Big Three Compare Notes On Conference

Lack Of Wheat Storage Space Becomes Acute

As the wheat harvest moved into the Vernon, Texas, area the shortage of available storage space became acute. There were many different methods being used to solve this serious problem. At upper left in Burk Burnett, Texas, workmen, using assembly line methods, are turning out a 1000-bushel portable storage unit per hour. These units are for sale for $250 and can be bought in the finished units or in parts ready for assembly. At upper right the Hinds School, just five miles south of Vernon,

Texas, is being used for emergency storage. Here the trucks are unloading wheat through the school windows. In the lower left photo a truck backs into the Hinds gymnasium and dumps wheat on the floor. At lower right the long snout of the conveyor dumps bushel after bushel of fresh harvested wheat into what was once a classroom in the Hinds school. Note the blackboard in background, where childish markings are visible. (NEA Telephotos)

Graduate Takes All The Honors

DESPERATE WHEAT FARMERS STILL SEEK STORAGE SPACE

AMARILLO, June 4 (UP)—Harried farmers had the use of some additional storage space today as their search for containers to hold this year's abundant wheat harvest went on. The Pantex Ordnance Plant near here was offered by Texas Tech in an effort to help alleviate the farmer's dilemma. Too much golden grain, not enough space to store it. Chandler Weymouth, a member of the Texas Tech board of directors, said the 210 igloos at the plant will handle 6,000 to 7,000 bushels of wheat. He added that the Santa Fe Railway would rehabilitate the tracks inside the plant's property next week. Yesterday farmers were granted the use of the Hinds School south of Vernon to store their previous harvest. Offer of the

TRUMAN MOVES TO AVERT ATOMIC PLANT STRIKE

WASHINGTON, June 4 (UP)—President Truman today cleared the way for government action to head off a threatened strike which would cripple this country's atomic bomb production. The President did so by filling the remaining two vacancies on the three-man atomic labor relations panel, recently created to handle such disputes as the one threatening a shutdown of the government's Oak Ridge, Tenn., uranium separation plant.

Monument To Banker Set Up

PORTLAND, Ore., June 4 (UP)—A "prepetuit" to A. P. Giannini, Bank of America chairman who died yesterday, was voted by the American Institute of Banking in the final session of convention here. After expressing "profound shock and deep sorrow" over the death of Giannini at his San Mateo, Cal., home, the AIB passed a resolution setting up a major part of its banking education program as a memorial to the farm boy who established the largest bank in the world.

Tornadoes Cause Little Damage

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., June 4 (UP)—Negligible damage was reported today along the paths of two tornadoes that struck in isolated portions of Oklahoma last night. One small tornado hit a mile north of Bartlesville's airport in northern Oklahoma. The other ripped through a field 15 miles northwest of Leedley, Okla., headed toward the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles. The Kansas City Weather Bureau said an airplane pilot sighted two funnel-shaped clouds near Monroe City, Mo., both of which it said did not mark the ground.

Youth Who Would Renounce U. S. Is Set Free

FRANKFURT, June 4 (UP)—Danny McCarthy, 22, Long Island youth professing an adamant determination to renounce his American citizenship and become a German, was set free today. The U. S. military government liberated McCarthy pending his trial June 13 for entering Germany illegally. Fred J. Cohn of Raleigh, N. C., a military government judge, rescinded the $500 bail which had kept the youth in an Army jail. Cohn said there was no reason why McCarthy should stay in jail while awaiting trial. The bail was rescinded at a private meeting with the youth in the judge's chambers.

Shirley, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Houston. And engineering, veterinary-medicine students and candidates for master's degrees were addressed by the Rev. Joseph J. Thundershowers Fall In State

Berger reported 1.75 inches of rain: Vega 1.09; Claude .95; Amarillo .74; Stratford .68, and Dalhart .19. Amarillo's rain was accompanied by strong winds which kicked up plenty of dust before the moisture fell. Two buildings at the Amarillo Air Field were damaged by the gale-like winds. Some hail fell there and at Adrian and Hereford. Very large hail stones were reported at Adrian. Temperatures yesterday ranged from 106 degrees at Presidio to a cool 63 at Dalhart. Most readings were in the 90's. Lows this morning ranged from 51 at Amarillo to 77 degrees at Galveston.

