UN 'Meat-Grinder' Sweeps Ahead

Allies Smash Deep Into Red Area All Along Sixty Mile Front Today

BY EARNEST HOBERECHT TOKYO, Feb. 22 (UP)—United Nations tank and infantry columns smashed deep into Communist territory all along a 60-mile front today in a massive new "meat-grinder" offensive ordered by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The offensive opened Wednesday and swept forward immediately in a quagmire of mud to close the gap between Allied and Communist lines.

It ran into some Red outposts on the general front Thursday and hurtled through them for two-day gains of 12 miles in the area north of Chechon.

One unidentified American division battled to within four miles north of Hoengsong, big road hub 10 miles north of Wonsu that was abandoned to counter-attacking Red forces last week.

A pooled front dispatch said some troops in this area reached within two miles of Hoengsong while the rest of the division dug in for the night on hills to the south.

A little to the west, other tank columns advanced five miles north of Chipyong where a heroic French-American force blunted the Communist drive by killing 10,000 Reds during a four-day siege.

The attack was paced by swarms of fighter planes. Its objective was to come to grips with an estimated 75,000 to 100,000 Red troops along the front between Yangpyong, 27 miles east of Seoul, and Yongwol, in the east-central mountains.

But the Reds were wary because of the bloody mauling they got last month in which, the 8th Army estimated, they lost more than 100,000 men. They fought back in front of Hoengsong but retreated back to their main lines elsewhere along the front.

The Seoul and Han River front remained relatively quiet. Heavy rains of the past few days which stirred up a sea of mud also raised the Han River to a level where it could not be forded.

Skies cleared at mid-morning Thursday and the offensive was expected to gain momentum when the sun dries out the roads.

An 8th Army communique reported 9th and 10th Corps units representing six nations, were involved in the drive and front dispatches hinted that some fresh units had been committed.

The drive north to Hoengsong on the central front collided with a large force of Communist troops entrenched on a strategic hill guarding the highway leading into the city.

Marine and Air Force planes smothered the hill with a withering blanket of flaming jelled gasoline and rockets while artillery blasted the entrenched Reds with air bursts.

Chinese Communist troops on the hill broke and ran under the blasting. Infantrymen cut them down with machine gun fire, occupied the hill and dug in.

"If you think this is something, wait until tonight," said Lt. P. D. Reiser of New York City.

Layman To Give Services In Methodist Church

Sunday, Feb. 25 is "Layman's Day" for Methodism throughout the nation and on that special day Ranger Methodists will hear Rupert Ricker, oil man, philanthropist, counselor and attorney from Big Springs.

On Sunday, laymen will occupy the pulpits of the Methodist churches in America. Ricker's address will be based upon his personal life and experience. He has been a Christian for the past five years, Methodist pastor Rev. Garland Lavender said.

Ricker's hobby is giving away Bibles in which he has underscored certain verses that he wishes the reader to note. Rev. Lavender invites all those who do not worship at some other church to attend Sunday's special "Layman's Day" services.

Washington Wooded and Lost Several Girl Friends Until He Met Martha

STORRS, Conn., Feb. 22 (UP)—The love life of George Washington was pretty much of a disappointment—to George—until he met Martha.

He wooed, and lost, several girl friends in his younger days, according to Albert E. Van Dusen, assistant history professor at University of Connecticut, and a student of Washington's era.

One was Elizabeth Fauntleroy, the attractive 16-year-old daughter of a wealthy neighbor. Washington then was 19.

Elizabeth said "no"—not once, but twice.

George dropped her like a hot cake, and Van Dusen said "his diary never mentioned her again."

But, the first-president-to-be "had a normal interest in the young women of colonial Virginia," said the historian, and he kept pitching.

He didn't get one over the plate, however, until he was 27 and he met Martha Dandridge Curtis. They hit it off from the start and lived happily together for 40 years.

Chamber of Commerce Report Notes Busy Ranger Activities

After efforts on the part of the Chamber of Commerce which have continued for the past two years, the deal on the aggregate plant was finally closed on Jan. 18. Bill Williams, vice president and general manager of the National Aggregate Company of San Antonio, has taken the plant over and it is now in operation.

The new concern has spent more than $100,000 on new machinery, equipment, etc., and is also laying a 4-inch pipe line to the Davis well 4 1/2 miles southeast of Ranger which will give him sufficient fuel to operate at full capacity. The plant will now operate 24 hours per day and expects to ship three or four car loads of aggregate per day to block-making plants over Texas.

The new owners are depositing a percentage of the money received from aggregate sold, in the commercial State Bank for the purpose of liquidating the old accounts of the Superlite Aggregate Company, and also repaying the local citizens who had put money in the original company. By the arrangement worked out through the Chamber of Commerce, every person and firm who had accounts against the old company and those who had put money into it, will receive 100 cents on the dollar, and Ranger has a permanent payroll which will grow as the demand for its product increases.

