

Regular Licensing of Nursing Homes In State Gets Underway

AUSTIN (Spl.) — Regular licensing of nursing homes operating in Texas got underway this week, the State Department of Health said today.

The department has been issuing temporary licenses since last July to both nursing and convalescent homes. Regular licensing has been delayed until the State Board of Health approved minimum operating standards formulated by the department.

The board unanimously approved operating standards for nursing homes at its December 14 meeting, but standards of operation for convalescent homes have not yet been acted on.

The department was charged by the last legislature with the responsibility for seeing that elderly residents in nursing and convalescent homes are properly housed, fed and attended to when ill.

A nursing home can be granted a permanent license after a trained inspector has checked its method of operation for compliance with the law, State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox said. The license must be renewed each year.

"We've got a responsibility to fulfill to our elderly citizens," Dr. Cox said. "We'd rather fulfill it by cooperating with nursing home operators, rather than resorting to police tactics."

Non-compliance with minimum operating standards will mean a denial of license, and operating without a license will mean a fine. Inspectors will work through local health officials whenever possible, Dr. Cox said.

Under terms of the law, a nursing home is an institution that gives routine medical and nursing care to residents. Convalescent homes are defined as institutions giving custodial care but not nursing or medical care.

Any home, the law says, where 4 or more residents unrelated to the owner are furnished services beyond board, room, and laundry will fall under a nursing or convalescent home classification.

ALL TANKED UP—Latest thing to move a tank across water to a combat area is the T-15 flotation device, developed by Army Ordnance. Equipped with a portable power plant, it can float a 47-ton tank indefinitely. Designed for emergency use only, the T-15 is portable and can be assembled in a short time. While on the ground it travels at about 30 miles per hour. Its speed in water has not been disclosed. Developed at the Detroit Arsenal, the device will soon be contracted out to private industry.

For Defense $85,000; For God $8,500

For national defense the American people have spent approximately $85,000 a minute throughout the year 1953; foreign aid has cost another $11,000 a minute, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

But during 1953 we Americans have enjoyed a total national income of nearly $600,000 a minute, the bureau calculates. Out of this income we have paid taxes to the federal government at the rate of $135,000 a minute, along with another $38,000 a minute to state and local tax collectors.

During 1953 the American people contributed $8,500 a minute in religious, charitable and educational donations, and spent $17,000 a minute for alcoholic beverages, the bureau statisticians calculate. In case you're curious, but too tired to figure it out for yourself, there are just 525,600 minutes in a year.

NEW INSTRUMENT MEASURES AMOUNT OF SALT IN WATER

For centuries men have spoken of the "salty sea" and the "briny deep." But until relatively recent years, no one bothered to find out how much salt was there or how it was distributed.

Recent developments in warfare and research, however, make it mandatory that some method be found for quickly and easily measuring not only the precise amount of salt present, but also the tiny but important changes in salinity readings caused by temperature variation.

One example is the submarine commander. In order to fight effectively — even to steer his ship safely — he must know the salt content in terms of parts per thousand, and temperature variations accurate to two decimal places.

No suitable instrument existed for this purpose during World War II, nor even during the Korean action. But it exists now, through the efforts of a researcher in the Oceanography Department at Texas A. and M. College.

Called a "salinometer," which means a meter of salinity or salt content, the device was developed by Dr. K. E. Harwell, an organic chemist by training.

Using the electrical conductance of salt and water — actually measuring the increased conductivity of water as salt is added — the device is complete except for calibration of the temperature coefficient phase.

Any electrical frequency useful to radio can be used by the salinometer to measure the precise salt content and temperature of a stream of water which flows constantly through it while a ship is in motion, or is pumped through while the ship is at rest.

The device will make it possible for the first time for these measurements to be taken by direct reading in a manner even approximating the degree of accuracy needed, and within a useful time span. Formerly precision measurements were available only from land-based laboratories.

Funds for research on the problem were provided by the U.

S. Navy Bureau of Ships through a contract of the Texas A. and M. Research Foundation.

Dr. Harwell, the man who developed the salinometer, received his bachelor of science degree from Baylor University, and his master and doctoral degrees from the University of Texas in organic chemistry.

Before joining the A. and M. College staff he worked as research chemist and special problems chemist for several chemical and oil companies.

Home-Made Bread and Coffee - A Team to Remember

Do you sometimes find yourself yearning for a slice of honest-to-goodness warm new bread, glistening with butter, washed down with a cup of fresh hot coffee? If so, here's the perfect recipe for you - Casserole Poppy Seed Bread, a fine-textured, easy-to-bake loaf with a tasty crust.

If you've never made bread before, you'll find this an easy recipe to learn on. There have been so many improvements in the technique of bread-making that it is no longer the long-drawn-out process it once was. Casserole Poppy Seed Bread needs only one rising period and a minimum of mixing. More important, it requires no special equipment, such as bread pans. It's baked in an ordinary two-quart casserole, or even in an oven-proof skillet if you don't have a casserole. One hour after putting it in the oven you have a close-textured, spicy round loaf, an old-fashioned home-baked shape with that old-fashioned home-baked flavor.

If there are any members within reach, they'll gravitate magically to the kitchen once that unmistakable new bread smell starts wafting their way. That's why new bread rarely has a chance to grow stale. As soon as it's out of the oven you're apt to find yourself inveigled

Indigestion Can Prove Serious

Indigestion is so common that many persons hardly give it a thought. So-called indigestion may be caused by trouble in the digestive tract itself or somewhere else in the body. The reason trouble elsewhere in the body may cause indigestion is that the digestive tract, and especially the stomach, is very sensitive to disturbances in other parts of the body. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns not to doctor yourself because indigestion can be due to so many causes that you are apt to be wrong, and delay in seeing your doctor may be serious.

