitation would continue.
Hutchinson, Kansas, had received 6 inches of snow at noon Saturday, and it was still snowing.
The heavy snow increased traffic hazards, resulting in one automobile accident near Newton, Kansas, where one woman was killed and eight others injured when a bus crashed into the rear of a truck.

Dangers of Flying Kites Explained

With the kite flying season at hand, Texas Electric Service Company issued Saturday its annual appeal to parents to warn children flying kites to keep away from electric lines.
"That the innocent pastime of kite flying can be exceedingly dangerous is brought out forcibly by the fact that fatal accidents occurred in the year just past because of children getting their metalized kites tangled in power lines," according to J. E. Lewis, district manager of Texas Electric Service Company.
"Too often children use metal wire in the place of string on their kites and when the wires come in contact with a power line the result is instantly disastrous. Even plain kite strings sometimes carry current, especially if the string is wet. The best idea, regardless of how the kite is built or what kind of string is being used, is to use that it is flown in open spaces where no power lines are located," Lewis stated.
"If a kite should become entangled in power lines, be sure that children do not climb the poles or use long sticks to try to get the kite down. Call our company office and a trained lineman will be sent to rescue the kite if it is possible to do so."
Employees of the electric company will pay their annual visit to local schools shortly and will make a detailed explanation of the dangers of flying kites near power lines.

Why Heal Man's Ills, and Ignore Society's?

Two years ago skilled doctors performed a medical miracle on the body of a middle-aged Ohioan named Joseph Kruchmar.

This man was suffering from what looked like the very last stages of angina pectoris. His chances of living more than a few weeks weren't worth a nickel, and the doctors told him so without any hesitation. There was just one chance, and it was a thousand-to-one shot.

Dr. Claude S. Beck, of Cleveland's Lakeside Hospital, has been experimenting on animals with an operation designed to cure angina pectoris. He hoped that it would work with human beings, but he wasn't sure. Would Mr. Kruchmar submit to it? He might die under the knife—but he would most certainly die anyway, in a very short time, if nothing was done.

Mr. Kruchmar took the chance. An epoch-making operation was performed. A muscle from his left arm was grafted onto his weakened heart. He survived the operation, spent four months in hospital—and, at last, returned to his home cured, a man who had come back to life from the very gates of death.

Now, if the story ended there it would be all very pretty. But real-life stories don't stop with the happy ending of fiction. They keep on going, and sometimes the original happy ending gets snowed under.

So it was with Mr. Kruchmar. Restored to health, he faced the task of providing for his wife and their three small children—and he couldn't get a job. The family was on relief when he went to the hospital; since then he has struggled in vain to find a job that would get them off relief and keep them off permanently.

He got one job—and it paid him only $5 a week, which wasn't nearly enough to make the family self-supporting. At present he is out of work and he sees no immediate prospect of changing that status. And he says:

"Lucky? Well, they say wealth isn't everything. I know now that health isn't, either."

This little story is worth telling at some length because it is such a perfect example of the dilemma into which modern man has blundered.

He can master the physical world as never before. He can whip foes that were unconquered a short time ago. With his science he can perform all sorts of miracles.

But the task of arranging his own society so that any man who is able and willing to work can support his family is decent comfort—that seems to be beyond him.

What good does it do to snatch a man back from the jaws of death if the man can't make a living after he gets back?

A local moviegoer can't remember much of "After the Thin Man" because of sitting behind a tall one.

Santa Claus must have left empty-handed. The children have the toys, and the dads are holding the bag.

The president seems to think the aged supreme court justices need aid, though they've carefully guarded their constitution.

Roll call responses were "Points of Interest in the Holy City." Leader of the program was Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass, whose talk on "A Walk Through the Holy City," was very interesting, one special feature being the Joppa Gate, showing why one goes "up" to it. "Shopping Centers of a Religious City," was the subject of Mrs. Charles Lee's paper, which described the shops, some only 9 by 12 feet, in which a great variety of things can be purchased.