Three Children Die In Icebox

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark., June 4 (UP)—A family ice box became a death trap yesterday for three small children. Police believed they accidentally locked themselves in while playing. Dead were Joyce Ann Chastain, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chastain, of Calvin, a small community nine miles north of here; James Delbert Chastain, 2, Joyce's brother, and Shirley Ramsey, 6, daughter of a neighbor, Mrs. Ethel Ramsey. Joyce died in a Jonesboro hospital early today. The others were either frozen or suffocated to death before removal from the box. Mrs. Chastain discovered the children wedged into the box when she returned from chopping cotton. She heard a strange noise in the ice box and opened it to investigate. The youngsters were crammed within the four-foot space. Mrs. Chastain ran to a neighbor's home for help. The surviving child was rushed to a Walnut Ridge clinic and later to a Jonesboro hospital where she died.

Chambers To Undergo More Questioning

NEW YORK, June 4 (UP)—Whittaker Chambers, who has admitted that he perjured himself six times since he gave up the "Communist principle of lying," will undergo further cross-examination next week in a defense attempt to undermine his testimony which led to the perjury of Alger Hiss. The trial was in recess today. In the drama-packed second session of the Hiss trial yesterday, Chief Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker forced Chambers to testify that he had been a "potential, if not actual perjurer" for more than half his life as a member of the Communist party. The pudgy former senior editor of Time Magazine admitted unemotionally to a jam-packed courtroom that his regeneration "would never be complete." Stryker will continue cross-examination Monday to discover whether Chambers has the "ethical sense of a God-fearing Christian." Hiss, a former state department official, is on trial before Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman of two counts of perjury based on testimony that he never gave state department documents to Chambers and that he had not seen the "reformed" Communist since Jan. 1, 1957.

Reward Offered For Destructive Berlin Strikers

BERLIN, June 4 (UP)—The Russians today offered rewards of up to $100 for the arrest of West Berlin railway strikers accused of tearing up rails on the Berlin elevated railway system. Notices of the rewards were displayed on railway property in the Soviet sector. Two men and a woman said to have participated in sabotaging the railway were described on the notices. The Russians action was regarded as a move to support the Soviet contention that criminal elements are leading the 15-day-old strike. A British-licensed German newspaper said 420 Soviet zone German police have arrived in Berlin to help try to break the strike. The report, which could not be confirmed immediately, raised fears that new violence might break out between the 16,000 non-Communist west sector railway strikers and Soviet-controlled police.

HOPE; GLOOM INTERMINGLED IN ATTITUDES

PARIS, June 4 (UP)—Foreign Ministers of the western Big Three met today to compare notes on their first secret discussion of Berlin with Russia and to lay their lines for continuation of the talk this afternoon. Some progress was reported in the initial private discussion of the Berlin situation by the council of foreign ministers. Preliminary to the second session, the American, British and French delegates gathered at the French foreign office to coordinate their policy. Secretary of State Dean Acheson will be host at a private dinner tonight for foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia. As far as was known publicly, this was the first time a U. S. Secretary of State had invited a Soviet foreign minister privately to dinner since the New York meeting in 1946. Acheson already has given private dinners in honor of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France. Yesterday's secret meeting, the first closed session after 10 days of deadlock, was held in a cordial atmosphere and some progress toward re-establishing a unified Berlin was achieved. Western delegates remained pessimistic on a general agreement, however. They said they feared Russia never will abandon completely the Berlin blockade. Hope that some type of agreement may come from this meeting was expressed by western representatives when they came out of the closed session yesterday. "It was the old pre-Potsdam atmosphere—very clubby," one delegate said. "No decisions were reached but I think some progress was made. On the basis of today's developments, I think we will be here another two weeks." The four foreign ministers are discussing an American proposal presented by Secretary of State Dean Acheson. It calls for free elections in Berlin, establishment of a provisional government on the basis of those elections, drafting a permanent city constitution and re-establishment of the four-power Kommandatura in Berlin.

