

BRAYN MAKING A LITTLE LIST

Put Names of Friendly Democrats in Catalog

MAY COME HANDY LATER

Work of Indexing Voters Will Go On While He Is Making

Tour of the Orient

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 10.—The departure of Mr. Bryan for the Orient will not cause any halt in the formation of the Bryan boom for the presidency in 1908. Here at the Commoner office the time of one man is almost constantly employed in superintending, tabulating and arranging the names of voters of the Bryan stripe that are coming in by each mail.

A very clever scheme for securing at a minimum cost a list of active friendly democrats in all parts of the country, say those who have had an opportunity to note the tremendous number of responses that have come to the request of Mr. Bryan to discontinue his tour of the country to sign a pledge that they will hereafter make it a rule to attend every democratic primary called and to see that nobody is selected as delegate who is not of their faction.

The pledge first appeared in Mr. Bryan's paper, but he has not contented himself with waiting for the printed coupons to be filled out and sent in. To each of the thousands of agents of his newspaper and to several supporters in various parts of the country he has sent blank pledges and secured their assistance in getting them signed.

The signers, it is needless to add, are men who are willing to vote right. As many as a hundred pledges come in a bunch, and the average will not fall below ten.

All Pledges Catalogued

As each is received it is filed away in a card catalogue and this enables Mr. Bryan or his assistants to turn at a moment's notice to any precinct in any county in any state and get the names of those democrats who may be depended upon.

The idea is borrowed in part from the card catalogue road district census of voters first invented and used by the Nebraska republican state committee in 1890 and which was the most effective weapon in taking the state from Mr. Bryan. The tremendous effectiveness of this plan will be patent to every practical politician.

Yet Mr. Bryan insists that he is not trying to build up a machine. He rather resented the idea when some might have thought that the plan was referred to as intended to develop a machine for his own personal use.

"I am not seeking to build any machine," he said recently. "I have but one object in view, that of getting the masses of democrats interested and awakened to the necessity of attending all caucuses and primaries. If they will keep the pledge I am asking them to sign, I have no fears of the result. The last national convention was able to do so because of two facts, the hope and belief of a good many democrats that by concession and compromise we might gain power and thus be able to do a little good, being later for greater blessings and opportunity, and because radical democrats had little hope of success and allowed the old and skilled manipulators to put up delegations and write state platforms."

At St. Louis we listened to those who promised to win if we ceased to offend. The result at the polls ended the hope of any so-called democracy in this country. Democratic rule is a thing of the past and we can never hope for power until we can get the people to understand the principles we stand for and to accept them. I am simply desirous of getting democrats pledged to keep their eyes open and make that every convention they attend makes a clear, honest and straightforward declaration of the party's position on every question upon which the voters of the party desire to speak.

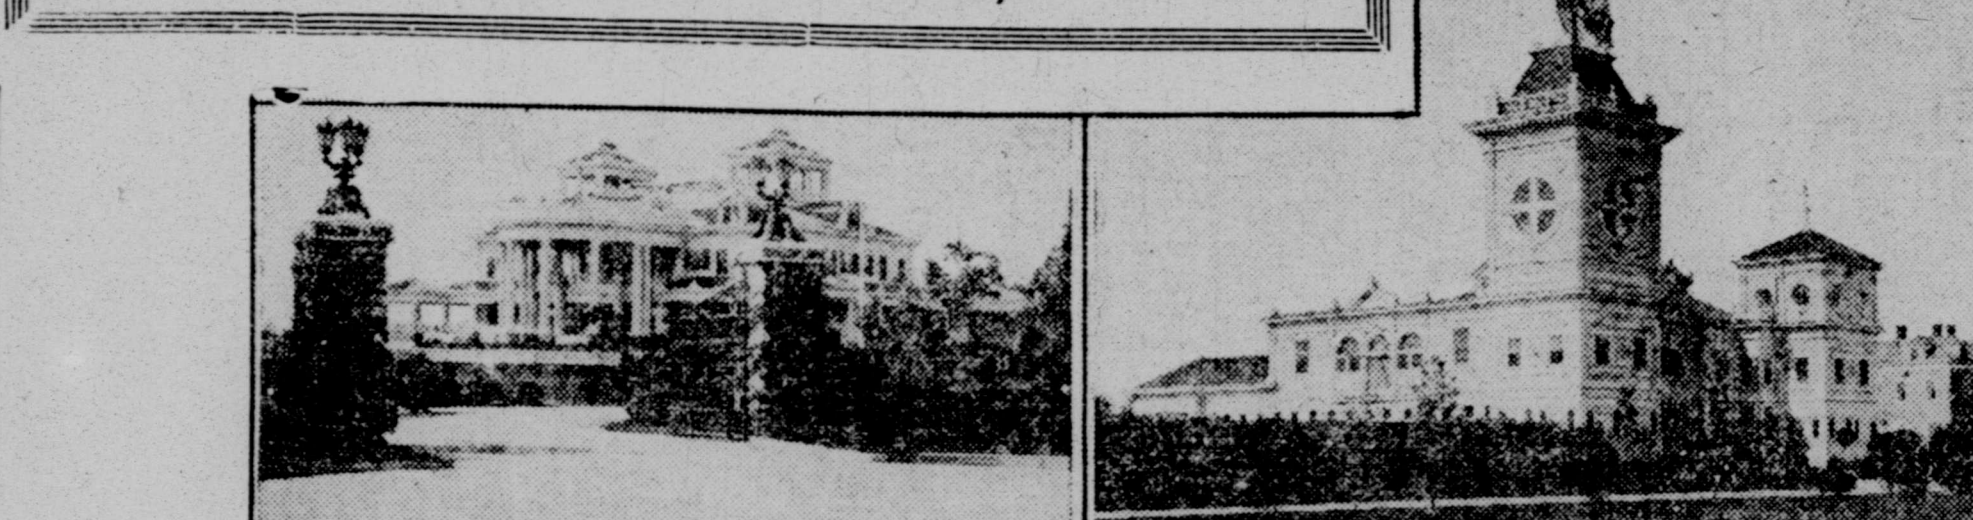

Close to Mr. Bryan is James C. Dahlgren, for years state chairman and later a member of the national committee. Mr. Dahlgren's practical experience as a politician enables him to appreciate the value of Mr. Bryan's primary plan, and he it is who is directing how the directory of democrats shall be employed.

Expect to Have Million

He says that the chief weakness of Bryan's campaign against Parker prior to the national convention last year was that he had no direct means of communicating with his supporters in the various election districts. Mr. Bryan's plan is set up by the organizers his rhetoric avoided little. By 1908 Mr. Dahlgren expects to have a million democrats pledged and catalogued and with that nucleus he does not believe it possible to wrest control from Bryan at the next national convention.

THE HOME OF A POOR MAN

"I Will Say That I Am Not a Millionaire, Multi or Any Other Kind, and Never Have Been. If I Die Today, My Wealth Will Be Mostly Life Insurance."—Pres. McCall of New York Life in his testimony.

"SHADOW LAWN," McCALL'S PRINCIPAL HOME IN NEW JERSEY.

Staff Correspondence to The Telegram. NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Giving the impression that he is a poor man, John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, nevertheless lives in princely style. The country homes of few of the wealthiest men in the nation display more regal splendor than Mr. McCall's country place at West End, N. J. There are European monarchs who live in no such costly magnificence. Some idea of President McCall's impression of what a poor man is may be outlined by description of his gorgeous summer estate by the sea and his beautiful town house, situated where real estate is computed in inches.

JOHN A. McCALL'S $100,000 STABLE.

It is said that the place cost $1,000,000. The stable alone cost $150,000. No less than forty servants are employed at "Shadow Lawn." From early June until October the McCall family make this their residence. Nine men do nothing but work upon the lawn and flowering shrubbery. Two more devote their entire time to packing the gravelled drives, using a steam roller for the work. There are six men in the stable, and the house is fairly overrun with servants of all classes. The interior of the mansion is a disappointment to the visitor, whose expectation for quiet elegance is aroused by a supposition that there must be some relief for the gaudy exterior. The color scheme is dark green and oak. No special individual taste is displayed in the furnishings, which appear more like the handwork of a professional furnisher. In the stable are to be found no less than twenty vehicles, and Superintendent Murray says that Mr. McCall usually keeps from nine to twelve horses.

THE FOUNTAIN AT McCALL'S HOUSE

course, we never know when we are going to be called upon for a carriage, trap or victoria, so we keep them all. The stable floor is of polished rosewood. It glistens like a mirror. There are heavy rubber mats for man and beast to tread upon and the rubber-tired vehicles are run upon canvas strips. McCall town house at No. 54 West Seventy-second street is a four-story and basement brownstone. It contains decorations much more beautiful than those at "Shadow Lawn." This section of the city is settled by millionaires who have recently come into their wealth.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Walter R. Gillette, vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, testified before the insurance investigating committee today that the Mutual Life Insurance company contributed $40,000 to the republican national committee's campaign fund in the last election in 1904.

Sir John Long, a member of the British parliament, is a guest of the insurance investigating committee during its session.

The first witness was Robert Oliphant, chairman of the expenditure committee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. From him it is expected to learn what became of $75,000 charged to legal expenditures. This sum was spent in three installments of $25,000 each. The last installment was paid the day before the Presidential election last year. Mr. Oliphant said there was no limit to the money of the committee on expenditures. Details of the payments for this fund were not brought out before the board of trustees, but merely the total amount.

The bills came to this committee from the law department after being duly authorized by the executive officers. The monies were usually drawn in cash. An entry of $25,000 was made on the books Jan. 30, 1904. The witness said it was paid to him in cash.

Vice President Gillette also stated that the Mutual Life Insurance company contributed $35,000 to the republican national committee in 1900, and $15,000 in 1896. He justified these contributions on the same ground as did President John A. McCall of the New York Life Insurance company, saying the money was drawn from the democratic party and the free silver issue were a menace to the policy holders. Mr. Gillette said he authorized these expenditures after consulting with the president, vice president and some members of the board of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company.

Campaign contributions, Dr. Gillette said, came from the fund controlled by the committee on expenditures.

TROLLEY CAR VICTIM HAS STRANGE MALADY

Perfectly Well, But Unable to Pronounce Nouns, Although Verbs and Adjectives Are Easy

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Physicians at Plainfield, N. H., are much puzzled over the case of Harry T. Durham, who was thrown from a trolley car several weeks ago, landing on his head. Durham is now apparently as well as ever, except that he is unable to pronounce nouns. He has no difficulty with verbs, but when he comes to naming objects, he is all at sea.