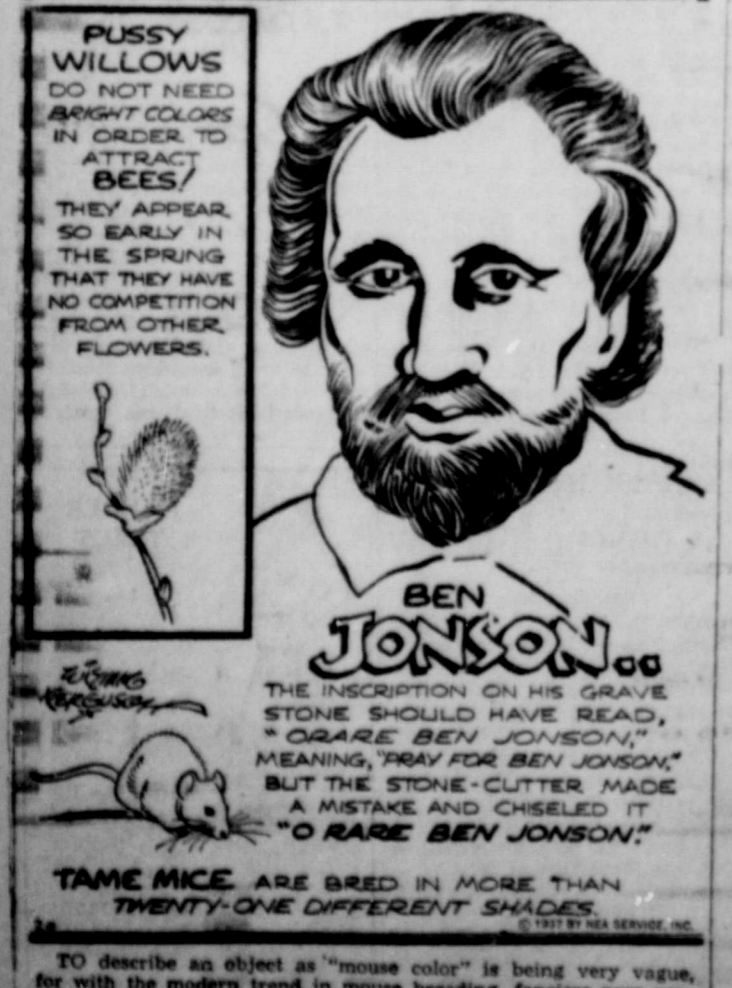

Mrs. J. E. Heeter's talk on "The Old Jerusalem and the New" brought out the features of the city that have remained unchanged and others that have become modern. A poem, "Winter Day in Texas," was read by Mrs. C. W. Malby, and an English drill was given by Mrs. W. C. Bedford. The next program will be Bible day.

Mrs. Mattie Henry and her son, Walker, Eastland, visited friends here Saturday. Walker, who is attending Daniel Baker College at Brownwood, was on the honor roll at that institution. Mrs. Henry and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mendenhall, had just returned from a trip to South Texas.

"Buster" Hoover of Kilgore came in Friday for a few days' visit with his sister, Mrs. Ed Hanson, and family.

Mrs. Owen Clark of Cisco was here Thursday visiting her mother, Mrs. H. G. Salyer.

"Gold Diggers" at Arcadia Today

"Gold Diggers of 1937" latest in the famous series of every other year musical comedies made by Warner Bros., opens today at the Arcadia Theatre, with Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, the newly-weds, as its stars.

It has, like its predecessors, a lot of fast-stepping, lovely-to-look-at dancing girls trained by Busby Berkeley (no less than 200 of them this time), and is interspersed with new hit songs by Harold Arlen and E. Y. Harburg, and Harry Warren and Ay Dubin.

Victor Moore, popular comedian of the New York musical comedy stage helps support the Powell-Blondell star combination. There is also Lee Dixon, noted eccentric dancer from Broadway, making his screen debut; a new and striking torch-singer named Rosalind Marquis, besides such familiar fun-makers as Glenda Farrell, Osgood Perkins, Olin Howland, Irene Ware and Charles D. Brown.

Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, as chorus girls out of a job, are said to hit a new high in fun-making, love-making, and money-making, outdoing all their previous performances as gold diggers. And their love interest a-plenty, with

There Is Nothing Like a Dash of Color for Spring

STEPHENVILLE — There is nothing like a dash of color to pep up your entire costume, says Mattie Walker, head of the John Tarleton College home economics department.