Waltz into Darkness

BY WILLIAM IRISH

THE STORY: Honey dierhage their maid of all work, takes over the household chores herself. Washing the dishes after dinner one night she screams that she has seen a rat in the kitchen. She sends Bernard out for rat poison.

IT was the following night that his illness really began. She discovered it first.

He found her looking at him intently as he closed his book at their retiring time.

"What is it?" he said cheerfully. "Louis." She hesitated. "Are you sure you have been feeling well lately? I do not find you looking yourself. I do not like the way you—"

"It?" he exclaimed in astonishment. "Why, I never felt better in my life!"

She silenced him with tilt of hand. "That may well be, but your appearance belies it. More and more lately I have found you looking worn and haggard at times. I have not mentioned it before, because I didn't want to alarm you, but it has been on my mind for some time now to do so. It's very evident; I can't see it quite plainly."

"Nonsense," he said, half laughing. "I have an excellent remedy. If you will but let me give it to you. And I will join you in it myself, as an inducement."

"What?" he asked, amused. "She jumped up. "Starting tonight, we are to take an evening of the two of us, each night before retiring. It is an excellent tonic, they assure me, for fortifying the system."

"I am not an invalid—" he tried to protest.

"Now, not another word, sir," she ordered gaily. "I intend to prepare them right now, and you shall not hinder me. I have all the necessary ingredients right at hand."

"I thought I heard a sound in the kitchen door."

"What was that?"

"What? I didn't hear anything."

"She went back in again for a moment. She was gone a moment, then she returned to him. "I thought I heard a sound in the kitchen door."

and the very best obtainable, at 12 cents a dozen, mind you! And the brandy we have in the house as well."

He couldn't help but smile indulgently at her, but he let her have her way. This was a new role for her, nursemaid to a non-existent ailment. If it made her happy, why what was the harm?

Her mood was amiable, sanguine, all gentleness and contrition now. She even bent to kiss him atop the head in passing.

"Was I cross to you before? Forgive me, Dou. You know I wouldn't want to be. A fright like that can make one into a harrier."

"She went toward the kitchen, smiling back at him.

He could hear her cracking the eggs, somewhere beyond the open doorway, and crinkled his eyes appreciatively to himself.

Presently she had even begun to hum lightly as she moved about in there, she was enjoying her self-imposed task so much.

SHE came in, holding one glass in each hand. Their contents pale gold in color, creamy in substance.

"Here. One for you, one for me." She offered them both. "Take whichever one you want." Then when he had, she tasted tentatively at the one that remained in her hand. "I hope I didn't put in too much sugar. Too much would sicken. May I try yours?"

"Of course."

She took it back from him, tasted at it in turn. It left a little white trace on her upper lip.

While she stood thus, holding both together, she turned her head toward the kitchen door.

"What was that?"

"What? I didn't hear anything."

13th JUNE DAIRY MONTH

June is Dairy Month from coast to coast. It highlights dairy foods for which housewives spend more than 15 per cent of their food budgets. In turn they get nearly 30 per cent of the food consumed annually in this country.

The physical well-being of every person, old and young, leans heavily on milk and its many products. Take fresh milk and cream, for example, about 60 million quarts are distributed through stores and doorsteps daily across the nation. Today milk consumption alone is 14 per cent higher than before World War II.

Dairy foods used in each home represent an industry that employs full time at least 1,500,000 persons and gives a livelihood to about 10 million people. In addition the industry contributes $10 billion to national commerce.

