The record books are closed on the first season of Little League baseball in Ranger.

As the season ends it was unquestionably a successful season that went into the records. From the viewpoint of the officers and those who have been closely identified with the work of the League, this starting season of organized play for the young boys of Ranger far exceeded any expectations when the idea was first launched early last spring.

The success of this season cannot be credited to any one individual or any small group of individuals. A lot of people have been responsible for the program, and that is as it should be—a community project.

Of course much credit is due the sponsors, Killingsworth's for the Yankees; the Commercial State Bank for the Giants; Art's Tool and Supply for the Indians and Premier Oil Refining for the Dodgers.

The managers and their assistants have devoted many hours to the jobs they accepted and have carried out their responsibility to the boys. Some have worked at the job of helping these boys when it meant personal sacrifices. For the Yankees it was Archie Robinson and Bill Bradshaw; for the Giants, Charlie L. Garrett and J. S. Wilhelm; for the Dodgers, Ed Freeman and Curtis Blackwell and for the Indians, Rex Mitchell and Carl White.

Perhaps one of the most exacting jobs were those of the umpires. The Little League was indeed fortunate in its first season of play to have so capable a staff as Wilson Simpson, Dave Morgan and Jimmy Littlefield. Their job hasn't been easy, but for the love of the game and the desire to help the boys they have devoted a lot of time to the league. The old American custom of razing the umpire was evidenced throughout the season, but for the most part it was good natured kidding. They did an excellent job and are due the thanks of fans, players, managers and officers alike.

Bernie Milmo who has served as president of the league since shortly after the season started has done an excellent job. He has been deeply concerned with the affairs of the league and has given his best at seeing that things were operating smoothly at all times. Milmo has been thoroughly sold on the league and has allowed nothing to keep him from helping in every way possible.

There are other officers including Joe Daskevich who has served as vice president and announcer at the games. There is not a stronger booster for the league anywhere than Joe.

The work of another officer in the league, R. V. Robinson as player agent has been an important function to the success this first year.

No one individual has contributed more in time and work than has the secretary, Mrs. Carl White. She has worked unceasingly to do her job. It would seem at times that she was doing the work of several people. From outward appearances she had a busy program as housewife and with her church and other activities, but she always managed to see that the work of the league secretary was done well. Her part in the Little League has been two-fold. In addition to serving as secretary she has managed the concession stand and supervised the collection of funds for the league. All of the fans owe this woman a lot of praise for all of the things she has done this year, and they were a lot.

As plans for another year take shape, there must be consideration given to a program of expansion for the Little League. And in order (Continued on Page Two)

Galloway Says News On Lake Name Premature

Following a premature announcement by a small radio station of the name for the new Eastland county lake, R. V. Galloway, manager of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, Saturday issued the following statement:

The object of the lake naming contest which has just been concluded was to get statewide publicity for Ranger and Eastland and the new lake, which is a joint enterprise of the two towns, and as proof of the success of this venture on the part of the Eastland and Ranger Chambers of Commerce over 1,700 entries were received from 300 towns in Texas.

Each story sent out to newspapers and radio stations was mailed one week in advance with a release date given in order that all would have an even break.

The release carrying the story of the naming of the lake and the winner of the $100 prize was mailed Thursday of this week with a release date for the following Thursday—Aug. 5.

It is regrettable that a radio station failed to observe the release date as they and all other newspapers and stations had previously done, and broadcast the story the same day they received it. Our local newspapers had the same information but respected the release date and in fairness to them we think this explanation and apology is due.

Needless to say that the Eastland and Ranger Chambers of Commerce appreciate the splendid cooperation on the part of newspapers and radio stations of Texas, but regret very much that the story was released to the public before the release date, which put local papers especially, at a disadvantage.

Improved Prospects On Peanuts, Cotton

Light rains began falling throughout the Ranger area about 3 a.m. Saturday and by mid-morning had accounted for an estimated average of a half inch of moisture.

A check with the Texas and Pacific lines indicated that the rainfall had extended only as far west as Cisco at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. However, heavy rains had been reported to the east and northeast of this section.

An early morning report listed an estimated inch of rainfall at Stephenville. A heavy rain was reported early this morning between Fort Worth and Weatherford. Rain was also reported early this morning at Mineral Wells.