Another feature of the deal will be the material assistance to the WF & S railroad, which has in the past few years experienced some difficulty in operating.

The newly patented hydraulic treatment for oil wells producing from sand promises to reactivate drilling operations considerably in the territory adjacent to Ranger with a steady increase in drilling activity. Already about 30 wells, producing from two different sands all of which have been treated with the new process, have proven that the treatment has been successful in almost 100 per cent of the tests. Many new faces may be seen on the streets and in the lobbies of the hotels and, in a few instances the past few weeks, every room in the local hotels were full.

Due to the removal of restrictions by the government on the number of acreage planted to cotton during 1951, and the support of prices by the government up to 90 per cent of parity, it is expected that more acreage will be planted in cotton this year than has been the case in the past several years.

In anticipation of this the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the seed dealers of Ranger met and prepared a letter which was mailed to 3,000 farmers advising them to book orders early for cotton and peanut seed, fertilizer and insect poison with local dealers.

The dealers have pledged themselves to make every effort to supply their needs. The letter also informed the farmers that the Ranger gin would again operate this year and that insect sprayers for custom use would be available here. Also that Ranger would have a good market for cotton and cotton seed as well as peanuts, and the feed and seed dealers report a very satisfactory response from the farmers since the letter was mailed.

The increased drilling and leasing activity has caused heavier traffic at the local municipal airport, and the aviation committee held a meeting and decided to take steps to make some necessary improvements at the airport, which consists of grading and oiling the runways, chatting and oiling tail strips, opening drainage ditches and placing a large "Ranger" sign on top of the hangar. Also plans are under way to install more lights on the runways for night landing. The city, the county and Bill Williams of the American Aggregate Company have had their dirt moving machines doing this work and considerable improvement has already taken place.

President F. P. Brasher of the Chamber of Commerce, expresses appreciation to the standing committees that have already met and functioned and asks those that have not met yet and planned their work for the year, do so at once and thereby get the Chamber's program under full way.

Men Jam Air Hose Down Boy's Throat

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 22 (UP)—Two men jammed an air hose down an 11-year-old boy's throat because they "wanted to see how someone would look inflated like a balloon."

The experiment sent Ernesto Espinosa Galindo to a hospital in critical condition and Santiago Rivera Ramirez, 23, and Luis Hernandez Rios, 17, to jail on attempted manslaughter charges.

Ramirez was disappointed. "He didn't even blow up," he said.

THE WEATHER

By United Press
Balmey, spring-like weather covered Texas as early as mid-morning today, but the "colder" weather was in the offering.

High clouds drifted over the state today, and there was fog at mid-morning in Mineral Wells, Corpus Christi, Waco and Wichita Falls. At 8:30 a.m., Galveston had 60 degree temperature, Houston 55, Dallas 50, Waco 45 and Brownsville and Wichita Falls 42.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said, however, a cold mass, now centered over Canada, would send cooler air rushing into the Panhandle tonight. All of West Texas and the north and west portions of East Texas will be colder tomorrow.

The new cold wave will not last through the weekend, the weatherman said.
Overnight temperatures ranged from a top of 54 at Brownsville to a low of 36 at Salt Flat. Only one other point, Amarillo with 31 degrees, reported freezing weather.

Meetings Slated To Discuss Pea Raising In Area

Three meetings have been set by county agent J. M. Cooper for farmers who are interested in raising Blackeye, Purple Hull, Cream or Stock peas for market this year.

Meetings will be held at Rising Star in the Vocational Agriculture room, Friday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p. m.; at Gorman in the King Theatre, Saturday, Feb. 24, at 10 a. m.; and Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Carbon High School, at 2 p. m.

Over 30 tons of dry peas were purchased in the area last year by a Gorman firm for a large pea company at Athens, Texas.

Anyone interested in growing some peas for market this year is requested to attend one of the meetings.

Seed, planting dates, varieties, inoculation and other topics concerning this new cash crop for this area will be discussed at the meetings. A representative from the Athens company will be present at the meeting.

ALIEN WORKER IN WHITE HOUSE OFFICE

Mrs. Veronica Donovan Jolly, shown here in a recent passport photo, has been identified as the alien office worker in the White House. Secretary to Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughn, Pres. Truman's military aide, the Australian woman was granted permanent residence in this country last year by special legislation sponsored by late Rep. John B. Sullivan, Democrat from Missouri. ### J. A. Robinson Dies In Eastland

Services will be held at 3 p. m. at the First Christian Church in Ranger, Saturday, Feb. 24 for James Andrew Robinson who died in Eastland, Feb. 21. Rev. Otto F. Marshall of Eastland and Rev. Jasper C. Masegosa of Ranger will officiate. Arrangements are in care of Killingsworth Funeral Home of Ranger.

Robinson was born in Lebanon, Mo., in 1879. He married Miss Anna Mae Bobbitt on April 14, 1919. Robinson was a member of the First Christian church of Ranger, Odd Fellows and was a retired employee of the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Co.