Spring styles are featuring bright accessories. Red, vivid blue, yellow or green hat, shoes and purse will transform the conservative dress of brown, navy, grey or beige, which is the best buy of the season, into a costume of reflecting glory.

Spring hats are unusual. The off-the-face is in favor, and there are attractive little hats made of nothing but flowers. New arrangements of ribbons permit the introduction of more color. Indeed, there seems to be a "must" about color.

People have the tailored suit fever again this spring. For women who prefer tailored clothes, the severely cut suit of navy or a faint pin-stripe grey is smart. Contrasting accessories in — of yellow or green hat, shoes and purse will transform the conservative dress of brown, navy, grey or design are swirling about. Flowers, figures, and even name designs splash the materials on the market. One best seller is a design using the name "Wally."

"Smartly dressed women long ago learned the axiom that simplicity equals style, Miss Walker says, "and especially this season is simplicity important. Short, full skirts are definitely the rage, yet the straight silhouette is also considered good. Pleats, if used at all, are at the back of the skirt, and sleeves and necklines are varying.

"Short skirts, full skirts, gay hats, purses and gloves, but most emphatically—bright colors! These are the index words for spring."

Steer Lasts Three Meals at College, Head Chef Finds

FORT WORTH — A steer lasts just three meals in the cafeteria of Texas Christian University.

"Steam and roast beef are the diners' favorite dish," says Jim Montgomery, chef.

"Those students eat the equivalent of a steer every three meals. And I mean a big cow, too!" Jim's greatest worry is that he can't "learn" the students to eat sweet potatoes. They shy away from liver and hamburger meat 'too, he reports.

Second to steak and roast beef in popularity are Jim's special sandwiches—chicken salad, bacon and tomato, and toasted cheese. Cream pies, which Jim calls "soft pie," are the favorite dessert.

It seems there is some psychological factor which takes away the appetite, involved in preparing huge quantities of food. Jim eats only two meals a day and never between meals.

And he doesn't take a "post-man's holiday" when he has a day off.

"Yes, sir; I let my wife do the cooking at home," he says. "I get enough of it here!"

FIREARMS WILLED TO PACIFIST DAUGHTERS

PASADENA, Calif. — Pacifists have different ideas as to the best ways of attaining their ideals. Samuel Archer willed his collection of firearms, bowie knives and swords to his daughters "that they might help future generations of pacifists who will probably have to fight like the very mischief for whatever measure of peace they may enjoy."

Negro Woman Stages A Sit Down Strike

CLEBURNE, Tex. — "Sit-down" strikes have invaded Cleburne.

A 200-pound negro woman decided that she was not going to jail. She plopped down in the middle of the county attorney's office and refused to budge. Two members of the sheriff's department laboriously carried her down two flights of stairs to a police car.

"Strong arms of the law," muttered the officers.

"U. S. treasury executives now have their own restaurant." It is wondered if the tablecloths will be wide enough to accommodate all the ciphers.

Carbon Peanut Company Increasing Capital

BECOMES ONE OF COUNTY'S BIGGEST FIRMS

PLANTS LOCATED AT CAREGN AND DALLAS IN SALE OF ITS PRODUCTS

The Carbon Peanut Company, Inc., which annually buys the majority of the county's "biggest crop," peanuts, is increasing its capitalization from $30,000 to $300,000.

Started in Oct., 1931 by G. C. Atkins at Carbon and Dallas, the company has grown continually and is one of the largest industries in Eastland county.

The rapid and consistent growth of the company is shown in the following figures on sales for the fiscal years ending Dec. 31:

1933—$122,565.08.
1934—137,120.90.
1935—$280,952.85.
1936—$371,892.03.

On July 12, 1932, Atkins and A. H. Groulx and W. W. Hillbrant formed a corporation with a total authorized capital stock of $8,000. The stock was increased to $15,000 on May 9, 1933. Groulx and Hillbrant transferred their stock to Charles E. Darden and Houston Flowers of Carbon. The volume of the business became so great as to necessitate a further increase to $30,000 which was done by charter amendment May 21, 1934.