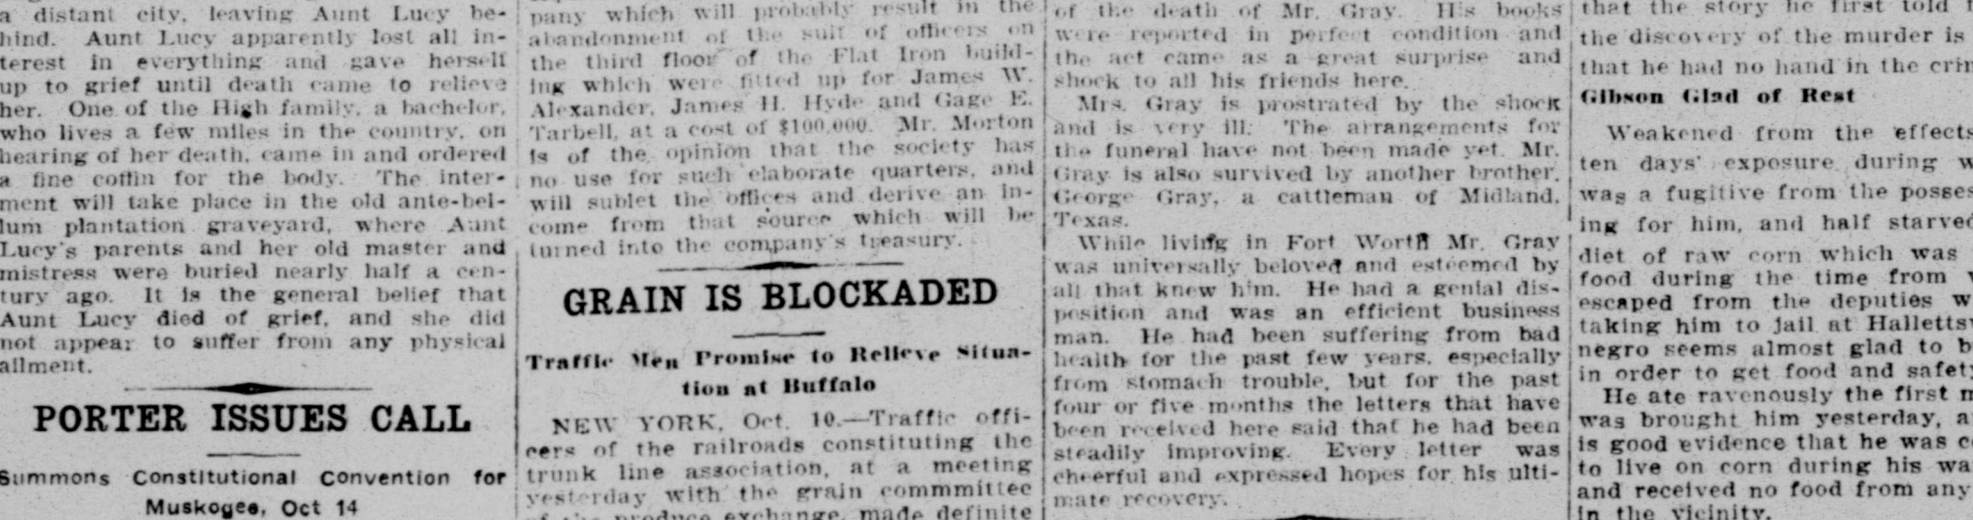

Mr. Durham's case, according to an expert, is extremely rare—paralysis of the naming center, a part of the brain directly over the left ear. Specialists say that a similar case was reported a year ago. The victim would describe a knife as something to cut with, or a glass as something to drink from, but could not name either article.

EDNA GRAND JURY IS STILL AT WORK

No Indictment Yet Found Against Monk Gibson, Suspect in Conditt Tragedy—Troops Continue on Guard

Special to The Telegram. HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 10.—With Monk Gibson, the 16-year-old negro suspect in the murder of the wife and family of A. J. Conditt, here eleven days ago, resting quietly in jail, state troops guarding his prison to prevent the possibility of a demonstration, and the district grand jury at work busily investigating the tragedy, there are no developments of a sensational character in the situation at Edna, Jackson county, today.

Gibson is persistent in his statements that the story he first told following the discovery of the murder is true and that he had no hand in the crime. Gibson told of Rest.

Weakened from the effects of the ten days' exposure during which he was a fugitive from the posses searching for him, and half starved on the diet of raw corn which was his only food during the time from when he escaped from the deputies who were taking him to jail at Hallettsville, the negro seems almost glad to be in jail in order to get food and safety.

He ate ravenously the first meal that was brought him yesterday, and there is good evidence that he was compelled to live on corn during his wanderings and received no food from any negroes in the vicinity.

Last night, when it was feared by many there would be an attempt made against the jail by enraged citizens, was spent quietly and there was no demonstration. The troops remained on guard throughout the night and they are still on hand.

A calmer and more conservative feeling prevails among the citizens and there is a growing sentiment that to take summary vengeance on Gibson, even if it were possible, would destroy the only evidence which might lead to the capture of Gibson's accessories, if

CULBERSON IN DALLAS
DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 10.—After an absence of several weeks in the east, United States Senator Charles T. Culberson returned last night from Washington. When he learned that Senator Tillman was in Dallas last night he paid him his respects, and the two were in conference shortly thereafter.

ULTIMATUM REFUSED
GUTHRIE, Okla., Oct. 10.—The Kansas City bankers yesterday refused the ultimatum of territorial collectors and Oklahoma business is being rapidly withdrawn from Kansas City. The Kansas City clearing house is notifying the banks, which demand 15 cents exchange, that express companies will be used to make collections.

NEW BANK ESTABLISHED
RAVIA, I. T., Oct. 10.—The First National Bank of Ravia, I. T., organized yesterday, electing the following officers: Robert T. Wilkinson, president; W. A. McAlister, vice president; J. H. Anderson, cashier.

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION
ARDMORE, I. T., Oct. 10.—The Chickasaw legislature has resumed its session at Tishomingo and will devote considerable time to framing an act looking to the disposal of the segregated coal area of the Choctaw Nation, where the bulk of the coal land is located. It is estimated that the lands would bring $10,000,000 if sold for $25 an acre, a minimum price fixed by members of the tribe.

TWO FOUND DEAD
HASKELL, I. T., Oct. 10.—The bodies of Miss Margaret Lindsey, a school teacher, and Joseph B. Young, a barber, were found yesterday in the road three miles north of town. There were marks of violence on the bodies and a revolver was found near the scene. The couple were last seen alive on Sunday evening, when they drove out of Haskell in a buggy. The woman taught school at the Stone bluff county school near Haskell, Young was a teacher at Haskell. He was found no definite clue upon which to work.

The list of attractions here will be one of the very best and in addition to what has been designated the committee in charge has decided to give many other prizes.

OIL AT BLACKBURN
GUTHRIE, Okla., Oct. 10.—The West Virginia Drilling Company closed the lease Monday for 1,000 acres more of oil land in the vicinity of Blackburn, in Pawnee county. This results from the company striking a creditable flow of oil near Blackburn during the past week. The flow was considered sufficient to guarantee oil in paying quantities.

TERRITORY BANKS STILL DISSATISFIED
Fort Worth Institutions May Yet Secure Bulk of Clearing Business

The movement to secure a fair percentage of the business of Indian Territory and Oklahoma banks for banks in this city, as told in The Telegram some time ago, appears to have grown into considerable proportions, if reports reaching this city from territory points are correct.

H. W. Painter, secretary of the Oklahoma-Indian Territory Bankers' association, has recently finished a trip over the two territories for the purpose of ascertaining the feeling of the bankers as to the proposition to establish a territorial national bank in Kansas City. The result of this trip has been that the bankers now declare as a unit for the establishment of such an institution in Kansas City. The idea is said to be ridiculed by bankers in Kansas City, but it is admitted that the establishment of the bank is quite into Kansas will subtract materially from the business at present enjoyed by the banks of Kansas City.

Beside the establishment of a territorial bank in Kansas City, the only other project possible lies in the rumor that the Bankers' Trust company, recently organized to take over the defunct City National bank of Kansas City, will likely be controlled by capital banks of the two territories. If such be the case the situation will become cleared and everything move on as formerly, the territory business all continuing to go into Kansas City, although, instead of all banks having a fair share of such business, it will all be assumed by the City National bank.

If the directorship and management of the City National is not favorable to the territory banks, it is generally admitted that the business will revert for the greater part to Fort Worth, Dallas, Denison and St. Louis. As the facilities of Fort Worth and Dallas banks are to be better for use by territory banks than at St. Louis, owing to distance and other features which enter prominently into the matter, banks of Fort Worth and Dallas will probably receive the larger part of the business.

There are a few bankers who are tied up financially with banks at Kansas City. These, of course, will not be able to break loose for some time yet, but the sentiment is to get out Kansas City banks altogether, in view of the action of the bankers in that city in refusing the fifteen cent rate.

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

TEXAS CATTLE WIN
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10.—Delay in the arrival of five herds of shorthorns and several entries of other breeds known to be on the way from Portland or Springfield, Ill., caused a postponement in the judging of single cattle at the American Royal Stock Show, which opened here yesterday.

The judging of carlots, however, was disposed of. Out of the fourteen sections thus judged, Texas feeders carried off eight prizes. Best carlot of steers, 1-year-old and under 2 years; third prize to E. S. Davidson, Amarillo, Texas. Carlot of heifers under 1 year old, first prize to R. T. Bishop, Tulsa, Texas; second prize to George M. Slaughter, Bovina, Texas; third prize to R. T. Bishop, Muskogee, Okla.

Shorthorn, feeding stock, carlot of steers or heifers, 1 year old and under 2 first prize to Continental Land and Cattle Company, Estelline, Texas. No competition. Carlot of steers or heifers under 1 year, first prize to Continental Land and Cattle Company. No competition. Sweepstakes to Continental Land and Cattle Company on any grade of stock, carried with it the Clay, Robinson & Co. Kansas City Live Stock Commission Company and Evans-Snyder-Buel Company specials of $25 each and the Cady & Olmstead trophy, valued at $25.

DENVER PACKERIES SOLD
DENVER, Col., Oct. 10.—The Colorado and Western Packing plants, purchased by the "Big Four" combination of Chicago packers, and on which the first payment of $2,000,000 has been made, were enlarged and used exclusively for Colorado sheep and lambs.

Edward F. Swift, brother of Louis C. Swift, president of Swift & Co. packers, was in Denver for a few minutes yesterday afternoon and left to inspect the lamb feeding industry in Larimer county. He was accompanied by John Donovan of St. Joseph, Mo., president of the Union Terminal railway of St. Joseph and vice president of the St. Joseph Stock Yards Company, a Swift concern, and Peter Jansen, chief engineer for the Swift company. The party will return to Denver the middle of next week and will then proceed to the southern part of the state where the lamb feeding industry has received considerable attention for the past two years.

President Louis C. Swift had planned to meet his brother and his business here yesterday afternoon, but was forced to remain in the east. Edward Swift did not know of his brother's intention of postponing his trip to Colorado until telegrams were handed him as he stepped from the Fort Worth train. He reached Denver at 4:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon and left at 5 o'clock.

The two Denver packing plants, now owned by the "Big Four," have a combined capacity at the present time of 1,250 head of cattle, 9,999 hogs and 2,999 sheep. The hog killing will be almost entirely eliminated and the sheep and lamb capacity will be increased until 10,000 head can be handled. The Swift company is planning to spend $250,000 on the plants if it from Colorado can furnish all the sheep needed.

The lamb feeding industry has grown to be of great importance to the state. At present thousands of acres of peas are planted every year and when the lambs are purchased late in the fall they are turned into the pea fields and allowed to forage at will on the product. The Colorado lambs topped the market last year, and this attracted the attention of the Swifts to the state as a lamb feeding center.

arguments will be completed today and the whole matter submitted to Judge Humphrey for a decision.

WYOMING CATTLE WAR
The Wyoming cattle war of 1892 makes one of the most dramatic pages of frontier history. To this day it is called the Rustler war because of the widespread impression at the time that the fight was between the virtuous owners of cattle and the lawless rustlers of the community of cattle thieves, or "rustlers" on the other. But never was anything more misnamed. To be sure there were cattle rustlers in Northern Wyoming, and there is no doubt that they had become exceptionally bold. But it is doubtful if, outside of Wau street, there has ever been a more lawless business than the old-time cattle business, since the world began. When the great cattle trails were opened, some cattle owners started with a small herd at one end of a trail with thousands of strange herds that had been "picked up" on the way. Some of these men became cattle kings and built grand houses, in which they were always uncomfortable, and even went to the legislature or to congress. Besides them the rustler, who stole a few paltry head of cattle, must always remain a rather pitiable figure.