Survivors include his wife; one son, J. B. Robinson of National City, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Marcus Matthews of Ranger and Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, of Breckinridge. Mrs. W. B. Kelly of Mineral Wells and Mrs. Dora Armstrong of Abilene.

BULLETIN

Austin, Tex., Feb. 22 (UP)—Texas today became the 33rd state to ratify a proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution limiting the president to two terms in office.

The Senate, concurring in a House - Approved resolution, endorsed the proposal by a vote of 25-4.

Those voting against the proposal were Sens. Howard A. Carney of Atlanta, A. M. Aikins, Jr., of Paris, Jimmy Phillips of Angleton and Kilmer B. Corbin of Lubbock.

Before the amendment, the 22nd, can become effective, the proposal must be ratified by 36 states.

RJC Can Take Cage Title With Cisco Win Tonight

Ranger Junior College hopes to cut short the playoff series for the TJCAC zone championship tonight with a win over the visiting Cisco Wranglers.

The Rangers, who are one game ahead in the two-out of three playoff match, can grab possession of the cage crown with a victory tonight. A Cisco win would throw the playoff into a third and deciding game, which school officials have decided to play on a neutral court.

Ranger defeated Cisco, 65-60, in the first game of the playoff held in Cisco Monday night. Tonight's game will be at the recreation building in Ranger and will start at 8 p. m.

Rotary Drilling Declines

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 22 (UP)—Rotary drilling operations in American and Canadian oil fields declined this week, with 52 fewer rigs in operation than a week ago, the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors said today.

Reptile authorities say the mud snake, commonly called stinging snake, hasn't a stinger in its body.

County Farm Bureau Members Urged To Register Views On House's Action On Graham Bill

A. Z. Myrick, president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau today called on members of the local organization to contact Representatives L. R. Pearson and T. M. Collie in Austin and register their views on action of the state legislature in referring the Graham Bill, H. B. 226, from the Committee on Highways and Roads to the State Affairs Committee.

Last week, Myrick said, Farm Bureau representatives and county judges and commissioners from all over Texas appeared in Austin before the Committee on Highways and Roads in opposition to the Graham Bill, which would take thousands of dollars out of the counties, heretofore used for rural road building purposes.

The bill was killed in Committee by a vote of 15 to 3, Myrick said. Unknown to the opponents of the bill, a member of the legislature appeared before the Committee in opposition to H. B. 226 and attacked Mr. Graham's integrity and made caustic remarks against his character.

In retaliation for the attack by one member of the House against another, the House as a whole the following morning suspended all rules and reported Graham's Bill out of the Highways and Roads Committee to the State Affairs Committee.

Overflow Crowd Attends Concert

The Carswell Air Force Band played to an overflow crowd at the Eastland High school auditorium Wednesday night to climax a day of band activity at the high school.

CWO Henry A. Gowers conducted the band in a well received concert.

Earlier in the day, the band had held a clinic for high school band students from Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge, Ranger, Gorman and Dublin.

A representative group of 60 players from the high school bands which were selected by Gowers, were directed by the Carswell conductor in two numbers during the evening concert.

T. R. Atwood, Eastland High band director, arranged the program.

Activity began at 1 p. m. with members of the Carswell band giving individual instructions to high school students in the afternoon.

Honors went to 14 Ranger musicians at the band clinic. The Ranger students chosen were:

Barbara Long, first chair clarinet; Linda Needham, second clarinet; Margaret Needham, second clarinet; Cynthia Hull, first trombone; Louaine Shafer, second trombone; Noel Kim, first cornet; Shirley Gray, second cornet; Johnny Gay, second cornet; Joyce Garvin, first horn; Janice Page, baritone; Bob Crawford, baritone; Billy Fox, tenor saxophone; Clara Mae Jacoby, bass horn and Ted Stiffler, bass drum.

Korea Photo Of Brother Surprises Mrs. W. F. Ford

It was a shock and surprise all rolled into one when Mrs. "Worth H. Ford of Ranger, glanced at the Times' front page Wednesday and saw a picture of her brother, Cpl. Thomas Merritt.

Cpl. Merritt was shown sitting atop a tank painted up like a tiger. It was a head-on view and there was no missing Cpl. Merritt who sat to the right of the tank's big gun.

Mrs. Ford said she was washing the dishes, and the paper was lying on the kitchen cabinet when she casually glanced at it. She was interested in the picture of the tank because it reminded her of her brother who is in Korea fighting with a tank crew. She never dreamed one of the four men pictured was her brother, until she read the names. And then came the shock and surprise.

Sunday Service To Be Part Of NG Drill Period

Sunday religious services will be an integral part of intensified week-end training for units of the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard, according to Major General Albert S. Johnson, division commander.

General Johnson has directed unit commanders to set aside a portion of the drill period for religious services to be conducted by a local civilian minister, a member of the outfit, or one of the division chaplains.