Widely scattered showers and heavy downpours had been reported from isolated sections in central Texas, Friday afternoon and evening.

The present rain, according to weather bureau reports, was shipped up out of the Gulf of Mexico by reason of a hurricane at sea, and heavy rainfall was dumped on the Texas coastal area. The moisture laden clouds were moving inland and more showers and cooler weather was predicted through Sunday.

The hurricane brewed storm is reported to have caused rainfall totalling 14 inches in some areas in Harris county, and as much as six inches in Houston alone.

The rainfall was welcomed by farmers and ranchers alike. With all pasture grass seemingly gone, some have expressed hope that there is enough moisture to start some new grass. Should more rain follow, the prospect for fall pastures grass is greatly improved.

The rain appeared to be general throughout the peanut producing belt with about a half-inch average, this will greatly brighten peanut crop prospects. T. C. Wylie, manager of the Ranger Peanut Company, said a spot check indicated that this light rain would be of much benefit to the peanut crop. Although he added, it is not enough to make a crop, but will carry the peanuts a while longer, and if more rains follow, a good crop could be produced.

The rains came too late to aid feed crops, but will be of some help to cotton.

Rationing Of Water Is Lifted In Ranger

NOTHING WRONG WITH THE "CHASSIS"—Speaking of the ancient auto model, of course. Joyce Gamrath, 17, of Dearborn, Mich., doesn't have to do a thing to improve the picture—er, auto model. It's a miniature car, circa 1906, and is in perfect running order. It was built for display purposes in the early days of the auto industry, by the late Ransome E. Olds

A by-product of the early morning rain in Ranger was the announcement shortly before noon Saturday that there would be temporary lifting of water rationing restrictions by the City of Ranger.

The city has been able to maintain a full tower of water since the restriction was imposed Tuesday, halting the outside use of water on gardens, lawns, shrubs and trees.

O. L. Cantrell, water commissioner, said it was thought that with the light rain, together with the fact that the city has a full tower of water in storage, it would be possible to lift the restrictions.

Dr. Calvin Harris, mayor, and Les Crossley, city manager, joined Cantrell in thanking the Ranger citizens for their cooperation in observing the rationing order. It was explained that unless there is another acute water storage problem it is not contemplated that rationing will have to be imposed.

It was pointed out that should the storage problem arise again, it might be necessary to take steps to maintain the supply as a safeguard to the entire city. Before the outside watering ban was adopted, the city's supply of water in storage was far below a safe point in the event of an emergency.

The problem in Ranger has not been one of supply but rather it has been one of storage and distribution as the use of water has been greater than the capacity of the present pumping plant.

Completion Of Well South of Eastland Made

The No. 2 J. V. Harbin has been completed nine miles south of Eastland by Jack Hailey, et al, of Cisco as a regular field producer. The well is in Section 10, block 2, H&TC Survey.

Daily potential was 12 barrels of 40 gravity oil, plus 50 per cent water, pumping from open hole at 1,203-08 feet. Top-of-pay was 1,205 feet.

In other area oil news, Robert Preston, operating from Brownwood, has staked location for a new project in Stephens County's Jackson - Strawn Field.

It will be the No. 1 - B Robert Jackson, 12 miles northeast of Ranger. Slated for 1,850 feet with combination tools, it spots 990 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west lines of the southeast quarter of Section 77, block 4, T&P Survey.

Indian Relics, Prehistoric Finds Form Interesting TCU Collection

A large collection of Indian relics and fragments of ancient American animals, including scores of phytosaur-dinosaur teeth, has been placed on permanent loan to Texas Christian University at Fort Worth by J. B. Elliston of Hereford, Texas.

The exhibits, housed in glass-topped boxes, will be used by several departments of the university in the study of history, geology, archaeology and other areas.

A small, energetic West Texas, Elliston began collecting 60 years ago when the family lived in the Indian Territory. His interest grew when the family moved to a ranch near Palo Duro Canyon in the Panhandle in 1899.

"Over the years, I've picked up a little archaeology, paleontology and some geology," he grins. "I'm no scholar in the formal sense but I like to collect these old things."

In pursuit of his hobby, Elliston who is now in the real estate business, has ranged all over the U.S. and Canada. He estimates he's collected 20,000 pieces, some of which are on display at the University of Texas and Baylor. He has some 8,000 pieces on exhibit at Coronado Lodge in Palo Duro Canyon.

