NEWS * NOTES * BRIEFS

CONGRATULATIONS to Daniel Dunson, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Dunson. He got quite a thrill last weekend when his dad took a party of boys out to Wiles Canyon for a little angling. Little Daniel caught a 4-lb catfish and what a big moment that was!

BIGGEST NEWS on our front page today is the story about the re-opening of the Globe Clothiers, Inc., here in Ranger about May 1.

We congratulate the Ranger merchants and businessmen who formed this corporation to make possible a badly-needed men's furnishings establishment.

May we suggest to the gentlemen in our audience: If you're planning to purchase some men's or boy's clothing - anything from a suit down to a pair of socks - why not postpone your buying for just a few short weeks?

Let's help Globe Clothiers, Inc. open with a bang by assuring John Wylie and his associates our all-out and loyal patronage!

IT IS a pleasure to welcome the following recent newcomers to friendly Ranger:

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tucker, Terry Place Apts.; George Ceell, 621 N. Pecan; Victor Smith, 1615 Foch; T. A. Kimbrough, 343 Wayland Road; J. D. Phelps, 461 1/2 Pine; and Juan Hermasillo, 115 Walnut.

ABOUT 180,000 persons, including some in Ranger and Eastland County, will be saved from cancer this year, reminds Rev. B. L. McCord, chairman of Ranger's "Cancer Crusade" committee. Many of these persons, attacked by the cancer killer, will be saved because of improved methods of diagnosis and treatment. "See your doctor each year for a health checkup," Rev. McCord advises.

Ranger's intensive one-day "Cancer Crusade" campaign will be unreeled on Tuesday, April 21.

The Mouse Who Attacked the Cat—

Turn about is always appealing. When something small wins out over something great—David over Goliath, the mouse that turned on the cat, the little man who beats the big man; in short, triumph over seemingly impossible requirements.

So it is with insurance. The premium pays the big bad ogre of financial loss.

The blow of a large liability verdict—a name diminished by wind or leveled by fire, valuable property stolen—all events of great importance to the individuals concerned—can be deflected from causing financial jobs by that small, but all powerful insurance premium!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
 "When the Lord turned again the captivity of Zion, we were like them that dream" (Ps. 126:1). "Suffering, sinning, dying beliefs are unreal" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 76.) These two passages establish the theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" at Christian Science churches this Sunday. Bible reading will include passages from Exodus and Deuteronomy telling about God's deliverance of the children of Israel from the land of Egypt.

A SAD STORY FOR SALE

Behind many "For Sale" signs there is a sad story: A family borrowed more than they could afford to pay for a home, or payments and interest rates were too high; the home had to be sold, often at a loss. This tragedy could often be avoided if the families would seek help from a home loan specialist, such as our Association.

We work with you to arrange for a loan that's as easy to handle as monthly rent.

FURNITURE SALE OF A LIFETIME... DON'T MISS IT! YOU'LL BE SORRY IF YOU DO!

When you prepare hot meals your kitchen stays degrees cooler with flameless electric cooking

Flameless electric cooking units fit snugly against pan bottoms. They put their heat into the pans where it is needed, not into the kitchen air. The electric oven, being flameless, requires no flow of air into and out of it to support combustion. The oven is insulated all around, including the bottom, to keep heat inside where it belongs. Result: your kitchen stays degrees cooler when you are cooking hot meals. See your electric range dealer soon. Cook the cool, clean, flameless way . . . and live better electrically!

Editorial - A Look At Teachers

Teaching is one of the most important careers in our world today. Without capable teachers in our colleges and universities young people have no chance to reach their full capacity of learning. But are our teachers capable? Are they the best we can get? This problem, though not often mentioned, seems vastly more important than the degrees they have earned. Although the colleges are concentrating on meeting the shortage of qualified teachers, are they also insuring that the teachers produced will be capable of teaching? A person may be a near genius in college, but this does not mean he can teach. A teacher who knows his subject perfectly and can lecture without a glance at his notes is not necessarily capable. Unless teachers can project what they know into the minds of students, they are failing in their jobs. Realizing that teaching is a very difficult thing and that teachers have to have experience to a certain degree, the possibility still exists that they could be improved. If this not so, then a lot of brain power will be wasted in the coming years.