The intensified training, 12 additional drills, have been ordered by the National Guard Bureau to increase training in special skills and in general military subjects. All 12 drills will be completed before the first week in June as the 49th Armored Division will attend two weeks of summer camp at Fort Hood, Texas beginning June 10th.

Chaplain Jasper C. Masegosa conducted services for members of Service Battery, 648th Armored Artillery Battalion, during the drill held on Sunday, February 18.

RJC Judging Team To Compete At San Angelo

Ranger Junior College will send a four man judging team to the San Angelo Livestock Show which will be held March 1-3. The RJC team will compete against five other school teams on March 2.

The Junior College judging contest will include teams from Ranger, Paris, San Angelo, Weatherford, Wharton and Southwest Texas as Junior College. RJC's judging team is composed of Dick Hamun, Jim Patterson, Boyce Bryan and Jackie Poyner. W. M. Crow of the RJC faculty will accompany them.

Mrs. Jack Frost Guest Speaker For Meeting Of Eastland County Council At Wednesday's Meeting

Mrs. Jack Frost talked on the Red Cross drive for members of the Eastland County Home Demonstration Council at their meeting Wednesday in the county court room at the courthouse.

Mrs. John Love, chairman of the county for 1951 Red Cross drive for funds, introduced Mrs. Frost, who stressed in her talk the various local services of the Red Cross and told of the help Eastland County received at the time of the Desdemona disaster. She called the Red Cross the link between the civilians and the men in the service of our country. She thanked the council members for their splendid cooperation last year and praised their willingness in helping with the drive this year.

Mrs. Marcus Grieger, chairman, presided over the business session, during which delegates were elected to the district meeting to be held April 4-5th in Stephenville.

Mrs. Raymond Beck (Morton Valley Club), Mrs. Jess Turner (Flatwood Club), Mrs. Mack White (North Star Club), Mrs. A. H. Deen, (Cheaney Club), and Mrs. W. W. Fewell (Lake Cisco Club), were selected as delegates.

The committee chairman read their recommendations for the new year. The group voted to contribute to the "Pennies for Friendship" drive, a fund that provided financial help for associated county women of the world and Country Women's Council.

Miss Evelyn Bigby, assistant county home demonstration agent, talked on the work of the girl's 4-H Clubs and told of the two new clubs organized this year.

Mrs. Love distributed material for the coming drive for funds for 1951.

Mrs. J. M. Justice and Mrs. C. S. Sturles lead in the recreation hour with a Doctor I. Q. quiz.

Nine clubs were represented with twenty-four members and thirty visitors present.

Auxiliary Social, Wed.

The American Legion Auxiliary met Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. R. E. Johnson with Mrs. John Usery as hostess.

Committee reports were given and refreshments were served to Mmes. A. H. Powell, T. E. Hale, Charles Cox, Laura Melton, Lee Chaham, R. V. Patterson, W. T. Ewert, Con Hazard, R. E. Johnson and the hostess, Mrs. John Usery.

Occupational Hazard
 MEMPHIS, Ten. (UP)—Carl Plan, says his greatest danger in enforcing game laws comes from men engaged in illegal whiskey-making. The conservation officer finds the moonshiners mistake him for a revenue agent prowling the woods and shoot at him.

THE STORY: Paul Twine has taken his sister Judy Twine from the child's unworthy mother and is being sought by police on a technical charge of kidnapping. May Jenkins, a West Virginia girl, insists on holding Paul and in New York May takes Judy to a rooming house while Paul tries to contact a man capable of finding her. Judy who is dressed like a boy and tells the police that Judy's playmate Harry is her son. Harry does not answer Judy's description. Meanwhile, Paul is trying to locate Captain Jaboe by phone.

beration. You don't sail with a ship for two years without knowing something about it. He had been in that office only once, but he had seen and heard the company's name a hundred times, no a thousand times. Maybe more. And what of this crazy business about Cross of the Dolphin?

Something was weirdly wrong. He sat facing the impressive black telephone, concentrating on the mystery; then he impetuously jumped up, dashed from the booth and out of the store. He walked rapidly for three blocks before he slackened his pace.

The thought that had provoked his sudden activity frightened him. His Navy record was accessible to the FBI. They knew everything he had done in the past. What a fool he had been not to realize that just as he had thought promptly and naturally of fleeing the country through the help of his friend Jaboe, the FBI would have followed the same line of reasoning!

With a shudder he faced the realization that the farewell phone conversation had been a stall. While the girl had confused and delayed him, the call had undoubtedly been traced. Apprehensively he looked back over his shoulder.

PAUL cursed his luck as he dodged through the dense crowds on Broadway. The way to escape through Jaboe was blocked. All his hopes had been pinned on that. Now what? Without such help there was little or no chance of leaving the country. Where could they go that offered a safe haven?

He searched frantically for an answer but he found none. For the moment at least, Jaboe still was the only logical solution, but how could he ever hope to contact him now?