He likes to start others, especially young people, in the same field. All of his grandchildren are collectors and he's pointed many other youngsters toward a collecting career. He feels that such hobbies are one answer to juvenile delinquency.

"Young people really interested in this field just don't have time to get into trouble," he feels.

Elliston brought some of his collection to TCU this week. He plans to present the rest after displaying it at his 50th wedding anniversary celebration in Hereford this fall.

The exhibit includes pieces of fossilized dinosaur hide and teeth found in Palo Duro just east of Canyon; well-preserved dinosaur vertebrae found south of San Jon, N.M.; dinosaur "grizzard stones" believed to be 165,000,000 years old from the Big Horn Mountains; a section of a prehistoric elephant tooth found north of Hereford.

There are also some "Folsom Points" thought to be over 15,000 years old for which Elliston refused $500. One stone axe head, found near Santa Rosa, N.M., is believed to be over 26,000 years old.

Other Indian relics, many from the Navajo country, include beaded bags, knives arrow heads, drills, scrapers bread stones, pots, tomahawks and other items.

Also included are huge oyster shells picked up far inland in Oregon, bullets and other items from the battle field at the Little Big Horn, samples of uranium ore and other things.

Yankees Are Champions For 1954

Giants Finish In Second As Season Closes

The Yankees of Ranger's Little League, sponsored by Killingsworth's of Ranger, are league champions by reason of their 12 to 6 victory over the Giants sponsored by the Commercial State Bank in the first game of a double-header Thursday night, which was closing night in league play for this season.

Until the last inning when the Yankees managed to get five runs across it had been a tough and go battle between the two teams. Players on both teams started the game under pressure with the result that there were frequent errors due to the tension. Despite this condition the game was perhaps the fastest played during the entire season.

The Yankees had a one game lead on first place and were out to hold that position, while the Giants were seeking to win, in which case they could have ended the season in a tie for first place and been named co-champions. The impromptu celebration and its excitement following this game caused a several minutes delay in the brief program scheduled between the two games Thursday night.

With Joe Daskevich, vice president of the league presiding, a number of people who had been responsible for the success of the league's first season in Ranger were recognized, including sponsors, team managers and assistants, league officers and others.

Bernie Milmo, league president, spoke briefly outlining some of the achievements of the season and pointing to future plans for the league.

At the conclusion of the brief ceremony, Certificates of Merit were presented to nine players

Dodgers Beat Indians 20-11 In The Finale

The final Little League game of the season was the second of the year to be called because of the expiration of time limit.

The Dodgers, sponsored by Premier Oil Refining Company, hosted the Indians sponsored by Art's Tool and Supply, by a score of 20 to 11. The game was called at the end of four and one-half innings.

Both team managers in this last game used every man on their rosters in the wind-up of the season. The Indians used four pitchers, and the Dodgers used an equal number.

In both the first and second innings the Dodgers pushed across seven runs each time, and had a five run rally in the fourth. Home runs were credited to Ronnie Wynn and Gerald Dempsey in the second inning, and to Tommy Ford in the fourth.

Mickey Craig got a home run in the fourth inning.

The line-ups:

er to do that, it is going to require the work, a lot of work, by a lot more people next year. To you fans, who have enjoyed this season, and while the interest in the league is still strong, let me suggest that you make a resolution to actively join in next year's program. Make a mental note now that you will be on hand when calls are issued for meetings in the future.

Above all there is a group that should be thanked. It is the 60 boys who have played the games. These boys, we believe, are due congratulations from all of us for the wonderful season they have produced. They have played hard, fairly and displayed wonderful sportsmanship throughout the season. We know they will be ready next spring to be off to a fine start.

Elsewhere in this issue you will find a story regarding a collection of Indian relics and other items which are now on permanent loan to TCU at Fort Worth. This old country boy has a personal interest in this collection. The man responsible, J. B. Ellison of Hereford, Texas, was at one time the president of a chamber of commerce while I served as its secretary-manager. Texas has never had a more energetic civic worker for whatever cause to which he may have dedicated his services. One of his pet projects was the sponsorship of the Palo Duro State Park. He was a driving force behind the creation of the park, and has been its champion for over 20 years. He has been a traveling press agent for the park, his home area and Texas as a whole, in his travels over the country. His interest in "rocks and bones" was first started during the early days of promoting the Palo Duro park, and has grown to be a mighty big hobby with him in the years since. Years ago, as we explored the Palo Duro, they not accessible to the public, Ellison was always interested in hunting out Indian camp sites of the days gone by, and some of his discoveries have developed into interesting archaeological findings.