During the first year of the company's operations, its principal activity was the buying of farmers' stock peanuts and the shelling and manufacturing into shelled Spanish peanuts and their sale to the trade in the Dallas area and the filling of some orders from Kansas City and St. Louis. The earnings during the first four years of its existence amounted to approximately six times its first issued capital more than $50,000.

The company maintained a branch office and warehouse at Dallas where it has conducted a branch office business, catering principally to the Dallas trade territory and manufacturing interests requiring the company's shelled peanuts.

In Carbon the company has a two-story building, together with an office building, feed and mill house and elevators, milling facilities including shellers, graders, conveyors and sacking facilities.

The firm employs approximately 100 men and women as mill employees, together with four men and women in the Carbon office.

About 15 men and women are employed in the Dallas office and mill. The company also operates a division at the Atkins Popcorn Co.

The set-up of the company is unique. It is observed, in that it has a ready market for all its finished products. Many times they have had to refuse bona fide orders for their products. In as much as 10 and 15 carload-lot orders.

The company buys peanuts and popcorn direct from the farmers and producers in Eastland county, and the adjoining territory, Bexar county and in the adjoining producing territories all of which raw material has been shipped to the milling plant at Carbon and there processed and sold by freight routings direct or through the Dallas warehouse.

The company has one of the most up-to-date peanut and popcorn shelling plants at Dallas.

The management of the company is in the hands of Atkins, president and member of the board of directors, who has had considerable experience in the business. He is the son of Center Atkins, a well-known in San Antonio and Dallas.

Charles E. Darden is an office manager, bookkeeper and executive of the company with an understanding of marketing products and of the peanut and popcorn markets and trends.

Houston Flowers is in charge of the milling and shelling operations at Carbon.

Darden is secretary-treasurer and director; Flowers, vice president and a director; Paul H. Gunther, director, and A. H. Groulx, director.

The company has maintained a policy of selling quality products direct to the food manufacturers and consumers. The consuming market has never reached a saturation point and it has never been necessary for the company to seek by solicitation new orders for their products.

Report Glances By Grayson

BASKETBALLS still rain off backboards and baseball's hot stove leagues are just coming to a boil, but most football coaches do not seem to be aware of these facts.

Time was when football was confined to the fall, and a gridiron guide spent his winters teaching physical education or chemistry. But not so now. Drilling picket forces has become a 12-month responsibility.

Southwest Conference teams already are out for "spring" practice, and, where weather keeps them indoors, many teams are told in exasperation.

Ohio State is a typical example. The Buckeyes already have begun intensive training for a campaign which includes games with Texas Christian, Purdue, Southern California, Northwestern, Chicago, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan in order.

Five afternoons a week in the spacious Columbus gymnasium, Francis Albert Schmidt, picture-artist, is busy with his camera, capturing the action in unblurred knickerbockers which drop to the floor, tennis shoes, and sweat shirt, puts potential wearers of Scarlet and Gray through their paces.

WORK now going on at Ohio State is only preliminary to spring practice outdoors, which gets under way about April 1.

The greater part of the indoor squad is composed of upcoming freshmen who will be eligible for varsity competition next autumn, and reserve material from last season's club. The verbose Schmidt spends most of his time with the new men, acquainting them with his showy type of play, so that they'll be able to go full speed ahead when the bugle sounds for outdoor activity.

So far no casualties have been recorded on the makeshift gridiron, but Schmidt never knows when he'll have to pick some freshman end off the wall because he reached too far for a pass.

The early starts at Ohio State and Texas Christian stress suicide schedules of the day. These two schools collide in Columbus as early as Sept. 2, in one of the more important games of the campaign.

Dutch Meyer already has announced five shifts in Horned Frog positions. Naturally, his biggest problem is replacing the incomparable passer, Silving' Sanboog indoors, many teams are told in exasperation.

Football now is a stern competitor of baseball for winter sports page headlines. Coaching changes and meetings such as that of the rules committee help to keep it alive.

Coaching schools get considerable attention throughout the summer, with the bigger name mentors ranging from one to the other, from June until September.