Paul raked his mind for everything he could recall of Jaboe's life. Martin Jaboe was single. He had no family. Both his parents had died in a fire many years before. He was at sea so much more than he was in port that his friends were casual. Casual and scattered. Paul couldn't recall one person that Jaboe ever had mentioned as being close to him.

Paul continued to walk and to think. He tried to recall Jaboe's accounts of how he spent his time between sailings when the ship was docked in New York. Frequently they had been together and it was always just the two of them, making the rounds of bars, good restaurants, maybe an occasional show. They'd always managed to find some girls, but not girls Jaboe had known before. No help there.

He kept probing, digging back. There had been countless long bull sessions on the ship. You learn everything there is to know about a man when you sail with him trip after trip, when you've sweated out as many close ones together as they had. Like a glimmer of light at the end of a long tunnel it began to come back to him.

THEY had been talking about marriage one night. Jaboe had said that you couldn't be a skipper of a tanker and a husband too without neglecting one job or the other. He loved the sea. He liked his job. That was why he stayed shy of the one girl who had ever made him "feel funny" every time he saw her.

Jaboe had gone with her until he had become aware of how deep the relationship had become for both of them and then he had stopped cold and avoided her. He was afraid he'd get in so deep that he'd do something that would mess up her life or his.

The girl. He had said who the girl was! Paul even remembered that he had seen her and could understand his friend's feelings. Who was she? Names. Girl's names flowed through his mind, but none of them clicked. He tried going through the alphabet. That trick had worked for him before. When he got to the right letter the name he had been groping for would pop into his mind. It didn't work.

Maybe he didn't know the girl's name. Maybe he had just seen her. Of course!

West Coast Draws Hint Of Cage Scandal

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (UP)—The threatened spread of basketball's biggest bribery scandal from this shocked city to other parts of the nation drew denials from West Coast officials today that there was any "fixing" in their area.

The replies by leading coaches followed the revelation by former San Francisco Coach Pete Newell that two of his players had been offered bribes, and his accusation that there was "plenty" of gambling on games in the Pacific Coast area.

Newell particularly named Portland, Ore., as a gambling "hotbed."

Head Coach John Warren of the University of Oregon said any charges of "fixing" games were "absurd." He said Portland was a "minor basketball town," and added his teams have been playing in San Francisco for years and "nothing out of the ordinary ever happened."

But at East Lansing, Mich., the slim, dark-haired Newell, now coach of Michigan State, said his San Francisco players Don Logan and Frank Kuzara were offered bribes last season.

At Peoria, Ill., Kuzara confirmed Newell's revelation. He said a mysterious telephone caller offered him and Logan "from $500 to $600 each, not to throw the game, but to cut down our margin" in a game against Southern California. Kuzara said they refused the offer and wouldn't answer later telephone calls from the same man.

Meanwhile, the New York grand jury which yesterday heard opening evidence in the case against eight players and one other man arrested here on bribery charges was not scheduled to hear further evidence until next Monday.

Careful Menu Planning Can Save Food Cost

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 22 — With skyrocketing food prices facing the homemaker each time she goes grocery shopping, saving menus and careful planning are becoming more and more necessary. Frances Reasonover, assistant foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas A & M College Extension Service, has a few tips for homemakers to remember when buying food.

First, she says, buy those foods which are in season and are plentiful. Right now plentiful foods include onions, apples, oranges, potatoes, celery, rutabagas, pork and frozen fish.

Next, she advocates using the Texas Food Standard as a guide and food plan. A copy of this may be secured from county Extension agents. If this standard is followed, the homemaker will know that she is receiving foods necessary for good nutrition. Miss Reasonover says that when families are poorly fed, usually the foods they omit are most often milk and milk products, green, leafy vegetables, and citrus fruits.

Another point to remember, Miss Reasonover says, is that bargains are true economy only when the commodity is of good quality as well as low in price. For "cheaper nutrition" but still the correct food value, the specialist suggests buying low cost items such as chuck roast, rather than a standing rib roast; canned peas rather than frozen peas; lard versus vegetable shortening; margarine instead of butter; oatmeal in place of prepared cereals; molasses rather than maple syrup; and potatoes instead of potato chips or canned French fries.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., (UP)—Mike Abt's plan to have several hungry hound dogs baying at two live possums on an Old South float for a parade was upset when a well-meaning woman fed them so many winners that they slept the entire route of the parade.

Cops Grab 83 Slot Machines In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 22 (UP)— Felony gambling charges were prepared today against operators of establishments where officers took 83 slot machines in the biggest series of gambling raids in Fort Worth history.

Eighteen policemen and 10 investigators from the district attorney's office teamed up yesterday to strike swiftly at swank country clubs, veteran organization clubs, golf courses, roadhouses and private clubs.

"There weren't any protests when they saw we meant business," said Police Chief George Hawkins.

The value of the machines confiscated ranged from $100 to $1,000 each.

Hawkins declined to comment on whether there was any connection between the raids and a current investigation by a special Tarrant County grand jury into rumors of gambling protection payoffs.