ZERO HOUR—Bill Veeck rubs out a big goose egg on Comiskey Park's home plate. When the White Sox twice shut out the Indians in an afternoon in Chicago, their General Manager, Frank Lane, had the rubber uprooted, and sent to the Cleveland club president. He thought Veeck might like to know what it looked like.

there, I wanted to make sure I fastened the door."

She gave him back the one he had had in the first place, and which she had sampled.

"Since it has been in it," she said, "I suppose we should precede it with a toast." She nudged her glass to his. "To your better health."

HE took a deep draught of his. He found it quite velvety and pleasurable. The liquor in it, with which she had been unsparing, gave a mellow warming effect to the stomach after it had lain there some moments.

"I wish all tonics were this palatable, don't you?" she remarked.

"It's quite satisfactory," he admitted, more to please her than because he saw any great virtue in it. It was after all, to his way of thinking, neither honest liquor nor wholly medicine.

"You must drink it down to the bottom, that is the only way it will do you any good," she urged gently. "See, as I did mine."

To spare her feelings, after the trouble of having prepared it, he did so.

He tasted of his tongue, dubiously, after he had. "It is a little chalky, don't you find. A little astringent. It puckers."

"That is because you are not used to milk." She took the glass from him. "I'll just rinse out the glasses," she said, "and then we can go up."

He slept soundly at first, feeling at the last the grateful glow the tonic had deposited in his stomach. But then after an hour or two he awakened into torment. The glow was no longer benign. It had a flaming bite to it. Sleep, once driven off, couldn't come near him again, held back by a fiery sword turning and turning at his vital.

The rest of that night was agony, a Calvary. He called out to her, more than once, but she was not near enough to hear him. Helpless and cut off from her, he sank his teeth into his own lip at last, and kept silent after that. In the morning there was dried blood all down his chin.

Cactus Grows Up

BODINE, La. (UP) — Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hoffman believe their 3 1/2-year-old Christmas cactus, measuring five feet across, is one of the largest potted plants of its kind in existence. When they were given the plant 35 years ago it could have been placed in a shoe box. Now they keep it in a cream separator bowl.

An average hen that produces about 200 eggs yearly lays almost five times her body weight in eggs.

If you like cheese, milk and other dairy products, then June will be a happy month for you. Are you a salad enthusiast? Good, for during June lettuce will be abundant, and therefore on the budget list.

The United States Department of Agriculture lists the following as plentiful foods for June for the nation at large:

Vegetables: Lettuce, Irish potatoes, cabbage (East and Midwest).
Canned Foods: Apricots, mixed fruits, corn, peas (lower grades).

Other Foods: Fish (fresh and frozen), dried beans, dried peas, oatmeal, corn products, honey, peanut butter.

Dairy, Poultry Foods: Eggs, broilers, fryers, dairy products. Budget menus can use these plentifully deliciously.

Dinner: Chicken-noodle soup, pork chop sauey, asparagus salad, bread, butter or fortified margarine, peach coconut Betty, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Cream of asparagus soup, salmon patties, succotash, lettuce wedges with French dress-

Pram Row Sports Tiny Handbags

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Nickel, times and lollipops will travel this summer in cool little handbags of straw and plastic instead of perspiring little palms.

That's the designing idea behind a collection of snappy little handbags for snappy little fry.

So hard to resist are such charmers as doll-sized satchels of plastic, straw and fabric pouches, leather "pails" and "straw hat" handbags that many of these small-fry fashions have been earmarked for grown-up adaptations.

Smallest charmer, large enough to accommodate the thrust of a small hand in search of a nickel or a lollipop, is a red cherry-trimmed "hat" of natural straw banded with blue ribbon. This one combines two hat miniatures with a slit opening in between and two ribbon streamers that make a wrist strap.

Other styles are designed for little wisecracks old enough to clamor for such fittings as mirrors, notebooks and pencils and small change purses. One of two-toned saddle leather takes its design from a sand pail.