Considering the Wyoming cattle war from an unprejudiced viewpoint, it appears that the rustler merely figured as an excuse. The main object of the cattle owners who invaded Northern Wyoming with a half-hundred professional men killers seems to have been to drive out the small ranchers. Some of the men who had taken up homesteads in the heart of the cattle country were to be killed, and life was to be made so miserable for the others that they would take down their fences and decamp, and the threatened displacement of the great cattle herds would be postponed indefinitely. Had this plan been successfully carried out in Johnson county, no doubt it would have been made effective in other parts of the west where the settler was getting a foothold. The cowboy would have been living his picturesque life on the open range today, but the growth of the agricultural west would have been set back a generation.

NECKLACE RETURNED AFTER THIRTY YEARS
String of Pearls Valued at $1,100 Reaches Owner Through Mail—No Clue to Sender

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Thirty years ago, while attending a fashionable wedding in Brooklyn, Miss Jennie Corwin lost a necklace of pearls valued at $1,100. The family announces the necklace was returned by mail on Saturday. No message or card accompanied the necklace, and the identity of the sender accompanied the jewels.

Hippodrome Is Popular
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The New York Hippodrome has become the Mecca of the amusement seekers of the universe, the one place in the world where the attractions offered are so varied and of such excellence, each being in itself incomparable. Testimony to the appreciation of this fact is offered by the throngs which day and night crowd the mammoth playhouse. No other amusement enterprise can compete with the program afforded by Thompson & Dundy, a program which is replete with action, life and novelty from the time the curtain rises until it falls and hides from the dazzled sight the stirring scene pictured vivaciously in the realistic battle of "The Redoubt" and the horses plunging madly in the great water tank.

Within a month the hippodrome will have given its two hundredth performance, when beautiful souvenirs will be distributed. It is four weeks since it reopened, more than 200,000 persons having witnessed the great show, a record impossible to equal in any other theater or place of amusement in the world.

BABY COVERED WITH ECZEMA
Little One So Bad People Said He Could Not Get Well—Mother Then Tried Cuticura, and Found Relief from Start.

PERMANENTLY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our baby boy when three months old had eczema all over him, so bad that people said he could not get well, and (having one case like it before and doctored with the best doctors, and then the baby died, I thought I would try the Cuticura Remedies. Before I had used them two weeks I could see that my baby was better. I used them about six months and the sores were all well, but I kept giving him the Remedies for one year, and now he is four years old and the eczema has never come back; and we think it never will, thanks to Cuticura. (signed) Mrs. M. W. Eldridge, Fulton, Okla., June 5, '05."

CAPT. GRAHAM'S CURE
Of Distressing Humors.

"I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had herpes' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it—Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Euff St., Wheeling, W. Va., June 14, 1904."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura, which cured me in six months. (signed) M. C. Moss, Gainesville, Tex."

CASE OF PACKERS
CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Arguments against the indictments of the packers, charged with conspiring to monopolize the meat trade of the country, were begun yesterday before Federal Judge Humphrey. Attorney John S. Miller, counsel for the defendants, opened the arguments, using the demurrer filed last Friday as a basis.

When Attorney Miller completed his argument, Special Assistant Attorney General Oliver E. Hagin made a short argument on the merits of the indictment, which he drew. He was followed by Attorney Rosenber, who argued the meat trade case until adjournment. This morning Attorney Rosenber resumed his argument and will be followed by District Attorney Morrison. It is believed that all the ar-

MRS. A. SCHUMAN.
"After years of constant use of your Pure Malt Whiskey both by myself and as given to patients in my capacity as nurse, I have no hesitation in recommending it as the very best tonic and stimulant for all weak and run down conditions. At least twenty-five families use it in my own neighborhood, and when I go out nursing patients ask me what to take for that 'gone feeling,' and once that Duffy's is within their reach it is used always."—MRS. A. SCHUMAN, 1576 Mozart St., Chicago, Ill.

A Drugless Cure That is Interesting McKinney People

Special to the Telegram. McKinney, Texas, Oct. 10.—This town is interested in a drugless cure performed upon Judge T. C. Goodner, vice president of the Collins National Bank. The remarkable demonstration of one man's power is a general topic of discussion among all classes of McKinney citizens.

The interesting personality behind the sensation is J. Austin Larson, whose good work here has made him famous.

Judge Goodner is an old settler, having lived here thirty-eight years. His decline in health was discernible to everyone and it was considered his end were near. When the announcement appeared in the local papers of his recovery through a drugless treatment it was not believed at first, but investigation disclosed that a seeming miracle had been performed in his case. Now the whole town is wondering how it was done.

BATTLE OF BALLOTS

OVER WABASH IS ON

Ramsey Arrayed Against the Board of Directors Is Contesting Every Step

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 10.—The annual meeting of the Wabash railroad opened at 9 o'clock this morning in the offices of Smith & Beckwith, local attorneys for the railroad, under the by-laws, the company election is to continue from 9 o'clock until noon, and it was expected the announcement of the result would be made by the election of inspectors at about 12:15, or shortly afterwards.

Of the 100 delegates to the meeting, those were present when the meeting opened: George J. Gould, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., Edgar L. Welles, John L. Terry, Winslow S. Pierce, E. T. Jeffrey and N. C. Reynolds. All but the last, with the exception of Mr. Ramsey were outspoken in their determination to support Mr. Gould.

Mr. Ramsey claims it will not be possible to retire him as a director for the reason that he controls at least one-tenth of the votes, and as the cumulative system of voting is permissible in Ohio, he will be able to re-elect himself.

The Gould party, however, regard Director Ramsey as something to be remembered and not to be considered.

At the opening of the meeting, Colonel Doyle, acting for Mr. Ramsey, offered the objections to Mr. Gould as president, on the ground that he is a director of the Missouri Pacific, a parallel line to the Wabash road. He also offered objection to the three inspectors of the election, Messrs. Reynolds, Colton and Newton.

Mr. Ramsey, arising from his seat, said: "I also offer objections as a stockholder."

On motion of Mr. Greer of the firm of Pierce & Greer, Mr. Gould's legal adviser, the objection was spread on the record.

After the transaction of some routine business, the regular meeting adjourned to permit a caucus of the bondholders. This caucus convened in the same room as the general meeting.

Under the law, the bondholders have the right to choose six of the directors, the stockholders six and the twelve elect the thirteenth director.

Mr. Greer nominated as directors for the bondholders, the following: E. T. Welles, Winslow S. Pierce, W. B. Saunders, R. C. Cleary, Russell Sage and R. M. Galloway.

Colonel Doyle, for Mr. Ramsey, demanded that the directors be chosen by ballot. This was voted down and the men were chosen by roll call.

Mr. Ramsey's attorneys demanded that the proxy be shown as each name was called. There were great numbers of these, and the operation consumed much time.

Tuesday, Nov. 21.—R. W. Hanaway et al. vs. Guarantee Savings, Loan and Investment Company.

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 16.—Attorney General Davidson today finished his answer and exceptions to the petitions of the railroads in the injunction suits now pending in the Twenty-sixth district court in which the railroads seek to enjoin the state from the enforcement of the Love gross receipts bill. The answer and exceptions were quite lengthy, the exception being taken to every allegation made by the railroads. The state answers that the plaintiffs do not allege the charge that defendants or any of them threaten to do any wrongful act or trespass against a plaintiff or its property or in any act whatever other than enforcing a law of the state. The state prays that defendants should be held exempt from this action by reason of the representative character in which they are sued herein and that said petition should be dismissed. The state then proceeds to hold immaterial and wholly insufficient every material allegation made by the railroads. The case comes up tomorrow.

NEW YORK TAKES FIRST

GAME FROM PHILLIES

Mastery Pitching by Matthewson Shuts Out Athletics With Only Four Hits

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 10.—Mastery pitching by Christy Matthewson, backed up by glib-edged playing by the men behind him gave the New York National league champions a victory yesterday over the Philadelphia American league pennant winners in the first of the series of seven games for the world's championship. Philadelphia failed to score. Matthewson allowed the home team only base hits, muffed in New Yorkers managed to score three runs off Plank. Although defeated, Philadelphia played a brilliant game. It was a clean victory for the visitors, the element of luck cutting no figure in the contest. The National league champions played a hard game and it was only their persistence in touching up Plank at the right moment that gave them the contest.

While the visitors were gathering their runs New York's greatest pitcher was moving down the home players in almost one, two, three order. Of the thirty-one men who faced him, only eight reached first base, four of them on base, three on fielders' choices and one on Dunlin's miff of a short fly. Only one man, Schreckengost, reached third, and he was thrown out at the plate on a close play.

New York also excelled in base-running, four of the visitors being credited with stolen bases. The only department wherein the Philadelphia out-thoned the New Yorkers was in fielding. They gave Plank as brilliant support as has been seen here for a long time. Monte Cross at short and Captain Lave Cross at third made some phenomenal stops and quick throws while on the run. The team played without an error. For New York, Dalton and Devlin were all over the infield, the latter making several hard stops and throws. Donlin made New York's only misplay. He started too late on a short fly ball and muffed it. It resulted in nothing, as the runner was doubled up at second on the next play. The score:

NOT A MENDICANT STATE

When did Texas become a mendicant state that her newspapers must plead for "free grants" legislature or applaud over-zealous patriots who propose to pay per diem salaries out of the state treasury?

The Austin paper never printed a greater truth than is contained in the suggestion that Texas is not a mendicant state, and Texas newspapers are not pleading for "free grants" sessions of the state legislature in the light depicted by the Current Issue.

Certainly, the state of Texas is not responsible for the failure of the legislature to do their work properly. The state dealt with these men just as if she was receiving value for the large sum of money expended by the two legislative sessions.

possible through the willingness of the people to be governed. If the people of the state act on the hypothesis that the state is an institution that is to be wronged and plundered as opportunity offers, then Texas has indeed descended to a much lower level than is involved in the idea of mendicancy.

The Telegram has thought from the beginning that the members of the legislature should welcome the opportunity to do the clean thing in the premises, and The Telegram as yet sees no reason to change or modify its often expressed views in that direction.

ROOSEVELT'S RATE PLAN

There has been considerable speculation as to what President Roosevelt is going to do with regard to the railway issue when congress assembles in December.

That the long and short haul of the original interstate commerce commission is to be re-asserted.

A provision relating to the shipment of merchandise by water and rail so as to prevent alleged manipulation of rates made possible in such circumstances is also embodied.

The commission shall have full authority to examine the books and records of the railroads and to prescribe the general form and manner in which such records shall be kept.

These things will cover the existing deficiencies in the present law, and if they are adopted in the form of an amendment to that law, then the long and determined fight for an efficient interstate commerce commission will have been in vain.

Texas cattle feeders complain of the price of oil mill products, and say the prices are prohibitive of feeding. The oil men are offering their mills for sale at less than cost, alleging that there is now no money to be made in the business.

BLANK CARTRIDGES IN WAR BY DR. WASHINGTON GLADDEN, Moderator of the Congregational Church.

The easy conviction of one joblot of packers makes it plain that the charges against the railroads and the big shippers are not mere rumor.

The railroad officials have been strenuously protesting that since the passage of the Elkins' law the rebate business has been stopped. The fact probably is that they have found other names for it. Fictitious damages to freight is one of these inventions.

While the congressional investigation was in progress last spring a great many big shippers were called to Washington, and their testimony was quite unanimous that all was well with the railroads; nothing was wrong so far as they knew as to rebates, they had not heard of them.

It happened to be in a western city one day last May when the principal shipper of that place was giving his testimony in Washington. He had been summoned by the railway officials, and he was saying what they wanted him to say.

The thing is well hit off by one of the cartoonists who represents the magistrate, having flung down the sword of justice, chastising one of these offenders with a bladder, while two of them, who have suffered their farcical infliction, are walking away in unconcealed glee.