District Attorney Stewart Hellman said felony charges of operating gaming machines had been filed against operators of the Glen Garden, Colonial and Rivercrest Clubs where the bulk of the machines, 57 in all, were found. The fast-moving raiders struck at 13 places. They failed to find machines at only one establishment.

The "one-armed handits," jammed with coins ranging from nickels to silver dollars, were taken to police headquarters, where jail prisoners unloaded them and stacked them in a vault.

One of the machines taken paid off only in golf balls—with the jackpot belching up 10 balls.

Buses afford sole local mass transportation in 4,100 U. S. communities.

Oo-la-la French Line May Be OK But American Singer Tires Of It

By John Rosenthal
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, (UP)—A popular "French" singer named Yvette has decided to change her style and "go American."

It shouldn't be too hard since she (1) has never been in France; (2) was born Elsa Harris in Birmingham, Ala., and (3) has enough power in her voice to crack the plaster.

She explained she began singing the whispy French "bed-room ballads" to gain recognition when she broke into show business 10 years ago.

"I knew I had to find a gimmick to get started," she said. "Singers were a dime-a-dozen at that time."

Her style caught on, however, and brought greater success than she dared dream of. At present she's singing in the swank Perlan Room of the Plaza Hotel at $1,250 a week.

Now that she's in the big time, Yvette has decided to change her style. To begin with, she says folks are getting tired of the sexy French numbers. Then, too, they limit her ability.

"The French love songs don't leave much room for versatility," she said. "I want to do more comedy and unless I get away from my old style, I can't do it."