Indigestion appears in various ways. There is the kind that hits suddenly and violently, with pain, nausea or vomiting and takes the "starch" right out of you. Then there is the kind that creeps up on you, manifesting itself in a feeling of fullness after eating, that lump in your middle, or maybe a burning sensation or gnawing feeling a few hours after eating. Other symptoms are excessive gas, constipation, diarrhea and a sour bad taste.

Dr. Cox says that indigestion is not necessarily dangerous, but can cause you to miss enjoying life. It may interfere with your work or your sleep and may make you

This new T-800 Series tandem axle truck is the first tandem unit ever built by Ford. The biggest payload carrier in the 1954 Ford Triple Economy truck line, it handles payloads (with body) up to 29,943 lbs. As a tractor it pulls a gross combination of 60,000 lbs. within legal limits of most states. Factory-built, it has a front end and frame engineered for tandem operation and the tandem suspension permits "level-load" distribution regardless of the uneven surface traveled. Powered by a new low-friction 170-h.p. Power King V-8, it has Master-Guide power steering available to reduce steering effort up to 75 per cent.

Board Meeting of TFWC In Austin

Mrs. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs has issued the official call for a meeting of the Board of Directors at Headquarters, Austin, Jan. 7-8, 1954.

Detailed plans for the work of the ten federation departments and their divisions will be discussed and approved during the two business sessions, scheduled for the afternoon of January 7th and the morning of January 8th.

The administration theme, "We Go From Strength to Strength" will be carried out through emphasis on four projects that have already been approved. These projects exemplify the diversity of club work.

The pursuance of adult education by groups working through the Epsilon Sigma Omicron Division of the Department of Education will be channeled from the Extension Divisions of accredited colleges or universities.

Indian Affairs, a division of the Public Affairs Department, will be directed to the Alabama-Coushatta Indian tribes on reservation near Livingston, Polk County. The Federation is one of the first organizations in the state to offer cooperation with the action of the 53rd Legislature which authorized the State of Texas to assume full trusteeship for the Alabama-Coushatta tribes. When Congressional approval of this transfer is accomplished through pending legislation, Texas will be the first state to assume the full responsibility for the development of the Indians living within its boundaries. The Texas Federation project will be to supplement existing recreational facilities; to provide scholarships that will allow Indian students a choice of colleges or universities for their higher education; to offer material assistance to the indigents; and to open an avenue of trade for the products and handicraft of the Indians.

The second step in the series of programs planned for the study of Mental Health for Effective Living, initiated at the eight district workshops at the beginning of the present club year, has been planned in the form of specialized meetings for areas interested in this program.

To encourage new club members to develop leadership, prizes will be announced for award to those who have developed worthwhile projects in their communities. The field of competition is for women who have been members of a federated club for at least two years, but not more than ten years.

Texas' further participation in the GFWC 1952-54 administration theme, "The Preservation of Our American Heritage," through a project to promote study of American History and assist in the restoration of Independence Hall, Philadelphia, will be presented through the Americanism Department and its related committees.

Other items scheduled for planning are the Federation's participation in the celebration of the Centennial of Education in Texas, as directed by the Texas Education Agency; and cooperation with the State Historical Survey Committee, created by the 53rd Legislature with an assignment to make an inventory of the historical records in need of attention and to suggest means of conserving them for future generations.

Mrs. A. T. Carleton, Houston, State Program Chairman, has arranged for Mrs. Lois Smith Douglas, head of the Human Relations Department of Baylor University, Waco, to be the speaker for the dinner program, January 7th, and for Dr. Blake Smith, pastor of the University Baptist Church, Austin, to address the group for the closing luncheon, January 8th.

February meetings will be announced the last week in January.

Musical Tree Did All Right For RHS Band

An original idea hatched in the head of Mrs. W. E. Chambers, secretary to R. V. Galloway, Chamber of Commerce manager, put $80 in the pocket of the Ranger High School band.

That was the total amount of "decorations" pinned on the "musical Christmas tree" put up in the C.C. window.

The idea was for Rangerites to pin greenbacks to the tree to show the band how much they were appreciated. Ranger surprised even Mrs. Chambers. She turned over the money to A. G. Koenig, Band Parents president, as a "present from Ranger."

Out Of Season Hunters Warned To Check Laws

AUSTIN (Sp.)—The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission cautioned hunters to watch out for wildlife protected by closed seasons.

He said he was prompted by a compilation showing that thirty-nine arrests have recently been reported for shooting game out of season.

The director said nineteen of the prosecutions involved shooting of mourning doves, and added that "several violations" concerned deer in areas where there was no open season at the time.

Cases against violators showed addresses to include: Bryan, San Antonio, Port Arthur, Beaumont, Houston, Corpus Christi, Wichita Falls, Victoria, Galveston, Paris, Pampa, Dallas, Fredericksburg, Kerrville, Llano, and Pleasanton.

The heaviest penalty paid by one individual was by a Rockdale man who assumed the personal responsibility for a headlighting foray involving himself and two companions. The three deer shot illegally, including one fawn and one doe, cost the man $750 plus court costs.

A South Texas man paid $500 and court costs for a solo raid on deer. The charges included headlighting, hunting in closed season, hunting from a car and purchasing a hunting license after previous license had been revoked.