A plastic calf satchel fitted with mirror, tiny change purses and a fancy gold clasp is another handbag style that will answer any Pram Row query as to what's smartest to wear with summer's cotton prints.

EARL STEWART, AND GENE TOWRY WIN MATCHES SATURDAY A.M.

Earl Stewart and Gene Towry are a step closer to another dead heat in the finals of the Ranger Invitation Golf Tournament as they both won their first match. Stewart downed Hardy Loudermilk one up in his first match Saturday morning. Towry took his match from Bob Hafele, of Fort Worth, seven to six.

Both Stewart and Towry were to play again Saturday afternoon. Stewart was to play T. A. Avarillo from Fort Worth and Towry was to swing against the winner of the Spud Cason-Bill Turner match.

Stewart took the medal honors at the Ranger Invitation Golf Tournament Friday when he carded a four under par 68. Stewart had five birdies and a bogey over the 18 holes to end up with a 68. He had a 35 over the first nine and came back with a 33.

Gene Towry, defending champion, decided to take automatic qualification and this decision cost him the medalist prize as he went around the course in a seven under par 65.

Other championship flight golfers turned in scores from 74 on down. Spud Cason, of Ft. Worth had a par 72 as did Les Strawn Jr., of Hardin Simmons, and Bill Dill of Cisco for third place. R. B. Cole of Abilene took second place with a 71. Other championship flight qualifiers were: Bob Hafele 73, Bill Turner 74, Chas. Van Green 75, Homer Chokas 74, Hardy Loudermilk 72, T. A. Avarillo 74, Bob Gibson 75, C. A. Dewees 74, and L. M. Crannell 73.

Mickey Rooney, Martha Vickers Wed In Hurried Ceremony Friday

HOLLYWOOD, June 4 (UP)—Newlyweds Mickey Rooney and Martha Vickers toasted their marriage in champagne cocktails until almost midnight, and then disappeared early today for a "stay-at-home honeymoon" in a tiny cottage next door to Clark Gable's rambling estate.

"I've got me a wonderful girl," the pint-sized actor beamed, squeezing the lace-covered waist of Mrs. Rooney No. 3. "If I don't make this one last there's something wrong with me."

The "Andy Hardy" of movieland—who lost Ava Gardner, because "he was always running home to mother," and Betty Jane Rase, because "too many people were always living with us"—pulled a fast switch late yesterday and took his third bride in hushed-up privacy.

Only 25 guests were invited to the simple ceremony in the ivy-covered Christ Memorial Unity Church in North Hollywood.

"I don't want any outsiders messing up the works," declared actor, stooped over, took his face in her lace gloved hands, and planted a loud kiss on his lips. Then she popped another quick one and they walked back down the aisle.

"We had a tough time finding a church to get married in," the Mick said outside. "Two others turned us down because we've both been divorced. But this one's going to last."

It was the third time Rooney had bounced through a marriage ceremony and it came off just six hours to the minute after he picked up his final divorce from his second wife, Betty Jane Rase, a Birmingham, Ala., beauty contest winner and the mother of his young sons.

Miss Vickers got a Las Vegas divorce last week from film publicist A. C. Lyles, Jr.

Coplon Case Rests On Judge's Decision

WASHINGTON, June 4 (UP)—The government may have to drop its espionage case against Judith Coplon if the judge rules that it must open certain secret files, federal lawyers said today.

Informed quarters said that any decision to "let pros" the case would have to come from "high up in the justice department."

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves is expected to rule Monday on a defense demand for confidential FBI files which the government contends must be kept secret for security reasons. The files contain secret reports which Miss Coplon, a former justice department analyst, is accused of copying for transmission to Russia.

If the judge rules that the files must be made public, it was said, the prosecution may give up its efforts to convict Miss Coplon of espionage. The trial has been in progress for the past six weeks.