One of the newspapers, discussing the outcome of this trial, and defending the leniency with which these men have been treated, speaks of them as "quasi criminals."

It is, however, explained that these men are not punished because nearly everybody else has been guilty of the same wrongdoing. If that reasoning has been said concerning the prevalence of this evil is more than justified.

chair he bowed his head in his hands, having as one would wish, when inquiring for one of his lordship's guests.

"Thank God!" he cried. "Now we can hush this greater horror up. Marske was always clever, and he has taken the best way out."

"What is it, father?" asked Lady Muriel. "May I see?"

"Read it out," said Lord Alphonso, rising heavily. "And then I will ask a favor of you all."

Lady Muriel's fresh young voice rang out firm and clear in the open air, but trembled almost to a whisper as she grasped the true significance of the news.

The telegram ran: "Regret to inform your lordship that Sir Gideon Marske, chancellor of the exchequer, drowned himself in the ornamental fountain at Marske hall today on receipt of telegraphic news of his son's death while aiding in rescue of lady on steamer Nightshade—Marryat-Hume, Private Secretary."

It was a full minute before the premier could speak, but when he found his voice it was to command us all to silence as to Sir Gideon Marske's initiative in the plot against him.

"I have his majesty's ear, Rivington," he said, turning to me. "I can rely on his tact to join us in this conspiracy of silence. To explain your escape it will be necessary to bring Rivington's part, but so far as the public is concerned let him be called a rascal. Roger Marske's misdeeds have no national importance, and can and shall have full publicity."

With which he abruptly left the room, to start on the short journey designed to secure for me an even more mighty ally than himself—the only one in the realm who had power to stay the doom that had been pronounced.

My sister's letters showed that after a week's honeymoon upon the river they had parted on good terms, and by mutual consent, she to return to her home in the New Forest, and he to resume his bachelor mode of life in London.

So matters went on till my mother's death, and fortunately for me it was easy to reconstruct Roger Marske's first crime from materials in one of Clara's letters.

Roger Marske, delayed in his purpose, but not daunted by the mischance of his scheme, seemed to have allowed six months to elapse, and then again to have sent my sister a box of comfits, one or more of which were poisoned.

The storm had died down as rapidly as it had risen, and the evening faded into night amid such a sunset glow as I had watched from the attic window of the vacant house on the cliff twenty-four pregnant hours ago.

Perhaps if he had had Herzog's subtle brain to help us, he would have shed light on anything that was obscure, but that many-sided victim of circumstances slept his last sleep somewhere out among the subsiding breakers on the Shingles, locked, maybe, in the embrace of the scoundrel who had guised his final desperate murderous errand as one of mercy.

My dear child," said Lord Alphonso soothingly, "the prime minister of England still has a few privileges, and among them I think you will find immunity from police intrusion. But what of Herzog? I have heard of him as a skillful secret agent, but not in connection with this plotter."

I, too, had noticed the slip. In her excitement my dear girl had forgotten the pledge she had given to Herzog to respect his alias, though his death robbed her lapse of any harm.

It was at about 11 o'clock, while Lady Muriel was bravely keeping up appearances by singing to us that the climax came. The butler entered, and with a scared face announced that three gentlemen and "two other persons" were asking for the "Mr. Martin" who was staying at "Springthorpe."

"What sort are these other persons, Dawkins?" inquired Ralph Carden from the piano, where he was turning over lady Muriel's music. "Don't be afraid, man. Speak up."

"They look like prison warders, sir," stammered the butler, aguish at such a visit. "They—they are not being having as one would wish, when inquiring for one of his lordship's guests."

"I'll soon settle their hash," said Carden, advancing to the door, but pausing as he reached it and placing his fingers to his lips.

For wheels sounded in the drive, and a moment later Lord Alphonso's voice was heard at the hall door. "Well, why are you fellows crowding me out of my own house?" he asked in cheery accents that seemed like the dawn of a new day.

A subdued rumble from the spokesman of the party was all that reached up in the drawing-room.

"Oh, indeed," came Lord Alphonso's resonant answer. "I have nothing to do with Mr. Martin's identity. But whatever it may be, you need put yourself to no further trouble about Capt. Rivington. I have here his majesty's full pardon for that gentleman, signed and sealed at Portsmouth on board the Victoria and Albert an hour ago. Just step into the light and cast your eye over the document."

It only remains to say that the great secret of Sir Gideon Marske's dastardly plot against his noble chief never reached the man in the street, nor was the enforced resignation of two colleagues in the cabinet ever connected in the public mind with my escape from Winchester. I have no doubt, however, that Lord Alphonso's private inquiries at the prison traced the blame to the proper quarters, and revealed to him how Herzog had wielded a key sufficiently powerful to open the door of my cage.

But if Sir Gideon escaped the everlasting obloquy of having schemed for the assassination of the prime minister, he fully shared the infamy, heaped on his son when Janet's treacherous treatment by him was made public after the investigation necessary to my final rehabilitation. Being deprived of the advantage which the trial of Roger Marske would have given me, I had that investigation rigorously pressed home, and among the minor fish caught in my net was Mrs. Webley, the newsvendor at Notting Hill.

The woman confessed that during Janet's absence from the shop Roger Marske had entered, and that it had been at his instigation, "for value received," that she had sent my brave sweetheart to the Mill House at Chipping Wyvern, which being near his father's country seat, he must have known of as a likely spot for compassing the death of the persistent little amateur detective who was so close on his heels.

And Janet and I, when we sit near the fire on winter evenings in the old cottage in the New Forest, where to honest Sarah Leven's delight, there was after all no sale, come to varying conclusions about the man who played so great a part in our life-tragedy.

"Herzog was a rascal, possibly a villain, but with the elements of a good fellow in him," I will say.

And my wife will catch me up severely with the answer: "I won't hear a word against him, Arthur. He was a dear. He gave you to me."

THE END.

There are a great many people in Texas who complain most bitterly about freight rates being inordinately high.

There is no doubt but that the damage suit industry has been largely responsible for high freight rates in Texas.

President Roosevelt announces that he is still standing pat on the railway regulation and control idea, and says in his message to congress in such public on Dec. 4 it will be found that he has not receded one particle from his original position—Fort Worth Telegram.

But the question is, What was his original position? While he was vice president and had no idea he would soon be president he said something about it being necessary in the future to shake things up in the past we had shaken force, but since he has been president we have heard of no shakings being forced; on the contrary we have sworn testimony that the party that nominated him accepted contributions from the cunning ones he threatened to shakele—Cleveland Register.

His original position was that the great railway corporations of the country must be brought under Federal control. As to the corporation campaign contributions, he is no more responsible than Parker was for those which were made to the democratic cause.

We notice from our exchanges that there is a demand from many parts of the state for a more efficient police force. Usually it is the true of the legislative department. The people are getting tired of sending nincompoops to our capital to make our laws.

To the thinking man the question occurs, why not obtain the very best talent in a matter of such vital importance to our people? Why not elect such men as James S. Hogg, M. M. Crane, R. M. Carwell, Horace Clifton, R. M. Wynne and William Pollock, men of the highest intellect, untiring energy, unshakable integrity and unwavering devotion to our country and its destiny.

It is true that such men would reluctantly enter into a scramble for the office, but they would not shirk their responsibilities, and called upon by the people. Honesty and qualifications should be the slogan of every voter.—Declarator Messenger.

The people are getting very tired of the class of material that offers for the state legislature of its own volition, and it is for this reason that the movement to call out the best material has originated. It is the only hope of relief.

Your Uncle Trav, so it is said, has made the statement that he could run the controller's office with six men. Well, if the office could be run on that air, Travis could run it all by himself, but as it cannot be run that way, he could not run it with a hundred men, unless he had an up-to-date chief clerk.

Uncle Trav is a plain farmer man and may not be strictly up to date in his business ideas, but he is honest and thoroughly conscientious. If he thinks the comptroller's office can be run with a force of six men, the farmer man should be given an opportunity to make good.

Verses That Ring

ABRAHAM AND EPHRAIM

He sermonized industriously in his didactic way. And moralized momentously with Ephraim every day. And taught by tale and proverb and by every good device. The virtuousness of virtue and the viciousness of vice.

His hortatory homilies, intended to impress the righteousness of righteousness, the sin of sinfulness. Were ever hurled at Ephraim throughout the whole year long. That he might rightly comprehend the wrongfulness of wrong.

"A youth can grow up virtuous, if we but pay the price. If we but saturate his soul with showers of advice; If we instill," said Abraham, "perpetual truth in him—"

And so in truth perpetually he soaked young Ephraim.

The youth absorbed a sermon every morning ere he ate. Or the awful reprobation of the awful reprobate. And he swallowed moral theses that were meant to edify. And he masticated maxims with his gingerbread and pie.

And 'twixt breakfast time and dinner the iniquity of sin. Was taught to him industriously and patiently rubbed in. The turpitude of turpitude was duly analyzed, and revealed to him how Herzog had wielded a key sufficiently powerful to open the door of my cage.

And then right after dinner the enormity of crime. And the wrong of immortality was preached till supper time. Then Abraham would sermonize through all the evening hours, And drench young Ephraim's consciousness in moralistic showers.

Thus through cumulative precept did Abraham desire. Accumulative virtue should young Ephraim acquire. He taught him virtue endlessly, and waited long to see. How superlatively virtuous young Ephraim would be.

This maxim-goaded Ephraim found right-ness in a few days. For savor is but an irritant when jammed into a sore; Even bread is innoxious if you resolve to cram. An indiscriminate bakery down the bursting ing diaphragm.

Thus by hortatory homilies did Abraham impress. The wrongfulness of righteousness, the goal of sinfulness. And taught by tale and proverb and by every good device. The virtuousness of virtue and the viciousness of vice.

Hence, Ephraim lived a reckless life and died a felon's death. But gave this vindication with his latest dying breath: "I have been sermonized to death; I die to speak precise. An unexpected victim of perpetual advice."

CHAPTER XXX. Aftermath of the Storm. Four hours later a council of war was assembled in the library at "Ardmore" to consider the proofs which Janet had received from Herzog, and the new light shed on my case by her experience at the hands of Roger Marske and his father.

These letters exculpate you completely and entirely, Capt. Rivington," he said. "I am proud to be the first to congratulate you, though we must not forget that you will be in danger till you have the king's pardon. Fortunately his majesty is no further off from Portsmouth today, and I shall start at once to procure an audience. In the meantime you will remain here as my guest."

"But, my lord, supposing the police come while you are gone," cried Janet, statesman rose, and coming over to me held out his hand.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR CATARRH
 Just Breathe Hyomei Four Times a Day and Be Cured

If a few years ago someone had said you can cure catarrh by breathing air charged with a healing balsam, the idea would have been ridiculed, and it remained for that eminent investigator, R. T. Booth, to discover in Hyomei this method of cure.

Hyomei has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh, and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy that can be relied upon to do just what it claims. The complete outfit of Hyomei costs $1.00, and consists of an inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei.

Breathe Hyomei through the inhaler for a few minutes four times a day and it will cure the worst case of catarrh. It soothes and heals the mucous membrane of the air passages, prevents irritation and effects a complete and lasting cure.

In Fort Worth there are scores of well-known people who have been cured of catarrh by Hyomei. If it does not cure you, R. A. Anderson will return the money you pay for Hyomei. This is the strongest evidence that can be offered as to his faith in the remedy.

THE LYCEUM TONIGHT
 The Popular Lyceum Course will open the season tonight at the city hall. Edward P. Elliott is the first number and will give tonight the very popular comedy, "David Harum." Mr. Elliott is to the lyceum platform what Joe Jefferson and Sol Smith Russell have been to the stage. He interprets or delineates a story of play, it is not read or recited, but acted out. Literally it means impersonation, but Mr. Elliott's subtle work lifts it far above that much abused term. Mr. Elliott's selection of "David Harum" for tonight is a happy one. Few stories of late years have been so well received. It is a great character sketch and with Mr. Elliott's art will be a delightful evening.