Whatever happened to the old-time summer picnics that amounted to combined reunions and carnivals. Some of my first memories of riding a merry-go-round was at picnics of this sort, usually sponsored by the local Woodmen lodge. I must be getting older than I like to admit, when I let my mind wander back to events like the old-time picnics. —few—

Rip Galloway is both embarrassed and unhappy these days.

The best expression to fit the situation which comes to mind at the moment is one on which I need help from some school teacher. It seems to me that it was Shakespeare who said something about the best laid plans of mice and men oft go awry.

Well the plans of the Ranger and Eastland Chambers of Commerce, regardless of how well laid went awry on announcing the new lake name which the Eastland County Water Supply District board of directors had selected following the contest held to get a name.

The failure by a radio station to observe the average newsman's code of ethics of keeping confidences and observing the release date on the news item resulted in a premature announcement of the name for the new lake. The Chambers of Commerce in both cities had worked closely in cooperation with the project throughout and had promised all newspapers an even break at the time the name was released. It was not possible to mail out the news releases after the name was chosen in order for it to reach all papers, weeklies and dailies alike, for a joint publication date this past week. Therefore, the date for making the announcement had been set for August 5.

In respect to the wishes of the two Chambers of Commerce and the Eastland County Water Supply District, this paper had not even mentioned in the two previous issues that the name had been chosen. We would have remained mum to everyone until the proper time if it had not been brought into the open by the total disregard of ethics by the radio station.

It is incidents like that that make a Chamber of Commerce manager's job anything but a bed of roses, and is likely to make him old before his time.

And I might add, cousin, it don't help the blood pressure of an editor who tries to be fair and cooperative.

Hearne Family To Appear Sat. First Baptist

An outstanding program for the Young People of Ranger and all this area will be presented Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church. Although this is the night for the Associational Youth Rally, this program should be heard by members of all churches, and by the adults of our city.

Dr. C. Aubrey Hearne, world traveler, lecturer and author will deliver the feature lecture of the evening. Dr. Hearne is associated with the training division of the Southern Baptist Convention. His work for the past several years has been in the educational division.

Mrs. C. Aubrey Hearne, and their daughters, Misses Mildred, Marcia and Suzanne. The noble and talented family is dedicated to the services of the Lord Jesus Christ and are doing fine work with the Young People of the south.

The Hearnes will appear in the University Baptist Church in Abilene Sunday. "The University Church has the finest programs and speakers for the Campus students and we are indeed fortunate in being able to secure such a fine program," stated Rev. Perkins.

The public is welcome to this program. There is no charge and there will be no offering taken. Refreshments will be served to the Young People following the program.

The contest was started on June 17 and closed with entries post marked before midnight July 15.

The only unpleasant feature of the entire publicity program and the contest came after plans had been made and a date set to release the name of the contest winner—that on August 5. This was by reason of the fact that a small radio station failed to observe a release date and broadcast it a week before it was planned to be officially announced.

The Ranger Chamber of Commerce alone received 837 entries in the contest from 197 towns and cities. Out of state points included, Atlanta, Ga.; Colonia Nuevo, Ansuere, Mexico, D. F.; Eunice, N. Mex.; Fairbanks, Alaska; Jal, N. Mex.; St. Louis, Mo.; Marthaville, La.; Mayhall, N. Mex. Palatka, Fla.; and Perry, Okla.

The next project in connection with the lake, to be worked jointly between the two civic organizations, will be plans for an elaborate celebration to formally dedicate the lake. The date for this program will probably be some time this fall.

Officers Check Claim of Wrong Body In Grave

The body of an Eastland County woman was exhumed Thursday, two months and six days after she was buried, when her husband, son and two daughters told Eastland County officials that their mother's body had not been buried.

The relatives of the woman claim that her body was stolen from the hearse on the way to the cemetery, and they insist that she is still alive.

After looking at the body that was found in the grave, they said it definitely was not their mother. Other witnesses said that it was.

The family lives north of Gorman.

