* "As you know, the price of choice calves in this area has dropped from 38 cents per pound to 15 or 16 cents per pound on the current market. Some grades of cattle are selling today as low as 5 cents per pound. In fact, last week I sold some cows, and they were not in bad shape, at 6 cents. By way of comparison, you can not that watermelons are selling here in Dallas at 51/2 to 6 cents

"Of course, this situation has developed for a number of rea-sons, which include the terrible drouth which parts of our country are now experiencing, the dif-ficult problem of moving beef into consumer channels when a great segment of the consuming public in the eastern United States is still under the false impression that meat is selling too high, and the high operating costs with which the cattlemen must contend. However, one of the factors which caused the situation to go past point of being a bad one and ome a critical one is a factor (Continued Of Page 4)