AUTO NUMBERS
PUZZLE PEOPLE

Cool Colorado Tags Get Mixed With Fort Worth Machines, Causing General Confusion

"Did you see auto No. 66?" "If you did, are you sure you know what it looked like? Was it green or red or what color was it?"

Cause of the above question is very plain as soon as one understands the difficulty. There are in fact two automobile numbers in town with the number 66 hanging on behind them. One of the cars has a Colorado license and the other a Fort Worth license. The car that is registered in the city lists as No. 66 is the latter. The other car also has a right to the number, as that is the one under which it was registered in Colorado Springs, where it spent the summer. The number is no good as a license in Fort Worth, however, as this city requires a separate license for cars remaining in the city.

The owner tried to get the same number in this city, but he was too late, as the other man had registered his car just ahead of him and secured the number as it came in regular order. The Colorado car is now in the city records, however, fall to show licenses for such numbers issued. These numbers are also Colorado tags.

INVESTOR OBJECTS TO POOR SIDEWALKS
 Postpones Removal to This City Until Improved Conditions Are Found

Secretary N. B. Moore of the Home Factory and Industrial association has received a letter from a friend who was in the city last week from Omaha looking over the field here.

After leaving and while on his way home he mailed the following letter to Judge Moore, which shows how an outsider looks at the sidewalk proposition as it exists in the city today:

"Dear Sir and Friend: I agreed to advise you what I would do in reference to the investment we had under contemplation. I find I can put in the amount of cash desired, but if I do it, and become active in the management it will require that I move to Fort Worth. My wife seriously objects to this. We now have a good home as you are aware, with conveniences and surroundings pleasant and agreeable. The objection that she makes is that the residence portion of your city is in the main without sidewalks. In many localities we have overgrown them, necessitating the use of the middle of the road. We went to look at some residence property the morning we left your city. A heavy dew had fallen the night before, in reaching the dwelling we desired to look at we had to go through the weeds and rubbish. The weeds were so high that they were driving Monday and the sidewalks, resulting in soiling our clothing so badly that she was utterly disgusted.

"One of the properties inspected was both very nice, but while it was in the very heart of the best residence locality the access to it by reason of the absence of sidewalks and weeds made it very undesirable to those who are accustomed to clean streets and good walks.

"If I should buy the property and put down my walk, and on both sides of me there is none, the mud and filth is carried onto the walks. Why don't you do as you do in other cities, and put the walks down, cut the weeds and remove the rubbish. If they refuse or neglect to do it, the city does it. The bill is certified to the tax collector and is charged to the property and it becomes a lien, and is collected as other taxes. I now feel inclined to make some investments in the business part of the city, but not to move my family here, at least until you cut down the weeds and put down sidewalks. I will be down again about Thanksgiving. As ever your friend,

"JACOB FISHER AND WIFE."

NEW CITY WILL BE BUILT TONIGHT
 Morning Will Find a Large Town of Tents at Prospect Park

Barnum & Bailey's much-exploited big circus exhibits here tomorrow, and that means a lively day, not only for the army of circus men, but also for the curious thousands who always find enjoyment in watching the interesting sights incident to a big show. Even the small boy who couldn't be hired to remain away, realizes that there are a hundred and one things of absorbing interest to be seen on the exhibition grounds, and he will be out in force to do honor to the occasion. The show comes from Weatherford and will reach Fort Worth at an early hour. There will be no delay in unloading the five long trains of cars used for transporting the paraphernalia, and as rapidly as possible the tents will be erected and the exhibition place in readiness for the inaugural free show and the performances that are to follow. This outside display will be given in front of the main exhibition tent between 10:30 and 11 o'clock in the morning and 5:30 and 6 o'clock in the evening. It will be entirely free to the public, but will be so new, so novel and so sensational as to constitute one of the most pleasing features of circus day. Instead of waiting on the streets for the usually delayed and conventional street parade, the public will be entertained, without charge, on the show grounds.

The two performances which are to be given in this city will be completed in every way. The first is at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and the final one at 8 p. m. The program is an exceptionally varied one. Particular attention has been given to aerial displays. The Imperial Viennese Troupe of high-art gymnasts number ten exceptionally clever men and women from the Austrian capital. The Selgrist-Silbon troupe of aerialists is a French importation. They created a sensation at Madison Square Garden by their remarkable double and twisting somersaults in mid-air, and are among the greatest artists that Europe has ever sent to America. Europe also sends Miss Rosa Wrenthorn, Ella Broderick and Dallis Johnson, three exceptionally gifted equestriennes, and a long list of other talented performers.

The best of the acrobats, and there are nearly a dozen troupes with the show, come from Italy and Germany. Among the most notable are the Florenz and Grunath troupes of gymnasts, who perform almost incredible feats of acrobaticism with a grace and skill that instantly win favor with the public.

The display of "high-school" horses has also attracted a great deal of attention. This department of the show presents the Sisters Huettnerman, the Baroness Kazimierska, Miss Minnie Johnson and many others. There is also an entire school of leaping horses and ponies.

The comedy part of the show is given under the management and direction of the famous clown, Spader Johnson. Harry Wentworth, Sam Watson, Frank Oakley, and thirty-five "Merry Andrews" keep the rings and hippodrome very much alive during the time they are "on." These fun makers are of the class known as "mechanical clowns," and they use a great deal of ingenious and interesting paraphernalia in their acts. The hippodrome races are rendered as exciting and realistic as possible by the use of genuine racing stock, and the chariot races, which are performed by wonderfully skilled men.

The manager is notable this year from the fact that it presents his show including the only mother elephant and pachyderm in captivity; four towering giraffes; a splendid specimen of the bi-horned rhinoceros recently secured in Africa; twenty camels and dromedaries, and fifty dozens of rare caged animals.

The show is preceded by a splendidly costumed spectacle. This gorgeous display is entitled "The Durbar at Delhi," and it serves to introduce hundreds of men, women and children, and scores of animals in a magnificent oriental display. The big sensations of the show this year are furnished by Mlle. Mauricia de Tiers, who shoots forty feet through space in an automobile and solo, the Voltant who leaps the chasm on a bicycle. Owing to the great amount of paraphernalia required in these daring acts, they will be presented in the early part of the program at the night show. Reserved seats may be secured down town all day tomorrow at the Burton-Peel Dry Goods Company, Seventh and Main streets, and on the show grounds, Prospect Park, at the opening hours.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS WILL MEET TONIGHT
 Up-to-date Garage to Be Organized and Controlled by Local Owners and Operators

There will be another meeting tonight at the Worth of those who are interested in the organization of the company which is to go into the automobile business and maintain an up-to-date and extensive garage. The meeting is to be held at 7:30 o'clock in the parlors of the hotel and it is hoped by those who are devoting time to the organization that there will be another large and successful meeting. Nearly seventy licenses have been issued to motor car owners, a few of these being transfers, and there ought to be thirty or forty enthusiasts at the meeting tonight.

Progress has been made toward securing further signatures to the list of prospective stockholders. Mr. Wharton and Mr. Sloan, who compose the committee to secure members to the company, have been working hard since the last meeting and a sufficient amount has now been subscribed to insure the organization of the corporation, and at the meeting tonight steps toward that end will be taken.

At the meeting tonight every motor car owner or prospective owner should be present, whether merely as a spectator or as an actual subscriber to the corporation. A number of auto owners may have not been visited by the committee, but that should not deter any one from participating in the meeting. Efforts have been made to reach every one, but in some cases the committee has been unable to do so through no fault of its own.

NORTH FORT WORTH KINDERGARTEN OPENS
 New Building Occupied for Present Term. Old Folks' Concert Given to Raise Needed Funds

An entertainment was given at the Rosen Heights Pike Monday night for the benefit of the kindergarten of North Fort Worth. The program was a success from start to finish and a large crowd was present. The program was as follows: Old folks' concert chorus, "Annie Lisle"; vocal solo, Mrs. Nettie Everett; Grooming, Mrs. M. J. Tilton; Mrs. Bradley; Mrs. Tomlin; "Comin' Through the Rye," chorus of little girls; reading, Miss Nellie Williams; solo, "My Little Rag Doll," Sallie Slinger; mandolin solo, Miss Jones; vocal solo, Mrs. Schumann; chorus, "Swanee River"; reading, Miss White; vocal solo, Mrs. George Dupree; reading, Miss Ellen Hewitt; "The Broken Pitcher," Miss Hays; Messrs. Dressler and Evans; solo, Mrs. Will Estlin; vocal solo, Miss Ruby Hays; Scottish dance, Miss Edna Allen, accompanied by Miss Hazel Morrell; chorus, "Mamma's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

The kindergarten at North Fort Worth opened Monday with Miss Bowlin in charge of the kindergarten department, assisted by Miss Kember of North Fort Worth and Mrs. Kuykendall in charge of the primary department. The building was quite ready for use, as the wall papering was not finished, so the children were taken care of outside under the trees. This morning, however, the building was finished and the school was opened. There are about fifteen children enrolled.

The Kindergarten Association will give a reception to all friends in the kindergarten building Friday afternoon.

GRAIN RATES ATTACKED
 Oklahoma Shipper Declares Rate to This City is Unfair

Captain B. B. Padlock, secretary of the board of trade here, has written a letter to W. O. Mitchell of Kansas City, an owner of grain property in Oklahoma Territory. Mr. Mitchell deals with the grain rates from his shipping post to Fort Worth, Kansas City and Chicago. He claims that the rate is a discrimination against Fort Worth and cities the rate to Chicago which is exactly the same as that to Fort Worth, one being 200 miles away and the other about 850 miles. The rate to Kansas City is 23 cents for a distance of nearly 400 miles, while that to Fort Worth is 28 cents. At the time of the raise the rates to Gainesville, Waverston and other Texas points went up.

The writer goes on to say that he is not particularly interested in the case, but that his sympathies were aroused and that he is willing to have the case taken up in his name although he does not care to take an active part in the case. He says he has copies of the complaints that were made to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington and of the answers if desired.

AMUSEMENTS

The versatile German dialect comedian and singer, Al H. Wilson, will be seen under the management of Sidney R. Ellis in a light comedy, "The German Gypsy" at Greenwall's opera house tonight at 8:15.

The play is brim full of bright lines, laughable situations and original character studies. The story is well told throughout and is just complicated enough to keep the fun going at a rapid rate all the time, with enough pathos here and there to throw in the darker shades by the way of contrast.

In "The German Gypsy" Mr. Wilson has a role that will commend him as a comedian of delightful methods, a character fairly scintillating with clever sayings, and as he reads his lines very rapidly you will be kept busy all the time he is on the stage catching his points, for he will not stop to see whether you have or not.

Mr. Wilson will be ably supported by a large cast, including such players as Ross O'Neal, Thomas Hunter, Miss Mabel Wright, Lillian Rhoads, Florence Shepherd, Francis Ibbotson, etc.

"AROUND THE TOWN"

We are to have Wednesday matinee and 11 o'clock evening performances of the new comedy, "Around the Town," a new comedy. Murray and Mack are at the head of the organization. This is the most pretentious offering Murray and Mack have ever attempted. This will make Murray and Mack's fourth consecutive season as stars at the head of their own organization, a record which has never been duplicated in farce comedy history. While Murray and Mack are comparatively young men, they are with three or four exceptions, in point of continual activity together, the oldest team before the public. An entire new equipment of scenery, and a complete set of new gowns have been provided for the choruses.