They told officers that a pink car drove up beside the hearse and a man handed their mother's body out of the hearse to the man in the car. They claimed the car then drove away at top speed.

No action had been taken by officials early Saturday.

'The Eternal Purpose of God', First Baptist Morning Sermon

The worship services in the First Baptist Church this Lord's day will find the pastor bringing two special messages concerning the Purpose of God and the program of man. The morning message will be entitled, "The Eternal Purpose of God," and will have to do with the great sermon Jesus preached to the multitudes. Read the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 5, 6, 7 and you will have the greatest discourse on Christian philosophy, psychology, and the real heart of God portrayed in the message delivered by "His only Begotten Son."

The evening message will use the theme, "Soldiers of the Cross." The Great old hymn which asks, "Am I a Soldier of the Cross?" will find renewed power Sunday night when the message will be based on the sixth chapter of Galatians. Christians who have the whole armour of God will be found faithful to all the program of God.

Sunday school begins at 9:45 with departments meeting by age division and public school grading. Training Union parallels the Sunday school, and all the church program is being set up along the program lines sponsored by the Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Southern Baptist Convention. Great and Godly men and women whom God has called into plan His work in order that the unreached, unchurched, unsaved, untrained multitudes will have an opportunity to learn the truth that can only be found in the churches. The church out of the community would be a community without light, power, eternal grace, promises of moral teaching, absence of purity and righteousness. The church is God's people at work maintaining God's program until His Son comes again.

As Christians and church members we need to be ready when that day comes. Our nursery is open and competent women are present to care for your babies. We have a nursery that is fully equipped and is maintained in a most sanitary manner. Germicidal lamps burn for the protection of the children. You are always welcome.

First Baptist Workshop To Begin Sunday

The Church wide "Workshop" sponsored by the Training Union Department of the First Baptist Church will begin Sunday night at 7 p.m., according to W. J. Arterburn. The program is one scheduled for preparation for the big city wide Tent Revival that begins August 16-29. Mrs. Pat Crawford, approved worker, will lead the workshop. The program will continue through Thursday night.

Mrs. Crawford will give general direction to the entire program and specific direction to the two Adult departments. She will have their first meeting Sunday night at 7 in the main auditorium. Rev. Perkins will conduct the workshop with the Young Peoples Department. Mrs. Glenn West will be with the Intermediates, Dick Waters with the Juniors, while Mrs. R. V. Robinson will direct the workers in the same department. Mrs. Corvis Beck will lead the Elementary workers and the Sunday school departments, Primary through the Nursery, will have the children.

Each night from 7 to 8:30 this fine workshop will be in operation, and is for all the membership of the church.

Schedule For WSCS Circles

Rev. Damian Wewers celebrated nuptial mass for Miss Bertha Kathryn Gallagher, 2307 Hemphill in Fort Worth, and A-1c Richard Gerald Allen of Carswell Air Force Base at 9 a.m. Saturday in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gallagher of Ranger and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Allen of Lewisville, N. Y.

Mrs. J. B. Behan sang, accompanied by Miss Marie Lydon at the organ. Misses Bettye Gallagher and Pat Gallagher of Ranger, sisters of the bride, were maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively.

Mr. Allen was his son's best man. Gordon Allen of Lowville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. A-2c Don Gallagher of CAEB ushered.

Feminine attendants were ballerina-length gowns of yellow net and carried colonial bouquets of yellow carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of chantilly lace. Her jacket, made with a Queen Anne collar, was edged with pearls. The ballerina-length skirt had a tulie yoke, with two scalloped lace insertions.

A Juliet cap, trimmed with pearls, held her fingertip tulle veil in place. She carried a white orchid on a white paper book with showers of lilies of the valley.

Mmes. Rutha Cooper, Ed M. Hill and Behan were in the house party at the reception in St. Ann's Club.

'Kitchen Frantics' A Smorrebrod

A SMORREBROD
A piece of smorrebrod is a thin slice of bread (brod) with butter (smorr) garnished with an arrangement of cold fish, meat, vegetables, eggs, etc. A knife and fork are used to eat the smorrebrod. It can be served for lunch, tea, dinner or for a snack. It can be an expensive affair or it can be made from leftovers; but always the flavors of the various foods used must be pleasing together, as well as colorful and attractively arranged.