KENDRICK QUARTET, ORGANIZED 2 YEARS AGO, FAST BECOMING RECOGNIZED IN SOUTHWEST

Desiring to have a young quartet, J. H. Kendrick, Eastland County dairyman, who lives four miles west of Eastland on U. S. Highway 80, about two years ago organized his family and two friends into a group of singers known as the Kendrick Quartet. The results speak for themselves. The quartet has made so many appearances in concerts and singing conventions that Kendrick, who serves as manager and master of ceremonies for the group, has no idea of the number, but guesses several hundred. In fact, during the past two years the quartet has only missed three Sundays in not singing in church or at a singing convention. icy roads kept the quartet at home two Sundays and the other Sunday was spent in going to a hospital to visit sick friends. In the past 14 months alone, Kendrick has put 52,000 miles on a new Buick automobile traveling the length and breadth of Texas and parts of New Mexico with the quartet.

Music for the quartet is furnished by Mrs. J. H. Kendrick, who plays both the piano and the accordion, and is a music teacher. The quartet itself is unusual in that the average age of the performers is 18, making it one of the youngest groups in concert and convention appearances. The Kendrick's two sons—Pierre, 17, and Sharty, 15, comprise one-half of the quartet—while Noel Graves, 21, of Brownwood; and Miss Lois Walker, 18, who resides one mile south of the Kendrick residence, form the other half.

Pierre and Sharty have been studying music and singing for several years under the direction of their mother, and are both students in Cisco High School. Young Graves is a graduate of Brownwood High School, where he played in the Lion Band. He attended Howard Payne College two years on a scholarship won in music.

Miss Walker has attended several sessions of the Stamps School of Music in Dallas, and is a graduate of Cisco High School. Unlike most quartets, the Kendrick songsters do not limit their numbers to hymns, but present a varied program of gospel, spiritual, popular and Spanish songs. For the Spanish numbers, the quartet appears in special costumes and sing the songs in the Spanish language. Their concerts are of two hours length and during intermission, the quartet passes through the audience selling souvenir post card pictures of the group, with over 1,000 postcards being sold recently. Some of the recent concerts have been at Lorraine, Burkett, Coleman, Cisco, Richland Springs, Hamilton and May. The quartet has appeared on radio stations in Dallas, Fort Worth, Brownwood, Stephenville, Beckenridge and Graham.

Since two members of the quartet are still in school, the group has been limited to some extent in making appearances, but Kendrick has plans to "go professional", with a regular sponsored daily broadcast. At present, however, the quartet is in a more or less a semi-professional stage—receiving many more invitations to appear than they can possibly make—attesting to their popularity and ability.

The Kendrick's moved to Eastland 11 years ago from Dallas, and have been engaged in the dairy business for the past seven years. Mr. Kendrick was employed by Light Crust Flour Co. in Dallas, owning a flour mill in Cisco, prior to that. Kendrick has built his 120-acre pasture land farm up to one of the most modern dairies to be found anywhere. Using native Eastland County rock, much of it from his farm, Kendrick erected an eight room house, dairy barn, shed, chicken houses and other out buildings. The facilities also include a concrete swimming pool. With all the conveniences of city life—lights, water and gas—the Kendrick's place is one of the nicest to be found anywhere.

Rancher Admits Shooting Cousin

McALLEN, Tex., June 4 (UP)—A prominent U. S. and Mexican rancher, Esteban Garcia, was charged today with killing Brig. Gen. Herou Ramirez Garcia, chief of police of the Mexican state of Nuevo Leon.

The two men were distant cousins and had been lifelong friends.

Garcia refused to discuss the shooting after he surrendered at Edingburg, Tex. Relatives said they could offer no reason for the killing.

Ramirez was shot five times with a .38 pistol. There were no witnesses.

Jesus and the Cup of Sacrifice

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

THE cup, that in Gethsemane Jesus prayed so earnestly might pass, did not pass. We know how He drank it, and drank it to the very lees of sacrifice and suffering. It is the mystery of God and the universe that the life-giving power, alike of nature and of grace, are intimately bound up with suffering and death.