RECENT VISITORS

Recent guests in the home of Mrs. L. D. Tankersley were her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Paschal of Fort Worth, two daughters, Mrs. J. S. Boles of Grand Prairie and Mrs. Leo Langley, and Mrs. Earl Horton of Winters.

JUDY WRIGHT is editor-in-chief of the 1964 "Ranger," Ranger Jr. College yearbook. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright of Ranger.

RJC CAMPUS QUIZ

Because this is election year the question of voting age is a pertinent one. Many young people find themselves just a few months too young to vote in the presidential election and will have to wait another four years before they can have a part in the election of a president. For that reason many youths have expressed a desire to have the voting age lowered.

The RJC journalism class took a poll of college students and teachers, asking this question: Do you think that the legal voting age should be lowered to 18 or 19 years? If so, why?

Replies reveal many differences of opinion, as shown by the following cross section:

Mary Rhoads, Arriba, Colorado: I feel that the legal voting age should be lowered to 19. At this age young people are out of high school and are able to make decisions of importance to their country and to themselves.

Jim Henderson, Del Rio: I think it should, for several reasons. If a man is mature enough to be inducted into the service, he is mature enough to vote. Too, this age sees the younger generation more educated on affairs of state than previous youth groups.

Lewis Stroud, Devine: I definitely do not think the voting age should be lowered because today half the voters don't know what they're voting for, and at 18 or 19 they would not know for what they are voting.

Van Jennings, Fort Worth: I think a standardized test should be given and if fifteen or nineteen-year-olds pass it, they should be allowed to vote.

Doc Main, Thalia: Voting should be open to all active duty military personnel and to all civilian personnel 21 or over.

Larry Nail, Jacksboro: I think the voting age should be the same as the draft age. If a man is old enough to fight, then he's old enough to vote.

RICHARD HOOPER

RICHARD Hooper, a freshman playing third base on the RJC nine, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hooper of Dallas, where he graduated from W. H. Adamson High School. He played both baseball and basketball in high school, and he was a letterman on the 1964 Ranger Junior College basketball team, which placed second in the conference. He is 6' and weighs 160 pounds. He is interested in a baseball career.

Steve Orsak, Victoria: Yes, I think it should be lowered to 20.

Boyd Brazeel, Graham: Yes, it should be lowered to 18.

Miss Sanya Sullivan: No, the legal voting age should be raised to 24.

Gene Tomos, Ganado: No, it should be left at 21.

James Davis, Fort Worth: It should be left at 21.

Gerald Halle, Newcastle: If you are old enough to join the army, you are old enough to vote.

Bill Wilkinson, Newcastle: No, it should be left at 21, because you are not mature until 21 years of age.

Mike Young, Graham: No, for those twenty-one are more and more fully qualified.

Allen Swart, San Antonio: No, for at 21 voters are more fully qualified.

If it's news, call MI 7-1101!

RJC Writer Wrestles With A Typewriter

By Gary Barker

It was not until about the second day of typing class that I really developed a sincere feeling of antipathy towards a typewriter, for we did not actually attempt to operate the intricate little machine until then.

I soon found that my feelings towards the typewriter were mutual, as it seemed to have developed an aversion to my pounding its little buttons which the teacher called keys. Although no one else seemed to be experiencing this trouble, my machine took devilish delight in grabbing hold of my fingers and not letting them go when they got stuck between the keys. In addition to holding onto my fingers, the keys had an infallible ability to spell words incorrectly. Whenever I wanted to write a word like "John," it would spell "Fohn" on my paper; or if I wanted to write "hoe," it would come out "goe."

Although the keys of this typewriter caused me many hours of woe, they had a great deal of help from other parts of the machine, such as the cylinder, which I think was in "caboots" with the paper guide. Together they made my paper roll into the typewriter at such a bizarre angle that the words I was so laboriously typing would look as if I were writing uphill.

The most distressing thing about my plight, though, was that whenever I informed my teacher about the suspected treachery of my typewriter, it would perform like a sheep dog for her, though it would never co-operate with me. Even until this day I wonder why that machine would not perform for me as well as it did for my teacher; perhaps it was because she was much prettier than I. I do know this: the failure of the machine to work properly was no fault of mine. Or was it?