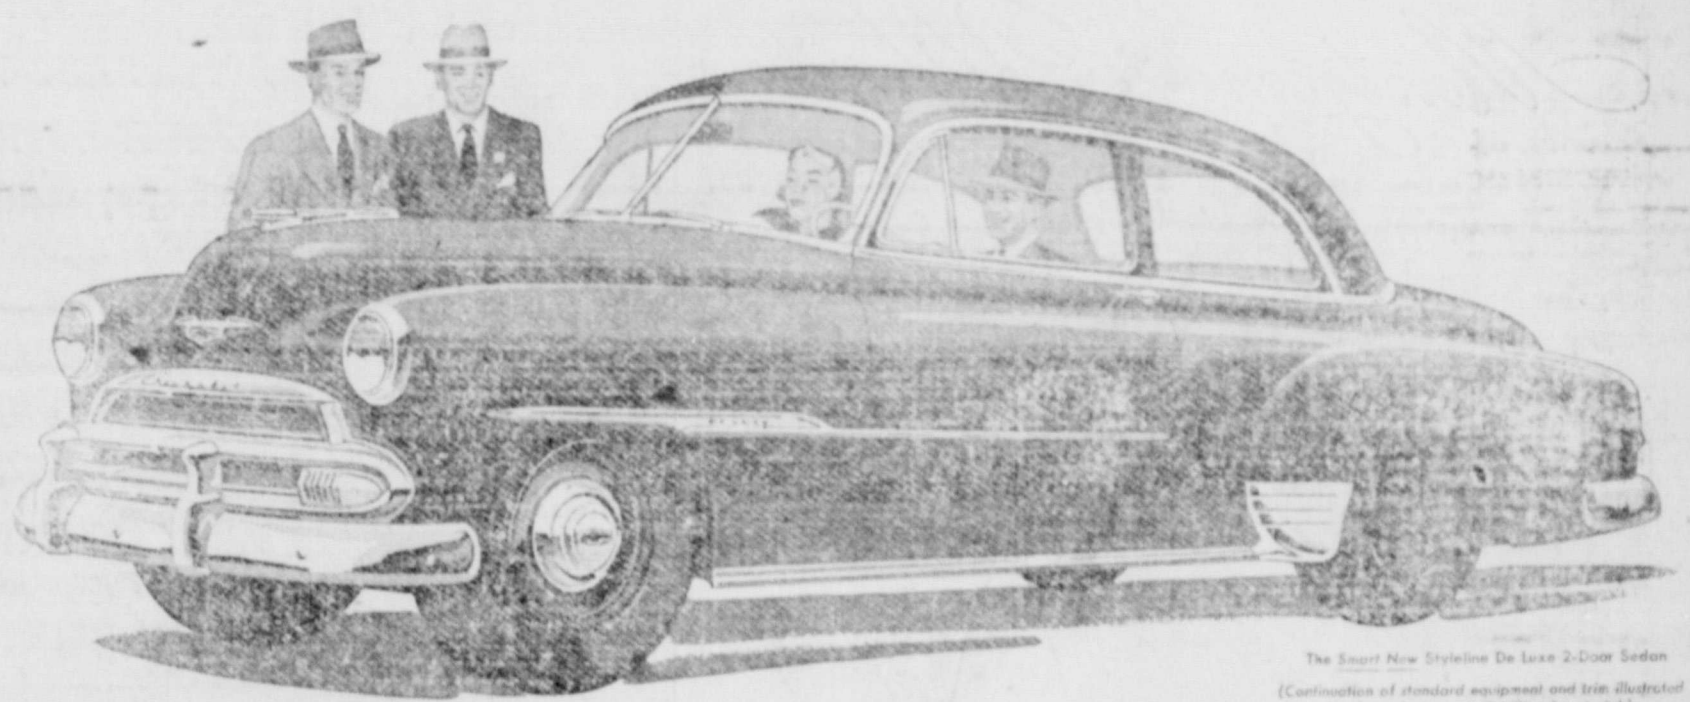

She said she also is weary of playing the role of a Frenchwoman. "Everywhere I go," she said, "people think I am French. In restaurants, for example, the waiters insist on speaking to me in French and foist French foods on me."

"I don't want to hurt their feelings, so I go along with it. But it sure gets tiresome." Yvette said she was having difficulties making the switch to a straight, American-style. People just won't believe she can sing tunes like "Milk Train," or cowboy rhythm numbers. She can and does, as she has a big voice.

Her name, however, has presented the greatest problem. She wants to change it, but claims club owners won't hire her if she does.

"They say I have made a name for myself as Yvette and that they're not going to pay my price for a name their customers have never heard of," she said. "They won't even let me make it 'Yvette Smith.'"

SCENES AROUND RANGER

By John Chopelas

There's nothing slack about oil activity around Ranger. I should have said "in Ranger" for, now, a location has been made inside the city, out by the cotton gin. For several months, most of the oil news was limited to the Jackson Pool, 12 miles northeast of Ranger. Latest location is a mile within the city limits—just about seven blocks north of Main Street.

This basin extends by a mile and a half. They have located a well a half mile east of their city limit—which we still call 8 miles west of Ranger.

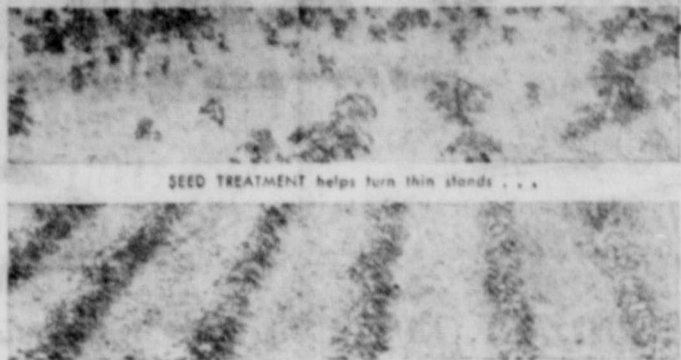

I look for the Rangers to grab the zone cage crown tonight. Cisco will be out for that do-or-die effort but IJC packs just a little too much basketball superiority for the Wranglers—although it would hardly be an upset if Cisco won. The two teams are natural rivals and have been giving the fans some good games.

Now comes a state bill that would direct officials of all state-supported schools to grant radio and television rights of football games to the highest bidder. It was introduced by Rep. R. E. (Pep) Blount of Big Spring, a former Longhorn Gridder. As he put it—"If the taxpayers can't get to the game, for any reason, he most certainly should be able to see the team play that he helped support..." I agree with him. Nothing will stop the avid grid fan from seeing a game at the stadium—they will, and have, braved all the elements of the weather—flooded with pneumonia, suffered sun-stroke and frost-bite (such as at the Ranger-DeLeon game last season—never forget that game.) I don't think the gate receipts will suffer because of television. TV just can't quiet take the place of being right there and watching the game. But those who prefer to see their football from the warm comforts of the living room should have the opportunity to do so—especially where the games of state-supported schools are concerned.

A chuckle—A newly married couple were riding along on the Mid-Nite Express, enroute to Niagara Falls. They were in their late thinning yields

As a cotton planter, you can expect four-way benefits from one simple operation you can perform on your own farm, or have done for you. It consists of planting seed that has been treated with an organic mercury dust. Its results include:

1. Control of most of the seed rot or decay that reduces your stands before the seeds can sprout.
2. Control of seedling blight caused by bacteria in your soil or seeds that attack the tender seedlings.
3. Control of anthracnose or pink boll disease, another germ-caused ailment that results in smaller crops of poor-grade, spotty cotton.
4. Control of bacterial blight or angular leaf spot that kills your cotton plants or stunts their growth.

Experiment Station figures show yield increases of 5% to 40% as a result of seed treatment. This means up to $12 per acre added to your income. Cost of the chemical amounts to less than 10¢ per acre.

Those who recommend seed treatment stress the fact it should be correctly used—applied to the seed according to directions, and in the right amounts. The cotton planter has too much at stake, they say, to risk cutting corners on the use of less than recommended amounts, or skipping any steps of the fairly simple seed-treating process. The treatment can be done by many ginners and dealers. Ask your County Agent about the value of seed treatment and where you can get this service in this vicinity.