It is the time devoted to it that has made football the most high-pitched and interesting of all sports of the caliber of Majors Bob Neyland and Cliff Jones resign commissions to make it their life work.

James going to Nebraska weren't make the Cornhuskers any easier for Big Six competition, by the way. Major Bill couldn't resist the temptation to teach the larger squad of huskies assembled at the Lincoln institution each fall.

Meanwhile, snow and ice and sleet can't erase pressing football matters from the minds of coaches.

Public cordially invited.
"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, February 21.

The Golden Text is "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding" (Proverbs 3:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord" (Deuteronomy 6:4).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We can have but one Mind, if that one is infinite. We bury the sense of infinitude, when we admit that, although God is infinite, evil has a place in this infinity, for evil can have no place, where all space is filled with God" (page 469).

ON WITH THE STORY

THEN examined the contents of the wastepaper baskets, which had been removed from the cabin of the party's cabins on the morning following the crime, and three items of interest emerged from this examination.

In the refuse from Count Posodini's cabin I found 31 cigarette ends, 25 of these are Chesterfield, but the other 6 are 55 English brand called "7-yers" and six out of these six have oblique traces of lipstick on them.

In the refuse from Miss Rockaway's cabin I found a twist of hair which had obviously been removed from a comb. Most of this was golden hair, which undoubtedly comes from the head of Miss Rockaway, as she is a blonde with light curly hair, which definitely suggest that a man had used her comb after her.

Among the refuse from the Bishop of Dade's cabin I found one match torn out of a booklet of matches, upon which is printed in black letters the words "Adlon-Claria".

I then re-examined various members of the party.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTLAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S THIRD EXAMINATION OF THE HONORABLE MRS. JOCELYN.

K. Come in, Mrs. Jocelyn. Sit down, please.

P.J. What, more questions, already?

K. Yes. Sorry I've got to trouble you again, but let's make it as pleasant as we can. Have a cigarette?

P.J. No thanks, I only smoke

my own.

K. Right, then. May I have one of yours so we can be sociable?

P.J. Certainly.

K. I see you smoke Players. Very popular brand in England?

P.J. Very.

K. That's a charming shade of lipstick you use, Mrs. Jocelyn.

P.J. Need we go into that?

K. I'm afraid we've got to. I'm going to trouble you for the lipstick you have in your bag at the moment.

P.J. But—I don't understand.

K. Never mind. Just hand it over, will you. It'll save all sorts of trouble in the end if you'll oblige me now.

P.J. All right. There's nothing very exciting about my lipstick, but I'm sure I don't want to be searched. Here it is.

K. Thanks. You won't mind if I keep it will you? We shall need it later to prove that it matches the lipstick on these cigarette ends which I've got in this little tin box—see?

P.J. Why—yes. But . . .

K. Players, smoked by you and found the morning after Blane's death in Count Posodini's cabin. Now, don't get me all wrong. I'm not trying to fix you for murder, and I'm not trying to raise any nasty scandal about you. The point is that some time between the morning of the 7th and the morning of the 8th you smoked these cigarettes in Posodini's cabin.

P.J. If it was, as I have reason to believe, between 7:45 and 8:10 p. m. that lets you out of any suggestion that you were doing anything with the Count that you shouldn't have.

K. On the other hand, if you didn't smoke them at that time, it might suggest that you were there for a very much longer period and then—no offense—but it might be suggested that you and the Count were up to the sort of thing your husband wouldn't care to hear about.

P.J. I have nothing to add to my previous statement.

K. All right, Mrs. Jocelyn. Then the presumption is that you were in the Count's cabin at some other, and probably a much longer, period during that 24 hours. If that comes out, as it may quite well have to in a case like this, what will your husband have to say?

P.J. A lot I expect.

K. That doesn't appear to worry you over much?

P.J. As a matter of fact it's just the sort of little lesson I've been meaning to give him for some time.

K. So he's been playing you up with Ferri, eh? I guessed as much.

P.J. I did not say so.

K. Wait a minute, though. I'm going to put you wise to something which may make you think differently before you burn your boats. The bird you know as Count Posodini is actually "Slick" Daniels; con man and card sharp. Here's his police record. Take a look.