Also "The Age of Energy" by Harold F. Williamson and Arnold R. Dawn. "The Age of Energy" by Harold F. Williamson, Ralph L. Andrcano, Arnold R. Dawn, and Gilbert C. Klose, and "Petroleum Facts and Figures."

The Business Department of the University of Texas donated "Fifty Years of Education for Business at the University of Texas" by C. These books are valuable additions to the shelves of the Cooper Library, and the college is proud to acknowledge them.

The Value of An Education

By ROYCE BERNARD

Clothes do not, of course, make the man, notwithstanding the advantage of having good clothes. Nor does a formal education automatically make a successful and well-adjusted man of distinction.

But all things being equal, education does tend to give man a greater measure of financial well being.

Between the ages of twenty-five and sixty-five, according to authoritative sources, the average man with a high school diploma will earn a round $217,000. This is more than the man who drops out of school before the eighth grade will earn, and it is far short of the $365,000 that the four-year college man will earn over the same period of time. Not only education is important, but also it pays.

BOARD OF WATER SUPPLY DISTRICT DISCUSSES NEW PUBLIC INFORMATION PLAN

The importance of periodic information releases for the citizens of Ranger and Eastland — the two cities comprising the Eastland County Water Supply District — was one of the major topics discussed during the monthly meeting — Tuesday, Mar. 26 — of the ECWSD board of directors held in Ranger.

A spokesman for the board said one purpose of such releases would be "to afford the public a better understanding of the operation of their district."

The district was created by a special act of the Texas Legislature and operates under a Trust Indenture and the trustee of Mercantile National Bank of Dallas. All operations of the ECWSD board are strictly controlled by the trustee for protection of the bondholders.

All funds received by the district from the sale of water to Eastland and Ranger and the Lone Star Producing Co. are remitted to the trustee bank after operating expenses have been paid. The money is placed in a number of funds by the trustee and cannot be used for any purpose other than for paying bonds and interest.

The district has always been prompt — never even a day late — in making bond and interest payments.

"The cessation of Eastland County Water Supply District has been very good and the directors have been highly complimented on their capable and efficient operation by R. A. Underwood & Co., the brokerage firm which handled the sale of the bonds," a board spokesman said Friday.

The ECWSD board is composed of eight members — four from Ranger and four from Eastland. The directors serve two-year terms with a referendum held each spring for election of two directors from each city.

The present board is composed of C. B. Pruet, E. H. Giles, James A. Smith and E. F. Arterburn of Ranger and J. H. Perry, T. M. Fuller, Charles Freyschlag and Tom Wilson of Eastland.

"At the time the District was formed it was thought that the money to construct the lake, filter plant and pipe lines could be raised throughout the issuance of Revenue Bonds, without having to assess a tax," it was explained. "However, prospective bond buyers would not consent to a revenue only type bond and insisted that the Trust Indenture provide for the assessing and collecting taxes from the two towns in addition to receipts from the sale of water. Until all the bonds have been paid off it will be necessary for a tax to be assessed each year. The Board of Directors do, however, have the authority to lower the rate when it is apparent that enough money will be collected to meet bond and interest payments at a lower rate. This was done this year. Taxpayers for the 1964 tax year will be paying 20 percent less for Water District taxes than in previous years."

"While the primary purpose of the lake is for municipal water supply, with recreation as a secondary benefit," the spokesman continued. "The Board of Directors also, of course, control the recreational facilities of the lake and since money spent for such facilities can come only from receipts from the sale of licenses and permits they must use the money available wisely in order to provide for the public facilities that will benefit the most people. They have provided four boat launching ramps, constructed two picnic areas

TODAY'S TERSE VERSE "MONEY"

By Richard Armour

Workers earn it,
Spendthrifts burn it,
Bankers lend it,
Women spend it,
Forgers fake it,
Taxes take it,
Dying leave it,
Heirs receive it,
Thrifty save it,
Robbers seize it,
Rich increase it,
Gamblers lose it,
I could use it!

FRIENDS OF Bill Holliday,

25-year-old Olden man who is a patient in a Fort Worth hospital with severe burns over 50 per cent of his body, have launched the "Bill Holliday Fund."

Purpose of the fund is to help the young man — at a time when he obviously needs help badly.