Jesus emphasized this very strongly in His conversation with "certain Greeks," recorded in John 12:23-25. "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die," He said, "it abideth alone; but if it die it beareth much fruit. And He proceeded to apply this to human life, with undoubtedly prophetic reference to Himself: "He that loveth his life loseth it."

In Gethsemane it was the humanity of Jesus, struggling in the last dark hour against all that He had set forth to saddened disciples in preceding days, recorded in the conversations and discourses of the chapters in John's Gospel. Was this not, also, an expression of His humanity, sharing with us an experience that is common, and never so much emphasized as in recent years when so many young men, hating war, have nevertheless had to make the supreme sacrifice?

It is one thing to recognize a general law of sacrifice, but how different when we are faced with a real, insistent danger, or demand for sacrifice ourselves? Then comes a real testing. Many find the faith and power to face it; others fail.

Out of Gethsemane the Master came with the serenity of a profound faith in the destiny that the Father had for Him, and with a quiet, sublime courage, that could endure alike the buffetings of His aggressors, the taunts of the cowardly, and the cynical contempt of the worldly-minded Pilate. It was the proud, self-confident Roman who engaged in that interview before the uncrowned King, who was yet to wear the crown of thorns.

Were trial and death ever so dominated by a courage and composure, born of inward peace, and a consciousness of spiritual presence and power? How often has that peace of God that made the Master strong upheld His followers in persecution and peril!

From Gethsemane to Calvary! We must go with Jesus all the way, if we would get the inspiration of that divine tragedy and its fulfillment of blessing for mankind. Here, again, we may speak of "mankind," but, as we may have to face danger and sacrifice not in general but in a very real and personal way, so the message of that divine tragedy comes to each of us personally, pointing the way to triumph and glory. It is the way of prayer, in discovering and obeying the will of God, and in finding the strength that God supplies.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflo Drive

White colored tires, as illustrated, available on extra cost.

THERE'S the smile when you ship the selector lever into driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot—so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflo.

For Dynaflo Drive is not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience—a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran—in two days you wouldn't be without it.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflo is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflo.

Your Buick dealer will be glad to demonstrate—glad to quote delivered prices—glad to talk terms of as fine a deal as you could want.

And you'll find glad surprise in the delivery dates he is now mentioning.

Rebuilding Lives and Homes Begins

Top, in Cape Girardeau, Mo., shelter, Red Cross Nurse Marie Brooks cares for Kenneth Probst, one of family of 13 who lost all possessions in May 21 tornado which leveled 21 city blocks. Emergency feeding, shelter, medical care is followed by Red Cross aid in restoring possessions and health to victims of storms where their own resources cannot meet needs. Below, Red Cross building expert checks demolished 5-room home of Robert Gilmer, Amarillo, Texas, veteran, who lost everything in May 15 tornado. Expert will follow through on this and scores of other homes where complete or partial building and repair is financed entirely from Red Cross disaster funds. Three-quarter million dollars has been set aside for such long-range help to storm and flood victims stricken in 6 states in first three weeks of May. Aid is always given outright on basis of what is needed to restore family to normal life; can range from replaced kitchen equipment to entire, new furnished home or medical care for as many years as it takes disaster victims to recover.

Waste Gas Burned In Oil Flares May Go Into Clothing Manufacture

COLLEGE STATION, June 3 (Sp1)—Instead of being burned off in oil field flares, as it is today, a part of Texas' natural gas may some day go into the manufacture of clothing, commercial solvents, dyes and other useful products, as the result of a process under development in the Chemical Engineering department at the A. and M. College of Texas. C. F. Sanderson, working for his Ph. D. here under a Gulf Oil Corporation graduate fellowship, has designed and built a pilot plant for producing an industrially important chemical from propane by catalytic oxidation.