P.J. I have nothing to add to my previous statement.

K. Oh, Lordy! Let me put it to you another way, then. Mr. Rockaway and the ship's doctor both saw your husband still unchanged in the passage at 8:10. So your bluff about his being in his bath at 7:45 is now quite useless. Get that?

P.J. Yes.

K. On the other hand there is very strong presumptive evidence that Posodini did in Blane. As "Slick" is a known criminal that makes the presumption doubly strong. Now, you seem a decent sort of girl. Just because a man has a criminal record behind him you're surely not going to see him sent to the chair for a murder he didn't do, if you can stop it, are you?

P.J. I see. Yes, that does make a big difference, doesn't it? All right, then, I was in the Count's cabin. When we came below at a quarter to eight I went in to borrow a book and I sat there talking to him for the best part of half an hour.

K. Then, why the heck didn't you say so to begin with?

P.J. Isn't that obvious?

K. Yes, because your husband told you not to. Did he know where you'd been?

P.J. I intended that he should. I suppose I might as well tell you everything now. My husband and I haven't been getting on very well lately and this trip has brought matters to a head. When he and Ferri started throwing eyes at each other on the first day out from New York I decided to start a party of my own with the Count.

I knew quite well that I could take care of myself and I thought that, if I spent half an hour alone with the Count in his cabin, before changing that night, Reggie would be certain to ask why I was so late. As it was I had all my trouble for nothing. He was so occupied himself that he never even thought to ask where I had been.

K. I understand.

P.J. I wouldn't have told you this unless you'd had proof already that he didn't come down till ten past eight.

K. Thank you, Mrs. Jocelyn. (To Be Continued)

Save this installment as evidence to help you solve the crime.

Walnut Pecan Bread
(1 loaf)

One cup chopped walnut meats, 1 cup chopped pecan meats, 3-4 cup sugar, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 2 3-4 cups flour, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Sift flour and salt together. Add sugar. Slowly add milk, mixing evenly. Beat egg, add. Sift in baking powder, then add nut meats chopped fine. Mix well and stand in warm place for 15 minutes. Pour into greased bread tin. Bake in fairly hot oven (375 degrees F) for about 1 hour. When it cools, slice and watch the youngsters grin and peep at the nut meats.

A fruit salad makes a grand spring tonic. Serve it with a nut dressing.

Pecan-Almond Dressing
(1 cup)

One-quarter cup lemon juice, 1-4 cup orange juice, 1-2 cup olive oil, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 3-4 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons pulverized pecans, 2 tablespoons pulverized almonds.

Combine the liquids and then add pulverized nuts. Stir well, chill and pour over the fruit and lettuce.

On Saturday morning when the children want to help you, give them several bags of nuts to shell. Then, in order to keep shelled nuts on hand in first class condition, put them up in jars. The Consumers Council recommends this method:

First put freshly cracked nut meats into sterilized glass fruit jars. Adjust, but do not tighten the glass lids and rubbers. Place the jars in an ordinary clothes boiler, or a big kettle with a wooden rack on the bottom. Put in about 2 inches of water, and make sure the lid is on tight. Let the water boil for 20 minutes. Then remove the jars rapidly and tighten the tops down as quickly as possible.

Prepared this way, and stored in the dark at ordinary room temperature, nut meats will keep fresh even during hot weather. Remember that the jars must be left uncovered and that water must not be higher than 2 inches when canning them.

THE NEW COMMANDMENT

Text: John 12:20-33; 13:34-35

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

THE shadow of death that hovered over the Master is already evident in the story of this lesson about certain Greeks, evidently devout men who shared the faith of the Israelites, and who were among those who went up to worship at the feast of the Passover at Jerusalem.

They had heard of Jesus, and they wished to know more about Him. There is a certain air of mystery about the narrative. The Greeks came to Philip, and made known to him their wish to see Jesus. Philip seems to have questioned whether the Master would receive them or not. He tells Andrew about it, and Andrew and Philip tell Jesus.