Justice Dept. Says No Commies Sneak Into US

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (UP) — The Justice Department said today there is no evidence that Communists are crossing into the United States in the guise of imported Mexican farm workers.

A spokesman said the border, like any place where aliens might enter, is being carefully watched at all times by immigration and naturalization inspectors and FBI agents. Reports that Communists have resorted to the Mexican route are current on the West Coast.

The spokesman said that among the hundreds of thousands of Mexican farm workers who have entered, there has been "only one case of a Mexican laborer being identified definitely as a Communist." He said this did not occur recently.

The spokesman said there is no basis for reports that Communist literature had been found on Mexican laborers. He said immigration officers constantly turn back laborers who do not have proper work certificates.

WHY SUFFER?

Due to a Lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Nicotin!

There's no need to feel bad... no need to look ahead to years of discomfort and unhappiness... if you are suffering from a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Nicotin. Thousands, like Florence Kirk of 418 E. Sycamore Street, Blytheville, Arkansas, have found that HADACOL relieves the cause of distress due to such deficiencies and prevents its return. She says: "I was weak, rundown, could hardly do my housework. Now, I have been taking HADACOL 3 months, I feel so much better, eat well and sleep good. I feel like a younger woman although I am 64 years old."

Why doubt? Why wait? Learn why folks are saying that only HADACOL gives you that Wonderful HADACOL Feeling. Recommended by many doctors. Money-back guarantee. Trial size, $1.25; large family or hospital size, $3.50. ©1951, The Leblanc Corporation

We Like To Talk About Abstracts—

... because making abstracts has been our business for many years. And it is an interesting subject. Every day people come to us with their title problems. Some cases are tragic. Take the example of the couple who have spent their all for a home to find out later they have no title. Most title problems are simple and the abstracts helps to make them simple. So before buying real estate of any kind have the title examined.

"WING THING" BEATS DARIUS GREEN—Rolo Ewers, wealthy La Junta, Colo., inventor, realized a 50-year dream when he flew his nylon-and-spruce "wing" a distance of 150 yards at an altitude of 30 feet, all under the power of his own muscles. The 30-foot wing—built for $100—gets its power when the pilot bounces on a sponge rubber cross below the "cockpit." Said Ewers after his flight, which was his first trip off the ground in "any kind of flying machine": "I don't care what the world thinks. We've done it, that's all."

Goldthwaite Man Offers To Give British Duplicate Of Stolen Stone

GOLDTHWAITE, Tex., Feb. 22 (UP)—E. B. Adams chiseled away today at his monument works south of Goldthwaite on a duplicate of the famed British Stone of Scone.

His project to duplicate the missing stone—stolen from under Britain's coronation chair in Westminster Abbey the day after Christmas last year—was well under way. Adams waited only for word on how to make a gift to a sovereign—in this case, King George VI.

Adams wrote Sir Oliver Franks in Washington—after getting approval from the U. S. State Department—that he's working on the replica of the missing stone and asked advice on presenting it to the king.

Adams wrote on behalf of the Monument Builders of the Southwest, Inc., of which he is secretary-treasurer, offering the replica as partial compensation for his majesty's loss of the ancient symbol of British kings.

The Goldthwaite monument builder said today, however, that he wanted it made clear that his organization is making no effort to replace the real Stone of Scone in British sentiment, as one Canadian letter writer reminded him it was impossible to do anyway.

Adams wrote to Sir Oliver, the British ambassador to the United States, that the monument builders were "well aware that there can be no recompense for the sentimental value of the symbol." He said the monument men offered the replica as "an expression of the friendship between your people and our people."

Insulated Skirts To Keep Girls' Knees Cool

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (UP)—It looks like a cool and carefree summer ahead, with insulated cotton skirts to keep the girls' knees cool and water-repellent suits for walking in the rain.

You could also wear one of the suits when you were in the mood to spill coffee in your lap.

The fabric, called "repel-o-tized" by the manufacturers, is being made up into ladies' suits for the first time, according to David Crystal.

To convince doubters that the rayon suits really can come through rain, coffee or Coca-Cola, the salesmen blithely pour any or all of the liquids on fabric samples in Crystal's showroom.

"One girl said she poured India ink on it and got it off," commented a company official. "But we're not swearing to it." They also constructed a fish bowl of the material complete with gold fish, to prove it would not absorb water.

The suits are made up in different weaves, to resemble sharkskin and spun rayon. They'll be in the stores, selling for $25, next month.

The insulated cotton skirt is the work of designer Barbara Harondess MacLean. She created a quilted cotton print skirt with a taffeta lining for leisure wear. Between taffeta and cotton, she insisted, was insulated cotton bating to keep out the heat.

For those who use something that looks breezy, insulated or not, Miss MacLean whipped up an airy summer dress out of Irish curtain material. Mod of London is manufacturing her designs.

The curtain dress is white mesh with a blue wave pattern, cut with a V-neck both front and back, and a wide, built-in waistband. A white taffeta slip goes under it.