BLACK PATTI TROUBADOURS

The best aggregation of singers, dancers and comedians in the country will be the attraction at Greenwall's opera house Monday matinee and night. For the first time this season the world famous Black Patti Troubadours will be seen in one of the best shows it has ever presented, excepting.

A LITTLE STEALTH

Some of the most lovable and best people in the world are cranky, and a "beetle" hard to manage, particularly when you want to do them good. Then it is that justifiable and righteous artfulness may be resorted to. As, for instance, in the following case given by a devoted wife and mother, in Iowa:

"This spring my daughter, who is a teacher, became convinced that coffee was doing her harm as it caused distress and belching after eating. She felt that she needed a warm drink in the morning but disliked hot water or milk. Then our daily use of Grape-Nuts suggested Postum.

"For some time my husband, who has been a user of coffee from his youth, had been more than usually troubled with sleeplessness and nervousness and I felt that Postum might be helpful to him. The question was how to persuade them to leave off drinking coffee and try Postum, against which they had repeatedly expressed prejudice. I resolved to try an experiment and make the best of it.

"Without acquainting them with the fact I made Postum according to directions, but added a teaspoonful of good coffee. I poured it out with some misgivings, but was delighted to see that no one could tell from its appearance that it was not rich, strong coffee. Its use was continued for a week with the coffee addition, then that was gradually withdrawn, until only the pure Postum remained, and still the change had not been detected.

"Two things were very noticeable, however, that my daughter had begun to rapidly improve in health, her dyspepsia left, and my husband was enjoying sweet, refreshing sleep.

"When I ventured to tell them what I had done, he asked for a return to the coffee, and I gladly made it for him; but one day satisfied him, the old sleeplessness came back and he is better. So we have used it ever since to the benefit of the whole family." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DIVORCE HEARINGS WILL NOW PROCEED
 Polytechnic Students Decide Legal Separation May Be Properly Applied to Put Asunder

The question as to whether the divorce should be allowed was vigorously assailed and at the same time skillfully defended by members of the Philosophian society of the Polytechnic College in the regular meeting Monday. The record finally stood that the divorce law should not be abolished, but should stand.

It was only after a hot debate that the question was finally settled and the matter left to record that the divorces of the society were better able to convince the judges that they were right.

The question as debated was as follows: "Resolved: That the Divorce Law Should Be Abolished." The negative team which won the debate was composed of J. R. Wilson, F. M. Holmes and W. B. Abbott. Their opponents were F. Snyder, Zeak Herrin and W. Harrison.

FACTORY CLUB TO GATHER STATISTICS
 Manufacturing Census Being Taken with View of Encouraging Home Industry and Consumption

The secretary of the Factory Club has issued a request that every factory of every kind in Fort Worth send a representative to the office of the association in the Powell building in Main street for a complete compilation of every industry is being made. The association wants name, location, business, hands employed, etc.

The purpose of the list is to encourage, advertise and assist in building home industries.

FREEMAN RECAPTURED
 Prisoner Who Escaped from Weatherford Jail Caught Near City

The sheriff and two deputies made a capture Monday of an escaped prisoner from the Weatherford jail. The man caught is George Freeman, who had been sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

As noted in The Telegram Monday Freeman had been seen by farmers in the White Settlement. The fact was reported to the sheriff's office and immediately a force of deputies headed by the sheriff started for the scene. Here, for the first time, they caught out the greater part of the day, resulting in Freeman's capture, when the officers were about to give up the chase. Freeman was found by Deputies Purvis and Back and brought to Fort Worth late in the evening and lodged in jail. Freeman was well supplied with money, having $1,700.

 Rheumatism Thoroughly Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

There is one remedy that will cure rheumatism in any of its forms and so thoroughly eradicate the disease from the system that the cure is permanent. This remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and the proof of the statement is found in the experience of Mr. T. S. Wagar, of No. 72 Academy street, Watertown, N.Y. He says:

"The pain was in my joints and my sufferings for over two years was beyond description. There was an intense pain in my shoulders that prevented me from sleeping and I would get up and walk the floor at night. When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the improvement was gradual, but by the time I had taken four boxes I was entirely cured and I have not had the slightest touch of rheumatism since that time."

Mr. Wagar's wife is also enthusiastic in her endorsement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I have tried the pills myself for stomach trouble and have experienced great relief from their use. My daughter, Mrs. Atwood, of Gill street, Watertown, has used them for female weakness and was much benefited by them. I regard Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People as an extremely valuable family medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mr. Wagar by driving the rheumatic poison out of his blood. As shown by the experience of Mr. Wagar's wife, they also drive out the germs of other diseases, and build up the blood to carry health, strength and vigor to every organ of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured the worst cases of bloodlessness, indigestion, influenza, headaches, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness, spinal weakness, and the special ailments of girls and women whose blood supply becomes weak, scanty or irregular. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are safe as well as effective as they are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drugs and cannot injure the most delicate system. NO HAZARD ALLOWED AT A. AND M. COLLEGE Senior and Junior Students Issue Notices That Practice Will Not Be Permitted

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 10.—For many years the practice of hazarding has given the authorities of the Agricultural and Mechanical College much trouble. Although the penalty for its practice by the students is expulsion, it has year after year been indulged in. In fact it has become a student tradition that a freshman deserved a certain amount of punishment to show him his true position in college. This year has witnessed a reaction on the part of the student body that will probably put an end to the undesirable custom. Both the senior and the junior classes have passed resolutions condemning the practice and posted notices to that effect on the bulletin board. This action it is hoped will forever relieve the Agricultural and Mechanical College from the reproach which would come to it by having one of its students injured at the hands of midnight hazards.

Four Hundred Students Enrolled There are now about 400 students at the Agricultural and Mechanical College. But few more can be comfortably accommodated on account of a lack of dormitory facilities. Year after year this condition of affairs is repeated. The dormitories are filled up early in the session, and students who apply later must be denied admission. It will be impossible for the Agricultural and Mechanical College to grow or to fulfill the purposes for which it was created until it receives more generous treatment at the hands of the legislature.

Textile engineering and electrical engineering are subjects which have only recently been added to the curriculum of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The department of architectural engineering is of even more recent origin. The registration of students in each of these departments shows, however, that there exists a demand for such instruction. The senior class for this session consists of three applicants for the degree of architectural engineer, three for the degree of textile engineer, and ten for the degree of electrical engineer. These men will receive sufficient practical experience in their profession, in addition to a thorough theoretical knowledge of it, to enable them to enter upon its practice under the most favorable conditions. Until this session it has not been possible to obtain training in architectural engineering in any institution of learning in Texas. The building for textile engineering and the instruction in cotton manufacture offered therein, is the first venture of the sort ever attempted west of the Mississippi river. The department of electrical engineering will be watched with deep interest by both the cotton producer and the cotton manufacturer. The entire number of graduates of the Agricultural and Mechanical College for the session of 1905-1906 will be fifty students. Besides the departments mentioned above there will be graduates in agriculture, civil engineering and mechanical engineering.

Students Teams to Judge For the past two years the Agricultural and Mechanical College has sent teams of students to engage in stock judging contests at the State fairs and at the National Live Stock Association at Chicago. Last year the team who went to Chicago stood fourth best of any team representing a college and won some valuable money prizes. The department of animal husbandry will this session send a team to each of the state fairs at Dallas and San Antonio and to the Chicago exhibition. These contests are also open to the sons of farmers who have had no scientific training, and who are uniformly unsuccessful in winning prizes.

One of the most attractive features of the life at College Station is the music furnished by a college choir and the College Glee Club, both of which are composed entirely of young men. The college choir sings for services at the chapel and for the regular worship conducted on Sunday by the college chaplain. The glee club gives concerts at College Station and at near-by towns.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College comes in touch with the largest number of people through the work of its experiment stations. These stations carry on experiments dealing with every feature of the life of the farm and ranch, results of which are published in bulletins distributed free to all applicants. A list of 25,000 names of Texas farmers and ranchmen is kept, to whom are sent all special issues of the bulletins. At present there are either in the hands of the printer, or in course of preparation by the different members of the faculty and officers of the experiment stations bulletins on the following subjects:

"Corn—a Test of Varieties for Texas Growing From Every Section of the United States;" "General Field Crops;" "Destructive Corn Insects;" "The Pure Food Law—What the 'Eye Tag Means';" "The Effect of High and Low Temperature on Maintenance of Rice Soils;" "Feeding Cotton Seed Meal to Hogs;" "Experiments in Feeding Cattle With Molasses and Rice;" "Beach Growing in Texas;" "Agriculture in the Public Schools;" "Tomato at the Troupe Experimental Station;" "Irrigation."

Cattlesmen Protest AT DIPPING ORDER New Mexico Shippers Will Endeavor to Have Government Modify Order They Cannot Fulfill

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 10.—New Mexico cattlemen are preparing a protest against the orders requiring cattle dipping. In most cases the stockmen have delayed building tanks or making other preparations for carrying out the provisions of the law, and they declare that dipping their cattle late in the season would work great hardship. The stockmen admit that the order was issued in ample time so that preparations could be made and the dipping process could have been completed before the approach of cool weather, but the order was neglected, and the respective shippers are in a quandary. They must obey the orders, with a resulting loss, take their DANGER AVERTED. If a man should cross a deadly snake in his pathway, he would quickly crush it beneath his heel before it could sink its poisonous fangs into his flesh. He would not step out of the way and temporize with the dangerous reptile. And yet how many people are there who temporize with a still more deadly enemy—consumption. Like a silent serpent, it glides along almost unnoticed. First a cold, or sore throat, then a slight cough, then catarrh, then bronchitis, then bleeding from the lungs and finally death. The way to crush out the threatening evil is to fortify the system and purify the blood with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Every weakness and abnormal condition that precedes consumption is cured by this discovery. At the first sign of derangement of stomach, liver and blood, look out! It is only a question of time until the lungs will be attacked through the impure blood, and then the danger will be more deadly.

It should be known to every sick person that Dr. R. V. Pierce will give carefully considered, fatherly, professional advice by mail to all who write him at his office. No charge or fee of any nature is asked. Mr. Moses Horner, of Stahlstown, Penna., writes: "Last fall I took a severe cold (the result of wet feet) and this brought on a cough and bronchitis which lasted all winter. I used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two of the bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' also one package of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I am now cured. Many thanks to you." An honest dealer will not try to persuade you to take a worthless substitute in place of the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the sake of a little added profit.

and the orders, or secure a modification of the orders. Of all modes of procedure, the stockmen prefer the last. They hope to bring the matter to the attention of the secretary of agriculture in such form as to result in modifications which will make it possible to defer the dipping process until spring. In the districts where there is no scrub—which includes the most important shipping districts, the cattlemen will ask that an inspector be sent to ascertain the truth of the claims that dipping is unnecessary.

Cattle shipments are small in this district. Occasional lots of stock are moving through to market, but only in a half-hearted way. It is decidedly an off season. A lot of stuff from Columbus, N. M., which has been held up for some time past on account of the Imperial valley floods, is about to be moved to California. From Pecos county a lot of small stuff will be moved in the next few days, coming from different ranches.

The Riverside ranch in Chihuahua will send 1,500 cattle to market next week. The Island, several miles below El Paso, which was completely flooded during high water last spring, is about to furnish a quantity of sheep, goats and cattle for market. The Island was put on the Mexican side of the river by the change in the channel, and the stock owners moved their animals farther into Mexican territory. The stock will be moved within the next couple of weeks.

A number of trainloads of sheep will be shipped from Chihuahua ranches to the United States the latter part of this year. Six thousand sheep will be moved during November, according to figures furnished by the railroads, and 10,000 in December. The buyers, who usually begin to become evident at this season, are slow in putting in an appearance. They are not showing much interest in the situation at this stage in the game.