In Denmark, a meal is often made up only of smorrebrod. First, the fish sandwiches are served, then the egg sandwiches followed by the fowl, vegetable and cheese sandwiches. The recipe below may be a snack or may be served as the main dish of a meal.

INGREDIENTS: 6 slices white bread; butter or margarine; 1 teaspoon curry powder; water; 2 tablespoons mayonnaise; 1 cup hot, cooked, white rice; 1 cup diced chicken and giblets; 12 small tomato slices; 12 slices hard cooked egg; 6 pieces canned salmon or 6 sardines; paprika.

QUICK METHOD FOR COOKING PLUFFY, WHITE RICE: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

- Put 1 cup uncooked white rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
- Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
- Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains — allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes — with heat off, but without removing lid. The above will make slightly more cooked rice than is needed for this recipe. Keep the balance of the ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. You'll find it mighty handy for adding to many quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

METHOD: Toast bread on both sides. Spread with butter or margarine. Put the curry powder in a mixing bowl and add several drops of water — just enough to moisten the curry powder. Add the mayonnaise and mix thoroughly. Add the hot, cooked rice and the chicken and mix thoroughly. Spread the rice and chicken mixture over the slices of toast and top with two tomato slices. Garnish each tomato slice with a slice of hard cooked egg. Place a piece of canned salmon on the top of the eggs and tomatoes. Sprinkle salmon and egg slices with paprika. Serve one smorrebrod, or sandwich, to each person, with knife and fork.

This recipe makes six servings.

BACON, CORN AND PIMENTO SKILLET — PRETTY AND POWERFUL GOOD!
Your main dish will be a hearty one if it's Corn and Pimiento Skillet — yes, skillet, and you mix, cook and serve this easy main dish from your skillet! But it's the crisp pieces of bacon which come with every bite, that cause every forkful to be mighty, mighty good. So get out your skillet, fry the bacon, and the family will be sitting down to a one dish meal in no time at all.

INGREDIENTS: 10 strips bacon; 1 cup uncooked white rice; 1 lb. can (2 cups) yellow cream style corn; 1-4 cup diced green pepper; 2 teaspoons salt; 1-4 teaspoon pepper; 2 1-2 cups water; 1-2 cup (1, 4 oz. jar) chopped whole canned pimientos.

METHOD: Fry the bacon in a skillet and drain off all but about 1 tablespoon of the fat. Add the rice, corn, green pepper, salt, pepper and water. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down. Cover and cook for 14 minutes. Stir occasionally. Break the bacon into inch long pieces and add to the corn and rice. Stir in the pimientos. Cover and cook over a low heat for 10 minutes. Add more water if a thinner mixture is desired.

This recipe makes 8 servings.

BETTI'S BUDGET of HELPFUL HINTS

Have you ever tried using an old-fashioned blackboard eraser for some soapy jobs around the house — such as rug washing or window cleaning? It's a real handy item, since it can itself be washed in hot soapy water. After rinsing an eraser, slap it hard against absorbent paper or cloth on a flat surface to blot out the excess moisture.

For an easy frosting, soften one package of cream cheese with four tablespoons of cranberry jelly, and then gradually add one pound of confectioner's sugar. Work it into a fine smoothness. This will frost a 9-inch cake, layers and all.

Use a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove paint splashes from enamel-surface equipment such as gas ranges, refrigerators and washing machines. Once the paint is off, wash away the turpentine with hot soapy water; otherwise it will dry to a sticky film.

Store leftover vegetables in your refrigerator. Then you can use them in a zesty tomato aspic salad that's perfect for a hot-weather lunch. Prepare lemon-flavored gelatin per package directions, using tomato juice instead of water, and season with grated onion. When almost firm, add the leftover vegetables. Mold, chill and serve on lettuce or spinach leaves.

Here's a simple solution to a common summer problem: to remove grass stains from white shirts, slacks or dresses, use plenty of hot water and soap, and rub the stain well. If a yellow stain remains, apply bleaching fluid.

Here's a dressing that's new, but it's very good. Add a little allspice to mayonnaise, with a little sugar and juice of half a lemon. Use it with a fruit salad. Once you taste it you'll try it again.

Now is the time to serve lemon or lime sherbet either for a first or last course. Try it in a fruit cup with melon balls, sliced peaches, blueberries or any other fresh fruit that's in season.