Well-known in the Ranger area, Bill "sucked" his way through school and college, working in grocery stores. He is the son of Mrs. Jessie Lee Holliday of Olden, and is a Ranger Junior College graduate.

He was critically injured recently when his auto hit a steel bridge at Gordon Junction on U. S. Highway 80. He was first taken to Ranger General Hospital and then transferred to a Fort Worth hospital.

BILL HOLLIDAY

At the time of the accident, Bill was a driver-salesman for a Fort Worth bread company, and was enroute from Olden to his home in Weatherford.

Intensive, specialized burn treatment is expensive and Bill's funds for these are not always available. Bill is a veteran and could be transferred to a veteran's hospital — but his condition is so serious, reports are, that his attending physicians fear to have him moved at this time because of the dangerous possibility of infections.

And so, he must be treated at the Fort Worth hospital until he can be moved — if his friends in Eastland County help him.

The Times will lead off with ten bucks.

How about you?

Donations may be made to the "Bill Holliday Fund," Box 118, Ranger, Texas.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Williams who will celebrate another wedding anniversary next Tuesday, Apr. 7.

FROM ONE of Town Talker's scouts:

Z. O. Mehaffey, who lives out at Lake Leon, has a refrigerator full of new season catfish steaks — and he didn't even have to bait his trotline.

Now, men, this is a real fish story and since our scout is a fellow newsmen, we believe it.

Anyway, Mehaffey grabbed some bait and went out the other day to begin a new campaign of stalking the finny tribe.

In checking his trot line he found a hook — sans bait — with an 18-pound catfish on it. But that's not all.

Mehaffey then baited the line and p.d.g., he caught two more big ones — a seven-pounder and another which weighed 12 pounds!

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

to the following Rangerites who'll be celebrating birthdays during the coming week:

Monday — A. C. Oglesby and Mrs. Helen Julius.

Tuesday — Glenn Beck, James Nicklack, Mrs. C. F. Chestnut.

Wednesday — Bertha Hernandez.

Friday — Miss Nettie Suddeth, Jeralyn Anderson, Eradine Hodges, Paula Jean Silvey.

Saturday — Mary Campbell and Kimberly Wharton.

SOMEWHAT MISLEADING

have been some of the headlines in city papers relating to important changes last week at our Commercial State Bank.

The news story as published in Thursday's Times was correct. The headline read: "Eastland County Men Acquire Majority of Stock in Ranger Bank." That headline was correct. Prior to events this week, the majority of the bank's stock was owned by interests outside Eastland County.

The major stockholders are Morris Newham of Ranger, Tom Wilson of Eastland, James McCracken of Cisco and Glyn Gilliam, formerly of Eastland and now of Ranger. Mr. Gilliam, new president of the Commercial State Bank, has resigned his former position as vice president of the Eastland bank and also has disposed of all of the stock he formerly owned in that bank.

The publicity regarding the changes at our bank were handled by a member of the staff of The Times and we feel some of the headlines in city papers were not quite as accurate as they might have been.

According to the Farm Labor Bulletin of the Texas Employment Commission, Eastland County has 1,500 acres of wheat seeded; 12,000 acres of oats, 2,000 of barley and 2,200 of rye, for a combined total of 18,700 acres seeded to small grains.

Switzerland has four official languages — German, French, Italian, and Romansch.

'BILL HOLIDAY FUND' GAINING MOMENTUM

Even though 25-year-old Bill Holiday is confined to a protective glass shelter in a Fort Worth hospital where he is being treated for severe burns over most of his body, he must surely know that his friends in Eastland County are remembering him with concern.

These friends started a fund, calling it the "Bill Holiday Fund" to raise money to pay for the expensive, intensive care that Bill needs in the hospital. Critically injured and burned in an automobile accident about a week ago, Bill is receiving special care at the hospital.

At such time as his physicians believe it is safe to move him, he will be taken to a veterans hospital. But for now, the fear of infections is too great, and special nurses and other specialized care are expensive.

Bill worked in local grocery stores putting himself through high school and Ranger Junior College. A native of Olden, his mother is school librarian there.

His condition's listed as being "about the same" — and still the contributions come in. Donations of any amount are being accepted.