There has been a large movement of range horses during the past few weeks, from Arizona and New Mexico at eastern points, chiefly to east Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. There has perhaps been no greater demand for horses this season than last, but the available supply has been smaller, and consequently the buying has been more spirited. Most of the buying has been done by a few parties.

PLATT TAKES UP REINS New York Leader Sends Out Call to Lieutenants

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Senator Thos. Collier Platt, says today's Times, is sending out the following letters to leaders, lieutenants and recognized party workers of high caliber wherever they may be found in the sixty-one counties of the state: "No. 49 Broadway, New York, Oct. 10, 1905: If convenient please call at my office at 11 o'clock—morning. If the date will not suit your convenience, notify stating objections." "T. C. PLATT." Scores of these have gone out from the place which for so many years has afforded a meeting place for republican leaders. Beginning with this week, perhaps today and certainly tomorrow, it is confidently expected that the office of the Tioza chiefman will assume all of its old-time political atmosphere.

MILLIONAIRE SCHWAB AFTER SEAT IN SENATE

Rumor Has It He Will Endeavor to Succeed Newlands in Nevada

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Oct. 18.—Chas. M. Schwab, the steel magnate, who arrived here from New York last week in his private car, accompanied by John McKane, his western representative, will in time acquire a residence in this state with a view to going to the United States senate to succeed Senator Newlands, also a multi-millionaire, but a democrat. The republicans are now in power in Nevada, and Schwab, on account of his enormous investments in the gold and silver mines of the state, is pointed to as a logical successor of Newlands.
The two hundred mile mineral zone that is now identified by experts as an extension of the great Comstock gold and silver belt, of which Goldfield is the center, and which harbors thousands of souls where but a few years ago coyotes roamed at will, owes its prosperity and progress largely to the money quietly sent into the district by Charles M. Schwab, and now that he is here, the masses are Mothers! Retain Your Youthful Figures.

To be beautiful is to be loved by all. If there lives the woman who is indifferent to this she is yet to be heard of. Yet from time immemorial society has recognized what they thought to be a detriment in the way of such a realization. The bearing of children has meant to them the marred physical beauty of figure, without which beauty of face would be of little account. Nothing could be more remote from truth than this; childbirth is purely a natural phenomenon, accompanied by pain, to be sure, but if properly managed no more harmful in its effects upon the human form than any other natural function.
MOTHER'S FRIEND
is essential in the proper management of every case of labor; it relaxes and softens the abdominal muscles, thereby enabling them to sustain the stretching that they must undergo, and from this very fact it facilitates their return to normal proportions after childbirth, and it is obvious that pain must be greatly lessened from this very reason.
It is a liniment, it is harmless, it is potent, it is priceless in results, it is Mother's Friend. At no per bottle at drug stores. Our book of priceless value sent free to all women.

SHERMAN, TEXAS, GOES WILD OVER HEALER

Marvelous Transformation of Local Physician Causes Wonder in All Circles

Crowds See Wonder Worker

Startling Manifestation of Power is Sole Topic of Conversation on Streets, in Business Houses and in Homes of the City

(From Sherman Democrat.)
"He's a man of the most marvelous vitality I ever saw and has the hottest hands—hands that burn you."
This remarkable statement was made by Dr. J. A. Sadler, a man who at one time had the largest practice any physician ever had in Grayson county, and the subject of his eulogy was the noted healer, Prof. J. Austin Larson.
"In strength I have improved over a hundred per cent in a week," Dr. Sadler continued, addressing the reporter. "When I came here a week ago I was suffering from asthma, constipation, nervousness, sleeplessness, irregular heart action and depression. Now everything is changed. My asthma has not bothered me once since I began Prof. Larson's treatment; his power acting on me like a physis; my nervousness is gone and I am so much stronger. For ten days and nights I hadn't been able to sleep, but now I sleep soundly every night and I slept four hours this afternoon, something I had not been able to do in a long time."
"How's your heart?" queried the reporter.
"It is cured," was the emphatic reply. "My physicians warned me not to think of climbing stairs and said that I was liable to die at any time from heart failure. They said nothing could help me. I guess the quick results in my case surprised Prof. Larson, and I know they did me. When I first came to him and he learned I was seventy-two years old, he said: 'At your age, doctor, I'm afraid I can't do anything for you, except perhaps to make you a little more comfortable.' He has done that and more."
"What do you think of this treatment?" was asked.
"It is the greatest treatment in the world," the doctor emphatically replied. "The medical profession is coming to recognize this."
Few men are better known in Sherman than Dr. Sadler. For nearly a half century he has practiced medicine and for thirty years he has lived here. Previously he practiced at Bonham and during the war he served three years as a surgeon in the Confederate army.

YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR HOME PROOF—YOU HAVE IT

The thing for you to do, if you are sick, is to see personally or write to Dr. J. A. Sadler, Sherman, Texas; Mr. Alex Mangrum, Route 1, Detroit, Texas; Mr. T. L. Cashion, Bonham, Texas, or the Editors of the Sherman Democrat, the Sherman Register, the Bonham News, the Bonham Herald, the Paris News and the Paris Advocate, and ascertain the truth of these statements. Or write to any bank or business man in Sherman, Texas, to ascertain the genuineness of these statements. Then place yourself under the treatment of the man who is curing your neighbors.

Three great mining camps—Goldfield, Tonopah and Bullfrog.
Charles M. Schwab already occupies an important position in Nevada mining as does United States Senator William A. Clark in Montana. He has now easily $10,000,000 invested in Nevada mines, and most of this is "revel." His original investment of $150,000 has grown into the $10,000,000. Personally, he is looking for no other millionaire ever was in Nevada, because he has been willing to reinvest his profits.
It was John McKane who brought the Tonopah Extension to the notice of Charles M. Schwab. Having secured an option on the ground from Lockhart, who had practically exhausted his financial resources, McKane called upon Robert C. Hall, a prominent mining broker, and asked to be put in touch with someone who would "take a chance" on a straight mining proposition. Hall then introduced him to Schwab. The deal was consummated and the Tonopah Extension is now a big dividend-payer, and its stock is selling in the market at a valuation of $5,000,000 for the property.

This success firmly established McKane in the good opinion of Schwab. Since that time he has acted as the western representative of the steel magnate, and has, from year to year, extended the scope of his operations, until their combined holdings include several of the most valuable properties in Southern Nevada's aridly, only to climb up and hoist the waste rock, and repeating time after time this same arduous routine of hard work—these were a few of the obstacles that Tom Lockhart surmounted in developing the Tonopah Extension. This is the most remarkable in view of the fact that there were no surface indications to hold out hope that commensurate rewards would follow. The shaft was put down through nothing but hungry porphyry. Lockhart, however, had a theory. It was the same as the one advanced later by John Hays Hammond, the great mining authority, in effect that the mizpah ledge possessed continually below the surface overflow of porphyry. This theory decided Charles M. Schwab to invest $150,000 in the property for its purchase and development. The shaft was continued to a depth of over six hundred feet, where pay ore in tremendous bodies was found.

HAD TO HIDE IT

A mother wrote us recently that she had to keep Scott's Emulsion under lock and key—her children used to drink it whenever her back was turned. Strange that children should like something that is so good for them. It's usually the other way. Scott's Emulsion makes children comfortable, makes them fat and rosy-checked. Perhaps that's why they like it so much—they know it makes them feel good.

PROF. J. AUSTIN LARSON

ORIGINATOR of the GREAT TELECONI TREATMENT

GREAT DAY AT DENISON
Last Saturday was a great day in Denison. It was then J. Austin Larson, D. R. NoVile, the noted healer, made their first trip to this place, and all day long Simpson's Palace Hotel was crowded with the sick. They came from everywhere, from all over the city, from all parts of Grayson county, from neighboring counties, from Indian Territory and one man came from within fourteen miles of the Kansas line. All came on a common errand, to see the men who have conducted such a great campaign of healing in Northern Texas for the past two months, and especially to see the man who put old Dr. J. A. Sadler of Sherman on his feet. The strong indorsement of our former fellow townsman, Thornton Shurrey, augmented the crowd. The people came singly, in pairs, in families and by neighborhoods. They were seated in the office, in the halls, in the consulting rooms, but efforts to handle the people were almost fruitless on account of the overwhelming rush. A similar crowd, bent on a similar mission, was probably never seen in the history of Denison, but the prospects are, from the favorable reports on the streets, that as large a crowd will visit these men next week. The only difference is, many will be in at 9 a. m. sharp in order to keep out the rush at the noon hours. As long as these men continue to do the work they have been doing in Grayson county during the past two months, they can't continue their offices in Denison too long.

MIRACULOUS RECOVERY
PARIS, May 13.—A man from Kansas, Prof. J. Austin Larson, a natural healer, has the whole town and country agog with excitement on account of a miracle performed on a bed-ridden Red River county farmer. In Detroit, near which place the farmer lives, it is almost the sole topic of conversation.
The story leads through a tale of sickness and suffering. The man who was the sufferer for years and is the recipient of this modern miracle of healing is Mr. Alex Mangrum, Route 1, Detroit, Texas. It was with the utmost difficulty that Mr. Mangrum could even walk around the house. Indigestion, lack of assimilation of food, catarrh and constipation were the steps on the downgrade of ill health and later his physicians, of whom he had a dozen or more, pronounced his trouble consumption.
All that has changed. He now walks with the elasticity of youth, his bowels are regular, his fever gone and he has gained four pounds in less than a week. Before he was kept alive with stimulants. Now food—good, wholesome food with a digestion capable of taking care of it, is causing new life to course through his veins. As to the healer, this one case has made him famous here, and the people are glad at last something good has come out of Kansas.

INDIANS GATHER AT "FOUR SIX" RANCH

Quannah Parker and Comanches Discussing Government Lease Plans with S. B. Burnett
Word has been received here that Captain S. B. Burnett is entertaining the celebrated Indian chief, Quannah Parker, on his Four Six ranch in King county. The great Comanche chief is accompanied by his three squaws, one daughter and two sons and about fifty of the Comanche tribe. Captain Burnett left here about a week and a half ago for his ranch especially to receive and entertain Chief Parker and his Indians in the old-fashioned manner that is so dear to the red man.
Captain Burnett has provided a royal entertainment for his guests. He furnishes them with a fat cow every day for their subsistence, and also access to all the grass and water they wish.
The chief is very much worried over the future of the red man, and especially the Comanches, as he is afraid that the government will finally take the land away from them and leave them to starve. They are dissatisfied with the five-year lease proposition and would prefer to rent the land to the cattlemen, as they would get more money as well as cattle and horses.
It is reported that Captain Burnett and Chief Parker are trying to arrange for a deal whereby the chief trades the Comanche allotment of 80,000 acres in the Comanche reservation for Burnett's King county ranch of 350,000 acres, including cattle, horses and all the ranch equipment. The report is discredited here as the deal does not appear to be an even one, besides the fact that the government probably would not allow the Indian to do as he wished in a matter like that.

Beware of the Physic You Take!

A physic often does more harm than good. It is not so much the physic, though, as it is the class of physic you take.
Most preparations sold as laxatives and cathartics are dangerous. They do accomplish what they are advertised to do—move the bowels—but they entirely upset the stomach, and often produce complications.
These preparations in the form of tablets and pills, usually gripe, cause nausea, and once you begin taking them a dangerous "physic habit" is formed. The bowels soon become unable to perform their functions without the unnatural aid of the "tablet," just like some people find it impossible to sleep without taking "sleeping powders."
A safe remedy for all stomach disorders is
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin
It never creates a "habit." It does not operate on the stomach and bowels as most remedies do. The pepsin contained in it is a great digester. It quickly relieves the distress of indigestion, without any of the dangers which come with the use of soda.
As a laxative it produces quick and pleasant results. No stomach is too weak to be benefited by it; no condition is beyond its power to cure. All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50c and $1.00.
Your money back if it doesn't benefit you.
Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.