Without any indication whether Jesus had received the Greeks or not, we have the record of His breaking forth in words concerning Himself. "The hour," He says, "is come that the Son of man should be glorified." And He adds the mystic words, "Except a grain of wheat fall into the earth and die, it abideth by itself alone; but if it die, it beareth much fruit."

He continues in the mystic saying concerning the love of life, and the losing of life by which one finds it. He is emphasizing very strongly the crucial nature of Christian discipleship. It is not something easy. It means the linking of me, with Christ in great matters of judgment and destiny.

THE disciples could hardly have understood these mystic words of Jesus and all He continued to say concerning the casting out of the prince of this world.

They could hardly have understood what He meant when he said, "If I be lifted up from the earth, I will draw all men unto myself." But afterwards, at the light of Calvary, they were able to perceive that He had said this concerning His death.

What was the essential meaning of all this for the disciples? What is the meaning of it for us today? Jesus says that it is all found in the new commandment of love. This is the meaning of His earthly life and mission: to bring into the world a new order of love. It is this that is the test of Christian discipleship.

A LATER writer was to emphasize this when he asked, "He that loveth not his brother, whom he hath seen, how can he love God, whom he hath not seen?" The best commentary upon this passage in the Gospel of John is to be found in the fourth chapter of the First Epistle of John. There we find set forth very splendidly the whole philosophy of Christian love as a bond between man and man, and as the one great link between God and man.

It is the same theme that Paul expounds in the great chapter on love—the 13th of First Corinthians. It is the greatest theme in earth and heaven. To experience the love of God, and to live that love in act and thought, is the highest possible life for man.

P. T. A. to Present Supt. W. T. Walton in Talk: Hodges Oak Park Parent-Teacher association has planned to present superintendent of Ranger public school, W. T. Walton, in a special address Tuesday afternoon at the 7:45 o'clock program. Mr. Walton's subject, "Education," the basic ingredient for every successful attainment.

The organization has been enjoying large numbers of mothers present for the meetings held every two weeks, and even though the new year is yet young, something of a record has been made for the splendid attendance, which is indeed gratifying, since every officer of the P. T. A. is striving to the fullest to make the year a red letter marker.

Mrs. John Hassen, president, is pleased with the response and cooperation and asks the presence of mothers for this particular program.

Lesson is Taken From "World Comrades"

The G. A. Girls of Central Baptist church held their Friday afternoon study in the home of their counsellor, Mrs. E. S. Main thought of the splendid lesson was brought out in an interesting way, stressing the point, "Who are the chosen people of America?" The de-

The election of officers comes as the paramount note of interest during the March session.

Frigidaire Dealer Attends Meeting

Science has scored another remarkable victory by presenting to the world a group of thrilling new features in automatic refrigeration according to J. S. Reynolds, Frigidaire dealer who has just returned from the national convention sponsored by the manufacturers of his product.

He was one of a group of 900 dealers and their salesmen who were present at an all-day session at Fort Worth, Texas. Officials of the Frigidaire factories of Dayton, Ohio, accompanied by a corps of their assistants, staged a spectacular presentation, during which new products and new sales plans for the coming year were outlined for the men comprising the field selling force.

"This year," he said, "the Frigidaire manufacturing organization has succeeded in doing what few of us had thought possible, and that was to produce a product that represents definite forward strides over a product which last year was regarded by hundreds of thousands of people to be the finest refrigerator that man knew how to build.

"Refusing last year to claim public attention by flourishing any single spectacular feature at the expense of other desirable services in home refrigeration, and pressing forward on the grounds of meeting all of five accepted standards established for a refrigerator for 1937 surpasses its own record and this year reaches undreamed of heights in making an automatic refrigerator of real home utility instead of a glorified gadget produced largely to fascinate visitors instead of serving the owners.

"This year we have a great story for the world—much greater than I had dared hope. Briefly, it's a story of greater protectability, greater ice-ability, greater storage-ability. These expressions are not just names of new features. They are designations of basic services which no single feature can provide. And in the light of new developments of this year's Frigidaire, no home refrigeration service is any longer complete without them all.

"This is the gripping story that we are preparing to outline and prove to every interested person at the first showing of the new models which will be available for inspection now.