This is a relatively simple method of producing a single organic chemical from propane and promises to be less expensive than any now in use. The thermal oxidation process now being used commercially results in a complex and corrosive mixture of chemicals which must be further separated before commercially useful products are secured. The pilot plant here breaks down propane by the catalytic process at lower temperatures than other processes now in use, producing a highly volatile liquid which looks very much like water, but is considerably lighter. Commercial Production Co. No. 1 R. S. Sanders drilling at 2,200 feet. They are hurrying to finish this operation, we understand, so that the rig may be put on some more operations which are rather pressing. R. H. Patterson No. 1 James at -2,881 in very hard Ranger Lime.

Mr. Hardman with Skeeters and Curry on the No. 1 Shelton out of Pipe Springs are trying to get equipment in order and everything shipshape and they will move within the next day or two to the East 80 of the J. C. Burns land.

The Jay L. Baker Co. No. T. N. Watt drilling at 2,756 feet. Everything is running almost too smoothly now, since the fishing jobs and the bucking pipe, and all.

R. H. Patterson and wife are hurrying up on some of their operations now, since for several months they have been planning a trip to Arizona and Wyoming if we have the place right and they are very anxious to get away before really stringing up on some continuous contracting which Slaters will have to manage when he gets back. He has a partnership in the making with another Operator, too, so he will have more on his hands after his vacation.

Belt Lison No. 1 G. W. Pinson acidized Friday morning and are swabbing. That is a pretty good indication that they have an oil well instead of the weak gas wells which have been found in that area on some leases. If the well blows in with a great deal of pressure show right at the start, the Operators have learned to look for gas wells which do not pay off, or they will expect to have an oil well with too much gas, that their allowable will be shut down until they can take pay from the hole. Mr. Dixon may have a nice well, from all indications. We hope so, for he is living over around DeLeon and Dublin, and we naturally have a little feeling for such Independent Operators.

Continental No. 1 N. L. Box is drilling away, but as was expected, it is a tight hole so not a trickle of authentic information is leaking out, so far. And after they have made their tests enough to satisfy their curiosity as to what is down there they may close up and go home and still not make a well, which certainly helps the landowner and all parties concerned, but that is the way the Majors operate, so when you give them a lease, expect to be put off unless you can wangle an airtight drilling contract which is next to an liquid is acetaldehyde. Propane, which Sanderson's process uses, is the third most plentiful component of the natural gas being processed in many natural gasoline plants dotting the Texas oil fields. It is now used largely as a fuel. Recent conservation moves on the part of the Texas Railroad commission, threatening with shut-down those fields which do not find a commercial end use for their gas, make the problem of new uses for propane even more important. Further work on development of this process and improvement of the pilot plant will be carried on by the Chemical Engineering department here. Sanderson is receiving his Ph. D. at commencement exercises here this month and will hereafter spend full time with the firm of Sanderson-Glendening, consulting engineers, Houston, which he helped establish while doing his graduate work.

Arsonist Fails In Attempt To Burn Lewis Home

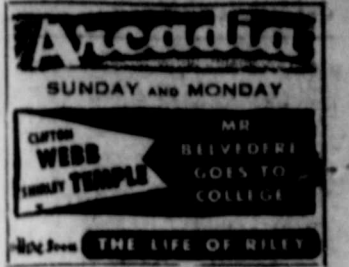

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 4 (UP)—Mine Chieftain John L. Lewis returned home today to find that a headline-hunting arsonist had tried to burn down his house.

The firebug slipped into the house while the watchman was out to dinner last night. He ignited papers in the dining room and basement.

Then he telephoned the Washington Post and Times-Herald newspapers to report the fire.

"John L. Lewis' house is burning to the ground," he said. "How do you know," he was asked. "Because I set it on fire myself about 15 minutes ago."

With that, the firebug hung up. A little later, however, he called again to tell the newspapers: "If you didn't like that fire, I'll set a better one next time."

When police arrived at the house, they found heavy smoke but little damage. Papers had been stuffed under some rug and ignited, but the rug apparently had smothered the flames.