The investigation now in progress is manifestly so searching and so fair I believe any court investigation by our insurance officers would naturally do more harm than good."

THE TELEGRAM SWAYNE PREDICTS DOLLAR OIL SOON

Humble Dealer Declares Supply Is Constantly Diminishing in Texas Field

Conditions of oil fields at Humble are anything but encouraging, according to the statement made today by James S. Swayne, who is one of the heavy dealers in that district. Mr. Swayne was in Fort Worth about two or three weeks ago and at that time said the oil in the wells at that point were rapidly diminishing. He now says that the output is still growing less and that it is only a matter of time when there will be very little oil produced in the Humble district.

He says that the prices of oil are rapidly advancing, that when he left Humble a day or so since the price was 33 cents per barrel. In July, he says, the price of oil there was 15 cents. The shortage is rapidly forcing the price up and Mr. Swayne believes that it will not be long before oil will be selling at the wells for $1 per barrel. He has many million barrels stored and proposes to hold. He absolutely refuses to sell now.

When last in this city he said the output at Humble was 80,000 barrels. Today he says it is 27,000, showing that the output is gradually being reduced. Mr. Swayne says that in the Jennings field the output is also growing less. In fact, less oil is being produced in all fields than formerly, and the situation is growing serious. All these things, he says, portend higher priced oil which he adds is sure to come within a short time.

Mr. Swayne also says that there never was such a demand as now for refined oils all over the country. He says that it will not be long before the people of Texas will be forced to pay 50 per cent more for coal oil. It is his prediction that all oil is bound to go higher in price.

Clarence P. Dodge, purchasing agent for the Texas company at Beaumont, is in the city to close a deal for oil for fuel.

IT IS POSSIBLE TO SECURE WATER SERVICE AGAIN BY PAYING THE DELINQUENCY, but after the disconnection has once been made, a dollar fee to cover the reconnection is charged. Today is the last day for keeping the service running without the additional expense.

EXTRA PAY MAY COME UP AGAIN

Alderman Henderson Still Opposed to Granting of Extra Compensation

Alderman J. F. Henderson is now considering whether or not he will proceed to make petition to the city council asking that it grant him a portion of the money in excess of $200 received by the city physician for extra services in writing health certificates as a compromise and in consideration of his extra services as a member of the council in making a fight on the proposition to give the physician all fees collected for writing health certificates. The alderman considers that he saved the city treasury $500 and jokingly says it is likely he will make petition for granting of a part of the money thus saved to him as extra compensation for services as alderman.

Seriously, in connection with the question raised by many citizens as to whether the city council had a right to grant petition of the city physician for extra compensation, the alderman from the Seventh ward says that he holds to the same position submitted by him at the last meeting of the council in regard to the proposition.

"I cannot see," he said, "that the city council has a right to grant extra compensation to any officer of the municipal government for doing those things which are expressly made a part of his duties by the laws of Fort Worth.

"The salary of the city physician is fixed by the charter at $1,500 per annum. The health ordinance defines the peculiar duties and powers of the city physician. The reason I took such a decided stand on the matter at the last meeting of the council is that I was a member of the committee which drafted the sections of the health ordinance several years ago and I remember distinctly that the writing of health certificates is stated as one of the specially defined duties of the city physician. It is also required that he shall turn over all such moneys so collected to the city treasury.

"If the physician had to do something which is not required in the ordinance of the city as a part of his regular duties, then I hold that we should pay him for such extra duties, for the charter gives the council power to meet such emergencies; but, in this case, the physician was only doing what is required as a part of his regular duties and for this reason I opposed the granting of the petition and voted against the compromise which gave him $200 over and above his regular salary of $1,500 per year.

City Attorney E. C. Grick this morning declined to render legal opinion in the matter. The city attorney said:

"I regret to say that this is a matter on which I cannot give you an opinion. If I am requested to render such opinion by any executive head of the city government, I will do so. If the council or by the council in session then I will speak and not until then."

Dr. Lyman A. Barber, city physician, at the last meeting of the city council presented a petition signed by members of the council, asking that moneys received from him by the city treasurer be allowed him for the reason that he, not being able to attend to his regular duties as city physician and at the same time remain at his office to issue health certificates, was forced to employ a person to remain in his office and issue such certificates.

Objection was made to the petition by members of the council and an argument on the floor followed, finally ending in the passage of a compromise resolution to allow the city physician $200, or $50 per month for four months, in view of his having to employ extra office force for the purpose of writing health certificates.

The warrant was drawn by City Secretary Montgomery in obedience to the action of the council, Oct. 3, and has been paid to Dr. Barber.

Extra pay has also been voted members of the board of equalization of taxes for the past two years.

TELEGRAM WEDNESDAY WILL BE ALL NEWS

Advertising Columns Will Contain Announcements of Special Interest to Fort Worth People

Advertising columns of the Telegram will possess a special news value Wednesday afternoon, containing important business announcements. These announcements are of special interest to Fort Worth people, telling of special prices made by the merchants of the city to induce mid-week shopping.

There is a reason for all things and the reason for this is a good one. Usual end of the week rush, noted in the stores of the city, means an end of the week rush and strain upon the employees and facilities of the establishments. Good business sense has shown the merchants that increased cost of operation in this way can be cut down to the mutual advantage of themselves and customers by inducing a division of the trade.

Amounts one time expended in this way are now used in offsetting reduced prices, the benefit going to the customers. Wednesday's Telegram will contain announcements of such bargains for Thursday.

COTTON PICKERS WANTED

Local Roads Report Heavy Movement to North

The demand for cotton pickers in the Panhandle and in Oklahoma continues and the Denver road and Rock Island are hauling out large numbers of men daily. The Rock Island Monday carried 150 pickers from this city to Snyder and Hobart, while equally as large numbers went up the Denver to places around Vernon. This road has carried about eight hundred men to the Panhandle thus far to pick cotton. Representatives of farmers in Oklahoma are here daily looking for men. Rock Island officials say that at least 2,000 more pickers can be utilized at once. Seventy-five cents per 100 pounds is the price being paid pickers. The same figures prevail in the Panhandle country.

The employment agencies in this city have been hard at work for weeks securing men, but they find the demand much in excess of the supply of pickers.

INSPECTING DENVER

Improvements Under Way to Be Viewed by Officials

D. B. Keeler, vice president and traffic manager of the Fort Worth and Denver road, accompanied by General Superintendent C. J. Travis, superintendent of bridges and building, and Auditor S. M. Hudson, left Monday afternoon for a trip of inspection over the line as far north as Texline. It was announced at the general office of the company today that the trip was of no special importance and was merely an inspection similar to those made frequently by the officials of the road.

The Denver road has been undergoing improvements for two or more years. New seventy-five pound rails are being laid and steel and concrete bridges are rapidly replacing the wooden structures all along the line from Texline to Fort Worth. This statement was recently made by President Frank Trumbull on his recent visit to this city.

Mr. Trumbull said that when the betterments now under way on the line are finished the Denver road would be first-class in every respect. These improvements, he said, are necessary in view of the heavy traffic that will be hauled over the line when the road has been opened through from Denver to the Gulf in connection with the Hawley-Yoakum plans.

Mr. Keeler and party will return to the city about Thursday.

ADVERTISE SOUTHWEST

Santa Fe Making Vigorous Campaign for Settlers

The Santa Fe is formulating a new campaign for settling up the southwest, especially the territory adjacent to the company's lines in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and the Territory. This particular work has been placed in charge of Third President George T. Nicholson, who succeeded Paul Morton when he was called to the cabinet by President Roosevelt. Special efforts are to be made to induce settlers for this territory from the middle west and eastern states.

The Santa Fe, like many other trunk lines is looking for the new settler who wishes to make a permanent home. The two reclamation acts of the government in regard to irrigated districts has induced the farmers in the middle and eastern states to develop that country.

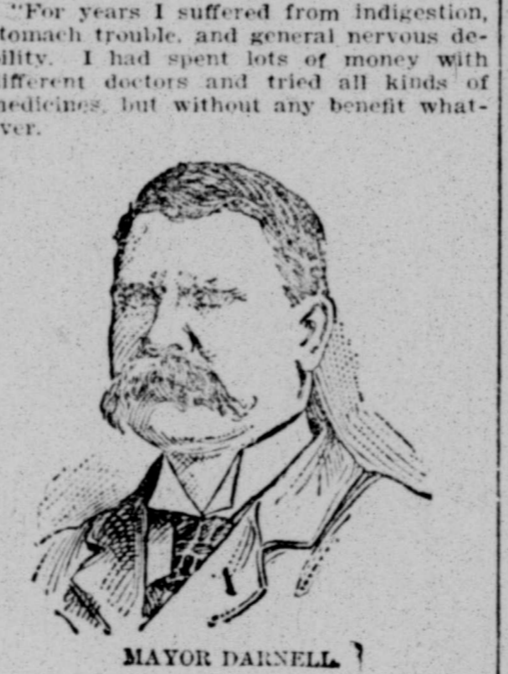

It is expected to cost the Santa Fe about $2,000,000 during the next five years to exploit the southwest, but the Nicholson idea is to get the facts and give them the widest publicity possible.

MAYOR OF FRANKFORT, K. Y.

Tells What Vinol is Doing in the South.

"To Whom It May Concern: For the benefit of the people of Fort Worth permit me to say a few words in the columns of the Telegram, indorsing the peerless merits of that modern cod liver oil preparation, Vinol.

"For years I suffered from indigestion, stomach trouble, and general nervous debility. I had spent lots of money with different doctors and tried all kinds of medicines, but without any benefit whatever.

"Some of the city officials and prominent citizens here called my attention to what Vinol had accomplished for them, and induced me to give it a trial. I must confess that it certainly worked wonders for me. It was delicious to take and did not upset my stomach like old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsion. It gave me a hearty appetite, cured my stomach trouble and strengthened and invigorated my entire system. I wish every sick person in Fort Worth would try this great cod liver oil preparation, Vinol." J. S. Dainnell, mayor of Frankfort, Ky.

Our local druggist, R. A. Anderson, says: "The above letter is perfectly genuine, and we indorse all Mayor Dainnell says. Vinol is a most reliable and appetizing, cure stomach troubles, renew the vitality of the aged, build up the run down, tired and debilitated, make the weak strong, cure chronic coughs, colds and build up the convalescent, or we will return to the purchaser every dollar paid for it." R. A. Anderson, druggist.

GROCER MAY LOAN MONEY FOR BEER

Ruling Made Regarding Special Revenue Tax Affects Purchase for Customers

Grocers may loan money for beer, but the transaction must be clearly such an one, according to a ruling sent United States collectors by Commissioner J. W. Yerkes. The ruling in response to an inquiry is:

"Your letter of the 23d ultimo has been received, including a letter addressed to you, submitting the question of the special tax liability of a grocer for the occasional purchase and delivery of beer at the request of a customer, where the grocer handles the whole transaction as a matter of courtesy to the customer, and the latter is charged on tickets made out at the time of the delivery of the beer, with the retail price paid therefor.

"The contention is made that the merchant has the right to loan his customer money, who in turn has the right to buy or ask him to buy anything."

"The question whether the merchant in any such case subjects himself to special tax under the internal revenue laws depends upon the particular facts of the case. If the facts are that, in procuring the beer from any dealer, he buys the beer on his account, and himself pays the dealer therefor, or is charged by him with the price, and he does not appear in the capacity of purchasing agent for his customer in delivering the beer to the latter and collecting the money therefor, he must be regarded as selling the beer and as thereby involving himself in special tax liability."

It is understood that this order will be strictly enforced.
